HARMONY OVERFLOWS AT A LEADERS' POW-WOW

ENTHUSIASM IS PLENTIFUL AND ALL POINTS TOWARD LYON AS COMING MAN

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night at Lyon headquarters, 1108 Main street, at which harmony prevailed, and it was all in behalf of Smith and Lyon—Smith for temporary chairman and Lyon for state chairman. A banner stretches across the sidewalk reading "Smith & Harmony," and within the Woodman band played between speeches. The room was filled with about 200 people. Alex White of Grimes county presided over the meeting and J. T. Cottrell of Harris was secretary.

O. S. York of Jackson county stated that the object of the meeting was to get the delegates in line for harmonious action today. It was told him on the street that there were enough un-instructed delegates in the convention to carry it in favor of any candidate upon whom they might unite, or for whom they might be bought, and he urged that all should hold themselves as freemen and scorn the temptations of lucre should any be offered. The speaker said that it was a Lyon meeting, and proceeded to discuss the differences between Lyon and Hawley, saying he thought Hawley ought to have kept out of the contest and further he did not want the Republican party turned over to the dictation of any one man, Hawley, for instance.

Mr. York was followed by F. I. Richardson of Harris county, who advocated the election of Smith and Lyon in the interests of harmony, and endorsed these leaders, saying of Lyon that the only charge brought against him by the opposition was that he had insisted upon having a Federal judgeship filled by a Republican rather than a Democrat.

Van H. McKinney of Harris county followed in the same strain, advising the delegates to consider well what they should vote and what it would mean to them individually. The party is not a white man's party, it is not a black man's party, but it is the Republican party.

Mr. York then completed the address by saying in opening the meeting, saying that the eyes of the president and of the country were upon this convention and that all should do their duty faithfully. The speaker scored Hawley for the position he took upon the Federal judgeship case and endorsed the Lyon stand for a Republican. A prominent Democrat of South Texas, Mr. Proctor, told him that if the Republicans would put out a clean, straight ticket it would draw 30,000 votes from the Democratic column, and he is in favor of such procedure.

Calls Lyon a Moses

A. S. Jackson of Waco also spoke for Smith and Lyon, saying the party had led it out of the wilderness—that the result meant either success or the poor house. Referring to the opposition he closed with the statement: "We are ready for the fight; we are ready to meet the conditions and fight them out as Napoleon did at Waterloo."

He was followed by H. L. Storm of Galveston, who spoke strongly for Smith and Lyon.

Lock McDaniel of Houston made an earnest plea for a united effort to place the Republican party in the position he said it ought to occupy. If it were in proper shape it would offer formidable opposition to the Democratic party for the control of the state. Many people have come into the state from Northern states during the past 10 years who would be glad to unite with them. The speaker said he had heard about disensions, but he did not know of any inharmonious in the party—the rank and file are in good humor. The only difference was between the national committee and the state executive committee. He protested that he and Hawley were close personal friends but believed him to be the most disorganizing element in the party. He then reviewed the differences between Hawley and Lyon over the appointment of a Federal district judge and Lyon's steadfast contention that the appointee should be a Republican, and said that the election of the temporary chairman would show which man's course was approved.

The speaker announced himself unequivocally as in favor of putting a full ticket in the field. Also that he believed in equal-handed justice to the colored man—if the temporary chairman of the convention was a colored man the permanent chairman should be white, and vice versa.

AN EARLY ALARM SOUNDED

The Negro Wanted to Be Consulted, and Said So

At an early hour this morning circulars were freely circulated which read: "Down with bossism. Big consultation being held—negroes not consulted. Take the war into Africa. Say nothing. Do nothing until the Republican caucus at 10:30 o'clock at 1108 Main street. Remember the place and remember now is the hit of your life. You must do now or never. All loyal Republicans invited to attend. Don't fail to your interest."

There was something doing among the negro delegates, and many groups were seen earnestly caucusing, and the 1108 Main street headquarters could well be likened unto an ant bed for an hour or so, but nothing developed.

CONVENTION DELAYED BY MANY CONTESTS

PROBABLY A SESSION WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

DELEGATES ANXIOUS

Situation Is Decidedly Mixed and No One Can Make Reasonable Prophecy—Leaders Are not Excepted—Hawley and Lyon

There is no living man, not excepting the leaders themselves, who can tell where the Republican forces now gathered in Fort Worth stand on the chairmanship fight. The fight will not be settled until the votes are counted and the chairman takes possession of the party machine in the state.

The arrival of E. H. R. Green, upon whom it was believed rested the responsibility of bringing about a peaceful adjustment of the factional differences, has stirred the situation somewhat and since his announcement last night as a candidate for the chairmanship, there have been many stories that an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock p. m. when the work was renewed.

At the noon adjournment of the committee Chairman Lyon and Mr. Hawley left the city hall and lunched together at the White Elephant, after which they went to the Worth.

As soon as the two leaders were observed the story went out that another deal was in progress.

Green Draws a Crowd

A big crowd has been around the headquarters of Mr. Green in the Worth all day. His suite of rooms is located on the dining room floor on the north side. This morning he was called upon by a large number of delegates all of whom assured him of their loyal support.

ELABORATE DECORATIONS

The City Hall Auditorium Presents a Gala Appearance

The decorations at the city hall auditorium present a more elaborately decorated appearance than at any time or for any occasion in its history—due to the local decorating committee headed by A. N. Jack. The eye is at first attracted by a massive United States flag, the largest in Texas, unfurled its full length across the wall to the rear of the speaker's stand. This is surrounded by 100 or more smaller flags and patriotic bunting. The big flag is the property of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, and was loaned for the occasion.

In the center of this accumulation of flags and bunting are tastefully arranged the life-size bust pictures of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, James G. Blaine, Theodore Roosevelt, Gen. U. S. Grant and William McKinley.

Streamers of patriotic emblems are arranged in profusion from the speaker's stand to the balcony, and around the balcony its full length, and the chandeliers are decorated.

An innovation from the usual oversight, and one much appreciated by the press gang is a provision for the newspaper men. Two elevated stages are arranged in front of the speaker's stand, surrounded by a railing, profusely decorated, and tables and chairs are provided.

About the hall are large cards with numbers from 1 to 21, inclusive, elevated on rods, in plain view of the chairman and delegates in part of the hall. These designate the delegations.

The entire arrangement is admirable, and reflects much credit upon those whose tact and talent is thus displayed.

TARRANT'S DELEGATION

Held Caucus and Organized at Early Hour This Morning

The Tarrant county delegation of which George E. Nies is chairman, met at 9:30 o'clock this morning for organization. Mr. Nies being absent, Dr. James L. Cooper was made chairman. George W. Barnhart was made spokesman for the delegation. Three men were selected whose names were to be presented to the convention for as many state committees. For state committee on credentials, Sam Davidson; committee on resolutions, N. A. Dodge; committee on organization, George W. Burroughs.

No endorsement for state chairman was made, in fact the question was not discussed, and while it was not so decided, it was understood the unit rule would govern the delegations' actions.

UNION VETERANS' LEAGUE

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Many Speakers

Union Veterans' league held its annual meeting last night at which great enthusiasm was shown. President W. H. Catts presided and W. Z. Manchester was secretary. President Catts made an address in which he described the organization of the body for the purpose of seeing that justice and fairness prevailed in Republican councils and to see that all old comrades were fairly treated in all matters of a political nature, and that the party platform pledges were not ignored but carried out to the letter. He said the purposes had been steadfastly carried out and great good done by the organization.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE IN SESSION

HONORS ARE DIVIDED

Each Faction Secures Recognition and Both Will Be Seated in the Convention—Other Things of Committee, Secret

The executive committee was late getting together this morning. At 10 o'clock, Chairman Lyon convened the body in the council chamber of the city hall. The roll call developed a full committee save in the case of the Seventh district which had no representation. Proxies were held by Chairman Lyon for the tenth district, by N. Q. Henderson of Paris, for the third district, by J. P. Newcomb of San Antonio for the twenty-fourth district, and by T. N. Edgett of Fort Worth for the thirtieth district. Frank B. Stanley, member of the committee from this district arrived from South Texas late and took his seat.

The committee went into executive session, and on motion of C. A. Boynton of Waco, all but members were excluded. Contrary to the usual custom, press representatives were told to "hike out."

An announcement was made from the door that as the contests came up notice would be given.

The committee spent all of the morning handling two contests, one from Austin county and one from Bexar county. The honors were even at the noon adjournment. The Lyon delegation from Austin county secured recognition, and the anti-Lyon faction of Bexar county will be seated.

Chairman Lyon at 2:20 p. m. mounted the stand and said that the executive committee had not been able to get through with its business, and it would be 8 p. m. before the convention would be called. It was nobody's fault, simply the work was too voluminous to progress further or faster.

He asked that all delegates holding contests to be present, and that it was necessary for the opponents to be present also, else they would go to the bottom of the list alphabetically.

He announced that the executive committee was at this time in session.

Judge Cochran Speaks

Judge Arch Cochran of Dallas mounted the stand and talked Republicanism straight.

A motion was made that Mr. Atwell be called to the stand and entertain the convention.

Pending his arrival the Woodman band played "Dixie," and not a yelp was yelled, and at the close not a hand was given.

Several others were called for, among them "Goosenek" Bill McDonald.

Mr. Atwell entered the hall and made a response.

SCHMIDT IS FOR LYON

Former gubernatorial Candidate Here From Denton County

John B. Schmidt of Denton arrived early in the evening over the interurban from Dallas.

"It is to be hoped," he said, "that harmony will be attained in this convention, though what I have seen and heard since my arrival holds little promise in that direction. The situation will develop during the election of temporary chairman, after which the strength of their various forces. The state chairmanship contest is one of the last things to be settled in the proceedings, and by the time it comes up for settlement I believe it will have narrowed down

Mr. Schmidt was candidate for governor six years ago and for lieutenant governor two years ago, but in reply to an inquiry he said, "No, I am not a candidate for anything; I am simply here as one of the Denton delegation, which is instructed for Lyon."

ANTI-LOCAL OPTION PLANK

An Effort Will Be Made to Insert One in Platform

An effort will be made to secure the adoption of an anti-local option plank, if not by the committee on platform, then by the convention proper. This comes as a proposition from San Antonio, where it is said sentiment is very strong against the local option movement. The statement is made without reservation that a declaration by this convention in line with the anti movement would render the situation easy for John C. Scott, Republican candidate for congress in the fifth district against John N. Garner, the Democratic nominee.

The San Antonio delegation contends the Rio Grande country will, under those conditions, land in the Republican column.

Representatives of the League of Liberty made up of liquor dealers, residing in Fort Worth, says if the plank is adopted the Republican party will secure the largest campaign fund it has had in years.

FT. WORTH CONVENTION TOWN

Dr. Nagle Compliments the Texas Convention Center

Dr. A. W. Nagle, postmaster at Denton, and who is among the leaders of the Acheson campaign, said to a crowd of his friends last night in the lobby of the Worth: "I am always glad to come to Fort Worth. It is certainly the only convention town in the state. Visitors receive a more cordial treatment here than elsewhere. It is the ideal place for such gatherings, and easier of access than any other city in Texas. I tried hard last year to get our Postmasters' convention to come to Fort Worth this year, but because neither of the two lady postmasters had ever attended the conventions I lost out by one vote. Postmaster Burroughs is the only postmaster from Fort Worth to attend our conventions for years."

FORT WORTH COUPLE MARRIED IN KANSAS WHILE TRAIN WAITS

(Special to the Telegram) Wellington, Kas., Sept. 9.—Bent A. Rose, teller for the American National bank of Fort Worth, and Dorothea Kathrine Weaver of Fort Worth, were married in the Rock Island depot here this morning by the probate judge who met them at the train with the license and papers in response to a telegram sent from Fort Worth last night.

Rose left Fort Worth last night, the daughter and mother bound for Boston where she will enter a conservatory of music for two years. The couple announced their intention of keeping their marriage a secret until her school days were over. Mrs. Weaver's written consent to the marriage was given. The ceremony occurred while the train was making its regular stop here and took place in the baggage room of the depot occupying only one minute's time.

GEORGE ADE, THE MAN WHO WRITES "FABLES"

The success of George Ade, or "Fables in Slips" Ade, as he is sometimes called, as a playwright has been as rapid and unexpected as that of his adventure into the domain of literature, for his fables are beyond cavil literature of a vital quality, says the Kansas City Star.

Although he has succeeded far beyond his wildest dreams of his first years in newspaper business, success has not spoiled George Ade. He is still the unaffected, modest, loyal, warm-hearted boy that first reached Chicago from the wilds of Indiana, and while in his fables he betrays an insight of the shams of life which at times almost amounts to cynicism, he never allows it to creep into his life. Ade is so retiring that few people have any idea of his personality.

He is about six feet one or two inches tall, of dark, almost swarthy skin and coal black hair, which is just beginning in the faintest degree to be touched with gray. His eyes are black and his teeth strong and white. The whole expression of his face is one to invite confidence, and this ability to make people talk was one of his greatest helps when he was doing city assignments on the Chicago News.

His figure is thin but wiry, and he looks to be in perfect physical condition at all times. Success is sweet to any man, but to George Ade I believe it is much more of a pleasure to know that he is the most popular newspaper man in Chicago than it would be to be known as the greatest. No man ever met him but loved him, and down in Indiana they think he is a little greater than the President of the United States.

After his opera, "The Sultan of Sulu," had been running for a month to tremendous business, it was taken to Ade's old home for one performance. The whole town took a holiday to celebrate. The stores closed, bands played, there were processions, speeches and a general celebration which lasted nearly three days.

Ade was almost unhappy over it, for he is modest to an unusual degree, and would prefer to talk of some other fellow's work rather than his own. The writer has seen him blush like a girl graduate when complimented upon the excellence of his work. So it is that Mr. Ade is not an easy man to interview—about himself. But whatever he says must have some merit among the many thousands who read his work and admire the man.

Mr. Ade's slang is wholly lacking in brutality and is laugh-compelling in its breezy impudence. Slang he regards as a vital expression of the mental and material condition of society, just as an anthropologist would regard the manner of eating and the things eaten by a race of people. This sober statement is sustained by the insight into human nature and motives which Mr. Ade, at all times, displays. His usual note, however, is of good-natured raillery, as one who realizes the bitterness of things, but whose heart is touched by it all, as he himself smiles and compels you to smile.

Like all effective humorists, George Ade, at bottom, is a serious young man. Too well he knows what a sad comedy life is, and yet it is due to his quick instructive sympathy that he brightens it with smiles, makes it flash with good natured sarcasm and presents its lessons to all in a homely garb. When he wrote his first fable in slang he had not the slightest conception that the expressive word children of the race track, the prize ring, the gaming table and, lastly, the stage, would lead him to a permanent place among the humorists of the day. So it was when he wrote "The Sultan of Sulu," his first play.

It succeeded in spite of him and now he is under contract to write for the stage for the next five years, at terms which would have seemed fabulous to him thirteen years ago, when as a gangly sort of youth, he went from Indiana to Chicago and became a reporter on the Chicago Daily News, at which time Eugene Field illuminated the editorial page with his constellations.

Mr. Ade's development as a treasury of slang was a gradual and subtle process, and in establishing the genesis he will probably recall that William Cornell, a veteran police reporter, who had a hand-shaking, back-slapping acquaintance with Chicago's seamy side, was a man of infinite resource in turning out expressive verbal grotesques.

THINK GENERAL BELL SANDBAGGER'S VICTIM

New Orleans, La., Sept. 9.—Ex-Chief of Police Clack of Nashville, Tenn., has been employed by the relatives of the late General Tyree H. Bell, to investigate the circumstances preceding the death of the distinguished Confederate officer. It is now thought that General Bell was the victim of foul play, the fact that he had lost $70 and that there were blood clots on his forehead when found, going to confirm the suspicion. It is believed that sandbaggers struck the old general down and robbed him, and owing to his feeble condition, death resulted from the injury. Detective Clack will go to Fresno, Cal. and there will probably exhumate the body to make a closer examination.

PRIMARIES HELD TODAY

BEN TILLMAN WILL BATTLE FOR HIS POLITICAL LIFE

South Carolina Democrats Will Pick Candidates on the State Ticket

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 9.—The Democrats of South Carolina will today in their second primary finally determine upon their candidates for United States senator, governor and other state officers. The first primary was held two weeks ago and the candidates of each respective office who polled the two highest votes were rendered eligible to enter today's contest. The two aspirants for United States senator who will be voted on today are Congressman Ashberry C. Latimer and former Governor John Gary Evans. The candidates for governor are Captain Duncan P. Heyward and Congressman W. Jasper Talbert. In the city of Charleston great interest centers in the candidacy of Geo. F. VonKoltz for state senator. VonKoltz is bitterly opposed to United States Senator Tillman who charges that VonKoltz supported McKinley in 1896 and 1900.

CONVENTION NOTES

E. P. Wilmot, a banker of Austin, was an arrival this morning.

The San Antonio delegation was enlarged this morning by the arrival of Judge C. W. Ogden and Dr. Thad Bell.

One of the largest delegations to the State convention will be that from Harris county. The majority of it is for Lyon for state chairman. Postmaster Seth B. Strong, Judge Waller Burns and Locke McDaniel were the arrivals including the late trains last night.

Marc McLemore, United States district attorney, and United States Marshal Hanson are among the delegates at Hawley's headquarters in the Delaware.

Major George B. Zimbleman, postmaster of Austin, arrived yesterday as a member of the regular delegation from the capital town. He is registered at the Worth.

The Lyon badge is greatly in evidence. It is a yellow ribbon on which are imprinted a portrait of President Roosevelt above the figures 1904 and the picture of a lion over the date 1902.

The Woodman band played several selections in the Worth lobby about 8 o'clock last evening, and the assembled crowd cheered lustily and yelled in response to the strains of Dixie and the Star Spangled Banner. It was a patriotic crowd. Above their heads was held a banner portraying a lion with the words "for chairman."

A large number of the colored contingent made no attempt to conceal the basis upon which they stood ready to align themselves with the "harmony" element. Conspicuously displayed on the lapels of their coats was to be seen a "green" ribbon, printed upon which were the talismanic words, "I am for the long ———"

Dr. Nagle declared it to be his opinion that an 8-hour work day plank would be inserted in the party platform at this convention, also a plank in opposition to the "double-header" proposition. "I am on the committee on platform," said he, "and shall insert these two measures."

With reference to the state chairmanship contest he said that there was an opposition to Lyon's candidacy that would be hard to overcome.

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Kate Jarreau, wife of a traveling man, is held as a witness in the case of the drowning of Earl C. Lukens, manager of the New Orleans branch of a correspondence school. Mrs. Jarreau, with Lukens, Hans Reig and others, were out on the river on a yacht, Aug. 31. She says Lukens bantered her and she threatened to push him overboard, he persisted and she made good the threat. Lukens drowned and it was agreed the death would be reported as an accident on the advice of Reig. Mrs. Jarreau, however, says her conscience would not allow her to let the matter go thus. Reig has disappeared.

It is hoped a goodly number will respond.

As this is her first visit to America since she married a royal son of England, naturally enough her old-time friends are making much of her stay. The duchess was formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt.

A NEWSPAPER SCOOP HOW IT WAS OBTAINED WITHOUT ANY DEPARTMENT LEAK. Sources of Information of Which the Alert and Quick Witted Correspondent is Always Ready to Take Legitimate Advantage. "Every once in awhile one reads in the newspapers of the determination of some one of the high government officials to discover the source of 'the leak' of a piece of news which it was not desired should be given out at that particular time," remarked an old Washington correspondent, "and without giving the solution to the secret escapes of public information, as they vary, I will tell you of one instance which serves to show how news appears in print in what is considered by all concerned to be a very mysterious manner. Like all mysteries, when unraveled it is wondered that it was not thought of before. My story is entirely a part of the secret sources of information which all correspondents have more or less at their disposal and which often comes from the outside and not from the inside of the departments.

"Some time ago—the precise time is not essential to the story—a very important public matter was up for determination by the president. All of the larger metropolitan dailies were particularly interested, as it did not have to do especially with Washington, and the entire correspondents' world at the capital was on the qui vive to get it, including myself. All channels which were usually tapped by the initiated were found to be as barren as a desert stream in midsummer. Telegrams from the home offices poured into our various bureaus here couched in imperative language that the news 'must' be obtained, evidently in the belief that all correspondents have to do is to go out, ask officials for the desired information and receive it, coupled with a good cigar and a bottle of wine. As a matter of fact, when officials wish to keep secret a piece of information, all possible loopholes of escape are securely padlocked, and it is the exception that it gets out.

"I had about given up hope of securing a 'beat' in this particular instance, though I was, of course, as vigilant as ever. The time for the maturing of the project was close at hand, and any day it might by official announcement become public property. One night as I was sitting idly in the lobby of an uptown hotel, half dozing in my chair, waiting for the appearance of a senator with whom I had an appointment on an inconsequential matter, I overheard one of two gentlemen who were sitting behind me drop the words 'the president.' The high backs of our chairs nearly touched, and by instinct my drowsy senses became clear and I woke up.

"The president," remarked one of the gentlemen, "said that it was his intention to adopt that course irrespective of the consequences either to himself or the party."

"But you pointed out to him what it meant to us—that he was clearly in error?" replied the other gentleman.

"Elaborately," responded the first speaker, "but the president said that he was convinced that accruing results would prove that we, and not he, were in error."

"Then we may as well go back to New York tomorrow," was the answer, and both gentlemen arose and walked toward the cafe, apparently in a very despondent frame of mind. "I was an involuntary listener to this scrap of conversation, in which, it will be observed, not a single word was dropped as to the subject matter thereof. I at once jumped to the conclusion that the government, through the president's action, intended to take the affirmative of the proposition, the news side of which the correspondents had so long and earnestly endeavored to ascertain. With a straight tip as to the course of the government the correspondent could do the rest, while with the wrong tip he could not only make his paper ridiculous, but would in all probability lose his position; hence the care in making a scarce head, page wide story.

"In the furtherance of my conclusion my paper had the 'beat' of the season the following morning, as I stated the facts as though they came from official sources, as, indeed, such I considered them. To my mind, as a correspondent, it was as clear as if the president himself had given me the information. Two days after a member of the cabinet gave out officially what I had wired over and with it the announcement that the 'leak' had occasioned much annoyance, and its source would be investigated thoroughly." It is here given correctly for the first time.—Washington Star.

What the Hair Tells. Women who are the possessors of fine black hair are emotional and of very sensitive nerves. Coarse black hair is said to denote great energy, but an unenviable disposition. Women who have brown hair make the best wives, for they are almost invariably full of sentiment, impassioned, "high strung," loyal and easily affected. Red haired people are nearly always keen in business transactions, quick of perception, high tempered and witty. The woman who has blond hair is impulsive and loving, but usually feeble, although an agreeable companion.—Pittsburg Press.

An Appetiser. Gentleman (at restaurant)—I say, waiter, your customers are a fearfully noisy lot! "Yes, sir, and yet they are so particular, you would scarcely believe. Why, that same turbot you are eating just now no fewer than six of them refused before you came in."

Every one should occasionally say "Whoa!" to himself. Because his friends do not say it, does not indicate that he doesn't need it.

SAINT LOUIS SENSATION

WARRANTS FOR EIGHTEEN DELEGATES ARE ISSUED

BOODLING THE CHARGE

All But one of Those Indicted Are Believed to be in the City and Police-men are Guarding Escape

St. Louis, Sept. 9.—A sensation has been caused by the issuance of bench warrants for the arrest of 18 members of the former house of delegates on the confession of Delegate J. K. Murrell, who fled to Mexico last spring after being indicted for bribery by the grand jury in connection with the alleged boodling operations of the municipal assembly, in relation to the granting of street railway franchises. He will, it is stated, be granted immunity from punishment for turning state's evidence.

With one exception all the indicted delegates are believed to be in the city. Several arrests have been made and the police are watching the bridge and other possible avenues of escape for any of the indicted men to remain long out of the hands of the law.

J. F. Murrell goes into details and tells how much money was given each and where the money was paid over to those whom he names in his confessions.

When they got to Ryan switch the train was going too fast for Bee Spence to get off and he went on to get off at Elkhart, and was found about one-half mile south of Elkhart dead. It is supposed that he fell in trying to get off the train. Spence was about 14 years old and the youngest son of N. E. Spence of this place.

A LETTER TO OUR READERS.

New Haven, Addison Co., Vt. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—About a year ago I was suffering from what I supposed was rheumatism. I became so bad that I could hardly get on my feet from a sitting position. I run down in weight from one hundred and ninety-five to a hundred and forty-five pounds. I tried different kinds of medicine but received little or no help. I saw Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root highly recommended for kidney trouble, but I never had any idea that my kidneys were affected. I thought I would try a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and see what the effect would be. I commenced taking it according to directions and in a few days I saw that it was helping me. I used the fifty-cent bottle and then bought two more dollar bottles, and they completely cured me. I have got back to my original weight one hundred and ninety-five pounds, and I am a thorough advocate of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Very truly,
Feb. 17, 1902. WM. M. PARTICH.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root. If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

REPUBLICANS WINNERS IN MAINE ELECTIONS

AN EASTERN STATE GIVES THEM LARGER MAJORITY THAN IN GOOD YEARS

Portland, Maine, Sept. 9.—Maine rolled up a big off-year plurality for the Republicans in the election Monday, approximating 27,000 in comparison with 12,000 for the average of other years. Complete returns will be very late owing to the remoteness of some towns. Figures from 240 cities and towns give Hill, Republican, 40,962; Gould, Democrat, 24,587. The same towns two years ago gave Hill, Republican, 47,431; Lord, Democrat, 27,754.

The legislature, while strongly Republican, will have an uncommon number of Democratic members, some of the strongest Republican towns of the state electing representatives of that party. The senate will have one Democrat in thirty-one members, L. M. Staples of Knox county.

In the First congressional district, Congressman Allen, Republican, was re-elected over Dr. Seth C. Gordon of Portland, Democrat, and Fred E. Irish, a Socialist, with a plurality of about 5500, as against a plurality of 7000 two years ago. Mr. Allen who succeeded Hon. Thos. Reed for whom he was secretary, ran behind his ticket in York and Cumberland counties. Dr. Gordon's personal popularity contributed this result.

In the Fourth district, owing to its great area, the returns are not complete, but the estimates in Congressman Powers, Republican, has been elected by a plurality of 7000 over Thomas White, Democrat.

In the Third district, Congressman Burlingame got the Prohibitionist vote and ran slightly ahead of his ticket, defeating E. H. Henson, Democrat.

In the Second district Congressman Littlefield had no difficulty in defeating his Democratic opponent, running well ahead of his ticket.

The city and county contest nearly all presented features, but the most interesting was that in Cumberland county of which the late Rev. Samuel Pearson was sheriff. The fight was won by Pennell, a Democrat, by 1000 in Portland and nearly 2000 in the county.

MILLIONS IN THE TREASURY

A VAST AMOUNT OF GLEAMING METAL IN THE VAULTS

MAKES WORLD RECORD

Probably No Country in History of Nations Has Ever Had So Large a Surplus on Hand and Sum is Increasing

Washington, Sept. 9.—The sum of gold now in the United States treasury exceeds that of any previous time in the history of the country and with one possible exception, it exceeds that of any country at any time in the history of the world. The single reported exception is that of Russia about eight years ago when that country was preparing to resume gold payments.

Last Saturday the vaults of the United States treasury contained $573,936,194, an increase since July 1, 1901, of $79,087,397. This stock of gold is now being added to at the rate of from $200,000 to $300,000 a day, with no immediate prospect of a cessation in the rate of deposits. This condition of things is eminently satisfactory to the treasury officials who regard it as the best possible evidence of prosperity and of confidence in the financial stability of the country.

Dallas, Sept. 9.—County officers and city police made a raid on an alleged gambling place Monday night, under the authorization of the grand jury and arrested about seventy-five men and boys. THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER AS USUAL WAS FATALLY SHOT WATCHING QUARREL

Nacogdoches, Tex., Sept. 9.—A fatal shooting affray occurred here Monday evening, the result of an old feud between Dick Crain and the Roguemores. Crain received two gunshot wounds, one in the face and one in the arm. He was on Main street, near the saloon of Slay Bros. Frank and Joe Roguemore were near there, at the Ogg livery stable. Shotgun and Winchester shots were used. About half a dozen shots were fired. George Chrenger, a bystander, was instantly killed across Main street in front of Lucas & Burk's store. Horace Boger and Carl Butler were with Crain. Testimony as to particulars is conflicting. It is claimed by the Crain side that they did not fire a shot. The town is greatly excited. No arrests.

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT WORTH, TEX., SEPT. 9, 1902.

Continue to fix your orbs on "Goose-neck."

Only a few more days left to pave Houston street.

Keep a-plugging for your home town. A continual plugging fills up many holes.

The man who originated "What are we here for?" is in town. He probably hasn't found out yet.

Yes, we know you can't help talking about the Republicans, but don't forget to talk up Fort Worth.

The president has been elected a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. Some elections come easier than others.

Judge Smith's charge to the grand jury was peculiarly pertinent. He made particular points of the three P's—perjury, pistols and peculation.

If Fort Worth people would advertise the town as persistently as the Fort Worth merchants advertise their goods, the returns would more than justify the outlay.

If the men who "first discovered" the winner of the coming Republican contest, will send their names to this office in advance, it will save much confusion afterwards.

"On every tongue," says Dr. William Nagle of Denison, "is the demand for harmony with a big H." There must be a mistake. Is it not hominy he refers to, or perhaps hockeak?

Yes, it was wrong for the Germans to fire on the sinking ship, especially since they didn't know whose ship it was. But then, how much fun they had hearing the big guns go off!

If the Republicans get deadlocked, will they use a naughty lottery to see who is the winner? No, my child, they are very strenuous and have said "it will be a fight to the finish." Would you not like to see the fur when it flies?

Have you ever noticed that the real work of a political convention is never done at "headquarters"? A fourth floor back room in a hotel is always more productive of "somebun' doin'" than the biggest headquarters that ever happened.

The Democrats of Nebraska in their convention declared for compulsory arbitration "in disputes between capital and labor in all cases where the public seems to suffer." There is a beautiful theory in that resolution and it would be an example well worthy of emulation generally if there went with the suggestion some manner of method which was to be employed to bring about such an arbitration, likewise a test as to when the public was seemingly suffering.

Scandal has developed in Illinois over enactments of assessments from employees of state institutions. United States Senator Billy Mason, a candidate for re-election, is demanding to know who received the money, and the next legislature will be asked to investigate the matter. Illinois and New York are two of the "rottenest" politically, in all of the great union of states. Mr. Mason is not above finding fault with other people, however. He has had much fault found with his way of thinking and doing things and now he is evidently going to play even.

The press of Louisiana is severely condemning the legislature of that state for slipshod work at the last session. An important merger law was passed without its enacting clause, and it is claimed that many statutes have been so badly drawn up or so badly tampered with during and after passage as probably to render them null and void or to vexatious and expensive legislation. There is too much of this sort of thing all over the country. It serves to emphasize the absolute need

BLIND MAN GETS SIGHT BY MARVELOUS CURE

And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind? Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents; but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work. As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay. And said unto him, Go wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way, therefore, and washed, and came seeing. The neighbors therefore, and they which before had seen him that he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged? Some said, This is he: others said, He is like him: but he said, I am he. Therefore said they unto him, How were thine eyes opened? He answered and said, A man that is called Jesus made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam, and wash: and I went and washed, and I received sight. Then said they unto him, Where is he? He said, I know not. They brought to the Pharisees him that aforetime was blind. And it was the Sabbath day when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes. Then again the Pharisees also asked him how he had received his sight. He said unto them, He put clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see. Therefore said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner do such miracles? And there was a division among them. They said unto the blind man again, What sayest thou of him, that he hath opened thine eyes? He said, He is a prophet. But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had received his sight. And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, who ye say was born blind? how doth he now see? His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind: But by what means he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes we know not: he is of age; ask him: he shall speak for himself. These words spake his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue. Therefore said his parents, He is of age; ask him. Then again called they the man that was blind, and said unto him, Give God the praise: we know that this man is a sinner. He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see. —John xvi., 1-25.

of sending able and honest men to the state legislature. The people are the ones to suffer for hastily and dishonestly drawn legislation.

FORGOTTEN MEMORIES
The members of Robert E. Lee camp, Sons of Veterans, have voted honorary membership and a badge to little Laura Talbot Galt, the 13-year-old girl who refused to sing "Marching Through Georgia" in the public schools of Louisville, Ky.

It had been the custom to sing the song, such as America and The Star Spangled Banner were sung, but it remained for the democratic little daughter of the South to stamp her foot at the foolishness of the custom and refuse to accede. The action of the Sons of Veterans is commendable. The continual bringing to mind of the harrowing scenes of the civil war should cease. The singing of songs, which at their best were but the ebullitions of war-heated minds, and had but a fleeting value, is not only useless, but wrong.

The awful details of Sherman's march are too well known in the South to make the remembrance of them in song else than the opening of an old wound. Such songs should be barred not only from the schools of the South, but from the North as well. Instead, let the children be taught songs of their country as a country and not a section. Songs that will make them think only of the United States as united.

Let the forgotten memories stay forgotten and let the old songs that were meant to be sung only to inspire the weary soldiers, crazed with the horror of war's hell, pass forever into oblivion.

"KEEP A-PLUGGING."
When you get a good chance to say something for Fort Worth, say it. Don't wait for the other fellow to say, "Fort Worth's a pretty nice town after all." If he does say it before you get a chance, back him up most heartily, but it's better for you to start the conversation in that direction yourself. It sounds more patriotic.

And then if you don't get a chance to say a good word for the town, hunt one. We know a man up north, to whom if you say: "Well, we have at least a better water system than your town," will immediately look at you and make you think a water works system doesn't amount to a hill of mesquite beans and say: "Chicago has the finest lake breeze in the world, couldn't be equalled or approached anywhere else on the continent. Why I've known people who had come 1000 miles to get that lake breeze."

And the same man was once asked, "They're having a deuce of a time catching Convict Tracy, aren't they?" and the answer came quick as a flash: "I tell you if Tracy were in Chicago the police would have him in one hour and 30 minutes. We've got a drag-net system that would catch the minnows in the Chicago river."

And another time, some one said to him, "Awful about the Mont Peled eruption, isn't it?" And before you could draw breath, he said: "Say, did you notice how the Chicago papers scooped all the others in the country on the story of the eruption. Greatest thing on record wasn't it? I tell you we've got the finest newspapers in the world."

You could talk to him about religion, science, art, or the latest vanderbilt show, and he always rung in his home town. Not offensively, but persistently, until his listeners came to imagine that Chicago was something worth going to see, and began to gauge things by the Chicago standard.

start with. Practice a few plugging stunts and then try them on your neighbor, your guest, or your friend in another state. The big business houses, the artesian water system, the two union depots, the police department, the fire department, the postoffice and federal building, the court house, the street car systems. These will do for starters. You can call any of these things the best in the state without fear of confusion. And then there are the packing houses. If you don't find any one to talk to, write The Telegram a letter, praising the town. But above all "keep a-plugging."

THE IDLER'S NOTE BOOK

to play about the clean, fresh water, than in the dirty streets. Then I strolled over to the little lake nearby and, watching a pair of graceful swans swimming leisurely about, or stretching out their long necks to the children who fed them. All about me under the trees or near the shrubbery I could see people sitting, resting and enjoying the first fresh cool air of evening. In the pavilion a band was playing and some of the children were dancing on the grass to the music it made.

Everywhere the grass, shrubbery, trees, were green and fresh and it looked like some one who cared, was taking care of the beautiful little park and making it a paradise for tired folks.

Then there was an animal house, but the monkeys and other creatures had gone to sleep and were curled up in their cages, or else hidden away in their narrow burrows. All about, it was just as the donor would have wanted it.

And the donor, the man who made the park? I walked lazily over near to the pavilion and over the archway I read his name. A modest line beneath told that the park had been made as a memorial. And again, on a marble tablet near the fountain I read a little paragraph telling how he had wanted a place where tired people could rest, and how he hoped the park would never be used for anything else than a playground for little children and for grown-ups who are always children enough to remember with a sense of loss the pleasures they had when boys and girls.

I asked a gray-coated policeman standing near how the park was maintained, and he looked at me wondering. "Shure," he said, "an' don't ye know that after the council had fired out the old alarm system, bedad they saved so much money they didn't know what to do with it. An' so when Mistor — may his sowr rest in pace, gave 'em this par-rik, shure, an' they decided to kape up the good work and make a joy of beauty and a thing for ever out of it, as Father Mack sez."

And then he went on to tell me how that after the ground had been purchased and the park laid out, the city council had made a right move and appropriated an annual sum to keep the park in good condition and so perpetuate the donor's name and have a beauty spot in the midst of the city's grime and work.

It grew later. The lights in the pavilion went out, the players bunched up their instruments and went home. The people who had been resting, stretched themselves, took in a big breath of the pure air, and gathering their little flocks of children, started homeward. The swans tucked their heads under their wings and went to sleep. The moon rose higher and flooded the little lake with soft light and the only sound was the sweet piping of the crickets and the katydids. The dew began to gather in sparkling drops on the fresh-cut grass, and a sense of the sweetness of the scene stole over me.

I must have dozed and then—I woke. It must have been a chigger that disilluminated me. For I was sitting in the office with cockroaches feeding greedily on my paste. I shut my eyes just a minute to try if I could recall the scene in the park and I succeeded in doing all but the name over the pavilion. Strange that I should forget a public benefactor, but we are always forgetting those who do something for us. I have striven to think even of the first letter, but have failed.

And must it always be in my mind, a mere memory of a dream, a pleasant dream I will admit, but more pleasant, yes, better far if it were realized—my dream of the park That Never Happened, but Ought to Be?

RECRUITING FOR THE NAVY. The Station Has Been Crowded With Applicants for Service

At the recruiting station for the United States navy yesterday and today there has been a crowd of young and old. A majority of the former were there out of simple curiosity or to enlist, while the latter were purely on a trip to see. The office was opened up in charge of Lieut. J. P. Morton, with a corps of assistants.

22 were examined up to closing hour last night, 19 of whom were accepted and three were rejected and six sworn in. Lieutenants Morton explains that applicants and landsmen for training are given a year's training, six months of this in a training school at San Francisco, and the remaining six months at sea. Apprentices are given, in addition to this training, a year's schooling beginning at the point they leave off in the common schools. Machinists, electricians, firemen, carpenters, stehographers, and hospital apprentices and stewards are wanted.

How Sick You Are or How Many Physicians Have Failed to Help You.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy Will Cure You if a Cure is Possible.

Doctors are not infallible and there are many instances where they have decided a case was hopeless and then the patients astonished everyone by getting well and the sole cause of their cure was Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. A case in point is that of James Lettuce of Canajoharie, N. Y., who writes:

"Some years ago I was attacked with pains in my back and side that were fearful in the extreme. I could not control my kidneys at all and what came from them was mucous and blood. I was in a terrible state and suffered intensely. The partner of Dr. Vanderveer of Albany, N. Y., decided that an operation was all that would save me. I dreaded that and commenced to take Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I felt better almost instantly. When I had taken about two bottles, the flow from the bladder was much clearer, the pain stopped, and I was saved from the surgeon's knife and am now well."

Dr. W. H. Morse, the famous physician of Westfield, N. J., has this to say of this great medicine:

"I have known it to cure chronic inflammation of the kidneys, where the attending physician pronounced the case incurable. No form of kidney, liver, bladder or blood disease, or the distressing sicknesses so common to women, can long withstand the great curative power of this famous specific. A small quantity of this wonderful medicine has more curative power than barrels of other remedies," says a prominent New York physician. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere.

COMMITTED SUICIDE WITH MORPHINE

Will Wicks, a Bartender, Took Ten Grains and Died Last Night—A Spree the Reason

Will Wicks, a bartender at Derrick's Saloon on the corner of Calhoun and Twelfth streets, died last night at 11:30 o'clock from an overdose of morphine, at his home at 815 Gay street. He had been drinking heavily for several days and that is the only reason ascribed for the act as his friends know of no other cause that would lead to it. He took ten or twelve grains of the drug about 8 o'clock in the evening. He had lived here for five years past and leaves a wife and his mother and two sisters who made their home with him. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Gause's mortuary parlors.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by N. E. Grammer.

PERUCHI-BELDEN COMPANY AT GREENWALL'S

A Good Presentation of "The Russian Slave By An Able Cast With Clever Vaudeville Between the Acts

Greenwall's opera house opened for the season last night with a presentation of "The Russian Slave," by the Peruchi-Beldeni company. There were very few seats unsold and the balcony was topheavy.

During the time that the theater has been closed for the past summer Manager Greenwall has caused to be placed on all the aisles new carpeting, touched up the painting generally and given the entire interior a thorough renovating. The furniture has been touched up and all in all, the opera house presented a freshly new appearance for the opening performance. It will be remembered that last summer the entire scenery was put in anew, the stage enlarged and the general mechanism and electric effects modernized. All this with the touching up of this summer puts the house in first-class condition for a good, long winter's run.

The Peruchi-Beldeni company are prime favorites here in Fort Worth and that fact was well apparent last night in the large audience that had gathered to greet their return. The play of last evening was later in far away Russia and from start to finish is a series of climaxes well brought up by a capable company, that kept the audience in a continuous uproar of applause. The company is well balanced. Chelso Peruchi was a mighty capable Irishman and he had a good side partner in Rosalie, the bit of a French maid. Frank Fahey has appeared here before and got a good share of last night's applause. He took the part of an irresistible American. Miss Beldeni made a decidedly dignified and well qualified countess. Henry Crosby did the villain in approved manner. Ralph McDonald led the cast of characters as Ivan Khorvich and took care of the part in effective manner. The balance of the company received the general O. K. of the gallery and parquet. Between the acts vaudeville of approved character was rendered, the Carleton sisters taking the lion's share of popularity in some very clever comic impersonations and dancing.

This afternoon "Young Mrs. Winthrop" is being played and tonight "At the Stroke of One" is the bill. The program will be changed nightly and a matinee is billed for every afternoon of the week. The Peruchi-Beldeni company is well worthy of patronage. The small admission price asked is no criterion of the company's merit. The plays to be presented are popular ones, clean and up-to-date.

Friday afternoon and night Richards & Pringle will be at the Greenwall.

DOCKETS SHAPED FOR THE FALL TERM

Judge M. E. Smith in the Seventeenth District Court Disposes of a few Suits — Criminal Cases Set for trial — Commissioners Court in Session

Judge Smith has disposed of the following cases as a starter docketed for his court:

A. H. Smith vs. Brown & Dabney, dismissed.

C. W. Weaver vs. I. W. Smith, dismissed.

Ray Burns vs. R. L. Burns, dismissed.

Martha Wusher vs. George Wusher, dismissed.

M. V. Henderson vs. J. T. Henderson, dismissed.

Calvin Smith et ux. vs. W. L. Fuller et ux., judgment by agreement.

W. N. Gilentine vs. Texas and Pacific railroad company, et al., dismissed.

Judge Smith also heard two other cases on the non-jury docket this morning, and rendered judgment as follows:

Marie Herndon vs. Marcellus Herndon, divorce; asked on plea of neglect and abandonment. Divorce granted.

Calvin Smith et ux. vs. W. L. Fuller et ux., trespass; judgment rendered for plaintiff for per written agreement in the sum of $1039.25 and for foreclosure of lien.

The criminal docket was also taken up in this court and cases set for trial. The commissioner's court is in session this week, and today is engaged in passing upon claims against the county.

No session of the county court was held.

County Attorney Lattimore said today there were about one dozen capital cases on the docket and ready for the grand jury for trial at this term of court, all of which he and his force would bend their energies to bring to trial. Among them are:

Wm. Hendricks, stabbing stepfather two years ago, a case coming over from the Swayne administration.

Milton Young, convicted formerly and given eleven years, for killing Oldfield, at Arlington.

Tom Killgore, a relative of Young, indicted for complicity in Oldfield killing.

Henry Moore, double killing, in which defendant's wife was a victim. John Dunt for killing Wilson at Azle.

Bob Goettsche, for shooting the barkeeper, who afterwards died in Galveston.

William Haley, a youth, criminal assault.

W. I. Mayples, twice convicted of robbery by use of fire arms. M. A. Newman and Robt. Logan, charged with killing O. M. Wartenbee. Arthur Mannings who Sunday night killed Will Blackburn.

The Killing Near Bedford. Sheriff Clark and Justice Terrell were called Sunday night at 10 o'clock to go to a point three miles south of Bedford, where a negro man named Will Blackburn had been killed. They departed in time to reach there at 1 a. m. They found the man shot through the heart.

Soon after their departure for the scene, a negro named Arthur Mannings, came in and gave himself up, saying he did the killing in self-defense, showing a gash on the side of his head and a slash in his hat to corroborate the statement that he had been assaulted. The wound in his head bled profusely. He was locked up.

Sheriff Clark returned yesterday morning, bringing in with him a negro named Mansie Woods, who was with Mannings when the killing occurred. The sheriff thinks Woods knows more about the affair than he has yet given out. It developed that the animosity existing between Mannings and Blackburn was over a girl. It also developed that Mannings and Woods were together Sunday searching for Blackburn. The sheriff and justice suspect complicity in a pre-meditated act. While giving the defendant, Mannings the benefit of the doubt, they think the gash could have been otherwise inflicted, for witnesses testify that no such wound existed when Mannings left the scene.

County Attorney Lattimore agreed upon a $500 bond for Mannings, but he has yet failed to give it, though his father was here and said he could make it.

Beer that causes biliousness is green beer — not aged. It ferments on the stomach. Schlitz beer ferments in our cooling rooms. We age it for months before it goes out to you. No matter how great the demand, Schlitz beer is never sold green. And Schlitz beer is pure—clean, filtered and sterilized; no germs in it. Yet it costs you the same as common beer.

Beware of the Knife

No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In cases of piles for example, it is seldom needed. De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequaled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill. "De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. WATERMELON RIND

Washington Star: No preserve is more delicious than the watermelon rind. It quite equals the citron and is far more economical. Cut the rind in small pieces, trim the upper edge evenly and tear off the outer skin. Then put in a stone jar and to every five pounds add a half cup of salt. Cover with cold water and let stand for five hours, changing the water three times during that period. Dissolve a teaspoonful of powdered alum in two quarts of boiling water, bring to the boiling point and pour over the rind, allowing this quantity for every five pounds of fruit. Let stand for a moment, then drain. Make a syrup by boiling together two and a half pounds of granulated sugar and one quart and one pint of water for

RICHES PLAY LARGE PART IN THE MEMORY OF FRIENDS

How the Thoughtlessness of Girls Often Causes Unpleasant Pain That Could Easily Be Remedied by a Kind Word

"Do you see that young girl there?" asked a real estate man of a Telegram reporter yesterday evening as the two, with other passengers were speeding away toward the South Side on a Belt Line car.

"Yes," replied the reporter, as he glanced at a remarkable pretty girl as she modestly took her seat after having dropped her fare in the box. "What of her?"

"Well," said the first speaker, "A case such as her's appeals to me. She works behind the counter in one of the stores in this city. Her father was once rich. The girl was sent to one of the fashionable schools East, where she met other daughters of wealthy parents. Her home was always open and her parents were prodigal in their hospitality. They lived in Eastern Texas. At those days the girl had scores of friends. But her father, always extravagant and reckless, failed in business and never again got a footing. The girl gave up her music masters and music, also her luxuries. Servants were dismissed, the home sold and the family, growing poorer and poorer, moved to another town. There both parents died after a long and expensive illness, and this girl found employment at a salary which barely enabled her to exist. Through the influence of an acquaintance here she secured a place in a Fort Worth business house, and I am told is now commanding a living salary. I say that a case like her's appeals to me, and her's especially. In the town in which she was employed before coming to Fort Worth one day a former schoolmate of her's shopping in the store, happened to see the girl. Walking boldly up to this girl she kissed her warmly on both cheeks, just as she had done when the girl's father was rich. Immediately this poor girl placed her hands upon her face hiding her eyes, and commenced to sob. 'Of all the girls I used to know, who have seen me here,' she said, 'you are the only one who has kissed me and whose manner has not betrayed an indifference. Some of them pretend not to see me, others barely notice me, and others still talk to me in a patronizing manner, and have sometimes offered me money as they would offer it to a beggar. I would rather die than take it from them.'

Continuing his remarks her friend said: "In her poverty this gentle girl has learned much about human nature, much that has made her sad and much that has cheered and comforted her. She has found true charity and kindness among her fellow workers and a few of her old friends—a very few—have not changed in their manner towards her. But she says this: 'The giving of money is the easiest and commonest form of charity. A kind word, a smile, a little unaffected attention are infinitely rarer and better alms than dollars.'

"It must be admitted, to the shame of men and women, that the experience of this girl is not unusual. "Charity of the mind is finer and rarer than charity of the pocket. Men who would not refuse a dime to a professional beggar will give ready ear and credulity to a scandalous story about a friend. Women who busy themselves in works of philanthropy and organized charity will gossip cruelly about other women. They will meet in sewing clubs to make flannel under shirts for the heathen in tropical lands and over the needle will murder a reputation at every breath. "The law presumes an accused person innocent until he is proven guilty, but society always accepts a slant, with greater faith and alacrity than it accepts the gospel. And when a family loses their money they soon drop out of the minds of their friends. "Cultivate charity of mind. Never spread gossip or make uncharitable remarks. Speak kindly even of those who have done wrong. Be kind to the poor, not only by giving them money, but by treating them with respect and courtesy. It is no charity to throw a dollar at a poor man as you would throw a bone to a dog. He may pick it up for the sake of his needy family, but he will be justified in hating you. When you do it in a patronizing or ostentatious manner you are not of the true gentility, but are a parasite. "Just as the speaker uttered the last word of the closing sentence the girl pulled the bell, the car came to a stop and she alighted, smiling pleasantly in recognition of his salute, little dreaming that she had been the subject of his entire conversation.

CITY MARKETS

During the last two or three days the meat market has made an advance of about thirty points, with indications that it will be still stronger. The constant fluctuations leave the local quotations as today reported. On account of the extreme scarcity of yellow clarified sugar the price has reached the plane of granulated, a thing unprecedented in sugar trade. Almost none is to be had from Louisiana and a dearth is threatened. In fruit market grapes are selling freely at unchanged prices. Receipts of peaches very light and of poor quality. California plums in demand at prices quoted. Eggs continue scarce; receipts of butter sufficient to supply demand. Hens and fryers firm at quotations and scarce. Vegetables same as reported yesterday. Prices remain same in grain and hay market.

WOULD BE ALL RIGHT IF HE HAD A CHANCE

New York, Sept. 9.—One of the most constant questions in Paris, is what the King of Spain is doing, how is he developing and what impression is he making on his country?

A gentleman who has lived many years in Madrid and to whose interest it is to watch the development of matters in Spain, says: "The young king is earning large popularity. If left alone he would be more popular still. Left to his own way he loves to go out everywhere, to talk to the people and hear what they have to say. There is no country more democratic than Spain, and a king to be popular must mix with the people."

"The young king is full of dignity. While he thus loves to mix with the people to try to understand and make friends with them, he never for one moment loses sight and sense of his position and what is due to himself."

"But he is very often surrounded by old generals, men who do not go with the times and do not understand the needs of the country. He has plenty of character and lots of good wise energy—rare qualities in Spain."

J. P. Reid To Enter St. Louis Airship Competition

World's Fair, St. Louis, Sept. 9.—J. P. Reid, an inventor of Elizabeth, N. J., has completed an airship which has been placed on exhibition in that city. His flying machine is 15 feet long. It carries two aeroplanes, having a surface of 200 square feet. The weight of the machine is twenty-three pounds, and it is intended to carry a weight of ten pounds and fly over a mile course. It is worked by four vacuum tubes, and by a steam turbine, which furnishes power to a two-blade propeller. Its owner intends to put it on exhibition at the World's Fair in St. Louis in 1904, and will enter it in the class to compete for the $2500 prize. This class includes all airships not carrying an operator.

(Special to the Telegram) Cleburne, Tex., Sept. 8.—The congressional convention Saturday determined by resolution that the primaries in the election of 1904 shall be held uniformly throughout the district and fixed July 7 as the date for holding.

This is the date of primaries for state offices. The resolution provides that each county give instruction for a candidate and does not contemplate the election shall be in any sense a "blanket" affair.

Another provision is that none but white Democrats shall participate.

Will the Republic of Cuba Survive?

By CHARLES M. PEPPER

THE proprietor of The Christian Herald asks me to answer the question for the benefit of your readers. It is a live question, and one that means much both to the Cuban people and to the American people. A distinguished statesman, who has had a great deal to do in the National legislation fixing the standing of Cuba, recently wrote me that he hoped above all things the Republic of Cuba would survive, because the need of the United States is a friendly, independent government in Cuba. I think that is the idea which President Roosevelt and his advisers also hold.

Now, the Cuban Republic is beset with trouble. They are having hard times in the island, such as were experienced in the United States a few years ago. The sugar industry the world over is dull, and since Cuba's chief product is sugar, the dullness is just as it would be felt in the United States. There were a poor market for corn and wheat, and the cost of raising these crops to the farmer was more than was received for them. Sugar, at this time in Cuba, is being raised at a loss, because of the failure of the United States Congress to enact reciprocity legislation. That is, to admit Cuban sugar into the American markets at a reduced duty.

The humorous philosopher, Mr. Dooley, sometimes gives his views on things which are in the public mind. A few months ago he wrote these apt words: "Hunger is the same in a Republic as in a despotism." The moral was, that the masses of the people in Cuba were not much better off under the Republic than under the Spanish rule, if they could not get enough to eat. The Cubans underwent starvation in order that they might have their Republic.

A few months ago it was the fear of many friends of the Cuban government, that with so many plantation hands out of work there would be riots and disorder, which might threaten the government itself and cause the United States to intervene a second time. That fear is past. The people, in spite of their distress, have kept peaceful and patient. Hard times are still ahead of them, yet the worst has been endured. In the fall there is bound to be some work in the sugar cane industry, because the plantations must be kept going, even at a loss.

But there is hope now that this season the crop will not be a loss. Under the pressure of public opinion, the American Congress is almost sure to grant the lower rates of duties for Cuban sugar and other products, which it refused in the spring. Then, also, the results of the Brussels International Conference which agreed to doing away with the heavy bounties paid

President Palma was inflexibly opposed to this scheme, and would veto it if a bill should be passed by the Cuban Congress. Knowing the feeling of the president, the promoters of the lottery scheme have not been able to make headway.

The brutal bull fights, which were common under Spanish rule, were abolished by the American military authorities. Efforts have been made to restore them, but Cuban public sentiment says "no."

Yet they have politicians in Cuba who are selfish, thinking only of themselves, and caring little for the public good. The same is true of the United States. On the whole, there is as much patriotism among the Cuban public men as among our own.

The Cuban Congress is formed almost exactly after the model of the Congress of the United States. It has about the same powers. There is a House of Representatives and a Senate. No law can be enacted without the sanction of both bodies. Some propositions which, to us seem very foolish, have been introduced in the Cuban Congress, but simply introducing them does not make them laws.

The chief drawback is the lack of experience. It debates a great deal and many fine speeches are made, but fine speeches in themselves do not keep the wheels of government in motion, or insure the enactment of measures beneficial to the public. But this lack of experience on the part of the Cuban Congress is in a fair way to be cured, in the only way that is possible, which is by the actual exercise of the legislative function. Experience can only come from practice, and the Cuban Congress is having a chance to practice.

From the above statements, it may be gathered that my own opinion leans to the belief that the Cuban Republic will survive. I certainly believe it will survive long enough to satisfy the mass of the Cuban people in their aspirations for independence.

There are some factions for the future which are yet to be taken into account. The leaven of Americanism is going to help the Cuban people, because a sturdy American element will find opportunities in the island.

Take a dose of PRICKLY ASH BITTERS at night when you go to bed and you will feel bright and vigorous next morning. It will insure you a copious and healthy passage of the bowels, improved appetite and digestion and increased energy of body and brain.

It beats stimulating drinks because its relative influence is natural, hence permanent.

Interest is now centered in the visit of Colonel Rambush of Copenhagen who has arrived at the Island of St. Thomas in the Danish West Indies, to prevent the sale of the islands to the United States. The treaty for the sale of the Danish West Indies was signed in Washington in January. The purchase of the islands would give the United States the key to the Caribbean Sea and the command of the approach to the Nicaraguan canal. It is believed that the price for which the islands can be gotten is $4,500,000. The above cut is a view of the Harbor of Charlotte Amalia on the island of St. Thomas. It is believed that this harbor will be fortified if the purchase by European countries for the production of beet root, within another year will begin to benefit Cuba. Like all cane producing countries, it has suffered from the heavy bounties paid to beet sugar.

These are what are called material questions, but material questions have a good deal to do with the success of any government or administration. If, at the very beginning of its life, the Cuban government works its way through a hard times period, most folks will agree that the prospects for a longer existence are very good.

In any country we judge something of its government from the men who are honored with public positions. If they are good men, we think well of that government. No one doubts that the schoolmaster president of Cuba, Tomas Estrada Palma, is a good man and a strong one, too. The pastor and his other neighbors at Central Valley, New York, where seventeen years ago his life was passed as the head of a school for Chinese youth, in the far west address which they made to him, showed their own deep, earnest sense of his worth and the value of his work for the one purpose of seeing his
