Ranger Jaycees Build Reputation As 'Can Do!' Organization Since New Group Chartered Back in '62

"Can do" Those two words best describe the optimistic, dynamic spirit exemplified by the Chamber of Commerce.

The organization may be comparatively young, but ask anybody in these parts, partner, and they'll tell you that the Ranger Jaycees are one of the going-est, doing-est civic groups in local history.

Their major annual project, of course, is the yearly Ranger Rodeo, which they sponsor and stage — with successful gusto — each year.

The 1965 arena presentation, third annual show under their sponsorship, will be uncorrupted Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Jaycees' arena on old U. S. Highway 80 west.

Skeptics were mighty plentiful back in the spring days of 1963 when the new Jaycee organization — it had been chartered only a few months earlier on Oct. 18, 1962 — voted to sponsor a rodeo as an annual attraction.

Several years previously, an earlier Ranger Jaycee organization had initiated the same project and for several years successfully presented a yearly show in the arena now again being used for the same purpose. It was a professional show, however, and heavy expense was involved. And eventually, the increasing cost forced abandonment of the popular project.

In order to re-activate the Breckenridge Jaycees, annual rodeo, the new Jaycee organization in the spring of 1963 borrowed $6,000 with assistance from the local bank, business men and out-of-town friends.

Their first show netted $4,200, and at the end of the initial presentation they had whittled their indebtedness down to $2,000.

Then last year they, she netted $3,800.00. After financing repairs to the arena, and donating $500 to the stadium fund of Ranger Junior College, the Jaycees rodeo project wound up with a debt of only about $400. And that small debt will be easily retired this year.

The annual rip-roarin' rodeo, however, is only one of numerous projects successfully sponsored by the Ranger Jaycee organization, whose active members are not over 35 years of age, during their three busy years of impressive existence.

Another outstanding annual project is their January poll tax campaign. In vigorous and non-partisan manner, they urge payment of polls and conduct house-to-house canvases to solicit orders for poll tax payments. Results, shown in official county records, verify the effectiveness of their efforts.

Other achievements of Ranger Jaycees include:

A community development survey to determine liabilities and assets of the city and to determine possible projects to consider to accelerate future growth and prosperity.

Sponsoring organization of the Breckenridge Jaycees. Participating in the physical fitness campaign initiated by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Lending volunteer assistance in parking automobiles at local football games.

Active participation in state and national Jaycee conventions.

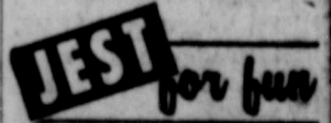

Actively supporting the annual Peanut Bowl football game presented annually each fall under sponsorship of the Eastland Jaycee organization.

This spring the group assumed sponsorship of re-activated Troop 88, Boy Scouts of America. Duke Dixon is scoutmaster and members of the troop returned Saturday from a week away at camp.

Gaining them widespread publicity last Thanksgiving was their very highly successful turkey shoot held in the old E. L. Martin Bldg. in downtown Ranger.

The Jaycees also sponsored publication of a new map of the city of Ranger. The folders were widely distributed and extra copies are available at the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

Little Oliver was attending his first Sunday school class. "Do you say your prayers before eating?" he was asked. "I don't have to," he replied. "My mother is a good cook."

Ranger's action-packed, rip-roaring third annual Jaycee Rodeo opens Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a colorful downtown parade.

Three hours later, out at the big arena out on old U. S. Highway 80 west, there'll be plenty of action with whirling broncs, rugged, charging, elusive bulls and calves testing the talents of top amateur rodeo contestants.

The performances begin at 8 p.m. each night — Thursday through Saturday.

Finals will be unveiled Saturday night and winners of each event will receive a handsome buckle.

Also a stellar attraction during the last night of action will be the naming of a new "Ranger Rodeo Queen."

Ranger Jaycee leaders are expecting attendance for the coming three-day event to shatter all previous records. Last year over 10,000 persons attended the three nightly performances. The arena's seating capacity is 5,000.

The opening parade late Thursday afternoon will feature colorful mounted groups, commercial floats and displays and music by the U. S. Army Band from Fort Hood. A crowd of 5,000 or more is expected to jam the downtown area to watch the procession.

Trophies will be awarded for the top three float entries in the parade.

An outstanding feature of the parade will be Ranger's colorful Lone Ranger Riding Club which has made numerous appearances and won several awards. The Lone Ranger Club participated in the opening parade of the Southwestern Exposition & Fair, Stock Show & Fair, Fort Worth earlier this year.

Also in the limelight during the procession will be Ranger's current reigning "Rodeo Queen," Miss Jane Ann Bradford. She will be followed by candidates for the new queen title.

The contestants include Robbye Scoggins, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Robertson; Jane Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pearson Jr.; Shirley Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackson; Donna Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Seymour; and Mary Anna Herweck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Herweck.

'Arena events to be featured during the three nights of rodeo action include calf roping, steer wrestling, bronc riding, bull riding, team roping and cowgirl barrel racing.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Lloyd Woodley who is producing the third annual rodeo for the Jaycees.

Special added attractions for the entertainment of fans include Bo Bland and his Model-T Ford, Bland, a top-ranked clown, has delighted thousands with his act which features a specially-built vehicle which bucks and performs varied movements which provide maximum hilarity.

Mrs. Bo Bland, wife of the clown specialist, and Dan Coats will offer added color and thrills to each performance with their outstanding trick riding.

Four Beatniks Picked Up; One Pays $25 Fine

Four beatniks from Tarrant County were cruising around town at 1 a.m. Sunday morning but they didn't have any swinging good time.

City Patrolman J. C. Rose and Constable Ralph Vee picked up the quartet and jailed them for investigation.

Two of the men were 21 years of age, one was 23, and the fourth was 20.

One of the 21-year-olds had a chain and pipe in his possession and officers said it was a lethal weapon. He was fined $25.00 by M. D. Underwood, corporation court judge. They were then released.

And wasted no time heading eastward to Arlington.

Chief Reminds City Residents On Grass Fires

A rash of grass fires over the weekend brought a stern warning Tuesday from Fire Chief Charlie Isabell.

Most of the conflagrations were set off from burning trash and Isabell reminds local residents that a city ordinance requires that all trash cans have covers.

He also suggested that weeks in alleys be cleaned up, not only as a fire precaution but to improve the appearance of the community.

Monday volunteer firemen snuffed out two grass fires — one at 1:15 p.m. in the rear of the Harris Garage, Highway 80 west, and another at 4:30 in the back of the C. D. Hartnett warehouse.

Sunday firemen extinguished a blazing grass at 513 Cherry Street.

Earlier Ranger Volunteer Fire Department members tapped out a grass fire on Highway 80 east and another similar blaze at Olden.

BAREBACK BRONC RIDING
Equipment used in bareback bronc riding gives an indication of how tough the event is. All the rider has between himself and the bronc is a regulation bareback "rigging," a smooth surcingle with a handhold in the center, not unlike a suitcase handle. # L. N. Bryan Retires To End Long Postal Career

By RUTH FRANKLIN

Tuesday was a usual one for the city carriers of Ranger's post office. But Wednesday was different, especially for 70-year-old L. N. Bryan.

He loaded his parcel post packages, delivered the bundles, returned from his evening run and laid aside his cap of the postal blue for the last time. It marked the end of a long and colorful 45 years, one month and two weeks as an employee of the Post Office Department.

His brother, Johnny Bryan, was carrying mail at the local office when he heard of an opening on Rural Route 4. He sent his Gorman kinsman the news on May 16, 1920, and the next day, eager, Lawrence began his postal career. The route was 27 1/2 miles long and the carrier, horse, and buggy left Ranger each day at 8 a. m., returning about 3 p. m. Sometimes it took two horses to cover the muddy roads for the next 18 months.

During this time a young man by the name of D. C. Singleton had passed his civil service exam and was appointed as Route 4 carrier. Bryan's duties changed to the inside janitor chores and substituting for the rural and city carriers until May, 1923. For the next seven months he carried Route 3, meanwhile passing his civil service test and preparing to carry a mounted city route of his own, which proved to be an unforgettable experience.

Now the rules were different in those days — the carrier had to get out of his car at each of his stops. This did create quite a problem (due to the fact Bryan's car had only one door) and that happened to be on the wrong side, that is, right side, so each time he came to a mail box, the mad scramble was on over the front seat, boxes, and letters to the door.

Cowpoke Ballads, New And Old, Add Spice To Living In Cow Country

Nothing brings a broader smile or a happier glow to the faces of veteran ranchmen out here in the best o' Texas area than the old time cowboy songs and ballads — songs that will live on as long as the ranching industry is carried on in West Texas.

L. N. BRYAN on His Last Run

REECE FRANKLIN Popular Route Carrier Succeeds Retiree

mer Miss Minnie Hampton, on June 6, 1915 at her parents home in Gorman. As was quite common then, the whole countryside showed up for the ceremony. The couple raised five children — Eual of Odessa, Vera of Palestine. Herman, who was a doctor at Parkland Hospital in Dallas at the time of his death, Butler of Covington, Kentucky, and Raymon of Ranger. They are five grandchildren, Mrs. Barbara Taylor and her sister, Rebecca Bryan, both of Odessa; Nathan Ray Bryan of Covington, Kentucky; and Ricky and Karen Bryan, both of Ranger. Blake Taylor of Odessa is the couple's only great-grandchild.

The Bryans are members of the First Christian Church where he serves as an elder. They own their home on Ranger Heights, have a nice farm, and two good peach orchards.

Mr. Bryan sold his Porkey Pig Drive-In several years ago to his son, Raymon. Later they jointly owned the Chicken Shack and are co-owners of the El Rancho Coffee Shop on Highway 80 West.

Retirement plans call for a long, leisurely vacation to points west, including such states as New Mexico, Arizona, California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, and Colorado. They will be accompanied by their daughter and her husband, Eldred Bell, whom Bryan describes as the ideal traveling companion and his favorite chauffeur.

Not only ranchers, but hundreds of county farmers and their families enjoy singing cowboy songs even now and then, for in cowboy songs folks find something of the clean, wholesome spirit that keeps the West — the West that early-day settlers knew — alive in the hearts of West Texans.

From 1870 to 1890, 1,000,000 mustang ponies and 12,000,000 head of longhorn cattle were driven up the trail from Texas to markets in Kansas, Wyoming, Montana and other Western states.

Behind and around each bunch of cattle rode a group of men, mostly very young, bold, youthful vikings of the seas of sage grass — cowboys who rode with a song on their lips, hence the origin of many of our present-day cowboy songs.

Many a veteran cattleman pays tribute, even today, to the cowboy, who could sing a song or make a "racket" on the trail, as the circumstances demanded.

What rancher and western fan doesn't remember songs of the open range like The Colorado Trail, Old Chisholm Trail, The Cowboy's Dream, Night Herding Song, Diamond Joe, Trail to Mexico, Good-bye, Old Paint and hundreds of others.

Just for the benefit of old times, as veteran ranchers put it, here are the names of some of the ever-new cowboy favorites:

The Big Corral, Utah Corral, Home on the Range, Gal I Left Behind Me, Cow Camp on the Range, I Want to Be a Cowboy's Sweetheart, The Dying Cowboy, Whoopee Ti Yi Yo, Git Along Little Dogies.

Red River Valley, Jack Donahue, Sam Bass, Roy Bean, Rye Whiskey, Bill Venero, Cowboy Jack, Billy the Kid, When The Work's All Done This Fall, Zebra Dun, Little Joe the Wrangler.

Great Grandad, The Great Roundup, I'd Like to Be In Texas When They Roundup in the Spring, Santa Fe Trail, Rrounded Up in Glory, California Joe, The Dying Ranger, Cowboy's Lament, Sweet Betty From Pike, Little Old Sod Shanty, Night Time in Nevada, Cow Camp on the Range, and literally hundreds of other numbers.

Junior GA's At Leuders

The Junior G.A.'s of the First Baptist Church and their director, Mrs. Avery Sullivan, left Monday to spend three days at the Girl's Auxiliary Camp at Leuders.

The girls will participate in group activities, attend evangelistic services, and work on their forward steps. They will also enjoy periods of planned recreation and swimming. They will return home on Thursday afternoon.

RANGER RODEO

help absorb the jolting, stung legs—leaps—Just the suitcase handle. The rigging is cinched to the horse, atop the animal's withers, and the contestant is allowed to rub the handhold with resin to improve his grip. But which balanced against a half-ton of sky-leaping horseflesh, this aid is small concession indeed.

Watch the bronc's first jump out of the chute. If the cowboy's spurs aren't touching the horse over the point of the shoulders until the animal's front hooves hit the ground, give the rider a goose-egg—a score of zero, indicating a disqualified ride.

You goose the cowboy, too, front hooves hit the ground, give the rider a goose-egg—a score of zero, indicating a disqualified ride.

You goose the cowboy, too, if he touches any part of the bronc with his free hand or bucks off before the whistle sounds.

In bareback bronc riding, most close calls come at the whistle: Was the rider still has a grip on the rigging, hasn't touched the horse or rigging with his free hand, and hasn't touched the ground, he's considered still on the horse. It doesn't make any difference if he is standing on his head, flat on his back or in mid-air. The ride is a qualified one.

BULL RIDING

Serious injury occurs more often in this event than any other in rodeo. Capable of savage, sustained bucking, cross-bred Brabams bulls first were introduced into the arena, circa 1921. Fast and powerful, most of them weigh over 1,500 pounds. The loose on the horse or not? According to the rules if he still hidden animals add injury to insult by trying to gore or trample a fallen rider. They are dangerous, as well, in the chute where their leaning weight can easily break a rider's leg.

EQUIPMENT—Woven with a single handhold, a flat-braided length of manila rope about an inch and a quarter in width is used—noose fashion around the bull—set just behind the animal's shoulders. A weighted bell is also attached to the rope, which allows it to fall free when the ride is completed. Tightly strapped spurs and a riding glove complete necessary gear. Chaps, of the "shot-gun" variety, so-called for their close-fitting length, are sometimes worn.

RULES—More leniency is shown than in saddle and bareback bronc riding. A bull rider is not required to spur his mount but may receive additional credit from the judges if he does so; in the air when official end of the ride is signaled, but still holding some part of his rope, rider still rates a qualifying mark. Disqualification comes from hitting the ground before the eight-second ride is completed, falling to have bell attached to his rope; for touching his mount with the free hand at anytime during the ride.

EQUIPMENT—Lariat ropes, generally about 25 feet long and three-eighths of an inch thick, are tied at one end to the saddle horn, the other end forming the catch loop. If he misses the first throw, roper may use a second rope coiled ready on the saddle. He is allowed only two throws. Missing with both he must retire with no time.

A slimmer 5-foot length of rope, usually tucked in the roper's belt, is used to tie the calf. Horse gear, i.e., saddle, bridle, etc., are roper's own selection.

RULES—The event calls for two or more linekeepers, field flag judge and scoreline flag judge. Length of score (head-start) given calf depends on arena's size. Rooper remains behind a barrier until calf crosses scoreline. Breaking through the barrier adds 10 seconds to roper's time.

Calves used may not average over 350 pounds. After the catch, roper must throw calf by hand, cross any three legs for the tie, then signal for time by raising his hands. Field judge then passes on the tie.

gate, until steer crosses designated scoreline. Breaking barrier adds 10-second penalty. Steer must be on its feet before being wrestled down. Running falls do not count. Steer is to be flat on its side, all four legs extended, before official time is given.

TEAM ROPING

The team roping event is one of the most interesting team events of the rodeo. This event takes much skill and much practice on the part of the riders and the horses. If the horse does not do his job then the cowboy is not at the right place at the right time. In order to do a good roping job the roper must have absolute precision from his horse.

This is a timed event and both header and heeler must rope the calf for it to be considered by the judges. If the rope is too far up on the legs or back of the calf or if he ropes only one leg, then he has not time. If the header has a hard time getting the hang only one horn or his rope goes back past the calf's front legs then the team has no time. A lot depends on the calf also. If he is a good runner, then the horse might have a hard time getting the roper to the calf. If the horse makes a bad start then the calf will be at an advantage. The header may carry two ropes and the heeler one.

COW GIRL BARREL RACE

Girls barrel racing is a timed event. The girls must ride a clover leaf pattern. This pattern is set up with barrels.

The object is to ride the clover leaf around the barrels in the least time without overturning one of the barrels. A ten second penalty is assessed to the rider when she hits a barrel.

This riding takes a combination of skill and nerve on the part of the rider, and a very well trained horse.

THE RODEO CLOWNS

When a Bullrider inevitably leaves a bull—intentionally or not—there's another man in the arena who, as far as the bullrider is concerned, is the most important man alive, and that is the clown.

When you're watching bullriders you'll see some step off a bull as if they were stepping off the curb to hail a cab. But you'll see others in orbit, even though the launching wasn't counted down, who'll land in some precarious position and only the clown can help them. Many things can happen; sometimes a part of the bull hits them, while they're trying to turn in the air, and they land in a heap. The clown is the only person between a helpless bullrider and possible fatal injuries. The clown moves in to distract the bull, to allow the cowboy to reach safety.

CALF SCRAMBLE

Boys from the ages of 12 and under are eligible to compete in the Calf Scramble to be held each night of the rodeo. The contest will become a matching of skill, strength, and determination as each competitor attempts to get his calf across a line in a shorter length of time than his fellow contestants do. First, second, and third prizes will be awarded for each of the three scrambles.

James Russell Lowell was the first editor of the Atlantic Monthly.

Brother Of Tom Stark Wounded By Youth Sunday

Crosby County Sheriff Fletcher Stark, who was critically wounded Sunday night as he attempted to arrest a 17-year-old youth in Crosbyton, was reported to be in "fair condition" Tuesday morning in the Crosbyton Hospital.

The injured man is a brother of Tom Stark of Cisco, who left for Crosbyton Sunday night upon learning of the incident.

The youth who was involved has been charged with assault to murder and at last reports was still at large.

According to a report the shooting occurred as Sheriff Stark was investigating a disturbance call at a cotton gin used as a gathering place by migrant field workers. The youth ran as the attempt to arrest him was made and then turned and fired, hitting Stark in the left chest. He returned the fire, and it was believed that the youth was hit.

The sheriff's 14-year-old son, who was with him at the time, took him to the hospital after the shooting. He was in surgery for six hours.

Dear Mr. Lee:

My brother, Hubert O. Ranger, who lives in Oasining, New York, sent me a copy of your June 17, 1965 issue of the Ranger Times recently. I have inspected it thoroughly and I am convinced that there is one thing you need very badly and that is a column written by some person named Ranger. Probably an editorial or feature article is what you need, with a by-line indicating which Ranger wrote it.

I especially enjoyed your article entitled "City Slickers Pay Plenty For Visit In Ranger" on page two. As a selectman in Brunswick I can assure you that we feel the same way about unlicensed salesmen.

There aren't many Rangers around here, and I was delighted to find that one of my pioneer ancestors was so respected as to have a town named for him. When you get a few more Republicans down there, amid the beef cattle and the oil wells, I am going to fly down there and set up shop. Keep up the good work.

Very truly yours,
Ovville T. "Tex" Ranger

P.S. When people ask, I tell them I got the nickname because I come from southwestern Maine, actually I used to

Ranger Kids Cop Honors at Cisco Event Sunday

It seems as if the Anderson clan of Ranger took most of the honors at the July 4th festivities held Sunday at Lake Cisco.

Tommy, Ronnie and Donnie Anderson, sons of Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, all brought home first place trophies.

Ten-year-old Tommy won a first place trophy in his age division of the swimming contest. Twins, seven year-old Ronnie and Donnie, placed first in their division of the three-legged race. They weren't content to stop there though; in competing against the winners of the other divisions, the twins again came in well ahead. Congratulations, boys!

the THINKING man

IN RECENT MONTHS, the term "The Man Who Thinks For Himself" has been extensively used in the field of advertising. The inference is that a man who stops to think for himself will buy a certain product or act in a particular way. And, in the thought there is expressed a basic truth — that there is no virtue in thoughtless, hasty, following the crowd.

The greatest men of God have always been THINKING MEN. Abraham, Moses, and others were uncompromising in their attempts to please Jehovah, regardless of the positions taken by others.

The man who truly thinks for himself cannot but respect the God who created both heaven and earth.

"The soul hath said in his heart, There is no God" (Psalm 14:1).

We would urge that you THINK FOR YOURSELF. Do not be intimidated by others. Take a good long, thorough, look; and when you do you will want to be a Christian. For, acceptance of God and obedience to His Word is the real thinking man's way of life.

925 Carbonites
Register at First
Exes Reunion

Conservative estimates put the total attendance at the first Carbon all-school reunion and homecoming at well over 1,000 persons — and it was a long day Saturday filled with visiting, talking and recalling the "old days."

A total of 925 persons officially signed in, but reunion officials reported that many did not have an opportunity to register because of prolonged visitations in the hundreds of huddles scattered all over the Carbon school campus.

Cool, shady areas were in great demand all day Saturday as returnees swapped yarns, and made many trips to the water cooler provided by the Nimrod Coon Hunters Association.

Beginning at 6 p.m. the long lines of hungry exes wound their way by the long barbecue tables and found a bench, car fender or a grassy spot to sit and eat. In all 537 persons were fed.

During a brief business session at 7 p.m. the group voted to reconvene every five years, making the next Carbon get-together to be Saturday, July 4, 1970.

New slate of officers elected included Glenn Justice of Carbon, president; J. E. Jackson, vice president; Mrs. Juannell Brown, secretary; and Mrs. Ardith Bean, treasurer.

Retiring president and man responsible for much of the legwork in preparation for the 1965 event, is Ewell Allison of Carbon.

Registration began at 9 a.m. and Carbonites, old and new, came and went all day long, with more coming and staying, than going.

Among the many returnees was Miss Reba Ransom, long-time Carbon teacher, who was First-Grade Teacher to more youngsters than many see in a life-time. Miss Ransom, now of Merkel, came for a brief visit, but due to poor health, was not able to remain for the entire day.

One ex, a lady who takes her talking seriously, had this to say in summing up the day's activities: "My tongue is tired."

High-Flying 'Hoppers Have Big Appetites

Grasshoppers get away up in the air when it comes to the subject of food.
 Various species are strong fliers, and adults sometimes gather in giant swarms moving hundreds of miles and destroying crops and range plants wherever they pause. Individual hoppers have been snared in airplane traps at altitudes around 1,000 feet, but entomological history reveals that hordes in migration have reached heights nearing the one-mile mark.
 The most spectacular example of the high fliers in this country occurred in 1874 when migrating swarms of Rocky Mountain Grasshoppers swept the Great Plains causing such a food shortage that it was dubbed as a national disaster.
 In the last few days in Eastland County many farmers and crop growers have been complaining about the insect grasshopper. According to Assistant County Agent, Bill McCutchen, the hoppers are most destructive in the light soil lands.
 A bait mixture has been sent out to all farmers who have been complaining about the hoppers in Eastland County. A formula is used with ingredients of Aldrin, Heptachlor, Chlordane, and DDT.
 The grasshopper season has hit Eastland County, but with certain baits and poisons the hoppers can and will be controlled to a minimum, he said.
 An observer in Nebraska reported that one of the invading waves of hoppers averaged half a mile wide and 300 miles long. In some places the columns were one mile high and an estimated guess of 20 million per cubic mile.
 Many species travel long distances on the wing. Locusts, or grasshoppers have become an international problem in certain parts of the world. They breed in one country and migrate hundreds of miles to another to devastate crops.
 "Coming back down to earth, we find that government surveys keep a sharp eye on hatching. Development and flying hoppers to help growers plan their control programs. Researchers recommend spraying infested areas with a pesticide when the insects are plentiful and stable, hatching is complete and egg deposition hasn't started."
 Growers report excellent, long-lasting control of hoppers with a newer carbamate insecticide, that is safer to use than many other insecticides. They find that drift problems are minimized using this material, and treated crops can be fed to their livestock without harmful residues showing up in meat or milk.
 Reports indicate that a ton of alfalfa per day in each acre field can be eaten by hoppers when the population reaches 15 to 20 per square yard. That is with entomologists tell growers to be alert early to infestations and apply controls to hatching areas, roadsides, fence rows and headlands before these high flying pests move to adjacent crops.
 Tyler, Texas, raises more than two-thirds of the commercial rose bushes grown in the United States.

Ranger Jaycees Build Reputation As 'Can Do!' Organization Since New Group Chartered Back in '62

"Can do" Those two words best describe the optimistic, dynamic spirit exemplified by the Chamber of Commerce.

The organization may be comparatively young, but ask anybody in these parts, partner, and they'll tell you that the Ranger Jaycees are one of the going-est, doing-est civic groups in local history.

Their major annual project, of course, is the yearly Ranger Rodeo, which they sponsor and stage — with successful gusto — each year.

The 1965 arena presentation, third annual show under their sponsorship, will be uncorked Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Jaycees' arena on old U. S. Highway 80 west.

Skeptics were mighty plentiful back in the spring days of 1963 when the new Jaycee organization — it had been chartered only a few months earlier on Oct. 18, 1962 — voted to sponsor a rodeo as an annual attraction.

Several years previously, an earlier Ranger Jaycee organization had initiated the same project and for several years successfully presented a yearly show in the arena now again being used for the same purpose. It was a professional show, however, and heavy expense was involved. And eventually, the increasing cost forced abandonment of the popular project.

In order to re-activate the Breckenridge Jaycees, annual rodeo, the new Jaycee organization in the spring of 1963 borrowed $6,000 with assistance from the local bank, business men and out-of-town friends.

Their first show netted $4,200, and at the end of the initial presentation they had whittled their indebtedness down to $2,000.

Then last year their show netted $3,800.00. After financing repairs to the arena, and donating $500 to the stadium fund of Ranger Junior College, the Jaycees rodeo project wound up with a debt of only about $400. And that small debt will be easily retired this year.

The annual rip-roarin' rodeo, however, is only one of numerous projects successfully sponsored by the Ranger Jaycee organization, whose active members are not over 35 years of age, during their three busy years of impressive existence.

Another outstanding annual project is their January poll tax campaign. In vigorous and non-partisan manner, they urge payment of polls and conduct house-to-house canvases to solicit orders for poll tax payments. Results, shown in official county records, verify the effectiveness of their efforts.

Other achievements of Ranger Jaycees include:

A community development survey to determine liabilities and assets of the city and to determine possible projects to consider to accelerate future growth and prosperity.

Sponsoring organization of the Breckenridge Jaycees. Participating in the physical fitness campaign initiated by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Lending volunteer assistance in parking automobiles at local football games.

Active participation in state and national Jaycee conventions.

Actively supporting the annual Peanut Bowl football game presented annually each fall under sponsorship of the Eastland Jaycee organization.

This spring the group assumed sponsorship of re-activated Troop 88, Boy Scouts of America. Duke Dixon is scoutmaster and members of the troop returned Saturday from a week away at camp.

Gaining them widespread publicity last Thanksgiving was their very highly successful turkey shoot held in the old E. L. Martin Bldg. in downtown Ranger.

The Jaycees also sponsored publication of a new map of the city of Ranger. The folders were widely distributed and extra copies are available at the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

Ranger's action-packed, rip-roaring third annual Jaycee Rodeo opens Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a colorful downtown parade.

Three hours later, out at the big arena out on old U. S. Highway 80 west, there'll be plenty of action with whirling broncs, rugged, charging, elusive bulls and calves testing the talents of top amateur rodeo contestants.

The performances begin at 8 p.m. each night — Thursday through Saturday.

Finals will be unveiled Saturday night and winners of each event will receive a handsome buckle.

Also a stellar attraction during the last night of action will be the naming of a new "Ranger Rodeo Queen."

Ranger Jaycee leaders are expecting attendance for the coming three-day event to shatter all previous records. Last year over 10,000 persons attended the three nightly performances. The arena's seating capacity is 5,000.

The opening parade late Thursday afternoon will feature colorful mounted groups, commercial floats and displays and music by the U. S. Army Band from Fort Hood. A crowd of 5,000 or more is expected to jam the downtown area to watch the procession.

Trophies will be awarded for the top three float entries in the parade.

An outstanding feature of the parade will be Ranger's colorful Lone Ranger Riding Club which has made numerous appearances and won several awards. The Lone Ranger Club participated in the opening parade of the Southwestern Exposition & Fair Stock Show at Fort Worth earlier this year.

Also in the limelight during the procession will be Ranger's current reigning "Rodeo Queen," Miss Jane Ann Bradford. She will be followed by candidates for the new queen title.

The contestants include Robbye Scoggins, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Roberson; Jane Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pearson Jr.; Shirley Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackson; Donna a Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Seymour; and Mary Anna Herweck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Herweck.

Arena events to be featured during the three nights of rodeo action include calf roping, steer wrestling, bronc riding, bull riding, team roping and cowgirl barrel racing.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Lloyd Woodley who is producing the third annual rodeo for the Jaycees.

Special added attractions for the entertainment of fans include Bo Bland and His Model-T Ford, a top-ranked clown, has delighted thousands with his act which features a specially-built vehicle which bucks and performs varied movements which provide maximum hilarity.

Mrs. Bo Bland, wife of the clown specialist, and Dan Coats will offer added color and thrills to each performance with their outstanding trick riding.

Here are the champions of the first and second Jaycee Rodeos in 1963 and 1964:

1963 BAREBACK BRONC RIDING — Ed Workman of DeSoto. CALF ROPING — Bowie Wealey of Happy. HEAD AND HEEL ROPING

Four Beatniks Picked Up; One Pays $25 Fine

Four beatniks from Tarrant County were cruising around town at 1 a.m. Sunday morning but they didn't have any swingin' good time.

City Patrolman J. C. Rose and Constable Ralph Voss picked up the quartet and jailed them for investigation. Two of the men were 21 years of age, one was 23, and the fourth was 20.

One of the 21-year-olds had a chain and pipe in his possession and officers said it was a lethal weapon. He was fined $25.00 by M. D. Underwood, corporation court judge. They were then released.

And wasted no time heading eastward to Arlington.

Chief Reminds City Residents On Grass Fires

A rash of grass fires over the weekend brought a stern warning Tuesday from Fire Chief Charlie Isbell.

Most of the conflagrations were set off from burning trash and Isbell reminds local residents that a city ordinance requires that all trash cans have covers.

He also suggested that weeks in alleys be cleaned up, not only as a fire precaution but to improve the appearance of the community.

Monday volunteer firemen snuffed out two grass fires — one at 1:15 p.m. in the rear of the Harris Garage, Highway 80 west, and another at 4:30 in the back of the C. D. Hartnett warehouse.

Sunday firemen extinguished blazing grass at 313 Cherry Street.

Earlier Ranger Volunteer Fire Department members tapped out a grass fire on Highway 80 east and another similar blaze at Oiden.

Program — John Gum. Decorations — Kenneth Pendleton. Repairing Arena — Wade Albritton. Dance — Harry Weldon. Advertising — Doyle Gentry. Lights and Sound Equipment — Roy Thackerson. Signs and Outside Grounds — Fred Bennett. Arena Director — Roy Thackerson. Chairs for Box Seats — Buddy Hills. Invocations — Gary Beauchamp.

Here is a resume of events featured during the third annual Ranger Rodeo:

BAREBACK BRONC RIDING Equipment used in bareback bronc riding gives an indication of how tough the event is. All the riders has between himself and the bronc is a regulation "bareback" "rigging," a smooth surcingle with a handhold in the center, not unlike a suitcase handle. He has no rein to balance his weight against, no stirrups to

Final Rites For Jerry Dawson Held Monday

Funeral services for Jerry Dawson, 18, were held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Pentecostal Church with Rev. J. E. Lamb, pastor, officiating.

Interment followed in Evergreen Cemetery with Killingsworth Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

The youth died at Childrens Medical Center, Dallas, Sunday morning at 11:45 o'clock of a heart condition. He had been a resident of Ranger since he was one-year-old.

He was born in Mineola on May 24, 1949.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hulon B. Dawson; one sister, Mrs. Glenn Wheeler of McCombs; and a number of aunts and uncles.

Pallbearers were Lee Crawford, C. M. Gibbs, J. O. Vaughn, the Rev. E. A. Lamb, the Rev. H. M. Tomlinson, and Carl Meacham.

Ranger Little League Star Team Named

Ranger's Little League All-Stars were announced Monday night as the final games clicked off.

Gene Towns, manager of first place winners, the Dodgers, will be assisted by the manager of the team coming in second this week.

Giants, Yankees, and Kidians had equal opportunity to battle it out for this position.

The All-Stars met as team the first time Wednesday afternoon for initial practice.

The 14 players are Dodgers, Donald Gilbert, Neal Gibson, Ricky Spurr, Steve Edwards, and Rickey Hughes; Yankees Mike De los Santos, Wayne Johnson, and Melton Monroe; Clinton Edmons; Giants Mike Lebedo, Mike Campbell, and Jerry Williamson; and Indians Jimmy Blackwell, and Robert Garcia.

Alternates are Indian Paul Ausburne, Dodgers Deanie Hughes, and Ronnie Answorth, and Giant Pat Campbell.

UF Workers Cited For Leadership in '64 Drive

Each received engraved letter openers and jointly a certificate lauding them for their efforts in the fall fund-raising UF campaign.

At the commandment of the Lord they rested in the tents, and at the commandments of the Lord they journeyed.

—Numbers 9:23.

We leave it to Himself To choose and to command: With wonder filled we soon shall see How wise, how strong His hand.

In making the presentations informally, Dr. Theodore Nicksick, Jr., member of the board of Texas UF, said: "On behalf of the board of directors of Texas United Fund, I wish to congratulate you and your community leaders on the outstanding job you did in the last campaign in promoting united giving and encouraging public support. Your efforts contributed immeasurably to the success of United campaigns in the state."

ON FISHING TRIP Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Wilson and Emory and David Baze left Monday for a fishing trip on the Colorado River. They will return to Ranger later in the week.

BREAD of Life

The Ranger Jaycee-Ettes will begin dispensing picnic boxes Thursday morning at 11 a.m. at Willow Park at the end of West Main Street.

Sale of the box lunches will continue there up until rodeo time that night. In addition, the Jaycee-Ettes riding on their float will also dispense boxes and following their appearance in the procession they'll locate at the corner of Main and Commerce across from Charles Arnett's Texaco Service Station.

The boxes will sell for $1.00 each. Contents will include Southern fried chicken, onions, pickles, bread, potato chips and cup cakes. Cold iced tea also will be sold for 10 cents per glass.

Mrs. Phyllis Shinn, president of the group, said late Tuesday that the members of the local Jaycee-Ette organization have completed their float to be entered in Thursday afternoon's opening parade at 5 p.m. The display and decor carries out a country theme.

help absorb the jolting, with-legged leaps. Just the suitcase handle. The rigging is cinched to the horse, atop the animal's withers, and the contestant is allowed to rub the handhold with resin to improve his grip. But when balanced against a half-ton of sky-leaping horseflesh, this aid is small concession indeed.

Watch the bronc's first jump out of the chute. If the cowboy's spurs aren't touching the horse over the point of the shoulders until the animal's front hooves hit the ground, give the rider a goose-egg — a score of zero, indicating a disqualified ride.

You goose the cowboy, too, front hooves hit the ground, give the rider a goose-egg — a score of zero, indicating a disqualified ride.

You goose the cowboy, too, if he touches any part of the bronc with his free hand or backs off before the whistle sounds.

In bareback bronc riding most close calls come at the whistle: Was the rider still has a grip on the rigging, hasn't touched the horse, or rigging with his free hand, and hasn't touched the ground.

he's considered still on the horse. It doesn't make any difference if he is standing on his head, flat on his back or in mid-air. The ride is a qualified one.

BULL RIDING

Serious injury occurs more often in this event than any other in rodeo. Capable of savage, sustained bucking, cross-bred Brahama bulls first were introduced into the arena, circa 1921. Fast and powerful, most of them weigh over 1,500 pounds. The loose-ness of the horse or not? According to the rules if he still hides animals add injury to insult by trying to gore or trample a fallen rider. They are dangerous, as well, in the chute where their leaning weight can easily break a rider's leg.

EQUIPMENT — Woven with a single handhold, a flat-braided length of manila rope about an inch and a quarter in width is used — noose fashion around the bull — set just behind the animal's shoulders. A weighted bell is also attached to the rope, which allows it to fall free when the ride is completed. Tightly strapped spurs and a riding glove complete necessary gear. Chaps, of the "shot-gun" variety, so-called for their close-fitting length, are sometimes worn.

RULES — More leniency is shown than in saddle and bareback bronc riding. A bull rider is not required to spur his mount but may receive additional credit from the judges if he does so; in the air when official end of the ride is signaled, but still holding some part of his rope, rider still rates a qualifying mark.

Disqualification comes from hitting the ground before the eighth-second ride is completed, failing to have bell attached to his rope; for touching his mount with the free hand at anytime during the ride.

EQUIPMENT — Lariat ropes, generally about 25 feet long and three-eighths of an inch thick, are tied at one end to the saddle horn, the other end forming the catch loop. If he misses the first throw, rope may use a second rope coiled ready on the saddle. He is allowed only two throws. Missing with both he must retire with no time.

A slimmer 5-foot length of rope, usually tucked in the roper's belt, is used to tie the calf. Horse gear, i.e., saddle, bridle, etc., are roper's own selection.

RULES — The event calls for two or more timekeepers, field flag judge and scoreline flag judge. Length of score (head-start) given calf depends on arena's size. Roper remains behind a barrier until calf crosses scoreline. Breaking through the barrier adds 10 seconds to roper's time.

Calves used may not average over 350 pounds. After the catch, roper must throw calf by hand, cross any three legs for the tie, then signal for time by raising his hands. Field judge then passes on the tie.

STEER DOGGIN

Developed in the rodeo arena, steer wrestling like bareback bronc riding, never was a part of ranch work. Its origin, more than forty years ago, is laid at the door of a Negro cowboy, Bill Pickett, while working in a Wild West Show.

With time taken between flags, steer wrestling is a series of practiced moves beginning as a contestant, aided by another mounted cowboy called "the hazer," leaps from a running horse to the steer's horns, bringing the animal to a halt and then wrestling it to the ground.

EQUIPMENT — Other than a steer wrestling mount and the hazer, whose duty is to keep the steer running straight as possible, none is needed. The hazer is paid an eighth of what the steer wrestler may win. Many cowboys own a "team," i.e., both steer wrestling mount and hazer horse, get a fourth for their use, serving as hazer.

RULES — Officials are two or more time-keepers, a field and scoreline judge. Contestant waits, with hazer posted on opposite side of the release gate, until steer crosses designated scoreline. Breaking barrier adds 10-second penalty. Steer must be on its feet before being wrestled down. Running falls do not count. Steer is to be flat on its side, all four legs extended, before official time is given.

TEAM ROPING

The team roping event is one of the most interesting team events of the rodeo. This event takes much skill and much practice on the part of the riders and the horses. If the horse does not do his job then the cowboy is not at the right place at the right time. In order to do a good roping job the roper must have absolute precision from his horse.

This is a timed event and both header and heeler must rope the calf for it to be considered by the judges. If the rope is too far up on the legs or back of the calf or if he ropes only one leg, then he has no time. If the header has a hard time getting the horns only one horn or his rope goes back past the calves front legs then the team has no time. A lot depends on the calf also. If he is a good runner, then the horse might have a hard time getting the roper to the calf. If the horse makes a bad start then the calf will be at an advantage. The header may carry two ropes and the heeler one.

COW GIRL BARREL RACE

Girls barrel racing is a timed event. The girls must ride a clover leaf pattern. This pattern is set up with barrels.

The object is to ride the clover leaf around the barrels in the least time without overturning one of the barrels. A ten second penalty is assessed to the rider when she hits a barrel.

This riding takes a combination of skill and nerve on the part of the rider, and a very well trained horse.

THE RODEO CLOWNS

When a Bullrider inevitably leaves a bull — intentionally or not — there's another man in the arena who, as far as the bullrider is concerned, is the most important man alive, and that is the clown.

When you're watching bullriders you'll see some step-off a bull as if they were stepping off the curb to hail a cab. But you'll see others in orbit, even though the launching wasn't counted down, who'll land in some precarious position and only the clown can help them. Many things can happen; sometimes a part of the bull hits them, while they're trying to turn in the air, and they land in a heap. The clown is the only person between a helpless bullrider and possible fatal injuries. The clown moves in to distract the bull, to allow the cowboy to reach safety.

CALF SCRAMBLE

Boys from the ages of 12 and under are eligible to compete in the Calf Scramble to be held each night of the rodeo. The contest will become a matching of skill, strength, and determination as each competitor attempts to get his calf across a line in a shorter length of time than his fellow contestants do. First, second, and third prizes will be awarded for each of the three scrambles.
