A CHRISTMAS STORY

I feel sorry for anyone who has never experienced a Christmas like ours here." It was an unlikely thought to come from a letter written by a 21-year old Marine spending his first Christmas in a bunker somewhere in Vietnam.

Cpl. Don Catherall had written the letter in the first hour of a cold Christmas morning to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Catherall of Dallas. "I just wanted you to know that my Christmas was not the sad affair you may have imagined. Is Promoted To I will probably rank it as one of the most joyous Christmas of my life."

Don and his buddies had made no plans for a Christmas celebration; it just fell into My Police for Strategic Air Christmas tree, flanked by two mother-baked cakes and fronted by a small record by a place. There was a small Commands aircraft bases. fronted by a small cross.
