LAWRENCE TRIAL IS ON

SPECIAL VENIRE EXHAUSTED IN CHOOSING JURY

THE TWELVE CHOSEN

DEFENDANT CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF JAMES WILSON JANUARY 9

TAKING OF THE TESTIMONY

First Witness Takes Stand at 2 O'Clock This Afternoon—Joe Wolf, the Co-Defendant, Will Be Tried in Same Court Next Week

THE JURY

- J. A. Roark, farmer, near Sublett. W. D. Orrick, farmer, White Settlement. Dock Brewer, farmer, near Arlington. S. D. Penny, farmer, near Waughs. J. P. Turner, farmer, near Arlington. W. D. Trimble, farmer, Mistletoe Heights. G. B. Maddox, farmer, near Keller. J. H. Clark, farmer, near Smithfield. J. T. Crim, farmer, near Arlington. D. R. Martin, farmer, near Arlington. John C. Bardin, farmer, near Arlington. R. E. Race, grocer, Fort Worth.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the trial of Joe Lawrence, charged in conjunction with Joe Wolf, with the murder of James Wilson on the evening of Jan. 9, was begun in the Seventeenth district court.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

County Attorney Lattimore and First Assistant Buck made a special point of asking the proposed jurors if they entertained conscientious scruples against imposing the death penalty on purely circumstantial evidence.

The noon whistles were blowing when Grocer Race was chosen. His acceptance by both sides completed the jury and court adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when, after the arraignment of the defendant, the taking of testimony was begun.

THE CRIME

The crime with which Lawrence and Wolf are charged was one of the most cold-blooded ones in the criminal annals of Fort Worth. On the evening of Jan. 9 last two men met James Wilson at his gate as he was returning home to eat supper with his children.

NIGHT CAROUSAL ENDS IN A MURDER

BRENHAM, Texas, April 27.—About 6 o'clock Sunday morning a difficulty occurred between Manuel Taylor and Joe Perry and Willie Mitchell, all colored, in front of Taylor's saloon, resulting in the stabbing and killing of Taylor.

It appears that the bar had been open all night and that a drunken carousal had been in progress throughout the night. Taylor was quite prominent among the colored people of this county. He was in fact their recognized leader and was regarded as a clever, reliable man, by both the white and the black population.

These steers were strictly south Texas and had only been fed on short time in pasture. Mr. Lassiter followed this sale with a load of lighter but a better bred bunch, averaging 850 pounds, which brought $4.40. Fern Saunders and W. H. Moore, representing the Evans-Snyder-Buel Commission Company, arrived Saturday night from Kansas City and will remain here temporarily. Both are well pleased with the opening prospects and think the new exchange building is the finest and most complete building of its kind they have ever seen.

Hebronville, a regular shipping point to this market, was represented in the cattle yards today by seven different shippers. This goes to show that the cattle of south Texas had a good winter and the desire of the shippers to do business is reflected by a brisk movement of cattle to this market.

H. O. Dutton of Cordell, Okla., and W. J. Nolan of Yukon, regular shippers to this market, were in today with one car of hogs each. E. E. Gaet of Mount Vernon, Texas, was on the market with one straight car of calves.

E. P. Eslade, a new shipper from Hebronville, was in with one car of cattle. J. W. Corn, farmer and ranchman of Bear Creek, is a visitor around the yards today.

COTTON LETTER (Special to Geo. C. Hoffman.) NEW YORK, April 27.-Cotton opened 3 to 5 points higher, although cables were not up to the mark. Mail reports of want of rain were quite numerous and in addition the government map failed to show any moisture of consequence over Sunday except at Charleston, S. C. The receipts were receiving but little attention and everything seemed to hinge on the weather and the extent of May notices to be served tomorrow. Sellers are still holding back. There is nothing to warrant abandoning the long side. The crop is having a very late start, that is sure, and it may have a still worse start unless rain comes soon, no matter how large may be the acreage. Port receipts estimated at 8,000 bales, against the same number last year.

The men were engaged at the cupola preparatory to cast when the accident occurred and they were literally showered with molten metal. Fellow workmen ran to their assistance and tore their clothing from their bodies. The victims are David Applein, Thomas T. Kinseling, Winfield Simons, Wm. Eberly, Charles Harris. The later two are colored. The accident was caused by a wet projectile's being shot into the cupola.

AMUSEMENTS

"BARON RUDOLPH"

"Baron Rudolph" will be presented at Greenwall's opera-house tonight for the last performance, as a benefit to Treasurer Mitchell W. Greenwall. Thomas J. Keogh, who appears in the stellar role of Baron Rudolph, is no stranger to local amusement goers. Besides being a good singer and graceful dancer, he is a comedian and character actor of refined methods, bright and humorous, without a suggestion of vulgarity or horseplay. He has a great opportunity in the role of Rudolph and he will be afforded first-class support by Greenwall's stock company from the home house in New Orleans.
The Houston Chronicle said: "The audience was both large and enthusiastic, and Manager Lewis was showered with congratulations over the success of the benefit. The mechanical stage effects, together with the costumes, were among the handsomest that have been seen here during the season."
"The performance was witnessed by Henry Greenwall of New Orleans and Colonel Phil Greenwall of Fort Worth, who were transacting theatrical business in the city in connection with the Greenwall circuit."

"DAMON AND PYTHIAS"

A fine cast has been drilled up by Mr. Heathcote, who is without doubt the only teacher of elocution and dramatic art in the southwest, for the presentation of this beautiful drama, April 29, at Greenwall's opera-house. Miss Lelia Walton, a new debutante in dramatic art, will be seen as Hermon, the wife of Damon. The last act will be one of the finest ever seen on the local stage. Patrons, Edward VII, the emperor of Germany, M. Loubet, president of the French republic; Joseph Chamberlain, the earl of Rosebery, the duke of Marlborough, Ceteaway, the king of the Zulus, and Grover Cleveland, Patronsess, Queen Alexandra, Mrs. Langtry, the duchess of Manchester, the empress Eugenie and Carrie Nation.
Note—Mr. Heathcote has room for other patrons and patronesses, and will be pleased to meet them on Wednesday night at 50 cents per patron or patroness.

With the exception of the British parliament the Swedish Riksdag is the oldest legislative body in the world. The kingdom of Sweden has maintained its integrity as far back as there is any record.

CHEAP RATES TO ST. LOUIS
On account of the dedication of the Louisiana Exposition at St. Louis the Texas and Pacific railway will sell tickets to St. Louis and return at $21.40. Tickets on sale April 25 to 30, inclusive; good until May 4 for return.

LOCALS' CHANCES THROWN AWAY

POOR BASE-RUNNING AND LUCID'S ERRORS

Coriscana Captured Second Game of the Season—Paris Defeated by Dallas by a Close Score—Sorrels in Box for Locals This Afternoon

TEXAS LEAGUE STANDING

Club	Games Played	Won	Lost	Per cent.
Coriscana	2	2	0	1.000
Dallas	2	1	1	.500
Paris	2	1	1	.500
Fort Worth	2	0	2	.000

WHERE THEY PLAY
Coriscana at Fort Worth.
Paris at Dallas.

GAMES YESTERDAY
Coriscana, 6; Fort Worth, 3.
Dallas, 5; Paris, 3.

It is really too bad that Manager Ward cannot use Disch in three or four positions at one and the same time. This player was moved from second over to short in yesterday's game in order to plug up the aperture in the infield at that point. Lucid was moved into the hole vacated by Disch, the intention being, of course, that he should hit it. But he didn't. Hence the desire for more Disches.

The captain was up in the air all the afternoon and the loss of the game may be attributed to his misplays more than to any one other contributing element. The final score was 6 to 3 in favor of Coriscana. Each side earned only one run.

LOCKHEAD DID WELL
Lockhead twirled an excellent game. Zook looked easy, but the team did not go at him with the vim that wins and, besides, its judgment on the bases was missing. For instance, Barrett opened the game with a nice single; Lucid cracked a hard safe one into right center on which Barrett easily made third, but he took a foolish chance in trying to score on the hit; when he was halfway home the ball was at the plate waiting for him. With nobody out, the situation did not call for any such desperate base-running. In fact, according to some of the best judges of play, it would have been wrong for Barrett to try to score even if the chance was an easy one, as when men are on first and third and nobody out the opposing infield has about twenty possible plays to befuddle itself with on every ball pitched.
The result was that Fort Worth did not score at all in that inning.

ANOTHER MISTAKE
At another exciting stage with Fiedler on third and someone else on first a double steal was tried. Westlake, Coriscana's catcher, threw the ball to Shortstop Hill, who came in close behind the pitcher. It was Fiedler's play to hold third if the short throw was made, but instead he ran in and was out a mile. If he had held third a gain would have been made on the play, as the man from first would have got second.

Plays such as these killed promising rallies.
The game was played in one hour and twenty minutes, and the fans were heartily glad that it did not last any longer, considering the way the locals were mismanaging their affairs.
TODAY'S GAME
It is to be hoped that Captain Lucid and his men will take a brace this afternoon, both at bat and on the bases. In a fielding way they did all right yesterday, with the exception of the captain. Pitchers have been played in right field the last two days. Fenner behind the bench and probably will be used in today's game. Sorrels and Redus will do the twirling.

A CHANGE OF FRONT

Many suggestions arise at the change of attitude toward Ireland which has recently characterized the English government, a change so remarkable as to excite widespread comment.

The cause for which the Irish patriots labored and for which Gladstone struggled, at last seems near fulfillment and the self-government of Ireland is said to be only a matter of a short time.

As to the truth of this last assertion there may be some doubt, for the attitude of England towards Ireland, notably that section in which the population is largely of Catholic religion, is not charitable.

In Gladstone's time when the south of Ireland was clamoring for Home Rule, a majority of the inhabitants in the northern half of the island opposed it on somewhat selfish religious grounds.

But while Home Rule may be yet a gift of the future for Ireland, it is true that England has recognized the advantages which will come from a more benevolent policy toward her subjects there.

The Wyndham land bill is framed to give relief to a peasantry suffering under a bondage, in many cases, no better than that of the most miserable serfs of Russia.

The relief of a character that will tend towards making the Irish peasant more independent and therefore that much a better citizen.

Why England has changed her attitude is a matter of interest. Optimists would say because the world is getting better and pessimists would say that Great Britain has learned the bitter lesson of the Boer war and will never again attempt to rule her subjects with an iron hand, or force too far the policies of her ministers on unwilling governments.

But perhaps another cause, not suggested by either class, has had much to do with the interest displayed in Ireland by the British government. That is the spectacle of a steadily decreasing population through emigration.

In 1831, Ireland had 7,760,000 inhabitants. By 1841, before emigration to the United States had begun to any great extent, the number had increased to 8,196,597, but the next year saw the beginning of the emigration movement that has now slackened in the half century that has followed.

By 1851, Ireland's population had dropped to 6,574,278; by 1861, it was down to 5,298,967. In the next ten years it still further decreased to 5,412,377 and in 1881 it was 5,174,826.

The next ten years saw its decline to 4,706,448 and at the last census (1901) the population of the once thickly settled island, was down to 4,456,546 or scarcely more than half what it had been fifty years before.

Famine and disease, recruits for wars, and other causes have had something to do with the steady decrease in population, but Ireland has never been troubled with race suicide. Its people are healthy and the birth rate is large and these causes of decrease have doubtless been fully met.

The chief cause of the decrease has been failure to earn a livelihood under English rule and a consequent emigration to a new country where better prospects rewarded honest work.

America has profited much by this emigration. A glance at the figures shown, reveals that Ireland's population has decreased at the rate of about 30,000 a year. In 1902, there came to the United States from Ireland, 29,138 immigrants, so it can be seen that the movement is still in progress and that we are getting the benefit of it.

English lawmakers cannot have failed to note what they have been losing and what the United States has gained. It is not unlikely that the more beneficent policy may have been largely suggested and brought to definite form from a scrutiny at the figures such as these. At any event it will be interesting to watch further progress of the emigration from Ireland during the next ten years, and the effects upon it a more liberal English policy may have.

AS SOLDIERS DIE

The history of Texas is full of brave deeds. Heroism is told in every line of it and no Texan today, whose parents or grandparents were Texas pioneers, does not have in his veins the blood of brave men and brave women.

To every man or woman who admires bravery without the spectacular of bravado, there comes across thousands of miles of land and water, the story of the heroic death of a little band of British soldiers in Somaliland. It brings with it a thrill that the distance does not lessen or lack of personal interest decrease.

It is a comparatively simple recital. There were about two hundred British soldiers marching across the burning sands hunting for missing comrades. Suddenly they were surrounded by a horde of howling savages.

The soldiers were of the regular "Tommy Atkins" type, taught to drill, to fight, and to die. The thought of running away did not occur to them. They formed a square and faced the enemy.

It was twelve thousand savages to two hundred brave men. Hundreds of the Somalis fell, but gradually the officers and then the men of the British force were slaughtered and but a bare handful of dangerously wounded survivors reached safety.

These are the only details the dispatches tell. It is not a graphic story and it lacks altogether of the picturesque. It is just the story of how brave soldiers can die. But if its lesson comes home to the men who are discouraged, to the men who would like to give up, to those who do not have in them the force of character that makes men fight to the last ditch, the story will have made the world better and will not have been wholly in vain.

The pension bureau at Washington recently called on a colored applicant for a dependent widow's pension for proof of the death of the former partner of her joys and sorrows. The answer she made was not very satisfactory, and again a request was sent for proof. This is what she finally sent to the bureau, putting a row light on the latitude of inference even among the colored race.

MESSAGE ON CUFF SAVED HIS LIFE In the recent fire in one of our large cities an actor made known his presence on the roof of the burning building by writing a message on his cuff and casting it to the street. This wise act resulted in saving his life. It is also a wise act for anyone suffering from stomach, liver or kidney disorders to commence taking Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It may be the means of saving your life, too, because when these diseases are allowed to run without attention serious results often occur. Commence taking the Bitters today and notice the improvement in your condition. Especially in the spring it is very beneficial. It will also cure flat grippe, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and insomnia. Avoid all substitutes.

DAILY SHORT STORY

HER MEMORY BOOK

BY HOLMES CONRAD

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst, Great Britain rights reserved.)

He gave the doirbell a sharp pull and waited impatiently for someone to respond. He had no right to be impatient with anyone, but himself he impaled him that. But just the same it seemed that somebody was awfully slow about answering that bell. He had time to walk to the end of the porch and back again twice before the door was finally opened by an old colored woman, who, after gazing at him blankly for a moment, gave a grin of recognition and began bobbing up and down, looking more like a cork on a choppy sea than anything else that he could think of.

"Why, Mr. Jack! How you is changed, I mes' didn't know you," she said, working in the words between the boys. "An' you had to wait till Christmas come 'round so you could come back de same time you left. Thankee, Mr. Jack, thankee," closing her hand over a new half dollar. "I suttrenly is glad you come, I suttrenly is. An' Miss Grace gwinter be glad, too. Yes, suth; come right in an' mek yourself comfortable, an' I'll go right long an' tell 'er you come."

She went to the big winding stairs, stopping at every third or fourth step to glance back at him over her shoulder with a look of admiration. He was good to look at—all and straight, with shoulders broad and a graceful carriage. His eyes were his best features, dark brown and clear, but the face was clean cut and most people thought him handsome.

He removed his top coat, which he hung on a rack with his hat, and then slowly made his way across the wide hall, now beautifully dressed with holly and mistletoe, and drew aside the heavy portieres. Once more he was in the gold and white room which he knew so well. Nothing was changed. There was the piano where it had always stood. He went over and glanced at the piece of music which was open on it. "A Dream of Love," he said, "that was my favorite; let me see what was here, but oh, suth, what's the use thinking about it anyway? It's all over now, and neither of us cares, so what does it matter?"

The holly in the big vase on the mantelpiece looked just like that which was there the day he went away, preserved in its freshness by some magic power. He could almost swear it was arranged just the same way, and he went over and pulled a spray of berries to fasten in his coat. Then he remembered that on Christmas two years ago a flower, a rose, had been pinned in his coat, and he put the bit of holly back again, but just for a moment, and calling himself a fool he took it once more and fastened it roughly to his lapel, staring down into the red coals which were burning so brightly in the open grate.

"If I hadn't felt positively sure," he went on in his thoughts, "I never would have come, but then, I didn't want her to think that we were not good friends, and as I had to come soon again, and at Christmas, too, I thought I might call just for friendship's sake. There were some pretty high words, but I reckon we have both forgotten them by now, at least I know I have, and her little note was very cordial. Let me see how it went: 'You certainly must not leave town without seeing me, for the sake of the old days, and, besides, I have a Christmas surprise for you. Your flowers were lovely.'"

"Now that was certainly a friendly little note. I wonder what the Christmas surprise is? We always did have some little surprise for each other at Christmas. I see 'he hasn't forgotten it. Maybe she will suggest that we be friends again, say, and more. Maybe she will be willing to forget the last two years and we can be as we were before. Maybe—"

"She says she's down in a few minutes, Mr. Jack," said the old lady from behind the portieres.

"All right," he answered, "thank you."

hundred dollars. They were all of the Parker Early variety. I use commercial fertilizers exclusively. The demand for my fruit is always far greater than the supply.—Country Life in America.

The most conspicuous figure remaining of the great men who made the armies of the Confederacy is General John B. Gordon. For many years he has gained credit as a lecturer over the length by his vivid lectures on the war, and he has finally written his reminiscences for publication in book form. A part of them will appear serially, and the story begins in the May number of Scribner's Magazine. It is probably the last of the great personal narratives that the civil war will produce. It is believed that it will take the same place in Southern history that General Grant's memoirs have taken in northern.

The first paper, entitled "My First Command and the Outlook of the War" gives a most amusing account of General Gordon's command of mountain troops that became famous over the name which they themselves adopted, The Raccoon Roughs. They were the Rough Riders of their time, and the men who composed them were brave and amusing characters, mostly recruited from the mountains of Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama. General Gordon also analyzes the causes of the war from a southern point of view, and his argument will commend itself to the north as well for its fairness and its eloquence. It is a most interesting ground on which all may stand. Future numbers will contain General Gordon's brilliant account of Antietam, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg.

The municipal authorities of Enfield, one of the western suburbs of Sydney, have, after a dozen years' experience of the electric light for street illumination, decided to revert to gas.

Justus Miles Forman, who wrote "Journeys End," contributes a very clever story to "Almanac" for May, under the title, "A Bit of Sentiment." Another very clever piece of sentiment is written by the same issue is, "A Rose Garden," by Kate Masterson. Dorothy Dix finishes her series of articles on "The Man in Love," with some apt remarks about the management of a wife. Miss Dix has doubtless made a great many enemies on account of the frank statements in these articles of hers about the all-conquering man, but she has always made good reading, too, and for that much can be forgiven.

BIG PROFITS IN STRAWBERRIES My object has been from the start to grow berries for the home trade rather than for the general market. It costs only a trifle more to grow big berries than small ones. It does not cost so much to gather them; and they will yield twice the profit. The greatest yield that I ever got from one full acre was in the summer of 1899—approximately thirteen hundred quarts; average price less commission and express, thirteen and one-half cents per quart. I figure that I received a net profit, the first season's fruiting from this acre, of between eleven and twelve

MANY OUTLAW HORSES WILL BE ENTERED IN CONTEST HERE.

Some of the Best Riders in the Country Will Exhibit Their Skill in the Horse Show Tent Arena—Rules Governing the Entries for the Contest.

Saturday of this week will bring to the Horse Show tent George L. Goulding's band of successful "broncho busters," the aggregation which has been meeting with such splendid patronage in Dallas and Houston. The "bronchos" are making the Horse Show circuit this year and furnishing more real wild excitement than anything, barring a tornado, which has struck Texas in several years. Some of the best riders of Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas will contest for the $500 in prizes Saturday, and it is hoped that a local man may be able to land the first prize of $250, which carries with it the Texas championship.

The rough riders have a motto, "Stick to Your Saddle," and a wise bit of advice follows in parenthesis (if you can). If half the reports from Dallas and Houston, where the show has already touched, can be credited, the bronchos and their "busters" are furnishing an article of excitement which brings the spectators to their feet with the wildest enthusiasm at short intervals all during the performance, and when it is over inquiries are made "if there is another show tonight."

The following is a list of the entries already received, and the names of riders who will participate.

McCoy, Greeley, Colo.; John Bradley, Grand Junction, Colo.; Frank Howard, Pueblo, Colo.

THE RULES. The rules, which are given below, should be carefully studied by those expecting to enter, as they are important: Rules governing the broncho busters' contest: 1. A rider will be considered on his horse when he has one foot in the stirrup, and as soon as the other foot leaves the ground to mount. A man who is testing his horse's mettle by placing his weight on his stirrup and lifting the other foot from the ground without attempting to get into the saddle will not be considered as having attempted to mount. The judges shall decide what is an attempt to mount. If the horse falls at any time with the rider on him, and the rider is thrown by the falling of the horse, it shall be understood this shall in no way count against him.

2. Each rider will be allowed one helper to assist him in saddling his horse if he so desires. 3. If a rider is thrown from a horse that is allotted him, he will be barred from participating further in the contest. 4. No rider will be allowed to use any contrivance to assist him in riding, such as buck strap, hoppel stirrup, or check of any kind that will in any way prevent the horse from bucking. 5. A rider's rig shall consist of a hackamore, riata, saddle and blanket, quirt and spurs, or any part thereof. 6. Each rider who shall allow his horse to get away from him after same has been delivered to him for saddling shall be subject to adverse marking by the judges. 7. The committee shall have the right at any time during the contest to cancel the entry, and, if necessary, to remove from the arena any contestant on account of disorderly or improper conduct, or who is guilty of cruelty to his horse. 8. No horse shall be eligible that throws himself more than once. The committee reserves the right to remove any horse from the arena at any time. 9. Any man who draws a horse which shall prove not to be a buckner, and that will not give him a fair chance to show his ability as a rider, may draw another horse. 10. All horses shall be delivered to the rider in the arena, there to be saddled and ridden by him. 11. Consecutive numbers, corresponding to the numbers of the riders, shall be placed in two separate boxes. Each rider shall draw from one box a number, by

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

The best known and most popular blood purifier and tonic on the market to-day is S. S. S.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in America who has not heard of "S. S. S. for the blood." It is a standard remedy, a specific for all blood troubles and unequalled as a general tonic and appetizer. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, the herbs and roots of which it is composed are selected for their alterative and tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy for all blood and skin diseases, as if not only purifies, enriches and invigorates the blood, but at the same time tones up the tired nerves and gives strength and vigor to the entire system.

FROM CONGRESSMAN LIVINGSTON, OF GEORGIA. I know of the successful use of S. S. S. in many cases. It is the best blood remedy on the market.

FROM EX-GOV. ALLEN D. CANDLER. S. S. S. is unquestionably a good blood purifier, and the best tonic I ever used.

For Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Malaria, Anemia, Scrofula, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Acne and such other diseases as are due to a polluted or impoverished condition of the blood, nothing acts so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. It counteracts and eradicates the germs and poisons; cleanses the system of all unhealthy accumulations and soon restores the patient to health. which he shall be designated. As a horse is brought into the arena, one of the committee shall draw a number from the remaining box, and the rider holding the corresponding number shall ride the horse so presented. 12. All riders will ride the horse thus selected, and the judges will select therefrom as many as in their judgment are qualified to ride further in the contest. Note.—One hundred is a perfect score for rider and the committee are the sole judges of what the markings should be. That is, the manner the horse and the harder he bucks, the higher score. Naught being the lowest for a poor performer. Spectators are requested to not consider this as a "horse breaking" exhibition, but instead a contest for skillful riding. The horses being what is known as "outlaw" horses, all of them being halter broken and quiet to lead and most of them standing quietly to be saddled, but as soon as the rider is in the saddle, it is not the fault of the horse if the rider stays there and the rider is the only one who receives rough treatment. These entries are open to the world and any spectator thinking that it is easy to "stick to your saddle" (without hanging on to leather), is invited to try. All horses to be ridden with hackamore or halter, no bridles being used. It will count against any rider who "grabs leather."

DOCTORS WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO PRACTICE

Dr. M. M. Smith, the secretary of the board of medical examiners for the state of Texas, has furnished the following report of the meeting for the examination of applicants held in Austin, Texas, April 20, 21, 22 and 23, 1903.
The number who appeared for examination was ninety-seven; ninety-six of whom took the regular examination to obtain license to practice medicine and surgery in the state of Texas. One applicant for an examination to practice midwifery in Texas. The total number who failed to pass successfully the examination was ten, one of whom being the applicant for midwifery. The total number of applicants who had taken the examination on previous examinations and again appeared before said board was three. All of whom passed successfully their examination at this meeting. The total number of applicants who had taken a temporary examination, a provision of the new law, until the regular meeting of the board is sixteen. The total number who had failed on a previous examination before the meeting of the board is two. Both of whom failed at this examination. The total number who applied for temporary examination since the last regular meeting of the board, and did not appear at this examination, is two. One of whom had passed successfully the temporary examination and the other having failed.
Dr. Smith reports that the percentage of failures was only about one-half as many at this meeting as were obtained at all previous meetings of the board. This result was brought from the fact that the percentage of failures in the previous examinations acted as an incentive to make the men better prepared for their work, and as a result furnishing Texas better doctors. The new medical law enacted by the legislature two years ago has been the means of raising the standard of a great many incompetent physicians and has undoubtedly raised the standard of all new men who have come into Texas to practice their profession.

FLASH OF LIGHT

The Coffee Facts Came to Her
Coffee is so often unappreciated in the work it does in the human body that illustrations of this kind are interesting.
A lady in West Townsend, Mass., says: "I did not begin drinking coffee until I was an adult. Not very long after I commenced I began to have headaches and a dull, heavy, stupid feeling. These symptoms grew worse until I was ill, but I had no suspicion that coffee was the cause of the trouble."
"I could not get up any strength, and after dragging around half sick for some time I was sent off on a visit, to see if the change would do me good. I soon began to feel better and at the end of three weeks felt perfectly well again."
"Before leaving I had a long talk with my friend as to the cause of my getting better. I had taken no medicine of any kind and the food was about the same as at home, the coffee was particularly rich, strong and palatable. I complimented her on the coffee and asked what kind she used. She told me 'Postum,' which I absolutely could not believe. I had enjoyed it so much and it agreed with me so perfectly, but I had always had an idea that Postum food coffee was a fat-sticking, insipid drink and was only used by people who could not drink the old-fashioned coffee."
"My friend said she had been using it for two years because when she drank the old-fashioned coffee it kept her sick half the time. Then it dawned on me like a flash of light that the old-fashioned coffee was the cause of my trouble and sickness and that by using Postum food coffee for three weeks had made me well."
"When I went home I told mother of the change. She saw how round and fat I had grown and said, 'You can have Postum at home. We have a package in the house that I tried once, but it tasted so flat that I went back to the ordinary coffee.' So I said, 'Let me make it, Mrs. ' said it must be made according to directions and must be boiled at least 15 or 20 minutes after the boiling begins and if we can make it as good as she does you will be astonished at it.'"
"Well, she was astonished, and from that time to this we have left the old-fashioned coffee off the table and used Postum altogether. Mother is better, my headaches and sick feelings have never returned. There is no doubt that coffee is a poison to us and Postum is the cause of our comfort and health. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FIRST PERFORMANCE OF FLOTO SHOWS

The Flo-to shows are paying their initial visit to Fort Worth and are billed for today and tomorrow. The shows have just completed a tour of the cities of the state and the notices received by them have been more than complimentary. The parade this morning was a pretty affair. The little ponies, handsome equipments and clever dogs and monkeys made a good impression. The program proper opens with a pony military drill. The much advertised Ben Hur herd of Arabian horses is easily the feature of the show. They are remarkable specimens of horsethief, and aside from their striking beauty they do a very excellent act. The dog contingent comprises some fine-looking fellows and their stunts are above the average. The usual monkey troupe assist with their grotesque antics and a genuine novelty was the introduction of nine little ponies by the ringmaster as his equine orchestra, and their rendition of "Home, Sweet Home," by means of small bells attached to their heads. The act is a new one. The Ricebourn act introducing the stallion Cyran and troupe of colts and Salmite dogs, is one of the distinct hits of the program. As a diversification of the trained animal offering, the Belford family of gymnasts were introduced, and their act is said to be unquestionably one of the best ever seen with a tent show. There are two men and three children in the troupe and the work of the three little fellows is truly wonderful. Another performance tonight and two tomorrow, with the usual street parade will be given.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW
Hard to do housework with an aching back—Hours of misery, at leisure or at work—no rest day or night. Ache, ache all the time. If women only knew the cause, what a lot of happiness it would bring to Fort Worth homes. Backache pains come from sick kidneys. They're a cry for help that the little filters send out when they can't do the work nature gives them to do.

Doan's Kidney Pills
Cure backache and lame back—Kidney and urinary trouble of every sort. No doubt about it—no slightest.

FORT WORTH WOMEN
Say so. Women who have suffered—who are now well and strong. Here's proof of it:
Mrs. M. Isted of 1207 Strand street, Galveston, who is proprietor of a boarding houses at that address, numbering among her boarders a dozen medical students, says: "I caught cold during the flood of September, 1900, and it settled in my kidneys. Despite the fact that I tried all kinds of medicine and was under the care of physicians, the excruciating twinges and dull aches across the small of my back refused to leave, and trouble with the kidney secretions began to set in. From then ordinary Anglo-Saxon falls to describe the annoyance and suffering endured. The fearful pain through my body, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, consequent loss of energy, and finally an indication of complete dissolution compelled me from sheer agony and pain to either lie on the floor and scream or forced me into spasms. On such occasions my husband called in a physician, whose morphine treatment relieved me temporarily. I grew weaker and thinner and ran down so physically that nothing was left but skin and bone. All my friends, acquaintances and neighbors knew about my critical condition, and on one occasion I was reported dead, and they came to see my corpse. At last the doctors attending me held a consultation, and agreed that if I did not undergo an operation I could not live. Preparations were made, a room selected at the city hospital, and they even went so far as to have the carriage brought to the door to carry me there. I don't know why, but something told me not to go and I absolutely refused. Now I want the reader to grasp every word of the following: A friend of ours, a Mr. McFaugnd, knowing that my kidneys were the real cause of the entire trouble, brought a box of Doan's Kidney Pills to the house and requested me to give them a trial. I had taken so much medicine that I was more than discouraged, and had little if any faith in the preparation. However, I reasoned if they did not do me any good they could not possibly make me worse, so I began the treatment. After the third dose I felt something drag across me like a flash of lightning, and from that moment I began to improve. The pain in my back and kidneys positively disappeared, the kidney secretions became free and natural, at present I rest and sleep well, my appetite is good, my weight has increased from 118 to 155 pounds, and my flesh is firm and solid. My friends actually marvel at the change in my appearance. Words cannot express my own feelings. I am not putting it too strongly when I say I have been raised from the dead. I am satisfied that had it not been for Doan's Kidney Pills taken when they were, I would have been either lying in the Lake View cemetery or an invalid for the balance of my life. I will be only too pleased to give minute particulars of my case to anyone calling on me, not, of course, out of idle curiosity, but if they really have kidney complaint and want to know what course to pursue to get relief."

DUELLING DOESN'T RESPECT OLD AGE

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. KEARL.)
 BY MALCOLM CLARKE.

BERLIN, April 27.—The current duelling epidemic seems to have reached its climax—and a climax which would be incredible if the facts were less well attested. Neither age nor sex is spared, as is shown by the most recent manifestations of the "personal honor" mania which consumes subjects of the Kaiser.

Two well-known officers, Generals Gladischer and Tserndieff, each over sixty years of age, became involved in a dispute over a comparatively trifling matter. High words were exchanged and the elderly disputants arranged a meeting, which took place near Hamburg. Swords were the weapons and the aged warriors fought with astonishing vigor. Spectators describe the assault as a remarkable exhibition of swordsmanship.

After fighting for a quarter of an hour, General Tserndieff dealt his antagonist a thrust from the effects of which it is feared General Gladischer will not recover.

But this affair pales in insignificance beside that of which a young German officer, too insignificant to be named, was the hero at Kolmar, in Saxony. It cannot be better described than in his own language when hailed before a local court.

"One night," the defendant said, "I had a quarrel with my wife, in the course of which she exclaimed: 'You are too much of a coward to strike me!'"

"What could I, as a Prussian officer, do when my wife accused me of cowardice? If the wife of another officer had thus insulted me I could at least have challenged her husband in a duel, but I could not challenge myself because my own wife insulted me."

"I got into a state of intense excitement over this terrible dilemma. I requested my wife formally three times to withdraw the insulting expression, which was incompatible with my dignity and honor as a Prussian officer. She refused to do so. As it was my duty to insist on satisfaction for the insult, I seized a stick and beat my wife."

The case has been adjourned and we are waiting with curiosity what view the solons of Kolmar will take of "personal honor" so sensitive that a reputation for wife-beating is slight in comparison.

Emperor Franz Joseph paid his first visit since his return from Budapest to his daughter, Archduchess Valerie, at Villa Hermes, in the Lainz Park, Vienna, the other day. He was warmly welcomed by the seven olive branches.

By an odd coincidence, the last four grandchildren celebrate their birthdays on the same day of the same month. The Emperor asked the eldest of the four little granddaughters what she would like for her birthday gift to which she replied with an air of resignation:

"What's the use of my saying what I would like? I always get a little brother or a little sister, anyhow."

The Biggest Little Thing

measured by the amount of nutritive value it contains, is the fresh soda cracker. Many people think a cracker an insignificant and easy thing to make—yet no one ever succeeded in reaching perfection until Uneeda Biscuit were introduced. To maintain the quality of Uneeda Biscuit requires the best of everything—wheat, flour, baker, and bakery.

Uneeda Biscuit furnishes every element necessary to bodily vigor; and, above all, they are fresh and clean. This is due to the In-seal Package—identified by the famous red and white trade mark design—which protects them from the air, moisture, dust and other things not best to mention. There's a world of worry, work, skill and care in making a soda cracker like—

SELF-DENIAL IN PARIS

From London comes a story Consul General Henry Clay Evans is telling to American visitors. It is about a parvenu traveler who had been in Paris for a brief season and who was parading in exact knowledge of the French capital to more knowing London acquaintances.

"On the contrary," replied the latter, soberly, "my wife was with me on the trip, and I was very circumspet."—New York Tribune.

D. 1903, the same being the 11th day of said month, then and there to answer the petition of S. A. Davis as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1903, against each and all of the above named unknown heirs and parties as defendants, said suit being numbered 22,289, the nature of which demand is as follows, to-wit:

That the defendants are the heirs of William McCowan, deceased, who departed this life leaving to his said heirs the tract of land known as the William McCowan survey of 22,282.260 square yards of land in Tarrant County, patent No. 556, volume 17, and that the said heirs, the defendants, partitioned said land among themselves under a verbal agreement, that plaintiff purchased and acquired title either direct or through mesne conveyances to the following described tract of land, to-wit: Being all or portions of the tracts of land described in various deeds made by and to the heirs of said William McCowan, deceased, beginning at a stone in the center of a 50 foot road, the northwest corner of the S. P. Williams 640-acre survey, and an inner corner of the said McCowan survey; thence east with the north line of the said Williams survey 85 1/2 varas to stone marked X on north side; thence north 1 1/2, west 291.6-10 varas to a stake; thence north 83, east 54 varas to a stake; thence north 4 1/2, east 79 varas to an iron stake; thence north 1 1/2, west 1,057 varas to the northwest corner of old Boon 108-acre tract a stone; thence north 83, east with the north line of said tract 82 1/2 varas a stone; thence north 1/2, west 943 varas a stone in the north line of said McCowan survey; thence south 89, west 906 1/2 varas a stake; thence south 54 varas a stake; thence south 8 1/2, west 482 1/2 varas a stone in the west line of a 50-foot road; thence south 1, east with said west line 234 varas a stake in center of said road at turn; thence with said road center, south 8 1/2, west 44 varas; thence south 1, east 1,297 varas a stone and thence north 8 1/2, east 44 varas a stone, and thence south 1 1/2, east 207 varas to beginning, containing within above boundaries 4288-10 acres of land. That in the various deeds made by and to said heirs, the defendants, there are various defective acknowledgments and discrepancies in the descriptions of the tracts of land conveyed, which create a cloud on plaintiff's title to the above described land, wherefore plaintiff prays that he have judgment against the defendants removing the cloud from the title to his said lands and decreeing to him the title and possession thereof, and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

H. Forstman, the unknown heirs of Frank McCowan and of Charles McCowan, Mary E. Lawson, Nancy Lawson, Susan Pirtle and J. E. Pirtle and the unknown heirs of Charles McCowan, Mary E. Pirtle, whose residences are unknown, to be and appear before the District Court to be held in and for the County of Tarrant, at the Court house thereof, in the City of Fort Worth, on the second Monday in May, A. D. 1903, the same being the 11th day of said month, then and there to answer the petition of S. A. Davis as plaintiff, filed in said court on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1903, against each and all of the above named unknown heirs and parties as defendants, said suit being numbered 22,289, the nature of which demand is as follows, to-wit:

That the defendants are the heirs of William McCowan, deceased, who departed this life leaving to his said heirs the tract of land known as the William McCowan survey of 22,282.260 square yards of land in Tarrant County, patent No. 556, volume 17, and that the said heirs, the defendants, partitioned said land among themselves under a verbal agreement, that plaintiff purchased and acquired title either direct or through mesne conveyances to the following described tract of land, to-wit: Being all or portions of the tracts of land described in various deeds made by and to the heirs of said William McCowan, deceased, beginning at a stone in the center of a 50 foot road, the northwest corner of the S. P. Williams 640-acre survey, and an inner corner of the said McCowan survey; thence east with the north line of the said Williams survey 85 1/2 varas to stone marked X on north side; thence north 1 1/2, west 291.6-10 varas to a stake; thence north 83, east 54 varas to a stake; thence north 4 1/2, east 79 varas to an iron stake; thence north 1 1/2, west 1,057 varas to the northwest corner of old Boon 108-acre tract a stone; thence north 83, east with the north line of said tract 82 1/2 varas a stone; thence north 1/2, west 943 varas a stone in the north line of said McCowan survey; thence south 89, west 906 1/2 varas a stake; thence south 54 varas a stake; thence south 8 1/2, west 482 1/2 varas a stone in the west line of a 50-foot road; thence south 1, east with said west line 234 varas a stake in center of said road at turn; thence with said road center, south 8 1/2, west 44 varas; thence south 1, east 1,297 varas a stone and thence north 8 1/2, east 44 varas a stone, and thence south 1 1/2, east 207 varas to beginning, containing within above boundaries 4288-10 acres of land. That in the various deeds made by and to said heirs, the defendants, there are various defective acknowledgments and discrepancies in the descriptions of the tracts of land conveyed, which create a cloud on plaintiff's title to the above described land, wherefore plaintiff prays that he have judgment against the defendants removing the cloud from the title to his said lands and decreeing to him the title and possession thereof, and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

ENJOY AN OUTING AT GREATHOUSE

Three hundred and seventy-one people were included in the first excursion conducted by the Rock Island to Good-man Park, on the Greathouse ranch, on the Graham division of that road, Sunday. Fifty of the number were from Fort Worth. One hundred and twenty-five went from Bridgeport, and the other towns along the route furnished their quota to make up the remaining number. As many people drove to the park from the neighboring towns and country, as were taken in on the special.

The excursion yesterday was under the supervision of Victor N. Turpin, city ticket agent for the Rock Island in Fort Worth. It was a success, financially, as far as the road is concerned, and the pleasures of the trip were limited only by the time embraced between the hours of departure and return.

A base ball game between teams from Bridgeport and Fort Worth was the attraction in which all interest centered during the afternoon, the score resulting 2 to 2 in favor of Bridgeport. The playing was umpired by Mr. Turpin, who knows a thing or two about the game, and the score indicates that the players provided a phase of base ball which greatly approached professionalism.

PLAN OTHER EXCURSIONS

Greathouse ranch is one of the loveliest in Northern Texas, and while the beauties of Goodman Park located within its great expanses are well known to many people in the state, they have not, until this spring, been given attention by the Rock Island as a public pleasure resort. The success of the excursion yesterday, determines the intention of the company for the future, and the public will, in all probability, be given another opportunity of visiting this place two weeks hence, when it is expected that the second of a series of Sunday excursions will be conducted by the Rock Island.

Greathouse ranch is traversed by large creeks, with numerous deep, clear pools of water filled with an abundance of game fish. The streams are fed by many springs. These advantages, together with the abundance of handsome shade trees, high elevation and pure air, affords one of the most desirable places for an outing in the state. It is only sixty-one miles from Fort Worth, and accessible by trains daily, with the exception of Sunday. The excursion yesterday consisted of the regular branch train from Bridgeport to Graham.

The crew brought the train to Fort Worth Saturday night in order to make the start from this city. There were five coaches in charge of Conductor D. W. Goodman, in whose honor the park on the Greathouse ranch is named; and brakemen E. H. Downs and R. T. Hamilton. The engineer and firemen were L. Hawley and Bob Ray, all of Bridgeport.

A GREAT INDUSTRY

The Greathouse ranch embraces between 8,000 and 9,000 acres of land, located within the borders of Jack county. It bears the name of G. R. Greathouse, who has been its owner for eleven years. Recently, however, Mr. Greathouse sold an interest in the tract to J. Ullman of Decatur, and the present firm name under which the business of this vast industry is conducted is that of Greathouse & Ullman.

The tract is six miles long and three wide, and contains a great variety of grasses. There are seven farms under cultivation and thirteen large tracts devoted to grazing. There are fifty-five miles of fence on the ranch and two running creeks supply it with water. There are large deposits of sandstone within its borders yet undeveloped, but which, however, may be made soon to yield up the wealth stored beneath the ledges and hills of that portion of the tract.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS BRING $23

Mr. Greathouse and his partner are engaged in raising fine Shorthorn cattle, which are in demand by feeders throughout the state. Henry Blewitt of Denton purchased a number of 2-year-olds last Saturday, for which he paid $23 a head. This price is $7 a head more than the average steer of that age brings on the market. It is the price for which the average 3-year-old sells, and, as Mr. Greathouse explained, "we gain a year by raising a better grade of stock."

Goodman's Park, which the Rock Island Railroad Company, together with Mr. Greathouse expect to further improve and beautify this spring, embraces twelve acres of large elm trees, located on the banks of one of the streams which flow through the Greathouse ranch, and about thirty acres of an open level grassy tract especially adapted to field sports, such as baseball, lawn tennis, etc. All provisions for these will be made, and boats for the water course have been ordered. The twelve acres of elms were recently acquired by Conductor Goodman of the Rock Island, and from whom the park has derived its name.

A HOSPITABLE FAMILY

Mr. Greathouse and his family are among the most hospitable people in Texas. Many residents of Fort Worth have personal knowledge of this pleasing feature of a visit to Greathouse. One of Mr. Greathouse's fondest delights, besides superintending the vast business in which he is engaged, is that of entertaining friends who visit his farm, and one seldom finds him too busy to neglect the latter. He will "kill a mutton" any day for his guests and enjoy their visit as much as the person being entertained.

THE BALL PLAYERS

The following persons were responsible for the victory for Bridgeport and the defeat for Fort Worth in the diamond event yesterday:

LOCAL SOCIALISTS FORM LARGE CLUB

RESULT OF RECENT VISIT TO FORT WORTH BY JOHN C. CHASE.

Club Has Thirty-One Members, and Officers Are Planning for Future Meetings—Members Anticipate Rapid Enlistment of Recruits.

The first local organization of Socialists was perfected in this city Friday night, at the conclusion of the second address of John C. Chase, former mayor of Haverhill, Mass.

There are 31 members in the Fort Worth Society of Socialists. They have selected William Wehres as their chairman and Martin Hartman as secretary. The secretary was instructed to arrange for a place for future meetings and to announce the date of the same through the columns of the Union Labor Banner.

Among the enthusiastic members of the Socialists in Fort Worth is A. J. Anderson, who at the termination of the meeting Friday evening, made the prediction that with the prospects of an increase in interest in socialism in Fort Worth, it will be possible for a candidate on the Socialist ticket in this city within a year to receive 5,000 votes.

Mr. Chase's address Friday evening was for the purpose of telling what Socialism promises and what it will accomplish in the way of bettering conditions in the political field. On the previous evening he criticized present customs and competitive labor system, and demonstrated where a continuation of such a policy will terminate.

On the occasion of his second address, he was preceded by a short talk by Rev. Robert Hammond Cotton, rector of Trinity's parish, who announced that he is a Socialist because he believes that his Master is a Socialist, or rather, that if his Master was on earth today, he would be a Socialist. That when God made the world He intended it to be a community of holy persons. He said: "Every Socialist should be a religious man, a church man, and a Christian. Socialism is a religion and the churches are social institutions."

He chose as a text: "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." Ex. xiv-15. He demonstrated that Socialism was taught by Moses and the prophets, and was taught and lived by Jesus Christ, who protested against capitalism, drove the money changers from the temple and was executed by the element which persecuted all progress.

Hon. John C. Chase, in his address, told

HONEA BRINGS BACK MUCH WANTED MAN

Sheriff Honea returned to Fort Worth yesterday from the Indian Territory having in custody "Buster" Miller, who is wanted in Fort Worth on the charge of assault on the charge of being a desperado character and Texas officers have been on the lookout for him for over a year.

About a year ago he, together with several companions, escaped from Deputies Eugene Brock and Tom Wren in a running fight in which Miller and his associates emptied their guns at the deputies. The pursuit and escape took place just west of Fort Worth.

After escaping the gang went to Jack county, where the officers having been notified, were lying in wait for them.

When they arrived a pitched battle ensued in which one deputy sheriff was killed. The men again got away. After that the gang sought safety by dispersing and it was not until Sheriff Honea was advised that Miller was in custody in the Territory that the whereabouts of any member of it became known.

Miller made a strong effort to evade being brought back to Texas, but his resistance was unavailing.

He is already under indictment here and will have a hearing in the Seventh district court at an early date.

INJURY PREVENTS TRIAL OF A CASE

DR. WALKER'S SUIT GOES OVER TO NEXT TERM

He Asks $100,000, But Case Is Continued Because City Attorney Has a Broken Arm—Police Cases Again Continued—A. W. Catchings Has Aliases

The case of Dr. A. C. Walker, who is suing the city and others for $100,000 damages, as a result of injuries sustained by being thrown from his buggy while crossing the reservation on South Main street one night last summer, was called in the Forty-eighth district court this morning and continued.

Dr. W. A. Adams, since deceased, was in the buggy with Dr. Walker at the time of the accident and both were injured. Dr. Walker's injuries, however, were of a much more serious nature. Both of his wrists were broken and other injuries sustained. The reason the trial went over was that City Attorney Orrick, who is to conduct the city's defense, was thrown from a street car a week ago and injured, his arm being broken, so as to render him unable to try the case at this time. It will not come up again until the next term of court.

Weather Conditions

The weather is somewhat unsettled throughout the country west of the Mississippi river, which is the result of a low pressure storm central in North Dakota, but dominating the weather southward to the Rio Grande; brisk to high winds prevail through the middle and northwest, and brisk southerly winds in Texas. Little or no rain has occurred, but cloudiness is on the increase. Light scattered showers fell over portions of the Texas cotton region Saturday, and warmer temperature prevails this morning. Showers will likely occur in Fort Worth vicinity after midnight or during Tuesday.

the tunnel entirely finished under them and are repaired and in good shape and have been cleared of obstructions. In one section the laying of rails has begun.

A beginning has been made in the long talked-of scheme of reclaiming extensive marsh lands in the vicinity of Gravesend bay, Jamaica bay and Coney Island, an effort that will be accompanied by a warfare against the mosquito. The scheme which is financially backed by W. C. Whitney, whose racing stables and private racing park are in the vicinity, has the indorsement and co-operation of the New York board of health.

Speaking of Coney Island this season will strikingly illustrate the growth of the amusement "trust" at that famous resort. In the old days all the enterprises at the island were conducted by individuals, separate and on a small scale. Gradually large amusement companies have camped at the island, with their scores of shows, under one roof or enclosure, and while many individual purveyors flourish, still not a few have been driven out by the wealthy companies. Coney Island is as wide open as ever, despite the police dictum that it must be closed. The concert hall people appear to be fertile in evasion devices.

Folksmen will not be quite as much in evidence at the Metropolitan race tracks this year as formerly. Before the season opened last week an intimation was conveyed to the captains and sergeants that they would better stick to their respective precincts. So general has been their attendance in seasons past that, it is do-

MONKEY BABIES

Comparatively few monkey babies are born in America, and but few of those born here live to attain their monkey majority. Owing to the excellent care bestowed on the big colony of monkeys with the Floto show in quarters last winter, several of the cute little tots born have been reared and are on daily exhibition in the menagerie tent. It is a rare sight to see the monkey mother fondling her baby with the care its human sister could bestow. She will sit and rock the little fellow in her arms by the hour and coo to it in monkey baby talk. The monkey colony with the Floto show is the largest in the country. They exhibit here Monday and Tuesday, April 27 and 28.
