TODAY'S TERSE VERSE In the sending of most gossip, Spreading rumors without fail,

It's the female of the species Who's more deadly than the "mail."

RANGER HIGH'S class of 1944 will hold a reunion in October, it has been announced. Mrs. Evelyn Clements, one of the grads of that year and a newspaper woman, is planning on attending to the task of publicizing the event which should draw a big attendance.

Hay Thieves Get Warning

Constable Ralph Veal has some sound advice for the hay thieves operating in the Ranger area.

Alerted ranchers who don't appreciate hay banditry during this drouthy season are ready to give the person or persons making the raids on the feedstuffs large charges of buckshot.

Latest to be hit was the Hagaman Ranch where the thieves carelessly left behind a .22-caliber automatic pistol.

This led Jack McNeil, ranch manager, and Constable Veal to believe that the hay heisters anticipate trouble.

The thefts average between 35 and 40 bales, the officer said. He believes a pickup is used to haul the hay.

Ranger Auction Company and the Mills place, north of Ranger, have reported such losses recently.

Constable Veal also warned that person or persons unknown have been stealing feed out of the bins at the Ratliff feed lot located out on Merriman Road.

Jack Rex, Ex-Rangerite To Receive Hospital Honors Up In Chicago

Jack Rex, administrator of Graham General Hospital and a former Ranger resident, will attend a convocation ceremony Aug. 23 at McCormick Place, Chicago, Ill., when a conferral of membership to the American College of Hospital Administrators will be presented to him.

The board of regents, on recommendation of the board of credentials, approved the request of Rex for advancement to membership.

Rex, a 1937 graduate of Ranger High School, completed a written and oral examination in Austin last May, and applied two years ago for membership.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn J. Rex of Odessa, who made their home in Ranger from 1925 to 1942.

Rex began his hospital career at the West Texas Clinic in Ranger prior to World War II. He served in the U. S. Navy hospital corps from 1942 to 1946 and received a bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, in 1949.

Rex presently is serving as chairman of the Council on Administrative Practice of the Texas Hospital Association.

NOSTALGIC RANGER LANDMARK — The old, familiar to most, oil derrick — an 80-foot tower of steel — once proudly occupied the center of the intersection of Main and Commerce streets a few feet from the main line of the Texas & Pacific Railway.

Millions Of Tourists Saw Old Derrick

The proposed Texas oil museum and recreation of boom town, a project of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce and other interested civic groups, has stirred memories of Ranger's unforgettable past — the fabulous years of yore.

Erection of an old cable tool derrick as a part of the planned project has jogged thoughts back to the days when the old Ranger landmark — an 80-foot steel derrick — stood at Commerce and Main Streets.

Ranger's esteemed and venerable historian, Mrs. Ethel

Brookes Gilmore, gave us this information which we'll pass along:

"The derrick that stood at the foot of Main Street was loaned to the city for the October, 1927, homecoming by the Clay Boiler Works and was taken down after the celebration.

Ranger Scouts Tell Lions Club About Junket

Scoutmaster Fred Bennett of Troop 10 and four Ranger Boy Scouts presented an interesting account of the group's recent attendance at the national jamboree during the Thursday noon luncheon and meeting of the Ranger Lions Club.

The Scouts also showed slides which captured some of the highlights of their trip to Valley Forge, Pa., New York City, Washington, D. C., and other points in that area.

Charles Arnett, president of the club, presided.

During a brief business session, President Arnett appointed Rev. B. L. McCord as chairman of the group's sight conservation committee, one of the club's most important committees.

Also appointed as co-chairmen were Rev. Avery Sullivan and Rev. R. D. Ashcraft.

Fifteen Lions were present at the Thursday session held at the Porky Pig.

Judge Makes New Plea For Drouth Relief

Disappointment was expressed Friday by County Judge Scott Bailey because Eastland County has been denied aid under the emergency drought relief program.

In commenting upon the action, Judge Bailey expressed the opinion "that we must seek every possible avenue of relief." The Eastland County official has written the Farmers Home Administration and urged that qualified farmers and ranchers be extended low-interest loans through that governmental agency.

In the letter to the FHA, Bailey stated that "it is my feeling that the severe and extended drought conditions prevailing at this time make it imperative that all avenues of possible help be sought. For this reason, I am respectfully urging that Eastland County be declared a disaster area and qualified borrowers be served through your office."

Farmers who have not planted at least 75 per cent of their 1964 cotton and peanut allotments due to extreme drought conditions or other conditions beyond their control may file written requests (Continued on Page Two)

Dan Mitchell's Music Feature Of Rotary Meet

Dan Mitchell of the staff of the Eastland radio station entertained members of Ranger Rotary Club during their luncheon and meeting Wednesday at noon at the Pirkey Pig.

Mitchell played several guitar numbers.

He was introduced by John Gun who was in charge of the program for the day.

During a brief business session Dr. John Foster vice president presided in the absence of President Bill Collins who is off on vacation.

W. T. Eaton suggested that the club send a telegram of encouragement to the Ranger Little League All-Stars at Lubbock urging them on to victory in the Sectional LL Tournament there. The Rotarians voted to carry out the suggestion.

Final Rites For Mrs. O. C. Hill Held Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. O. C. (Mary) Hill, 38, were held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in St. Paul Baptist Church.

Rev. F. R. Jenkins of Fort Worth officiated during the rites, and interment was in Evergreen Cemetery with Killingsworth Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hill, a resident of Ranger for 15 years, died Wednesday morning in Eastland Memorial Hospital.

She made her home here with her family at 419 Cherry Street.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, O. C. Jr. and Ray Gene, both of Ranger; two daughters, Othalene and Sally Mae, both of Ranger; two brothers, Earl Williams of Gatesville; six sisters, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Lee Edward, Mrs. George Dixon, Mrs. Sammy Lee Crow and Mrs. Marine Henderson, all of Dallas, and Mrs. Curtis McDaniel of Sudan.

Pallbearers at the funeral Friday afternoon were Henry Woodruff, Grady Rogers, Robert Jackson, James Gooden, Carey Harrison and C. D. Thomas.

RJC Dean Haby Named Member Of AHA Board

Ernen Haby, dean of Ranger Junior College, and chairman of the college American Heritage program, was in Abilene August 3, for the Annual Workshop of the area American Heritage Association, held at Abilene Christian College.

Lewis F. Neeton, superintendent of schools at Clyde was elected chairman of the Association. Wendell Siebert, superintendent of Eastland schools is the outgoing chairman.

Dean Haby will serve the coming year as a member of the Association's Executive Board. He represents RJC at the area meetings which are held several times each year at ACC, with outstanding speakers appearing before the group of some 400 public school and college teachers from this section of Texas.

Scribe Reports Albany Is Pick For 10-A Title

The Albany Lions will represent as schoolboy grid champions of District 10-A this fall.

And it's a toss up between Ranger High's Bulldogs and Baird High's Bears for the second spot in the seven-member loop.

At least that's the prognostication of Mike Wester, Abilene Reporter-News sports writer, following a poll of opinion of area coaches attending the Texas Coaching School in Fort Worth.

Clyde Bulldogs were rated fourth in the 10-A circuit DeLeon Bears fifth, Eastland Mavericks sixth, and Cross Plains Buffaloes seventh.

Here's Wester's summation of the situation with initial workout time for the District 10-A high school grid squads only little more than a week away:

"Tradition, line experience and power are all found in the Albany Lions this year as the defending champs call upon fullback Joe Joyce to move to quarterback and Charles Brewster to take over the power position in the attack. The Lions have 13 lettermen back, seven of them starters.

However, a new type of offensive built around power plays and not speed and passing is expected to carry Albany this season.

"Ranger returns 11 lettermen, nine of them regulars while Baird has 15 lettermen and eight starters back. Fullback Richard Windham and guard Bruce Bell top the Baird roster of hopefuls.

"Clyde Bulldogs have Rick Dennis at halfback in an attempt to improve on last year's 5-5 showing as 17 lettermen are back this season.

"DeLeon, the dark horse of the league this year after moving back into Class A after a spell in AA, has depth to spare with two returning backfield units and two sets of ends. A total of 14 lettermen are back, eight of which started last season.

"Eastland returns 10 lettermen and six starters, while Cross Plains has 12 lettermen and regulars back."

Ranger All-Stars Shut Out By San Angelo, 6-0

Despite their defeat in the Sectional tournament at Lubbock Friday night, Ranger's hustling Little League All-Stars have ended one of the most impressive and exciting seasons in history.

A torrid little chunker, Beaver Wilson of San Angelo, pitched a no-hitter Friday night to whip the Ranger All-Stars, 6-0.

The San Angelo moundman yielded only two walks and no Rangerites got past first during the 6-inning contest.

The All-Stars were charged with six errors.

Two San Angeloans — Chris Ostrander and Russell Bailey — homered. The winners scored their six runs on eight hits and didn't commit any fielding bobbles.

Pitching for Ranger Mike Lloyd and Richard Williams. Each of them was chipped for four hits.

San Angelo scored one run in the bottom of the second, jammed across three more in the bottom of the third, and two tallies in the fourth.

Prior to being eliminated in the semi-finals of the Sectional tournament at Lubbock Friday night, the Ranger club had defeated Iowa Park, 9-4, Tuesday night. Larry Williams was the winning pitcher.

Earlier the Ranger All-Stars had won the district tournament at Brownwood with a 6-3 victory over the Eastland All-Stars after having defeated Brownwood.

Ranger's mighty mites began their string of playoff victories in the area Little League playoff here Friday, July 24, when they whipped a crew of Weatherford All-Stars, 8-7.

The Ranger All-Stars were managed by Bob Gailey and Ray Williams.

Seven members of the Giant juggernaut, mentored by Bob Gailey and sponsored by Commercial State Bank, dominated Ranger's All-Star roster.

They included Johnny Graham, Larry Williamson, Steve Dempsey, Tommy Bolt, Mike Campbell, Mike Loyd and Kenny Poyner.

Ranger Demos Attend Big Dinner For Yarborough

Eastland County was well represented at the appreciation dinner honoring U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough held in the grand ballroom of Hotel Texas in Fort Worth Friday evening, Aug. 7.

Eastland Countians attending included Mrs. Ann Justice and Mrs. Jeanette Harris of Eastland; County Judge Scott Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hogue, Clarence Dill and Richard Moore of Cisco; and Mrs. Maybelle Oyler and Mrs. Elizabeth Bush of Ranger.

They report over 1,200 persons attended the $10-per plate dinner and said "it was one of the most enthusiastic Democratic get-togethers since the 1960 campaign."

"For the first time," a spokesman for the group said, "the Eastland County delegation as well as others were faced with pickets — 'extremists'. The picketing, though peaceful, was irritating."

Senator Yarborough paid tribute to the late President John F. Kennedy and reminded his audience that the last hours of his life were spent in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Texas. He also quoted from the late President's speech at that time.

Later, in a humorous vein, Sen. Yarborough commented that a "working Democrat is worth two in the Bush."

His address was carried live over WBAP-TV.

All Democratic dignitaries of the state were present at the dinner with exception of Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth who was detained in Washington in order to cast his vote for President Johnson's anti-poverty bill.

Two Dallas men are free under $5,000 bond after having been charged with grand larceny in the court of Justice of Peace M. D. Underwood in Ranger.

Friday morning about 11 a.m., an eastbound trucker, A. J. Adams of Cuth' Shoot, Tex., stopped off at Ranger Hill Cafe & Service Station, Highway 80 east.

He was driving a new $25,000 Chevrolet diesel refrigerator truck and while in the restaurant he was amazed to see the vehicle pull out and roar eastward on the highway.

Police Chief Bill Ogden and Constable Ralph Veal were quickly summoned, but the officers were unable to spot the speeding eastbound truck. A pickup order went out via radio.

Two hours later, about 1 p.m., the truck was stopped at Stephenville by the Texas Highway Patrol, and Ranger was notified of the pickup.

Constable Veal and Justice of Peace Underwood went to Stephenville where the two men — William Eugene Moss and James Richard Ash — were placed under arrest.

The pair, described as auto "bounty hunters" by Justice of Peace Underwood, had already engaged legal counsel prior to the Ranger men's arrival in the Erath County seat.

They had presumed the vehicle empty. Unfortunately it had cargo aboard — $5,000 worth of grapes which Adams was hauling from California into Texas.

1964 RHS Yearbook Rated One Of Best In History Of School

By EDWINA EDMONDS

Ranger High School students patiently stood in line in the basement of the First Methodist Church Thursday night to receive their beautiful new "1964 Bulldog" yearbook.

Students have anxiously awaited the arrival of their annuals for the past several weeks and were highly elated over the appearance of the book, unquestionably one of the most excellent issued by Ranger High School.

The intricate work on the plastic gold and white cover bears the gold insignia of a bulldog, the annual's namesake. The inside cover bears a scene which brings to mind many memories both to students and ex-students — a panoramic photo of RHS. Also on the inside cover is the school's alma mater.

 Works gave it to Ranger as a gift. "I find," Mrs. Gilmore says, "that people still miss the And here's some free verse, derrick. It would be so wonderful if we could have one on the old Ranger it back, so the Clay Boiler landmark:

THE DERRICK

By ETHEL BROOKES GILMORE
 I was just an old steel derrick,
 Standing at the foot of Main Street,
 In a town down Texas way.
 But I've seen them come and go,
 The rich, the poor, the sad, the gay.
 I've seen the boys and their sweethearts,
 Then the fluttering bride and groom.
 Ranger soldiers have looked at me and, said "Goodbye."
 Years passed by, the T&P Eagle ground to a stop.
 The honor guard approached silently,
 And with gentle hands lifted down,
 All that was mortal of a hero,
 And then I saw the tears of the loved ones.

I've seen this and all more,
 But not, until the nights of storm,
 Did I come into my own,
 I proudly lifted my head,
 Against the blackened sky,
 To say "I have withstood the storms,
 Throughout the long, long years,
 Look up, and behold I am light,
 In Ranger town down Texas way."
 But then, like all things I grew old
 And bowed my head before a mighty wind.
 Now I lie in a broken twisted mass,
 No longer can I say "Look up, behold, I am light
 In Ranger, town down Texas way."

On Tuesday afternoon, October 23, 1951, The Times front page was emblazoned with a black, wide two-line headline: "RANGER LANDMARK TOPPED BY WIND." A large artist's drawing of the old derrick also appeared under which were these words: "An artist's drawing of the eighty-foot tower of steel that stood at the east end of Ranger's Main Street until high winds blew it across to T&P Railway tracks last night. The derrick was the world's largest turning post."
 Here's the text of the newspaper story on the demise of Ranger's proud landmark, as taken from the files of The Times:
 Winds estimated by some to be blowing at 80 mph toppled Ranger's famous oil derrick last night. The derrick was blown across the T&P Railroad by the winds.
 The wind and 3.04 inches of rain during the night damaged considerable Ranger property. Damage was reported at the Gholson Hotel, the lobby, mezzanine and basement were finished and the hotel's partly finished paint job damaged; the Ranger Daily Times paper stock was damaged at an estimated $2,000 by the wind and water.
 Coop's Station, Lexington's Barber Shop, and Trader's Grocery had plate glass windows sucked out by the wind that reared down the main section of town.
 Dr. Finn's office sign was blown down along with bricks on the side around the building. Harlan Phillips' television antenna was broken in the middle and was lying across his house last night. A front porch was reported to have blown away on Oak Street, and the old building that had the roof caved in by snow behind the Rutledge Feed Store was blown over by the wind.
 A window in the Ranger Theater was blown out and the lobby of the Paramount Hotel was flooded by water during the storm. Water was running curb deep over town with some water reaching the floor level in the stores. The two streams carrying water from the water shed here in town to Hanson on Lake were running out of their banks and slowing traffic.
 The Veterans' Apartments in the north section of town had water in second floors about four inches below the floor level.
 All told in the twenty-five minutes that the onset of rain and wind lasted, two inches of moisture fell in the rain gauge at the Ranger Times. Debris to the amount of 6-99, 99 of an inch had fallen, and 85 more fell after the worst of the wind and rain.
 The rainfall ended the level of Hanson Lake two feet and six inches last night but water did not run over the spillway.
 No injuries were reported inflicted along with the property damage last night.
 In some sections of town the power was out during and after the storm.
 Evidence of the water and damage can still be seen by one all over town. Most of the damage was caused by the wind blowing out windows or causing roofs to leak such as the Merton Building which had six large windows broken.

Requests concerning cotton allotments must be filed no later than Sept. 15, and peanut farmers must file by Nov. 1, Mr. Meredith said. Questions about the provision can be answered at his office.
 Feed grain farmers were reminded that in order to qualify for price support and diverted acreage payments, the feed grain base or permitted acreage may not be exceeded on any farm in which they have an interest. They must also be within their conserving base on participating farms, Mr. Meredith said.

 Albany, the sports section story said, was picked as one of "the strongest IA clubs for the approaching football season during interviews with coaches at the coaching school.

 life, junior high, and advertisements which helped to make the publication of the book possible.
 A memorial page in memory of Mrs. M. L. King, high school English teacher, who died during last year's summer vacation reads:
 "An unmistakable sense of loss was evident in Ranger High School as the 1964 fall term began. Students, faculty members, and friends who were impressed with the undying faith and courage which Mrs. King possessed were greatly grieved upon her death during the summer months. Perhaps Mrs. King believed as Tennyson when he wrote:
 — we are—
 One equal temper of heroic hearts,
 Made weak by time and fate,
 But strong in will
 To strive, to seek, to find,
 And not to yield.

Many persons put in a lot of hard work to make the 1964 Bulldog, and probably three of the hardest working were the co-editors, Nancy Boen and Naomi Bradford, and the annual staff sponsor, Mrs. L. H. Haseman.
 Full sports coverage of all Ranger High School athletic events was the responsibility of the co-sports editors, Ray Newham and David Sutton.
 Recognition must also go to the business manager, Sylvia Robinson, and the advertising salesmen, Celeste Scott, Kaye Edmonds, Jan Watkins and Dan Collins, who solicited support from the local business firms.
 Yearbook salesmen were Evee Edmonds, Jan Watkins, Celeste Scott, Carol Brennan, Dan Collins, Emery Ford, and Kathleen Hudson.
 These students along with their untiring sponsor, Mrs. Haseman, deserve much recognition for a job very well and admirably done.

As far as the publicity angle is concerned the rig attracted more attention of tourists and out-of-town people than any other thing in the town. It Ranger lost recognition by not erecting another oil derrick?

ated only two-tenths of an inch of cooling moisture. Hottest day, according to reports, was Tuesday when one thermometer soared to 113 for a few minutes. Understand that Beverly S. Dudley Jr., local vo-ag instructor, was in Houston this past week attending the big annual meeting of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Assn. of Texas. We know he had a great time and enjoyed the "in-training" shop of vo-ag teachers.

EVERYTHING is quiet at Ranger Police Dept., or was up until The Times went to press Saturday. Ranger Volunteer Fire Dept. reports Fire Chief Charlie Isbell was called to two fires during the week — both on Wednesday. At noon the local fire fighters rushed out to Lake Leon where they snuffed out a grass fire at the dam. That night at 7:45 they were summoned to extinguish a car on fire six and a half miles from Ranger on FM Road 571. Only 33 owners of cars within the city limits of Ranger have purchased licenses as required by city law, according to Mrs. Avis Jones, city secretary. She reminds that the city recently hired a dog catcher and all canines not wearing city tags are subject to pickup. The city commission meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday night, was not held since some of the members of the body were out of the city.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS to their Rangerites who'll be celebrating birthdays during the coming week:

AN INTERESTING quote from Thursday a.m. "Letter to the Editor" column in The Abilene Reporter-News: DEAR MR. MCGILL'S OPINIONS

Dear Editor: I don't think I have ever read a letter written to the Editor which gave me a greater sense of satisfaction than the one written by Mr. Frank Warener of Abilene, in which he takes a good firm nosh at the writings of Raleigh McGill. I have read with dislike for Mr. McGill's column for many months, and I think it is about time that we register our dislike for his kind of critical, sarcastic and vindictive writing.

I really can't understand why the newspapers consider Mr. McGill's articles of interest to its readers. Regardless of our political views we are still southerners, and it isn't very pleasing to see ourselves ridiculed and blamed for every stupid error made by our politicians. Most of us have never seen our nation in its present state of turmoil and unrest. It would be well if we did not have so many inflammatory news articles.

It is with a feeling of relief that I read David Lawrence's articles. Somehow I feel that he has given us a true and unbiased report as he is able to, and I think we would do well to heed his words of caution. It is too bad that we don't have the opportunity to read his articles more regularly.

Yours truly,
MRS. D. D. PICKRELL,
Box 15,
Ranger, Texas.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

You will never know how grateful we all are to you for the wonderful coverage you gave the college on the recent dedication and coaches school. The consensus among the visitors at the coaches school was that this was the best coverage they ever had in their 19-year history.

We had calls from newspapers all over the state requesting releases on the events — Houston, Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Abilene, Fort Worth, and Associated Press. These were sent both before and after the events.

Releases from the college radio stations and television stations. But your coverage did the big job here of impressing the citizens with the importance of the college, and the events scheduled.

The visitors especially enjoyed your generous gift of free copies in the dormitories. There were many compliments on your paper's coverage.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Helen Murrell,
Director

The Dallas pair probably will appear before the Eastland County grand jury during the October term, Underwood said.

Every time you cook during hot weather, you'll appreciate the cool comfort of flameless electric cooking. Electric range surface units transfer heat to utensil bottoms by direct metal-to-metal contact, with no intervening air space. Heat goes into the utensils and the food, not into the kitchen air. Mrs. F. S. Pearsall Previews Programs At Circle No. 1 Meet

Circle No. 1 of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Monday, August 3, in the home of Mrs. W. F. Creager. Ten members were present.

Mrs. C. N. Adams, chairman, led the opening prayer. During a short business session, fifteen visits were reported made to shut-ins and the ill. Mrs. G. O. Strong, cheerfund chairman, submitted a list of get well cards mailed.

"A More Excellent Way" was the theme of the worship period and meditation as given by Mrs. Strong. She led the group in singing "Take Time to Be Holy" with Mrs. F. S. Pearsall at the piano. She then discussed the importance of having "a base on which to stand as we reach out to the world around us. As we see parts in relation to each other can we see life steadily and see it whole? We live in a fragmented world, and we are learning the importance of wholeness."

Mrs. F. S. Pearsall was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Cliff Lewis. She gave a very informative talk on "The Interrelatedness of Study." Through study, women can gain insight into the national and worldwide scope of the work in which she has a share as a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Her spiritual life can be deepened by meditations found in study courses.

Mrs. W. F. Creager gave a resume of the Study Courses that have just been completed and their relation to the new ones introduced by Mrs. Pearsall. These courses will be taken from the new study book entitled "Summoned to a New Age."

The first course will be entitled, "The Church's Mission Among New Nations." The second, "United States Responsibility in a World Community of New Nations," and the third, "Study of Genesis." The circles will meet September 14 for a Re-assembly Tea at the First Methodist Church. "Tools for Understanding Open New Doors" will be the program led by Mrs. Pearsall. "A New Purpose and New Emphases" will be discussed by Mrs. S. M. McAnelly.

A lovely refreshment plate was served to the following members: Mmes. Adams, Creager, Lewis, Pearsall, Strong, F. I. Danlev, John Ivy, R. R. Mitchell, J. S. McDowell, and John T. Roberson.

Baptist Youth Prayer Service Set August 15

The Youth of the Second Baptist Church will have their second "Campfire Prayer Service" Saturday, Aug. 15, 8:00 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Duke, Highway 80 West. This prayer service will precede a youth-led Revival August 22-23.

After the prayer service the Youth will enjoy refreshments and singing.

Mrs. Mills Hosts Circle No. 3

Circle No. 3 of the WSCS of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, Aug. 3 in the home of Mrs. E. H. Mills, with Alice Landers and Opal Harrison as co-hostesses.

Mrs. J. Floyd Killingsworth, chairman of the circle, presided. Mrs. Charlie Garrett gave the opening prayer. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Mrs. J. A. Bates, treasurer, and Mrs. Opal Harrison, cheer fund chairman, presented their reports.

There were 95 visits made during the month to the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Killingsworth arranged the worship center, which consisted of flowers, a white cross and a Bible on a blue cloth.

Mrs. Beverly Dudley, Jr., gave the call to worship and the meditation. She also read the song "Christ Whose Glory Fills the Skies" and scripture from I Corinthians. Mrs. A. J. Ratliff presented the program entitled "A More Excellent Way." Mrs. Ted Nick-sick gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Ratliff, Nicksick, Garrett, Bates, Killingsworth, Dudley, J. L. Turner Buelah Bridges, W. J. Van Bibber, one visitor, Mrs. Bill Hughes and the hostesses, Mills and Harrison.

Panel Discusses Locations Of Baptist Missions

Tuning in on station SBW-MU at 2 o'clock Tuesday, Aug. 3, you listened to an interesting panel discussion program on English Language Churches Overseas.

Panel members, composed of members of the Second Baptist WMU, were Mrs. Dora Caraway, who talked on Iceland and the Baptist work being carried on there by our servicemen and their families. A prayer was offered for these workers.

Mrs. Carl White was very interested in Luxemburg and Argentina and how the Baptist work is carried on there.

Mrs. Lula Maddox told about Guam and Japan and the missionary zeal in these countries. Panel moderator was Mrs. Lera Beck. A prayer was offered for all of these countries and missionaries who serve in them.

The interest center was made up of a world map mounted behind the panel. On this map was placed a replica of a church with streamers going out from the church to all of the locations mentioned in the program. On the desk before the panel were souvenirs representing each of these countries.

In conjunction with the program theme, Mrs. Dora Caraway led the WMU members in singing "Christ for the World" accompanied by WMU president, Mrs. Dema Duke at the piano.

Scripture meditations from Matt. 28:16-20; Acts 1:8 and 8:1-4 were given by Mrs. Walter Mitchell. Mrs. Bob Wymmer closed the program with a prayer.

Members attending were Mmes. Rose, Wymmer, Duke, Mitchell, Beck, White, Caraway, and Maddox.

9 ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCES BETWEEN REPUBLICAN & DEMOCRATIC PARTY PHILOSOPHY

Within the two major political parties, sharp differences exist on the specifics of various national and local issues. This occasionally causes people to wonder what holds Republicans and Democrats together — what prevents fragmentation into innumerable splinter parties. The answer is that the two party system relies on adherence to fundamental beliefs. As an American voter, you should examine these philosophical principles carefully.

INDIVIDUAL LIBERTY

Republicans believe in the worth, the ability and dignity of the individual citizen. They believe that whatever can be done, should be done by private, local or state government, and that a job should be done in Washington only when it is determined that only the federal government can do that job. They encourage the individual to speak up and are opposed to an increasing, centrally controlled bureaucracy, which is manifestly the way of the Democrats.

They are guided by principle and do not believe that expediency have to give way to expediency as the problems become more complex.

The Republicans think and act in terms of the individual American citizen and believe in a form of government which enables the most people to do most for themselves. They trust you.

The Democrats think and act in terms of masses, classes, and blocs and aim to serve people directly from Washington. They tell you.

The Republicans believe in providing us with the greatest possible incentives to do things for ourselves and the Democrats say in effect, "Sit down and we will bring it to you."

LIMITED FEDERAL AUTHORITY

Republicans recognize that government represents power in the hands of some men to control and regulate the lives of other men and that throughout history Government has proved to be the chief instrument of thwarting man's liberty. They know that all human knowledge is built on experience, whether this experience is personal or the experience known as "history."

Republicans believe, therefore, in strict adherence to the Constitution with all its checks and balances and a closer control of federal authority rather than gradually larger doses of it. The Democrats have demonstrated and are demonstrating an increasing drift away from this principle and cynical disregard of the past and refer to continued distrust of increasingly big government as "old fogyism." Actually "Republican conservatism" stands for a fighting revitalization of the only basis on which a democratic form of government can expect to survive.

RESPECT FOR THE CONSTITUTION

Republicans uphold the time-tested system of check and balances built into the federal government by the Constitution.

Yes, the system can indeed produce a measure of delay, waste and inefficiency. But these drawbacks are much the lesser of two evils. And so far as that goes, bureaucratic abuse flourishes best under a dictatorship.

Impatient of restrictions imposed by the Constitution and enabling the judicial or legislative branches to frustrate the will of the President, Democratic leaders downgrade the Constitution as a document written for another age. They would "pack" the Courts and Committees not subservient to the executive. They call for a free hand for the President in the conduct of foreign policy.

But Republicans have profited by the lessons of history and realize that without the Constitution's checks and balances this nation cannot maintain true representative government, responsive to the will of the people.

FISCAL INTEGRITY

The Republicans believe that there should be as much sense of fiscal responsibility and integrity in running a government as in running a business or a home.

They believe in a balanced budget and a reduction in the national debt, and are prepared to demonstrate that this can be done with a reduction in taxes and with a sound, prosperous and growing economy.

They seek to preserve the purchasing power of the dollar at home and respect for it abroad.

They believe that a government big enough to give you everything you want is big enough to take away everything you've got.

The Democrats, on the other hand have been openly dedicated to operating on an experimental policy of huge deficit spending and make no pretense of expecting to balance the budget for another two years.

A STRONG FOREIGN POLICY

The Republicans, although of course dedicated to peace in the world, take a much firmer, more realistic and consistent attitude than the Democrats in dealing with international Communism.

They call for a much better defined foreign policy, and feel a much deeper sense of responsibility in the efficient use of taxpayers' dollars in foreign aid.

Through such policies and more consistent adherence to them they feel that American prestige must be restored and that we cannot rely primarily on buying it.

CONTROL OF UNEMPLOYMENT

The Republicans call for a much more accurate and pin-pointed analysis of the labor force than now exists so that practical solutions can be applied.

The Republicans also propose a 5-point program to equip teenagers with skills needed to get good jobs rather than inventing new versions of make-work projects which proved unsound in the Thirties.

Highlights include expansion of vocational training in public schools and revision of the Manpower Training Act to place more stress on training young persons.

The Democrats refuse to meet the problem at its core, and on the other hand fall back on the politically alluring but economically wasteful concepts of the handout and the public works boondoggle, in the meantime branding the Republicans as "the party of unemployment," etc.

EQUITABLE TREATMENT OF LABOR AND MANAGEMENT

The Republicans believe in a very minimum of government intervention in labor disputes and in protecting the rights of collective bargaining, but when the public interest is importantly involved, they believe in meeting the issues head-on, with restrictive legislation as a last resort.

In other words they believe in exactly what Democrats promise but conveniently forget until crisis demands a policy of expediency, delay and last minute intervention.

INDEPENDENCE FOR THE FARMER

The Democrats, from the very beginning of the New Deal, have persisted in tinkering with the American farm economy, imposing quotas, setting prices, buying up surpluses and constantly adding to the bureaucratic burden of the taxpayer while at the same time worsening the market position of the farmer and the buying position of the consumer.

Republicans believe that this is probably the sickest part of our economy today and one which can be improved only through a gradual return to the basic laws of supply and demand under which our producers of food and fiber can operate on a basis of self-determination, rather than as wards of the federal government.

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

Historically, ever since the Emancipation Proclamation, the Republicans have indicated by deeds their basic and inherent dedication to Civil Rights.

Under the Eisenhower Administration in 1957 and 1960 the first Civil Rights legislation since Reconstruction was enacted.

Over the years the Democrats have not only watered down the original Civil Rights laws, but have consistently resisted new ones. Only because it was forced upon them politically have they now seen fit to do anything about their repeatedly-broken campaign promises.

Additionally, Republicans uphold the voting rights of persons not necessarily associated with the so-called minority groups. We have consistently pointed out that an individual whose vote is stolen by dishonest election procedures is deprived of his rights just as much as one who is not permitted to vote at all.
