NO RECOGNITION FOR THE UNION

MINE OWNERS FILE THEIR REPLIES TO MITCHELL

WON'T BUDGE ON THIS POINT

It Is Evident That Any Recognition of the Union Will Be Fought to the Last Ditch Before the Commission and That the Operators Will Yield All Else Before This

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—That the anthracite coal mine owners will resist to the utmost every effort to make the recognition of the United Mine Workers an issue in the arbitration which is now in progress is made evident by the replies to the statement of President John Mitchell which has been filed with the commission.

There are five of those answers in addition to that of President Baer, which was given out today and they deal with special emphasis and marked unanimity on this point. They also agree in resisting the demands of the miners and increase of pay for piece work, a reduction of hours for time work, and for weighing rather than the measurement of coal.

The journey to the hunting camp will be made over the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad. The exact destination of the president will be kept secret. It is understood that one of the best packs of hounds in the South has been secured.

MISS CLEVELAND IS NOW A FARMER

Once the "First Lady of the Land," She Now Successfully Raises Oats, Buckwheat and Corn

(Special to The Telegram.) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, youngest sister of ex-President Cleveland, who, during his first term, was the "first lady of the land," has become a farmer. Miss Cleveland's farm is on a wild and beautiful 700-acre island in Penobscot sound, off the coast of Maine.

During the season just passed she harvested ten acres of oats and several acres of buckwheat and corn. Another portion of her farm, which consists of about 200 acres, was devoted to the cultivation of hay. She has two draft horses, a yoke of oxen, two cows and a pony. Her partner in the enterprise is Miss Evelyn Ames, eldest daughter of the late ex-Governor Ames of Massachusetts, who is one of the most prominent and gifted women in Boston society.

Miss Cleveland and Miss Ames together own at present about a sixth of the island. Others, friends of theirs, own about a third more. The scheme of improvement of which Miss Cleveland is the chief promoter, includes the entire half, and the plan is to secure by degrees the other half and convert the island into a single plantation to be owned by a little group of intimate friends. By this means there will be gathered together an exclusive summer colony which will be practically secure against invasion by the pleasure-hunting public.

RICE WILL CASE AGAIN COMES UP

FURTHER LITIGATION LIKELY TO DISPOSE OF MILLIONS

HEIRS PROSECUTE CLAIMS

W. M. Rice Was Murdered by A. T. Patrick, Now Sentenced to Death, Leaving Millions—His Wife Had Died Previously at Houston, Texas, and It Is Her Heirs That Are Now Making Trouble

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Complications have arisen relative to the estate of Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin Rice, who was the wife of William March Rice, Albert T. Patrick is now under sentence of death in Sing Sing, having been found guilty of causing the death of the latter. Both estates are likely to be involved in further litigation in the surrogate court of this county.

Some of the legatees under her will in the name of Adele Baldwin of Baldwinville, N. Y., whose bequest is $25,000, claim they have not yet been paid and have letters of administration taken out in this city where such steps may be taken to prosecute a claim against the estate of Mr. Rice. The case will come before Surrogate Fitzgerald next month.

Mrs. Rice died on January 27, 1897, at Houston, Tex. By the will she made bequests aggregating $750,000 to various friends and relatives. Mr. Rice contested the probate of the will in Houston, Texas, claiming that his wife was not competent at the time of its execution, but the paper nevertheless was admitted to probate. Adele Baldwin is a cousin of Mrs. Rice. She and other legatees claim they have not been paid their bequests under the will. If the executor of the will does not qualify here she will make a motion to Surrogate Fitzgerald that she be appointed administratrix. Mrs. Rice's estate in this state consists of personal property—namely, a claim for about $1,000,000 against the estate of her deceased husband.

Mr. Rice died in September, 1900, and his millions are the subject of controversy still.

A TICKET NAMED FOR NORTH SIDE

NEWLY INCORPORATED TOWN CANDIDATES

James Farmer is Named for First Mayor of North Fort Worth—Five Names for Council Members—W. H. Sprinkle for City Marshal

ANNOUNCEMENTS

For offices for the town of North Fort Worth, election to be held Saturday, December 6, 1902.

FOR MAYOR

James D. Farmer

FOR ALDERMEN

John McCarty
B. C. Smith
John Grant
J. J. Lydon
S. D. Shannon

FOR MARSHAL

W. H. Sprinkle

That North Fort Worth is going to be the proud child of a still prouder father is made abundantly manifest in the fact that it intends to do things right immediately from the start.

Yesterday an election was held within the confines of our northern neighbor for the purpose of deciding upon the question of incorporation.

As every one knows there was no opposition to the first step of the new town into babyhood. But now note the evidences of almost immediate maturity in the launching of a ticket of men who would be the first officers of this coming great city.

And it's a good ticket, too. One that, if elected, will give to North Fort Worth a good start in life. And a good start for a town, like the right kind of a start in life for a man, means everything in the future.

One has only to take a glance at the list of men who have been announced for the important role of officers of a newly organized town to give prompt verification to the statements of The Telegram. It would be a pretty hard task to get together a list of names better than that proposed in the announcements made in the foregoing.

The Candidates

James D. Farmer would make a good mayor for North Fort Worth. Some 44 years have been his lot to life thus far and they rest easy on his brow. He has been identified with the interests of the North Side for something over ten years and has an honorable career to point to.

John McCarty, aged 49, is a railroad conductor on the Cotton Belt and has friends by the score who would be glad to hear that he had been elected to the councilship of the new town. Mr. McCarty has lived on the North Side for 12 years and has ideas of what would make good city government. He owns his own property over there and has an interest in the new town that will be similar to all of his colleagues.

John Grant is also out for a position in the city council. He is somewhat younger than his friend Mr. McCarty, but he is long headed just the same. He is a Tarrant county product and has been in the commission business for something over three years.

J. J. Lydon has put in about as many years on the North Side as any one else that could be mentioned. He has seen it grow from nothing at all to the present day, a day that has to be the most auspicious future, a future that can not be discounted by any town in the great Southwest. Mr. Lydon is 42 years of age and is known to almost every one on the North Side. His position is that of joint car inspector, and as a city alderman he would sure be all right.

S. D. Shannon is one of the business men of North Fort Worth. He is in the general dry goods business and has been a resident of the North Side for almost a decade, and would grace any legislative body with his presence.

B. C. Smith, who has had some odd 46 years' experience in life, is another candidate for the council. He has been closely identified with the growth and welfare of the North Side and if elected would help to give to North Fort Worth a good city government.

For city marshal the name of W. H. Sprinkle has been brought forward. Mr. Sprinkle has been, for some little time, superintendent of the cemetery and is well known throughout Fort Worth. He is 55 years of age and has made the North Side his home for something over eight years. As city marshal he would show the tougher element a thing or two and the peaceableness of North Fort Worth would be in good hands if W. H. Sprinkle's name were to adorn the city marshal's sign.

Some Opinions

The above named candidates having handed their names to The Telegram for announcement a reporter for the paper called on a number of people connected with the new industries of North Fort Worth and asked their views concerning the above candidates.

O. W. Matthews, secretary and treasurer of the Fort Worth Stock Yards company, in reference to the above announced candidates, said:

"I am personally acquainted with all the above candidates that you have announced, and I can safely say on behalf of the Fort Worth Stock Yards, that we feel that if the above gentlemen are elected that the town of North Fort Worth will have an honorable, intelligent, fair dealing city council, and I shall personally support the above named gentlemen for the re-

INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS HERE

LARGE PARTY VISITS THE CITY TODAY ON ROAD'S BUSINESS

INSPECTING THE NEW LINE

General Manager Trice Makes Trip Over Newly-Built Track Running South of the City—Four Miles Yet to Be Built—Arrangements for Entering Union Station.

The largest party of International and Great Northern officials ever in the city at one time since work on the line between here and Waco was commenced arrived this morning over the Texas and Pacific in General Manager Leroy Trice's private car "Palestine."

The party included Leroy Trice, vice-president and general manager; Judge Steadman, general attorney; Chief Engineer Trammell, W. L. Maury, auditor; A. L. Bowers, superintendent of construction; J. W. Cunningham, land and tax commissioner; G. H. Turner, general freight agent.

It can be stated that the I. and G. N. trains will use the Texas and Pacific station as soon as they begin running between here and Waco and that tickets will be sold in the T. and P. office. Another matter not definitely announced before is that train orders and messages for the road will be handled through the T. and P. telegraph office here. There will be no repair shops here.

The location of the chief dispatcher's office will be at Mart, a small station in McClennan county. The company is also building large division machine and repair shops there, which will be the principal shops on the entire road.

Messrs. Maury and Steadman returned to Dallas this morning, but the other members of the party spent the day in the city. This afternoon the Palestine was taken out over the newly completed line of the I. and G. N. so far as it runs from the city. There is yet about four miles of track to be built between the two ends of the line, and when this will be finished cannot be definitely stated.

Mr. Trice will return to Palestine as soon as he reaches this city, after his inspection trip over the new line.

THE ARION SOCIETY MAKES BIG HIT

Their First Concert of the Season Enjoyed by Large Audience—At the Christian Tabernacle Last Night.

The first concert of the Arion Singing society, with Arthur Van Eweyk as baritone soloist, was given last night at the Christian Tabernacle. The house was well filled with an appreciative audience.

The Arions have improved wonderfully since last season in volume and precision under the direction of Mr. Bauer and by the end of the present season no doubt the progress will be much more marked.

In the "Yearning," by Nevin, the ensemble was extremely good, which showed careful training. In the (a) and (b) numbers of Hawley and Nevin, correct intonation was lacking, which was possibly due to the rapid tempo. The Bedouin song, by Arthur Foote, was by far the best of their numbers on the program, which showed that the attention of the chorus was with the conductor, therefore was given in a masterly style.

Arthur Van Eweyk is an artist of the first class. He opened the program with "Edward," by Carl Loewe, and by request sang "Honor and Arms," and requested sang "Honor and Arms," which showed at once the capability of an artist. His attack and precision at once predominated and the interpretation was purely Haendel which is quite contrary to usual style in which this masterpiece is given. He is an artist of considerable versatility, singing Shumann, Hoendel, Nevin and Hawley with ease both from the German and the English. The "Two Grenadiers," by Schumann given as an encore to his last group of songs was sung only as it could be given by an artist.

Messrs. Allgeyer and Bauer were the accompanists. The Arions deserve great credit for the first concert and may the others prove to be as artistic and uplifting.

"MOTHER KATHERINE" DREXEL BUILDS MISSIONS

MILLIONS FOR THE INDIANS

Member of Rich Philadelphia Family Spending Her Time and Money in Uplifting the Red Man—Many Mission Schools Built in Oklahoma and the Territory

GUTHRIE, Okla., Nov. 12.—Many of the Indian mission schools of Oklahoma and Indian Territory have been started and maintained by Miss Kate Drexel of Philadelphia, the sister of John Drexel, the present head of the famous banking house of that name. Since 1889 she has taken "Mother Katherine" Drexel, having taken the veil in that year that she might the more easily devote her time and money to the uplifting of the Indian. She has been in Oklahoma during the past two weeks, visiting the Indian missions, taking much interest in the work being done in each. She spent several days in Guthrie, the guest of the Rt. Rev. Theodore Meerschaert, bishop of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, with whom she conferred relative to her schools.

At Chillico, where the most important Indian school in the southwest is located, she visited last week. This school was first started by her and afterward taken hold of by the government, which saw in it the nucleus for an excellent industrial institution for Indians. There are now 500 Indian students at Chillico.

Near Pawhuska, in the Osage Reservation, she built the St. Louis and the St. John schools, both flourishing institutions. The buildings are very handsome and the commodious structures, planned personally by Mother Katherine and several others of similar pattern she has started in the Cherokee and Creek nations in Indian Territory.

At Sacred Heart, the oldest institution of learning west of the Mississippi river, she has done much to build up the school since its partial destruction by fire two years ago. Its head is the Rt. Rev. Felix De Grasse, a direct descendant from the French admiral who gave the United States such great assistance during the Revolutionary war.

Goes to Arizona On this western trip Mother Katherine is accompanied by her sister, Miss Josephine Drexel of Philadelphia, who is greatly interested in the schools being, maintained by the Drexel money. From Oklahoma and Indian Territory, Mother Katherine goes to Arizona, where she is to build a mission school for the Navajo Indians, the first attempt to bring religious teachings into this tribe. This building will cost $50,000, and the brick from the construction must be freighted from Western Kansas, across barren plains to the reservation inhabited by this populous tribe. The undertaking is very difficult in many ways, but to Mother Katherine is due the honor of being the first to teach the Navajoes Christianity.

The Drexels approve of the course followed by Mother Katherine, and take a great interest in her work. The greater portion of her 40 years has been spent in studying the Indian problem, until today she is considered the best authority on that subject in America. She has expended millions in this manner, it representing only the interest on her money, and every cent is expended under the direction of the interior department. She looks with much pride upon the progress made by her schools in Oklahoma, and says she feels amply repaid for her work in teaching and uplifting the Indian youth.

Denies That the Earnings of Anthracite Workers Are Less Than the Average Earnings for Other Occupations Requiring Skill and Training—In Short Mr. Baer Denies Everything

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 12.—The reply of President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company to the charges of President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, which has been presented to the anthracite coal strike commission, was given to the public.

The demand for 20 per cent increase in wages on piece work is denounced as "arbitrary, unreasonable and unjust." The company contends that after making all necessary allowance for different conditions that the rate of wages paid for the mining of anthracite coal is as high as that paid in the bituminous coal fields.

The company denies that the present scale of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations in the same locality and controlled by like conditions.

Mr. Baer denies that the earnings of the anthracite workers are less than average earnings for other occupations requiring skill and training.

HOW MOLINEUX TOOK THE NEWS

CALM AND CONFIDENT WHEN VERDICT WAS GIVEN

JURY OUT ONLY 13 MINUTES

The Decision Was Greeted With Applause—The Defendant's Father Wrote: "The Struggle is Over, the Battle Won; and Might Has Lost, But Right Has Won"

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 12.—Roland B. Molineux was set at liberty Tuesday after spending nearly four years in prison and being once condemned to death and twice placed on trial for his life for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams.

But 13 minutes sufficed for the jury to reach a verdict of acquittal at the close of a trial that has lasted four weeks, the first trial, which resulted in Molineux's conviction and sentence, having been prolonged for about three months.

The verdict, which was confidently anticipated, was greeted with an instantly suppressed outbreak of applause. Justice Lambert having delivered a stern admonition that no demonstration would be permitted.

Molineux, who was brought into court as soon as it was known the jury had agreed was as apparently as unconcerned of motion when the verdict was read as when he was brought in as unconcerned of emotion when the words that established his innocence were pronounced.

His aged father, General Molineux, was deeply affected and could with difficulty respond to the greetings of friends who pressed forward to offer their congratulations.

It was just 13 minutes after the jury retired when word was brought to the court room that a verdict had been reached. Court officers shouted for order and a hurry call was sent for Judge Lambert, who was not to be found in his chamber. It was 3:28 when the notice was received and it was 3:45 when Justice Lambert took his seat. Molineux, who had been brought into court on the first notice from the jury, was calm and confident as ever. Bartow S. Weeks of his counsel leaned across the rail and whispered to him, "It's all right. The time tells us that."

"I never doubted it," Molineux replied. The old general was far more agitated than his son and it was evident that the suspense was very hard upon him.

"Not guilty," said the foreman in reply to the formal inquiry, and Molineux, who had been standing to receive the verdict, sank back in his chair.

There was a burst of applause, but it was speedily quelled by the court officers. Justice Lambert ordered the court cleared and told the jurors to remain in their seats until it was cleared. Then after counsel for both sides had congratulated each other and the jury and had thanked the court, Justice Lambert ordered the formal discharge of Molineux. A crowd of at least 1000 followed cheering for General Molineux and his son as they left the court room with Messrs. Odell and Weeks. Former Governor Black who reached the sidewalk some five minutes later received an even greater ovation than had greeted Molineux. General Molineux, when asked for an expression of opinion on the verdict, wrote and signed for his reporter friends the following: "The struggle is over, the battle done. And might has lost, but right has won."

WAGES OF TRAINMEN AMICABLY ADJUSTED

Controversy of Chicago Switchmen That Threatened a General Tie Up Is at An End

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The wage controversy between the railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen which, for a time, threatened to tie up all the principal switching terminals in Chicago, was amicably adjusted Tuesday night at a conference between railroad managers and officials of the brotherhood. The settlement was reached on the basis of a compromise. Seventeen of the railroads signed the new agreement and the Santa Fe, the other road involved, will sign at once. The men will receive an increase of about 12 per cent. In their demands the men asked for an increase of 5 cents an hour, the railroads offered to compromise with an increase of 2 1/2 cents an hour to helpers and 3 cents to foremen. This was refused. At this meeting the railroads submitted a proposition offering an increase of 3 cents an hour to helpers and 4 cents to foremen. After several hours' deliberation the proposition was accepted by the men.

OCULIST KILLED BY A POLICEMAN

THEN THE ASSAILANT TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

MALTREATMENT THE EXCUSE

The Ex-Policeman Had Asserted That the Eye Doctor Had Caused His Brother to Lose His Sight, and the Killing Followed As Retribution

(By Associated Press.)

Kansas City, Nov. 12.—Dr. W. H. Kimberlin, a pioneer citizen and a prominent oculist, was shot and killed in his office in this city Tuesday afternoon by John S. Scanlon, formerly policeman, who then shot and killed himself in the doctor's office. Dr. Kimberlin was shot three times and both must have died almost instantly. Scanlon, who is a brother of a prominent local politician, asserted, it is said that Kimberlin had caused him to lose his eyesight.

"Notify my brother at the city hall; I did this because he destroyed my eyesight."

Scanlon had been receiving treatment from Dr. Kimberlin for about two weeks. He entered the physician's office unseen and it is not known how long he had been there. Another patient who was waiting in an outside office said:

"I heard Scanlon go into the doctor's private office and I heard he and the doctor talking. There was no quarrel or loud words until Dr. Kimberlin cried out:

"Oh, don't John." The shots followed immediately. A bullet came through the wall and passed over the chair from which I had jumped when the shooting began.

The first person to enter the room was Dr. Kimberlin's son, also a physician who is proprietor of a drug store situated on the ground floor of the building. Both men lay on the floor covered with blood and dead. Scanlon had shot himself through the temple, the bullet tearing away the upper part of his face.

Dr. Kimberlin was 58 years of age and had practiced in Kansas City for the past 30 years. Scanlon was 37 years old and single. He lived formerly at Breckenridge, Mo. He had worked as fireman on the Burlington railroad and later as patrolman on the Kansas City police force.

A SOURCE OF SURPRISE

To Physician and Patient Alike Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the new discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine or similar poison could be detected.

Physicians look with great favor upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations and because it is so simple, so easily applied, and contains no mineral or other poisons so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Esterbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation.

Mr. J. W. Rollins, of Sweet Springs, Mo., writes: I consider the Pyramid Pile Cure without an equal; it cured me in less than 30 days. I waited 15 days or more to be sure I was fully cured before writing you; I can now say I am cured and I shall recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure at every possible opportunity because it deserves it. The popularity of this remedy is such that all druggists now sell it at fifty cents a package, and its sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on cause and cure of piles.

MISS JULIA BRITTON A Young Society Lady of Augusta, Georgia.

1515 Eates Street, Augusta, Ga., May 16, 1902.

I TAKE pleasure in joining the large number of testators who have been cured through the use of Wine of Cardui. It is certainly a very remarkable curative agent, and while it is pleasant to take and mild in action it is very strong and positive in curative ability. Since early womanhood I suffered from extreme nervousness and seemed unusually sensitive to climatic changes. A slight cold or too great heat would upset me and headache and general indisposition would result. My stomach was easily upset and I would frequently have heartburn, sour stomach, and the heavy feeling you experience when you have indigestion. I was also irregular and had severe monthly pains, all of which showed me that I was entirely out of harmony with health. I naturally desired a change and doctor for several months, hoping for better health. I was however disappointed to find that the medicine afforded me no relief. I noticed your ad in the street car and I bought a bottle of Wine of Cardui on my way home and great was my joy to find that within a few days it brought me great relief. My food seemed to digest without trouble, and the headache soon disappeared altogether. I kept using it until I had taken five bottles and felt that I had never invested any money in my life which brought such great returns. Within two months I was like a changed woman. My aches and pains disappeared as if by magic and new life and activity seemed to course through my veins. I began to enjoy out door life, long walks and exercise as never before. It is indeed gratifying to experience such a remarkable change in body and mind which perfect health brings, and believing that your medicine is well worthy of full confidence and endorsement I am glad to give it both.

Julia Britton

Young women cannot too carefully guard the monthly function. Women as a rule look upon this great function of nature as a trouble instead of a blessing. They seldom consider that it relieves the body of poisonous wastes and that a suppressed or scanty flow is invariably a forerunner of sickness. Because Wine of Cardui perfectly regulates the monthly function hundreds of thousands of women owe their lives to it. Wine of Cardui as a regulator of the monthly function not only purifies the blood but it relieves weak and nervous women of troubles which doctors not only did not cure but do not often diagnose correctly. In thousands of cases of so-called "debility," "nervousness" and "tired, worn out feeling" Wine of Cardui by regulating the menstrual flow, has proven the remedy that was needed. If your doctor is doing you no good, secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui and take it in your home. It will cure you but you will only be one woman among thousands with the same experience. Remember Wine of Cardui cured Miss Britton. Accept no other medicine as a substitute. Give Wine of Cardui a fair trial and health will be yours.

THE MIND OUGHT TO BE CENTERED

BISHOP COLEMAN DISCUSSES SUBJECT OF PRAYER

AIDS IN OUR DEVOTIONS

A Fixed Time and Place for Supplication is Essential to Securing the Greatest Value From the Exercise—Continuing in Spite of Indifference.

In many respects unique was the "mediation" conducted by Bishop Coleman of Delaware at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Andrew's parish house on the subject "Prayer."

Most applicable among the bishop's remarks regarding prayer were his suggestions regarding centering one's thoughts while engaged in the act of worship. He impressed upon his hearers the necessity of keeping the thoughts from wandering during prayer, and said that a great help is to have a particular place in which to say one's prayers.

He advised that when one had said his or her prayers and feels that the mind had wandered during the act, he thought it is best to continue repeating the prayer and to remain in a kneeling position until the mind finally becomes centered on the words spoken.

Bishop Coleman urged the necessity of having a set time and place for private devotions just as a set time and place is had for public worship. He said that it is of great importance to avoid selfishness in prayer and that we must think of others and not of ourselves only.

On the subject of coldness and indifference, he related that many had come to him at different times saying that they knew they were aware of indifference while saying their prayers. His advice to them always was to continue their supplications. Even the prostration of the body, he said, is an act of worship and God never suffers us to make an effort without blessing that effort. The great thing is to pray and to continue to pray, said the bishop, and further, we can never expect to become conscious of a dependence on God by ceasing our devotions.

Spoke at High School Bishop Coleman, in company with Superintendent Hogg and the rector of the parish, visited the High school yesterday, where he was introduced to about 500 pupils in the chapel by Principal Williams. His subject was "Thoroughness as Opposed to Mere Smattering." He insisted on the need of learning things thoroughly and recommended to the pupils as a motto, "Multum non Multa," explaining that it is much better to know much about a few things than little about a great many things.

At the close of his address, he was heartily applauded and Principal Williams expressed the wish that he might visit the school again before leaving the city.

Coming Services Services at St. Andrew's Parish house today consisted of early celebration at 7 o'clock, second celebration at 9:30 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock as heretofore, and children's service at 4 o'clock with the regular service at 8 o'clock in the evening. Friday night he will speak on "Temperance from the Church's Standpoint." Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock Bishop Coleman has consented to give an hour especially for women, similar to that given last Sunday. The service is given at the request of a number of ladies who attended the former service.

JUST A WORD'S DIFFERENCE

Announcement Should Have Read "Delegate," Not "Membership" An error was made in the announcement that "Membership" badges would entitle Daughters of the Confederacy to free dinner at the Christian Tabernacle during the state meeting next month. It should have read "Delegate" badges. The same applies to courtesies extended by the street railway company. The local chapter foots the bill for the free dinners, and only visiting delegations will be permitted to enjoy the privilege free of charge. These dinners will be served to the public as well, but the public will be required to pay a small fee in order to assist the local chapter in this commendable undertaking.

Carroll carries messages when he isn't busy at other work and on this occasion while engaged at running with a hurry-up telegram, he made a find.

It was a lady's pocketbook containing $40, and he found it near the Farmers and Mechanics bank.

"Hully gee," he thought: "I'll get to the opry, an' Princess Chic, an' de Strollers and Faust an' de whole blam'd collection. Talk about luck." But he went inside the bank and asked Cashier Smith if anyone had lost the pocketbook or had inquired for one there. He left the purse with the cashier and was in the act of leaving when Mr. Smith called him back with, "Here's the lady who lost it."

Carroll came cautiously. "What a good boy," said the lady, calmly, "and then," adds Carroll when telling the story, "I butted out."

"Naw, she didn't give me nothin'. I might ha' kept the whole thing and nobody would ha' known it. She didn't even say, "thank you."

"Once I found five dollars and the fellow gave me half of it"—and then Carroll breaks off disgustedly and walks away whistling, "Her Smile Was Worth a Mint to Me."

NORTH FORT WORTH TO HAVE A DAILY

North Fort Worth is to have a daily paper—The Daily Live Stock Reporter. As an evidence of this, yesterday there was filed in the proper department at Austin, the following charter: "The Reporter Publishing company of Fort Worth, capital stock $10,000. Purpose to do a general printing and publishing business. The incorporators are J. B. Buchanan, P. L. Crosby and Clarence E. Lee."

One of the incorporators said this morning that the first issue would appear in about two weeks. For the present the Reporter will be published in Fort Worth, and will be a six-column folio. Later, the paper will be printed in the packing house district. It will be the aim to make of it an official paper for the live stock interests, similar to the National Live Stock Reporter at East St. Louis and the Drovers' Journal at Chicago. The incorporators are all well-known newspaper workers: C. and for Fort Worth. While it is not so announced, and the assertion is not made upon authority, it is understood that Clarence E. Lee, until recently editor of The Morning Register, will be editor of The Reporter.

There was only one opposing vote, and the North Siders say they propose to have a picture of the man who cast this one vote, and frame it.

There was nothing like a full vote cast. The territory includes the packing houses, stockyards, oil mill and elevator districts, and it is said there are between 2,000 and 2,500 people living therein. However, a great majority of these people have not resided in the district a sufficient length of time to entitle them to a vote.

The election was held by S. D. Shannon, presiding judge, assisted by M. H. Moore, Cal. Smith and a Mr. Mulholland.

So now, or soon will be, two towns to pull for—Greater Fort Worth in the foreground.

METEORIC SHOWERS THIS WEEK

(BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.) (Special to The Telegram.) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—There is a possibility that a shower of the Leonid meteors may occur at the end of the present week. If they come they will probably be seen on Friday or Saturday night. Most astronomers think that the chances now are that we shall never see the Leonids again in such immense numbers as they displayed in 1833 and 1866. Their failure to return when due in 1899, followed by their continued absence in the two succeeding years, seems to establish the truth of Dr. Johnstone Stoney's theory that the great swarm has been drawn out of its course by the attraction of Jupiter and Saturn, so that it no longer intersects the orbit of the earth. But there is reason to think that the Leonids are not all comprised in a single swarm. The probability is that there are several bands of them traveling in more or less parallel orbits, and the chance exists that one of these wandering hordes may be encountered by the earth this week.

BIG MAJORITY FOR INCORPORATION

NORTH FORT WORTH VOTES YESTERDAY ON THIS QUESTION

170 VOTES IN ITS FAVOR

Only One Man in the Packing House District Opposed Its Incorporation By His Vote in Yesterday's Election and the New Town Starts Off With Big Future Ahead.

It's a 170 to 1 shot, even up, and North Fort Worth is to incorporate. It was so nominated in the ballots cast for and against that proposition yesterday.

There was only one opposing vote, and the North Siders say they propose to have a picture of the man who cast this one vote, and frame it.

There was nothing like a full vote cast. The territory includes the packing houses, stockyards, oil mill and elevator districts, and it is said there are between 2,000 and 2,500 people living therein. However, a great majority of these people have not resided in the district a sufficient length of time to entitle them to a vote.

The election was held by S. D. Shannon, presiding judge, assisted by M. H. Moore, Cal. Smith and a Mr. Mulholland.

So now, or soon will be, two towns to pull for—Greater Fort Worth in the foreground.

Will Be Called North Fort Worth As soon as the county judge and commissioners' court canvasses the returns, in all probability an election will be ordered for the new town officials—mayor, aldermen (possibly four), city marshal, secretary, etc. Such an election can be called within twenty days, and the chances are that such course will be pursued. The North Side people are anxious for the matter to be put through—as anxious in proportion as 170 is to 1.

"What will you name your town?" asked a Telegram representative of a North Sider today.

"Name it?" said he, "why name it North Fort Worth, of course. There never was any other name in serious contemplation. If they were to try to call it anything else we'd all move out."

It is probable that the battleship King Edward VII, now building at Devonport, England, will be ready for sea by September, 1904, six months sooner than expected.

ONE OF JOHN MORGAN'S MEN, NOW THE MOST FAMOUS DISTILLER WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

Mr. Geo. H. Shawhan, president of the Shawhan Distillery Company, belongs to the fourth generation of a famous family of distillers. His great-grandfather, Daniel Shawhan, having settled in Bourbon County, Ky., shortly after the revolutionary war, set up and operated there the first distillery in the state, and was the first to give to his product the name of "Bourbon" whiskey. The formula, skill and care used in making Shawhan whiskey in those early times are still used today.

It may be of interest to our readers to know that Mr. Shawhan was one of John Morgan's men in the civil war. Physically, he is of herculean type, well proportioned, weighing 275 pounds and standing six feet four inches. In one of Morgan's raids Mr. Shawhan rode and slept in his saddle for eighteen consecutive days. He is still strong and active. He took the first prize at the Chicago World's Fair for the best butter-producer from his herd of Jersey cattle. His son, Lee, was the famous football player at the Missouri State University. No one who ever looked at the honest face of George Shawhan could doubt for a moment that he makes honest whiskey.

To make a long story short and to give Shawhan Whiskey a wide introduction where its merits will be appreciated, we make the following offer: SEND US $3.20 and we will prepay express and send you in plain box, 4 Full Quarts of ten-year-old SHAWHAN WHISKEY.

INTERVIEW WITH TRAFFIC MANAGER COLORADO SOUTHERN

ADVANTAGE TO SOUTHWEST

Expects Great Good to the Cattle Business and His Road Will Profit Greatly by the Increased Business Into Fort Worth—Mr. Wellington Leaves for Denver

(Special to The Telegram.) STRAWN, Tex., Nov. 12.—C. L. Wellington, traffic manager of the Colorado and Southern railway, and family, who have been the guests of relatives here since Saturday, left today in their private car, "Colorado," en route to their home in Denver. When seen today by The Telegram correspondent Mr. Wellington stated that the establishment of the packing houses at Fort Worth would no doubt be beneficial to cattle interests along his line and the "Denver Road" expected to profit as largely by the movement of live stock and packery products as any road entering Fort Worth. Mr. Wellington said that he would not have the opportunity of visiting the new stock yards and packing houses on this visit to Texas as he would leave Fort Worth over the Denver road tonight, but he hoped to be able to do so at an early date, as Mr. Keeler had requested President Trumbull and himself to visit Fort Worth for that purpose.

AMUSEMENTS

A rich theatrical treat was enjoyed by the two audiences which yesterday afternoon and last night saw and heard Mrs. Brune and the excellent supporting company in "Unorna" at Greenwall's.

The "Unorna" of Mrs. Brune is a fascinating being, endowed with grace which lacked but a step to make it divine—it was divine. She is a study—sympathetic, natural and intense, exercising a power one cannot understand, only enjoy.

The attraction for this afternoon and evening is the Gordon-Shay grand opera company, presenting this afternoon "Il Trovatore" and tonight "Faust".

Rose Cecilia Shay, prima donna of the renowned Gordon-Shay Grand Opera company, is versatile beyond the bounds of her musical ambitions.

"The Strollers" One of the gems of "The Strollers," which Miss Sylvia and her excellent company will produce at Greenwall's opera house, Thursday night, November 13.

Among the evil characters depicted in the new melodrama of the "Black Vipers" which comes to Greenwall's opera house, Saturday matinee and night, November 15, is that of Mother Fangs.

ber 13, is what is known as the "Flirtation Song" and cotillon. The music of it is sweetly pretty and it is cleverly arranged for Miss Sylvia and ten young German officers, and nightly receives a half dozen encores.

the arrangement of the dances is one of the cleverest imaginable. Miss Sylvia's type of beauty is of an unusual kind yet at the same time substantial. The warmth of coloring in her face, to which her ambient eye-lend activity is almost indescribable.

"The Princess Chic" This is a tale and the more or less lively tale of a mouse. During the second act of "The Princess Chic" on Saturday afternoon in Boston, the audience was startled by hearing a wild, ear-piercing scream.

A WOUNDED NAME By BRIGGEN (HAS KING, USA) COPYRIGHT 1899 BY FETTERSON NEELY

The trial of Captain Nevins for defalcation and gross misconduct is the sensation of the army post where are stationed Captain Loring of the engineer corps and Lieutenant Blake, his friend. At the court martial in which Loring is the prosecutor, it develops that Nevins' wife who is in San Francisco, is the sister of the girl who broke her engagement with Loring and caused him, heartbroken, to ask service in the western plains.

Walter Loring had come face to face with his old love—Geraldine.

Possibly I may have to go to Frayne and shall need you with me, but meantime this thing must be explained. Everything indicates that this Captain Newhall, who was one of his chums in New Orleans, has some heavy hold on him—a gambling debt, perhaps, or knowledge of cotton transactions during the war.

He hears that a valuable package has been placed in the safe of the ship under care of the purser, Traynor, and while permitted to see it, cannot but guess that it contains the missing valuables of Captain Nevins. Then the ship Idaho is run down and sunk, and only the passengers are saved. The purser saves some of the valuables, but the packets addressed to San Francisco in Panha's name, are missing.

Hank Birdsall and his gang, 40 of the worst toughs on the western frontier, had "got the tip" from some one in the secret in Gate City, and no one outside of the post commander himself and one of Burleigh's confidential clerks had the faintest inkling of the transaction. Nothing but that storm could have defeated their purpose.

Hastening to the office in compliance with the imperative summons, his heart beating heavily despite his calm of manner, his thoughts reverting to that well known face and the appealing voice at his window despite his utmost effort to forget them, Loring found the general, with his chief of staff and Captain Stone, busy over telegrams and dispatches. One of these the general handed to the engineer. Then, as the latter read, the veteran of three wars arose from his chair, took the young soldier by the arm and led him aside, a proceeding that caused Captain Stone to glance up from the telegram he was swiftly copying and to follow with anguished eyes until suddenly aware that the adjutant general was observing him.

The old man rattled as I never saw him before, and God only knows what's amiss. Two young lieutenants came in and thrashed him right before the whole of us, called him a liar and all that. His friend Newhall, that pulled him through the yellow fever, he says, was there at the time, drunk, and actually confronted them, and though Burleigh raved and swore and wrote no end of dispatches to be sent to Omaha demanding court martial ask if he thought a suit against the steamship company would result in their getting anything. Captain Poi—a gentleman, that is, who had been most kind in San Francisco, had promised to do something, but now that the general was dead what could he do? There was no doubting the identity or intentions of that gentleman, thought Loring, as he gravely replied that they would only be defeated in any such attempt.

Then, with swimming eyes, she had bemoaned her past, her fatal errors, her greed for wealth and position that had led her to stifle her own heart throbs and deceive the one true friend she had ever known, and Loring broke short the conversation by leaving the room. Then she came again, alone, and he refused to see her. Then she came with Mrs. Burton, and the house was in a titter, and he broke up his establishment and moved back to the hotel, to the scandal of his landlord, as has been said, who made loud complaint to the powers at headquarters.

Then she wrote that she was being followed and persecuted by a man she never knew before, the man who was with her the night Mr. Lambert said they met them in front of Mrs. Burton's, a dreadful man who said that he believed that she loved Lieutenant Loring and made threats against him. She implored Loring's protection, and Loring saw through the flimsy device and returned the letter unanswered and later letters unopened, and then the woman seemed to take fire and in turn she threatened him.

And now she had brought Mrs. Burton to witness his cruelty to her, the meek, suffering girl to whom he was pledged and plighted, who had followed him to Omaha in hopes of softening his heart and winning back his wayward love, as was the burden of her sorrowing song to that most sympathetic of women, already burning with prejudice and fancied wrong of her own. One "woman scorned" is more than enough for many a reputation. Two, in double harness, would wreck that of St. Anthony.

All this and more had sped through Loring's mind that night and was uppermost in his thoughts as he stood there facing his patient commander. The general's fine, clear cut features clouded with anxiety as he noted the long silence and hesitation. Again he spoke, with grave yet gentle reproach in his tone.

"Surely, Loring, if you know of the fellow, it is our right to know!"

"I realize it, sir, but I can do better than tell a mere suspicion. Give me authority to act, and I'll lay that man in jail and lay his whole story on your desk."

"Then go and do it," said the chief.

Governor-Elect Lanham is finding the usual number of patriotic citizens that are willing to serve Texas down at Austin.

After thinking it over for ten days the Chicago News has reached the conclusion that about half of the election predictions come true.

"Stand by the President" has been a Republican slogan this year. The party that stands by Roosevelt will have to be lively on its feet.

A law suit in Hungary has just been terminated that has been in the courts since 1770. As an illustration of the law's delays this beats even New York's court records.

A man has been found that remembers when the Trinity river was navigable as far up as Dallas. He was born in the early part of the paleozoic age and is said to be the only living contemporary of Noah.

President Palma's government in Cuba reports a surplus of over $2,000,000 on the basis of the estimates of the coming year. This financial showing will disappoint the annexationists who are impatiently waiting for the utter break-down of the young republic. Cuba's Platt-amended independence is not to be easily snuffed out.

Who would have thought a few months ago that Boers would ever be found fighting under the British flag? Nevertheless that will soon come to pass, according to the announcement in a Johannesburg dispatch that a number of former Boer commanders and soldiers have offered to enlist for service in Somaliland. There are some Boers evidently who have not yet had a surfeit of fighting.

The control of the next congress has given the Republican leaders the audacity of their desires. "No break in the trust-breeding, trust-upholding tariff," is their principle. Representative Cannon, who is booked to succeed Henderson in the speakership, speaking for the Republican managers at Washington, says there will be no revision of the tariff at the next session nor at the one which will follow that.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY The Republicans promise that the next congress will pass a Cuban reciprocity treaty. This puts off the work of doing something for starving Cuba until a year from next winter, with no convincing assurance that anything will then be done. We suspect the Hartford Times gets at the true inwardness of this whole Cuban business when it says: "The truth appears to be that the Republican leaders have no intention of adopting any new trade arrangements with Cuba. They do not really want the island to flourish while it is even partially independent of the United States. They mean to annex it by and by. In the meantime there are, in their opinion, more votes to be got by toadying to the beet sugar millionaires than by creating a market of $50,000,000 worth a year of our manufactures in that island. The indications are that the Republican party will never do anything to build up our commerce with Cuba. The same thing may be said in regard to our commerce with most other nations."

PRISON LABOR In Kansas they have a prison binding twine factory that is a source of continual contention between the laboring element and the farmers. The former oppose it as they do all penitentiary industries, on the ground that it furnishes a product in competition with free labor, to the disadvantage of the latter. The farmers are in favor of it because it keeps down the price of trust-made twine in Kansas.

It is interesting to note that the plant in question cleaned up $22,713 in profits this year. It paid all of its running expenses, paid back the state treasurer the revolving fund, and still has money left. And the industry is not run for profit, either. The plant sold 1,225,240 pounds this year. That is all it could manufacture. It could have sold twice that amount if it had had the stock on hand.

In reply to the charge that the prison twine plant is supplying a product in competition with free labor, Warden Jewett took this hot shot at those making the charge: "The objection is usually made by the self-appointed labor agitator who has no part in the labor of the country save as a disturber and absorber of its earnings. There is no twine plant operated by private enterprise in this state at this time, and likely will not be for many years at least. A combination, created and protected by another state, with resources greater than an ordinary state—one, in fact, that uses states as its agents and statesmen as its private counselors—can hardly be termed a personal or a private enterprise."

Hot shot is apt to spring from hasty and consequently faulty reasoning. There is no exception in Jewett's case. He attempts to right the wrongs of the Kansas farmers at the expense of labor. It's an old saw that two wrongs don't make one right. Warden Jewett evidently never heard of it.

If the twine combinations have exported money from the Sunflower farmers—and no one doubts it—then the evil should be attacked at its base. If it exists unlawfully, prosecute it. If laws can't touch it, make new laws. If it bribes the legislators, send both parties to the bribery to prison. All these things can be done, if the condition is as the warden says. They have been done.

The contention of the warden that because there is no industry in Kansas engaged in twine-making, the penitentiary plant should be allowed to run, shows a narrow point of view. The interests of labor are not bounded by state lines. If the workers had not stood together on matters of wage, irrespective of locality or state, a large percentage of them every where would now be working at about two-thirds of what they now are getting.

Mr. Jewett may be a good warden, but what he doesn't know about the question of labor and capital would fill a great many libraries. John G. Shedd, of Marshall Field's, one of the Chicago visitors, said that the cleanliness and attractiveness resulting from the eight miles of asphalt paving put in within the last four years in San Antonio would, in his opinion, result in bringing strangers to that city. By the same line of reasoning, every day Houston street remains unpaved may drive newcomers away from Fort Worth. Of course, Mr. Shedd may be wrong, but it is reasonable to suppose he is not, inasmuch as he has had the judgment and all around ability necessary to pile up about ten million dollars so far in his life.

Dollars to dimes that kid with that bundle of bread—why, of course, it is Eagle bread.

Roosevelt Would be Astonished

San Antonio Express: President Roosevelt will be in Memphis next week to attend a banquet to Vice-Governor Wright of the Philippines, and if he felt so disposed he might take a little run to Texas to see how things look down this way. He would be astonished to observe the progress that San Antonio has made since he organized the Roosevelt Rough Riders at the old fair grounds.

Advice to Colonel Lanham

Galveston News: The Lampasas Leader entertains a hope, which is liberally shared by the people at large, that the next session of the legislature will fine it convenient to cut down the number of appointive officers. There are now enough applicants besieging the incoming governor for positions to make a small army, and most of the positions are really of no earthly use, except for the purpose of furnishing the governor more political power. It is claimed that S. W. T. Lanham is a very sensible gentleman, and it is hoped that he will see that this political clap-trap is abolished.

This movement to do away with the sinecures is very much in order, and there is another step that should be taken in the interest of the public service. We should have no more nepotism down at Austin. The men holding elective offices should see to it that

What the Legislature Should do

Paris Advocate: It remains now for the legislature elected on Tuesday to carry out in letter and spirit the recommendations and demands along business lines made by the last Democratic state convention. They include matters of first importance, and this state—matters of far more importance, under conditions, as they exist, than any issue involved in the late national campaign. The establishment of a textile school as an auxiliary department of the agricultural and mechanical college at Bryan is of much more interest to Texas just now than the problem of carrying the lower house of congress at a time when a majority, even if harmonious in action, could effect nothing in the way of tariff reform. We will profit much more by adjusting capital and investments, upon the lines suggested by the Democratic platform, than we would have profited by securing a congressional majority that could not, if it would, accomplish a thing in the way of regulating or restraining trusts. A good roads law that will enable the counties to utilize all penal resources in making permanent road improvements is of much more importance to Texas just now than the theorizing of parties upon our pacification policy in the Philippines. We are much more interested in getting a concrete system of tax laws that are fair to everybody, land laws that will facilitate the building up of our cities, and the development of our agricultural and mineral interests, than we are in the vindication of a free silver theory that the people have twice repudiated.

Texas Will Have a Clean Ballot

Bonham Favorite: The adoption of the poll tax amendment by a large majority encourages the hope that we are to have a clean ballot in Texas. Now let the legislature do its duty and place the primary elections under the guardianship of the statutes, with such wholesome regulations as will forever bar the purchasable element from the exercise of their shameful influence at the ballot box.

If Texas Should Only Try

El Paso News: "Governor" Lanham would have had a 250,000 majority, or more, instead of 150,000 to his credit had there been any prospect of defeat. The stay-at-home-vote is great when there is really no contest.

JIM CROW LAW IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW STREET CAR REGULATIONS HARDLY A SUCCESS

TIRED MEN TAKE ANY SEAT

Conductors Must Note Violations of Rules by Passengers—How the Attempt to Keep the Two Races Apart Worked When First Put into Operation

(Special to The Telegram) NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12.—The Wilson star car law is slow in becoming effective. The contractor having failed to supply all the screens needed by the New Orleans railway company, some of the cars were without screens, cords tied from the bellhounds to the backs of the seats indicating the line of division between the white and the negro compartments. The rule gives the conductors power to assign passengers to the proper compartment and to refuse to carry them if they refuse to occupy it, but the conductor was not authorized to make arrests for such refusal. He was obliged, however, to take the passenger's name and those of witnesses and report the same to the office.

People Were Willing to Obey

Generally, the people took kindly enough to the law. The presence of the screens in many of the cars for the past few days had gradually educated the riding public to the requirements of the law, and the public were law-abiding enough during the day. When it came to the late afternoon, however, the law was a farce. The public was tired. Men wanted to sit down, and they sat down. By far the larger percentage huddled together in the white section of the cars, or stood upon the rear platforms, but now and then a white man insisted on sitting in the negro compartments if he could find a seat there, the rest of the car being crowded.

The conductors had a good deal of trouble as a result. The negroes all obeyed the law unquestioningly. But some of the white men wanted very much to sit down. That was all there was to it. The law did not suit them and they disobeyed it. The conductors remonstrated, but without effect. Then, under the law and the orders of the railway companies to its employees, the conductors asked the names of the offenders, and made memoranda of the names and addresses given, and reported each such case to headquarters.

One Man Had an Easy Solution

One white man sat down in a negro seat in one of the lines patronized by the better classes. "You can't sit there, sir," said the conductor. "Why not?" asked the passenger. "That seat is set apart for negroes," was the conductor's reply. "Well, I'm a nigger," replied the white man.

The conductor's face wore a look of disbelief, but the case was closed so far as he was concerned.

In one of the Carrollton cars two merchants sat in one of the seats set apart for negroes. The compartment held several negroes and several whites. There was one vacant negro seat. The two merchants refused to move when told by the conductor that they were occupying seats which, under the law, they could not occupy. They gave their names, and a dozen passengers gave their names to the conductor as witnesses. Meanwhile the conductor was in a stew about making change. The car was crowded and he had more trouble than he liked. Finally he got straightened out.

"Hang it," he said simply, but with devotional earnestness, when he finally got back to the platform. "Niggers Ain't Gettin' de Wuss of de Law!"

Just then a negro boarded the car. He peered into it and stood timidly on the overcrowded platform. "Get in there, Sam," said one of the white standers on the platform. "There's a vacant seat. The legislature gave it to you. You're lucky." "The negro grinned. "I see ain't lookin' for no trouble," he said. "Dere's lots of white folks standin'." "Dey kin have de seat. Dis nigger stays outen hyar."

"No, you don't either," said another passenger. "Get inside, quicker, or we will chuck you off. Get in there and sit down. Make room here for a white man."

The negro laughed and elbowed his way into the car and sat down. "I doan 'un'erstan' ezactly," he said, "but it 'pears ter me de niggers ain't gettin' none de wuss of dis law."

THE RECORD OF A YEAR

WORK OF THE FORT WORTH BOARD OF TRADE DURING PAST TWELVE MONTHS—GROWING ENTHUSIASM REGARDING POSSIBILITIES OF THE FIELD THE GREATEST RESULT OF LAST NIGHT'S MEETING

To the President, Directors and Members, Fort Worth Board of Trade: In presenting the secretary's annual report, you are to be congratulated upon everything except the numerical strength of the organization...

Election of officers of the Fort Worth Board of Trade, to have been held last evening, was, by the unanimous consent of the thirty or more stockholders present at last night's session, postponed two weeks until Tuesday evening, November 25.

The purpose of postponement was to give the opportunity to the membership of the Board of Trade to elect at least 200 members. Steps to this end were taken last night and after discussion of various plans, it was decided that five committees of five members each agree to spend one day each, within the next two weeks, in the soliciting of members from the business men of the city...

The suggestion of this plan of the work was made by J. W. Spencer, whose suggestion it also was to postpone the election of directors. Mr. Spencer urged the importance of the Board as an organization for the promotion of the welfare of Fort Worth's interests and said that the new year's work should be begun with not less than 200 members. He suggested that election be held over until that number of members be secured.

Other plans to increase membership offered were by R. W. Flournoy, who advocated employing a solicitor to interest business men in the Board and to secure names to the membership roll. Captain Paddock suggested the strength of numbers and said that three or five good men on a committee would be much more successful than one solicitor. Judge Booth objected to selecting twenty-five men on the grounds that it would be difficult to get five together at any given time; that all would be willing to work, but the day on which they could work would be a matter less easily arranged. In the end, however, J. W. Spencer's suggestion, that of having five committees of five men each, prevailed.

So far, these men have agreed to give one day of their time during the next two weeks for the purpose of soliciting members to the Board of Trade.

R. W. Flournoy, Stuart Harrison, John B. Hawley, Wm. R. Booth, J. W. Spencer, J. A. Starling, George W. Armstrong, B. B. Paddock, Wm. M. McVeigh, C. D. Reimers, J. Z. Wheat, Ed Otto, H. M. Durrett, J. E. Westland, C. B. Brown, E. H. Carter, R. P. Gallo-way, C. L. Williams, James F. Moore, J. W. Draughon, J. J. Langever, C. J. E. Kellner, Jerry F. Ellis.

Regular Business Transacted Last night's session was the annual meeting of the Board of Trade and the regular one at which the election of six directors to succeed Messrs. Booth, Paddock, Phelan, Starling, Waples and Washer was to have taken place.

The vice-president of the Board, Dr. J. L. Cooper, presided in the absence of President Paul Waples, who is with the Chicago visitors on their tour of the state.

Secretary Paddock read letters from E. F. Swift and J. Ozden Armour to the effect that as they were not in a position to say definitely when the working houses will open in North Fort Worth, it would be impossible to cooperate with the Board in regard to making some sort of demonstration at that time.

Under reports of officers, the unsigned report of President Paul the possibilities before the Board and there was every indication that the work of securing the new members will be undertaken so heartily they will easily be secured.

Resolution Regarding the efforts of Governor-elect Lanham in passing a bill through the house of representatives for the creation of a term of the circuit court of appeals here, the following resolution was read by R. W. Flournoy and carried by the Board:

"Be it resolved, that this body hereby expresses its conviction of the great importance of the legislation pending in congress looking to the creation of terms of the circuit court of appeals of the United States to be held at Fort Worth. We believe that the passage of this bill through the house of representatives, already effected, is another evidence of the advanced position of Texas in the great sisterhood of states. We appreciate the dignity of the court sought to be established here, and realize the advantages of this addition to the institutions of our city.

"Believing that the labors of our governor-elect, Hon. S. W. T. Lanham, have, in a great measure, promoted the progress of the bill thus far, we express our gratitude for his wise and effective efforts in this behalf, and commend this as another example of his fruitful service for his district and state.

"We earnestly solicit the continued efforts of our representatives and senators to procure the speedy and favorable action of the senate on this measure, and express the hope that the approaching session of congress will see that result accomplished."

Rev. W. H. Claggett of Dallas was present and stated to the Board the necessity of acting somewhat quickly in regard to the location of the Texas Presbyterian university. A communication regarding the matter from the Dallas Commercial club was read and referred to the directors of the Board. The meeting then adjourned till two weeks from last night.

AT REST IN ST. LOUIS

Col. R. D. Hunter's Remains Interred at Bellefontaine Cemetery Monday's Globe-Democrat, St. Louis, arriving in this city yesterday, gives the following brief account of the funeral and burial of Col. R. D. Hunter in that city:

"The funeral of Col. Robert D. Hunter, who died at Fort Worth, Tex., Friday, was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Second Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which he was a member. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Conspicuous among them were floral designs representing the two orders, Colonel Hunter was a member of Tuscan Masonic lodge and Ascalon commandery, No. 16, Knights Templars. Rev. Dr. S. J. Nicolls paid a high tribute to his memory, and delivered a fervent sermon. Interment was in Bellefontaine cemetery.

AN EASY WAY

To Keep Well It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all important thing is to keep the stomach right and to do this it is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes a capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. W. Schold gives pretty good advice on this subject; he says: "I am 65 years old and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating bran crackers or dieting of any sort; on the contrary I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets.

My physician first advised me to use them because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but contained only natural digestives, pepsines and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past 50 years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well regulated household from Maine to California and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will often do fifty dollars worth of good.

Hard Cider a Temperance Drink "Is hard cider a temperance drink?" asks the visitor of the farmer who is pouring the apples into the cider press.

"It is," says the farmer, while a reminiscent smile flits across his face. "It is? I reckon that after a man sobsers off of hard cider he is fuller of remorse and readier for the pledge than after surroundin' almost any other kind of joy producer."

STREET AND ALLEY COMMITTEE MOVING FOR IMPROVEMENT

AFTER THE COMMISSIONER

The City's Forces to Be Worked in Various Wards Under Special Instructions — Important Reports Called for From the Street Commissioner

At the last meeting of the city council a resolution passed requiring the street commissioner to make daily, weekly and monthly reports of work done and material used, expenditures, etc.

This action was brought about by the street and alley committee at a previous meeting at which street improvements in the various wards were discussed.

The resolution even went further, and outlined when and where work was to be done in an effort to secure more satisfactory results in the various wards.

Following is the resolution and the scope it covered: "At a regular meeting of the street and alley committee of the city council of Fort Worth at which were present B. L. Waggoman, chairman; Q. T. Moreland and E. C. Orrick, members, with William Lahey, street commissioner, in attendance, the following proceedings were had:

"It was moved and duly seconded that it is the sense of the committee that the expenditure by the department of streets and alleys should be kept with the amount set apart in the budget adopted by the council, and that in order that this might be accomplished to the satisfaction of all the members of the council, that the amount allowed said department in the said budget should have deducted from it the salary of the street commissioner together with the salary of the street cleaning gang, and that the amount then remaining should be apportioned to the different wards of the city in proportion to their respective population, and that the street commissioner should and would be instructed by the street and alley committee to proceed to do such work as should be requested by the alderman of any ward up to the limit of the amount apportioned to his ward, which said motion was duly carried.

"It was further moved and seconded in order that a correct account of the expenditures in each ward could be kept and that the committee and the council could be properly informed of what work was done by the said department and where that said street commissioner should make to the city auditor a daily report showing the amount of work done each day and the place at which it was done as well as also the ward in which it was done, said report to show the number of men and teams worked and the amount of material consumed, the said report to be in such shape that the auditor can with a reasonable degree of certainty show to this committee at any time when requested by it the amount of work done in each ward of the city of Fort Worth by the street department and where and when it was done, which said motion was duly carried.

"It was further moved and seconded that the street commissioner be instructed to work the convict gang in each ward of the city, commencing with the Ninth ward, then going to the First, Third, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Sixth, Fourth and Second, consecutively, two weeks at a time, and the work to be done by such convict gang shall be such as may be requested by the street commissioner by the alderman of the respective wards, and that said rotation be continued until further order of the committee or council, which motion was carried.

"It was further moved that a copy was buncoed out of $75 by a confidence man at the Dallas and Wichita Falls depot yesterday at Dallas. The bunco man, who gave his name to Mr. Cherry as Walker, got the confidence of Mr. Cherry, who is an untraveled man, and as all bunco men do, pretended that he was also coming to Denton, and that he knew Mr. Cherry's son-in-law and everybody else in Denton like a book. Just before the train departed for Denton the bunco man discovered that he had left his money in changing clothes and "touched" Mr. Cherry for $75 and gave Mr. Cherry a check signed Geo. Morgan & Sons, for $1260 to hold and then he disappeared.

Needs a Board of Trade Denton is badly in need of a board of trade. There was once a board organized here, but it soon went into winter quarters, and never accomplished much. The necessity is now seen, more than ever before, for a board and the revival of the old organization of a new one should be effected at the earliest possible moment. There is an unanimity in spirit among the people of Denton such as is not found at many places, but effective work for the town cannot be done without organization and concert of action.
