MAKES ATTACK ON AMERICAN WOMEN

Writer in London Paper Brings Up the Threadbare Accusation of Snobbishness Against "Tuft Hunters"

(Copyright, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)

LONDON, May 25.—An anonymous writer in the Express during the week made a long and savage attack upon the manners of American women possessing British titles. After admitting there were some excellent American peeresses the writer said the variety he objected to were hybrids—"The Chicago, Park Lane 400 upper ten variety." The writer, who apparently is a woman, continues: "I accuse this hybrid of stealing all that is most cherished in the home life of England at all the most modest, unselfish and reverential. I accuse her of introducing the ape-like decadence of New York society, where extravagance is distinction, display is nobility and notoriety the ideal at which to aim. I accuse her of neglecting the duties to which she has married and setting an evil example to those of lower station. She is a snob by her finger tips, her tuft-hunting struggles for social advancement are based on the American plan of getting there. She has no scruples in her methods applying to social life the ethics of modern finance. She has no conception of home life, her husband is a partner to be thrown over if tending to bore. She neglects or spoils her children. She considers knowledge of domestic economics degrading for a wealthy lady.

WESTERN FEDERATION A CAUSE FOR WORRY

DENVER, Col., May 25.—The Western Federation of Miners, an independent organization, the rapid and substantial growth of which is said to constitute a cause of uneasiness on the part of the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers, began its eleventh annual convention in Denver today. That there is ground for a feeling akin to jealousy on the part of the older labor organizations is evidenced by the large and representative attendance. The roll call showed that every state from the Mississippi river to British Columbia is represented by the 300 delegates present. Figures of an equally gratifying nature are contained in the annual report of Secretary W. D. Hayward.

QUININE CHEWING GUM

VICTOR, Col., May 25.—A revolt has arisen in Washington school that threatens to involve the entire town in a factional fight. With the consent of Miss Howard, the principal, George Reeder, a teacher, has been trying to cure children of the gum habit by making them chew the stuff mixed with quinine. Miss Urquhart was punished in this way and her brother, Clarence, complained to Miss Howard, demanding that she stop the practice. He even went so far as to threaten the principal. She promptly called in Reeder, who threw Urquhart out of the room with great violence. His body struck the door casing and his shoulder was severely bruised. The boys organized and mobbed the teachers with rotten eggs and stones as they left the school. The school board refuses to interfere, and the parents say they will take the punishment of the teachers into their own hands.

JUDGE IS THANKED BY TOPER HE FINES

Judge C. T. Frewett returned to the bench in the corporation court this morning after a week's absence due to the illness and death of his father.

One of the first cases called was that of Jim Brown, an aged toper, who pleaded guilty to intoxication. When the judge fined him $1 and costs he surprised the court by saying, "Thank you."

The docket was an unusually long one. There were several damaged countenances in view, and most of the faces looked like the "right before" had been a lively one.

The case of Bud McGinnis, who is charged with carrying a pistol, was called. The lawyer for the defendant suggested a plea of guilty in case the lowest fine were to be imposed.

A RIGHT VIEW

Among the columns of criticism, good and otherwise, that have been written regarding the acts of the last legislature, it is refreshing to find one containing so much good sense as the following paragraphs from the Denton County News: "The dormitory for the girls' Industrial College has been 'knocked out' by a stroke of Governor Lanham's pen. In one sense this is to be regretted, but it will in no wise materially affect our thriving little city, only for the better.

"Many new houses will be built in the northern part of the town in order to arrange for boarding the young ladies who may desire to attend this school, hence the material interests of that part of the city will be increased as much as if the dormitory were built."

The News exhibits the right spirit in its view. There are many towns which wait for appropriations to do for them what they could better do for themselves, and then if they are denied a slice from the legislative appropriation bill, they are apt to spend much time in criticizing the lawmakers, rather than seeking a remedy.

The need of a dormitory at Denton was undoubtedly present and considering what Denton and Denton county have already done for the institution, no one would have objected had Governor Lanham allowed the item to remain in the general appropriation bill.

Now, however, since it has been stricken out, Denton is not going to waste any time sulking, but will go ahead and make the best of it, to the advantage of everybody concerned.

FOR POOR LO'S SAKE

Secretary Hitchcock, who has just returned to Washington after an extended visit to Oklahoma and Indian Territory, advances a new argument against a united statehood for the two territories, as unique as it is vigorous in expression.

Secretary Hitchcock says that the two territories should not be united, because the Indians do not want it. In an interview immediately after his return to Washington, the secretary is quoted as saying: "Such a union at this time, and before the status of the Indians is fixed, as contemplated by law, would be unfair to the Indians, and should not be attempted—certainly not at this time if at any time.

On the other hand, the people of Oklahoma are entitled to immediate statehood, and there should be no delay in the admission of that territory with its present boundaries. The territory has the population and the wealth to make it a first-class state from the outset, and there can be no possible doubt of the ability of the people of that area to maintain and improve on their present condition.

Towns like Anadarko, Lawton and Hobart, which in 1901 consisted of only a few tents each, now have populations ranging from 6,000 to 10,000, and the development of the surrounding country is not less marked. The people of Oklahoma would be I am sure, willing to accept statehood for that territory as it stands; indeed, they are willing to accept it either way. Indian Territory has the population and the natural resources to make a fine state alone some day. The Indians do not desire the union.

The secretary of the interior could not well help noting the progress of both Oklahoma and Indian Territory. The trip he took gave him a better insight into the actual conditions of affairs than would several tons of departmental reports. In making the trip, the secretary showed a creditable desire on the part of a department head to learn something of a subject about which he is supposed to be already thoroughly informed.

But, to go back to Washington and declare such and such things should not be because the Indians do not want them; to actually consider the feelings of Poor Lo after a century of disregard—shades of William Penn!

and's exhibit at the coming world's fair. If Hawaii were picked up and planted in the Panhandle it would look like a solitary cactus in the middle of the X. I. T. ranch, and yet it has appropriated one-fourth of what the entire state of Texas is trying to raise. Enough said.

A Washington dispatch states that the army and navy authorities are having so difficult a time in keeping up the regular quota of enlistments that they are thinking seriously of increasing the pay in both departments to induce more young men to join the ranks. The difficulty could be obviated less expensively if the army and navy authorities will adopt a few daughters.

Postmaster General Payne says that the deficiency of Superintendent Machen of the free delivery division amounts to $227,300. The deficiency of the Postmaster General himself is not computed in currency.

There are yet some Texas newspapers which say "old veterans" and "dead body," and they are not country publications either.

AMONG EXCHANGES

Cleveland has been fishing. When upon his return he was asked about politics he answered that he had been fishing.—Austin Statesman.

Fort Worth has led in sensations for the week. The exposure of young Hoskins and the sensational story of J. B. Wilder, unfolding the particulars of a foul murder committed in that city in 1900, were stories of surpassing interest to the public from a newspaper standpoint, and the newspapers of the Fort are making the most of them.—Terrell Transcript.

The Decatur postmaster remarked recently that he received many letters addressed to the "Decatur Board of Trade." This statement is significant of the fact that we do many and need badly a board of trade. Many neighboring towns smaller than Decatur have these organizations and profit by them; then why cannot we keep up with the procession, instead of sitting around talking about "dull Decatur?" An energetic board of trade for Decatur could pull to this place by the proper inducements much patronage that now goes to other towns.

In organization there is strength, hence the business men of our city should organize for the benefit of all.—Wise County Messenger.

TOBACCO vs. LOVE

BY WAL FRANK. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst, Great Britain rights reserved.)

"You don't care for me one bit, although you say you do!" said Nell, indignantly. "You're like all the other men I know."

"I hope the other men don't say they care for you," said Jack. "If you'll give me the names and addresses of those who do, I shall feel inclined to go round and punch their heads for them."

"Yes, punch! That's another man's favorite expression."

"Another man altogether," he queried placidly, "or one of those who say they care for you?"

"You know what I mean. You think less of me than of your dirty pipe and wretched tobacco?"

"Another girl's favorite expression!" said Jack. "If you will allow me to paraphrase your remark."

"Oh, don't consider me," said Nell, in rather a shaky voice.

"I could argue better if I didn't," he answered diplomatically.

"It doesn't matter so much now, because I can go into another room when you begin to smoke."

on one day to send a serving man to the town to fetch a peck of oysters. The man had never seen oysters in his life before. He bought them properly, however, and was on the way home with the bag on his back when he met a friend.

"Hello, Denny," the friend said. "What have you got in your bag?"

"A sure, a queer thing," Denny answered. "A thing I never saw before. It's oysters."

"Oysters, eh?" says the friend. "Well I hope, Denny, that you bought them in the right way. I hope you bought them cleaned."

"Indeed, and I don't know whether they're cleaned or not, the queer things," said Denny. "Have a look at them, and tell me."

And he sat the bag on the road and opened it.

The friend took a double handful of the oysters.

"Sure, Denny," says he, "you have been cheated, my man. These oysters haven't been cleaned at all, at all. Sure, Denny, but the master'll be in a rage when he sees what kind of oysters you've brought home to him."

"Can you clean them for me, then?" Denny asked.

"Well, I'll try," says the kind friend. And he opened an oyster and made as if he seemed to think better of this matter.

***** THE SPECIAL EDITION *****

In past years we have seen many splendid editions of Fort Worth papers, editions that reflect credit on that city and its home press. But all the efforts of past years are fairly excelled by the illustrated trades and industrial edition of The Fort Worth Telegram, of last Sunday. And to be candid we have seen but few editions of papers anywhere in this state that took rank with this magnificent production, The Telegram, of May 17. It stands for Texas as well as Fort Worth.—Waco Tribune.

The Fort Worth Telegram's edition of 72 pages last Sunday was a dandy. It was devoted to the live stock, packing house, cotton and railroad interests.—Wise County Messenger.

The 72-page Fort Worth Telegram's live stock, railroad and cotton edition was an all-round whizzer. The paper was a marvel of beauty, handsomely illustrated and in colors. If The Telegram is not ahead of Fort Worth, and we presume that it is not—as a paper is generally what the town is in which it is printed, Fort Worth is not only a city but moving at a rapid gait on the wave of prosperity. There is somebody managing The Telegram that knows his business "shore as yer born."—Cleburne Chronicle.

Last Sunday's special edition of The Fort Worth Telegram was a large affair—72 pages—perhaps the largest special edition ever published by a Texas paper. It contained nearly three times the number of pages of the Index special, yet the latter will double discount it for beauty.—Mineral Wells Index.

The Fort Worth Telegram came out in special edition Sunday morning, containing 72 pages. It was a fine sheet for Fort and The Telegram.—Childress Index.

The Fort Worth Telegram's special live stock, packing house, cotton and railroad edition has been received in our office and it's the brainiest baby in Texas, none excepted. It contains 72 pages including illuminated cover. She is crammed full of interesting sketches of western life and ranches, general news and fine illustrations and the Spokesman congratulates the management in success of the undertaking.—Colorado Spokesman.

The Fort Worth Telegram decided that the time had come to inform the world about its town, and so Sunday came out in an elegant 72-page edition, with cover printed in colors.—Belton Journal-Reporter.

Last Sunday morning the Fort Worth Telegram printed 72 pages which was one of the largest papers ever issued from a Texas press. It contained a great deal about that city's progress, its present achievements and its future prospects. It was indeed a creditable paper.—Alvarado Bulletin.

The Fort Worth Telegram issued a 72-page edition last Sunday. It was devoted to Fort Worth and her live stock, railroad and cotton interests. The paper was certainly a creditable one for that thrifty city. We do not remember having seen another special number in Texas of so great a size. The Telegram and Fort Worth are great.—Hill County Herald.

A 72-page special edition of The Fort Worth Telegram, issued Sunday was a credit to the town and publishers. The artistic typography and illustration made it very beautiful throughout the seventy-two pages. The publishers are to be congratulated.—Clairemont Enterprise.

The edition of The Fort Worth Telegram of Sunday was a mammoth record-breaker, containing 504 columns, 288 being advertising and 216 reading matter. A noteworthy point in connection with this enterprising edition is the fact that The Fort Worth Telegram is an evening paper. Evening papers are coming to the front throughout the United States at a very rapid rate these days. The evening paper is the paper of the twentieth century. The Chronicle extends its congratulations to The Telegram and to Fort Worth.—Houston Chronicle.

The Fort Worth Telegram came out last Sunday with a special edition of 72 pages and illuminated cover. It is a matchless edition of its kind. The make-up and ads to the country printer is simply immense, no matter where or how many metropolitan print shops he has worked in.—Ryan, I. T., Enterprise.

The "Livestock, Railroad and Cotton Edition" of the Fort Worth Telegram, of which C. D. Reimers, formerly of this city and Davenport, is publisher and editor has come to hand. The paper embraces 72 pages, beautifully illustrated and enclosed in illuminated cover, presented in metropolitan style, the whole displaying a spirit of enterprise that ought to prove a source of pride to the people of Fort Worth in the same manner that it reflects credit to the publisher.—Rock Island (Ill.) Argus.

The Livestock, Railroad and Cotton Edition of The Fort Worth Telegram was a splendid edition indeed, creditable to the management and to the city.—Jacksboro Gazette.

The Fort Worth Telegram issued a magnificent paper last Sunday. The Telegram is getting to be one of the best papers in the state.—Grandview Tribune.

THE FASTEST WARSHIP AFLOAT

The new torpedo boat destroyer recently built for the Swedish government is acknowledged to be the fastest warship afloat. Besides its wonderful speed, it is also one of the strongest fighting vessels ever constructed. While such remarkable progress is being made in the production of these life-destroying instruments, it is well to consider the more remarkable progress made in discoveries that save life, the foremost of them being the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By strengthening the system and curing ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, it has established a record as a life saver unequalled by any other medicine. Are you a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and want to be cured? Then try the Bitters. It never fails.

QUIT OF HER OWN WILL

One Thought Dead and Is Discovered When Applying for His Pension

Declares She Had Been Reprimanded and Resigned Fearing Discharge

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 25.—The latest episode in the divorce colony here is the granting of a divorce to Captain John Amrein, who married the second time, believing his first wife to be dead, and then securing an annulment of his second marriage in order to secure a divorce from his first wife, who is still in the land of the living, in order to clear the way for his re-marriage to wife No. 2.

The captain is a veteran of the civil war. He was military governor of Louisiana during the reconstruction period. He lived for many years at Philadelphia, after leaving the south, and was a resident of Rhode Island.

When he left the south his wife, Mrs. Emily Amrein, now a resident of New Orleans, refused to accompany him. Letters to her after he reached Philadelphia were returned to him unopened. After some years Captain Amrein again remarried, there being several children born as a result of the second marriage.

In 1897 he applied to congress for a pension. An investigation was made and congress granted it to him. Information of this reached his first wife, and in 1898 she made application for one-half of the pension granted him, basing her claim on being the wife of the veteran. This was the first knowledge he had of her being in the land of the living.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25.—Manager Lawrence of the Hotel English, from which it was reported Lulu Hadley, a chambermaid, was discharged because she refused to make up the bed occupied by Booker T. Washington, has denied the story in toto, and said that he feared the South had been imposed on by the stories which had been published all over the country.

He stated that Miss Hadley had taken charge of Washington's room the first day without protest. He said that she had been reprimanded for some violation of the rules and had left of her own accord, fearing discharge.

HOUSEKEEPER'S STORY

Miss O'Dell, housekeeper of the Hotel English, said that Miss Hadley had said Washington was a very smart man. She never showed any aversion to negroes at the hotel, said Miss O'Dell, and as far as she knew never made a statement that she'd quit before she would make up a bed occupied by a negro.

HIGH PRICE PAID FOR CHICAGO LAND

CHICAGO, Ill., May 25.—Archbishop Quigley, as a corporation sale, has sold to Victor F. Lawson for $23,500, thirty-three and one-half feet of frontage in the Lake Shore drive, adjoining on the north the 108 1/2 feet bought by Mr. Lawson from the archbishop in 1900 for $125,000. The ground has a depth of 108 feet. The purchase of the thirty-three feet was made on the basis of $1,152 a foot, and the price for the entire site is said to be the highest ever paid for vacant, residence ground in Chicago. The purchaser has engaged the services of E. Clifton Sturgis of Boston, who has designed a residence to be built on the site, work on which is to be begun immediately. The plans, it is said, call for one of the handsomest residences in the city. Archbishop Quigley, after placing the tract just south of Lincoln park on the market, refused to lease any part of it for hotel purposes, although offers were made for that purpose on a higher valuation basis than was the case yesterday. It is to be devoted to residences only.

RECORD DAMAGE SUIT IN TEXAS HISTORY

Waco Times-Herald: It has been stated that the largest damages given by a jury in Texas was given at Fort Worth recently when a verdict was returned for something like $35,000, but District Clerk E. Y. McClain had his attention called to a case which was tried here in 1866 wherein the jury gave a verdict for $50,000.

The style of the suit was Mary A. Plummer vs. Isaac Roberts et al, there being thirteen defendants. Mrs. Plummer sued for damages on the ground that her husband, Richard S. Plummer, was taken out by a body of men, before her eyes, and hanged during those stormy days. The hanging occurred in Limestone county, which was then in this district, and the case was tried on the 27th of July, 1865, but it was the next year when the verdict was returned. The damages were never paid, owing to defendants taking advantage of the bankrupt law, but it was bitterly contested before judgment was rendered.

The attorneys for plaintiff were C. B. Poarre and Thomas Harrison, and the case will be recalled by the older residents. The jury returned the following verdict, which, while somewhat redundant, was clear:

"We the jury find for the plaintiff, and assess damages at $50,000."

"J. W. BARR, Foreman."

This suit was filed on April 12, 1866.

AINSLIE'S FOR JUNE.

The June number of Ainslee's appears in another attractive cover, the design of Will Greff.

The novel for the month is by Mrs. Ethel Vatte Mumford, author of "A Mercenary Marriage," "The Flash of an Emerald" and "Dups." Its title is "Partners," its subject is a phase of the New York smart set, and its plot is the rebellion of a girl, one of its feminine members, against the tyranny of its conventionalities. "A Court of French Claims," by Elizabeth Duer, presents in an attractive way, and with a gentle satire, another view of the foreign attitudes of American girls. Henry C. Rowland's stirring narrative, "The Blood of His Ancestors," suggests that brute instincts in civilized man are only dormant, and need only the right stimulus to awaken them.

Richard Lee Gallienne has contributed a delightful picture of happy family life, though it is as far removed as possible from the conventional type. It is entitled "The Wandering Home."

The whole number, which contains 22 stories, tales and poems, is one of the best that this progressive magazine has produced.

A LITTLE EARLY RISE

The first thing in the morning, says the doctor, is to get up early. It is the best way to keep the system in good condition. It is the best way to keep the system in good condition. It is the best way to keep the system in good condition.

SSS THE BEST TONIC

In S. S. S. Nature has provided a tonic suited to every requirement of the system when in a debilitated, run down condition. It contains no strong minerals or drugs, but is a pleasant vegetable preparation. You can find no better remedy for toning up the nerves and bringing refreshing, restful sleep when in a low state of health, or sick and worn out with work or worry.

S. S. S. improves the appetite, aids the digestion and reinforces the system, and its good effects are seen almost from the first dose. It acts promptly in cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion and all stomach troubles, and does away with the uncomfortable fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, drowsiness and dizziness that so often come after eating.

S. S. S. is not only the best tonic but possesses alterative or purifying properties, and if there is any taint, humor or poison in the blood it searches it out, and removes it. Many times a low state of health is due to a bad condition of the blood and can only be remedied by a blood purifier and tonic combined, or such a remedy as S. S. S.

If you suffer from debility, insomnia, nervousness, loss of appetite, bad digestion, or any of the symptoms of a disordered blood, nothing will so soon put your blood in good condition, invigorate and tone up the system as S. S. S.

TOOK FIVE SHOCKS TRAIL OF DEATH FOLLOWS RACERS

Paris, May 25.—The trail of death and disaster following the start Sunday morning from Versailles of the Paris-Madrid automobile race has caused a profound sensation. Reports from all along the route of the first stage to Bordeaux continue to give details of the various accidents, those causing far greater attention than the race, which has practically been abandoned owing to the interdiction of the government to its being continued in French territory.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has been privately informed from a trustworthy source that Mrs. Bardou and Renault are both dead, and the death of Marcel Renault from injuries is also announced, but reports have not been confirmed. On the other hand a dispatch from Portiers forwarded at 6:40 this morning said that Marcel Renault's condition was then grave, but not desperate. The doctors there expected to amputate Richard's leg at the thigh during the day. Among the accidents not reported yesterday was that of George Richard, whose machine overturned. Richard has several ribs broken.

At Bordeaux the news of the suppression of the race caused disappointment among racers, although the government's action was foreseen on account of the accidents. Public opinion, outside of the automobilists, strongly approves of the step taken by the government. A dispatch from Portiers during the day announced that M. Werneck, which is the name of C. Gray Dinsmore, the only American left in the race, had entered under, broke down and withdrew at a small place outside of that town.

DRAWING INDICTMENT FOR MRS. HOSKINS

Assistant County Attorney Jordan Y. Cummings is busy today drawing up the indictments found by the grand jury against Mrs. Nellie Hoskins and her son, Oran, as reported in Sunday's Telegram. If he completes his task this afternoon the re-arrest of the mother and son will follow today; otherwise the officers will not again call at Mrs. Hoskins' home until tomorrow.

JUDGE RESTING EASIER TODAY

Judge J. C. Randolph's condition was much improved this afternoon. He has been suffering from his wounds a great deal during the past few days, but enjoyed a good rest last night and is much better today.

SECTION TELEPHONES ARE NOT A SUCCESS

EL PASO, Texas, May 25.—The connection by telephone on the G. H. of all the section camps and outlying stations with the telegraph stations is practically at a standstill and the prospects are that more telephones will be put in for the present.

The system is not proving much of a success, owing to the fact that it is very hard to keep the telephone system in working order. The telephones are attached to the barbed wire fences running along the track and these are continually getting out of order and causing breaks in the line, and which keeps the linemen busy, and as the line men have about all they can do to take care of the telegraph system, the telephones have to be neglected.

VOLCANO SMOULDEERS IN SIERRA MADRE

EL PASO, Texas, May 25.—A party of well-known citizens having just returned from Casas Grande, in the heart of the Sierra Madre mountains, reported the discovery of a smoldering volcano hitherto unknown, except to a few natives. The volcano showed signs of recent eruption.

Several freight cars were derailed and a passenger train was derailed on the freight train, was slightly hurt. No serious damage was done and the messenger train was delayed only a short time.

WHEN SWIFT SHARED HIS PULLMAN BERTH

"No, I can't get a berth. I never dreamed they'd be so crowded. It was all I could do to get a corner for father and mother."

The speaker was a middle-aged, clerical-looking man. He was traveling in a crowded sleeping car between Kansas City and Chicago, and was unbending his heart to a fellow traveler, who had watched sympathetically his frequent trips between the day coach and the sleeper, and in whose kindly face there was something that invited the confidence, says the Deaconess Advocate.

"Father and mother have just broken up their home—it was very hard for them—and I'm taking them home to live with me. I am a Methodist minister—am living down near Quincy this year. I don't care about myself—I'm well and hearty, and a night in the day coach won't hurt me. But traveling is all new to my folks, and I feel a little worried about how they'll get through the night."

There really seemed occasion for some anxiety. Neither of the old people had ever been in a sleeping car before, and they were quite infirm.

There was a little more neighborly chat, punctuated with two or three side trips to look after some of the wants of the old folks. Then the minister rose reluctantly to leave the car. But his companion interfered.

"Wait a minute," he said. "I'll go and speak to the conductor. Maybe there is a berth—"

"No chance of it—thank you all the same," interrupted the minister.

"Well, you just let me try," insisted the stranger, modestly.

There was a gentle air of authority, notwithstanding the marked diffidence of the man, and the minister let him go without further words. As he rose in the car he almost dwarfed it with his height, though he stooped a little. His face was serious yet kindly—a face that, without a trace of self-assertion, would attract one among a thousand.

"I wonder who he is?" queried the minister.

Pretty soon he came back, pleased as a boy. "It's all right," said he. "You're to have part of my berth, if that will do. You can have the front, so you can get out easily to see to your old folks."

"But—but—" stammered the man. "I

DRUGLESS HEALING

Hymel Cures Catarrh by Nature's Own Method—No Stomach Dosing

In treating catarrh, why not use the same common sense as in caring for a burn? No one would take a pill or a tablet to heal a burn or sprain, and no one ought to think of curing catarrh of the head by swallowing pills, tablets or other stomach drugs. Medicate the air you breathe with Hymel. This treatment goes to the most remote air cells in the head, throat and lungs, searches out and destroys every catarrhal germ, and makes a complete and permanent cure of this disagreeable disease.

The complete Hymel outfit consists of a neat inhaler that is so small and convenient that it can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hymel. This costs only $1.00, and will effect a cure in any ordinary case. In chronic and deep-seated conditions, longer use is necessary, and then extra bottles of Hymel can be obtained for 50c.

Hymel is nature's true method of curing catarrh and the most economical of all treatments for this disease. Weaver's Pharmacy have so much confidence in the powers of Hymel to cure catarrh, that they sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money to any purchaser who can say that it did not give satisfaction. You run no risk whatever when you buy Hymel. If it cures, the treatment is inexpensive; if it does not cure Weaver's Pharmacy will refund your money, and it costs you absolutely nothing.

"Oh, that's all right," insisted the stranger, as if it was the most common thing in the world for a man in a sleeping car to share his berth with a stranger.

The minister offered to pay for the berth.

"No, put up your money—I don't want any of it. But where'd you say you were from?"

The minister told him—Quincy, Ill.—whereupon the stranger began to ask about the Deaconess' Boys' school in Quincy—all sorts of questions, revealing a knowledge of and capacity for business details that astonished his companion. His only explanation of his questions was:

"I'm very much interested in the work of the deaconesses."

The next morning, just before the minister left the train with his aged parents—who, by the way, had been wonderfully comforted by knowing that their son was in the same car with them all night—he plucked up courage to ask the name of his benefactor. The reply nearly took his breath. For the stranger was none other than the late G. F. Swift.

THE BAGDAD RAILWAY

The matter of the Bagdad railway project seems to excite as much attention as it is misunderstood abroad. Briefly, these are the facts: The Sultan of Turkey granted in January, 1902, a concession to the Anatolian Railway company to construct a railroad from Konia, via Adana and Bagdad, to Kadhina, east of Kuwait, on the Persian Gulf. There was stipulated in the concession a financial guarantee of 16,500 francs per kilometer yearly. The Turkish government, however, was unable to furnish a "guarantee for this guarantee," and the whole project hung fire until recently. Since then a new bargain was made with the Turkish government, according to which just now only a small fraction of the whole proposed line is to be built, viz., the distance from Konia to Eregh, a length of 81 kilometers (out of a total length of the proposed line between Konia and Kadhina of 2,400 kilometers), the sultan furnishing security for the paying of 15,500 francs yearly for each kilometer. In this first part of the project only 60,000,000 francs are involved, of which the costs of construction will consume but one-fourth. The Deutsche bank, the Dresdner bank, the Disconto-Gesellschaft and others are in this first project, and also some French and English capitalists. However, the far larger portion of the venture, the remaining 2,200 kilometers, has been temporarily postponed, though it is certain that this short torso of a railroad will never pay. It is for the nonce, uncertain when the rest will be built. This is, therefore, after an enormous waste of ink and excitement in England and France, and especially in Russia, all that is palpable of the "great Bagdad scheme," in which each of these powers suspected a gigantic German political and commercial plot for the capture of Asia Minor.—New York Tribune.

READY TO BEGIN PAVING HOUSTON ST.

Judge R. F. Milam at noon today signed a contract by which Tarrant county agrees to pay for its share of the paving of Houston street with asphalt.

When W. A. Darter called on Judge Milam and stated his mission in regard to the paving, Judge Milam greeted him cordially and said:

"All I wish to know is that the price per yard to the county is to be the same price that is made to others on the street, and then I shall be willing to sign a contract."

After reading over several of the contracts made with property owners Judge Milam signed for the county's part.

It is understood that the Parker-Washington Company is about ready to order the paving begun. Only three resident owners have failed to sign the paving contracts and the non-resident owners are wheeling into line, one after another, in a gratifying way.

higher, and immediately following the call the sentiment seemed rather bearish.

The firmness at New Orleans, however, started short covering and the market became more active for the near months and regained all the opening losses, and the general list showed a net advance of 5 to 18 points.

The bull leader is reported to have returned to New Orleans, and the strength there was attributed to his presence in that city, while the southern buying orders that were received here are thought to have originated from that source.

STUFFED FULL WITH GOOD READING

The June McClure's is one of the best rounded out and uniformly attractive numbers of this magazine ever issued. The number opens with a masterly appreciation by John La Farge of the three great French artists, Delacroix, Decamps and Diaz, the kind of art criticism it is a delight to read, and illustrated with some exquisite reproductions in tint. Henry Harland's new serial, "My Friend Prospero," cannot fail to be a drawing card. The first installment shows the author at his most charming best. The story opens in Italy, and promises to excel in every particular in which one looks for excellence. Two first-class articles are "An Ocean Graveyard," by P. T. McGrath, and "The Swimming Hole," by Eugene Wood; the first a stirring account of some of the famous wrecks and rescues of the Newfoundland coast, the second a paper that no man who has ever been a boy will read without emotion. Miss Tarbell's Standard Oil chapter, "The Great Consummation," which one is tempted to pronounce the best yet, relates the final discomfiture of the independents in their efforts to bring Mr. Rockefeller and his colleague to trial for conspiracy, and the upbuilding of the mammoth trust. "Comedy of the Catechized," a symposium of answers given by civil service applicants furnishes two pages of excellent fun, while Ray Stannard Baker's article on Peter Cooper Hewitt's three great inventions provides a much needed and excellent popular account of what Lord Kelvin considered the most important work in electrical science being done in America today. The three short stories are of the very best: "A Little Matter of Real Estate," by Myra Kelly is another inimitable picture of east side school life in New York; "The Looking Glass," by Alice Brown, is a beautiful love story, simple and true; and "49 Messages," by Charles B. DeCamp, a rattling good telegraph yarn. Arthur Stanwood Fier's "The Triumph," goes out literally in a blaze of glory, the episode of a burning gas well, that makes a good story by itself. Florence Wilkinson has three little poems of child-life, one of which, "A Botanical Adventure," is a masterpiece. In fact, the number simply bulges out with good things.

CARS GO DOWN IN A SERIOUS WASHOUT

RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—By the bursting of the dams of two lakes near Glen Ellen, a few miles above this city, early this morning, the bank of the north track of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac railway was washed away. As a freight train of twenty cars was passing over the weakened track twelve cars went down and most of these were totally wrecked. The engine passed safely over. Engineer Keelon of Richmond was injured, but not seriously. The track was damaged for a thousand feet.
