

The Telegram Buys a New Two Deck Color Printing Press that Will Cost $14,500

THE FORT WORTH TELEGRAM COMPANY at 11 o'clock Saturday night closed a contract with J. W. Spencer, Traveling Sales Agent for the Goss Printing Press Company, for a TWO DECK COLOR PRINTING PRESS FOR THE TELEGRAM, the press to be constructed by the Goss company with all possible speed for early delivery to THE TELEGRAM. This machine will cost THE TELEGRAM $14,500 in cold cash. The press will be one of the very latest designs of the same type as used by such metropolitan papers as the New York Herald, Louisville Courier-Journal, Rocky Mountain News, Minneapolis Journal, Minneapolis Times, San Francisco Post, Los Angeles Express, all the Scripps-McRae papers and dozens of the other large newspaper offices in the country.

The machine will be capable of printing in colors and will print either 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 or 16 pages at one time in book form or 32 pages in newspaper form, at a rate of from 175 to 300 every minute.

The addition of this immense printing press is made necessary because of the large increase in patronage that has been accorded THE TELEGRAM during the past three months both in the subscription and advertising departments of the paper. THE TELEGRAM has outgrown the present press which is capable of printing only 4 or 8 pages at one time at a speed of but 7,500 an hour.

Already THE TELEGRAM needs 10 pages nearly every day in the week, exclusive of Sunday, and the present press is incapable of printing such a large paper at one press run. THE TELEGRAM proposes that its advertising patronage shall not encroach upon the space allotted to its readers.

THE TELEGRAM proposes to be one of Texas' foremost newspapers. It is therefore installing the first ACTUAL color press that is in Texas. There are other large presses in Texas but not one of them is always ready to print in color if color is needed, or wanted. There is not another newspaper in Texas that has a press like the one THE TELEGRAM will have equipped so that 12 or 16 pages can be printed at one time and have all the pages inset in book form.

THE TELEGRAM is glad of this opportunity of extending its thanks to the merchants of Fort Worth for bestowing upon it an advertising patronage, and the people of Fort Worth and contiguous territory for their subscriptions which have made it necessary for THE TELEGRAM to thus increase its press room capacity.

THE TELEGRAM proposes to ALWAYS be in the van of the progress that is spreading itself all over Texas. Keep your eye on THE TELEGRAM.

OFFICIAL GREETING ISSUED TO MEMBERS

RATHBONE SISTERS WILL MEET IN EIGHTH ANNUAL SESSION

State Officers Announce Complete Arrangements for Sessions Beginning April 28—The Program and Various Committees Appointed

The Telegram this morning publishes for the first time the official greeting of the grand temple officers of the Rathbone Sisters, the program arranged for the eighth annual session of the Grand Temple of the order in Texas, and the personnel of the various grand temple committees.

Much interest is manifested in the approaching state gathering of Rathbone Sisters, which will convene in Fort Worth May 28, the date of the beginning of the grand lodge of the Knights of a White. The following is the official greeting and general announcement of the Grand Temple just issued by Mrs. W. T. Beverly, of McKinney, grand chief of the order in Texas, and Mrs. H. C. Shropshire, of Weatherford, grand keeper of records and seal:

To the Rathbone Sisters of Texas—Greeting: The eighth annual session of the grand temple Rathbone Sisters of Texas will convene in Pythian Temple, Fort Worth, Texas, at 10 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, April 28, 1903.

Headquarters will be at the Delaware hotel. Those desiring entertainment at said hotel should engage rooms at an early date.

Railroad rates: Convocation plan. Less than 100 miles, one and one-third fare; 100 miles and over, one and one-tenth fare. Tickets will be on sale on the 26th and 27th days of April, and for all trains reaching Fort Worth on the 28th day of April, good for return passage upon all trains leaving Fort Worth on the 1st day of May, 1903. Local committees will meet all trains.

Tuesday morning, April 28, 9 o'clock, reception at the city hall auditorium. Address of welcome on behalf of the city, by Mayor T. J. Powell. Address of welcome on behalf of the Rathbone Sisters, by Past Supreme Representative John M. Adams. Response by Grand Chancellor John T. Bonner of Tyler. 10 a. m., opening of grand temple session at Pythian Temple. 12 m., recess; trip to packing houses. 4 p. m., meeting of grand temple. 8 p. m., grand officers will receive members and visitors in the parlors of the hotel.

Wednesday morning, April 29, 9 o'clock, grand temple session. 2 p. m., grand temple session. 8 p. m., ritualistic work will be exemplified by Eleanor Temple, No. 36, Rathbone Sisters, of Fort Worth. All members of the order in good standing are cordially invited to be present on this occasion.

Thursday morning, April 30, 9 o'clock, grand temple session. 2 p. m., grand temple session. 8 p. m., reception by Eleanor Temple, No. 36, Rathbone Sisters, of Fort Worth. Committee on credentials will receive grand representatives and their credentials Monday evening at the hotel.

Past chiefs are reminded that they must bring their past chief's certificates, and representatives their credentials. All committees and deputies must have two copies of their reports, one to be read in grand temple and one for the G. M. of R. and C.

STOP COUGHING

Stopped Hemorrhages.

305 Cedar Avenue, Scranton, Pa. April 9, 1902.
Gentlemen: My lung trouble is two years old. Had about eight or ten hemorrhages, which broke me down in weight and strength. The last, in February, was the worst of all, so that I thought and believed myself that I could not see another summer. When I commenced to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey my weight was 117 pounds; my weight today is 129 pounds; made a good improvement in every respect. I feel stronger from day to day, no hemorrhage since I used the Whiskey.
GOTTFRIED EBER.

It is Absolutely Pure.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures coughs, colds, consumption, grip, bronchitis and pneumonia. It stimulates and enriches the blood, aids digestion, builds up the nervous tissue, tones up the heart and fortifies the system against disease germs. It prolongs life, keeps the old young and the young strong. It contains no fusel oil and is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee.

CAUTION—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and so-called Malt Whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and which, far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's" and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure malt whiskey which contains medicinal, health-giving qualities. Look for the trade-mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label.

The genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold by all druggists and grocers, or direct at $1.00 a bottle. Write for free medical booklet, containing symptoms and treatment of each disease and convincing testimonials to the Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, N. Y.

You must stop that coughing at once, or before you know it your lungs will be affected and your life endangered by pneumonia or consumption. At this time of the year you must be particularly careful, as throat and lung troubles are hovering around.

Death Is Near, oftentimes nearer than you can possibly imagine. Only last week a strong, robust young man, in the prime of life, who lived in White Plains and did business in New York City, had a slight cough. It was so slight that he paid no attention to it, and in a spirit of bravado continued his office work. In four days it went to his lungs, and he died from pneumonia within a week. Many such cases are happening every day, and every one of them can easily be cured by

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

The dose is a teaspoonful in a half glass of water every two hours until the cough is relieved. It is a SURE CURE. It will cure any cough in 24 hours if the patient will use it as directed.

Cured Weak Lungs.

Dear Sirs: Having suffered with weak lungs, severe cough and loss of appetite, I tried nearly all medicines, but without benefit. A few weeks ago, on advice, I commenced the use of your Pure Malt Whiskey. My appetite improved almost immediately, my cough stopped and my lungs are as strong as ever, my strength has returned, and I shall continue to use. Respectfully,
FLORENCE WHITING, No. 1100 C St., N. W., Washington. Jan. 4, 1902.

TASCO Saves Half Your Lard Bill

"Would the Annexation of Cuba Be Beneficial to Uncle Sam?" The negative was led by J. E. Williams, his opponent being Mr. Molyear. Neither side was adjudged the victor.

The club now has a membership of some eighteen young men, the purpose being self-culture. This description of a club has been carried on with marked success in the larger cities. A constitution was drafted by a committee and accepted by the club. The date set for meeting is each Friday evening. The program for the next Friday evening includes essays, reading, "Evolution of Fort Worth" and a general discussion of important problems now before the public. It is expected the club will be increased by some fifteen additional members at the next meeting and the young men are making an effort to surprise the citizens of Fort Worth. An open session will soon be held when an agreeable program will be rendered.

J. J. LANGEVER IS NOT SAYING MUCH

INTENDS TO HOLD ON TO DISPUTED PROPERTY
City Claims Strip of Six Feet. Formerly Part of Hyde Park. Now Held by Langerver—As to Threats of Violence, Dycus Makes Suggestion

A feature of the regular proceedings of the city council at its session Friday night was the discussion of various methods proposed to be pursued in acquiring J. J. Langerver to let go of a certain strip of Hyde Park property which he now holds, but which the city claims as its own.

The city engineer reported that Mr. Langerver threatened violence in case the city attempted to take possession. He had suggested a friendly lawsuit, but Mr. Langerver declined this, saying that he had possession and held property executed deeds to the land, and if the city wanted the property it could go into court and attempt to obtain it.

Mr. Hawley recommended that the city take steps in court. Mr. Dycus suggested that a better way would be for the city to commit some overt act, such as sticking a pick through the nice cement walk with which Mr. Langerver has equipped the land in question and thus force

Mr. Langerver to take the matter into court, where, as plaintiff, it would devolve upon him to prove ownership. "If the city goes into court with the case the city will have to prove ownership," said Mr. Dycus.

MIGHT INFURIATE HIM
Mr. Hawley said that he realized this, but that Mr. Langerver probably would become infuriated if the city stuck a pick through the cement sidewalk, and commit an act of violence. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

Mr. Langerver was asked by a reporter for the Telegram yesterday to explain his warlike attitude. He said that there was little for him to say. He was in possession of the property, and if the city engineer desired to run a line of his own which indicated that six feet of city property had been unceremoniously grabbed by Mr. Langerver he could proceed with the law.

"The first I heard of the matter was when a negro porter was sent over to inform me that I was using city property," said Mr. Langerver. "I sent him to talk with my porter to see if they could settle the matter. They discussed it for some time without reaching an agreement. Next a committee came over. I turned the committee over to my head clerk. Still no agreement. Then came Mr. Hawley. I talked with him. No agreement. Now, I suppose my lawyer and the city's lawyer will get together and talk it over and there may be a settlement."

MIGHT USE A CLUB

"I did say to Mr. Hawley when he suggested an overt act and a friendly lawsuit that I might wield a club if anyone came along and tried to break up the cement sidewalk. I don't see the use of quarrelling, however. I might do this and I might do something else. I don't know what I would do if they attempted to break up the sidewalk. I might turn away and let 'em proceed."

"There is no reason for trouble over the matter. I claim possession, and the city claims possession. I have put down a nice sidewalk on the disputed strip. The city can have the air over the sidewalk and it claims that it now has the ground beneath it, and I have the sidewalk. Isn't that all right? If we both claim possession, oughtn't we both to be satisfied?"

The strip in dispute runs along the north side of Mr. Langerver's store, which faces the city hall.

THE BREAKING OF LAHEY'S PULL

Oh, tell me not the mournful tale,
Oh, foul words, stay unspoken!
Doth every tie of friendship fail?
"Bill Lahey's pull is broken."

Let gravitation loose its grip,
Or cables drag their anchors;
But tell us not Bill's pull doth slip—
Our souls the verdict rancours.

Let every tie of kindred part;
Break every faith we've trusted;
But what can we depend on, pray,
If Bill's pull could go busted?

Oh reckless council! Heartless men!
Know ye the storm you're brewin'?
For know ye not, when Bill's pull breaks,
We've naught to face but ruin?

Alas! Alas! How dark the day,
When—when—
(Garden so friends, for our "hearts are in the coffin there with Caesar," and we cannot go further.)

The foregoing lament was received by the Telegram early yesterday morning. Its author prefers to remain unknown for the present, and, inasmuch as The Telegram doesn't know who wrote it the wishes of the author will be observed.

Badly

Shattered Nerves and Weak Heart.

Too Nervous to Sleep or Rest.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve Cured Me.

A shattered nervous system nearly always leads to some affection of the heart, especially where the patient's heart is weak from hereditary or other causes. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is not only a great heart regulator, but it is a blood tonic which speedily corrects and regulates the heart's action, enriches the blood and improves the circulation. It will build you up just as it did Mr. Crawford whose letter follows, and greatly improve your general health:

"I have been so greatly benefited by Dr. Miles' Nerve and Heart Cure that I freely recommend them as the best remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. When I began taking these medicines I weighed scarcely 140 pounds, my nerves were badly shattered and my heart troubled me a great deal. I had pain in my left arm and shoulder, had difficulty in sleeping on my left side, had frequent smothering spells and my heart would flutter and palpitate. I could eat scarcely any kind of food without suffering great distress, and was so restless and nervous that I slept little night or day. Now I am never bothered with my heart, my nerves are steady as a die, I sleep well, eat well and weigh 175 pounds. I am happy now and am trying to make back the money I spent for doctors who did me no good while I was ill."—T. R. CRAWFORD, Center, Texas.

SATURDAY NIGHT

"POP" BIG SUCCESS

The past week has been a good one in the forward movement of the Y. M. C. A. About fifty applications have been received at the office for membership in the past week. Last night's "Pop" was a grand success. Attorney Lattimore and Messrs. Lewis and Cowan entertained a large number of young men by stories, new and old. It was unanimously voted that the Saturday night "Pop" is the place for the young men to have a good time. They will be given every Saturday night, except next.

Rev. H. A. Boaz, president of Polytechnic College, will address the men's meeting at 4 p. m. today. He is a bright young man and a splendid speaker. The meeting will be held in the gymnasium to make room for the crowd.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's church held a meeting yesterday with Mrs. S. R. Green, 815 West Second street. This society is pursuing the study of "Lux Christi" and is supporting a Bible woman in India.

DECLARES DENVER STRIKE JUST BEGUN

UNION OFFICIALS SEND NOTICE TO DEPARTMENTS AT DENVER

Local Offices Know Nothing of Further Trouble at Childress, Where Difficulties Were Reported to Have Been Adjusted.
Railroad Briefs and Personals

The labor troubles on the Denver road at Childress, which it was believed had been satisfactorily adjusted, it is feared now have only begun. The local offices of the road were unable to verify any of the reports to that effect, however, yet the following advice from Denver would indicate that all is not serene. The report says:

The machinists, boiler-makers and blacksmiths of the Colorado and Southern, in Denver, on the entire system may go out on strike again in sympathy with the men on the Texas line. Financial Agent Allison, further reports: "If the trouble in Texas is not adjusted at an early date, it is liable to cause the men on the main line to go out again. In that event the entire system will become involved, including the Denver shops. The strike in Texas is now in its first stages, and it will take several days to determine how things are going."

George S. Wells, business agent for the machinists, who was appointed by the international officers to go to Childress to investigate the situation, has wired his Denver headquarters: "Strike not settled. Keep all men away." In a letter he stated that all men are out with the exception of one non-union pipeman. The strikers are asking that their wages be increased to 25 cents an hour. He states that the business men are backing up the strikers and are aiding them with subscriptions for financial help.

TEXAS & PACIFIC ANNUAL ELECTON

Friday at noon the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Texas and Pacific was held at the Gould building offices at Dallas. C. E. Satterlee, secretary and treasurer of the road, came down from New York especially to attend the meeting and to take a trip over the line. A large majority of the stock was represented at the meeting. The following directors were elected: George J. Gould, Russell Sage, Samuel Sloan, John T. Terry, A. L. Hopkins, Howard Gould, T. T. Eckert, C. E. Satterlee, John P. Munn, R. M. Galloway, Frank J. Gould, W. S. Pierce, Edwin Gould, Louis Fitzgerald, L. S. Thomas, James H. H. Jeffery. The only change is that Mr. Jeffery succeeds C. M. McGee.

RAILROAD BRIEFS AND PERSONALS

Forty-five naval recruits left Dallas over the Santa Fe for Galveston Friday night. They were destined to Brooklyn. The Houston and Texas Central railroad has issued a handsome little folder, artistically designed and neatly printed, setting forth special rates and advantages of that route for persons desiring to attend the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at New Orleans, May 19-22. The folder is in the shape of an egg and, besides the mission of advertising the New Orleans rates, also affords a means of extending an Easter greeting to friends and patrons of the road.

On May 1, the Santa Fe will begin laying new 75-pound steel rails on its line between this city and Gainesville, a distance of sixty-five miles. The steel used will correspond with the weight of that on the other lines of the system.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas is considering an extension of its line from South McAlester, I. T., to Jefferson and Beaumont, this state.

President C. C. Waller of the Velasco, Brazos and Northern railroad has admitted that the Velasco, Brazos and Northern had been sold and that the transfer would take place in a few days. The name of the purchaser has not been announced, and only conjecture, which points to the Rock Island, is obtainable.

For some time past the Southern Pacific officials have been contemplating a big improvement on the Atlantic division of that road from El Paso to New Orleans. The improvement in question is to cement the roadbed with a solid concrete foundation.

D. B. Koeler, vice president and general manager of the Denver, accompanied by his chief clerk, H. B. Sperry, and W. E. Stevely, general freight agent, returned this morning from a business trip over the lines. It was reported that they had gone to Childress on a mission in connection with the labor troubles at that place, but such reports were denied at the local offices.

J. M. Ball, soliciting freight agent for the Cotton Belt, formerly with headquarters in this city, has been transferred to Houston, for which place he departed last evening. He has been succeeded here by W. L. Geer, formerly of the auditing department of the Frisco.

Colonel N. A. Dain of the Southwestern Railway Advertising and Distributing Company, returned yesterday from an extended trip over the state.

A contract has been let for the building of two more houses at Rosen Heights. Miss Nettie Ray of Rhomb has been visiting her brother, M. L. Ray, 1006 Lipscomb street.

BE CAREFUL OF THE CHILDREN

Do you honestly believe your zinc-lined refrigerator to be a safe place to keep the milk you feed the precious baby? Read what Dr. Cyrus Edison, M. D., Sanitary Superintendent of the New York Board of Health, says on the subject below.

CAUTION!

In this day of sanitation, when we are sterilizing milk and various foods we use, filtering the water, using germ-proof brooms, sanitary clothing, plumbing, heating, etc., you should investigate your refrigerator. Never before in the history of the world has there been such precaution taken against microbes and bacilla as at the present time. Did you ever stop to think that they had neglected the house refrigerator, the most important of all? All the food—the very substance that enables you to exist—passes through the refrigerator. Do you not consider your health in preference to money or anything else? Then why do you keep your food in the poisonous, zinc-lined refrigerator that is lurking with microbes and disease?

MAKING AN ATHLETE.

Proper Food the Most Important Requirement.

Most health or ill health comes from the stomach, depending upon how it is fed. The athlete is very dependent upon the proper food. An athlete of Muncie, Ind., writes: "From a frail, sickly college student of scarcely six score pounds, through persistent conscientious use, to a vigorous young athlete tipping the scale at 132 pounds. For two years the food has been to my stomach what pure air is to the lungs—a source of vigor, health and vitality."

"Having always been a great reader I frequently while at school missed my meals that I might devote the time to a favorite book, or else I hurried through the meal. This irregularity, omission and hurrying, together with the close application to study, finally told on my health until I was forced to leave school. I must have been in a truly pitiable condition from what my friends have since told me although at the time I am sure I did not half realize the seriousness of my case. My parents decided to send me on a trip to Southern California."

"On the train I made the acquaintance of a Mr. Weissenger, a wholesale grocer of Chicago, who was interested in my case. He heard my story and advised me to try Grape-Nuts, a food greatly relished by his own family. From what he told me of the food I longed to try it but I did not expect to find it beyond the Rocky mountains. To my surprise on arriving at Los Angeles I noticed a box of Grape-Nuts on my aunt's sideboard. That marked the beginning of my health and comfort. Since then I have come to look upon the food Grape-Nuts as a synonym for good health and happiness." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Hemphill and Pennsylvania avenues, W. W. Heathote, M. A., will deliver an address on "The Last Seven Words of Christ." Services commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. W. S. Wilson, chief of the state medical examining board, will deliver an address to the graduation class of the Fort Worth Medical College, at the closing exercises Tuesday evening. There will be three fifteen-minute addresses, one by Dr. Wilson, one by W. D. Williams and one by Dr. Bacon Saunders.

At the Worth: George H. Green Dallas; W. F. Read, Lampass; Charles Eubank, Dallas; J. F. Dewitt, Muscatine, Iowa; H. L. Stewart, Gainesville; Fred Warren, Sherman; M. M. Hawkins, Vernon; Miss Hortense Martin, city; C. O. Elliott, city; Ed W. Proctor, Boyd; C. L. Stone, Pilot Point; T. R. Coulson, Trinidad.

The ladies of the Broadway Baptist church will give a "caneek social" at the residence of J. L. Johnson, 412 Adams street, tomorrow afternoon and evening. The hours are from 3 to 6 and 8 to 11. There will be a social and musical entertainment. There will also be some pictures. Young and old alike are cordially invited to be present.

Little Miss Mary Lizzie Knowles of the North Side gave a dainty luncheon Friday evening, which was attended by a bevy of little people, being Misses Mary Lizzie Knowles, Hettie and Bessie Mitchell, Sarah Hill, Juanita Duvall, Katie Kee Sanders, Madie Sanders, Maud and Aida McKinney and Anna Nix; Masters Connor Hill and Arthur Moore.

One of the most beautiful pieces of church finishings in the community is the magnificent curtain painting, "Modern Jerusalem," presented to the Christian Tabernacle by the Girls' Society of that church. A service of sermon and song appropriate to the scene will be held at the Tabernacle Sunday evening, at which time this beautiful curtain will be displayed to those who attend the services. The celebrated solo, "The Holy City," will be sung as a tenor solo by Mr. Jones of the Tabernacle choir, in addition to a number of other special pieces by the choir. It is thought that the closing of the large archway on the platform by the new curtain will greatly improve the acoustic properties of the Tabernacle.

$1000 REWARD

CITIZENS OF FORT WORTH
We Want You to Know a Few Things, To-Wit:

There is not a liquor house in Fort Worth that has a license to sell liquors in ANY quantity except H. Brann & Co. A wholesale liquor house, in selling you a quart or a half a gallon of liquor, violates the law and a retail liquor house or a saloon selling you a dozen bottles of beer or two gallons of whisky also violates the law.

We will pay one thousand dollars to any person who can disprove the correctness of these statements.

We also want you to know that we carry the largest assortment of liquors, whiskies and wines in the city of Fort Worth and mention but one item, the bottled-in-bond whiskies, of which we have in stock:

- Green River, 1897.
- Caney Creek, 1898.
- Old Crow, 1896.
- Cedar Brook, 1895.
- Clark's Pure Rye, 1898.
- Melwood, 1898.
- Hill & Hill, 1896.
- Old Dearborn Rye, 1895.
- Woodford Club, 1897.
- Vandegrift Rye, 1894.
- Diamond Crown, 1893.

Our stock of wines and other liquors is also complete, our prices are right, our guarantee goes with every sale. Your money back if you are not satisfied. We deliver to your homes. Call us or telephone your orders. Ladies may purchase at our wholesale department with perfect propriety.

Respectfully yours,

H. BRANN & CO.

HOW ROOSEVELT HEARD NEWS OF THE FIGHT

WASHINGTON, April 4.—At 3 o'clock Wednesday morning the watchman inside the White House was sitting in his chair in the entrance corridor. A call bell rang violently. The watchman looked at the indicator and jumped two feet in the air. "Good heavens!" he exclaimed. "It's the president's room." He rushed upstairs. The door to the president's room was ajar. "Is anything the matter, Mr. President?" he asked, excitedly. "No," said the president, "but I wish you would call up one of the telegraph offices by phone and find out who won the fight at San Francisco." "Cisco."

Five minutes later the watchman came back and told the president that Young Corbett had won in eleven rounds.

"That's too bad," said the president. "I had, I thought McGuffin would win. Thank you very much. Good night."

BOYKIN MAY USE MARCONI SYSTEM

FORT WORTH YOUNG MAN'S IMPORTANT WORK

Now in Charge of South Farallone Island Weather Bureau, Near San Francisco. Government May Install Marconi Wireless Plant

News has been received in Fort Worth that Stanley Boykin, formerly of this city and whose mother and sisters still reside here, is not only now in charge of the new weather bureau station on South Farallone Island, near San Francisco, but that he probably will be the first weather bureau officer to regularly operate by means of the Marconi system. The government has sent a cable to San Francisco to connect the island with the mainland, but A. G. McAde, the chief weather bureau officer, has made a strong effort to have a Marconi plant installed and has received news that his plan is receiving favorable consideration.

If the Marconi system is decided upon Mr. Boykin will operate it from the island end. Pending the installation of the Marconi system, a cable will be laid, as the distance is only twenty-eight miles. The San Francisco Chronicle of last Sunday said: "Observer Stanley Boykin will leave today for his new station on the Farallone Islands, the third substation of the United States weather bureau at San Francisco, which will be connected by cable with the mainland in about three weeks and is equipped with the same apparatus as is in the main office in San Francisco."

"San Francisco has now the largest weather bureau in the United States, except that at Washington, D. C., with three well-equipped suboffices as feeders—at Point Reyes, Mount Tamalpais and the Farallones. The secretary of agriculture, the chief of the weather bureau at Washington, and the California congressional delegation worked assiduously to obtain these stations for this city. The new observatory will facilitate the weather forecast and will also be provided with a powerful telescope with which passing vessels can be seen thirty miles off the station.

"The new station has been named Main Top, located on an eminence of the same name, half a mile from the light-house, on the southeast island of the group, the only accessible one. It is twenty-seven geographical miles from Point Lobos, and directly west from the Cliff house."

"Observer Boykin comes from Fort Worth, Texas, where he was connected with the United States weather bureau for three years.

"In speaking of the new project Mr. McAde, the local forecast official, said: "We expect to have the cable in operation before the end of three weeks. The purpose of establishing a weather bureau station on the Farallones is to enable us to study marine climatology. The shipping community will also derive benefit from the cable, as vessels will be reported far out at sea."

HON. LUTHER MANSHIP

HON. LUTHER MANSHIP of Mississippi will appear at the CHRISTIAN TABERNACLE Thursday evening, April 9, in "FROM THE CABIN TO THE BIG HOUSE."

Memphis Appeal — "Hon. Luther Manship's evening proved a delightful entertainment."

Nashville Banner — "Mr. Manship is the Sol Smith Russell of the South and his wonderful impersonations fully justify the title."

Dallas News — "Hon. Luther Manship was the star attraction of the Chautauqua. His are not studied but natural gifts."

Atlanta News — Luther Manship is one of the most captivating, humorous, and inimitable platform entertainers who have ever visited Atlanta.

Richmond, Va., Dispatch — "Manship's 'Evening' at the Academy of Music last night was one of the most humorous and eloquent ever heard in Richmond. There was a vast audience present."

Opie Read — "Luther Manship stands upon the crest of his profession."

Admission—50 cents. Auspices, Girls' Aid Society.

CRUM, the Charleston negro, over whose appointment there was such a determined fight, has been asked to resign by a friend of Roosevelt. The man said he did not assume to speak for the president, but that the resignation would be gratifying to many friends of the president, and that Crum would be given a good place in the diplomatic service. It is said Crum promised to give the matter serious consideration.

EL PASO, Texas, April 4.—A number of forged money orders were brought to light here today. Orders were purchased at Santa Fe, N. M., for small sums and raised for $40 each, being passed on local merchants.

FIGHT WITH KEENE ENDS IN HIS DEATH

NEW YORK, April 4.—William Harriman, brother of E. H. Harriman, the great railroad man and financier, died today. He was the stock exchange member of the firm and his health broke down under the tremendous strain of the Northern Pacific corner.

Since then he has traveled in Germany and Florida in order to regain it and was in fair shape until the present fight with Keene brought a recurrence of the old symptoms and his weakened constitution was unable to resist the strain.

is ever caused by our prices. Our work, goods, and charges give three-fold satisfaction. A house without electrical appliances is only half furnished, the most important factors of comfort being omitted. Don't stick to Grandfather's ways from the mistaken opinion that electricity is too expensive for you, because it is not. Modern ideas are within everybody's reach.

Bound & Broiles ELECTRICIANS

1006 Houston Street.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Colonel H. H. Quick of the Forty-seventh regiment lies at the point of death from blood poison, caused by the application of an X-ray, made to discover the nature of an old wound. This spread septic poison over his whole system and it has now reached the neighborhood of his heart.

FIGHT FOR FAIR MILLIONS

Here are some of the figures in the fight for the Fair millions. On the right a re Mr. and Mrs. Fair, who were killed in an automobile accident in France. On the left are Abe Nelson and "Bill" Smith, relations of Mrs. Fair, who claim she died last and hence they are entitled to the Fair fortune. Smith's picture is on the top.

NEWS and COMMENT

LINE-UP FOR TODAY'S GAME

Marlin Fort Worth. Orlandorf Catcher. McMurray Pitcher. Reynolds and Lockhead First base. McClelland Second base. Unknown Third base. Combs Shortstop. Moynihan Left field. Moore Center field. Barrett Right field. Poindexter.

Fort Worth fans will get their first peep at the new Fort Worth Texas League team, or rather the portion of it that has arrived, this afternoon at Haines' park. At 3:30 o'clock play will be called for a game with the strong club that Emmet Rogers has collected about him to represent Marlin.

boys. They have had practically no practice, while the visitors have played several games and for over two weeks have been in active training at Marlin.

If Lockhead arrives it is probable he will pitch a part of the game as his arm should be in good condition after his winter's work on the coast. The tedious train ride, however, probably will have taken most of the ginger out of him.

Reynolds has not had a catcher to pitch to thus far and, therefore, he has had no opportunity to let out his arm. Everything considered, it looks like the local team is in for a poor start, but, then, today's game won't be counted in the championship race, so there is something to be thankful for.

Boyer did not show up well in the practice, or, at least, not well enough to suit the local manager's fancy, and he was told yesterday that the team would endeavor to toddle along without him. The other boys put in some good licks Friday afternoon and yesterday morning and afternoon. They made an excellent impression.

The state, will be present and take part in each session. Her blackboard talks will instruct everyone who hears her.

The convention will be held at the First Baptist church. There will be plenty of good music, including vocal and instrumental selections.

MAY COTTON GOES UP TWENTY POINTS

NEW YORK, April 4.—Extensive coverings by the shorts sent May cotton up 20 points to 10.29 cents today. This is the highest figure reached since the present movement began. From the top figure May declined 10 points and then rallied. From outward appearances the bull element seemed to oppose rather than encourage the advance, which was due primarily to a realization of shorts' difficulties in meeting contracts. All ordinary market conditions were ignored, however, in the wild scramble for cover.

BEAUMONT MURDERER GIVEN LIFE TERM

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 4.—R. P. Wilkerson, formerly of Austin, was today found guilty of murdering his wife and was given a life term. The shooting occurred some time ago in the oil fields, the two being alone in the house at the time. Wilkerson declared the shooting was entirely accidental.

BODY OF LATE JUDGE IS FOUND IN A FIELD

TROY, N. Y., April 4.—The body of Henry T. Nason, judge of Rensselaer county, who had been missing since Monday, has been found in a field south of Albany. Indications were that he had taken his own life. The reason for the act is thought to have been despondency.

JAMES A. MEADOWS DIES FROM WOUNDS

James A. Meadows, the man who either attempted to commit suicide or sustained an accident by falling in his room at the Buwair, on Houston street, last Monday night, died at St. Joseph's hospital at noon yesterday.

The injuries which led to the man's death were two deep incisions in the left wrist. One of them partially severed the artery, and from this wound he almost bled to death the night of the occurrence.

Little is known of the deceased in this city. He has a brother at Denison, and is said to be of a good family. Troubles which he did not reveal are said to have caused him to resort to drink.

The remains of the deceased are at the undertaking parlors of L. P. Robertson, on Houston street, where they will await the arrival of the brother. A 15-year-old son of the deceased is expected in the city today.

MISS CORA CARTER PROVES THE WINNER

News was received in Fort Worth last night that Miss Cora Carter of this city was the winner of the piano offered by the Kansas City paper to the young lady obtaining for it the largest number of subscribers in a given length of time. The contest closed last week. Miss Carter is a popular Fort Worth girl. She worked hard for the prize. Last night she received the congratulations of a host of friends.

PRaise SERVICE PROGRAM SUNDAY

The program for the praise service at the Broadway Presbyterian church this evening will be as follows: Organ voluntary. Mr. Pitner; opening sentence; prayer; hymn; responsive reading; anthem, "Send Out the Light," by Gaudin; announcements and offertory; solo, "O Holy City," William G. Armstrong; Scripture reading; hymn; anthem, "Day Break," Kuchen; hymn; solo and chorus; benediction; postlude, Mr. Pitner.

BLACKBOARD TALKS ARE INSTRUCTIVE

The state Sunday school convention will be held in this city April 15 to 17, for which arrangements have been all completed. As the date approaches, interest in the coming session of Sunday school workers increases. Men and women of international prominence, as well as persons of state-wide note, will make the 1903 convention the best in the history of the organization.

CHINESE TROUBLE IS GETTING WORSE

SHANGHAI, April 4.—Advised received from Fou Cheng, in the province of Hui-Pei, say a large detachment of Hunanese troops arrived at Fou Cheng March 12 on their way to Sian Fu, in the province of Shen-Si. This is regarded as being confirmatory of the rumors that Prince Tuan and General Tung Fu Siang have sent an ultimatum to the dowager empress, insisting on the deposition of the emperor and enthronement of Pu Chuan, formerly heir apparent.

LABOR TROUBLES YET AT CHILDRESS

Upon the authority of an officer of the International Association of Machinists, The Telegram is in a position to state positively that the strike on the Denver road at Childress has not been adjusted. A report to that effect was sent out from that place a few days ago, but as stated elsewhere in this paper, it has proven to be erroneous.

Local officials of the road who have endeavored to conceal the fact that they have been at Childress, met committees composed of machinists, boiler makers, blacksmiths and tinmiths last week, but nothing has been accomplished in the way of adjusting the differences. There is a probability of the strike becoming general on the entire system, according to reports issued from Denver, Col.

TRUCK GROWERS HEARD BY COUNCIL

At the meeting of the city council Friday night Dr. W. S. Gilbert and D. H. Hightower appeared as a committee from the Tarrant County Truck Growers' Association and earnestly prayed the council to pass an ordinance designating any one of several different places in the city as a market place and forcing the truck growers to assemble there to do their trading. After some discussion the matter was referred to the street and alley committee.

The Northern Texas Traction Company is now building its line south on Hemphill street. At the Terrell avenue crossing it will be necessary for the company to buy at least one lot, owing to an "offset" at that point. The company announces that it is willing to buy if this can be done at a reasonable price. The matter was discussed by the council Friday evening and was finally referred to the street and alley committee and the city engineer.

TERRITORY TOWN HAS DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

PAULS VALLEY, I. T., April 4.—At 3:30 o'clock this morning a fire which originated in a restaurant destroyed nine buildings located on Pauls avenue, near the depot, south side. The cause of origin is not known. The buildings were all frame and were owned principally by S. J. Garvin, J. V. Thompson and John Clemens. Several of the houses burned were occupied by restaurants. John K. Roody, a grocer, was burned out. Sam Connor, meat market, total loss. J. B. Thompson, law office, Hightower building, damaged $500 by removal. Miss Olyphant, millinery, damaged $250 by removal. Dick Schranbach, furniture, damage by removal, $500. The Hightower building on the corner was not burned, but he lost heavily by removal of his stock of goods. The total loss by the fire is about $7,000, with no insurance.

BULGARIANS AND ANTI-MASONS ALBANIANS BUSY FORM NEW SOCIETY

SALONICA, April 4.—It is reported that the Russian consul at Mitrovitza, who was shot in the back by an Albanian sentry, is dead.

BULGARIANS BLOW UP BRIDGE. SALONICA, April 4.—The railroad bridge over the Angista river near Drama was blown up by Bulgarians during the night of April 1. All the telegraph wires in the vicinity have been cut. Drama is about thirty miles from Serree, Macedonia.

GREAT BATTLE REPORTED. BERLIN, April 4.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Lokal Anzeiger, dated noon today, announces that the Bulgarian bands and Turkish troops of the Ohrida district have fought a battle and that 1,000 men were killed or wounded.

ANOTHER INFANT FOUND IN TRINITY

LARGE ROCK ATTACHED TO CHILD INDICATIVE OF MURDER

Body Discovered by Arthur Higgins Near Street Car Bridge—Seven Infants Recovered From Trinity River in Past Six Months

Yesterday afternoon the dead body of an infant was found in Trinity river about one hundred yards below the street car bridge. The corpse was that of a white male child, and from the state of decomposition life had been extinct for several days. A large rock tied to the body was evidence of murder, which probability was included in the inquest verdict.

The body was wrapped in a cloth and evidently had been thrown into the river soon after birth. It was discovered by Arthur Higgins, a youth residing near the river, who had gone to the stream to fish. The body was removed to the office of Justice Charles T. Rowland, who conducted the inquest, the verdict revealing the facts substantially as stated above. The remains were interred in the potters' field.

THE FATE OF MANY. Within the past six months, seven infants have been taken from Trinity river under circumstances similar to the above. The police department has investigated each case thoroughly, but in each instance the perpetrator has so successfully concealed his identity as to be able to evade apprehension and punishment by the law.

DR. ROBERT E. CARLYLE THE GREAT MAGNETIC HEALER

Who has arrived in Fort Worth, Texas, and will open up a permanent office at 403 West Belknap Street, for the cure of Rheumatism and Paralytic Cripples. Office will be open to the public Monday, April 6. For the first thirty days, Rheumatic and Paralytic Cripples will be treated free of all cost. Through this wonderful treatment the deaf will be made to hear and the blind to see. Consultation and examination free to all. The doctor offers $1000 for any case of Rheumatism or Paralysis he fails to cure under this wonderful treatment. Catarrh, Stomach, Kidney and Liver Troubles will be cured free for the first thirty days. Also Blood Poison, Scrofula, Tumors, Cancers and all Contagious Diseases. Office hours daily, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sunday hours, 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., Sunday evening 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. No one can form any idea of the miraculous cures performed by Dr. Carlyle without the aid of any medicines, knife or poisonous drugs. A man on crutches for years is cured in a few weeks of the time simply by this new method of Vital Healing. "Miraculous" is the expression one hears on all sides. Any one going to his office will be convinced of the days of miracles of the past, and wonder at the strange events of the prehistoric ages, little dreaming that the same mysterious cures are done in this, our own city, yet incredulity and unbelief are stamped so indelibly upon our minds that we are loth to believe our own eyes. We doubt and wonder if it can be true. Today people can be seen walking our streets like young men, who but a few short months ago were crippled and upon crutches never expecting any relief this side of the grave, but by the mysterious power of Dr. Carlyle they have been healed, the deaf to hear and the blind to see. These things are truly strange, and seemingly more strange from the fact that they are cured by so simple a method.

Dr. Carlyle's name and fame have been hurled by the glad voices of men, women and children to every city, town, hamlet and village in this country. For what he has and is doing for suffering humanity, without a dose of medicine or drawing a drop of blood, with a surgeon's knife. All manner of diseases, no matter how long the patient has suffered, yield alike to this wonderful treatment. The mighty, vital power given through this doctor's wonderful physical touch often changes the suffering one instantly from a condition of agony to peaceful rest and perfect health. Mothers are bringing to Dr. Carlyle's office scores of sick, emaciated helpless children. Some have hip diseases, others are paralyzed and deformed with spinal diseases. All are rapidly relieved and many restored to perfect use of themselves. Other little ones, blind and mentally weak, as well as deformed in body, are brought to the use of their mental faculties, and their weak, helpless bodies revive with new vitality, and are thus enabled to develop as nature intended they should. Old men and women are lifted back from feeble, faltering footsteps to stately carriage and almost youthful vivacity. There is nothing in all the past or present healing that has cured so many people suffering from all manner of diseases as the method practiced by Dr. Carlyle at his office. Every mother, every father that has a sick child that other doctors cannot cure take it to Dr. Carlyle and he will restore it to speedy and perfect health, without medicine or causing the poor little sufferer a moment's pain. Young man or young woman, if you are suffering from an ailment and cannot get well, go and see Dr. Carlyle, he will tell you what to do, get well and keep well. Your diseases and their causes explained to you in the simplest of language without asking you a single question. EXAMINATION AND CONSULTATION FREE TO ALL

WACO GIRL IS CHOSEN AS NATIONAL SPONSOR

WACO, Texas, April 4.—Commander-in-Chief Thomas P. Stone today announced the appointment of Miss Leona Randall of Waco, as national sponsor at the New Orleans reunion for the Sons of Confederate Veterans. The young lady has accepted and has designated as maids of honor Misses Mamie Cornelius and Dollis Padgett, both of Waco, and Stella M. Leverett of New Orleans. Miss Randall is a daughter of Dr. G. W. Randall, who served with the Terry Rangers during the war.

PLANO SCHOOL HOUSE IS TOTALLY BURNED

AMERICANS HEAVY WINNERS FROM MONTE CARLO BANK

MONTE CARLO, April 4.—Americans have been lucky at Monte Carlo this season. Many of them recently won heavily, though none have broken the bank. The latest winners are Joseph Reading, a San Francisco lawyer, and the Marquis Dirudini. They are credited with winning a large portion of the two million francs which the bank lost last week.

NEW YORK IN GRIP OF AN ICY BLIZZARD

NEW YORK, April 4.—New York is in the grip of a veritable blizzard. The thermometer dropped thirty-four degrees since this morning and there was a sharp fall of snow. It is the coldest April since 1874. Doctors predict an epidemic of pneumonia will follow.

SITUATION IN BALKANS GROWS STEADILY WORSE

VIENNA, April 4.—The situation in the Balkans grows steadily worse. There is constant fighting with the small bands of Bulgarians, Macedonians and Albanians. Atrocious acts have been committed by both sides on the non-combatants. The Porte is making every effort to restore peace, but it is futile.

PASSENGERS ARE SAVED FROM PERIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 4.—Early today eighteen passengers and two of the crew of the steamer Albion River, which went on the rocks yesterday near Bodega point, were landed in this city by a tug. Seven men remain on the ill-fated vessel. Their position is extremely critical.

FINE STOCK SHOW AT PURCELL, I. T.

PURCELL, I. T., April 4.—Entries for the fine stock show that is to be held here April 7, 8 and 9 are now all in and give ample assurance that the show will be the best ever held in the territory and that it will compare very favorably with the one held in Fort Worth recently. In fact, many of the blue ribbon exhibits of the Fort Worth show will be here, besides many other blooded cattle that were not exhibited in the Texas city.

Among those who have entered stock are B. C. Rhoms of Fort Worth, W. S. Uard of Henrietta, T. M. Hoben of Nacoms, Texas; Campbell Russell of Bennett, I. T.; Ed Alkire of Lexington, Ok.; J. W. Carey of Armstrong, I. T.; J. C.

Washington of Marietta, I. T., who will exhibit the cream of his herd of 218 registered Shorthorns; J. F. Hovenkamp of Fort Worth and J. T. Day of Rhoms, Texas. In all, there have been 230 entries, of which the pedigrees of about 190 have been examined and found as represented. The auctioneers of the sale that will take place in connection with the show are Colonel James W. Sparks of Marshall, Mo., and Colonel R. L. Harriman of Gunston, Mo.

DR. KELLOGG ASKS FOR VINDICATION

OAKLAND, Cal., April 4.—Dr. John H. Kellogg, president of the board of trustees of the Seventh-Day Adventist sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich., addressing the conference of his denomination here, has demanded an opportunity to crush what he declared was an attack upon himself and his motives toward the institution of which he is the active executive head. In a speech of over two hours Dr. Kellogg reviewed the institution's history and his connection with it from his boyhood. Dr. Kellogg said he had been charged with dishonest motives and methods, and asked for an investigation by the conference.

Henry Griese departed for Trinidad, Col., last night. Mrs. Griese will remain at their residence, 126 White street, for three or four weeks, and will then join her husband in Trinidad.

SHOULD HE COME BACK.
"Should he come back this way, Unlatch the gate?"
"Tell him how each long day I did but wait."

"And should he question, still, And know me not?"
"Fits, as sisters will, His sorry lot."

"And if he asks your place, How best be told?"
"Give him (and turn your face) My ring of gold."

"And if he quest about The dwelling o'er?"
"Show him the lamp gone out— The open door."

"And if he ask me child How fell you sleep?"
"Ah, tell him then, I smiled, Lest he should weep!"

—Agnes Lee, translated from Maurice Maeterlinck.

It is said that several thousand Texas steers will be sent to South Africa for the Boers. Now if only Hoyt's Texas Steer is included!

An Indiana preacher in a sermon said that a woman who wore plumes in her hat could never go to heaven. Whereupon four women present rose and plucking their feathers from their chapeaus threw them into the stove. Will that eloquent divine kindly preach a sermon to a company of Knights Templars when they are wearing the habiliments of that order? The women will see to it that there will be no burnt sacrifices however.

A Wisconsin woman died after yawning three days. The jokes some husbands make would have a fatal effect— if encouraged.

The vice president of the National Butchers' union, has a plan whereby it is expected eventually to do away with woman labor in the packing plants in the country. He says that the wages of women be increased gradually until their compensation equals that of the men, and then the packers will hire men in preference to women.

Lay on Macduff!
Among the many valuable treatises on etiquette, and of all the anxious souls who apply to etiquette authorities as to how to deport themselves on trying occasions, it seems strange that no one has seen fit to treat on matters that are so frequent an occurrence that the public is beginning to take cognizance of them.

How, for instance, should the wife of a man, who has been lax in the observance of his matrimonial duties, conduct herself when she becomes a widow? This has become of some moment for instances are multiplying wherein the conduct of the relicts of Lotherish husbands are contributing to the material for a nine day's talk with no adequate compensation.

When Pierre Lorillard died and Mrs. Pierre gave a ball a few weeks after, (or was it days?) just to show the world, as it were, that she did not care that the widow Allen had had a string to the aforesaid Pierre, most folks who had previously condemned Pierre took second thought, and wondered if maybe after all he were not entitled to a small corner of the mantle of charity.

And now comes the widow of Gen. Sir Hector Macdonald, to call attention again to the behavior of the I-am-glad-he-got-it-in-the-neck kind of widow. When the general committed suicide in Paris his body was shipped to London in a rough packing case and there it was placed without ceremony in a one horse parcel wagon on which was a pictorial advertisement and driven across the city for shipment to Scotland, the relatives following in a hired cab. Arriving in Edinburgh Mrs. General had the body interred immediately in the Dean cemetery instead of at the family home as had been the general's expressed wish. The hour the widow named for the interment was 6 o'clock, or about daylight. Great pressure was brought to bear upon her by the various Scotch societies both in London and Edinburgh for a different arrangement but the lady was inflexible. There were to be no martial honors paid the man whose feet had strayed from the straight and narrow path even though that man was, or had been, her husband.

These things bring to mind thoughts that are not always complimentary to the lady, even though she may have had considerable cause for her indignation. A wife has rights that every man who owns one should respect, but there is no gainsaying that man is also a wayward "critter" and the wife who does not recognize this is piling up mountains of disappointment for herself, and when she brings to her aid neither philosophy nor pride she will sooner or later make a spectacle of herself, and instead of sympathy going out to her, it will be given to the doer of the misdeeds that have put her up in the air.

Especially will this be so when she makes of his death an opportunity for displaying her outraged feelings. It bears so close a resemblance to vindictiveness that people will not scan closely for the difference and "poor chap" will be the involuntary and universal thought.

There are plenty of women who bear with men of the gutter stamp for any one of a number of reasons, who have been and are mute as to their sufferings, shame and humiliations. But they do not give dances, and make merry as soon as death takes a hand in settling things; nor do they refuse the respect to the dead that the laws of Christian civilization provide. Marriage carries with it obligations for the wife, quite independent of the man's conduct. When a woman fails to recognize or honor these obligations she forfeits every claim to consideration or sympathy.

But as at first remarked, the books on etiquette have not yet ruled upon this subject.

SOCIETY.

Received by many Fort Worth friends Cards of invitation are being reffer for the marriage of Miss Elina Renfro of Opelika, Ala., to Charles Vine Ingram. The bride is the daughter of Judge F. M. Renfro of Opelika, a prominent Alabama jurist, and the ceremony will take place on the evening of Wednesday, April the fifteenth, at the family residence.

Mr. Ingram is prominently identified with the business interests of Fort Worth, and during his residence here has become a social favorite and is a member of several of the popular clubs. The congratulations that are being extended come from these new and sincere friends who will extend a cordial welcome to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingram will be at home after April 20 at 810 Lamar street.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Blanche Brazelton to Charles Herbert Silliman, the ceremony to take place in the chapel of the university on the evening of Tuesday, April 21. The officiating clergymen will be Dr. O. L. Fisher and the Rev. Luther Little.

This simple announcement will call from the hearts of hundreds of friends here and elsewhere a world of heartiest congratulations and loving interests. Mrs. Brazelton is not only admired for her great artistic talent, but is widely loved for every quality that adorns womanhood. Mr. Silliman is known and honored in every social and business relation.

The Current Literature Club and a few friends were entertained by Mrs. Brann, the club president, last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hollingsworth, a guest, winning a handsomely bound volume of "Quotations and Proverbs and their Origin," in a cut with Mrs. Campbell, for answering correctly the literary questions, which this always ingenious and original hostess provided. After the contest, musical numbers were furnished and the delight of the guests was equal to the excellence of their renditions. Mrs. Oates charmed by several piano selections, and Miss Kahn of New York proved to be a more than usually accomplished musician. The duets of Mr. and Mrs. Brann gave opportunity for special enjoyment in hearing Boldieu's "Kaliph of Bagdad," Weber's "Invitation to the Waltz" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" admirably played. The guests present beside the club members were Messdames Miller, Kruckman, Banks, Hollingsworth, Eubanks, McKinney, Tipton, Huriburt, Carb, Pommer, Weisman, B. Carb, Magruder, Stewart, Misses Kahn of New York and Herdendorf of Mississippi. The refreshments of cake and ices showed the club colors, white and green, in preparation and service, and the cards on which the contest questions were written were decorated with water colors and tied with green satin ribbon.

The party to be given on the afternoon of April 18 in Elk's hall by the wives of the Elks promises to be one of the most elaborate events of the season. Mrs. John Burke is chairman of the invitation committee, the others being Messdames W. P. McLean, Jr., Edward Burns, J. V. Goode, E. B. Catey, Niel P. Anderson and Leon Gross.

At the meeting of the executive board Monday afternoon it was favorably considered to give these card parties every two weeks until the weather becomes too warm.

The duplicate whist of maids and matrons met yesterday afternoon with Miss Bernie Newlin.

Miss Edrington will be the soloist of the Easter services of the Broadway Presbyterian church, singing "Show Me Thy Ways," by Torrente.

Mrs. Sherwood will be the guest of honor at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the North next Thursday, a number of her special friends in the Woman's Wednesday Club taking this opportunity of showing their affectionate admiration.

The Duplicate Whist Club met with Mrs. James Bullough Gray Thursday afternoon, the players present being Messdames Connery, McNatt, Burton, Olive Edrington Scott, Bernery, Mitchell, King; Misses Zane-Cattell, Carter.

Just Six More Days of Shopping Before Easter!

Your Easter Hat

So long as beautiful woman takes pride in her apparel, so long as art genius and skill are devoted to beauty-work for women, so long as the charm of beauty shall endure, women, and men who admire them, will take supreme interest in Easter Bonnets. First, because of the art and beauty expressed in the hats themselves. Second, because of their charm and becomingness to the women who wear them, and so this week is an important one in the calendar of spring, for it is the last before Easter—the last opportunity to secure your hat for the all important occasion.

There are many beautiful Paris and New York models on exhibition and the display is enhanced by original creations from our own trimmers.

The Children's Hats, too, are in every way as picturesque and beautiful as those for women.

"It Takes the Cake"

Is the usual favorable comment on the superb laundry work turned out at The Fort Worth Steam Laundry. The best of linen and other materials are easily ruined by careless and indifferent laundering. We cannot and do not hope to retain your patronage by slipshod work, and the best is none too good here.

ONIONS FOR A COLD.

It is claimed that a bad cold can be broken up by the patient remaining indoors and indulging in a liberal diet of onions. It need not be an exclusive diet, but it must be a liberal one. An onion cure breakfast includes a poached egg on toast, three table-

BEAUTY AND STRENGTH

Are desirable. You are strong and vigorous, when your blood is pure. Many, nay, most—women, fail to properly digest their food, and so become pale, sallow thin and weak, while the brightness, freshness and beauty of the skin and complexion depart. Remedy this unpleasant evil by eating nourishing food and taking a small dose of Herbine after each meal to digest what you have eaten. 50c at H. G. Panburn & Co's.

spoonfuls of fried onions and coffee.

Luncheon of sandwiches made of brown bread buttered and filled with finely chopped raw onions, seasoned with salt and pepper, makes the second meal on the schedule. For dinner the onions may be fried and eaten with a chop and baked potatoes. Onion syrup is claimed by some to be unequalled as a cure for a bad cold in the head.
 Onion plasters are prescribed to break up hard coughs. They are made of fried onions placed between two pieces of old muslin. The plaster is made quite hot and placed on the chest to stay over night.

IT HAS BEEN FREQUENTLY OBSERVED THAT the inhabitants of islands and small peninsulas attain longer life than those of continents. The Barbadoes, Greece, Madeira and the Shetlands are quoted as illustrations of the truth of this statement. "Full court dress" consists in England of either a black velvet suit with knee breeches or a plum-colored cloth suit of trousers. Both costumes are of modern invention, superseding the flapped coats of many colors and long embroidered waistcoats.

TOO GREAT A RISK

A reliable remedy for bowel complaints should always be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy never fails and when reduced with water is pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists.

The Social Season

Evans and Newlin. The players are striving for the season's trophy but as yet there is no hint of the winner. The game Thursday only serving to accentuate the present equilibrium of the score.

Mrs. King will be the next hostess.

The Marguerites played with Miss Pendleton last Thursday afternoon, the prize a lace fan, going to Miss Barnhart. Miss Yarna Beall was the only guest not a member of the club. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Martin.

The Progress Whist met with Mrs. I. Carb Thursday, a prize being provided for the club members and also one for the guests who were not members. These were: Mrs. Freefield, Mrs. Harris of Dallas, Miss Kahn of New York and Miss Hersdorfer of Mississippi. One-half dozen bread and butter plates from the Highland potteries went to Miss Mary Neumagen, and a decorated plate to Miss Hersdorfer.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Neumagen.

Mrs. M. P. Sanguinet entertained the Priscilla Club last Wednesday at luncheon, incidentally reminding her guests of days when they celebrated April 1 with juvenile fervor. The luncheon was started with all the accessories of the skilled cuisinier. The first course would have delighted an epicure. The second course was fritters, fruit fritters, crisp and brown, and each fork was piled with quickened appetite. One guest in haste brought to her assistance, serendipitously, a finger. The secret was out and Mrs. Mattison's ejaculation, "April Fool" won the prize, a bunch of carnations, the reward for the guest who would be the first to remember the day. Beside the club there were present Mrs. Flournoy, Mrs. Bryee, Mrs. Cook of Chicago and Mrs. Robert Walsh of St. Louis.

The young folks of Arlington Heights hearing that yesterday was the birthday of George La Mountain, and that Mrs. La Mountain had also Miss Marshall and the Misses Bruner as her guests, plotted meritment of the kind with the surprise party stamp. They assembled last evening and bore down upon the La Mountain home in a whirlwind of fun. The surprise really surprised and everybody was happy. The Yozolias will give one of their jolly dances on the evening of April 10.

One of the musical treats of the season will undoubtedly be the complimentary recital given by Rollin M. Pease on the evening of Tuesday, April 14, at St. Paul's church. The program will be delightfully chosen and admirers of Mr. Pease's singing, and they number all lovers of melody, are indulging in pleasurable anticipation.

The Better Halves met with Mrs. Harry Walton last Tuesday afternoon, the usual sewing hour having for its sequel a luncheon fit for a queen. Mrs. Hunt will be the next hostess, entertaining at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Steinfeld.

Mrs. Wyatt was the hostess of a charming whist party Thursday afternoon, a gracious hospitality supplementing an interior made beautiful by many blooming plants and a wealth of cut flowers. Carnations, pink and white, shared in equal favor, and had a background of palms and ferns. Lemonade was served during the afternoon, and teas, white and pink, with heart-shaped cakes, almonds and coffee, formed the refreshments.

A parchment Japanese picture was the prize, and was won by Mrs. Littlefair, while a bouquet of violets went to Mrs. S. M. Gaines.

Mrs. O. P. Haney and Mrs. M. P. Bewley assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests, who were Madames C. L. Ware, A. Fronquist, H. C. Edgington, D. B. Keeler, F. M. Mullins, R. E. Buchanan, H. Shilton, T. E. Coppage, E. T. Cinvent, Oates, William Orr, R. Tipton, Combs, Sterlys, F. A. Carlton, J. A. Randle, Ed Burns, S. M. Gaines, G. W. Macruder, G. E. Littlefair, W. V. Newlin, Beacham; Misses Edgington and Chase.

Dallas continues to place approbation upon our social leaders, the latest sign of favor being the appointment of Mrs. Winfield Scott as dowager queen at the coronation of the young queen of the Kaliph's carnival. Royal honors would be worn with becoming grace and dignity should Fort Worth be represented as Dallas has chosen.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burke will entertain the South Side Euchre club next Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Matlock entertained with a "finch" party Wednesday evening, a bunch of carnations rewarding Miss Bertha Watts who was decided the most accomplished "fincher." Salads and fees were the refreshments served to the guests who were Misses Diboll, Hyman, Smithy, Watts, Hattie and Ella Peacock; Messrs. Cameron, Parker, Reeves, Regger, Anderson and Stephens.

Miss Diboll entertained with a finch game Tuesday evening in so informal a way that all disclaim that it was a party even though the enjoyment was of the special party variety. There were no prizes but in the presence of the nicest sort of a luncheon they were not missed. The

A Demonstration of What Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Can Do

"One of our customers, a highly respected citizen of this place, had been for ten years a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea," writes Walden & Martin, druggists, of Enterprise, Ala. "He had used various patent preparations and been treated by physicians without any permanent benefit. A few months ago he commenced taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in a short time was entirely cured. Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of this statement." For sale by all druggists.

Brady, president. Meeting of all departments in parlors of Hotel Worth at 3 p. m. first Saturday in the month. Art section meets Thursdays at 2 p. m. with Miss Capper, the director, corner of First and Taylor streets. Literary section, Miss Mary Martin, director, in Sunday school room of Christian Tabernacle. Saturday afternoons at 3 o'clock. Educational section, Mrs. J. C. Terrell, president, in the high school parlor twice a month, subject to call of the president. Domestic science, first Friday afternoon in the month in the kindergarten kitchen, near corner of Fifteenth and Main streets. Philanthropy, Mrs. Wynne, president, meets in the county treasurer's office at the court house on alternate Mondays. Music, Mrs. A. S. Goetz, president, meets alternate Wednesdays with the director, Miss Henrietta Hendrick, 605, Burnett street.

The meeting of the Department Club yesterday afternoon was largely attended and the business transacted was of interest to the earnest club workers. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand sufficient to meet the obligations of the club for the remainder of the year, and after a discussion over distribution of funds it was left to the discretion of the executive board.

Miss Lalla Rookh Rawlins, Mrs. George Monnig, Mrs. August Males, Mrs. J. L. Jones, Mrs. Marion Carten, Mrs. George S. Stovall, Mrs. J. L. Cooper, Mrs. Leon Gross were elected to membership.

The reports of the different departments through the department chairmen were instructive and created much enthusiasm.

Mrs. Precourt for the literary section said:

We are glad to report that our class is still progressing, both in work and in attendance. The parliamentary drill conducted by Mrs. Jarvis has proven to be a successful and beneficial addition. One year book for 1904 is now in the hands of a competent committee.

Continuing Texas history, we have studied closely the era of revolution from which we learned the grave and just causes that prompted our fathers to throw off Mexican tyranny. Special attention was given to the unstable character of Santa Anna, which was compared with Houston, Austin and our martyred heroes of the Alamo, Travis, Bowie, Crockett and Bonham. Where in the list of the mighty dead can we find names that stand higher than these? One cannot read of the thrilling scenes in and around Goliad, where Fannin and his men fell, without his blood flowing quicker through his veins, for surely this furnishes the darkest page in the history of our country.

The enthusiasm manifested by the class during the recitation was, if possible, magnified by the decisive battle of San Jacinto, on that memorable day when Houston effected the capture of the self-styled Napoleon of the west.

Mrs. Goetz of the music section reported four new members and gives the following report of the last meeting:

The music section of the Department Club met with the director, Miss Hendrick, Wednesday afternoon and before taking up the regular program, gave attention to the program of the Thomas concert for next Wednesday afternoon. The compositions of special interest that will be played then were analysed by Miss Hendrick and followed with close interest by the club.

Mrs. Goetz read from the history of music of the XVIII century and Mrs. Comer defined Roman Mass, its origin and history. Mrs. Paxton's paper on the influence of Martin Luther on religious music was read by Miss Hendrick as Mrs. Paxton was absent.

The following is the outline of the next meeting: History of Music, 1st Half of XVIII Century.

1. What were the miracle plays? Their origin and history?

2. History of the opera? Its birth and development? Its meaning? Where originated? How many varieties of opera?

3. The story of the passion play?

4. "What is an oratorio? Its meaning, etc.?"

5. A Miserere? Its meaning and purpose?

6. Show the effect of the musical drama on the music of the church.

7. The Roman empire having been destroyed and its power for nourishing the art and science of music destroyed, what countries vied with each other in infusing new life into this art?

8. Analysis of Sonata form?

9. Chopin "Waltz," Bach "Invention," Mendelssohn "Song Without Words," Lang "Song."

Mrs. C. M. Brown, chairman of the art section, submitted the following report:

The art department is just closing the first period of its existence—that of Miss Capper's directorship—as she has decided to return to her home in Detroit in about two weeks. The club very much regrets that she must leave so soon. She has won the highest esteem of her pupils and her efforts have been most thorough and unselfish.

Another director must be found, and no doubt will continue the development and success of the class, but it will be in a different way. Miss Capper's place never can be filled by another. She has an individuality. It lives in the memory of all who know her. It radiates from all her work.

The club has increased in numbers. It now has ten very enthusiastic members.

The class study during the first half hour began with the earliest known art and followed its growth through succeeding centuries, and the rise and fall of early nations. The greatest practical lesson evolved is that the development of art typifies the degree of general culture and the rank of the country among the nations of the world. The more crude the artistic tastes the more barbarous the people.

The practical class work has been a free lesson in china painting. Each member has one or more finished pieces of decorated china of which she is very proud. The department does not intend to limit its work to the studio. As it increases in numbers and strength ways will be devised for the extension of the work for the good of a greater number.

We may be able to co-operate with the ward clubs in placing standard pictures in the school rooms. The teachers can be persuaded to talk for a few moments in general exercises of the difference in value of a work of art and a mere chromo, thus arousing the children to think and observe and cultivate the taste.

We may also arouse the interest of the children and parents to visit the traveling art gallery when it is here, while at present the masses think nothing of it. Each child can have a 10-cent box of water-color. Besides, the pleasure it will afford him, think of the thousands of tiny brain cells that will be started in development in line of art during the hours of play.

Art should be encouraged in personal appearance and home surroundings, and when the children so trained become the city fathers, shabby houses, ill-kept yards and dilapidated public buildings will be repulsive to them and be replaced by structures of beauty and harmony.

Many people past the prime of life think art and too often all things of beauty, to be nonsense and useless. We cannot hope often to change a brain already fixed in its development, but art always appeals to children. Their ideas may be very crude, but a little directed thought will exert a wonderful influence upon the people of a nation in one or two generations. The great artist soul will spring up and go on to success without our aid as it is impossible to suppress it.

Our great effort should be to arouse interest in artistic lines where otherwise it would have remained dormant.

We cordially invite all the members of the club to join the art department, even though they belong to other departments. The art work is different and interesting.

The report from the chairman of the domestic science section, Mrs. Hudson, is as follows:

The domestic science department held its regular meeting in the cooking school Thursday morning.

Miss Holden reported favorably from the high school work. She says that cream and ice will be served instead of soup when the settled warm weather comes.

The various committees on the baby show reported. Mrs. Fakes, as chairman, reported that the interest was great everywhere and there seemed no doubt that the baby show would be a great success and something long to be remembered in Fort Worth.

Mrs. James Swayne, chairman of the advertising committee, was ill and unable to be present, but she had persuaded Mr. Hutchison to advise and help in the advertising. They expect to advertise in the country papers, as they expect many babies from out of town.

Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Goetz, who were to canvass Houston street for prizes, reported that they had seen only a few firms as yet, but those responded gladly. These, added to those we already had, make quite a list, as follows:

A baby carriage, from Fakes & Co.

A handsome doll, from Parker-Lowe.

Five dollars in flowers, from Ellison.

Pair of fancy sandals, from Monnig's Leader.

Mickle-Burgher Hardware Company donated a prize for 3-year-old boy.

A doll trunk, from People's Store.

Box of candy, from Fort Worth Candy Kitchen.

Picture, from Collins Art Company.

Miss Ray Saunders, chairman of the committee of young ladies to exhibit the babies, reported the following list of young ladies who have kindly consented to assist her: Misses Virgie Padock, Donnie Lee Carter, Myrtle Davenport, Mary Harrison, Florence Hollingsworth, Mary Belle Slaughter, Ethel Wilkes, Kate Stripling, Kittle Belle Jenkins, Lela Chalk, Lillian Fakes, Georgia Booty, Verna Hovey, Louise Millican, Lena Evans, Tommy Montgomery, Ted Edgington, Bernice Newlin, Elizabeth Tarlton, Frances Tarlton, Maggie McLean and Katherine Boland.

We regret very much that through out delay in deciding upon a method for registering the babies we cannot publish our list for those who have kindly consented to assist her: Misses Virgie Padock, Donnie Lee Carter, Myrtle Davenport, Mary Harrison, Florence Hollingsworth, Mary Belle Slaughter, Ethel Wilkes, Kate Stripling, Kittle Belle Jenkins, Lela Chalk, Lillian Fakes, Georgia Booty, Verna Hovey, Louise Millican, Lena Evans, Tommy Montgomery, Ted Edgington, Bernice Newlin, Elizabeth Tarlton, Frances Tarlton, Maggie McLean and Katherine Boland.

We regret very much that through out delay in deciding upon a method for registering the babies we cannot publish our list for those who have kindly consented to assist her: Misses Virgie Padock, Donnie Lee Carter, Myrtle Davenport, Mary Harrison, Florence Hollingsworth, Mary Belle Slaughter, Ethel Wilkes, Kate Stripling, Kittle Belle Jenkins, Lela Chalk, Lillian Fakes, Georgia Booty, Verna Hovey, Louise Millican, Lena Evans, Tommy Montgomery, Ted Edgington, Bernice Newlin, Elizabeth Tarlton, Frances Tarlton, Maggie McLean and Katherine Boland.

We have decided to make the method very simple. Our secretary, Miss Ray Saunders, will receive the names and keep a list and all that is necessary is to send to her either by mail or phone the name of baby, name and address of parents, age and sex of baby. Her address is 426 Henderson street, and phone number 382.

Remember, that any baby in Texas is eligible, between 3 months and 3 years, and everyone is authorized to solicit babies.

Dr. Ellen Lawson Dabbs made the following announcement for the Parents' and Teachers' Club of the Fifth ward, as part of the educational report:

Under the head of educational work, of which department Mrs. J. C. Terrell is president, she stated, that being out of the city for some time, she had no report to make. She called upon Dr. Ellen Lawson Dabbs to give a report of some work being done in the Fifth ward.

Dr. Dabbs began by telling of the earnest work attempted by the mothers of that ward. At their last meeting they decided to have an open meeting some Friday afternoon, to which would be invited every mother in the ward, the honorable mayor and the alderman of the ward. Refreshments would be served and a plan exploited whereby the city council might be induced to build a school house in keeping with the demands of the times.

Dr. Dabbs closed by saying: "When I moved in that ward ten years ago the house was then old, out of date and unsightly. Time has not improved it. The Fifth ward, as the most populous ward of the city, deserves and should have a building in keeping with rapid growth and development that part the city. The date of the meeting will be announced and all well-wishers are invited to be present."

Mrs. Wynne, chairman of the department of philanthropy and civics, submitted the following report:

The department of philanthropy and civics has held only one meeting during the past month. The weather was inclement and barely a quorum was present. It seems that it takes cloudless skies and

ROOSEVELT ON THE TARIFF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

(Speech Delivered at Minneapolis, Minn., Last Night.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 4.—President Roosevelt spoke in part as follows: My Fellow Citizens:

At the special session of the senate held in March the Cuban reciprocity treaty was ratified. When this treaty goes into effect, it will confer substantial economic benefits alike upon Cuba, because of the widening of her market in the United States, and upon the United States, because of the equal widening and the progressive control it will give to our people in the Cuban market. This treaty is beneficial to both parties and justifies itself on several grounds.

In the first place we offer to Cuba her natural market. We can confer upon her a benefit which no other nation can confer; and for the very reason that we have started her as an independent republic, and that we are rich, prosperous and powerful, it behooves us to stretch out a helping hand to our feeble younger sister. In the next place it widens the market for our products, both the products of the farm and certain of our manufactures; and it is therefore in the interests of our farmers, manufacturers, merchants and wage-workers. Finally, the treaty was not merely warranted but demanded, apart from all other considerations by the enlightened consideration of our foreign policy. More and more in the future we must occupy a preponderant position in the waters and along the coasts in the region south of us; not a position of control over the republics of the south, but of control of the military situation so as to avoid any possible complications in the future. Under the Platt amendment Cuba agreed to give us certain naval stations on her coast.

NAVY STATIONS.

The Navy Department decided that we needed but two, and we have specified where these two are to be. President Palma has concluded an agreement giving them to us—an agreement which the Cuban legislature will doubtless soon ratify. In other words, the Republic of Cuba has assumed a special relation to our international political system, under which she gives us outposts of defense, and we are morally bound to extend to her in a degree the benefit of our own economic system.

PHILIPPINE TARIFF.

Equally important was the action on the tariff upon products of the Philippines. We gave them a reduction of twenty-five per cent, and would have given them a reduction of twenty-five per cent more had it not been for the opposition. In the hurried closing days of the last session, certain gentlemen who by the way, have been representing themselves both as peculiarly solicitous for the interests of the Philippine people and as special champions of the lowering of tariff duties. There is a distinctly humorous side to the fact that the reduction of duties which would benefit Cuba and the Philippines as well as ourselves was antagonized chiefly by those who in theory have been fond of proclaiming themselves the advanced guardians of the oppressed nationalities in the islands affected and the ardent advocates of the reduction of duties generally, but who instantly took violent ground against the practical steps to accomplish either purpose.

HITS COAL TRUST.

Moreover, a law was enacted putting anthracite on the free list and completely removing the duties on all other kinds of coal for one year.

TARIFF POLICY.

The general tariff policy, to which, without regard to changes in detail, I believe this country is irrevocably committed, is fundamentally based upon ample recognition of the difference between the cost of production—that is, the cost of labor—here and abroad, and of the need to see to it that our laws shall in no event afford advantage in our own market to foreign industries over American industries, to foreign capital over American capital, to foreign labor over our own labor.

This country has and this country needs better paid, better educated, better fed, and better clothed workmen, of a higher type, than are to be found in any foreign country. It has and it needs a higher, more vigorous, and more prosperous type of tillers of the soil than is possessed by any other country. The business men, the merchants and manufacturers, and the managers of the transportation interests show the same superiority when compared with men of their type abroad.

The events of the last few years have shown how skillfully the leaders of American industry use in international business competition the mighty industrial weapons forged for them by the resources of our country, the wisdom of our laws, and the skill, the inventive genius, and the administrative capacity of our people.

It is, of course, a mere truism to say that we want to use everything in our power to foster the welfare of our entire body politic. In other words, we need to treat the tariff as a business proposition, from the standpoint of the interests of the country as a whole, and not with reference to the temporary needs of any political party. It is almost as necessary that our policy should be stable as that it should be wise.

A nation like ours could not long stand the ruinous policy of readjusting its business to radical changes in the tariff at short intervals, especially when, as now, owing to the immense extent and variety of our products, the tariff schedules carry rates of duty on thousands of different articles. Sweeping and violent changes in such a tariff, touching so vitally the interests of all of us, embracing agriculture, labor, manufactures, and commerce, would be disastrous in any event, and they would be fatal to our present well-being if approached on the theory that the principle of the protective tariff was to be abandoned. The business world, that is, the entire American world, can not afford, if it has any regard for its own welfare, even to consider the advisability of abandoning the present system.

Yet, on the other hand, where the industrial conditions so frequently change, as with us must necessarily be the case, it is a matter of prime importance that we should be able from time to time to adapt our economic policy to the changed conditions. Our aim should be to preserve the policy of a protective tariff, in which the Nation as a whole has acquiesced, and yet wherever and whenever necessary to change the duties in particular paragraphs or schedules as matters of legislative detail, if such change is demanded by the interests of the Nation as a whole.

MAKING CHANGES.

In making any readjustment there are certain important considerations which can not be disregarded. If a tariff law has on the whole worked well, and if business has prospered under it and is prospering, it may be better to endure some inconveniences and inequalities for a time than by making changes to risk causing disturbance and perhaps paralysis in the industries and business of the country. The fact that the change in a given rate of duty may be thought desirable does not settle the question whether it is advisable to make the change immediately.

Every tariff deals with duties on thousands of articles arranged in hundreds of paragraphs and in many schedules. These duties affect a vast number of interests which are often conflicting. If necessary for our welfare, then, of course, congress must consider the question of changing the law as a whole or changing any given rates of duty, but we must remember that whenever even a single schedule is considered some interests will appear to demand a change in almost every schedule in the law; and when it comes to upsetting the schedules generally the effect upon the business interests of the country would be ruinous.

TARIFF AND THE TRUSTS.

One point we must steadily keep in mind. The question of tariff revision, speaking broadly, stands wholly apart from the question of dealing with the trusts. No change in tariff duties can have any substantial effect in solving the so-called trust problem. Certain great trusts or great corporations are wholly unaffected by the tariff. Practically all the others that are of any importance have as a matter of fact numbers of smaller American competitors, and of course a change in the tariff which would work injury to the large corporation would work not merely injury but destruction to its smaller competitors, and equally, of course, such a change would mean disaster to all the wageworkers connected with either the large or the small corporations.

From the standpoint of those interested in the solution of the trust problem such a change would, therefore, merely mean that the trust was relieved of the competition of its weaker American competitors, and thrown only into competition with foreign competitors, and that the first effort to meet this new competition would be made by cutting down wages and would, therefore, be primarily at the cost of labor. In the case of some of our greatest trusts such a change might confer upon them a positive benefit.

Speaking broadly, it is evident that the changes in the tariff will affect the trusts for weal or for woe simply as they affect the whole country. The tariff affects trusts only as it affects all other interests. It makes all these interests, large or small, profitable, and its benefits can be taken from the large only under penalty of taking them from the small also.

To sum up, then, we must as a people approach a matter of such prime economic importance as the tariff from the standpoint of our business needs. We cannot afford to become fossilized or to fail to recognize the fact that as the needs of the country change it may be necessary to meet these new needs by changing certain features of our tariff laws. Still less can we afford to fail to recognize the further fact that these changes must not be made until the need for them outweighs the disadvantages which may result, and when it becomes necessary to make them they should be made with full recognition of the need of stability in our economic system and of keeping unchanged the principle of that system which has now become a settled policy in our national life. We have prospered magnificently at home. As a nation we stand in the very forefront in the giant international industrial competition of the day. We cannot afford by any freak of folly to forfeit the position to which we have thus triumphantly attained.

SPIRITUALISM DEMONSTRATED.

Today at 8 p. m. at Red Men's Hall, 610 Main street, the Fort Worth Spiritualist Society will conduct their usual service. STRONGEST EVIDENCE OF FAITH.

Weaver's Pharmacy guarantees that Hyomel will cure the worst case of catarrh in Fort Worth.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Fort Worth guarantees that a medicine will cure or they will return the money, it speaks volumes as to the merit of the remedy. It is in this way that Weaver's Pharmacy is selling Hyomel, the treatment that has made so many remarkable cures of both acute and chronic cases of catarrh in Fort Worth and vicinity.

Hyomel is not a pill nor is it a liquid that has to be taken with a tablespoon or wineglass. It breathes it by the aid of an inhaler that comes in every outfit and benefit will be seen from the first treatment. It destroys all germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone. It cures catarrh of the head and throat or of the stomach, liver and kidneys. Wherever mucous membrane contains catarrhal germs, there Hyomel will do its work of healing. When using this treatment the air you breathe will be found like that on the mountains high above the sea level, where grow the balsamic trees and plants which make their pure by giving off volatile antiseptic fragrance that is healing to the respiratory organs.

Remember that if Hyomel does not cure you Weaver Pharmacy will refund your money. This is a good time to cure catarrh by this natural method and prevent catarrhal cels that are so common at this season.

A SWEET BREATH is a never-failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies, but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like. Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet."

The proceedings of the city council in executive session Friday evening when the slate as printed in Friday's Telegram went through without a single change being made on it, were unusually interesting—the more so, perhaps, because of the close mouths maintained after adjournment by the nine aldermen who participated in it. The Telegram was complimented on all sides by close students of local politics on the success of its slate. The fact that several candidates who thought their chances were good up to the time they saw the Telegram went straightway and withdrew their names upon reading its forecast of the result was an additional compliment worth noting. They did not withdraw because the Telegram thought they were beaten, but they recognized that the combination, as published, of Aldermen Waggonman, Henderson, Moreland, Newby and Lydon, which the other four had been strenuously trying to prevent, put an end to their chances. While the slate made one race doubtful—that between Renfro and Lahey for street commissioner—the article in explanation of the slate set forth that Renfro would receive the same votes that fell to Prewett, who, it was forecasted, would defeat Wilkinson and Stewart for city judge.

BY YEAS AND NAYS Hereforth the balloting on city officers has been by secret vote—that is, each alderman would write the name of the man for whom he desired to vote on a strip of paper, roll it up and place it in a ballot box or hat. The city secretary then would open the slips and announce the result. By this method it was always possible for an alderman to explain to the defeated candidate who wished to know the harrowing particulars that "Alderman So-and-So threw you down; I did it all could." Alderman Lehane, when the executive session began, made a motion that the voting should be by yeas and nays. "I want every alderman to announce the name of the man for whom he votes," said the alderman from the Fourth, "and then there won't be any doubt as to how the council stands in these matters." This motion carried.

ORRICK ALL ALONE The name of E. C. Orrick was the only one presented to the council for the office of city attorney and his election was unanimous. Judge Parker withdrew his name before the council went into executive session.

SEVEN TO TWO Another race in which there was a division of the council was that for city physician, in which Dr. R. Chambers, the incumbent, and Dr. Lyman A. Barber were the applicants. Dr. Chambers won by a vote of 7 to 2. Aldermen Lehane and Newby voted for Dr. Barber.

MARKET TIPS

NEW ORLEANS—Next week we compare with a movement of $2,452 bales last year, 121,034 the year before and 72,856 in 1900. The map shows light rains east of the Mississippi, with frost as far south as Palestine and temperatures almost freezing, with heavy frosts along the northern edge of the belt. Fort Smith, 36; Memphis, 42; Atlanta, 36. Forecast for tonight and Sunday—For Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma and Indian territories: Fair and warmer. For East Texas: Fair, warmer. For West Texas: Partly cloudy to cloudy. In the face of better weather conditions, the market shows its inherent strength. Offerings are scarce, as good spinning grades and May in New York move up so easily. Longs are in the saddle and are going to stay there. With 383,000 bales less in the visible stocks than in 1900 and Great Britain in want of 200,000 bales to equal last year's imports, bulls have nothing to fear.

perpetual sunshine to stimulate the larger portion of this department to a sense of their duty. However, a sufficient number of the most earnest workers met and talked of the things accomplished, and others to be done, among them a musical entertainment to be given by Miss Edna Burchill, under the auspices of this department on May 5, was discussed in all its phases.

It is not well that we make public all our efforts to help others, all the kind acts, all the kind words, all the good deeds we try to do, for some of these women have worked in season and out, and while we can usually calculate the good that money does, the good that actually radiates from the lives and works of these women is as immeasurable as the light and heat of the noonday sun. Their influence is felt everywhere, and will endure to eternity. Referring to the proposed entertainment, we all know that it takes work to successfully carry out plans for anything of this kind. Now, as a club we must conquer all difficulties rather than turn away from them, for truly a condition is before us that must be met, assuming the club to meet, in that the silent halls reverberate with the patter of childish feet, and little Mabel occupies the vacant chair and fills the aching void in those sad hearts.

Had this committee accomplished nothing more than being instrumental in caring for these little deserted children we should feel repaid for every effort we have made. As I said, the realistic part, the material part, must now receive our undivided attention. The good woman who has had charge of these children for almost five months, must be paid for their food, clothing, housing and attention; and to this end we will have to grapple the situation with strong, willing hands, and each member must gird herself for the work before her; in any event we must make this entertainment both an artistic and a financial success, and we call on every woman in the Woman's Department to join to co-operate with us and give us your active support. That Fort Worth will want to do honor to her gifted daughter and at the same time help the movement of philanthropy to the betterment of the conditions of our city that these progressive women have undertaken, is an assured fact, and it remains with this entire club whether we shall succeed or fall in our undertaking. We now come to the wide and beneficent field of civics, which presents marvelous opportunities to women, and the first civic duty we owe is to preach and to plead that we have pure, wholesome environments. Women cannot vote, but they can throw their influence to the election of officials who are broad and progressive enough to count human comfort and morality above dollars and cents, for he that provides the means of good sanitation and contrives to keep the streets and alleys clean is a more useful citizen than the man who runs a successful political machine or wins on the field of battle. Another civic duty is the stimulation of public taste. This is so wide a field of labor that nothing can be a mistake that comes within the bounds of its attractiveness. In large cities there are ordinances especially enacted to provide means by which streets, alleys and parks can be made more attractive. Of course in small cities and towns it will take time to develop this sentiment and make it a dominant idea, and not until the women of Fort Worth do awaken to the truth that this kind of civic work, these economic questions, vitally concern them, such as good order, good sanitation and the beautifying of homes, will we ever be more than a western frontier town.

Now it is said that "all things cometh to those who wait." We have petitioned our city council to inaugurate a system of cleaning the entire city, by wards, during the month of April, and the mayor says he will recommend some of our suggestions to that body. We ask that a sanitary commission of three men and three women be appointed to be empowered to co-operate with the salaried sanitary officials, and have the town cleaned inside and out. This commission to receive no salary at all, at least I can vouch that the women will expect none. We also recommended that a wheel tax be levied to keep the streets in order, and we will soon have a "city beautiful." In the meantime, we hope to place sixteen hundred more street signs. Then we will be like John G. Sax's proud Miss McBride: "Who was proud of her teeth. And proud of her talk; Proud that she knew cheese from chalk; Proud that she was living and didn't live a hundred years."

Next in order, we have to report the opening of the free kindergarten and sewing school for the Creche children and others of the Second ward, in the beautiful room fitted up for a ladies' waiting room in the courthouse. No better or more complete arrangements could have been made. This department will be under the direction of Mrs. Lamarsh and two teachers from the Kindergarten Association. As a matter of fact, without the co-operation of these noble women we could hardly have succeeded in establishing this school. They will furnish the chairs and tables, while Mrs. Lamarsh gives us her time and the material. We hope to open the school on the 9th instant, and invite any and all of the club to visit us there and also the farmers' library.

The educational department had the program for the afternoon in charge and after the business of the meeting was over the members selected were rendered. A piano solo, by Mrs. C. W. Connerly, "Waltz De Concert," Mattel, pleased greatly with its melody and sympathetic rendition. This was followed by a reading by Mrs. Thornhill, "A Cuban Tea," a humorous selection that appealed to the experience of every experienced hostess. Mrs. Hicks also gave a humorous selection, "A Peculiar Attack," both numbers receiving hearty applause. The program closed with a duet, "I Feel Thy Angel Spirit," Hoffman, sung by Miss Downing and Mr. Pease, with a spirit and vocal excellence seldom equalled by local musicians, amateur or professional. A standing vote of thanks was extended Mr. Pease, Miss Downing, Mrs. Connerly, Mrs. Thornhill and Mrs. Hicks for their efforts in giving the club pleasure.

The Fort Worth Kindergarten Association is about to establish a new free kindergarten. This kindergarten will be held in a room at the court house, which has been offered the association through the agency of the philanthropic committee of the Department Club.

The Entertainers met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Laneri. The business of the meeting consisted of hearing a number of communications from clubs out of the state and one from the library committee, asking for a year's subscription for the library fund. This request was granted.

Miss Edrington was the director for the afternoon, the following being the numbers rendered: Piano duet, Mendelssohn, Mrs. Jaccard and Miss Tomlinson. Reading from "The Christian," Miss Laneri. Piano solo, Mrs. Tillar. Song, "Mighty Like a Rose," Miss Edrington.

The next meeting will be on the evening of April 14, with Mrs. J. D. Covert as hostess.

The Parents' and Teachers' Club of the Sixth ward met at the call of the president, Mrs. B. B. Bishop, Thursday afternoon. The special business transacted was the appointment of the committee to canvass for funds to erect a shelter for the children of the school to use during luncheon hour, and for improving the play grounds. The committees and the territory assigned them are as follows: Hemphill and Lipscomb streets, Mrs. J. J. Parker and Mrs. J. L. Cooper. South Main street and Galveston avenue, Mrs. McVeigh and Mrs. Dillon. Fifth Street, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Smith. St. Louis and Jennings avenues, Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Becker. Clarence and Wheeler streets, Mrs. W.

B. Robinson and Mrs. Allen. Cannon and Terrell avenues, Mrs. A. J. Long and Mrs. Masterson. Lake street and to the city limits, Mrs. C. C. French and Mrs. Charles Ware. Railroad avenue and Jarvis street, Mrs. S. M. Gaines and Mrs. Rogers. Fulton, Adams and Henderson streets, Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Mayfield. General canvass of business houses, Mrs. Slaughter and Mrs. Connell. Daggett avenue and Broadway, Mrs. Zook and Mrs. Thomas.

These committees will be asked to report at the next regular meeting, Thursday, April 16.

The New Century Club engaged in a stirring parliamentary drill under the direction of Miss Boaz Wednesday afternoon, and afterwards had a quoness contest from the poems of Lanier, whose works have furnished the club material for valuable study. In this contest Misses Wingfield, Willing, McFadden, Dawson and Cartwright were equally proficient and cut for the prize, hand art plate, the work of Miss Hall. Miss Dawson was the winner.

The two tenth grades of the high school have been studying Macbeth for some time and on last Friday they crossed knowledge in this debate: Resolved, that the Wierd Sisters Were Responsible for the Ruin of Macbeth. Room No. 4 had the affirmative and room No. 1 the negative. Miss Clayton, Profs. Williams and Webb were the judges, and decided in favor of room No. 1.

The Harmony club was entertained by Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Cooper last Wednesday evening, the membership which is largely of musicians living on and near Wheeler street, being augmented by a number of guests who were happy to enjoy a program of the excellence that always marks those prepared by this progressive club. On this occasion the following program was rendered:

PART I. Duet, Bohm; Mrs. Prigmore and Miss Prigmore. Vocal Solo, Mrs. Harle. Rhapodole Engraisse, List; Mrs. R. B. West. Song, "A Dram," Mrs. Hawes. Waltz, Moskewsky; Miss Ruah Matthews. Vocal Trio, low Swiftly, Campani; Miss Downing, Mrs. Brownson and Mrs. Campbell.

PART II. Duet, Pique lame, Von Suppe; Mrs. West and Mrs. Campbell. Vocal Solo, A Day Dream; Miss Lang. Waltz, Chopin Opus 42; Miss Lytton. Vocal Duet, Iss Downing and Prof. Pease. Selections for Schuman; a. Warum, b. Grille, Miss Tomlinson. Vocal Solo, Ellen M. Pease. Piano Solo, Fatsie in D minor, Mozart; Mrs. Prigmore. Good Night, At; Miss Downing, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Brownson and Mrs. West.

The club will be the guests of Capt. and Mrs. J. J. Clements the first Wednesday evening in May.

The Current literature club will meet with Miss Lulu Stearns next Tuesday afternoon instead of Wednesday, the changing made on account of the Thomas case.

The Monday job club as a part of their business proceedings last week gave a year's subscription to the library fund. The program consisted of papers on "Our History, and its Heroes." Mrs. Stephens gave summation of the life character and services of Sam Houston, Miss Ward told of the Texas revolutionary army and officers. Miss Evans of Galveston, Miss Lathrop of the Battles of the Texas Revolution, and Mrs. McNab of Stephen F. Austin, Miss Zane-Cetti outlined the Declaration of Texas Independence, and Miss Horsley gave a synopsis of the causes of the Texas revolution.

The election officers of the Woman's Wednesday club took place last week, the result being as follows: Mrs. Walter Ross, president. Mrs. Hyde Jennings, 1st vice president. Mrs. D. T. Bomar, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Ben Harris, recording secretary; Mrs. Geo.

cedure, but with no change in membership.

"As You Like It" seemed most appropriate, as it was the prevailing desire to allow each hostess to choose for herself the game for the meeting, as well as the day and hour of playing it.

Mrs. I. H. Burney entertained Friday evening, inaugurating in the happiest manner the new order. The guests were the members of the club, their husbands or escorts, the friends who have frequently played as substitutes for the Merry Wives, their husbands, if matrons, or if young ladies, their escorts.

Six-hand euchre, as merry a game as ever entertained seekers for amusement, was Mrs. Burney's choice for the occasion. For decorations, as emphasis of the prevalent enjoyment, there were lilacs and violets in more than abundance, their fragrance redolent of the cheeriness of the season, filling hall and card suite.

Bidding went merrily and victory was the portion of Mrs. John P. King, who won an imported violet Japanese girl on Japanese parchment, as the club prize, while Mr. King, dutifully followed by winning the prize set apart for the husband of a Merry Wife who knew his duty and did it. This was a copy of "Lady Rose's Daughter." The ladies' guest prize was an imported Dutch interior, and Miss Newlin became its possessor. "Lovey Mary" was won by Mr. Mendel, the lucky visiting gentleman, and Mr. Cowan cut with Mrs. Mitchell for the lone hand prize, a generous bunch of violets. Mrs. Mitchell receiving it with a gallant speech from Mr. Cowan, the winner.

Another bunch of violets went to Mrs. Gardner, as a souvenir of the game, and still another was reserved for the scorer, who was the luckiest in cutting for it. Mr. Saunders won and, as became a young man of discretion, presented it to Miss Slaughter, his assistant in the gentle art of keeping tally.

The tally cards were dainty India ink studies, designed and executed by Miss Terrell. The refreshments consisted of violet mints, club sandwiches, nut balls and green peas, coffee, beaten biscuits, violet ice and cakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Burney, Mrs. Stonemetz and Miss Slaughter received the guests, who were: Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Collett, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. Ware, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Connerly, Mr. and Mrs. Menefee, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Tillar, Mr. and Mrs. Templeton, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Fruit, Mr. and Mrs. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Will Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Goetz, Capitan and Mrs. Padlock, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Mrs. Hardeeman, Mrs. Gray, Misses Newlin, Terrell, Edrington, Padlock, Malone, Wilkes, Smith, Connor of Dallas, Hornby; Messrs. Moore of Galveston, Tomlinson of Chicago, Padlock, Beck, Elgas, Wardlaw, Mendel, Kauffman, Peter Smith, Malone, Walker and Saunders.

The appointment of Miss Virginia Van Zandt to be sponsor for the trans-Mississippi department U. C. V. for the New Orleans reunion, gives Fort Worth especial distinction for that occasion. Miss McLean is sponsor for the Texas division, Miss Yeates for the Fifth brigade Sons of the Confederacy, Miss Eva Mae Scott for the local camp of the Sons, and Miss Virgie Ball for the local camp of the Veterans.

Miss Van Zandt's maid of honor will be Miss Walton of Dallas. Miss Scott will have no maid of honor but an escort, Mr. J. B. McLean, and a chaperon, Mrs. W. P. Lane.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mary Isam Keith chapter Daughters of the Revolution will be held in the rooms of the Confederate Veterans tomorrow afternoon for the election of officers and for the transaction of other business.

Mrs. Winfield Scott has issued invitations for a musical at Hotel Worth for the afternoon of Tuesday, April 14.

The annual meeting of the Library Association will be held in the library building next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of electing the board of trustees for the ensuing year. The election of officers will follow the election of trustees.

Mrs. Lathrop entertained informally Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Haines of Ohio. Miss Bennett, Miss Horsley and Mrs. Heaton shared in the pleasures of the afternoon.

Miss Edrington will entertain with an informal tea shortly after Easter, and it is whispered that it will be one of the most charming of the post-Lenten parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Scott Miss Newlin and Miss Carter; Mr. Parker and Mr. Messer played duplicate whist Thursday evening with Miss Nash and skill was not vexed by thoughts of party formalities, though some of the players had to lose, there was satisfaction that the opponents had been such valiant users of cross-ruffs and manipulators of long and short suits.

The Parents' and Teachers' Club of the Seventh ward meets Tuesday, April 7. All parents are requested to be present, as this is an important meeting.

The Ladies' Literary of the N. A. R. P. C. met last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. F. W. Ray, and several interesting papers were read. The meeting this week will be with Mrs. Snowden on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davidson have issued invitations for the celebration of their silver wedding, April 23. A dinner party for a few close personal friends will be followed by an elaborate reception, for which their entire calling list will receive cards this week. Miss Davidson, who is at school in Boston, and Mr. Alfred Davidson, who has been for some time in New Mexico, will come home to join in the reunion, making the occasion one of special joy and happiness.

The Merry Wives have played whist all winter, and chose the afternoons as a suitable time of meeting. With the coming of spring, thoughts of a change proved popular and a temporary diversion was looked upon with favor. Therefore, at one of their recent meetings it was decided to substitute another name and pro-

The New Century Club engaged in a stirring parliamentary drill under the direction of Miss Boaz Wednesday afternoon, and afterwards had a quoness contest from the poems of Lanier, whose works have furnished the club material for valuable study. In this contest Misses Wingfield, Willing, McFadden, Dawson and Cartwright were equally proficient and cut for the prize, hand art plate, the work of Miss Hall. Miss Dawson was the winner.

The two tenth grades of the high school have been studying Macbeth for some time and on last Friday they crossed knowledge in this debate: Resolved, that the Wierd Sisters Were Responsible for the Ruin of Macbeth. Room No. 4 had the affirmative and room No. 1 the negative. Miss Clayton, Profs. Williams and Webb were the judges, and decided in favor of room No. 1.

The Harmony club was entertained by Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Cooper last Wednesday evening, the membership which is largely of musicians living on and near Wheeler street, being augmented by a number of guests who were happy to enjoy a program of the excellence that always marks those prepared by this progressive club. On this occasion the following program was rendered:

After donating a year's subscription to the library fund the Trio club elected officers for the next year, Monday afternoon, and though it was the desire of the club to continue the present officers, they yielded to the excuses of those on whom had fallen the duties of directing the work for the past few months and made a change. Mrs. C. A. Boaz succeeds Mrs. Reeves as president, Mrs. Reeves being elected vice president. Mrs. G. W. Guldage is secretary, Mrs. B. M. Harding treasurer, Mrs. Downing librarian and Mrs. Belle Campbell assistant librarian.

Prof. Bauer announced to the club that the director of the Amphions of Dallas after hearing their concerted work was generous in praise and congratulations saying it gave promise of musical achievement of a high order.

The History club met Monday with Mrs. H. W. Williams, the director, and though no program was rendered there was an animated discussion of subjects of great importance, the results to be announced later.

The meeting of the Federated clubs of this, the first district, of which the chairman is Miss Ella Cockrill of Abilene will meet in Abilene May 6 and 7. The committee on program of this district is composed of Mrs. John M. Adams, chairman, Mrs. J. C. Terrell and Mrs. Langston of Cisco. The delegates from the federated clubs will be Mrs. M. A. Spoons for the Woman's Wednesday club who will respond to the welcoming address, Mrs. L. B. Comer of the '32 club, Mrs. Agnes Gear of the Kindergarten association.

At the meeting of the '32 club last Monday study of Coleridge was substituted for a reading of Southey. The Ancient Marine was read as typical of the genius of the poet.

Judge and Mrs. Bomar of Fort Worth gave a very elaborate eight-course dinner Thursday evening in pink and green at the Driskill, complimentary to Mrs. Cobbs of San Antonio, Mrs. Hunt-Robinson of Austin, Mrs. Will Robertson of Taylor, Mrs. Duff of Beaumont—Austin Statesman.

Tyler Courier: Mrs. Cone Johnson entertained the visiting Daughters of the Confederacy at their beautiful home on Saturday afternoon, giving the local chapter of this patriotic order an opportunity to meet the members who were visiting our city during the convention of the Woman's Home Mission society.

The appointment of Miss Virginia Van Zandt to be sponsor for the trans-Mississippi department U. C. V. for the New Orleans reunion, gives Fort Worth especial distinction for that occasion. Miss McLean is sponsor for the Texas division, Miss Yeates for the Fifth brigade Sons of the Confederacy, Miss Eva Mae Scott for the local camp of the Sons, and Miss Virgie Ball for the local camp of the Veterans.

Miss Van Zandt's maid of honor will be Miss Walton of Dallas. Miss Scott will have no maid of honor but an escort, Mr. J. B. McLean, and a chaperon, Mrs. W. P. Lane.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mary Isam Keith chapter Daughters of the Revolution will be held in the rooms of the Confederate Veterans tomorrow afternoon for the election of officers and for the transaction of other business.

Mrs. Winfield Scott has issued invitations for a musical at Hotel Worth for the afternoon of Tuesday, April 14.

The annual meeting of the Library Association will be held in the library building next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of electing the board of trustees for the ensuing year. The election of officers will follow the election of trustees.

Mrs. Lathrop entertained informally Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Haines of Ohio. Miss Bennett, Miss Horsley and Mrs. Heaton shared in the pleasures of the afternoon.

Miss Edrington will entertain with an informal tea shortly after Easter, and it is whispered that it will be one of the most charming of the post-Lenten parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Scott Miss Newlin and Miss Carter; Mr. Parker and Mr. Messer played duplicate whist Thursday evening with Miss Nash and skill was not vexed by thoughts of party formalities, though some of the players had to lose, there was satisfaction that the opponents had been such valiant users of cross-ruffs and manipulators of long and short suits.

The Parents' and Teachers' Club of the Seventh ward meets Tuesday, April 7. All parents are requested to be present, as this is an important meeting.

The Ladies' Literary of the N. A. R. P. C. met last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. F. W. Ray, and several interesting papers were read. The meeting this week will be with Mrs. Snowden on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davidson have issued invitations for the celebration of their silver wedding, April 23. A dinner party for a few close personal friends will be followed by an elaborate reception, for which their entire calling list will receive cards this week. Miss Davidson, who is at school in Boston, and Mr. Alfred Davidson, who has been for some time in New Mexico, will come home to join in the reunion, making the occasion one of special joy and happiness.

The Merry Wives have played whist all winter, and chose the afternoons as a suitable time of meeting. With the coming of spring, thoughts of a change proved popular and a temporary diversion was looked upon with favor. Therefore, at one of their recent meetings it was decided to substitute another name and procedure, but with no change in membership.

"As You Like It" seemed most appropriate, as it was the prevailing desire to allow each hostess to choose for herself the game for the meeting, as well as the day and hour of playing it.

Mrs. I. H. Burney entertained Friday evening, inaugurating in the happiest manner the new order. The guests were the members of the club, their husbands or escorts, the friends who have frequently played as substitutes for the Merry Wives, their husbands, if matrons, or if young ladies, their escorts.

Six-hand euchre, as merry a game as ever entertained seekers for amusement, was Mrs. Burney's choice for the occasion. For decorations, as emphasis of the prevalent enjoyment, there were lilacs and violets in more than abundance, their fragrance redolent of the cheeriness of the season, filling hall and card suite.

Bidding went merrily and victory was the portion of Mrs. John P. King, who won an imported violet Japanese girl on Japanese parchment, as the club prize, while Mr. King, dutifully followed by winning the prize set apart for the husband of a Merry Wife who knew his duty and did it. This was a copy of "Lady Rose's Daughter." The ladies' guest prize was an imported Dutch interior, and Miss Newlin became its possessor. "Lovey Mary" was won by Mr. Mendel, the lucky visiting gentleman, and Mr. Cowan cut with Mrs. Mitchell for the lone hand prize, a generous bunch of violets. Mrs. Mitchell receiving it with a gallant speech from Mr. Cowan, the winner.

Another bunch of violets went to Mrs. Gardner, as a souvenir of the game, and still another was reserved for the scorer, who was the luckiest in cutting for it. Mr. Saunders won and, as became a young man of discretion, presented it to Miss Slaughter, his assistant in the gentle art of keeping tally.

The tally cards were dainty India ink studies, designed and executed by Miss Terrell. The refreshments consisted of violet mints, club sandwiches, nut balls and green peas, coffee, beaten biscuits, violet ice and cakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Burney, Mrs. Stonemetz and Miss Slaughter received the guests, who were: Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Collett, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. Ware, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Connerly, Mr. and Mrs. Menefee, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Tillar, Mr. and Mrs. Templeton, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Fruit, Mr. and Mrs. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Will Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Goetz, Capitan and Mrs. Padlock, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Mrs. Hardeeman, Mrs. Gray, Misses Newlin, Terrell, Edrington, Padlock, Malone, Wilkes, Smith, Connor of Dallas, Hornby; Messrs. Moore of Galveston, Tomlinson of Chicago, Padlock, Beck, Elgas, Wardlaw, Mendel, Kauffman, Peter Smith, Malone, Walker and Saunders.

FINANCE IN THE REPUBLIC OF FRANCE

BY MAX O'REILL.
Special Cable to The Telegram.
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)

PARIS, March 28.—Both the English and French Parliaments are now busy discussing foreign questions, and both Parliaments, the French one especially, show how relatively easy the position of a French Minister is. There are not ten members of the French House of Deputies who know anything about foreign politics. A few, better gifted with the gab than others, venture to make sonorous speeches about "Russian Alliances," the part of the "Light of the World" that France has to play, the sympathy that should go to people oppressed by Turkey and after some platitudes of this kind they resume their seats amidst the applause of their colleagues, and the Chamber is perfectly satisfied that it conducts the foreign politics of France.

For that matter you could count on the fingers of one hand the Deputies whose opinions on foreign politics are worth the slightest attention from that clever Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, by far the best man who has occupied this post during the last thirty-two years that the third French Republic has existed.

Every time that the French Parliament has refused to act according to the advice of a Foreign Minister the result has been a disaster for the country. The best illustration of this assertion was given to the world when the French Deputies did not follow Gambetta's advice to let France join England in repressing the rebellion in Egypt, and thus, twenty-three years ago, handed over the land of the Pharaohs to England, who will never again let it go from her grip.

To my mind, the opinions of the representatives of the people on home questions are the only ones worth mentioning, and as a Foreign Minister should not be a party man, but only a clever and far-seeing patriot, he should survive the falls of all ministries and remain in his place forever.

For thirty-two years and a half the enemies of the French Republic have not only predicted her ignominious fall but also ruin, and even bankruptcy, if that form of government continued to exist.

There are two infallible signs which show how the prosperity of a nation stands and those are the price of the consols and the amount of money deposited in the savings banks.

The first shows the amount of confidence that the country inspires at home and abroad, and the second the amount of money that the working classes have had as a receipt of surplus over expenditure.

Let us examine both. Three per cent French consols are above a hundred. Only America and England have their consols at that price. As for the savings banks, here are figures that will speak for themselves (these figures will be in francs).

In 1847 deposits at the savings banks were 358,000,000.
In 1870, the last year of Napoleon III's reign, they amounted to 711,000,000, that is to say, an increase of 353,000,000 in twenty-two years.
New let us examine what has been done during the thirty-two years of the Republic.
At the end of the year 1901 the deposits amounted to 2,324 millions, that is to say, an increase of 2,623 millions since the establishment of the Republic.
Add to this that the 3 per cent consols, which stand now at over 100, stood at 87 at their highest point during their most prosperous days of the Second Empire.
Figures have always had a reputation for being eloquent and even for being unanswerable arguments.
I feel sure that those which I have quoted will prove that, from the financial point of view France has never been so prosperous as it is now.
Our surviving Royalists are nothing if not persistent.
Though there is no sensible person in France who expects, or far less hopes, to see another King of France, the few old relics who form the so-called Royalist party act as if any day the family Orleans might be called to occupy their old throne, which is still on view at Louvre.
Just now the whole nation ought to be extremely excited at the report that the Duke of Orleans, after a careful examination of the feelings of the French people, has decided upon a secret conference with his most prominent supporters.
Though the conference is supposed to be a deep secret great care has been taken that the news should leak out, but if the Royalists had hoped that it would cause any commotion, their disappointment must be great.
France's desire is not for kings or emperors, it has had all the experience it wants.
The happiest shepherd in France is without doubt Jean Callet, who has just received an antique Russian silver watch with the Russian Imperial coat of arms, accompanied by an autograph letter from Czar Nicholas. The unusual Imperial present came direct from the Czar, to whom the young man, who, though he has never had a lesson, is an excellent artist, had sent a drawing, declared by experts to be the finest likeness ever drawn of Nicholas II.
Instead of idling away his time while his dogs were watching the sheep, the young man spent his time in drawing pictures and reproduced the features of the Czar from a lithograph he had accidentally picked up and sent it to the Imperial Palace at St. Petersburg, with above result.
The British Guards' scandal, which revealed the fact that young officers and gentlemen were flogged by order of their superior officers, not only led to a breach of military discipline, but even to a breach of social etiquette, reminds us that flogging in the British army was abolished twenty years ago.
Even so lately as that there were doubts as to the wisdom of the abolition, and a curious letter from Queen Victoria to the Minister of War in the second Gladstone administration expressed her views on the subject.
"The Queen commands me to let you know," wrote her secretary, "that I have, by Her Majesty's command, communicated to Mr. Gladstone the Queen's hope that officers on service may not be deprived of the only power they possess of keeping young troops in order; that is to say, by inflicting corporal punishment in the extreme cases of cowardice, treachery, plundering and neglect of duty on sentry."
"The Queen hates the system of flogging, but sees no alternative in extreme cases on active service."
In spite of her personal wishes in the matter, flogging was abolished, and the Queen was obliged to agree; but the dear old lady never lived to see the practice maintained among officers.

English travelers of whom there are always a considerable number in Italy, are continually complaining that government does little or nothing to capture and punish the numerous bandits who infest the country, and especially Sicily.
Recently a well known member of the English aristocracy who was traveling with the Sicilian multi-millionaire, Spano, was captured and held for ransom of 250,000 francs, which was paid by Mr. Spano's family.
There would be nothing extraordinary in this but for the fact that every child in Sicily knows who the brigands were.
If you go to Marsala you can get any guide to point them out to you in the street.
The government has done nothing because the highwaymen belong to a very noble family whose influence is greater than the police's desire to see justice done.
The venerable Luitpold, Prince Regent of Bavaria, completes his eighty-second year today, and is, nevertheless, surpassed in age by the Pope, the Grand Duke of Luxemburg, the King of Denmark, and the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz among European rulers.
Besides these there are ten other sovereigns between seventy and eighty—ty—a record that is probably unparalleled.

The Prince Regent served with the headquarters of King William II, in the '70-'71 war.
He was called to the Regency at the age of sixty-five by the insanity of his nephew, King Otto, and has filled that onerous position nearly seventeen years to the satisfaction of the Bavarians, who presented him with 2425,000 on his eightieth birthday.
The Prince has four children, and his oldest son has already seen his children's children.

At every recurring season there are many society women who break down from the strain of their social duties. It is said that French women hold out better than the others on account of the following treatment:
At least one whole day of the week is consecrated to repose.
In the morning an aromatic bath is followed by prolonged massage and "schampooing."
Then the "mondaine" returns to bed and drinks some hot tea and sinks once more into the oblivion of the pillow.
When she wakes again, it is to take some light and fortifying nourishment such as consommé aux oies, fresh vegetables, ripe fruit and one glass of champagne.
In all this there is little hardship, but the treatment has its rigors.
It is forbidden to talk, to read or to write letters. There must be no visitors, not even a newspaper.
Thought itself should be suspended—the greatest abnegation of all.
And next day it is a renovated being who plunges anew into the social whirl with a force and vivacity that entrance all beholders.

The young Queen of Italy is doubtless pitifully regarded by her father's subjects for though the Montenegrins have a proverb that "a house without a woman is like a body without a soul," still they consider the birth of a girl to be a proper occasion for paying condolence to the afflicted parents.
And poor Queen Elena is now the mother of a second girl baby, when all Italy had been hoping for an heir to the crown.
Girl babies are evidently a sort of necessary evil, and kind Montenegrins wish that they may have beauty, for "to be born beautiful is to be born married."
The only thing to do with a girl it would seem, is to get her married, and Montegrin parents evidently believe in the soundness of the old advice: "Cook your fish while it is fresh, and marry off your daughters while they are young."

After over two years exile the Duke of Orleans was recently once more received at the English court. The Orleans family owed a deep debt of gratitude to the late Queen Victoria, yet this did not prevent the Duke from expressing his approval of some of the exceedingly offensive cartoons and caricatures which appeared of her in France shortly before her death. The Duke soon found out that to insult Queen Victoria was practically to banish himself from England, for his former friends and acquaintances would have absolutely nothing to do with him. Now that King Edward has accepted the apology offered by the Duke and has received him at Buckingham Palace, he will once more take his place in English society. The clubs to which he formerly belonged will receive him back and bygone enemies will be bygone. The universal reconciliation is due to Queen Alexandra's peace making efforts. The Duchess d'Aosta, the Duke of Orleans's sister, is one of the Queen's greatest friends, and last year, when she was in England for the Coronation, she begged the Queen to use her influence on her brother's behalf. The Queen could not refuse her friend anything, and she persuaded King Edward to forgive and forget.

AMERICAN ESTABLISHES HOSPITAL BED AT NICE
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—H. Humphrey Moore of California has just established an "American bed" in the New Victoria hospital at Nice. Mr. Moore, who is a deaf-mute, is well known in artistic circles here, and the money with which he established the bed is the proceeds of the sale of his picture, "The Spanish Dancing Girl," which he presented to the committee of the hospital to be disposed of for this purpose. His example is expected to be followed by other American artists.

SWISS BURGLARS WORK AN ORIGINAL TRICK
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—An innovation in the methods of burglars is reported from the village of Krusslingen, in the canton of Thurgovie, Switzerland. A passenger train was brought to a stop a short distance from the station by explosive alarm signals being placed on the track.
The station master, thinking an accident had occurred, locked the door of the station and hurried to the scene of the supposed disaster. It took only a few moments to discover that there was nothing wrong, and the train proceeded on its way, but during those few moments the thieves had entered the station, forced the safe and escaped with its contents.

PIANISTE WILL ENTER AUTOMOBILE RACE
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—Mme. Camille du Gast, the accomplished pianiste, most beautiful woman of the French metropolis, richest widow in France and daring balloonist, has become the competitor of Dr. Kniff, Fournier, Winton, Vanderbilt and other automobile racers. Discussing automobilism for women with

The only thing to do with a girl it would seem, is to get her married, and Montegrin parents evidently believe in the soundness of the old advice: "Cook your fish while it is fresh, and marry off your daughters while they are young."

After over two years exile the Duke of Orleans was recently once more received at the English court. The Orleans family owed a deep debt of gratitude to the late Queen Victoria, yet this did not prevent the Duke from expressing his approval of some of the exceedingly offensive cartoons and caricatures which appeared of her in France shortly before her death. The Duke soon found out that to insult Queen Victoria was practically to banish himself from England, for his former friends and acquaintances would have absolutely nothing to do with him. Now that King Edward has accepted the apology offered by the Duke and has received him at Buckingham Palace, he will once more take his place in English society. The clubs to which he formerly belonged will receive him back and bygone enemies will be bygone. The universal reconciliation is due to Queen Alexandra's peace making efforts. The Duchess d'Aosta, the Duke of Orleans's sister, is one of the Queen's greatest friends, and last year, when she was in England for the Coronation, she begged the Queen to use her influence on her brother's behalf. The Queen could not refuse her friend anything, and she persuaded King Edward to forgive and forget.

AMERICAN ESTABLISHES HOSPITAL BED AT NICE
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—H. Humphrey Moore of California has just established an "American bed" in the New Victoria hospital at Nice. Mr. Moore, who is a deaf-mute, is well known in artistic circles here, and the money with which he established the bed is the proceeds of the sale of his picture, "The Spanish Dancing Girl," which he presented to the committee of the hospital to be disposed of for this purpose. His example is expected to be followed by other American artists.

SWISS BURGLARS WORK AN ORIGINAL TRICK
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—An innovation in the methods of burglars is reported from the village of Krusslingen, in the canton of Thurgovie, Switzerland. A passenger train was brought to a stop a short distance from the station by explosive alarm signals being placed on the track.
The station master, thinking an accident had occurred, locked the door of the station and hurried to the scene of the supposed disaster. It took only a few moments to discover that there was nothing wrong, and the train proceeded on its way, but during those few moments the thieves had entered the station, forced the safe and escaped with its contents.

PIANISTE WILL ENTER AUTOMOBILE RACE
(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
PARIS, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—Mme. Camille du Gast, the accomplished pianiste, most beautiful woman of the French metropolis, richest widow in France and daring balloonist, has become the competitor of Dr. Kniff, Fournier, Winton, Vanderbilt and other automobile racers. Discussing automobilism for women with

OZOMULSION
EASY TO TAKE

Is a Perfect Emulsion of the Purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in combination with Hypophosphites and Guaiacol. Ozomulsion, besides destroying all poisonous bacteria present in the blood, lungs, stomach, and entire human organism, increases the appetite, stimulates digestion, and thus aids in producing pure, rich, red blood and firm flesh, the essentials of HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Properties: Cod Liver Oil—nourishing; Hypophosphites—bone and tissue; Guaiacol—antiseptic and germ-destroying; forming an admirable and easily assimilated "Food-medicine" of the highest scientific degree. It tones, rebuilds and strengthens the whole human system. Ozomulsion un-poisons the blood, and frees it from all bacillary or germ life. It is easy to take and is highly recommended by the Medical Profession. The only product of its nature in the world, and far in advance of any other preparation.

A Flesh-forming "Food-Medicine"

For emaciated men, thin women, worn-out mothers and sickly, puny children. By its faithful use, all may receive new strength, vitality, vim and vigor, and become sturdy, robust, healthy, plump and pure blooded.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes Cured

University Chemist Acting as Judge.
Irving K. Mott, M. D., of Cincinnati, O., demonstrated before the board of the Evening Post, one of the leading papers of Cincinnati, the power of his remedy to cure the worst forms of kidney diseases. Later a public test was instituted under the auspices of the Post, and five cases of Bright's Disease and Diabetes were selected by them and placed under Dr. Mott's care. In three months' time all were pronounced cured, one of the most prominent universities in the United States having been chosen by the Post to make examination of the cases before and after treatment.

Anyone desiring to read the details of the public test can obtain copies of the papers by writing to Dr. Mott for them.

This public demonstration gave Dr. Mott an international reputation that has brought him into correspondence with people all over the world, and several noted Europeans are numbered among those who have taken his treatment and been cured.

The doctor will correspond with those who are suffering with Bright's Disease, Diabetes or any kidney trouble, either in the first intermediate stage, or when the disease has advanced to give his expert opinion free to those who will send him a description of their symptoms. European cases are numbered among those who have taken his treatment and been cured.

Anyone desiring to read the details of the public test can obtain copies of the papers by writing to Dr. Mott for them.

Special train consisting of coaches, chair cars, cafe cars and baggage cars, will leave Paris about 9:30 a. m., May 18, arriving New Orleans in time for breakfast following morning.

Full information as to prices of tickets, etc., will be cheerfully furnished on application to any agent of The Texas Midland Railroad, or General Passenger Agent, Terrell, Texas.

RETURNS VERDICT FOR LARGE SUM

JURY GIVES B. A. ANDERSON $7,500 PERSONAL DAMAGES

Grand Jury Returns Ten Indictments. Neighborhood Quarrel in Court Monday—Strong Allegations in a Divorce Case—News of the Courts

In the case of B. A. Anderson vs. the Cameron Mill and Elevator Company, a suit on account of personal damages, in the Forty-eighth district court yesterday a jury returned a verdict for $7,500. The plaintiff charged that he fell into an excavation made by the mill and elevator company.

In the Seventeenth district court yesterday the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company, against which judgment was obtained by E. M. Whittenburg, made a motion for a new trial.

TEN INDICTMENTS The grand jury has returned ten indictments, six for felonies and four for misdemeanors. Among the indictments are two against J. J. Easter, who is charged with swindling. Easter was a collector for a local grocery house. Eliaz Isaham was indicted on a charge of horse theft.

In a suit for divorce and injunction filed in the office of the district clerk yesterday S. J. Vestal of 614 Kentucky avenue seeks separation from Marguerita Vestal. He charges her with abandonment and threats against his life accompanied by the display of a pistol. He asks that she be enjoined from coming about his home and annoying him. He has possession of the children and wishes to keep them.

O'CONNOR-REAGER CASE In Justice Rowland's court tomorrow the O'Connor-Reager case will come on for trial. The courtroom will be filled with men, women and children who reside in the neighborhood of the university. Witnesses have been subpoenaed from all over a section that covers about ten city blocks.

Chris Reager prosecuted a son of Peter O'Connor several months ago on a serious charge. The boy was acquitted, but as a result of the trial O'Connor was several times haled into court charged with using abusive language toward Reager. Now O'Connor has brought a charge of using abusive language toward him against Reager and also against several members of the Reager family.

Weather Conditions

The storm which crossed the country during the past few days, central in Missouri Friday, has moved eastward to the North Atlantic. A moderate cold wave followed in the wake of this storm, giving cooler temperatures well down into the southern states and light frost in northern Texas and heavy frost in Arkansas.

Falling barometers with increasing cloudiness is noted along the Rocky mountain ridge and plateau region, and rapidly rising temperature; clear weather prevails elsewhere.

Generally fair weather is the outlook for Fort Worth and vicinity till Sunday night, with warm pleasant temperatures.

WEATHER RECORD Following is the weather record for the last twenty-four hours—minimum and maximum temperature, wind in miles per hour at 8 a. m. and rainfall in inches:

IOWA EDITORS IN CITY LAST NIGHT

WILL RETURN FOR FORMAL VISIT WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8

Are Guests of San Antonio Today—Local Board of Trade Making Arrangements For Entertainment—Many Ladies Included in the party

The members of the Iowa Press Association, who are making a tour of Texas and who will pay a formal visit to Fort Worth next Wednesday afternoon, passed through the city last night en route to San Antonio.

Some of the most prominent newspaper men in the state are included in the party. Many of the editors are accompanied by their wives. C. M. Junkin, editor of the Ledger, of Fairfield, is president, and W. F. Parrott is secretary of the association.

Henry Wallace of Des Moines, editor of "Wallace's Farmer," one of the best known agricultural journals in the country, published at the capital city of Iowa, is included in the party. Prominent in the list is also the name of F. R. Conaway, secretary of the St. Louis Commission at Des Moines, and representative of these Register-Leaders, the leading daily newspaper of that city, and of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sterling of Corydon, Iowa, the parents of Mr. Sterling of the Fort Worth Live Stock Reporter, are in the party, and are looking forward with much pleasure to their return trip to this city, when they will have an opportunity to visit their son.

The excursionists started from Des Moines, coming via Kansas City and Muskogee. They will be in San Antonio today, after which they will visit the following cities in the order named: Smithville, Galveston, Houston, Waco, Fort Worth, Hillsboro, Dallas, Denison, Sherman and then return via Denison and Kansas City to Des Moines.

The party was at Muskogee yesterday. One of them said if they were accorded the same treatment which they received there, during their entire trip, they would not care whether they returned to Iowa or not.

The excursionists will be in Fort Worth during the entire afternoon, Wednesday, April 8. The train will arrive at 12:30 p. m., and is scheduled to leave at 6 p. m. The local Board of Trade is making arrangements to entertain the guests with true Fort Worth hospitality.

The excursion is being conducted by the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, and on the itinerary is included the following names of Katy officials accompanying the party as guides: T. B. Cookerly, Des Moines, division passenger agent; T. L. Peeter, industrial agent, and E. P. York, excursion agent, both of Dallas. Dr. M. E. Carpenter, a physician of Fairfield, is in the party. Dr. Carpenter is accompanied by his wife.

PERSONNEL OF THE PARTY. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Junkin, Ledger, Fairfield; Mrs. Alice B. Booker, Fairfield; Mrs. Henry Wallace, Wallace's Farmer, Des Moines; Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Rinehart, Herald, Newton; Homer Thompson, Madisonian, Winterset; G. W. Sheekley, Globe, Oskaloosa; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tedford, Record Mt. Ayr; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tact a Secret of Success In Matrimony By Winifred Oliver

(Great Britain rights reserved.)

HOME BUSINESS hours should end at 5 o'clock, and the busy housekeeper should put domestic worries behind her and prepare to greet her husband with a cheerful face. Peace and quiet should reign supreme in order that the man whose brain and nerves have been on the alert for many hours should find his home a haven of rest. No doubt the temptation to rehearse for her husband's benefit the petty details of the day is great, but woman should bear in mind that a man comes home expecting to find relaxation and diversion, not to be plunged into a sea of trivialities. It is the husband's duty to maintain the home. It is the wife's duty to make it as cheerful and attractive for him as possible—to be gay, if he is gay; to be sympathetic, if he is depressed; to be ready to go out with him, or to be content to spend a quiet evening at home; to listen intelligently to such details of his business as he is at liberty to confide, and to hold such confidences as sacred and confidential.

The wise woman endeavors to be companion as well as wife; to enter heart and soul into all her husband's pursuits and aims, and if home duties prevent her doing so actively, she manages at least to show a keen interest in them. If she has friends in whom her husband is not interested, she sees them during his absence, for in all probability she knows from woeful experience that there will be no comfort in seeing them in his presence. She lets him smoke and drop ashes on her most cherished rugs, trying to look convinced when he assures her that ashes are very good for rugs. She lets him feel that, though the house is hers from morning until night, it is his from night until morning. She dons her smartest gowns for his benefit, and never forgets that to hold his love and interest she must always be at her best. Creature comforts go a long way toward content in this material world in which we live, and no man can be expected to appear at his best after a badly cooked, badly served dinner. The woman who wishes to spend a pleasant evening, putting things on a merely selfish basis, bears this fact in mind, and makes it a point to see that her husband sits down to a well-cooked, daintily served dinner. Tactfully she avoids all jarring subjects during the progress of the meal, and if she has any little requests to make waits until, mellowed by his after-dinner cigar, he is in a compliant mood.

Tact is the passport to married happiness. Where tact is enthroned among a household's mental manes and penates, there is likely to be little friction. No doubt the general opinion will be that the woman who gives all this love and devotion to her husband is giving a great deal, but do not for one moment think she gives it without expecting recompense. The salary she demands is more precious than gold and precious stones. It is no less than the entire love and devotion of a man's life, and well she earns it, this woman who is friend, wife and helpmate in the truest sense of the word. She spurs his ambitions, leads buoyantly the paths of success with him, and slips a loving, comforting hand into his in time of failure. She will do him good, and not evil all the days of her life.

The Astronomy of Atoms By Garrett P. Serviss

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
(Great Britain rights reserved.)

WE SHALL SOON HAVE to re-write all our text books. The atom, that invisible ideal of ultimate minuteness, of whose existence Nineteenth century science could produce only indirect proofs, already looks so large to the intellectual vision of the Twentieth Century that it becomes necessary to appeal to astronomical analogies in order to understand its relation to the infinitesimal entities of which it is composed.

Formerly we were taught that there was no such thing as dividing an atom. Now we are assured that atoms are composed of particles so much smaller than themselves that they (the atoms) resemble the solar system, which is made up of sun, planets, comets and meteors, all of which, if compacted together, would fill but a minute fraction of the space that the system occupies.

The new ideal of extreme exiguity is the electron. By means of the electric charges they carry the size of electrons, as compared with atoms, can be calculated. Sir Oliver Lodge gave a vivid illustration of this the other day. An atom of hydrogen is known to contain about a thousand electrons. Now, magnify the atom to the size of the interior of a large church and set a thousand specks, no bigger than the "full stops" used by printers to mark the end of sentences, afloat in the air of the church, and those specks will represent the electrons contained in the atom!

Here we see where the likeness of an atom to the solar system comes in. The electrons are very small compared with the space containing them, just as the planets are small in a similar sense. But, as the planets are continually in motion, so are the electrons. The interior of an atom is a scene of marvellous and ceaseless activity. The electrons are all in swift revolution, moving with a speed incomparably greater than that of any planet in its orbit, with a speed which may, indeed, rather be compared with that of light.

It was astronomy, with its doctrine of perturbative attraction, that led to the working out of this wonderful structure of an atom with its revolving electrons. But the comparison may throw light in both directions. From this point of view the earth becomes a circulating corpuscle in a larger atom, and all the multitude of solar systems supposed to surround the stars about us appear as so many astronomical atoms, making up a far grander organism, which we call the universe.

And since evidence is accumulating that the borders of this universe do not lie beyond the limits of telescopic vision, we may even suppose that it, in turn, is related, in a similar manner to other remote and invisible universes, which compose an infinitely mightier whole.

Even the amazing property of radioactivity, by which such substances as radium and uranium are enabled to cast off streams of particles that penetrate the most solid materials—runaway electrons, so to speak, which have escaped from their atoms, has its analogy in the heavens, where we find stars flying on apparently straight courses with a speed that cannot be accounted for by the ordinary law of attraction among the masses of the universe.

Some of the particles shot off from radioactive substances have been proved to be not electrons, but whole atoms, torn away from the parent mass. The flight of these atoms is like that of a solar system escaped from the boundaries of the universe and speeding away through the darkness of outer space, to be finally arrested, perhaps, in some other distant universe, just as the flying atoms are brought to a stop by obstacles which they encounter, instead of penetrating them and passing on, as do the escaped electrons.

So one branch of science makes suggestions to another, and, all combined, they teach, more and more clearly, the great doctrine of unity in diversity.

What the World Needs Is Workers By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
(Great Britain rights reserved.)

HUNDREDS OF WOMEN are out of employment today, not knowing where the dollar is coming from.

Yet, for six weeks, three women with comfortable incomes and many duties, have been seeking a good seamstress, and have failed to find one.

Seamstresses have come and gone, but they might as well have been wood choppers, or landscape artists for all they know about needle and thread and gusset and seam.

They could not sew on a button correctly, and, though two lengths of cloth began a journey as twins, under their hands one always came out far ahead in the race.

One left a whole breadth of a ruffle behind the lounge which her employer found after the garment was done and the seamstress departed.

Another did nothing but thread the needles for the lady who employed her.

Yet these young women professed to do plain sewing and complained of a lack of business activity in their especial line.

They could not understand how some people got on so well in the world.

They believe luck comes to some and misfortune to others.

The lucky man or woman is he or she who does well and with expedition the task in hand.

I have made New York City my home for seventeen winters, and I have never seen the time when there was not a constant demand for good seamstresses, and never yet have seen that demand supplied.

It is a business which holds great possibilities of success for any ambitious, determined young woman. I have known two or three who pursued the vocation with a purpose, increased their knowledge and prices, and rose to the head of successful establishments. But there is vast room for more of the same order, and they are not forthcoming.

Meanwhile bad elocutionists, worse poets and musicians and hopeless artists fill the land. Women, of whom the reading world has never heard, send me specimens of milk-and-water verses, and ask me how they can obtain a publisher to issue their poems in book form, as they need money sadly, and once published the book will render them independent, they believe!

Others beg me to use my influence to get them on the stage. They have been assured by friends that they possess dramatic talent, and if they can only get a hearing with the public they know a brilliant success awaits them.

Managers wade breast high through billows of aspirants for theatrical honors when they emerge from their doors.

Editors are snowed under drifts of impossible manuscripts. But bus women with dollars to pay to good seamstresses cannot find a woman capable of sewing on a braid or replacing a ruffle or altering a seam in a garment.

Of course I know allwomen cannot sew.

It is a most distasteful and unpleasant occupation to many.

Yet those who do attempt to make it a business should go about it with an earnest purpose, to excel; and rather than be a poverty-stricken, obscure fourth-rate "artist" or "actress," importuning editors and managers and strangers for influence, it would seem that any sensible and self-respecting girl would prefer to overcome a distaste for sewing and to be a successful, first-class seamstress and have people with money importuning her!

What the world wants today is good, thorough, practical workers. In almost every line they are few and far between, and that is one great cause of the vast army of the unemployed.

Life's Greatest of All Achievements By Rev. Thomas B. Gregory

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
(Great Britain rights reserved.)

JOHN RUSKIN once wrote: "The greatest thing that a human soul ever does in this world is to see something and to tell what it saw in a plain way."

Ruskin's idea is all right—so far as it goes. The clear vision is certainly indispensable.

To SEE something—something real—while so many millions are groping in darkness, or if they see at all see but the shadows or outer husks of things, is indeed one of the greatest things that one can do.

Once glance at Truth's countenance, one look into its clear eye, is reward sufficient for the severest toil.

Right noble was the word of the great German philosopher who said:

"If all the wealth and splendor and power of the world, yea, all the glory and felicity of the Saints, were offered me on the one hand, and on the other TRUTH, I would choose the latter."

The story of Moses lifting up the serpent in the wilderness, that those who LOOKED MIGHT LIVE, is but a figure of the transforming power of this same truth.

"The truth shall make you free," said the Master. In proportion as its holy light dawns upon us, the intellectual atmosphere becomes clear, the clouds of superstition and fear roll away, and from the mountain peaks of eternal principle we catch the view that inspires us to the noblest deeds.

Therefore we heartily agree with Ruskin that to really SEE something that is true and real is one of the greatest pieces of good fortune that can possibly come to one.

Terrible is ignorance! And more terrible still the lazy indifference upon which the ignorance depends! It is crime NOT TO WANT TO KNOW. To be indifferent to the truth upon which depends the highest welfare both of the individual and the race, is a sin for which there is no atonement.

Intelligence is the first principle of human progress.

There is no doing anything with an ignoramus so long as he remains an ignoramus. Before you can turn him to any use, either to himself or to the world you must get some ideas into his head. You must bring him to the point where he can SEE something.

But it is absolutely necessary that one should see something REAL, that is to say, something TRUE.

And what is true? GOODNESS. All else is a lie. MORAL PRINCIPLE is the only true, real thing in this universe.

And so we add, as Ruskin himself doubtless would have added, that the greatest thing that a human soul ever does in this world is to see something—something real and true—and having seen it to LOVE it.

Moral principle built up into a LIFE is the greatest of all possible achievements.

Men are asking a multitude of questions in these stirring days, and among the rest they are putting to themselves this query: "What is the main object of life?"

The answer is close at hand: "THE MAIN OBJECT OF LIFE IS TO LOVE THE GOOD AND TO SERVE IT FOREVER!"

We do not need to be told that this is a very trite and commonplace pronouncement. It is. But all the same it is the of eternal decree, written down before the morning stars sang together or even the primeval atoms had begun their protean play.

Myth, proverb, philosophy and religion unite throughout the ages in declaring that he who lives for other than Good lives in vain.

In the destiny of the Midases and Croesuses, the Alexanders, Caesars, and Napoleons, we may learn that it is not in wealth, power and the applause of the unthinking multitude that the true goal of human effort lies.

Greater than any of these grandees of history is the plainest, humblest, man who in his quiet way, does something to make the world better and happier.

Such men may fail to make a fortune in dollars and cents, but if he succeeds in making one human life a little purer and a little better he will have done a far grander thing.

He may never conquer a nation or win a throne, but if he can manage to conquer one ungenerous thought, one evil impulse, one brutalizing passion—if he can win the alliance of one good principle which shall lead him straight and true through the crooked ways of life, he will have excelled history's proudest captions.

Money is such a power these days.

The Tenderness of Love With White Hair By Max O'Rell

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
(Great Britain rights reserved.)

DON'T SMILE. If there is a love absolutely beautiful, almost holy, it is love with white hair. If conjugal tenderness decreases at all the name of love it is at that time of life when it ceases to be a pleasure, when it detaches itself from the body to become idealized and purified.

If two hearts can, in this world, beat in perfect unison, it is the two hearts of old married couples united by a whole life of tender intimacy. Love, in getting old, does not become repulsive like an old bean who, with dyed hair and mustache and powdered, thinks he can pass for a handsome young man. In those kisses which are no longer given on the lips but with sweet reverence are discreetly given on the hand or on the forehead, in the effusions of an old married couple, I see the most profound and most holy of human tenderness.

They are no more lovers, but they are friends, who cannot a single moment forget that they were lovers, and who spend the winter of their lives in sweet remembrance of the beautiful spring, the glorious summer and the restful, sober autumn they enjoyed together.

This final sublime love may be rare, but it does exist; it is the reward of concessions made and of faults forgiven; the reward of cheerfulness, the result of long years spent together, sharing the same joys, the same sorrows and the same dreams. Tactful, refined, they are, at this very moment as thoughtful as they ever were before. Each one is the first consideration in the world to the other. The refinement of their courtesy to each other is a constant avowal of the esteem they feel; in their old intimacy they keep the same scruples, the same delicacy as they did in the first days of their married life. They do not call each other "love," "darling," not even, perhaps by their Christian names, but "dear friend," and they lay on "dear" an emphasis that shows how sincere the expression is.

I tell you that there is no love in which you can find as much poetry as in the love of those dear couples who for forty or fifty years have walked side by side loving, respecting, helping each other, dreaming, praying, suffering together, and whose actions, words and thoughts have each added an item to that treasure which they can now count piece by piece.

This long communion of hearts, this habit of sharing everything, has even established between them a physical likeness which would almost cause you to take them for brother and sister rather than for man and wife.

And how children do love those dear, old couples! how they feel attracted toward them! There is a wonderful affinity between very old people and very young children. Both are alike in many ways; the former have lost their strength, the latter have not yet got theirs. The world goes in a circle, and at the end of his career the old man meets the child. They have sympathy for each other, they understand each other, and the past and the future are the best of friends. Old people play with children with their hearts and souls, in absolute earnest, without any of those signs of condescension which children are so quick to detect and to resent; and I am not prepared to say that the young children enjoy the play more keenly than do the old ones.

Oh, if people would early prepare to become old, what pleasures would be kept in store for them!

In the peaceful winter of a well-spent life love with white hair is an evening prayer that soars to the abode of the seraphs.

Paine's Celery Compound

Has Kept Him Vigorous, Strong and Happy.

We are now in the season of dangers and perils, and the tens of thousands of ailing and half-dead people should be brought to realize that they are standing on a dangerous ground. This is especially true of men and women advanced in years.

LARKIN D. MASON

weakness, nervousness, insomnia, rheumatism, neuralgia, and digestive troubles are most common. At this time the fact cannot be too strongly impressed upon aged people and those who care for them, that Paine's Celery Compound is what they need to renew their physical and mental powers. This great medicine enriches the poor and watery blood, braces the nerves, gives vitality, energy, restful sleep, and healthy appetite. Let us all at this time endeavor to make the dear old people in our homes happy, vigorous, and contented. We can do the blessed work by giving them Paine's Celery Compound. Hon. L. D. Mason, aged 92 years, writes as follows after a long experience with Paine's Celery Compound:

"When I reached 80 years of age, I found my digestion growing feeble and my kidneys inactive. Although my store was well supplied with medicines, I had nothing that could meet my case. My grandson from Boston brought me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and it helped me. I made further experiments, and the result was, for the last seven years I have taken Paine's Celery Compound regularly, and now at the age of 92, I am smart and active. My son is selling Paine's Celery Compound in our store, and those who buy it praise it highly."

ROBINSON MURDER CASE PUT OFF TILL AUGUST

DENTON, Texas, April 4.—The case against Charley Robinson, charged with shooting Thomas E. Berry in Denton last fall, came up for trial in the district court of Denton county yesterday afternoon, but it was continued until the August term of the court.

The shooting having occurred in one of the most traveled streets and densely populated portions of the city and on a Saturday afternoon when a considerable number of people were stirring about, there will be an unusually large number of eye-witnesses in the case besides the usual witnesses to prove circumstantial and for and against the defendant. Judge Barrett, who has been listening to long cases here continuously for the last six weeks, congratulated himself that the case was put off, for it does not only tax the capacity of the courthouse to hold the witnesses, but it will tax the patience of the court and jury to try it.

BENJAMIN B. ODELL

FATHER OF THE GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK STATE, A POWER IN POLITICS

The Hon. Benjamin B. Odell of Newburg, N. Y., father of an illustrious family of sons, writes the following letter, which he hopes will be read by every man and woman in America.

"Some years ago my life was fairly made miserable by the pain and distress I suffered from ACUTE INDIGESTION. I was also constipated and run down. This condition continued for about three years. A friend of mine who had suffered in a similar manner and been much benefited by using DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, urged me to try it. I finally did, and it helped me from the first dose, and I continued its use and was CURED.

"I have recommended it to numbers of people, and in every single instance they have received the greatest amount of benefit from its use."

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the most prompt and efficient medicine known for Kidney, Liver, Bladder and Blood Diseases, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Constipation.

Druggists sell it in New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles.

Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

The THEATER

Six days communion with the drama; a histrionic gamut from The Carpet-bagger to the James Boys in Missouri. Such was the past week in local theatricals.

Tim Murphy, who has reached the stage where he can afford to be called Tim on the program without risk of being regarded as a beginner, was the chief of the week's attractions. The roles were supplied by the Hoyt Comedy company. All week the company did entertaining and honest work, and imparted plenty of enjoyment to the crowded houses in attendance.

The only unpleasantness connected with the performances were the weepy little illustrated songs between the acts. The other between-act specialties were only fair.

This week we plunge into the mysteries.

FLOWER PARADE HORSE SHOW WEEK

THE ENTRIES FOR LOCAL CLASSES CLOSE APRIL 15

Tent, a Huge One of Ample Seating Capacity, to Be Decorated in Swell Style. Sale of Boxes Now Proceeding—Only Eighteen Left

Plans for the Fort Worth horse show are rapidly nearing completion and they already bespeak for the event a large measure of success. One thing is now causing the promoters of the event to worry—they desire more local entries. It seems not to be thoroughly understood that there are separate classes for local participants. There will be classes in which Fort Worth ladies may drive and also classes for gentlemen and children. There will be classes for decorated vehicles.

The baby show in connection with the horse show is attracting much attention, and it is expected that there will be a number of entries for this event. A matinee will be given on April 20, the opening day, for the benefit of the domestic science department of the Department Club. The sale of boxes has begun. There will be thirty-six of them and half of this number already have been sold. Those wishing boxes should apply at once for them. It is known that many local gentlemen intend to take boxes, but if they do not reserve them now they are likely to be disappointed.

The tent which will be used for the show is big enough to house a three-ring circus, being 288x148 feet. It will be located on the Texas and Pacific reservation. Its seating capacity will be ample, in the opinion of the local committee, but if it should prove unable to hold the crowds clamoring for admission no doubt the committee will be well pleased just the same. The tent decorations are to be elaborate and swell. There is to be a big flower parade one day during the show. The exact date has not been selected.

Those intending to enter horses and races should bear in mind that the entries close April 15.

THERE IS NO STRIKE AMONG BRICK MASONS

There is no strike among the brick masons of the city, the situation being that a demand for an increase in wages has been made which is being met in most instances, and which, it is said, will be met by other contractors of the city.

An employer of this labor said Saturday that the question of an advance in cases where it has not been granted, or rather accepted, is now in the hands of a committee composed of both brick masons and contractors. He said contractors who have work have met the request of the men, and some of those who have no work at present are the number who are opposing the advance.

The advance asked is from 62½ cents per hour to 70 cents for the same period.

CARNEGIE OFFERS BROWNWOOD LIBRARY

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 4.—Brownwood has received an offer of $10,000 from Andrew Carnegie for a library building on the usual terms on which such gifts are made. A mass meeting of citizens of the town will be held Monday night to organize a library association and see what can be done towards meeting the conditions. The people are certain that the requirements can be met.

The Brown County Farmers' Institute held an interesting session yesterday. Brown county farmers feel that they are particularly fortunate this year in that the rains have not prevented thorough preparation for and planting the crops. County Judge Coffee made an address to the Institute on good roads. He favors a bond issue to place our public roads in first-class condition. The matter will be agitated in the county and a bond election held this summer.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA IS A GOOD HOUSEWIFE

"Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst." LONDON, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—Queen Alexandra, who has the good housewife's passion for cleanliness and order, has caused the most magnificent tenements to be built in the city, and these tenements were erected her majesty made a point of going about the rooms and assuring herself that her retainers lived up to their privilege by keeping all untidy things out of sight.

At Marlborough house her majesty caused to be built long rows of oak exponents of the popular science, hypnotism, enables the Knowles to present a strictly high-class entertainment and one worth of the patronage.

A daring, interesting and novel test in mental telepathy or thought transference will be introduced by Dr. Knowles on the streets of Fort Worth, April 6, Monday, at 3:30 p. m., which will be the opening date of the Knowles' engagement. Being carefully blindfolded he will drive a spirited team at break-neck speed and find an article previously hidden by a committee of citizens.

On Monday night ladies will be admitted free if accompanied by one paid ticket, if purchased before 6 p. m.

COMING SOON.

Anna Eva Fay will hold the boards at the Greenwall opera house soon. She is too well known in Fort Worth to require an introduction to the patrons of Greenwall's nearly all of whom have been entertained by her startling performance and mystified by her strange power and wonderful achievements in the realms of the wonder world.

Miss Estelle Carter who portrays the leading role in the magnificent production of "Sweet Clover," which will be seen at Greenwall's soon is artistic to her finger tips, and seized the opportunity of the long run of "Sweet Clover" in Boston to study in one of the art schools, consequently she paints remarkably well and some of her fruit and flower pieces won much praise at the exhibitions of the New York Art league.

Thomas J. Keogh, a comedian who is popular throughout the entire south is to appear here, together with one of the strongest companies touring the south in David Belasco and Bronson Howard's famous drama "Baron Rudolph," on April 27th as a benefit tendered Treasurer Mitchell W. Greenwall.

VALUABLE CURIOS BRING LARGE SUM

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) LONDON, April 4.—(Special cable to The Fort Worth Telegram.)—The famous collection of Chinese curios, porcelain, jades and crystal, secured in Tientsin by E. Startsev, the Russian connoisseur, has been sold to Duveen Brothers for $150,000. The destination of the collection has not been made public, but it is conjectured that the Messrs. Duveen were acting in behalf of a New York collector, and that these art treasures are intended for the museum of some American millionaire.

The collection includes fifteen pieces of the famous peach-blow ware, one of which, a vase, brought the record-breaking price of $15,000.

ABOUT BEDCLOTHING. Bedclothing should be warm and light heavy rugs and thickly folded cotton counterpanes should never be put upon the bed of either old or young. The weight is depressing, and owing to the fact that such things retard the perspiration, they are extremely unhealthy. If a cotton counterpane is put over the bed during the day for the sake of appearance it should be taken off at night and something light and woolen substituted.

BREATHE PURE AIR. This is the time of year when every woman should breathe in all the pure air that her system will hold. She should be careful, however, how she does it for correct breathing is the first lesson to be learned by those in search of beauty. Breathe upward and outward and take slow, deep respirations.

Keep the chest up and forward, not by muscular action, but by the breath. The mouth should be kept closed and the breath taken through the nostrils in order to be beneficial.

Gray is a popular color for coats of coarse canvas. Handsome lace collars are much worn. Pongee is used to make collars and cuffs.

Cords, tassels and danglers are much used in the trimming of spring coats.

The linings are as pretty and dainty as the coats themselves.

Occasionally one sees a coat belted in at the waist on the Russian blouse order, or cut after the Louis models. The favorite among spring coats as a rule is loose, with a straight box back and straight front. It comes a little below the hips or is three-quarters length. The sleeves are elaborate and baggy.

Nothing escapes the lace fever. From shirt waist to elaborate dinner gowns lace is in evidence. A frock without a bit of lace on it somewhere, no matter how small, has the stamp of "last season" all over it.

Even on tailor-made gowns, an excuse is found for using lace. Collars and vests are made of odd material with lace applique, or caps edged with heavy, coarse insertion are fitted over the sleeves.

The new champagne-colored cloth bids fair to become very popular, and combined with the numerous patterns of heavy laces, makes a stunning costume for both afternoon and evening.

A very striking effect is obtained by taking the flowered ecru guipure and cutting out the centers of the flowers and some of the leaves and inserting patches of black panne velvet. The delicate shades of tan, coral, blue and yellow are likewise used.

It has been often predicted that the convenient separate waist would rapidly die out, but little dependence is to be placed on these assertions, when we find the waist in all the shops in endless variety of designs, prettier than ever and suitable to be worn with most any separate skirt.

An extremely neat morning costume is made of a lightweight Oxford gray cheviot, flecked in black. It has a gored skirt ornamented with bias bands of the cheviot put on around the bottom and just below the band in a circular design.

The bodice has a yoke of ecru guipure with bishop sleeves and cape trimmed with bias bands, which is held in place by a knot and ends of black velvet ribbon. The girdele is black velvet with gun metal buckle.

A fetching dinner gown is shown of black peau de sole combined with mirror velvet and silver spangled lace.

The skirt is laid in plaits, with a broad band of the velvet at the bottom, on which is applied a grape design in lace and silver spangles. The waist has a crushed girdele of velvet, fastened with a long rhinestone buckle. It has a pointed Bertha ornament with iridescent dangles.

A smart frock for an afternoon is shown, made of champagne-colored cloth and yak lace insertion. The skirt is ornamented with four bands of the insertion. These bands also ornament the waist and sleeves, with a corsage effect of peau de cygne.

Another pretty gown is of delft blue etamine with a hand-embroidered cartwheel design worked in a dark shade and outlined with bands of velvet.

A midsummer gown is shown in white silk mull, with an invisible pika dot. The skirt has four bands of valenciennes insertion, edged with a frill of valenciennes lace. The bodice has a pointed yoke with a Dutch round neck, ornamented with insertion of lace.

A handsome black visiting gown of black crepe de chine over lousine.

The skirt has a tucked founce edged with an extra wide insertion, which is divided by a cluster of pin tucks.

The bodice has a wide bertha with a founce of the lace, with just a touch of ecru guipure at the neck to give it color.

The bolero jacket still holds its place in the realm of fashion. It is shown in a stylish costume of navy blue broadcloth. The skirt is finished at the bottom with stitched strappings piped with velvet. The under bodice is of yak lace over liberty satin. The bolero is rounded out at the neck with elbow sleeves, showing enough of the lace at the neck and elbows to give it tone.

A new model shows a dainty summer evening gown of pale blue organdie made over liberty silk. The material has a narrow satin stripe of a little deeper shade, almost resembling turquoise.

The skirt, elaborately trimmed with antique lace and the bodice has a Queen Anne collar of lace put together with narrow strips of velvet ribbon. The sleeves are elbow length, with a deep ruffle. The neck shows the new method of finishing without a stock.

CHATS WITH LOVERS

By Beatrice Fairfax

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: Being a steady reader of your valuable paper and realizing the good judgment you use and excellent advice, I have made up my mind to write you on a very important subject. I have for the last year been quite interested in a young lady, who is exceedingly pretty, and by a peculiar coincidence her family moved from Chicago to the city where I was employed. In Chicago we were very friendly and now the acquaintance has ripened into what I really believe is love. I have quite a good position, but possess quite a little talent for the stage, as also does the young lady. I know I could win her if I could only get a good "sketch" and go on the stage with her. Would you advise me to ask her to marry me and be content with a city life, or would you advise my going on the stage? She is a very popular young lady, unusually attractive, and has quite an ardent admirer who is quite wealthy; but she professes to care more for my true affection. I will anxiously await your answer in your column, as I will be guided wholly by what you say. CLARE JAMES.

If you really love the girl and she really loves you, I think you will find far greater happiness by seeking to your good position. You need more than "quite a little" talent to do well on the stage. Acting that is considered very good in an amateur would not be accepted in a professional. Stick to your good position. If the girl really loves you she will be just as happy off the stage as she would on. Do not be carried away by the idea that stage life is all romance. It is anything but that and requires any amount of hard work. Marry your sweetheart, if you can get her, he don't go on the stage. Good business positions are hard to get and so worth keeping when you do get them. DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: For the past eighteen months I have been keeping the company of a gentleman some years my senior. I am an orphan, and he has been the kindest friend I ever met since the death of my parents. When I first met him I disliked him very much, but through his kindness and thoughtfulness I won my love, and in a short time caressed a great love for me. His every thought and act while with me seemed for my happiness. He lives in another city, and so I don't see him very often; but he writes me beautiful letters filled with affection for me. Next month he is to open a store, in which I was to hold a position. In his last letter he spoke of the store and how glad he would be when I could come for he could then see me every day. Since that I have received no word from him. I cannot understand it; if he didn't want me to come, why could he not have been many about it and say so. I would never complain if he would only be a man and tell me he would rather I would not come after all. But to have him conduct himself in this manner grieves me greatly.

In another week I shall be for a day in the city where he is, as I am going away. I cannot live here after this; it would break my heart. I shall go among strangers in a strange place and try to forget. But what I was going to ask is, ought I to write to him or call on him and ask for an explanation? Would it be right or proper? BROKENHEARTED.

I am extremely sorry for you. Your friend treated you very badly. Do not go to see him, but write him, saying that you cannot wait any longer for the position in his shop and that you are going away to seek a position in some other city. If he has a spark of manly feeling he will write and tell you why he did not live up to his offer. You are not alone in your trouble. Similar cases occur every day. Men win the love of girls and then tire of them, deserting them with no explanation and leaving them to eat their hearts out in doubt and despair.

NO MORE STIFF COLLARS. Solid comfort will be found in the dainty summer waists, for, to be strictly in line, the Dutch round neck is the proper thing. No more high stiff collars; they must give way to the narrow ruffle of lace, or what is still prettier, the wide turnover collar, which falls away from the neck in a shallow V. These collars are particularly effective on mull, organdie and wash China silk gowns.

The Care of Shoes

LACED shoes should always be laced as snugly as comfort will permit. Several pairs of laces should be kept on hand as knotted laces are the essence of untidiness. Buttoned shoes should be worn as snugly about the ankle as comfort will permit.

All leather will wear better if it is occasionally well rubbed with vaseline. It should be first well rubbed into the leather and then carefully rubbed off with a soft cloth, and the gloss will be restored, by a brisk polishing with the palm of the hand.

Patent leather should always be treated with vaseline and the shoes when not in use should be kept wrapped in flannel cloth.

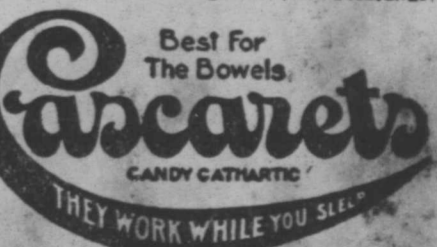

All shoes should be kept in a cupboard when not in use and if the owner cannot afford boot trees the toes of the shoes should be stuffed with cotton wool.

A wet boot should never be put near the fire. It should be turned on its side and allowed to dry slowly. After it is dry it should be well rubbed with vaseline. This treatment will generally bring a soaked boot back into presentable condition.

Gray and White Plaid, showing newest blind placket. Yoke fastens over a straight piece of cloth, which is a continuation of the back breadth, fastened around the waist with a narrow tape, thus avoiding any gap and keeping the back breadth from sagging.

Another chic little suit shown in the cut is of delft blue basket cloth. It has a graduated box plait down the front, with a cape yoke. On each side of the box plait, in front, are two pointed tabs ornamented with pearl buttons. These tabs also appear on either side of the placket in the back, which is concealed by a pointed strap of the basket cloth stitched and trimmed with buttons.

A skirt which in a way has a style of its own is of gray and white plaid. This has a graduated box plait down the front with three bias bands of the plaid running around the skirt to meet the edge of the plait in front.

In this skirt all dress of a gazing placket is removed. The fulness in the back is made by one deep plait on each side which fasten together over a straight piece of the cloth, which is a continuation of the back breadth in the skirt, and which is kept snug up to the waist by tapes, fastened to each end and brought around the waistband tied.

These skirts are all unlined. Many of them have coats to match, making extremely pretty costumes for stormy days.

Sketches were made from models manufactured by M. Goldman & Co., makers of Quality dress skirts, Cleveland, Ohio.

The new rainy-day skirts are all just as chic and pretty as can be. Every combination imaginable is to be seen. The practical rainy-day skirt, and the one that will become popular with the business woman who has to go out in all kinds of weather is cut a trifle shorter than the regular English walking skirt.

Beautiful plaids are shown. One especially rich looking combination is a dull Naples red and bottle green trimmed with red satin buttons to match.

Each seam is laid in a plait and stitched down to a little below the knees, and then left open to throw fullness into the bottom. Where the stitching ends on each seam is one of the little satin buttons.

Pointed tabs stitched with red silk and ornamented with the satin buttons are caught in at the belt, and hang about two inches apart all around the skirt, forming a sort of yoke. The skirt has a habit back with a plain hem, tailor stitched in

WILL WRITE TO GOVERNOR LANHAM

HUNDREDS OF LOCAL LABOR MEN PERSONALLY REQUEST ACTION

Hold Mass Meeting and Jointly Petition Governor Lanham to Present Measure Before the Special Session of the Legislature Next Tuesday - Anti-Trust Law a Death Blow to Labor's Rights

The outgoing mail from Fort Worth tonight will convey a hundred or more communications from local members of organized labor to Governor Lanham, requesting that he submit to the special session of the legislature, which convenes next Tuesday, a bill which will clearly restore such rights as have been enjoyed by organized labor in Texas prior to the passage of the anti-trust bill.

signatures of representatives of the various organizations there represented was also forwarded to the governor. The members of the various organizations in the city will meet at the offices of their respective financial secretaries this morning at 10 o'clock and there pass upon the same resolutions and forward them to Governor Lanham under the seals of the orders. Individual members have written personal letters and those who have not already done so will forward such communications tonight.

Captain Ed B. Willis, a member of the joint labor board at Austin, addressed the meeting last evening in the interest of the movement, which is being extended in the principal cities throughout the state. Mr. Willis' coming was not announced until late in the day, but so intense is the interest in the movement a representative attendance was obtained nevertheless. The Retail Clerks met prior to coming to the mass meeting, passed the resolutions and forwarded them to Austin before attending the Willis meeting at 8:30.

The meeting Friday evening was presided over by J. A. Starling as chairman and C. H. Du Bois as secretary. Captain Willis outlined the work which has been undertaken in behalf of the interest of organized labor in Texas. He said that with the passage of the anti-trust bill at the last session of the legislature protection which labor unions enjoyed in the amendment of 1899 had been rendered void, and that it is now the purpose of labor to induce Governor Lanham, if possible, to restore this protection at this special session of the legislature, which convenes next Tuesday.

Mr. Willis said there is a division of opinion in regard to the manner in which organized labor will be affected by the anti-trust bill as recently passed, but that upon the best legal authority obtainable the measure is considered a death blow to every interest of labor organizations.

Hon. O. S. Lattimore, Hon. Ben Terrell, C. H. Du Bois and others spoke on the question and its importance to organized labor. The speakers were of the opinion that some action should be taken at once to secure, if possible, the passage of a measure whereby the rights granted in the provisions of 1899 could be restored. Messrs. Lattimore and Terrell spoke on the legal phase of the anti-trust bill, the scope which it covers and also on the just claims which organized labor has in demanding such protection as it asks.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

The following are the resolutions adopted in mass meeting in this city Friday evening, with the signatures of representatives of the organizations in attendance:

"Fort Worth, Texas, April 3, 1903. Whereas, We believe that the provisions of the anti-trust law passed by the twenty-eighth legislature are a broad and sweeping act to destroy labor organizations which are thereby made criminal and illegal, to the great injury of the many thousands of workmen in Texas as who find in their unions their only protection against trusts and corporate greed; and,

"Whereas, There is such a wide and fundamental difference between labor organizations and the great combinations of capital that are now oppressing the people, and especially the laboring classes, that to us it appears unnecessary and unfair that the former should be made criminal in order to punish the latter; and,

"Whereas, A grave doubt exists as to whether construction to be placed upon the anti-trust law, many of the ablest members of the legislature that passed the same, being firmly of the opinion that it takes labor unions unlawful and restricts, if it does not destroy, the laborer's right to strike for fair wages and just conditions of labor, and repeals a law passed in 1899 giving labor the right to organize; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, in mass meeting assembled of the various union bodies of Fort Worth, Texas, that we urgently petition Governor Lanham to submit to the special session of the legislature such a bill as will make it clear that workmen in Texas has a right to organize for their own protection.

"Resolved further, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the governor and copies be furnished to the local and labor press for publication.

"J. A. STARLING, Chairman.

"C. H. DU BOIS, Secretary."

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word, but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and owners that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25-cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. W. L. Smallwood and Martin, Smallwood & Walkup.

WAGNER'S WIDOW GAINS NO SYMPATHY

Action in Refusing to Let Parsifal be Sung in the United States Is Not Popular in Germany

BY MALCOLM CLARKE

Special Cable to Fort Worth Telegram. (Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
BERLIN, April 4.—The widow of Richard Wagner, it is already evident, will not be overwhelmed with sympathy from the German musical fraternity in her attempts to prevent Heinrich Conried's production of "Parsifal" at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. Up to two or three years ago such a proposition would have shocked the whole German public immeasurably, but the present musical spirit, like that manifested with regard to all creative effort, is opposed to the kind of hero-worship which interferes with the development of new genius.

"Parsifal," the last of the great Wagner operas, with its majestic and reverent treatment of the greatest of all religious legends, the quest of the Holy Grail—even "Parsifal"—will very shortly have to come into competition with the works of new composers. Even in Germany there is growing impatience over Frau Cosima Wagner's persistence in holding this work sacred to Bayreuth. They would like to see it performed in Berlin or Dresden, and many are reasonable enough to admit that the thousands of music lovers in America who will never be able to make the pilgrimage to Bayreuth should not on that account be deprived of the advantage of this further acquaintance with the great master of music drama.

If Herr Conried persists in his intention to produce "Parsifal" in America he may still make his annual visits to Germany without fear of being mobbed.

German naval authorities appear to enjoy very much the excitement apparent at all the legations over England's determination to establish a naval base on the North Sea. This is regarded as a flattering admission of the strength of the Kaiser's new fleet of warships. The Venezuelan affair was such a flash in the pan that the Kaiser's government seems quite willing to have it generally understood that the blame is England's and that Germany in future can get along very well without King Edward's assistance.

An editor who has the confidence of the government says: "We should have a good deal to do if we became nervous whenever a power thought fit to increase its ships, its arsenals or its naval defenses. The decision of the British Government is not such as to cause us annoyance, although serious politicians, in England have urged the establishment of a naval base in the North Sea, as a necessary protection for the east coast against the supposed dark designs of Germany. "Nervousness, which is a sign of weakness, we leave to others, especially as we cannot prevent the English becoming excited directly a few Russian torpedo boats pass, with the Sultan's consent, through the Dardanelles or a Russian iron-clad appears in the Persian Gulf, or a new German manufacture is laid down."

The dispatches from Paris, Brussels and from America, all accounting for England's action with the formidability of the new German navy, are received with smiles of complaisance by officials of the Kaiser's Government.

The Kaiser will go to Copenhagen to visit the Danish Royal Family on April 2, somewhat fluffed over the refusal of the Duke of Cumberland to meet him there. When the Duke's message of declination was received it was reported that the Kaiser would abandon his visit. This has proved untrue, as it was the Kaiser himself who proposed the meeting and it was therefore impossible to change plans. The Kaiser's eagerness to meet Cumberland is due to the fact that the latter is heir to the Hanoverian throne, and also because His Majesty wishes to know more about the Duke's daughter, whom he fancies as a wife for the Crown Prince. The vexed question of the disputed Brunswick succession was another matter which the Kaiser wished to discuss with the Duke.

The Duchess of Cumberland was present at dinner at Amalienborg Palace and the German Emperor urged her to induce the Duke to change his mind and meet him at Copenhagen, whereupon the excuse was advanced that Cumberland's son was ill and the Duke could not leave him at the present time. There is much curiosity as to whether matrimonial designs for the Crown Prince, or the Kaiser's political troubles, are responsible for the Duke's disinclination to be one of the royal party at the Danish court.

There is still no little astonishment and much alarm over the successful earthquake shocks which have been experienced in the neighborhood of Plauen, Zweickau and Reichenbach, a thickly populated district of Saxony. It is the first time in history that these phenomena have been observed in this part of Europe.

The shocks were accompanied by noises like thunder. The populace was terror-stricken, and still dreads the approach of night, many inhabitants remaining up watching in the streets. There have been no shocks in the last few days, but occasional tremors of the earth have kept people in a state of great suspense.

Munich has on hand the trial of a sensational poisoning case in which the accused is of high social position, Fraulein Elisabeth von Hausler. She is a handsome woman, fifty-four years old, of a very distinguished appearance. Her uncle is Royal Chamberlain at the Bavarian court. The alleged victim, Fraulein Minna Wagner, a remarkably pretty girl, was a nurse in the Royal Maximilian Chapter, an institution for the orphans of meritorious officials, of which Fraulein von Hausler was the Lady Superior.

THE MOTHER'S MISSION.

1840. A GREAT Emperor once asked one of his noble subjects what would secure his country the first place among the nations of the earth. The nobleman's grand reply was, "Good Mothers." Now, what constitutes a good mother? The answer is conclusive: She who, regarding the future welfare of her child, seeks every available means that may offer to promote a sound physical development, to the end that her offspring may not be deficient in any single faculty with which nature has endowed it. In infancy there is no period which is more likely to affect the future disposition of the child than that of teething, producing as it does fretfulness, moroseness of mind, etc., which if not checked will manifest itself in after days.

That very evening the loser attempted to take his life. Fortunately the revolver was of a very inferior quality and the boy got off with a scalp wound. This episode seems to have started a duelling epidemic among students, for on the following Saturday a party of police which raided a student's club room, surprised two members in the middle of a sanguinary encounter. All the weapons, duelling appliances and medical stores of this extraordinary club were confiscated, while the members were escorted to the nearest police station. On the way thither they sang songs and created a great sensation. One of the boys said that the duelling practice in the army was responsible for their action. A boy that wouldn't fight was stigmatized as a coward and deprived of all social standing among the students.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

is unquestionably one of the greatest remedial agents in existence, both for the prevention and cure of the alarming symptoms which so often manifest themselves during the teething period, such as griping in the bowels, wind colic, etc. It is also the best and surest remedy in the world in all cases of diarrhoea in children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. Twenty-five cents a bottle, and for sale in all parts of the world, being the best remedy for children known of.

KUBELIK AND BRIDE-TO-BE

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst)
Here are shown late pictures of Herr Kubelik, the great violinist, and the Countess Marianne Czaky, whom he is to wed before the end of the year.

Of West End theaters there are now twenty-nine, and several more are projected, to be situated in Kingsway and Aldwych, the two new thoroughfares which are to connect the Strand with Holborn.

The Prince of Wales occupied a seat in the Peers gallery in the House of Lords yesterday and listened with boyish interest to the debates of the gray-bearded old lords on the floor beneath.

When King Edward was Prince of Wales he often visited the House of Lords and never missed the occasion of a great debate.

The opening of another new theater in London by Sir Charles Wyndham draws attention to the remarkable progress made by the theatrical profession in recent years.

LONDON'S SOCIAL WHIRL NOW BEGUN

Season Continues From April to August and Many Functions Are on the Lists, Though Few Have Been Held

BY PAUL LAMBETH

Special Cable to Fort Worth Telegram. (Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
LONDON, April 4.—An interesting fact in connection with the recently celebrated fortieth anniversary of the wedding day of the King and Queen is that every one of the eight ladies who acted as bridesmaids on that occasion in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, in 1863, are all alive.

They are Lady Victoria Scott, who afterward became Marchioness of Lathom; Lady Victoria Howard, who has remained unmarried; Lady Agnes York (now Lady Agnes Montagu); Lady Frederica Wellesley (now Lady Frederica Bertie); Lady Diana Beauclerk (now Lady Diana Huddleston); Lady Georgiana Hamilton (since the wife of Lord Winterston); Lady Elma Bruce (now Lady Thurlow), and Lady Eleanor Hare (now Lady Henage).

The London society season of 1903, which continues from March until August, can now be said to have fairly begun. The tempestuous weather with which the month, true to its traditional character, came in has given place to a series of balmy spring days such as can be seen to perfection in England.

The court has been in London for about a month, but there have been only four functions at Buckingham Palace, namely, two levees, a private dinner and dance for Their Majesty's wedding day, and a "court"—the name for the evening reception which replaced the drawing rooms of the late reign.

At this court the procedure was altered in order to relieve the King from much standing or walking. He remained seated during the ceremony, while the guests filed before him and made their obeisances.

Perhaps the most beautiful and interesting of this season's debutants will be Lady Marjorie Greville, only daughter of the fascinating Countess of Warwick.

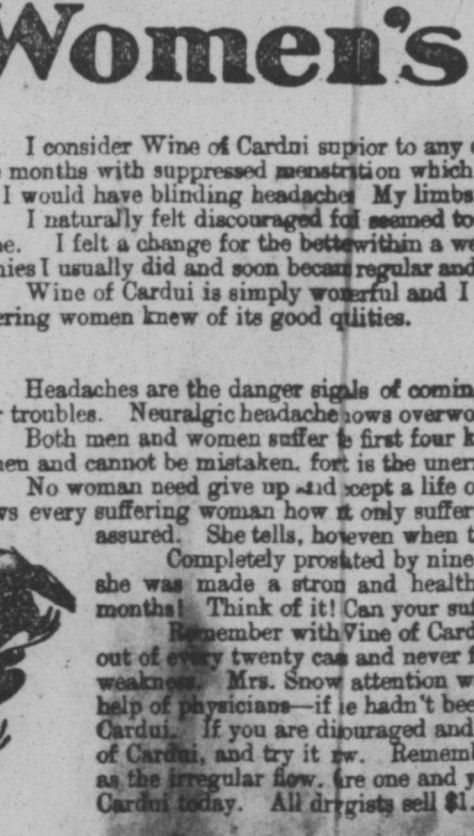

She has, indeed, already been "brought out," but it was at Lady Warwick's place in Essex, Eagon Lodge, and she has not yet been presented at court nor braved the rigors of a London season.

The man of the moment is undoubtedly the Honorable Charles Stewart Rolls, who has accomplished a record automobile sprint at the rate of 80 miles an hour.

He is only twenty-five years old, but is head of the firm of C. S. Rolls & Co., engineers, and a leading expert on automobiles.

He was, indeed, a pioneer in the introduction of automobilism into England and drove a car before the sport became legal by the Light Locomotive Act of 1896.

In appearance Mr. Rolls is tall and athletic, a worthy descendant of fighting ancestors.

WOMEN'S HEADACHES

Portland, Maine, Oct. 13, 1903.

I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whom I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up.

I naturally felt discouraged for seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain.

Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Headaches are the danger signal of coming disease. Malarial headache predicts fever. Bilious headache foretells liver troubles. Neuralgic headaches show overworked nerves. Periodical headaches tell of female weakness.

Both men and women suffer to first four kinds of headaches, but the last, periodical headache, falls only to the lot of women and cannot be mistaken, for it is the ushering sign of irregular menstruation and bearing down pains.

No woman need give up and accept a life of suffering unless she allows herself to despair. Mrs. Snow, in her letter shows every suffering woman how it only suffering can be avoided but how weakness can be conquered and the best health assured. She tells, however when the best medical aid failed, Wine of Cardui worked a complete cure.

Completely prostrated by nine months of suppressed menses, blinded by headaches and racked with pain she was made a strong and healthy woman again. One week of suppression is a serious thing. But nine months! Think of it! Can you suffering be greater than hers? Can your case be more seemingly hopeless?

Remember with Wine of Cardui no case is hopeless because this great remedy cures permanently. Ninety-nine out of every twenty cases and never fails to benefit a case of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness.

Mrs. Snow attention was attracted to Wine of Cardui when she was discouraged and beyond the help of physicians—if it hadn't been beyond doctor's help she probably never would have come to take Wine of Cardui. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui, and try it now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. They are from the same cause as the irregular flow, are one and you cure both. Do not postpone your case. Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

MARKET CLOSED STEADY
NORTH FORT WORTH, April 4.—Yesterday was very quiet at the yards, only six cars of cattle and four cars of hogs being received. The local cattle market closed steady to strong this week, against a small decline on all northern markets. The cattle receipts for the past week were about equal to the requirements of the trade, though the packers could easily have taken care of a good many more. Prices have been steady to strong on everything except canners and heavy calves, which have been drags this week, and sold at steady to lower prices. The demand for well fed steers is excellent at strong to higher prices, and nothing but heavy shipments of southern grass fed cattle in the next two weeks will prevent the price on this class from going higher still.

While all northern hog markets declined 5 to 10 cents the latter part of the week, the Fort Worth market remained firm. The receipts for the past week have been fairly liberal, including quite a lot of Oklahoma hogs, but not enough to supply the demand. Several cars of pigs were shipped in and sold to local feeders at $4.50@6.40. The past week has experienced a very light run of sheep. The demand is excellent with prices ranging from $1.50@2.50.

REPRESENTATIVE SALES
STEERS—Only 165 cattle were offered on yesterday's market and sold at steady to strong prices. The quality of steers sold yesterday was much better than has been offered for the past few days. Eighteen head, averaging 1,086 pounds, shipped in by O. Franke, of Yorktown, topped the market at $4.25. The sales:

WALKS WITHOUT CRUTCHES
I was much afflicted with sciatia, writes Ed. C. Nud, Iowa, Sedgewick Co., Kan. "Being about on crutches and suffering a deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which relieved me. I used three 50c bottles. It is the greatest liniment I ever used; has recommended it to a number of persons. All express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at H. G. Pangburn & Co's.

GRAIN LETTER
(Special to F. G. McPeak & Co.)
CHICAGO, April 4.—Wheat—Liverpool 1/4@1/4 lower; Paris 1/4@1/4 lower; Antwerp unchanged. Primary receipts, 411,000 bushels; against 310,000; shipments, 215,000 bushels; against 215,000; clearances, 501,000 bushels. The market here was again easy. The buying of the last few days has been mainly for local scalping account and the natural liquidation followed. The export demand continues to be of a moderate character. Bullish confidence is inspired somewhat by uncertainty regarding the French crop position and the unsettled political state in eastern Europe. Neither of these factors is so far acute. Crop conditions continue favorable. The Ohio state reports make a condition of 95, against 94 last month, and 74 last year, and says that 13 per cent of last year's crop is still in the hands of farmers. Kansas state reports are expected on Monday. Northwest stocks show a fair decrease for the week and a moderate decrease in the visible on Monday is looked for. The increasing primary receipts in the southwest, due to the favorable crop conditions are attracting notice. Unless the market is helped by the French crop or the political situation, we are still inclined to think that a bull market is not likely, and that sales on the rallies will prove profitable. Estimated cars, 35.
Corn—Liverpool unchanged. Primary receipts, 294,000 bushels, against 202,000 last year; shipments, 316,000 bushels, against 314,000; clearances, 198,000. The market here was very quiet. Some further little pressure from liquidation of May, but demand in the market was without special feature. Argentine cables report corn being offered in Liverpool equal to 40c at Chicago, with condition guarantee. The holdings of July corn in this market seem to be in strong hands still, but the whole situation is handicapped by the strike of vesselmen, which prevents movement and obscures the cash situation. Estimated cars, 125.
Oats—The market here was very quiet. The earlier tone is probably mainly due to better weather. The movement, as in corn, is prevented by the situation in the vessel interest. Patton is the principal local factor at the moment, supposed to be long the May and short the July.
Provisions—The market is again easy. There was scattered selling pressure, especially in the May stuff, and no evidence of support being given to prices by the leading packing interests. The receipts of hogs are the principal factor. Should they increase, prices would go sharply lower. We are inclined to think prices are too high for a speculator to buy and would rather fuss with the short side on the swells.

Bullish confidence is inspired somewhat by uncertainty regarding the French crop position and the unsettled political state in eastern Europe. Neither of these factors is so far acute. Crop conditions continue favorable. The Ohio state reports make a condition of 95, against 94 last month, and 74 last year, and says that 13 per cent of last year's crop is still in the hands of farmers. Kansas state reports are expected on Monday. Northwest stocks show a fair decrease for the week and a moderate decrease in the visible on Monday is looked for. The increasing primary receipts in the southwest, due to the favorable crop conditions are attracting notice. Unless the market is helped by the French crop or the political situation, we are still inclined to think that a bull market is not likely, and that sales on the rallies will prove profitable. Estimated cars, 35.
Corn—Liverpool unchanged. Primary receipts, 294,000 bushels, against 202,000 last year; shipments, 316,000 bushels, against 314,000; clearances, 198,000. The market here was very quiet. Some further little pressure from liquidation of May, but demand in the market was without special feature. Argentine cables report corn being offered in Liverpool equal to 40c at Chicago, with condition guarantee. The holdings of July corn in this market seem to be in strong hands still, but the whole situation is handicapped by the strike of vesselmen, which prevents movement and obscures the cash situation. Estimated cars, 125.
Oats—The market here was very quiet. The earlier tone is probably mainly due to better weather. The movement, as in corn, is prevented by the situation in the vessel interest. Patton is the principal local factor at the moment, supposed to be long the May and short the July.
Provisions—The market is again easy. There was scattered selling pressure, especially in the May stuff, and no evidence of support being given to prices by the leading packing interests. The receipts of hogs are the principal factor. Should they increase, prices would go sharply lower. We are inclined to think prices are too high for a speculator to buy and would rather fuss with the short side on the swells.
