Pre-registration for the fall term at Ranger Junior College ends this coming Saturday, August 31.

Students who plan to sign up for the fall semester are encouraged to come by the college administration building cometime this week and avoid the rush of regular registra-

RJC is offered a full lineup of both daytime and evening classes this fall.

Of particular appeal to Eastland County residents is the newly instituted RJC even ing program. Classes in the evening program are conducted exclusively in the evenings to enable studen's who work full time to get in up to ten hours of college work per semester without interfer ng with their jobs.

Evening classes will be offered on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday nights. Each class will meet one night per week from 7 until 9:40 p.m.

Students interested in signing up for the evening program are urged to contact Mr. Larry Hunt, director of student personnel, for further information.

UDENTS AND RANGER COLLEGE FEACHERS

The final schedule of evening classes to be offered this fall at Ranger Junior College has been announced by Dean R. B. Golemon.

The evening program-new this year at RJC-is designed to allow students who must hold daytime jobs to still get in up to ten hours of college work per semester.

Classes in the evening program will meet one night per week from 7 until 9:40 p.m. All classes except P. E. and biology will meet in the newly air conditioned Academic Building Classes to be offered on Monday evenings include P.E. 101 & 201 (men's physical education); English 101 (freshman grammar and composition); Government 202 American national government); ad Spanish 100 (beginning Spanish).

Classes to be offered on Tucsday evenings include: BA 103 (office machines); English 203 (masterpieces of world literature); Biology 101 (general biology lecture); and Biology Lab 101 general biology).

Classes to be offered on Thursday evenings include: Art 101 (Life drawings); BA 100T and 101T (beginning and intermediate typing); Biology Lab 101 (gen, biology laboratory); Math 103 (college algebra); History 101 (American history 1492-1865); and French 101 (beginning French). The French course will be offered as a reading seminar for students who desire to acquire a reading knowledge of the French language.

Dean Golemon noted that the RJC evening program offers Ranger area residents a new opportunity to get a college education without having to give up their daytime jobs. Students may also register for both the daytime and evening programs in order to get in more Interested students are invited to call Dean Golemon or Mr. Larry Hunt, director of student personnel, for further details.

Evening classes begin September 12. Registration is being conducted through the remainder of August and will be opened again on September 11.

Veterans may qualify up to $215.00 per month by enrolling for 14 semester hours or more. For further information, contact the Registrar at the college.
