NEW SHIP COMBINE

RUMORS OF IT CAUSE NO ALARM IN GERMAN CAPITAL

New York, Aug. 24.—Rumors that J. P. Morgan and Charles B. Schwab contemplate an international working agreement with the German and British iron working industries, similar to the iron-Atlantic ship combination, have been received, and they are regarded, says a Berlin dispatch to the Herald, without any special alarm for the German iron and steel corporation, have now completed a close syndicate of which is primarily an offer competition to the United States iron and steel exports, especially in the British, African and Asian markets.

All the largest steel and iron works which have hitherto remained independent have joined the "Kartell," which has no centralization, but a central board of agreement to which are referred all orders and all questions of production for home consumption and export and which issues orders pertaining to wages, hours of labor and political subjects.

A royal commission, headed by Count Tiele-Winckler, an owner of mines and a leading financier of Germany, leaves here within a few days for the United States.

The count will meet J. P. Morgan and discuss the subject of friendly relations with the German industrial and commercial interests.

LYON TALKS OF VISIT

SAYS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DID NOT CENSURE HIM

WANTS STRONG PARTY

Further States He Is in Harmony With R. B. Hawley and That He Is Working to Secure Solid Organization.

(Special to the Telegram) Sherman, Tex., Aug. 25.—Colonel C. A. Lyon, chairman of the Republican state executive committee, has been invited to visit President Roosevelt at Washington, D. C., where he is at the President's request to discuss the party's nomination.

Colonel Lyon emphatically says he wants no office and that his greatest ambition is to see the Republican organization strong in Texas. Regarding the nomination of P. B. Hawley to be national committee man, Colonel Lyon says that he has no intention of doing anything of the sort, and that their present discussion is Mr. Hawley's making not his own.

Colonel Lyon doesn't seriously consider Dr. Acheson's candidacy. Regarding President Roosevelt's message to the Republicans of the state he says:

"I want to emphatically state that the president's voice is more forcibly than I could my sentiments in regard to the fight in the South for patronage. All my efforts have been bent in the direction of building up the organization in the South and I deny that I have ever threatened any one who might not see fit to work in harmony with me. I have now and always have had an ambition to see a strong and respectable Republican party in Texas and have sought to impress all that their duty is to lay aside petty personal ambitions and work for the success of the party and the Congressional candidates, and not to secretly knife some of them, as was done last election. I fully and heartily endorse the recent utterance of President Roosevelt and find in his interview a complete echo of my own sentiments."

Colonel Lyon strenuously denies he was censured by the president in any way.

GENERAL RANDALL BACK FROM TOUR OF INSPECTION IN ALASKA

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 25.—General George Randall, commanding the District of Columbia and Alaska, reached Seattle on the steamer City of Seattle, accompanied by Capt. W. P. Richardson, his aide. The general sailed for the north several weeks ago and during the past month and a half has made personal inspection of nearly all the army posts in Alaska.

In speaking of the trip Captain Richardson said: "The general made a tour of inspection to the posts in Alaska and found them in very good shape. Some more fixings are needed at several of the barracks and he will undoubtedly make recommendations along these lines to the department. The telegraph lines are being built as fast as possible and it will not be many months before communication to the frozen north will be a simple matter. There are but few matters connected with the trip on which it would be proper to speak. As to what recommendations Gen. Randall will make regarding Alaska I have nothing to say."

ASSISTING CUPID

[Copyright, 1922, by the S. S. McClure Company.]

Every business morning for more than a year Amy Preston had taken the 8:59 train from Rossland. She was a stenographer in the law offices of Bingham, Worthington & Hatch, and the 8:59 landed her at her desk ten minutes before 10. Every morning Harris French caught the 8:42 from Chatham, which enabled him to reach his office in the brokerage firm of Avery, Ellis & Co. at five minutes before 10. Incidentally it may be mentioned that the 8:42 from Chatham was the 8:59 from Rossland.

French was a member of the Rossland Progressive Euchre club because Amy Preston was also a member. After that they occupied the same seat. George King, who was the conductor on the train, had grown so used to seeing the two together that he was surprised to see French board the train one morning and make direct for the smoker. "Aren't you going back, Mr. French?" he asked as he punched his ticket.

French shook his head savagely. "No; I'm going to stay here." When Amy Preston did not board the train at Rossland, King understood that there had been a kink in the course of true love. Later on Appell told him that Miss Preston was coming into town on his train, which reached Rossland at 8:41. It was a through train and did not stop at Chatham.

The cause of the trouble was simple enough. He had been playing with Amy at the euchre club and had been in wretched form. She, on the contrary, had been winning steadily, and on the last game she and Mrs. Lane and Alice Stanton were tied for first place. She had glanced at French's card when she moved up to his table and noted with surprise that he had but three games credited to his score. "You'll have to do better than that, Harry," she said, "if you're going to play with me, or I won't be able to play off the drive."

There had been a slight panic on the street that afternoon, in which stocks had taken unaccountable drops, and the excitement had brought on a headache that left French unfit for playing. Amy's remark only added to his confusion, and the result was that he took her King with his ace and sacrificed the winning trick.

While the other leaders were deciding on the prizes French, in his beruffled state, had said things more sharply than he had intended, with the result that he had driven back to Chatham with Amy's engagement ring in his pocket. He resigned from the club, and for five weeks neither had seen the other. Each was so proud to write, and while Amy cried softly to herself as she sat in the 8:41, French smoked stronger cigars than were good for him and tried to grow interested in card games in the smoker.

King took a fatherly interest in the commuters under his charge and noted with some surprise the persistence with which Amy kept off his train. But

It is not for a train conductor to regulate the love affairs of his passengers.

It was the middle of the sixth week, when, to his surprise, he saw Amy standing on the Rossland platform as the train pulled in. For the first time since the estrangement she had missed the earlier train and had to choose between the 8:59, which would get her to the office on time, and the 9:16.

"You're quite a stranger," he said as he punched her ticket, but she said nothing.

He hurried through the train back to the smoker. "Miss Preston is on the train," he said as he passed French.

The latter went red, then white, and half rose from his seat. Then he appeared to change his mind. "I suppose she has a right to ride on this train," he said shortly as he sank back into his seat, and King passed, shaking his head.

Try as he would he could not get the picture of Amy's wistful face out of his mind. When the engine whistled Carrollton, which was the last station before they reached the ferry, he made up his mind to make one last effort. "Only ten minutes to town, Mr. French," he warned. "Miss Preston is in the second car behind. I guess she's been sick. She looks very poorly."

French started again to rise from his seat, and King hurried on. To his dismay, he found that Freddie Smith was sitting next to Amy Preston, and there was no seat near by. He glanced back and could see French making his way through the car ahead. He touched Freddie on the shoulder. "Will you come out on the platform, Mr. Smith?" he said. "I'd like to speak to you a moment." Freddie followed wondering.

"What is it?" he asked as they stood at the door.

King grasped him by the arm, so that he could see French sitting beside Amy. "It wasn't something I wanted to say," he answered, "but I thought Mr. French might want your seat."

Freddie whistled softly. "Well, if he does," he said, "he's welcome to it. Say, King, you don't look much like Cupid; but, by Jove, I think you're his understudy! If you don't get a piece of wedding cake, French is an ungrateful dog."

Seven minutes later King stood at the gate and watched his charges flock out of the ferry. Almost the last of the trainload came French and Amy Preston. On her left hand there flashed a solitaire that had not been there when she handed up her ticket.

As they passed the gate French fished out a handsome leather cigar case and passed it over. "There are some good smokes in there, King," he said, "and keep the case too. You understand?"

And King as he puffed a choice perfume, understood.

FORT WORTH STOCK YARDS

GOOD RECEIPTS AND HIGHER MARKET QUOTATIONS TODAY

Better Quality of Offerings—Notes of the Work Being Done Around the Packing Houses and Stock Yards

The receipts at the stock yards this morning were heavier than for some days past, being 171 head of cattle and 268 hogs hauled in by the railways, while there was a large contingent of driven-in stuff.

The market was steady to strong, the hog market being decidedly up, a rise of 10 cents being made before noon with prospects of its still going higher before the day is over.

Reports from the northern markets showed them to be strong and steady all along the line, hogs advancing from 10 to 20c.

Offerings on the local market were in fair condition and for the most part found ready sale. The better condition of the stuff the greater the demand is for it. No prime stuff ever goes begging here.

Among those who had stuff on the market this morning were: W. L. Childers, Burke, 33 hogs; J. R. Scofield, Hill, 104 hogs; C. R. Morgan, Bowie, 35 cattle and 71 hogs; B. Johnson, Granbury, 32 cattle; W. W. Parks, Granbury, 24 cattle. These consignments all came in over the various railroads. There was also a quantity of driven-in cattle, hogs and sheep.

Gamble & Co. this morning bought 33 head of cattle, three calves and 22 hogs on the open market.

The Fort Worth Packing and Provision company purchased 170 hogs this morning; also 14 sheep.

B. E. Elrod marketed six sheep this morning and J. F. Dunlap 14.

John Criss and B. F. Elrod had in some wagon hogs that were sold on the market.

M. Morton disposed of some driven-in cattle on this morning's market.

Representative Sales
Six cows, average 655 pounds, $2.45; 1 calf, 120 pounds, $2.25; 2 calves, 440 pounds, $3.00; 9 cattle, average 892 pounds, $2.55; 24 cattle, average 877 pounds, $2.20.

HOGS
Sixty-two hogs, average 181 pounds, $8.55; 1 hog, 190 pounds, $6.50; 1 hog, 140 pounds, $6.25; 2 hogs, average 280 pounds, $6.35; 8 hogs, average 193 pounds, $6.50; 22 hogs, average 160 pounds, $6.50; 104 hogs, average 151 pounds, $6.50.

SHEEP
Six sheep, average 63 pounds, $2.50; 12 sheep, average 110 pounds, $3.85; 2 sheep, average 40 pounds, $3.35.

Packing House Notes
The roofing on the Armour & Co. beef cooler was completed this morning and then the roofers began on the freezer. The ham cooler will be finished today.

A hot kettle boiled over and caught on fire on the Swift premises at noon today. A dense mass of smoke and flame rose for a time, but it was finally smothered by sand and dirt shoveled on it by a dozen or more workmen.

Heavy blasting is now going on in the excavation for the cellar of the stock exchange. Every little while a white column of dirt and debris is seen to rise majestically in the air, followed by a rumbling detonation.

The cement work on the foundation walls of the new live stock exchange is well along and makes a good showing.

The ice machine crew was put to work installing the plant in Swift & Co.'s building this morning. One of the engines is also being erected in the power house.

The superstructure of the hog pens now being erected at the southern extremity of the new stock yards is well along and is about ready for the iron girders to be put in place.

The main water pipe leading to the new hog pens is almost all laid, there being but some 200 feet yet to lay.

The grading for the stock yards is about completed, and the result is a continual slope from the upper end that will give good drainage with no sink holes and ponds.

The big concrete sewer is nearing completion. Of the three quarters of a mile there remains now only about 400 feet to be finished up.

Cars on the stock yards line were hung up for an hour or two this morning while needed repairs were being made at the power house on the river bank.

AN ANCIENT EDICT

(Original)

Many of the laws of mediæval times were very curious. At first cases were decided by combat, and it was a long while before the jury system came into use. In those days punishment was very disproportionate to the crime. During the reign of King Edward IV. of England a young girl of Yorkshire was wooed by two lovers, the one a young farmer of her own rank, the other the profligate son of a wealthy merchant, Robert Dangerfield, the farmer, held the principal place in Marjory's affections, but Tom Ricketts, the merchant's son, being heir to great prospective wealth, was a rival to be dreaded. Ricketts was a great rascal and at first never intended to marry the girl, but Marjory was well able to take care of herself, and the young scapegrace soon discovered that he could only have her, if at all, after a legitimate wedding ceremony. As soon as he came into this condition Marjory, possibly in order to tantalize him, declared that she intended, after all, to wed Robert Dangerfield.

Ricketts by this time was madly in love and ready to commit any crime to gain the girl. One dark night he stole a sheep from one of his father's tenants, carried it to the cottage of his rival and tethered it to the doopost. Robert awoke in the morning and was astonished to find the sheep, which, with the simple faith of that day, he considered a gift sent him from heaven. Tom Ricketts told the owner that he had seen his animal in possession of Dangerfield. The young farmer was arrested and thrown into prison on a charge of sheep stealing. Then Ricketts rode to the home of Marjory to tell her the news:

"Dangerfield has been sheep stealing. He is in prison and will be tried and hanged. Do not waste more time, Marjory, in listening to men of low degree. Set the day for our wedding. We will travel and see foreign lands, and when we return I will build a castle for you to live in."

Now, Marjory was no fool. She knew that Ricketts was in earnest, but she distrusted him. Furthermore, she had a will of her own and usually took the opposite side from sheer obstinacy.

"I won't marry you, Tom Ricketts," she said, "if you build twenty castles. I am going to marry Robert Dangerfield."

"You mean if Robert is not hanged?"

"I will marry him whether he is hanged or not."

Marjory visited Dangerfield in prison and asked him what she could do to save him. Her lover bade her go to Bleckstun, a famous lawyer of that name, and ask him if he could suggest any way out of the difficulty. Bleckstun familiarized himself with the case, then questioned Marjory.

"You say that you love the accused?" he said.

"I do."

"And will marry him if he is acquitted?"

"Yes, and if he is hanged."

"What! Marry him in prison on the eve of execution?"

"I will marry him at the foot of the gallows."

The lawyer bade her go and tell the prisoner that there was hope for him, but that his escape from death, if at all, would be by a hair's breadth.

Dangerfield was tried, but the lawyer did not appear to defend him. The evidence against him was so strong, the sheep having been found tethered to his door, that he was pronounced guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

He offered to decide the matter by combat with Ricketts, whom he suspected of having brought the misfortune upon him, but Ricketts declined on the ground that he was not the owner of the sheep.

The day of the execution was a holiday, as all such days were at that time, though Dangerfield's neighbors were plunged in grief, for he was much respected among them, and they did not see why he should have stolen one sheep when he was the possessor of several hundred. Marjory went with him to the gallows, and, seeing Tom Ricketts by the way among the lookers on, she gave him a scowl of defiance and hatred. On arriving at the place of execution she cast a glance over the assembled multitude and was astonished to see among them the lawyer Bleckstun.

When all was ready and the hangman was about to adjust the noose, Marjory cried out:

"I claim this man in marriage."

There was the silence of surprise among the spectators, then further astonishment when Bleckstun arose from his seat and said in a loud voice:

"And I claim him as a free man."

"Who are you?" asked the sheriff. "I am Edmond Bleckstun." There was a hum in the assembly, for all knew of the wonderful legal wisdom of the renowned Bleckstun. "On what ground do you claim the prisoner?"

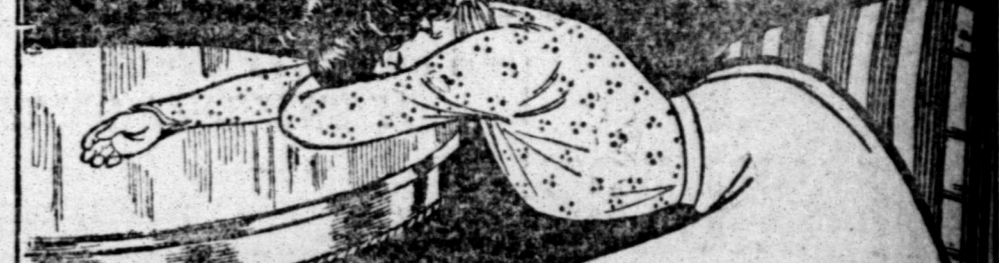

"Under an edict of his most gracious majesty King Edward IV. which commands that when a man is to be executed for crime if any woman shall demand him in marriage he shall be spared and given to the woman."

The sheriff had too great respect for the learned counselor's knowledge of law to act counter to his opinion, and the friends of Dangerfield set up a cry: "A marriage! A marriage!" The priest who had administered absolution to the prisoner then performed the wedding ceremony, and the bride and groom walked away, followed by the acclamations of those who, having come to see an execution, had looked upon a wedding.

Proof was afterward adduced that Ricketts had stolen the sheep, and he was hanged for the crime.

Health and Happiness

depend on the Kidneys and Liver. If you have pains everywhere and at all times in your back, and in your head, a dull, heavy, tired sensation, you are sick and miserable—cross and unhappy. Your pains indicate trouble—growing trouble. They may be the forerunners of Rheumatism, or Lumbago, or Diabetes, or Jaundice, or Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. Statistics prove that nearly all these originate from a disordered Liver or diseased Kidneys, or both. These much abused organs are unable to perform the work imposed upon them until they have regained their normal condition of health.

In the effort to obtain relief, don't use laxatives or lotions. Rubbing the muscles and joints may temporarily ease the pain or drive it into some other part of the body. You are not curing the disease by external applications. Constitutional treatment is necessary. Take a vegetable remedy only. Mineral medicines, that are almost universally prescribed, fail to cure, because they weaken the digestion, thus impairing instead of building up.

DR. McLEAN'S LIVER AND KIDNEY BALM

cures Kidneys and Liver and tones the stomach. During the one-half century of its use it has cured hopeless cases. If you are one of the many who have become disheartened by repeated failures with other remedies, don't despair. A bottle ($1.00) will convince you that Health and Happiness can still be yours. It's purely vegetable. It's absolutely safe. At your druggist's.

A GAME OF PENOCHLE

(Original)

"Here; make haste or you will be too late. Take this and go to the saloon referred to. Read as you go. There's your car now."

The chief thrust a letter into my hand, and I ran out of the office just in time to step on a car going downtown. I knew the letter referred to the coming of the prince, for we had no time to attend to other business than his protection. In the car I read:

G.'s saloon, 11 a. m. Beer. Glass over. PENOCHLE.

At precisely 10:50 I strolled into G.'s saloon. Sitting at one of the tables, I called for beer and cast my eyes about the room. There was but one person seated, and the moment I saw him I knew him to be my man. Fortunately for me, he had come early. I must get him away before the man he was to meet entered. That man did not know him, but did he know that man? We shall see. I sat for a few minutes watching him and saw that he was nervous. Then, fixing my eyes upon his, I emptied my beer glass and turned it upside down on the table. He started.

I got up and, going over to him, said in a low tone, "Follow me." He did so, and as we left the saloon a man with a red beard entered and cast on us both a piercing eye, which he did not turn away till we were out of his sight.

"A narrow escape," I muttered. "That's the man who was to meet Penochle."

"Why did you not wait for me to give the signal instead of giving it yourself?" asked my man.

"Had no time to waste. Have you arranged everything?"

"I have the bomb."

It would be impossible for me to keep up a conversation with him, even for a few minutes, without betraying myself. My only hope was before doing so to gain sufficient information to locate the conspiracy.

"Where is it?" I asked, referring to the bomb.

"Between the mattresses of my bed."

I wanted to ask where his bed was, but did not dare do so.

"He is expected in the morning," I said instead. "When is it to be done?"

"While he is being driven to his hotel. That is the order."

"Where will you stand?"

"I?" He looked at me, surprised. "You mean where will you stand?"

"I will attend to that. You must hand me the bomb. However, these details must be arranged later. At present I can only make an appointment for this evening. Meet me to-night at—let me see. Go to No. — street, rear hall room, third floor, 10 o'clock."

"But—"

"It won't do for us to be seen talking together on the street. Goodby."

We were watched, though I did not know it, and by one whom I rather than my anarchist had cause to fear.

I went to the office and reported the programme to the chief. We arranged that a number of men should appear at the point of rendezvous at 10:05 o'clock and arrest Penochle. I purposely made the hour five minutes earlier than that of the meeting, hoping to gain some information before taking my man in. A few minutes before 10 o'clock I went to the rendezvous, a room that I kept for such purposes in the worst part of the city, near—upstairs, opened the door.

I started back. There sat the man with the red beard who had eyed me when we left the saloon.

"Where—?" I stopped.

"Penochle? Penochle is a very hard-arsed game. Just now I happen to hold six aces."

"Six? Ordinary packs hold but four. Perhaps you count the joker."

"You show your ignorance of the game," he replied knowingly.

"The game is one of life and death. I know that."

"What card do we play?"

"The knave, who arrives tomorrow."

"Very good. By whose order?"

"The circle."

"Good again. And who is Penochle?"

The man would soon trap me, I decided. I believed this question would prove my ruin. I heard a clock strike 10. Five minutes yet before the man would come! One may be killed in as many seconds.

"Penochle?" I repeated to gain time. Then, remembering that my companion of the morning had said, "You, not I," I replied evasively: "That seems to be the question: Is it you or I?"

"Who is Penochle?" he repeated sharply, moving his hand, which now for the first time I noticed was concealed under his coat.

"Don't bully me," I said as unconcernedly as it was possible. "I am not the one designated by the circle to be 'done.' It has assigned me special work, and if you kill me you will break the chain."

"What work?"

"At that moment, the door opened, and my companion of the morning entered excitedly.

"A letter has gone astray," he said to the man with the red beard. "The man must have used it."

"Like a flash my interrogator raised the concealed hand, which held a revolver, and covered me.

"I play my six aces. Every one of the chambers carries a bullet."

"You're too late. The game's up."

My words were based on hearing steps on the stairs. The door was opened suddenly, and half a dozen revolvers pointed into the room.

The prince arrived the next day, but was not molested.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum. "Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwater, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by N. S. Grammer, druggist.

WORSE IN INTERIOR

In One Province of Luzon Over Three Hundred Deaths Last Saturday—Ladrones Make an Attack Near Magdalena

Manila, Aug. 25.—Official cholera statistics show a total up to date of 25,064 cases and 13,040 deaths. The actual number of cases and deaths is greatly in excess of official reports. In Manila there were but eight cases reported last Saturday.

Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Surrogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty ladrones.

The defense in the Freedom sedition case has called Governor Taft as a witness to show that many former insurgent leaders who were guilty of various offenses not recognized by the laws of war have been appointed to civil positions.

RACE RIOT IN INDIANA

Whites and Blacks Fight at Houghville in Which Several Were Shot. Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 25.—A race riot broke out at Houghville, a suburb of this city Sunday afternoon between two hundred negroes and whites employed by the National Malleable company.

A ball game Sunday between the two factions caused excitement. As the crowd left the field hostilities broke out. Stones, bricks, clubs and other missiles were used.

The police responded to a riot call but on account of the distance did not arrive till the fight had been fought to a finish.

PRESIDENT'S TOUR.

Spends Sunday at Newport and Sunday Night at the Lodge Residence. Nahant, Mass., Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport at 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon in a sumptuous train of four special cars.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As is his custom, he rose early and after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sybil during the night.

That the enthusiasm at ending the president's journey shows no abatement was made evident Sunday by the crowd gathered about the depot at Newport, which cheered his arrival and continued cheering until the train was lost to view.

Upon arriving at Lynn, where carriages were in waiting to take the party to Nahant, the sight was inspiring, stretched from the station through the city and across the peninsula to Nahant a distance of four miles were fully 60,000 people, who cheered again and again as the president passed.

The arrival at Nahant was a signal for another outburst of applause and the two places seemed to vie with each other as to which should be the more cordial in its greeting.

ALL WERE SAVED. "For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnson, of Broughton, Ga. "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her, and all our expenses went to show it is the best Croup medicine in the world."

HANNA URGES ARBITRATION

EFFORTS TO BRING STRIKE TO END PROVE FUTILE

HE CAN DO NO MORE

Says the Operators Flatly Refuse to Agree to Settle and Fight Looks Like a Long One—Petition for Extra Session

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.—United States Senator M. A. Hanna was in Buffalo Sunday on his way home from Niagara Falls. For the first time he stated his abandonment of all efforts to end the coal strike.

He said there was no chance of arbitration so long as only one side, the miners, were willing to arbitrate.

It will not be a short fight, he said. "It will be prolonged and its prolongation will mean not only hardship for the miners and the women and children dependent upon them, but it will have its effect on the American people.

He said he considered the refusal of the operators to arbitrate as final. "I talked with Mr. Morgan before he went to Europe," continued the senator, "and before the strike was fully under way. He deplored the situation but would take no active part towards a settlement. His attitude, in my opinion, is unchanged."

Congress Asked to Intervene. New York, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt will be asked to call a special session of congress to take action to end the coal strike.

A mass-meeting under the auspices of the labor unions of New York city and vicinity was held at which resolutions were adopted urging President Roosevelt to immediately call congress to meet and decide upon plans which will bring the strike to a speedy termination.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 Sunday morning by the signal "surrender, demand an unconditional" from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply "accept surrender" from the forlorn hope of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared open.

FORT WORTH FINANCES

FIGURES SHOW BANKS TO HAVE LARGEST CAPITAL STOCK EXCEPT HOUSTON

A comparative table of the capital stocks of the banks of Texas cities shows that Fort Worth is now second only to Houston among the many which are supposed to be leaders. The combined capital stock of Fort Worth's six national banks is $1,275,000.

The combined stock of the Houston banks which are considerably older than those of Fort Worth, is $1,250,000. The surplus of the Fort Worth banks is $697,257, while that of the Houston banks is $968,629.

Dallas shows only $850,000 in national banks is $320,976 and $921,556. The surplus of the Galveston national banks is $320,976 and $921,556. The surplus of the Galveston national bank stock is $525,000. San Antonio's surplus is $401,224 and the combined capital stock, $825,000.

The figures satisfactorily show that with the present state of increase in the weekly clearings, Fort Worth promises to soon pass Houston and be the largest financial center in Texas.

Mayor's Proclamation
Whereas, by law of congress and the legislature of the state of Texas, the first day of September of each and every year is set apart as a legal holiday, in recognition of the laboring classes of our great country, and whereas, labor is one of the most important factors of the wealth and progress and civilization of this country, it is believed that our city should duly acknowledge our respect to these people, as well as show to the world more monuments of progress due to their zeal and energy than any other city

AFTERNOON PAPERS SUPREME Afternoon papers all over the country are pluming themselves on the showing made in their favor in the census returns. And why not? Readers who are middle-aged, or older, can recall the time when the morning paper ranked the afternoon paper in prestige and circulation. But the afternoon paper grew steadily in favor, and it was discovered the larger part of the news each day, or of any particular day, was reported in the afternoon papers of that day. When the figures of the census of 1890 were collected it was found that the afternoon papers formed two-thirds of the whole number of dailies in the country.
The latest report from the same authority gives the afternoon paper three-fourths of the number of dailies in the land.

The reasons why this is the situation is plain to the thinking mind, and the fact of its truth is the unanswerable argument for the afternoon paper. The popular demand for the afternoon paper is reputed to be three times greater than for the morning rival, and the circulation and influence of the afternoon issue are proportionately great. Those who advertise, and all who seek a bearing are aware of the relative value of morning and afternoon papers, but it is worth the while just at this time to produce

TRAIN FOR HIGH SPEED

ELECTRICAL COMPANY BUILDING ONE FOR USE IN ILLINOIS.

Power to Carry Three Cars 90 to 100 Miles an Hour With Perfect Safety—Trial Soon

New York, Aug. 25.—An electrical company at Lynn, Mass., is building a train which is soon to be used in Illinois, and which the engineers estimate will make 90 to 100 miles an hour.

It is added that the track for the train in Illinois is almost complete; that the line is about 150 miles long and is remarkable for solidity and strength.

Electricity will be the motive power and the third rail system used. A train of three cars has been built for the first trials. The train will be equipped with 42 motors of 120 horse power each.

The theory held by electricians is that the train is practically electrically welded to the track and cannot leave it while the power is on.

PLAIN HOUSEWORK.

There is Nothing Like It as a System of Physical Culture.

Would you be healthy and beautiful? Would you have strong, rounded arms, full cheeks, active, well shaped lower limbs that can dance all night and not feel it? Would you have a level head and a resourceful mind, trained muscles that never fail you in emergencies, a good digestion and a brave, steady heart that will pump for you with scarcely a perceptible hastened beat even while you walk up a steep hill or run upstairs?

Yes? Then do housework—just plain, common housework.

For developing lungs and chest sweeping is prime. Plying upon a washboard increases the fibrousness of the arms and wrists. It stiffens the fingers if one does too much of it, but we are not talking of too much of anything. Ironing is better than dumbbell practice. Polishing windows is better than swinging Indian clubs.

The rich man's daughter must search out devices for muscle development. For her have been invented tennis, pingpong, archery and dozens of cord and ring and bar arrangements. She is so put to it to get outdoor exercise that she must even take to hitting and galloping after hounds. The woman who does housework and gardening gets quite as healthful exercise without price and without trouble.

Nearly all country girls are healthy and comely until they get artificial notions from the city into their minds. Really and truly, in the matter of physical development and strong and independent character building, the country girl has infinite advantage over her sister of the city. Fine complexions and beautiful arms are found nearly always among women who milk cows and do dairy work. I have seen and studied girls of all stations and nations and have decided finally that the most fortunate of all are the daughters of well to do farm families in America, families in which the womenfolk do their own housework, tend flowers, ride horseback and rear chickens. A majority of the distinguished and successful feminine artists, teachers, writers, physicians and business women in the land today are from homes that gave them this noble bringing up. Those who later in life use their brains most effectively are the ones that in youth also learned to use their hands.

Though this fine country rearing is lost to the city girl, the beautiful physical training of household work remains to her. Especially is she privileged in the matter of climbing stairs which is so promotive of health. Heart, lungs and muscles that run up and down stairs might almost be recommended of itself as a means to physical culture. Physicians are sometimes what to blame for so much preaching of the ill effects of climbing stairs. There are none absolutely except to the confirmed invalid, and it is a genuine sign of the progress of the race that no woman except the most out of date is willing nowadays to acknowledge herself an invalid. Dainty females have gone out of fashion, for which let us be thankful.

I know a few women who pride themselves on their weak hearts, but none of them does her own housework. One eats too much, another takes no active exercise at all, while a third lazes herself so tightly that she ought to be sentenced to prison for it. Not one of them gives her heart any chance. A good, strenuous course of domestic labor would cure every one of these dames of her weak heart.

I know of one woman who says kitchen work makes her ill. When she is absent from her own house, doing nothing but idle visiting, she is well, but the day she arrives home and begins her domestic duties she says she gets "kitchen backache." But this same woman also despises housework and proclaims it a "mean and sordid occupation." It is not. The meanness and sordidness are in the worker, not in the occupation.

There are not a few young women, and old ones, too, who make of household labor a really aesthetic employment. They begin their tasks with joy, sing as they go. Their fine, delicate sense of cleanliness and order reveals in the polished floors, shining windows, crystal pure glassware and snowy linen, which are made thus by their own strong, skillful hands. These make of housework a real fine art. And their health is always good.

KATE SHARP.

BETTER THAN DUMBBELL PRACTICE.

SCROFULA

I bequeath to my children Scrofula with all its attendant horrors, humiliation and suffering. This is a strange legacy to leave to posterity, a heavy burden to place upon the shoulders of the young.

This treacherous disease dwarfs the body and hinders the growth and development of the faculties, and the child born of blood-poison, or scrofula-tainted parentage, is poorly equipped for life's duties.

Scrofula is a disease with numerous and varied symptoms: enlarged glands or tumors about the neck and armpits, catarrh of the head, weak eyes and dreaded skin eruptions upon different parts of the body show the presence of tubercular or scrofulous matter in the blood. Its dangerous and stealthy disease enters itself securely in the system and attacks the bones and tissues, destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, resulting in white swelling, a pallid, waxy appearance of the skin, loss of strength and a gradual wasting away of the body.

S. S. S. combines both purifying and tonic properties and is guaranteed to feed entirely vegetable, making it the ideal remedy for all scrofulous affections. It purifies the blood, restores I blood, makes it rich and strong and of permanent value.

Write us about your case and our physicians will cheerfully and promptly help you in every possible way to regain your health. Do not delay, but get your skin diseases free.

FOR INTERNATIONAL POSTAGE STAMP PLAN

SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL HAS IDEAS OF IT

Now comes Second Assistant Postmaster General, Shallenberger, instead of Mr. Madden, with a new plan regarding postage.

I propose each country provide a special postal union envelope to have the usual five-cent or twenty-five cent stamp imprinted thereon, and in addition to this, a coupon imprinted on the face of the envelope giving to the envelope an exchange value in stamps of the country of destination at any of its postoffices of 5 cents or the equivalent thereof and a redemption value at the international bureau at Bern, Switzerland, when presented by the central office of the country of destination of 6 cents or its equivalent.

In order to provide the postage, the incidental expenses of exchange and re-demptions, the postal union envelope will have a face value of 12 cents in the United States and the equivalent in other countries. The actual cost of the envelope would, of course, not justify a charge of a cent.

Each country will be required to issue a special postal union envelope for each of its postoffices. The cost of the envelope will be 12 cents in the United States and the equivalent in other countries.

DID NOT GO WITH THE COMPANY OF RECRUITS

Abner Cobb and Louis Huffman, Fort Worth Boys Who May Later Enlist for Naval Service

Abner Cobb and Louis Huffman, who expected to leave last night with the recruits for the United States navy who were sent to San Francisco yesterday, did not go as intended on account of parental objection.

Abner Cobb will probably go next month, with the next company forwarded. His mother is away from home on a visit in Colorado at present and will be home next Sunday. Her absence was the principal reason why he did not join this last company. A recruiting officer for the navy will be in Fort Worth from Dallas on September 8, and will remain several days.

Young Cobb, if his mother's objections are overruled, will enlist as steno-grapher for the present, but will probably see active service before the five years are up. The recruiting officer enlisted over 80 recruits while in Dallas, and hopes to have as many more Texas boys ready for the next assignment to be sent to San Francisco. The recruiting officer will probably be in Fort Worth this week to make arrangements for opening a station here, and requirements for enlistment will then be made public.

Fort Worth lodge, No. 144. A. F. & A. M., meets first and third Monday nights each month in Masonic Temple, corner Second and Main streets. W. C. McKee, W. M.; C. F. Elder, S. W.; E. Renfro, J. W.; George Jackson, treasurer; W. H. Feld, secretary.

Fort Worth Chapter, No. 33, Royal Arch Masons, meets second Thursday night each month. A. R. Schultz, H. P.; I. M. Edgell, E. K.; H. S. Davis, E. S.; Geo. Jackson, treasurer; W. H. Feld, secretary.

Worth Commandery, No. 19—Meets first Thursday each month. H. E. Gray, E. C.; M. H. Jones, G.; H. J. Reager, C. G.; George Jackson, treasurer; W. H. Feld, recorder.

JOSEPH KIDDY, BACHELOR

By PHIL M. CONGER

Copyright, 1901, by A. S. Richardson

I had gone over to Paris from London for a few weeks. At home, in London, I was as staid, conservative and retiring as any old bachelor of forty-five you could find.

We attended the theater twice in company, and then Mr. Graham, as he called himself, asked me to accompany him to the rooms of a friend to a little dinner.

When the table had been cleared and the cards brought out, I did not utter a protest. To my consternation, I had shaved out and become both companionable and genial.

At the end of six months and while we seemed as far from the solution as ever I started out one morning to get a pair of the doctor's boots repaired.

Everything came back to me with a rush, and for a time I was so excited that I acted like a lunatic.

It was a no less personage than myself who by and by suggested that the limit be removed.

I was told that I had been picked up in the street. Graham and his friend had robbed me, dressed me in an old suit of clothes and carried me out upon the street.

did not press me to talk, but sought to encourage me by saying that things would soon come right. I do not believe that a man standing defenseless before a crouching lion feels the terror I did when I found that I had been wiped out of existence.

During the six months I was with the doctor various suggestions were made and followed. I took long walks to see if I could identify streets and squares and buildings, and I mingled with crowds in hopes that I might see a face I could recall.

CASCADES IN ST. LOUIS

Novel Feature Planned For the World's Fair.

THE DETAILS OF THE DESIGN.

Huge Pumping Capacity Is Proposed, With Electric Effects Behind the Fall of Water—Spectacle of Wonderful Beauty Promised. The Cascades Will Have a Fall of Eighty Feet.

Work on the one of the most unique of the exposition features was begun the other day when the surveyors of the engineering department of the St. Louis world's fair began taking the grades on Art hill to determine the exact cut and fill that will be needed for the cascades and relative features, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The surveying work was preparatory to the letting of the contract for the necessary removal of earth.

From descriptions of the work which is to be done at St. Louis given by Director of Works Isaac S. Taylor, it is evident that the amount of money to be expended on the hill will exceed the cost of any other single feature or, in fact, any one feature of any other exposition. The manner in which the cascades are to be kept supplied with clear water and the devices adopted for producing illuminating effects are of the greatest promise. Among the things mentioned are a crystal cave back of these cascades and arrangements by which the water, descending at night, will have all the hues of the rainbow, with an infinite combination of those colors.

The chief feature of the cascades will be a sheer drop of from twenty to twenty-five feet, back of which plate glass will be so disposed that a chamber will be formed from which the illuminating effects may be operated. At this point also there will be a stately group of nymphs and maids and a cavern of crystal. During the day the falls will be simply a descent of limpid water, but at night, when the color effects are turned on, a spectacle of wonderful beauty is promised.

In conjunction with the cascades a pumproom is to be established for the operation of the water. For this the interesting plan has been arranged of excavating a cavern at the base of the hill, setting well back into the earth. Here a pump station will be inaugurated, the motive power to be electricity furnished by wires connecting with the electric plant on the grounds. Nine pumps, with a capacity of 15,000 gallons of water per minute, will be operated. The water will be pumped to the top of the hill and allowed to descend by the force of gravity, when it will be again forced to the top. In this way the supply will be kept constantly moving, and the only loss will be from evaporation. Mr. Taylor says that the pumproom will be concealed from sight, but that it will be so arranged that visitors may be shown the operating of the cascades by special entrances.

The plans of Director of Works Taylor regarding this main feature have been considerably developed. The three cascades planned, one at either end and one in the middle of the long slope of hill, will exceed any water fall ever planned. It is said, eclipsing the cascade of the Trossard at the Paris exposition, the cascade at St. Cloud and the Chateau d'Eau at Versailles. The cascades will have a total fall of eighty feet. This fall will be divided into a series of descents in each cascade.

THE POLICE HAD LIVELY TIMES

A FORTY-EIGHT HOURS' RUN RESULTS IN CALABOOSE BEING FILLED WITH PRISONERS

Something Doing Every Hour, Day and Night—Thirty-Eight Arrests, Eighteen of Which Were Sunday and Sunday Night

The police had a busy time of it Saturday and Sunday, there having been thirty-eight arrests from 3 a. m. Saturday to 7 a. m. today, including vags, drunks, thieves and fighters. However, the calaboose has only about half the number of prisoners that it contained on last Monday morning.

Among Saturday's arrests was one by Detective Thomason, a young man named Ross, a gambler, wanted in Hillsboro on an old charge, and was delivered to an officer from that place.

Mary Nixon, a colored wash woman was arrested by Officer Orberg for the theft of a quantity of clothing. A Siasie Smith, is also colored and what he considers a mean trick was played on him. He was in on a vagrancy charge, and a female friend came and paid him out. Just as he was bidding adieu to the turnkey, Officer Orberg rearrested him on a charge of being concerned in some of the recent brass thefts, and back behind the bars he went.

Prince Choice, colored, was caught in the act. Officer Newby was watching a pile of brass and copper left with a local junk buyer. During Saturday afternoon Prince appeared to claim the returns of the sale. He was arrested and later transferred to the county authorities. While in the county attorney's office, Prince acknowledged to the attorney "dey sho' did ketch me wid de stuff on de scales, an I specs I'm guilty."

Later on in the afternoon W. M. Wilson purloined a coat from Monnie's. He was captured and held for the arrival of an officer, not, however, without a scuffle. Officer Newby have to and took him in.

Several drunks and downs were given rides following the midnight closing of saloons, and the hurry-up wagon was kept on the run at intervals until daylight. Since Saturday morning at 1 o'clock, up to 7 a. m. today there had been eighteen arrests.

Officer Park Moore opened up today's proceedings with a lively chase of several blokes after a white man who is registered as T. Stanton. Stanton entered Carlisle's store on Main between Eleventh and Twelfth streets and offered for sale a new suit of clothes from which the tags had not been removed. Some direct questions caused him to become restless. Officer Park Moore passed along and the man made a break. He led Moore a merry race to the vicinity of the brewery, where he was identified. The suit is at the station for identification. Stanton claims to have bought the stuff from a man Sunday.

Mr. Conen assisted the officer in the chase.

Dock Was Overflowing
Extra seats were provided for the overflow from the crowded dock this morning in the corporation court, and when the clerk called for all officers having complaints to stand up and be sworn, every one on the force stood erect.

"My, my," exclaimed Acting Judge Wilkinson as he glanced over toward the dock, and asked in the same breath: "Did any of them get away?"

There were whites, blacks, Mexicans and various other nationalities represented, and their general appearance occasioned no argument to convince the casual observer that they were in reality vags, or were guilty of having been drunk. Vagrancy, drunks, trespass and sleeping in public places, constituted the charges. Interpreter Zimmerman's services were called for to explain to two Mexicans the nature of the charge of drunk and sleeping in a public place, to which they pleaded guilty. There were 22 pleas of guilty without a break, and $5.95 assessed against each.

There were two jury cases for disturbing the peace, and a number of cases went over for future dates for trial and for pleas of guilty.

Of all of the 22 cases referred to, not one had a dollar, and the streets and gutters will receive much needed work from the force thus created.

MUCH WORK DONE AT MORRIS HOME

Though Hindered by Sickness There Has Been a Great Deal of Help Rendered to the Needy

Rev. I. Z. T. Morris was in the city Saturday for the first in two weeks, except when he came for medicine or to attend to the call of urgent cases that could not wait. Mr. Morris has had several cases of slow scarlet fever in his home among his own and the homeless children he has in his care, awaiting homes.

The sickness has been a great hindrance to his work as there is a great demand among the destitute of the city at this season of the year. He has had more calls from other parts of the state than usual. Mr. Morris has been carrying on his work by voluntary donations and has a few people in the city who make him a monthly contribution. Otherwise his funds are secured by his personal efforts. Very few of the citizens of Fort Worth know how much work he does in the effort to relieve humanity. Hardly an hour during the days he has been at his home, passed without some call for assistance. He asks for donations to aid his work and will thank any benevolent person for any amount contributed. As he is unable to call everywhere, he asks that contributions be left at any of the following places: The Telegram office, Conner's Book Store, Smallwood & Anderson's or Reeves' Pharmacy, or to send it through any bank of the city. Several children are waiting to be placed in homes and those wishing to talk with Rev. Morris, can do so by phone. His number is 908.

Several drunks and downs were given rides following the midnight closing of saloons, and the hurry-up wagon was kept on the run at intervals until daylight. Since Saturday morning at 1 o'clock, up to 7 a. m. today there had been eighteen arrests.

CONCERNING ABBREVIATIONS

FEW PEOPLE USE THE CORRECT ONES FOR THE STATES

Better Way Is to Write Name of the State in Full and so Avoid Danger of a Letter or Parcel's Loss

"There's another," said the clerk turning a letter over to his chief for reading. The chief looked up somewhat warily and smiled. This is what he read:

Postmaster General, Washington, D. C. Sir—We would like to know why our papers are not properly delivered. We have a number of subscribers in Lanesville, Col., and they get the News about once a month, according to their letters. Please give this matter your immediate attention.

"Yes," said the chief, "that's another little country newspaper where the devil does the addressing by hand after the paper is out. Gets in a hurry because he wants to wash up and go home. Doesn't know that the proper abbreviation for Colorado is Colo., instead of Col. Writes in a hurry, making his o like an a so the mail clerk who is working at lightning speed in a swaying mail car thinks that it ought to go to Lanesville, Cal. and so it goes. The trouble was partly because of bad writing, but mostly because of the abbreviation or short cut."

The paper wasn't delivered. The subscribers kicked and the wrathful editor sat down and wrote, of course, a scathing letter to the postmaster general. It's a wonder he didn't write to the president. The letter comes to us for disposition and now we have to soothe his feelings as that's what we seem principally to be in business for. It was a long speech for the chief to make. He felt somewhat irritated, however, and having delivered himself felt better.

"In the first place, an abbreviation of a state should never be used on a letter. It is better to write the state out in full and even misspell it, than to write the abbreviation so that the postal clerk will have the slightest trouble in reading it. Of course typewritten or printed addresses don't apply, and for the same reason, newspapers which have printed addresses usually get through with no trouble. But even then there is danger with abbreviations, because several are similar and many incorrect abbreviations are used."

"For instance the correct abbreviation for Colorado is Colo., and not Col. For Nebraska it is Neb., and not Neb. The postal guide gives no abbreviations whatever for Utah, Idaho, Ohio, Oregon, Iowa or Samoa, which, by the way, is within the postoffice bounds now. The people who every day use Ore. Ia. or even Ind., O., or Ind., do so at their own risk and should the letter go astray they are to blame, as the postal clerk receives no instructions regarding them in his guide."

"Hawaii should always be written out, while P. R. will carry a letter to Porto Rico without any trouble. No abbreviation has been given for Cuba, whether mail can still be sent at regular United States rates. The other abbreviations seldom give any trouble and are familiar enough. It should be remembered that Okla. is the correct abbreviation for Oklahoma Territory and that no abbreviation is authorized for Indian Territory, though I. T. is generally used."

NOT A GOOD WITNESS, CHARACTER CONSIDERED

A Negro in Jail on Burglary Charge Who Figures in a Life and Death Case Now Pending

Ed Shurt, one of the three negroes arrested Friday on burglary charges, and who was placed in jail pending an investigation by the grand jury, is one of the witnesses upon whose affidavit a plea was made for a new trial in the Jeff Van murder case. The officers claim the burglary charge is a strong one, and intimate something about perjury with reference to the affidavit proposition.

SAME CONDITIONS BUT NAME CHANGED

The "Shamrock" Now Known as "The Sociable Club," But the Odor Remains Quite as Objectionable

The "Shamrock," the tough resort for tough negroes, of both sexes, in the Acre is now known in the corporation court as "The Sociable club." This especially disreputable rendezvous for negroes has been the scene of more trouble and killings among the negroes than ever the "Waco Tap" or "Red Light" was for the whites in the early days of Fort Worth.

The police have given this place their especial attention for some months, with the result that many of the hangers-on and all-night prowlers have been placed in the services of the city's chain gang. This den acts upon the working negro who ventures there on pay night, the same as the spider web upon the fly—once within its meshes there is no escape as long as a piece of money is jingled.

So persistent have been the police in raiding the "Shamrock" that the negroes who were responsible for its existence announced that it was to be closed—but this was a bluff, pure and simple, the police say. Instead of closing, the name was simply changed to that of "The Sociable club," and the same old program is being carried out night after night, insofar as hilarious conduct and practices are concerned. Each morning the dock in the corporation court is filled with negroes who are there to answer vagrancy charges, and the offices in reply to the court's inquiry, "Where did you get these negroes?" state "At the Sociable club, formerly known as the Shamrock." Such evidence is all that is necessary for a conviction.

No One Cent Letter Postage

The bill providing for the adoption of one cent postage instead of two, on all first-class mail matter will not become a law, because the loss of revenue would be too great. It is good policy to guard against losses of any kind, but especially against the loss of your health. For this purpose Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be taken, because it will strengthen the stomach, perfect the digestion and keep the bowels open, thus protecting you from all sickness. If, however, you have lost your health and suffer from headache, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation or biliousness, you need the Bitters at once, because it is a specific remedy for these ailments, and will cure you. Try a bottle and see for yourself.

Card of Thanks

Mr. A. W. Moore and Mrs. Ella Moore, brother and wife of the late John M. Moore desire to extend their thanks to the Red Men, the Eagles and many friends for the attention and sympathy extended during the illness and upon the death of John M. Moore.

CHIEF MADDOX HAS ANOTHER NEW PET

GETS HANDSOME SPITZ DOG AS PRESENT FROM A DEPARTMENT ADMIRER

Two coons, a crow, chickens, two bantams, a mocking bird, cats and dogs without number have come to the Central Fire station and most have gone the way of all flesh. But none have been received more acceptably than a handsome spitz dog, snowy white, which arrived as a present to Chief Maddox this morning. Besides being a beauty, he is an aristocrat with a dignified pedigree from one of the famous kennels of the North. "Trix" is his name and he will be the center of attraction at the station for some time.

Simultaneously with the arrival of "Trix" came a cat, minus a tail, to the central station and so two pets was the record for this morning.

EVIDENCES OF THE SOUTH'S PROSPERITY

NEW INDUSTRIES ANNOUNCED IN THRIVING CITIES OF THE STATE

Texas stands out well among the states of the south in the announcement of new industries during the week that has closed. The largest announced is a $50,000 development company at Kaufman. Beaumont has another $10,000 oil company. Itasca has a $10,000 telephone company and Austin a $10,000 telephone manufacturing concern. Mineola will have a box factory costing $10,000. Houston is to have a glass factory and Mertens a cotton compress. Among other states, Texarkana, Ark., announces a $100,000 lumber company and Shreveport, La., a $150,000 brewery and $50,000 oil and delinting company.

AN ENTIRE BALL OF RED TAPE EXHAUSTED

Luckily It Was Not a Fire Raging Instead of an Arc Light Refusing to Rage—The Railroad's Way

Here is a sample of "red tape" that is perhaps unequalled. Complying with the request to the city council by those who desired that arc lights be placed at certain points in and about the Rock Island yards, the lights were so placed, an agreement being entered into with reference to their keeping etc. Early during the present month one of the lights refused to work, and a few days thereafter, on Aug. 6, some one whose business it is to notify some one else addressed a communication to some railway official about the failure of the light to shine. Official No. 2 addressed a communication to official No. 3, with communications Nos. 1 and 2 attached. On August 12 official No. 3 addressed the city electrician, attaching all previous communications, and on August 23, the city electrician received the letter. Of course the city electrician acted promptly and gave the stubborn arc lights his attention, but to have carried out the routine "red tape" proposition, he should have referred the batch of letters to the committee of the city council in charge of electric lighting; this committee cannot make a report to the council before its next meeting, September 5. The council, following out the routine, would have no doubt referred it upon recommendation of the committee to the city electrician with power to act. Then a month would have been consumed to an even date, when a telephone message to the city electrician would have caused the light to illumine after one night off. Around the city hall they are asking:

Suppose a fire was to break out and the same red tape methods were followed out in notifying the fire chief?
