TALKS OF THE FIGHT

GATES AND HIS ASSOCIATES MAKE A STATEMENT

OSGOOD DOES ALSO

DENY COLORADO FUEL COMPANY TO GO TO UNITED STATES STEEL COMPANY

PROXY SLATE IS ARRANGED

Manager Says Animosity Caused By His Refusal to Join in Sale of the Property to Big Trust—Threat to "Get Even"

Denver, Aug. 18.—John J. Mitchell, John W. Gates and James A. Blair, who are the proxy committee representing the owners of about four-fifths of the capital stock of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, have issued a statement in which they say they are not opposed to the continuing of Mr. Osgood's management because they are in favor of what is said to be his liberal treatment of the employees of the company. They did not want to disturb the relations of the men with the company. They also deny that the company is to be sold out to the United States Steel corporation and that there is a possibility of the works being closed. On the contrary they propose to expend large sums of money on improvements. The statement closes:

"We take it that the public is not generally interested in the reasons that actuate substantially four-fifths of the stock of the company in desiring a change in the company's management. We think it is sufficient to say that that is the fact and that we are in Colorado prepared to vote on behalf of ourselves and our associates that amount of stock in favor of the ticket which we shall propose at the coming meeting."

Osgood Tells His Troubles

John C. Osgood has issued a statement in response to the one given out by John W. Gates. He says:

"I will say now what I have never said to any one before, that the beginning of Mr. Gates' animosity toward me was when I refused to join him in selling out to the United States Steel corporation. At that time he told me that if I persisted he would get even with me by ousting me from the management of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company. The same gentlemen who have advised their names with Mr. Gates to the statement told me at the time that Gates was interested much more in United States steel than in the Colorado Fuel and Iron company. As to their dissatisfaction with the management: At a dinner given by me at the University club last December after a thorough examination of the property, Messrs. Mitchell, Blair and Lambert stated in the presence of some of the most prominent business men of the city, that they were absolutely satisfied with the management and that they would make no change if they could. No change has been made in the character of the management since that time."

CRIME IN ARIZONA

Mexico Special Police Stabbed at Maricopa Junction

Maricopa, Junction, Ariz., Aug. 18.—Leonardo Torres and Captain Gomez, special police, of Cananea, Mexico, were fatally stabbed by friends of a desperado whom they had arrested and were attempting to convey to prison. The murderers escaped.

SCHWAB TO RETIRE

STEEL TRUST PRESIDENT QUILTS STRENUOUS LIFE—LEAVES AMERICA

Loretto, Pa., Aug. 18.—President C. M. Schwab of the United States Steel corporation has accepted the advice of his physicians and decided to retire indefinitely from active business life.

He will leave America to seek some quiet nook in a foreign clime where not an echo of the strenuous life he has led can reach him.

Successors Mentioned

New York, Aug. 18.—The retirement of Chas. Schwab from the presidency of the United States Steel corporation is now commonly accepted as determined upon, notwithstanding recent official denials and the present reluctance in official quarters to confirm the report.

President Schwab's impaired health is the reason for this action. First Vice-President James Carey and H. C. Frick are mentioned as his successors.

BOY KILLED NEAR ARLINGTON IS IDENTIFIED

REMAINS EXHUMED AND FOUND TO BE THOSE OF WILLIAM CLINE

(Special to the Telegram.)
Arlington, Texas, Aug. 18.—The young man who was killed here by a Texas and Pacific train two miles east of here last Thursday and buried the same evening unidentified, but who was supposed to be William Cline, has been positively identified. The body was exhumed Saturday and M. D. Cline, of Dallas, identified the remains as those of his son. The body was reburied in the same grave.

WANTS TO AVOID JAIL

PETER POWER, MUCH DESIRED WITNESS IS COMING HOME FROM CANADA

New York, Aug. 18.—Slightly conflicting stories are told in Montreal specials as to the immediate future movements of Peter Power, the much wanted witness in the Northern Pacific merger case.

Power will in all probability leave this evening for New York accompanied by his wife and his attorney, Mr. Lamb. There seems to be powerful influences at work to prevent him returning, and his own family, it appears, has advised him to stay in Montreal. He is willing to return if he can keep out of jail.

A dispatch from Montreal says that Peter Powers the recalcitrant witness in the Northern Pacific merger case will be surrendered to the United States authorities tomorrow.

EL PASO LIMITED GOES IN WASHOUT

Ditched Near Letts Station, Ia., Early This Morning—Passengers Not Seriously Hurt

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 18.—The El Paso limited train on the Rock Island was wrecked by a washout early this morning near Letts Station in Iowa. The train carried a heavy passenger list, and while quite a number were injured, reports made from the road's general offices here say none were seriously so.

MEMBERS OF MILITIA

RELATION TO UNION MEN DISCUSSED IN NEW YORK

PECULIAR CONDITION

ONE REGIMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF UNITED MINE WORKERS

LIABLE TO BE CALLED OUT

Central Federation Delegate Urged None to Join the Citizen Soldiers While Another Encouraged Such Membership—Proud He Is Guardsman

New York, Aug. 18.—The subject of the relation of the militia to the coal miners has caused an animated discussion among the delegates to the meeting just held of the central federated union of this city. The matter was brought up by a delegate who said he had been informed that there is a regiment of militia in Pennsylvania composed entirely of members of the United Mine workers.

"This is a remarkable condition of affairs," he continued. "These militiamen are liable to be called on to take up arms against their brethren who are on strike for living wages."

He proposed that President Mitchell of the United Mine workers be requested to see that members of the union in future do not join the National guard. Several delegates said that the central body should consider well before taking any such action. The miners, they said, have trouble enough on their hands.

Encouraged to Join Militia

Another delegate remarked that it would be better if the National guard were made up of trades unionists. He preferred to encourage members of labor unions to join the militia.

"If the militia were made up of the members of labor unions," he continued, "the soldiers would hardly care to shoot their fellow workers when on strike. I want to see battalions, regiments—in fact, an army of militia—composed of trades unionists. They would be better than the United States army."

"I am a member of the National guard," another delegate said, "and I am not ashamed of it. But if I was called upon to shoot down workmen on strike I would resign."

The decision was to allow the subject to rest until after the end of the strike.

COTTON PICKING AROUND ARLINGTON

Gins Will Soon Be Running in Full Blast—Postmaster Carter Wants New Roads Opened for Mail Deliveries

(Special to the Telegram.)
Arlington, Tex., Aug. 18.—The farmers have begun to pick cotton and in a few days will have three gins running in full blast.

J. T. Crim, successor to R. N. Jones, has placed four new gin stands in his gin house, making eight in all. He will be able to gin 75 to 80 bales per day.

J. I. Carter, postmaster, is working hard to get several new roads opened up through different parts of the county about Arlington so the farmers can get their mail delivered once a day by the rural carriers.

B. F. Bridges, traveling salesman for the Mitchell Wagon company, has moved to Dallas. He has rented his home to H. G. Rice.

B. B. Cathy started last Saturday from the Cain neighborhood with a load of hay. Just as he reached the city limits one of his horses dropped dead from heat.

C. E. Griffin and wife returned from the Indian Territory Saturday where they have been hunting and fishing and looking at the country. He reports good crops up there all except cotton. Worms working on that some.

J. I. Carter went over to Fort Worth Saturday on business.

L. P. Beatright made a trip to Fort Worth, Saturday.

Prof. Y. M. Carlisle's school for boys will begin on Sept. 16, the same day the public school opens.

J. P. Jones and family returned from a five weeks stay at his ranch in Shackelford county.

QUIET AMONG THE MINERS

No Attempt Made to Start in Wyoming Region

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 18.—Everything is quiet among the striking miners of the Wyoming region today. No attempt has been made to start up work at Warneke washery of Duryea or at the Malby colliery.

WON'T CALL ON MILITIA

Nebraska's Governor Waits for Reports from Municipality

North Platte, Neb., Aug. 18.—Governor Savage today announced he did not think it necessary to call out the state militia to guard the Union Pacific's property here. He said he would not do so until requested by the mayor and the sheriff.

BUSINESS PROPERTY SOLD

Two Lots With Three Story Business House Thereon

A transfer was today made for record with the county clerk stipulating that lots 12 and 14 in block 104 had been transferred by W. H. Powell of Johnson county, Ind., to A. J. Long for a consideration of $20,000.

Lots 13 and 14 of block 108 are situated on the west side of Main street between Sixth and Seventh, and on them is the three-story brick business house occupied by the Ellison Furniture company.

CONTRACT LET FOR LOT OF STEEL TANKS

Work on Swift & Co.'s Mammoth Property Moving Swiftly—Experts on Special Lines of Construction Arriving

Alexander Colburn, contracting agent for Swift & Co., has let the contract for a miscellaneous lot of steel tanks to the William Graver Tank works, headquarters at Chicago, for the new plant here. These will include storage tanks, cooking tanks, and tanks for sundry other purposes. The contract price is $24,500 f. o. b. cars at Chicago, and there will be several thousand dollars in freight charges beyond that.

Mr. Kemp, a practical boiler erector, arrived this morning from New Orleans to superintend the erection of the boilers in the boiler house of the Swift & Co. plant.

The roofman blew in this morning also, and will proceed to put on the sky covers without delay.

The ice machine man, it is expected, will arrive tomorrow.

The many lines of work are being pushed along rapidly side by side, or as fast as one set of workmen can get out of the way of another.

THE BULLET IS NOT VET LOCATED

JOHN HOLT STILL IN TOO PRECARIOUS CONDITION TO ALLOW OF SEARCH

John Holt of Marlow, I. T., who was brought here Saturday evening with a bullet in his thigh, is still very ill at St. Joseph's infirmary and nothing has been done in the way of removing the bullet. In itself the bullet is doing no harm, but the shock caused by tearing its way through the man's thigh into the region of the pelvis, is very severe. Holt was shot three times, two buckshot striking him near the knee. The bullet was from a 41-caliber pistol and has not yet been exactly located, as Holt is too weak to be brought down town before an X-ray machine. Even then it is doubtful if the machine would show where the bullet is, as it went very deep.

WILL VETO THE MEASURE

MAYOR POWELL THINKS CITY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION DOES NOT WARRANT MORE FIRE STATIONS

Compliments the Department By Saying It Is Capable of Taking Care of the Existing Situation—Will Favor Measure Later on

No official or citizen in the city of Fort Worth is a better friend to the fire department or more solicitous over the question of ample fire protection than is Mayor Powell. He has demonstrated that in all of his official and individual actions. However, he does not believe that just at present the city is in condition to entail the expense of establishing additional fire stations and increasing the service, to do which the city would be up against several thousand dollars additional expense annually. In consequence of this belief he will this evening file a veto with the city secretary disapproving the resolution adopted by the council on last Friday night seeking to establish additional stations and equip and man them in the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth wards. He thinks the matter should go over for at least a year, at the expiration of which time he hopes the city will be in a condition to make the necessary additions. There are more pressing needs just now, he thinks, than additional fire protection, and he also thinks that the fire department in its present magnificent condition is thoroughly capable of coping with the situation. His veto message will, in all probability, give some facts and figures in connection therewith that will be interesting.

BOY HIT BY "SINKER" IS INSTANTLY KILLED

FISHERMAN MAKES SWEEPING CAST OF LINE STRIKING HIM BEHIND EAR

New York, Aug. 18.—While fishing in the Hudson river, Gustav Grunwald, Jr., 13 years of age, was killed in a remarkable manner. He was with his father and his brother when another fisherman standing near them made a sweeping cast with a long line to which was attached a heavy lead sinker. The sinker struck young Grunwald just behind the left ear and knocked him off the string piece on which he was seated. He was dead when picked up, having been killed instantly. The angler disappeared before he could be arrested.

Severe Storm in Georgia

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 18.—A severe electrical storm with high wind passed over southern Georgia Saturday night.

At Stillmore the roundhouse of the Air Line railroad was blown down and one man was killed.

At Hartow the Baptist church and the academy building were struck by lightning and narrowly escaped destruction.

At Swainsboro a building was struck by lightning and burned.

In all the section the opening cotton was whipped from the bolls and ruined. The loss from this source was considerable.

Big Price for Steers

Henrietta, Tex., Aug. 18.—R. Carrow & Co. sold 1000 head of 3 and 4-year-old steers to Kiser & Sutherland of Marlin; price $44 per head. They will be shipped to Marlin, where they will be fed. This is said to be the highest price ever paid for feeders in this section of the country. It was the best looking bunch of feeders ever shipped out of Clay county.

BEARS KILLED A LA PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

RIFLE, Col., Aug. 18.—W. T. Tribble is the hero of a desperate hand to hand encounter with two bears and that he escaped with his life was due in part of the visit of President Roosevelt to this part of the country two years ago.

Mr. Roosevelt showed the old guide just how to give the coup de grace to a bear with the knife.

Tribble while in the mountains was surprised by a grizzly and succeeded in dispatching him a la Roosevelt. When confronted by another which fought desperately, he, too, was cut down as the president would have done it.

Tribble was covered with bleeding wounds after the encounter but managed to crawl to his horse and ride to camp where he lost consciousness.

"All physicians are agreed that, on the whole, we in this country eat too much meat, and to this fact is due much of the rheumatism and gout from which we people suffer, as well as some more serious and fatal constitutional diseases. MEETING OF SONS AND VETERANS

REGULAR GATHERINGS OF BOTH ORGANIZATIONS HELD YESTERDAY

Portrait of Stonewall Jackson Presented the Veterans' Camp by J. R. Groves—An Entertainment for Thursday Night at J. J. Melton's

The camp of Confederate veterans held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon, at which the usual large attendance was noted. The business transacted was of an interesting nature to the members, and consisted of discussion of routine and special subjects. Lieutenant Commander M. J. Pankey presided, because of the absence of Commander E. W. Taylor, who is visiting in Jefferson, Tex.

One especially interesting feature of the afternoon was the presentation to the camp by J. R. Groves of a portrait of Stonewall Jackson. Accompanying the portrait was a note, which was read by the adjutant. The note explained as follows:

"To our beloved division commander and staff, and our honored camp commander and comrades of R. E. Lee camp, 158, U. C. V.:

"This portrait has adorned the wall of the home of my father, Perry A. Groves, for 36 years, and I, J. R. Groves, being the eldest living descendant of said P. A. Groves, and with full knowledge and consent of the other children, if acceptable to the camp, after inspection by the committee, do present to R. E. Lee camp, No. 158, U. C. V., of Fort Worth, this picture to be property of the camp and to be handed down to our sons and daughters as one of the relics of the camp; with this request: That as 'Stonewall' Jackson was Robert E. Lee's strong arm and trusty lieutenant, his picture always hang just to the left of the portrait of the peerless Lee."

The acting commander accepted the gift on behalf of the camp, referring feelingly to the man and to the sentiments which prompted the gift.

Rev. C. M. Hutton was made a member of the camp. It was stated the comrade, Hutton, enlisted at Mobile, Ala., October, 1861, and served till the surrender. He was chaplain of the Thirty-sixth Alabama, Holtzclaw's brigade, Clayton's division, Hood's corps, army of Tennessee.

The mortuary list was read. The committee having charge of the old fiddlers' contest, reported the total receipts to be $387.70.

Miss Mattie Melton, secretary of the Daughters of the Confederacy, announced an entertainment to be given at her home on North Burnett street on next Thursday night, August 21, and invited the members of the veteran and sons' camps. The invitation was accepted by a rising vote. It is to be in the nature of a lawn social, with an interesting program of music and recitations by the Daughters, Children of the Confederacy and other local talent.

The Sons Held Meeting
The sons also held an interesting meeting. While the attendance was light, those present manifested the usual interest in the upbuilding and growth of the camp, and discussed measures for weekly entertainments during the fall and winter evenings, the purpose being to arrange for weekly programs. Something of an interesting character will grow out of this proposition, which will be further discussed next Sunday. One new member was enrolled, Henry P. Mulley. The sons accepted the invitation extended by Miss Melton to attend the lawn social and entertainment to be given by the Daughters and Children at her home next Thursday night.

WIND MILL MEN STILL ON STRIKE

Trouble Between T. M. Brown & Co. and Employes Was Near a Settlement This Morning—Non-Union Men the Hitch

The strike of the Wind Mill and Water Supply Workers' union, No. 10,120, against T. M. Brown & Co., doing business at Calhoun and Front streets, is yet in effect, although this morning negotiations were under way for a settlement.

Saturday the union presented a scale of prices to the management of the works, and the adjustment was left open until this morning when the management met a committee. "The committee met the representative of the works," said J. D. Fawkes, treasurer of the union this afternoon, "and the claims made by the union on Saturday were accepted. The company, however, insisted that it retain five non-union men placed at work since we went on a strike. This we would not sanction and the strike is still on."

ANOTHER CATTLE DIPPING EXPERIMENT

Dr. Norgaard Invites Fort Worth Cattlemen to Holiday for Next Saturday—Report to Charley Larimer

Dr. Victor A. Norgaard writes his friend Charley Larimer from Denver under date of August 15 as follows: "My dear friend—As I have been delayed in Denver longer than I expected to be, I have decided to postpone the dipping demonstration at Wichita Falls until Saturday, August 23, a date which I believe will suit everybody who is to come from any distance.

"I have succeeded in inducing representatives from Texas, Colorado, Kansas and other states, as well as from the general government to attend this demonstration, and I trust you will make an effort to secure the attendance of as many prominent cattlemen from Fort Worth and vicinity as is possible.

"I need not assure you that every thing will be done to entertain the visitors in the best fashion that any ranch can provide, and that transportation (backs and buggies) from Holiday to the place of demonstration will be furnished to all. Kindly let me know how many you expect to bring, in order to enable me to provide for them."

Mr. Larimer urges that all who can go to this very important demonstration advise him at once, that he may apprise Dr. Norgaard of their coming. The crowd will leave Friday night, returning, reach Fort Worth Sunday night.

The importance of this experiment is understood by all cattlemen. Dr. Norgaard has made quite a success of former experiments, and is anxious for the cattlemen below the line to share the benefits of his research. Cattle dipped by this process have gone across the line unmolested, and others thus dipped can go over at any time.

There will be a barbecue and other features of entertainment for the visitors.

There are about 114,500 telegraph offices now open in the whole world.

WE MAY HAVE SOME WEATHER

Indications in Atmospheric Circles Are for an Approaching Change

The weather conditions in this vicinity have undergone no marked changes during the past 48 hours. There are indications, however, that there will be "something doing" in weather circles in the next few hours. There is a trough of low pressure overlying the lower portion of the Missouri river valley and the middle west, covering the territory from the Rio Grande to the lakes. In the upper portion of this area there were numerous thunderstorms last night in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois and the lake region. It is therefore probable that the electrical disturbance will extend southward to this section also.

In the cotton region the prevailing weather is clear and warm.

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS

The first serious attack occurred last night, followed by a second today. The 250 water meters recently ordered by the water works department have been received and are being placed in service as fast as the demand warrants. The sizes are 5-8 of an inch, 3-4 of an inch and one inch.

SESSIONS ARE NEARING END

Knights of Pythias Preparing to Leave Frisco

San Francisco, Aug. 18.—The stay of the Knights of Pythias in this city is drawing to a close. Many of the visitors have already left for their homes and others are preparing to before the final business of the convolve has been completed.

The final session of the supreme temple of the Rathbone Sisters was held this morning, and the sessions of the supreme lodge of the order were continued. The day was devoted to a concert and entertainment at the pavilion.

Memphis Scimitar: The average man knows as much about women's apparel as the canary bird of the nest in the old sycamore.

A youthful East Sider sat down to breakfast the other morning with a sweet young thing who is visiting his sister from Kentucky. He perceived in an indefinable way that she was looking peculiarly interesting and petite and was puzzled to learn wherein the charm lay.

At length he hit upon a waist that she was wearing as the particular cause of her attraction. He eyed it from time to time, and finally, not being able to name it, blurted out: "What's that thing you're wearing anyway?"

"That's the way it's made," she said. "It's very unkind of you to say that I wear my clothes any old way."

"Why, pardon me, I never intended it that way, I think it's great. What do you call it?"

"It's a kimono, a Japanese morning jacket," she answered sweetly, accepting the compliment.

Just then his sister, a tall, Gibson type of a girl, came in. She also had on a kimono and he ducked at once.

Later in the day he explained to his office boy that a kimono was something that would make one girl look like a dream of heaven and another like Fra Diavolo.

New York Times: One morning several weeks after the coal strike began Russell Sage and J. Pierpont Morgan were riding down to business on an elevated train. The conversation naturally turned to the coal strike, chances of the output, prices coal would bring, etc.

Mr. Sage was telling of their good luck in procuring a lot at a moderate cost per ton. Mr. Morgan bantered him about the quality, claiming he did not get the real article at the price he mentioned.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Sage, "that coal is all right; the real article. I know it, for each piece is stamped 'Lehigh.'"

"That's a good one," answered the arbiter of finance; "but I'm thinking, Uncle Russell," as he slapped the sage of Lawrence Beach good-naturedly on the shoulder; "I'm thinking that the next lot you or anyone else will get, instead of being stamped 'Lehigh,' the chances are that it will be stamped 'D—high.'"

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW GAIN

Fort Worth Ranks High Among the Cities of Same Size

No better evidence of the solid basis of finance in Fort Worth can be found than that shown by the steadily increasing clearings of the banks of the city. While last year the clearings were more or less affected by the excitement at Beaumont, this year they are increased with much better financial foundation, namely, the packing houses. The weekly moneys paid out to wage earners at the big buildings nearly all comes through the clearing house as most of the money is first paid by check to sub-contractors and then paid by them to the workmen. The Saturday salary list swells the Monday clearings appreciably. This morning the clearings were $615,448.60 against $359,998.78 for the same day last year, an increase of nearly $255,000.

The clearings for the past week were $2,747,813.60, against $2,646,191.96 for the same week last year. The clearings for the Bradstreet week, ending last Thursday were $3,398,945. The Fort Worth clearings were larger than those of Memphis by more than $1,000,000 and they were but $500,000 smaller than those of Galveston.

He walked down the street in his shirt waist so neat,

And he Stopped to hitch Up his pants.

He looked so cool and altogether so trim,

No wonder the girls turned to gaze after him

As he Stopped to hitch Up his pants.

He said to a friend, "There's a sweet girl I know"

"But, oh, dear me, my pants do worry me so,"

As he Stopped to hitch Up his pants.

At tennis he played, but he made them all swear,

As wildly he'd bat and hit only the air,

Because he Stopped to hitch Up his pants.

To church he did go, but before he set down

He'd fidget about and his face wore a frown

As he Gave a hitch To his pants.

With the dearest of girls in love he did fall,

But before he mustered up courage to tell her all

He Stopped to hitch Up his pants.

It's hitchety-hitch from morning till night,

Ye gods, it is a fidgety sight

As they Stopped to hitch Up their pants.

ATTACK ON THE MOROS

SITUATION IN MINDANAO IS REGARDED AS CRITICAL

BITTER OPPOSITION

Natives Have No Use for Americans and Never Fail to Take Advantage of an Opening—Cholera on the Islands

Manila, Aug. 18.—The Moro situation in Mindanao is considered critical. It is believed that American troops will soon move against Bacolod, where the recent murder of two men of the Twenty-seventh infantry was plotted. A small party of Moros surprised an outpost of the Twenty-seventh at Camp Vickers, Mindanao, Aug. 12, and succeeded in killing two and wounding one American before they escaped. They were from Bacolod which has a strong fort and other defences. Bitter opposition to the Americans exist at Bacolod and Captain John J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth cavalry commanding the American forces at Lake Nag has recommended the reduction of the forts. General Chaffee, who left Manila Aug. 12 on a final tour of the Southern Islands, reached Zamboanga last Friday. At a conference with the local commander General Chaffee argued that unless the American forces moved decisively against the hostiles they would lose the support of the friendly Moros.

Philippine Crew Mutinied.
Manila, Aug. 18.—The native crew of the interisular steamer Hermanos mutinied at Port Virac last Thursday. They murdered the chief engineer of the vessel and wounded the captain, the mate, the second officer and one of the passengers, all of whom were Spaniards. Members of the native constabulary went to the rescue of the ship's officers. They fire into the crew and killed three of them. Twenty-five of the crew surrendered and five jumped overboard and are believed to have drowned. During the fighting on the Hermanos the steamer ran aground, but was subsequently floated again.

Cholera in Philippines.
Manila, Aug. 18.—Cholera reports show few cases of the disease here, but a large number in some provinces. The total number of cases reported to date is 23,636, with 17,565 deaths. Estimating the cases which have not been reported to the authorities, the total number is believed to have reached 30,000.

Want Priest Sent to America.
Manila, Aug. 18.—Father McKinnon who first came to the Philippines as chaplain of the First California regiment and who is now pastor of the Catholic church in Ermita, Manila, suggests when the Philippines hierarchy is recognized that 400 of the younger native priests be sent to the United States for a year's training in Catholic seminaries. Father McKinnon believes such training would impart to them the spirit of American priesthood and a beneficial knowledge of Americans and their language. He proposes to ask American bishops to assist this project financially.

Well Known Priest Dead.
Monterey, Mex., Aug. 18.—Father John Troney, pastor of San Jose church and chaplain of the St. Vincent de Paul hospital, died of influenza Sunday. The dead priest had been known by almost as many Americans, French, German and English as by Mexicans. Father Troney was born in Lyons, France, about 63 years ago. He was sent to the United States as a missionary from France, and for many years was stationed in San Antonio and other Texas towns. Seventeen years ago he came to Mexico and most of the time since then he has been the pastor of the church at Bustamante. He was given the pastorate of the Monterey church about a year ago.

THE GRAVE EMPTY.

No Body Found When Suggested Corpses of Morris Was Exhumed.
Cordell, O. T., Aug. 18.—A grave near Orlando, a town a short distance from Guthrie in which G. S. Morris, a Madison, Kas. man, who was reported last week to have been killed, was opened Sunday in the presence of 500 persons and found to be empty. Friends of Morris who believed that he had been murdered had requested the authorities to exhume the body. Telegrams of inquiry have been received from Morris' wife and from insurance orders in Madison of which he was a member.

Morris appeared a week ago in this section in company with a man who gave his name as Cox and who represented himself as a loan agent. On Monday Cox reported that Morris had been killed in a runaway accident. The man purchased a lot in a country cemetery near Orlando and bought a coffin, which he was buried with the assistance of a colored man.

OUTLAWS STRUNG UP.

They Were Hanged by a Mob to Bring About a Confession.
Cordell, O. T., Aug. 18.—A mob of several hundred men took Levi Reed and Bud Wingo, outlaws captured recently in a raid on the Casey-Cravens gang, from the county jail here late Saturday night and strung them up to trees to force them to reveal the whereabouts of their leaders and to give information regarding their crimes. The outlaws finally gave the desired information and the mob returned them to jail, disappearing apparently to run down the gang. Reed was so badly strangled that he was revived with difficulty. The Casey-Cravens gang is one of the worst that infests this country. Recently they have committed many outrages in southern Oklahoma.

Muscatine, Ia., Aug. 18.—The decomposed body of Mrs. Jesse Tumar was found Sunday night 100 yards away from her home near here, and her husband unconscious and with mortal wounds was found on the floor of the house, which showed signs of a desperate struggle. The couple are known to have had considerable money. The money cannot be found and a man who for two weeks made his home with the Tumars has disappeared. Watkin Newman and a brother, Isham, lived together and were well-to-do farmers. Saturday night Isham went to Talbot's station, arriving home at 11:30 o'clock. He found the house in flames and his brother Watkin lying on a bed dead. He could not rescue the body on account of the fierce fire. The man was supposed murdered and the house set on fire.

The latest outbreak of violence was in the shooting Sunday of William Smith and his son Jacob, near Raddleville. The father was killed but his son will recover. Negroes committed the crime, which was the outcome of a game of "craps" at a negro picnic. The scene of the tragedy is two miles from where Levee Commissioner Riley was murdered in his bed last Thursday.

A lineman of the Postal Telegraph company, sent out to locate an interruption of the circuit, reports that he found the wires cut under the table at Deaneville.

Louisiana is a good place to pick pockets. By an error of an enrolling clerk of the last legislature the maximum penalty for the crime was fixed at three months in place of two years, as intended. This was done by leaving out a line in the bill, and Louisiana peace machinery is wondering what to do between now and the next session two years hence.

A gratifying success of the principles of arbitration is shown in a recently issued report of the Massachusetts state board of conciliation and arbitration. During 1901 the board took part in the settling of 108 controversies, rendering eight decisions and effecting 100 conciliations. Pennsylvania, the hotbed of labor trouble, ought to have some board of this kind. Backed by the commonwealth of a great state like Pennsylvania coal mine operators would not refuse to arbitrate.

Senator Marcus Hanna is at last before the American people in anything but a false light. He has acknowledged his statement that he would like to leave the United States senate to work out a solution of the labor question was a huge joke. It is to be related that the Senator has really become serious and given the laboring element an opportunity to know that he wouldn't turn loose of a job, the pay of which don't settle for his house rent in Washington, but wherein he can work for the perpetuity of various and sundry grafts on the government. The Ohio Senator a philanthropist? Not at this writing.

The new pension list will be a stunner for the future political economist. For the number of battles fought the ratio in money calculates to exceed anything before dreamed of. It is stated that one Ohio regiment which landed in Cuba with 1330 members has furnished 707 pension claims. A Massachusetts regiment of about the same number of men furnishes 673 pension claims, most of which will be allowed. The fact should be considered that in fighting a climate, the number of battles a soldier is engaged in has little to do with the infirmities resulting from a campaign. In a fight with a climate the whole force is engaged all the time, and while the work for the surgeon is diminished that for the physician is increased. Texas has had small opportunity to see evidences of

Christ Walks Upon the Sea

The Wind and the Waves Obeyed Him

A DAILY CHAPTER FROM THE BIBLE.

AND straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away. And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come he was there alone. But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves, for the wind was contrary. And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea. And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit: and they cried out for fear. But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water. And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus. But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me. And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt? And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased. Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God. And when they were gone over, they came into the land of Gennesaret. And when the men of that place had knowledge of him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that were diseased. And besought him that they might only touch the hem of his garment: and as many as touched were made perfectly whole. Matthew 14; 22-36.

the climatic effect, but some of her soldiers to the Philippines returned wrecks of their former selves, bearing traces of disease that will follow them to their graves. While the pension aggregate will be large it will not compare with the amount which men who saw no service made out for the war.

A FEW STORIES

New York Tribune: Of a man with a $1000 bill in his pocket and no smaller amount of money a story has been written that traced him through many experiences and took him to the verge of starvation. But, as a matter of fact, one man who had nothing smaller than a $1000 bill got through his difficulty very easily in this city a few nights ago.

Ten of these coveted promissory notes of the United States had been paid to him in the afternoon. In the pursuit of business and a modicum of pleasure he had, after the receipt of his $10,000, spent the last dime he possessed other than the big bills. He was with some friends, any one of whom could and would have accommodated him with sufficient money for his needs, but a discussion arose about what he would do if he were a stranger in the city and had no money other than that which was in his pocket.

"I wouldn't care if I were dressed as a beggar," he said. "I can get all I want so long as I have a $1000 bill in my pocket."

"You would be arrested or turned down if you tried to use it," said one. "There are not many places where $1,000 in change is kept handy. Besides, most people would be shy of taking such a bill from any of us. We don't look as though we carried $1000 bills around in our pockets."

"Well," said the man with the $10,000, "I'll bet a basket of champagne with the bunch that I can spend my money as freely as though these were $5 bills instead of what they are, and I won't have any trouble about it, either. I'll get change the first time I try or lose the bet. And I won't go to any man who knows me."

The wager was accepted and the man with the $10,000, taking one friend with him, walked out to a pawn shop. He said to the clerk only this: "I have received $10,000 in 10 bills. They are mine and were come by honestly. It is difficult for me, a stranger, to get a $1000 bill changed. Here are the 10 bills. Look at them. I need some money, and I want to pawn one of these bills for $25. If you are afraid of me, call up police headquarters and I will satisfy the people there by papers that I can show that I am honest. Or, if you like, call up Mr. —, who paid the money to me, and he will tell you if I am all right."

The pawnbroker looked at him keenly for a second and then said: "I never took money as a pledge, but you are sober and seem all right, and you can have the $25. Give me the $1000 bill."

The pawnbroker examined the bill carefully and then, to the astonishment of the others, took another $1,000 bill out of his safe and compared them. Then just as he would make out a ticket for a ring or watch, he issued a ticket for a $1000 bill, turned over the $25 and closed the transaction.

Denver Times: "Private" John Allen was not elected to the senate for the reason that the people never take a humorist seriously," said D. E. Betts of Jackson, Miss. "It has been the history of politics in this country, with one exception, that a man who has developed a talent for humor can never receive the endorsement of the people for public trust. But for that Allen would have won out for the senate. The exception I refer to is that of Chauncey Depew, a senator from New York, but the reputation that he won as a joker after dinner kept him back for many years in spite of his wealth and his powerful connections. I do not believe we won strictly on his own merits. Tom Reed's penchant for saying bitter things and funny things has relegated him to private life, when I believe today he is the bravest man in this country. Some of his shots at the McKinley administration were the cleverest and most concise commentaries on the situation from his point of view I ever saw anywhere. But they laid him out politically. Yes, the people cannot take a joker seriously. 'Private' John Allen is an able man and he is honest as you make 'em, too, but he is a victim of this disposition to pass up a humorist."

CASE By... Emile Gaboriau

Synopsis of Case No. 113 300,000 francs, ($70,000) is mysteriously stolen from the safe in the banking house of M. Fauvel. The cashier, Prosper Bertomy, is accused of the robbery as he alone, with M. Fauvel, knows the secret word of the safe's combination. Bertomy is arrested. He writes to M. Nina Gipsy, telling her of his disgrace. The note gets into the possession of M. Fanferlot, a detective employed on the case, and it is used as evidence against Bertomy in his trial, where it develops that Bertomy has been intimate with a young man, Raoul Lagors, who is rich but fast. Neither Lagors, nor the office boy who slept in the room beside the safe the night of the robbery, can be found as witnesses for the trial. It also transpires that the secret word of the combination, the night the money was stolen, was "Gipsy." At his trial, Bertomy admits he spent 50,000 francs for living during the previous year. The night before the robbery, he went to the country home of M. Lagors. The judge in charge asks Bertomy why he suddenly ceased attentions to a young lady, whose attentions he had previously sought, and when the judge insinuates that Mme. Gipsy was the cause, Bertomy strenuously denies it. He tells that the messenger who was with him when he put the money in the safe, remained in the room after he left. The messenger admits this. Fanferlot gets badly puzzled while following Mme. Gipsy when she goes to meet a friend. Fanferlot finally decides that they know who he is and are trying to trick him. Mme. Gipsy announces that she intends to leave the Hotel Archangel.

CHAPTER VI. BUT by the time Fanferlot reached Montmartre street, where M. Lecocq lived, his courage had vanished. He pulled his hat over his eyes and hung his head, as if looking for relief among the paving stones. He slowly ascended the steps, pausing several times, at last reaching the third floor, and stood before a door decorated with the arms of the famous detective—a cock, the symbol of vigilance—and his heart failed him so that he had scarcely the courage to ring the bell. Janouille, M. Lecocq's old servant, opened the door. "Ah," she said, "you come in time for once in your life. Your patron awaits you."

Upon this announcement Fanferlot was seized with a violent desire to beat a retreat. By what chance could Lecocq want anything of him? While he thus hesitated Janouille seized him by the arm and pulled him in, saying: "Do you want to take root there? Come along. Your patron is waiting for you."

In the middle of a large room curiously furnished, half library and half greenroom, was seated at a desk the same person with gold spectacles who had said to Prosper at the police office, "Courage." This was M. Lecocq in his official character.

Upon Fanferlot's entrance as he advanced respectfully, bowing, M. Lecocq laid down his pen and said, looking sharply at him: "Ah, here you are, my man. Well, it seems you haven't made much progress in the Bertomy case."

"Why," murmured Fanferlot, "you know"— "I know that you have mixed everything until you can't see your way out, so that you are ready to give up."

"But it was not I"— M. Lecocq arose and walked up and down the room. Suddenly he confronted Fanferlot.

"What would you think, Master Squirrel," he said ironically, "of a man who abuses the confidence of those who employ him, who reveals just enough to lead the prosecution on the wrong scent, who sacrifices to his own foolish vanity the cause of justice and the liberty of an unfortunate man?"

Fanferlot recoiled a step. "I should say," he stammered—"I should say"— "You think, Mr. Squirrel, that this man ought to be punished and dismissed from his employment, and you are right. The less a profession is honored, the more honorable should those be who belong to it. Nevertheless you have been false to yours. Ah, Mr. Squirrel, we are ambitious, and we try to make the police force serve us. We let justice go her way and we go ours."

"But I swear"— "Silence! Do you pretend to say that you did your duty in what you told the judge of instruction? While others were informing against the cashier you undertook to inform against the banker. You spied upon him. You became intimate with his valet."

Was M. Lecocq really angry? Fanferlot, who knew him well, was in doubt. He did not know what to think of this devil of a man.

"If you were only skillful," he continued. "But, no; you wish to be a master, and you are not fit to be a journeyman."

"You are right," said Fanferlot pitiously, seeing that it was useless to deny anything. "But how get on with an affair like this, where there was not even a trace or sign to start from?"

M. Lecocq shrugged his shoulders. "Poor fellow! Why, don't you know that on the very day you were sent for with the commissary to verify the robbery you held—I do not say certainly, but very probably held—in your great stupid hands the means of knowing whether the key of the cashier or the banker had been used when the robbery was committed?"

"What do you mean?" "You want to know? I will tell you. Do you remember the scratch you discovered on the safe door? You were so struck by it that you exclaimed at seeing it. You carefully examined it and were convinced that it was a fresh scratch. You thought, and rightly, too, that this scratch was made at the time of the robbery. Now, with what was it made? Evidently with a key. That being the case, you should have demanded the keys both of the banker and the cashier. One of them would have had some particles of the hard green paint sticking to it."

Fanferlot listened with open mouth to this explanation. At the last words he violently slapped his forehead with his hand and cried out: "Imbecile!"

"You have spoken correctly," said M. Lecocq. "Imbecile! This proof is before your eyes, and you do not see it! This scratch is the only clue. If I find the guilty party, it will be by means of this scratch, and I am determined that I will find him."

At a distance Fanferlot was very brave, but in M. Lecocq's presence he yielded to the influence which this extraordinary man exercised upon all who approached him. This exact information, these minute details of all his secret movements and even thoughts, upset him. How had M. Lecocq obtained them?

"Have you been long looking up this case?" he asked. "Probably. But I am not infallible and may have overlooked some important evidence. Take a seat and tell me all you know."

One could not deceive M. Lecocq, so Fanferlot told the exact truth, a rare thing for him to do. However, as he reached the end of his statement a feeling of mortified vanity prevented his telling how he had been fooled by Gipsy and the stout man.

"It seems to me, Master Squirrel, that you have forgotten something. How far did you follow the empty coach?" Fanferlot despite his assurance blushed and hung his head.

"Oh," he stammered, "you know about that? How did you?"— But a sudden idea entered his brain. He stopped short, bounded off his chair and cried:

"Oh, I know! You were the large man with red whiskers." Fanferlot's surprise gave so singular an expression to his face that M. Lecocq could not restrain a smile.

"Then it was you," continued the bewildered detective. "You are the large gentleman at whom I stared so as to impress his appearance upon my mind, and I never recognized you! What an actor you would make if you would go on the stage! But I was disguised, too—very well disguised."

"Very poorly disguised. It is only just to you that I should tell you so. Do you think that a heavy beard and a blouse are unrecognizable? The eye, the eye! The art lies in being able to change the eye. That is the secret."

This explained why the lynx-eyed Lecocq never appeared at the police office without his gold spectacles.

"But," said Fanferlot, following up his idea, "you have made the little girl confess, which Mme. Alexandre could not do? You know why she leaves the Archangel, why she does not wait for M. de Clameran and why she bought calico dresses?"

"She is following my advice." "In that case," said the detective dejectedly, "there is nothing left for me to do but to acknowledge myself an ass."

"No, Squirrel," said M. Lecocq kindly, "you are not an ass. You merely did wrong in undertaking a task beyond your capacity. Have you progressed one step since you started in this affair? No. That shows that, although you are incomparable as a lieutenant, you do not possess the qualities of a general. I am going to present you with an aphorism. Remember it and let it be your guide in the future—'One may shine in the second rank who would be totally eclipsed in the first.'"

Never had Fanferlot seen his patron so talkative and good natured. Finding his deceit discovered, he had expected to be overwhelmed with a storm, whereas he had escaped with a little shower that had cooled his brain. Lecocq's anger disappeared like one of those heavy clouds which threaten in the horizon for a moment and then are suddenly swept away by a gust of wind.

But the husband of Mme. Alexandre felt uneasy. He was afraid that something might be concealed beneath this affability.

"Do you know who the thief is?" he asked.

"I know no more than you do, and you seem to have made up your mind, whereas I am still undecided. You declare that the cashier is innocent and the banker guilty. I don't know whether you are right or wrong. I started after you and have only reached my preliminaries. I am certain of but one thing, and that is that a scratch was on the safe door. That scratch is my starting point."

As he spoke M. Lecocq took from his desk and unrolled an immense sheet of drawing paper. On this paper was photographed the door of M. Fauvel's safe. Every detail was given minutely. One could see the five movable buttons with the engraved letters and the narrow, projecting brass lock. The scratch was indicated with admirable exactness.

"Now," said M. Lecocq, "here is our scratch. It runs from top to bottom, starting from the hole in the lock, diagonally and, you see, from left to right—that is to say, it terminates on the side next to the private staircase leading to the banker's apartments. Very deep at the lock, it ends off in a scarcely perceptible mark."

"I see." "Naturally you thought that this scratch was made by the person who took the money. Let us see if you were right. I have here a little iron box, painted green like M. Fauvel's safe. Take a key and try to scratch it."

Without seeing through his chief's motive, the detective did as he was bid, scratching vigorously with the key.

"The deuce!" he said after several attempts. "This paint is awfully hard to move." "Very hard, my friend, and yet that on the safe is still harder. So, you see, the scratch you discovered could not have been made by the trembling hand of a thief letting the key slip."

"I never should have thought of that. It certainly required great force to make so deep a scratch." "Yes, but how was it done? I have been racking my brain for three days, and only yesterday I came to a conclusion. Let us examine together and see if our conjectures present enough chances of probability to establish a starting point."

M. Lecocq abandoned the photograph and, walking to the door communicating with his bedroom, took the key from the lock.

"Come here, Fanferlot, and stand by my side. There, very well. Suppose that I want to open this door and you don't want me to open it. When you see me about to put the key in the lock, what would be your first impulse?"

"To put my hands on your arm and draw it toward me quickly, so as to prevent your introducing the key." "Precisely so. Now let us try it. Proceed."

Fanferlot obeyed, and the key held by M. Lecocq, pulled aside from the lock, slipped along the door, making an exact reproduction of the scratch in the photograph.

Ted Sullivan, owner of the franchise for the Fort Worth ball team, and perhaps better known as a base ball promoter than any other man in the state, has announced his latest plan for giving the state a fast article of the national game. The plan involves the forming of an eight-club Texas league this fall so as to be in shape to get a good start next spring. In an interview, Mr. Sullivan said to the Telegram:

"I plan to organize a solid Texas eight-club league. It will be a new combination, and a new deal all round. After my season closes, I intend to make the rounds of the Texas towns to locate and find people in each city who are representative business men, to back the various clubs. A meeting of this league will be called early in October. Franchises will not be given to any ball players. The league will then have plenty of time—all winter, to organize well. Whether I remain in Texas or not, I intend to organize the league. I have offers from other sections of the country, in high class leagues at that, but as I am so well acquainted in Texas and the people have treated me so well in the various cities I have visited, it's about a certainty I'll be among them."

"Texas next year will see as fast ball as was ever witnessed in the old state. I will give the franchise to the Fort Worth business men who care to organize a stock company here. I am sorry I couldn't give Fort Worth the champion club, but as all my labors last winter were to form the league, I left myself to the last and then I had to pick up players that I never saw before."

"Corsicana has violated the spirit and letter of the Texas league. The purpose was to get nothing but young players to make the teams evenly matched. This Corsicana did not do. She went out and picked up players to beat the world, irrespective whether the league lasted or not."

Mr. Sullivan further said that he intends to bring to Texas during the state fair, either the St. Louis Browns or the Chicago White Stockings to play in different towns of the league. They will play at the state fair at Dallas against a team picked from the whole Texas league.

TRAINS BRING THOUSANDS

Many Visitors Spent Yesterday Here Because of Cheap Rates
Railroads and restaurants had their share of patronage yesterday, the former playing into the hands of the latter with good effect. The Frisco brought two large excursions from Brownwood and Denison and the Cotton Belt brought many from Mt. Pleasant and intermediate points. It is estimated that at least 3000 visitors were here yesterday, all returning home last evening.

The packing houses were main points of interest, hundreds coming to see where they will send their bags and cattle to visit later. The Fort Worth-Park ball game also drew many visitors, causing the grand stand to overflow into the field. Incidentally, eating houses did an excellent business.

SAFE BLOWING, SAFE BLOWERS

POLICE CHIEF REA TALKS INTERESTINGLY ON CRIME AND THE MEN WHO COMMIT IT

PINKERTON IS APED

In an Article Written for a Former City Detective—Vags and Suspects Rounded up in Large Numbers by the City's Police

If a thinning out of the vagrant class will diminish the petty thefts and burglaries that are being committed then Chief Rea and his force are determined there shall be an ending. As an evidence of this determination there are over sixty healthy, hearty, robust prisoners in the city prison as a result of the frequent round-ups of the police during the past week. A majority of these are negroes, and are charged with vagrancy. That they are idlers there is no question. The police watch them a reasonable length of time, and they show no evidences of an effort to obtain work. Their bewhiskered claim is that they came to Fort Worth to seek work at the packing houses, but the police say they never go near there for fear of being offered work.

City Prison is Full
The city prison is so full that Chief Rea is exercised over its crowded condition on account of the excessive heat, and Saturday night some were placed in the boys' run-around and a close watch kept over them. The windows and doors of this department have been securely barred and there is little opportunity for escape. Aside from these prisoners no less than twenty have been transferred to the county jail within the past ten days, and from a majority of them stolen goods have been recovered. The county jail has a "guest" list of over seventy-five and fifty per cent of this number is the result of police vigilance.

In addition to these petty depredations, there is no question but that there is a gang of professional thieves in the city of the white class. Chief Rea and his men are making every effort to apprehend them. But, with a limited force and the lengthy beats these few men must patrol, there are difficulties hard to surmount, even to the most vigilant. That these men are being harbored by those who are familiar with their vocation, in the opinion of the officers, there can be but little doubt, and it would not be a great surprise if a "reckoning" on this score would result at any time. The police are not lagging in their vigilance and efforts to apprehend these men and their sympathizers.

Chief Urges Precaution
Chief Rea urges that every precaution be taken by business men about their places of business, and also around residences. There are constantly men at the station ready to answer calls, and a telephone message to its number, 231, will be given prompt response, when a policeman on the beat cannot be reached when needed. The three mounted men patrolling the residence portions of the city report every half hour to the station by phone, and can be reached on short notice.

Chief Rea on Crime and Criminals
Chief Rea this morning viewed with a degree of satisfaction the long line of vags and suspects as they were marched from the city calaboose to the corporation court dock—the result of Saturday and Sunday night's round up. His chief is satisfied with the work of his force, and encourages them to continue efforts to rid the city of this undesirable and dangerous accumulation of riff-raff.

"I have instructed the men," said the chief, "to keep this up until the city is well rid of them. The rapid increase of Fort Worth's population naturally brings a great number of undesirable people here. We are doing our best to keep an eye on the bad ones. The numerous petty thefts and burglaries are the natural result of this influx. As you well know, some time ago we were troubled with bunco men. It took time to convince this ilk that the Fort Worth climate was not conducive to a protracted stay here."

The chief's attention was called to what purported to be an original article on safe blowing by Former City Detective Al Ray, printed recently. Whoever wrote that article for Al Ray, said the chief, "took up papers written by William A. Pinkerton and read before the National Chiefs' association. I have Pinkerton's paper and a comparison shows a remarkable similarity."

"As to that Famous shoe store job, wherein the safe was cracked and $200 secured, I am satisfied there are some people in Fort Worth who know more about the deal, the kind of tools used and the manner of its commitment than they care to make public. I am not ready, however, to discredit the statement of Mr. Warren, safe expert, printed in the Telegram."

Somebody Faked Pinkerton
"Referring to the 'evolution of a safe-blower again,'" said Chief Rea, "Former Detective Ray is correct when he says he knows more crooks than any other man in Texas."

"In what particular is the article written for Ray and the one written by Pinkerton similar?" was asked the chief.

"The similarity is apparent throughout. Here, let me show you Pinkerton's paper on 'operations of bank burglars 20 years ago and today,' read before the association in May 1904 at Cincinnati. Examine any Mr. Pinkerton's paper and you will see that it is a copy of the one written for Al Ray."

CANCEROUS ULCERS

Are in many respects like other ulcers or sores, and this resemblance often proves fatal. Valuable time is lost in fruitless efforts to heal the sore with washes and salves, because the germs of Cancer that are multiplying in the blood and the new Cancer cells which are constantly developing keep up the irritation and discharge, and at last sharp shooting pains announce the approach of the eating and sloughing stage, and a hideous, sickening cancerous sore begins its destructive work.

No ulcer or sore can exist without some predisposing internal cause that has poisoned the blood, and the open discharging ulcer, or the festering sore on the lip, cheek or other part of the body will continue to spread and eat deeper into the flesh unless the blood is purified and the Cancer germs or morbid matter eliminated from the circulation.

S. S. S. cleanses the blood of all decaying effete matter. It has great antiodotal and purifying properties that soon destroy the germs and poisons and restore the blood to its natural condition. And when pure blood is carried to the ulcer or sore the healing process begins, the discharge ceases and the place heals over and new skin forms. S. S. S. is a strictly vegetable blood purifier containing no mercury or minerals of any description.

"MARTIN'S BEST"

Insist on "MARTIN'S BEST" Beware the "Just as Good"
The day. The bank burglar of today is an entirely different character. Within the past five or six years the use of nitro-glycerine has come to be understood by burglars generally, and a new class of burglars has sprung up. They do not dress or live as well as their predecessors, but they are getting the money. They look like 'hobos,' and are known to each other as 'yeggmen.' Three-fourths of the burglaries of the present time are committed by 'yeggmen.' While the burglar 25 years ago traveled as a gentleman and carried a today beat their way on freight trains, and do not burden themselves with elaborate kit of tools, the 'yeggmen' of tools. They carry a bottle of nitro-glycerine, or 'soup,' as they call it, fuse, caps and a bar of soap. Such tools as are required are obtained at a local blacksmith shop, or from a railroad section tool house, and so on throughout Pinkerton's paper you can see between the lines all of the points covered in the article written for Al Ray."

EIGHT KICKAPOO TAKING A TRIP

OCTET GOING TO SEE RELATIVES IN MEXICO

Attired in a Profusion of Red, Moccasined and Feathered Were the Center of Attraction at the Texas and Pacific Depot

Eight Kickapoo Indians, moccasined, girdled with red sashes of the Mexican variety, red feathers protruding from the hat bands, were the center of attraction at the Texas and Pacific Union passenger station Saturday night. The octet was in charge of M. J. Bentley, an attorney of Shawnee, Okla., who is piloting them to the Santa Rosa mountains in Mexico not many miles northwest of Monterey.

The Indians were from their reservation in the Southeastern part of Oklahoma. They arrived on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas from South McAlester, and left on the Katy's flyer for Laredo, from where they go to the mountains.

The Kickapoo are making the trip to visit relatives, many of whom reside in the Santa Rosa district, to which they were chased in 1876 by the United States cavalry. Their tribe furnish some of the early history of the Texas frontier. In 1876 they were deprecating no little along the Rio Grande, when Major McKenzie, of the cavalry service, and well known in the state, with his riders gave chase.

The Indians—409 of them—crossed the border into Mexico, believing themselves safe from Federal interference. There was no international law to stop a chase in those days, so Major McKenzie continued the ride, capturing the whole bunch.

Pahpahnenakotho, Enekahwa and Wahskotato, three of the party here Saturday night were among the 409 returned to the States and by executive order placed on the reservation in Southern Oklahoma. Now there are only 194 of the original band living, and toward civilizing them the government has expended $200,000. This record stands in striking contrast with that made by another band of the Kickapoo who were not found by McKenzie during his search twenty-four years ago. They were 178 in number, who took refuge in the Santa Rosa mountains, where they live today, and thrived without financial aid until the band numbers 460.

Those residing in the States own valuable lands near Shawnee and through the territory. They are among the wealthiest of the tribes.

Pahpahnenakotho is the Oldest
The first of the trio, whose designation might have been "the man-with-fifteen-letters-in-his-name" was the oldest of the party, being now in his eightieth year. He wore a red feather from a white hat, and a Mexican's sash, also of red, around his waist.

The others, some younger, were in similar costume. They had money to spend, and spent it buying red colored popcorn and highly colored candies.

"Those fellows haven't been out of their buckskins long," said the attendant to a crowd in the depot's main waiting room. "They are dressed up now, and the more red they can get spread on themselves, the better they are in style. Indian style never changes. The feather is a symbol of their tribe and of it they think considerable. Take Enekahwa, for instance, he has a new pair of moccasins, and would be classed as an Indian dude."

The Indians expect to remain in Mexico for several months.

PHYSICIAN AND DRUGGISTS.
Ford & Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., write: "We are requested by Dr. G. B. Snigley to send for Herbine for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December, and are glad to say, Herbine has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave our salesman another order. We beg to say Dr. G. B. Snigley takes pleasure in recommending Herbine," 50c bottle at H. T. Pangburn & Co.'s.

To My Friends
It is with joy I tell you that Kodol did for me. I was troubled with my stomach for several months. Upon being advised to use Kodol, I did so, and words cannot tell the good it has done me. A neighbor had dyspepsia so that he had tried most everything. I told him to use Kodol. Words of gratitude have come to me from him because I recommended it.—Geo. W. Fry, Viola, Iowa. Health and strength, of mind and body, depend on the stomach, and normal activity of the digestive organs. Kodol, the great reconstructive tonic, cures all stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia. Kodol digests any good food you eat. Take a dose after meals. Smallwood & Anderson, Smallwood.

George C. Cannon, a sophomore at Harvard university and a son of President Henry W. Cannon of the Chase National bank of New York, is the inventor and builder of a steam motor car which has been repeatedly run at the rate of more than a mile a minute upon an ordinary road and has covered five miles upon a circular track one-third of a mile in circumference in 8m. 26 2-5a, which is a world's record for a steam carriage.

The Cannon car, though not so freakish in appearance as the Baker racing machine which was the cause of a fatal accident at speed trials on Staten Island, is strikingly novel in appearance as well as in construction. Its most prominent feature is a large boiler surmounted by a short, obliquely placed stack, which is set almost in the middle of the carriage. Back of it is the engine, and in the extreme rear is the engineer's seat.

A particularly rakish effect is given to the front of the car by a large water tank, with sloping sides, holding twenty gallons, which also acts as a dashboard and wind shield for the driver, whose seat is between it and the boiler.

The fuel used is gasoline at a pressure of about ninety pounds, which gives a very hot fire, by which steam at 200 pounds pressure may be generated from cold water in less than two minutes. In racing the steam pressure is maintained at over 400 pounds. The steering is done by a horizontal wheel connecting with the front wheels. The driver steers the machine and operates the throttle while the fireman attends to the fire.

ALL WERE SAVED.
"For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnson, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best Croup medicine in the world." A trial will convince you it's unrivalled for Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Guthrie & Guthrie's, 502 Main street.

His Sight Threatened
"While picnicking last month my 11-year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sioux City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison off his hands into his eyes and for awhile we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days he was as well as ever." For skin diseases, cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, insect bites, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is sure cure. Relieves piles at once. Beware of counterfeits. Smallwood & Anderson, Anderson & Smallwood.

"Waken, Lords and Ladies Gay, On the Mountain Dawns the Day."—Scott.

The sleeping-car that leaves Fort Worth on our night train is ready to receive passengers at NINE o'clock, each evening, and this car is set out at Colorado Springs for guests to vacate at their leisure. The place where the car waits is only about six miles from the mountains, and a beautiful sight greets the wakers from that long, refreshing Colorado sleep—under blankets.

This night train also has a sleeper that goes into Denver, reaching there at comfortable rising time. Both of our daily THRU TRAINS have those sleepers with "Large, Ladies' Dressing rooms," also meals served in our own Cafe Dining cars, a la carte service, 25c and up per individual. These special features of distinguishing excellence are among the characteristics that have, now for some time, made appropriate the "Only-One-Road" and "You-Don't-Have-to-Apologize" verdict of persons who are capable of appreciating good service and making distinctions.

WEATHERFORD PLAYERS WON

Defeat Fort Worth Men in Saturday Tennis Match

C. W. Smith and William Rounds, who went to Weatherford Saturday afternoon to play a tennis match against Ned Lanham and Walter Richards of that place, returned home defeated, but very much pleased with the hospitable manner in which they were received and entertained. Four matches were played, one double and three singles. The Weatherford men were in fine form and took all four. Mr. Smith and Mr. Richards had a close single match, but Richards was successful. Mr. Rounds speaks in admiration of Mr. Lanham's fine work, it being superior in every respect. Fritz Lanham acted as referee for each match. The matches were watched by a fair crowd of tennis enthusiasts. The Fort Worth club hopes to be able to have several of the Weatherford players for a match here about September 1.

THEY LIVE ON THE CITY'S BOUNTY

Some of the Boarders Who Exist at the Expense of the City's Generosity, Yielding Nothing in Return

There are at least eight boarders in the city of Fort Worth who live shamelessly from day to day at the expense of the city and yield nothing in return. In fact, they are rather arrogant about it and are apt to complain if they do not receive daily rations.

Such a state of affairs is had enough and the parties ought to be exposed, but it would be a hard matter to bring up their private affairs before the gaze of the public, so be it said that the eight boarders are only three kittens, two puppies, two bantams, and a cat.

All of them board at the Central fire department's roomy hall and they appear to agree with their boarding place. Strictly speaking, the bantams are the only ones who live entirely at the city's expense, though all get free lodging in the hall. The bantams thrive on occasional grains of corn or oats which fall to the floor and they probably cost the city as much as thirteen cents per annum. But the grain would be lost anyway and it is better not to suggest the thirteen cents to any of the firemen, with whom the bantams are the favorites of all the many pets. The two roost most of the time under the big aerial truck, but when the gong sounds they hunt another resting place as they have no taste for fires. They have been with the department a good while and never leave the building.

The three kittens are recent arrivals and are living only by tolerance. They make a good deal of noise and were it not for the good work of their mother, they would quickly loose their pleasant berth. The mother of the mewling trio is an unusually good cat and saves the city quite a bit yearly in grain bills, as never a mouse or rat dares show itself about the grain bins that hold the feed for the department horses. Tabby is hardly a pet, as no one can ever catch her long enough to stroke her fur. She attends strictly to her work and asks no favors of anybody.

The two pups are also recent arrivals and are attractive only for their unsteady gaits. One of them arrived unannounced at the station Wednesday night and has since made itself quite at home. From prospects, it is to be feared that there will soon be a thinning of the ranks and that only the two bantams and Tabby will be left in the field.

A WORM KILLER.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Puxico, Wayne Co., Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at H. T. Pangburn & Co.'s.

BALL HAD A READY ANSWER

Champ Clark Tells How Texan Replied on Trusts

Champ Clark's Syndicate Letter: For years Texas has had one of the strongest average delegations in congress, in both house and senate. Some man from Texas has been to the fore in congress constantly for a quarter of a century, or, more properly speaking, I should say some men, for the Lone Star state has and, excepting in the reconstruction period, always had more than one of her sons in the public eye at any one time. The impress of old Sam Houston and his great compeers is still upon that mammoth and magnificent commonwealth. When Coke, Reagan, Sayers, Mills and Judge Culberson retired, it was generally taken for granted that the glory of Texas had departed, temporarily at least.

Not so, however. The youngsters who came upon the boards still maintain the high reputation of the state. Culberson and Bailey are the youngest senatorial team in the less numerous branch of the National legislature, and they are second to no other state's senators in ability. Her 13 representatives are men of unusual ability on the average. They are all Democrats. In the next congress she will have 16, all Democrats, heaven be praised, not only Democrats nominally, but Democrats who possess the courage of their convictions. And they are good to look at—big, strapping fellows, with great heads, set on broad shoulders and strong necks. They are the glory of the republic and of the human race.

I did not, however, start out to write an essay on the Texans, though the theme is a tempting one. I set out to tell a short tale as to how Thomas H. Ball of Texas answered Charles E. Littlefield of Maine on the trust question.

Ball is a rising man—indeed, he has already risen. He is as fine a specimen mentally and physically as one will see in a day's journey. He is getting to be one of the best debaters in the house. On June 24 he was making some remarks on the trusts when Littlefield, one of the Republican chieftains, asked him, "What is the Democratic remedy for trusts?" Quick as a flash the big Texan replied, "To place all trust-made articles on the free list, to deny the trusts the power of interstate transportation and the use of the mails, and to inaugurate an administration which will resort to penal statutes and not to injunctions in the prosecution of trusts." In the slang of the day, Ball's answer was a corker, a daisy, a jim dandy, a joe darter, a sockdologer.

MAN HOUSEKEEPER

Tried It Ninety Days

There is one case on record where a man had a good easy time of it while his wife was away and she tells the tale.

"Circumstances made it necessary for me to leave husband for a month to pursue his bachelordom as best he could. He resolved to give Grape-Nuts a thorough trial as he had for years been subject to bilious attacks and indigestion.

"During my absence he gained in weight and his health seemed perfect, therefore I give you for the benefit of suffering men in particular, and women in general, his menu for the 90 days: Four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts sprinkled with a little salt and covered with good cream, one slice of bread and butter, one large cup of Postum Cereal Coffee (made according to directions) and all the fruit he wanted.

He worked during the time nine hours a day and never realized he possessed a stomach. This diet my husband earnestly recommends to office men, students and to all people of sedentary habits especially, and let me tell it to all wives, this meal can be prepared by an inexperienced servant, a young son or daughter, thereby saving yourself hours of labor. Try it. It will make your work lighter, your purse heavier, your body healthier and all of you happier." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
