McCracken Will Head Drive For Rehab Center

James McCracken of Cisco has been appointed area chairman of the 1967 Cattleman's Round-Up for Crippled Children.

The announcement was made by Charlie Morris of Abilene, general chairman of the Round-Up, the chief means of support for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. Several persons from this area receive free treatment at the WTRC, which has accepted neither state or federal funds during its nearly 14 years of operation.

The area chairmen, supporters of the Round-Up for many years, act as the chief link between the Round-Up and the ranchers in their area.

Throughout the years, the WTRC has received valuable support from generous area ranchers who have cut out a head or two of cattle—or other livestock—and donated them to the WTRC for sale at the annual Round-Up. This year, the Round-Up will be conducted Sept. 25th at Ranchers and Farmers, Livestock Auction in Abilene.

During each of the last two years, the Round-Up has raised nearly $50,000 toward the Center's annual budget of $280,000. Other operational funds come from memorial contributions and from various United Funds.

The Center provides free treatment, without regard for race, creed, color or financial circumstance, to more than 1,600 patients from far-flung areas.

"We have the WTRC at our disposal only because we cattlemen care," Morris said in emphasizing the need for an especially good Round-Up this year. "The cattlemen of West Texas haven't let us down yet, and we don't expect them to this year."

Any livestock donated to the Round-Up will be transported free of charge to the Abilene auction site, the chairman added. Anyone wishing to donate livestock to the sale should contact his area chairman or the WTRC in Abilene, Morris said.

New Drivers' Law Amendments Will Benefit Texas Motorists

AUSTIN - The Department of Public Safety has reminded Texans that August 28 marks the effective date of several amendments to the drivers license law which are designed to benefit Texas motorists from the standpoint of providing added protection.

The law sets new minimum age limits for acquiring a license, provides for issuing a provisional license to any person under the age of 21, and increases the penalties for driving without a license and violations calling for automatic suspension.

It also sets penalties for counterfeiting or forging a license, or for possessing such a license.

The age limits were raised to a minimum of 16 years for obtaining a license when a person has satisfactorily completed an approved driver education course, and 18 years for persons who have not had such a course.

The minimum age for operating a five-brake horsepower motor scooter was raised to 15 years. A special examination will be required after January 1 for applicants desiring a license to operate a motorcycle which includes an "off-street phase" and an "on-street phase." The applicant must provide the motorcycle and a passenger vehicle and licensed driver to convey the License Examiner during the road test.

Licenses issued to persons under 21 years of age will be stamped "Provisional" and may be suspended if the operator is convicted of two traffic law violations in a twelve month period. This becomes effective January 1.

Upon conviction of driving without a license, a motorist is subject to a fine of up to $200 for the first offense and increasingly stiffer penalties for each successive conviction.

Persons convicted of driving while intoxicated (or a similar offense) are subject to a first suspension of twelve months. Any subsequent on the basis of this type of conviction will be for a period of 18 months. In addition, any driver whose license has been suspended or revoked may be required to attend a program of rehabilitation for problem drivers.

Any person applying for an original license must furnish the department with certified copy of the applicant's birth certificate or other documentary evidence deemed satisfactory by the Department for proof of age. The Department is also authorized to require any other information necessary to determine the applicant's identity, competency eligibility for licensing. Thumb prints will be required on all original applications after August 28.

Among other provisions designed to ban unsafe drivers from the highways is the requirement that the Department of Public Welfare furnish the DPS with a list of the persons who apply for or receive assistance to the needy blind. The license of such persons must be revoked to comply with the law.

Also, any person who is convicted of driving while his license is suspended or revoked shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500, and shall be imprisoned not less than 72 hours nor more than six months.

VOCATIONAL NURSES SEE SLIDE PRESENTATION

Scenes from "Behind the Iron Curtain" were shown in slides by Mrs. James P. Morris, of Ranger, and a vivid description of Communism at work in its home country of Russia was given Monday evening, Aug. 14, to the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association at the Eastland Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Morris was a recent tourist to Moscow and her account of life and activities under constant scrutiny in the U. S. S. R. was most interesting.

After the business meeting, refreshments of coffee, fruit punch, and cookies were served by the Ranger hostesses to the following members:

Laverne Allgood, Mary Jane Brown, Margaret Clements, Alice Eakin, Gladys Edwards, Christel Gaines, Grace Gray, Annie Mae Foster, Lillie Fricke, Luda Parsons, Margaret Speed, Merle Stroebel, Elizabeth Stroud, Gertrude, Elizabeth, Josephine Wallbraun, Lillie S. Wilson, and Mrs. Morris and her mother, Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, of Ranger.

The mineral economy of Eastland County is based on petroleum, natural gas, liquids, natural gas, clays and stone.

Bobwhite Quail Is On Upswing

SAN ANGELO — Bobwhite quail counts throughout the Texas Panhandle and the Lower Plains are higher than last year except in the vicinity of Childress where rainfall has not occurred regularly according to District Chief Weldon Fromen of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Fromen reported exceptionally good hunting in the Panhandle during 1966 and said the 1967 quail crop will be even better.

High quail numbers are a long season which kept vegetation lush and food abundant for nesting bobwhites.

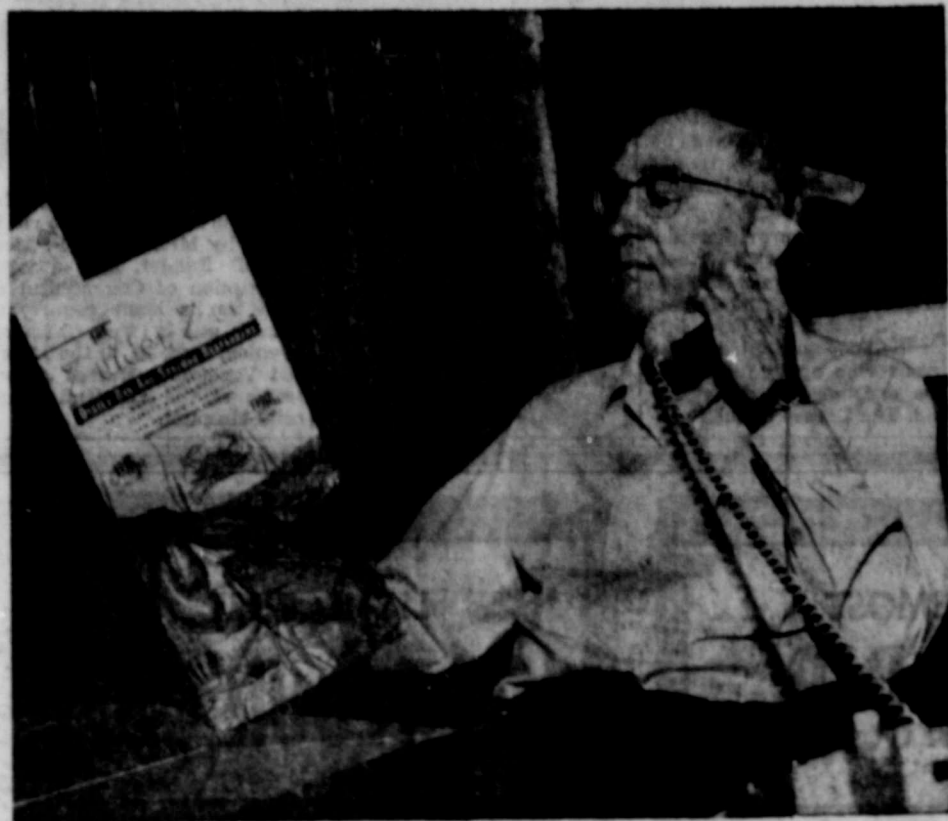

A mirage is an optical illusion caused by difference in temperature.

VICTOR CORNELIUS
... the man who makes VC menus

CORNELIUS LIKES THINKING, BIKING

He Invents His Jobs

(Editor's Note: The Abilene Reporter-News carried the following story about Victor Cornelius of Eastland in their August 20 edition):

By ED TODD
Reporter-News Staff Writer
Victor Cornelius rides an English bicycle late in the afternoon. Perhaps, it's a desert on top of a dessert. He likes his work, too.

On work days, he's among his 60 employees in downtown Eastland at his city block-long plant across from the Post Office.

His million-dollar-a-year business is the printing of restaurant menus and theatrical advertisements. Menu printing and related work make up about two-thirds of the plant's production. Payroll is more than $300,000 annually.

"We have an unusual business," Cornelius, 63, said matter-of-factly.

In 1936, with a $150 platen press, the VC enterprise started in our garage in Eastland but he hesitated to reminisce.

His job printing then was devoted to "motion picture" advertisements which were attached to restaurant napkin holders.

But that was discontinued long ago, and Cornelius' wood paneled office is void of remnants of that now obsolete innovation.

Inventive Cornelius, now approaching the traditional U. S. retirement age, is still inventing and experimenting.

His latest is the "Rediclips," a plastic clip-on-holder that sticks on menus, advertises, and holds an extra meal or dish selection or special announcement the restaurateur may want to include for a spell on his regular menu.

He received a patent on the "Rediclips" earlier this summer — two years after he had applied for the patent and three years after the utility's invention.

Millions of "Rediclips" have been sold. Currently being processed is a Bacardi Imports Wine order for 193,000 of the white plastic Rediclips, which are about half again as large as the standard paper clip. "Rediclips" are international.

Cornelius uses the silk screen process to place the usually red advertisements on the Rediclips. Bacardi will have its trade name placed on the Rediclip, as do other customers — such as dairy, soft drink and beer distributors and manufacturers. The advertising "Rediclips" then go to restaurants and cafes.

Rediclips, functioning similarly to a bobby pin, provide an advertising space for point of purchase sales.

Plastic for the "Rediclips" comes in 15-20 mile reels, and Cornelius has designed two devices to process the continuous plastic strands into the salable item. He, however, hasn't bothered to seek patents for the cutter and heat-stamper.

A patent, however, is pending on a contraction called a Heat-Seal, which can place four-color decals, illustrating meals, at once onto a menu.

"Thousands of restaurants throughout the nation are using VC custom menus," reads a mailer to potential customers.

Cornelius attracts most of his customers through the mails. He does have some field representatives. Also, he said some 500 salesmen for John Sexton Co., a restaurant supplier, are part-time VC salesmen.

Included among the thousands of restaurateurs Cornelius serves are approximately 500 who have a menu for each month of the year.

VC artists design menu covers for eating establishments ranging from ultra exclusive to the almost ubiquitous chat-and-chew cafe. But most of his menus are fancy and conspicuously over-size.

Three basic techniques are used by Cornelius to print his menus: gold-stamp, offset and silk screen.

Cornelius prints advertisements for thousands of theaters nation-wide. The ads may be window posters or hand-outs illustrating a month of motion picture attractions.

Victor Cornelius Menus was Victor Cornelius Theatrical Advertising when in 1958 he purchased Osmont Menus in Waco and merged his theatrical job printing with the menu venture. He prints with offset and letterpress for motion picture work. "We do our own photo-engraving," he said.

"Four color work is not any big feature with us," Cornelius volunteered. "But we do it."

Cornelius has lived in Eastland since 1918. He was born in July of 1904 in Kickapoo, Limestone County, and grew up at Rockwood in Coleman County.

For the past six years, he and his wife, the former Inez Petit of Mississippi, have lived on the western edge of Eastland, overlooking this county seat of 3,300 people.

Just moved in next door is the Jack Germany family. Mrs. Germany is the former Catherine Cornelius, one of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius' two daughters. The other is Mrs. Charles (LaVerne) Meeks of New Orleans, La. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius have five grandchildren.

"He's really an unusual man," Mrs. Germany said of her father. "Just always been able to think creatively, keynote of his success." To Cornelius, a problem is a challenge, she added.

Eastland County is drained by the Leon River.

Most of the sandy land is in the south part of Eastland County.

Congressman Poage Speaks on Electric Co-Op Meet

Dedication of Texas' 79 rural electric systems to "Help-Texas Grow!" was re-announced in Houston this week of Texas Electric Coopera-tives, Inc., the rural electric state-wide association. Congressman W. R. "Bob" Poage, the concluding speaker of the two and one-half day conference, noted that while rural electrification has already helped Texas and the nation grow, too few people know this. This was evident, he pointed out, in failure to obtain legislation from the Congress this year to establish a Rural Electric Credit System to assure the spiraling need for financing the future holds. Urban people do not understand, he said, that food and fiber in abundance has permitted cities to grow and flourish. They don't know that rural electrification has enabled fewer and fewer farmers and ranches to produce more and more to meet the needs of all Americans. Unless adequate financing is available to meet the spiraling demands for electricity in rural areas, Poage said the continuing productivity of rural areas which makes possible expansion in the cities will be hampered. Earlier, the state director of the Farmers Home Administration outlined his agency's programs for cooperating with individuals, groups, and communities in financing development of another key resource — water. L. J. Cappelman of Temple reported that as of July 1, FHA had assisted in financing the construction of 13,000 miles of main line water facilities in rural areas of Texas. Through the medium of county Technical Action Panels, of which FHA supervisors are chairmen automatically, many federal agencies counseling and assistance services are made available to rural businesses, individuals, and communities. He stressed the emphasis being given through his agency to helping the young farmer. In the annual elections of the state-wide group, four were elected to two-year terms on the TEC board of directors, and three new officers were elected. New president is Myrl D. Head of Decatur. George Henry of Wellington was elected vice-president, and Joe Lytle of Greenville was elected secretary-treasurer. Earlier, Lytle was elected to the board along with H. M. Keith of Bartlett, James N. Myers of Hondo, and Chester Kirk of Junction. These with Clinton C. Cox of Stephenville comprise the board for the next year. Re-elected to the board of directors of the National Rural Electric Association was W. G. Newton of Lubbock. He is a former president of TEC and has been Texas NRECA director since 1964.
