THE SOCIAL SEASON

The "Breakfast Food Family." John Spratt will eat no fat. Nor will he touch the lean. As breakfast fare it can't compare. He lives upon Foodine.

But Mrs. Spratt will none of that; Foodine she cannot eat. Her special wish is for a dish Of Expurgated Wheat.

To William Spratt that food is flat. On which his master dotes. As breakfast fare it can't compare. Is Eats Heaps Oats.

But sister Lil can't see how Will Can touch such tasteful food. Her special wish is for a dish With Cero-Grapo-Grits.

Now none of these leander please— He feeds upon Bath Mitts. While Sister Jane improves her brain With Cero-Grapo-Grits.

Lycourus votes for Father's Oats; Froggie appeals to May. The Junior John subsists upon Unecuda Bayla Hay.

"Goodness me," said a Fort Worth girl the other day after reading that the king of England had decided that men should wear knee breeches at all evening gatherings. "We set that fashion in Fort Worth at the Lyndhurst two years ago. Has he been all this time hearing about it."

A Fort Worth man says he believes firmly in the whipping post. "Yes, sir, I want the whipping post. First for the man who has a wife he ought to whip and don't, and second for the man who has a wife he ought not to whip and does."

But a Kentucky judge goes the Fort Worth man one better. He instructed the wife of a war veteran, who had been squandering his pension money in strong drink, to take the whip to him. She did, while all the officers cheered. When she got through the old man promised to be good. Whereupon she took him by the arm and led him home.

St. Petersburg, Russia, was quite gay last week celebrating her two hundredth birthday. Just wait twelve years till San Antonio catches up. Texas will then get pecky over her two hundred year old daughter.

The drug store men do well to master the art of concocting soda "drinks" ad to leave nothing undone to make their resorts attractive. They will be called upon to fill the prescriptions later.

A Milwaukee man is the author of the suggestion to establish a college of humorists and joke makers.

Has the Milwaukee man been attending ball games and heard the jokes of the "fans."

A Fort Worth woman has decided that the reason base ball is so popular, even with women, is that it gives folks a chance to misbehave who on all other occasions have to conduct themselves with seemly circumspection.

The Fort Worth man who will not join the Elks because he is a Sunday school teacher, and the Elks have smokers, will be relieved to learn that one third of all the relief money sent to flood stricken Topeka came from the Elks.

There are things almost as good as teaching a Sunday school class.

Chicago Chronicle: "Even the severest critics of St. Louis will hesitate at endorsing Mr. Sedgewick's theory that typhoid fever in that city is due not to our drainage canal but to kissing St. Louis girls. Whatever may be said of the St.

half dozen bread-and-butter plates, going to Miss Spencer and a glass vase to Miss Ross, a guest. Mr. Binyon was awarded a bunch of carnations as her souvenir of the occasion.

The guests were Mesdames Van Zandt, Rozelle, Clayton, Hubbard, Misses Spencer, Pendleton, Edna Lucille and Rosalie White, Van Zandt, Lucille and Crowley, P. Ross, Garner, Blah, Blair, Hatfield Mae and Bessie Andep.

The duplicate whist club met with Mrs. Olive Edgington Tuesday morning for the first time in the new series. In the last Mrs. Erney won the trophy after an exciting contest with Mrs. Atoms. At their next meeting the details of retrieving a lost game the next meeting will be with Mrs. Mitchell.

The Better Halves had two meetings last week. The first Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Hoote, and second Wednesday morning, with Mrs. Van Zandt. These meetings were accomplished an important undertaking the details of which are at present filed in the treasure room of the Better Halves.

From now on the club will meet in the forenoon, the next being Mrs. Rozelle.

The Yozollas has issued 200 invitations for a dance and party on the evening of July 6, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Smith.

The Trio Club, its meeting last Monday afternoon, elected Miss Anita Laneri a new member and decided to assist the club in concert should they decide to give after concert any time soon.

The meeting tomorrow will be the last regular rehearsal of the club until the first Monday in September.

The Arions keeping up their rehearsals most faithfully, and there is said to be a possibility of hearing this popular club in concert again this summer. A concert followed by a dance at Handley would be a grand form of entertainment after the weather gets up to its summer record.

Mrs. Frank Weaver has received no end of praise for her very delightful "al fresco" entertainment last Thursday afternoon. The occasion, the beautiful and handsome gown worn by the hostess and her party were objects of admiring admiration. The portions were served with asparagus ferns, their feathery beauty hiding the orchestra, which furnished the music for the guests' delight.

A hundred dollars of stately beauty and as many feet of waving grace were given in honor of Mrs. Whitworth and Miss Whitworth and Mrs. Norsworthy of Rockdale. Ms. Weaver was assisted by Mrs. Foster A. Reese, her beautiful daughter, who is one of the most admired of the young matrons.

Fruit nips was served by Miss Trigg and Miss Spilling, and as each guest received a box of fruit, the reception was given in honor of Mrs. Whitworth and Miss Whitworth and Mrs. Norsworthy of Rockdale. Ms. Weaver was assisted by Mrs. Foster A. Reese, her beautiful daughter, who is one of the most admired of the young matrons.

The Elks convention will not come to Fort Worth next year. One of the delegates has this to say of the result of the vote: "There were fifty-seven votes in favor of Fort Worth and the delegates from Lodge 122 know their names. But they were outvoted."

There was no reason so far as known for this action of Dallas. When the location of the Masonic Grand Lodge was decided against Fort Worth by Dallas votes, there was some excuse because Dallas had been a strong candidate and the location of the lodge meant a pecuniary benefit to the town getting it.

But this Elks business was altogether different. Dallas was not a candidate. Neither is the convention a money-making affair. The convention is primarily a meeting of comrades for social enjoyment. If it had been a financial gain for Dallas we would have taken it in good part. In business every community, as well as every man should be on the lookout.

Well, gentlemen, what did you expect? Is this the first time that Dallas has whetted her knife and used it? It was unfortunate that twenty-seven years ago the Texas and Pacific stopped at the Little Fort on the bluffs of the Trinity long enough for a thriving town to get a foothold that now threatens the commercial supremacy of the other town on the Trinity.

It was unfortunate that Fort Worth had among her early citizens such men as Peter Smith, Joe Brown, Walter Huffman, and a score of others who gave of their lands and money to secure the railroad that have made the name of Fort Worth known to all travelers of every section and city throughout the country.

Miss Dargatz entertained the Marguerites Tuesday morning, the club prize, a Miss Marguerite Walker had a number of her friends as guests, Tuesday evening, and they danced merrily as long as they liked, then had cream and cake and other good things to eat and after that they danced again. And they say that was all except the good times that cannot be told at all once.

The guests were Gene Ross, Lucy Stripling, Helen Hubbard, Mary Adelaide Bond, Louise Scott, Park Huse, Giles Conell, Alice Conell, Willie Scott, Robert Scott, William Lane, James Stanger, John Smith, Helen Fowler, Helen Wilson, Charles Miller, Loyd Johnson, Lee, Johnson, Dudley Tarlton, Will Stripling, Eliza Forbes, Winitia French, Mary Heard, Elmo French, Bryan Wade, Harold Kenna, Harvey Cunningham, Margaret Bishop, Mary Trigg, Emma Beggs, and John Adams Walker.

Miss Pakes and Ellison Harding will entertain with a dinner party next Friday evening complimentary to Miss Pakes' Dallas guests. The dinner will be given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. N. Harding.

Miss Kathryn Priest entertained quite a number of young people at her home, 569 North Eyan, Wednesday evening, in honor of her little cousin, Miss Willie Engledown of Jacksonville.

The house was beautifully decorated with floral plants and vines. The lawn was illuminated by lanterns where the young folks indulged in many games until they were forced to adjourn to the house on account of the inclemency of the weather. About 9:30 they were invited into the dining room where they found the table laden with candies and fruit. Cream sherbert and cake were served. In spite of the bad weather they voted the affair a most enjoyable one.

Miss Priest was assisted in entertaining by Misses Lou Applegate and Bernice Delph. The invited guests were Misses Fay Eyan, Lenore Brown, Christine and Louise Weck, Jess and Daisy Nauwer, Deulah Grover, Fay Delph, Carrie and Marguerite Huffman, Winnie Glenn Mabel and Fannie Wilson, Lorene Bond and Nannie Kate Nash.

Messrs. Paxton and Frank Pendery, Adolph Von Carlowitz, Jack and George Nash, Frank Nuss, Elmore and Sidney Moore, Frank Delph, Ted and Walter Sparks, John Williams, Edw. Bond, Frank and Roy Applegate, Alfred, Lawrence ad Harrel Priest, Mr. and Mrs. John Bond, Mr. ad Mrs. Frank P. Pendery Mrs. Archie Moore, Messrs. Cameron Wilson, Len Applegate and Bernice Delph.

A lot of the very happiest little folks a birthday celebration ever brought together danced and skipped and played games at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Evans Monday afternoon and ate pounds and pounds of candy and lots of ice cream and cake all because they were the guests of Willie J. Evans and Elizabeth Evans, both of whom were invited. And after the candy had been finished and the games about over the little folks were grouped on the veranda and the photographer had a good chance to take a picture of them in all their party finery.

The presents brought to the little maiden were of many kinds dear to tiny girls and she was showing them proudly all afternoon.

The little ones present were Maud Pielan, Florence Parker, Mary Trigg, Willie Nicks, Anna, Ella and Clara Wiley Jewell, Ruth Connell, Katie, Helen and Gertrude Welsh, Cecelia and Kathleen Coombs, Elizabeth Reynolds, Florence Edgington, Ruth White, Sadie Gaines, Philomena and Margaret Capers, Elizabeth Humble, Frances and Marie McCreary, Mattie Ray Yale, Dorothy Capps, Mary McDade, Margaret, Fergus and Bessie Moriarty, Florence, Sladd, Hilda Stude, Maud Hunter, Mary Hunter, Kate Levine, Margaret Lewis, Goldie and Annie May King, Charlie Mae Williams, Gladys and Nathalie Grammer, Violet and Charlotte Field, Dorothy Mabry, Nellie Victoria, Pauline, Mary Lee, and Charlette Ray, Clinton King.

Ernest and Wallace Vickery, Sidney, Charlie and Willie Harrison, S. T. Elbo, John Hyde, John Anderson, Foy Jewell, Porter King, Walter Conell, Will Chalklock, Howell Chumpton, Al Perry, John Darnell, Chalmers Hutchison, Charles Hanway Anderson, Earl Parker, Burk Burnett, Henry Chalklock, Edw. Dick and Albert White, Edward Lewis, Thomas Beverly West, Hunter Phelan, Newton Gaines, M. G. Ellis, Hart Moriarty, Roland, Roff and Charles Gayle.

The punch bowl was in charge of Misses Phoebe Connell, Esther Connell, Bessie Bibb and Floy King.

The mothers present were Mesdames E. D. Capps, E. A. Lewis, Chalmers W. Hutchison, S. M. Gaines, Field and Jewell.

A picnic supper party, with a prouder seasoning of joyous laughter, at Handley last Monday evening was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Stripling, Misses Stripling, Alka Stripling, Williams of Dallas, Wilkes, Larimer and Callaway; Messrs. Martin, Munger, Francisco, Walton, Andrews and Doyle.

The "As You Like It" liked exceedingly well the entertainment offered them by Mrs. Schmecker, the hostess of the club. Just as they were weekly diversion of cards being supplemented by such a wealth of roses, sweet peas and nasturtiums as would make any flower lover glad, filled the inviting parlors with beauty and fragrance.

Water colors in handsome frames were the prizes for both club members and guests, the winners being Miss Edgington and Mrs. Hawley. At each table was a souvenir, a water color study of a Dutch girl. These were won by Miss Garner, Mrs. Bernie Anderson, Mrs. Waller and Miss Triplett. Mrs. Covert also received one for her services as scorer.

Those present were: Mesdames Van Zandt, Bernie Anderson, Massie, Goode, Hawley, Gardner, Collett, Berney, Tennel, Ingram, White, Rose, Ramsey, Olive Scott, Winfield Scott, Curtiss of St. Louis, Waller, Wilson, Covert; Misses Garner, Mary Terrell, Lois White, Ted Edgington, Nash and Triplett.

The meeting of this week will be with Mrs. Goode, Thursday afternoon.

day when Miss Cannon, the petite bride-elect of Glen Walker, would be the center of interest, and on last Tuesday entered the house, Nasturtiums were the flower chosen as decorations, and along the extent of a handsome beveled mirror, which was used as a reflector, ran a border of golden brown blossoms. In the center was a oblong bowl filled with masses of yellow blossoms, over running its side and forming with the foliage an attractive wreath trailing over the mirror to its border. On the mantel and on the cabinets the idea was repeated, and the variety of shades of color of red, gold and orange bespoke in their arrangement the eye and hand of an artist.

The flowers chosen were water-color studies, original designs of nasturtiums by Miss Carter, and were dainty and artistic enough to satisfy the most critical. The menu was in itself a triumph, its preparation a revelation of the art of arts, and its service something to remember with delight. It was as follows: Banana frozen cream, self-served; jod bouillon; broiled chicken, with drawn butter sauce; hot rolls; broiled tomatoes; cream peas in cucumber tamakins with whipped cream; orange ice; egg salad, with nasturtium sandwiches; sultana pudding; with clear sauce; candied ginger; olives; salted almonds.

After the dinner the guests heard a series of clever toasts. Miss Ward presided. Each was responded to by clever guests, who were drunk in mind, punch that to the bride-elect having the loving cup for its service.

Mrs. Gardner, in response to "Love and Marriage" said: "I am not a bride. I am not to be or not to be—that is the question That confronts the maiden mind. Whether it is nobler to live in single blessedness or to be married."

Or take arms against a sea of uncertainty By accepting the alternative. To love! to wed; And we may as well word to say we end The heart-aches and the thousand natural pangs That maiden's life is heir to. To love! to wed, to take the step— Perchance 'twere fatal! Ay, there's the rub!

Before we take that step where dreams may not come true. And we may shuffle off this maiden coil. We must give pause. 'Tis haste that makes calamity of a long life. Were it not better to bear those ills we have Than fly to others that we know not of? This doubt doth make cowards of us all. And the native hue of resolution Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of hesitation. Eut, soft you now, Jo, a star in the heavens points the way. Tears and doubt are nought— And we will do as it directs. A little spot in earth's dry desert, Where the soul may rest. A grain of gold in the dull sands of life; A fore taste of Elysium. Love came like a flower in the night; 'Tis a flame a single look can kindle, But an ocean cannot quench. When weary of this world's woes the impatient soul flies to their richest gifts. Love stayed behind, self-exiled for man's sake. And whence comes love? Like morning light. It comes without thy call. And whence dies love? A spirit bright. Love never dies at all. So let us drink a toast to love and marriage. And here's to the bride-to-be! Be not "the rainbow gleams And we will do as it directs. Be may the "things of long ago." But may this earth hold all "for which she sighs."

"Miss Malone mingled with her tribute to "The Bride" many words of kindly welcome and tributes of praise. Mrs. Buchanan, in the clearest of rhymes, responded to the toast, "The Groom."

Miss Evans followed in the toast, "The Girls Who Are Left Behind," an inspiration for her best efforts, and eloquence followed each other in every sentence.

After the young ladies' addresses, Misses Cannon, Hertford, Ward, Malone, White, Paddock and Evans. Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Buchanan were the only matrons present, their content and happiness, which is always an inspiration for the unmarried, making them ideal guests for a pre-nuptial dinner.

The dance at Handley Wednesday evening closed last Thursday evening. Arthur Purlington, had a sensation that was not looked for, in the way of the storm; but the fun was all the more pronounced on account of the change of program. For the first minutes of the storm the floor had water instead of wax on its surface, but afterward the piano played the merriest tunes and the feet of the two hundred couples kept time to it with undiminished zeal, and they danced until the cars were able to come over the "interurban."

The Priscillas of Arlington Heights will meet with Mrs. Mattison next Wednesday morning.

Miss Annie Laurie Rainey entertained with whist Friday evening, in honor of Miss Foscoe. The score cards and decorations were so beautiful as to surprise even those accustomed to the arrangements of the Fort Worth hostess. Roses were everywhere in evidence, and their beauty and profusion were a continual delight. Miss Foscoe won the ladies' prize, a cut-glass vase, and the punchers' favor went to Miss Annie Stripling. "The latter was a Japanese parchment picture. A sterling silver fountain pen was the prize won by Harry Wayne.

Mrs. Conner entertained Saturday evening with a dinner party, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Gray, a farewell compliment as Mr. and Mrs. Gray left last week for England.

The social of the Young People's Society of the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Thursday evening was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The program was as follows: Piano solo, Miss Walker; vocal solo, Miss Downing; reading, Charlie Clarkson; song by quartet, R. P. Fisher, R. W. Fender, J. E. Fender; vocal solo, "Tale of a Sea Shell," Miss Maud Sawyer; reading, "Once Upon a Time," Miss Gladys Moody; piano solo, Miss Adelaide Davis.

Misses Paddock, Moon, Malone and Ward; Messrs. William Paddock, Wirt Paddock, Wardlaw and Pitter were a merry party of music-makers at Handley last Wednesday evening.

FRUIT OF THE PALM Drake's Palmato Wine. A tonic laxative, unfailing specific from piles, indigestion, constipation, etc. Gives immediate relief and absolutely permanent cure in all cases of catarrh, stomach troubles, flatulency, constipation, congested kidneys and inflammation of bladder. Seventy-five cents at drug stores for a large bottle—usual dollar size—but a trial bottle will be sent free and promptly to every reader of The Telegram who writes for it.

LADIES AND CHILDREN INVITED All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not give weakness or sickness. Many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Texas, says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Lafayette, Ind., says all others' gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by all druggists.

A COSTLY MISTAKE Blunders are sometimes very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you'll never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, Liver or Bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. 25c at W. J. Fisher's and the Reeves Pharmacy.

Dancing Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, Lake Erie Auditorium. Round trip 25 cents.

A TEXAS BOY IS WINNING HONORS

George R. Harvey, Son of an Ellis County Farmer, Is Now Assistant Attorney General of the Philippines

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., June 25.—In The Telegram a few days ago appeared the announcement of the appointment of George R. Harvey, an Ellis County boy, as assistant attorney general for the Philippine government.

Since then The Telegram correspondent has obtained from his father, J. C. Harvey, a farmer living near Ennis, the following short sketch of the young man, together with his photograph, which was taken about two months ago at Manila.

George R. Harvey was born near Pettysville, Ala., in 1888. At the age of 10 years he came to Texas with his father, the trip being made overland. His father located on a farm near Ennis, where young Harvey remained until he was 20 years old. During his stay on the farm he had only such educational advantages as the Ennis high school offered. He was graduated from this school at the age of 20 and then attended the law department of the University of Texas one year. After leaving the law school he turned his attention to teaching, which profession he followed two years. In 1891 he went to El Paso to accept a position of stenographer with the law firm of Edward & Neal. While in the office of this firm he continued the study of law. In December, 1894, he was married to Miss Ray Hoyet at St. Paul, Minn. He was elected justice of the peace for precinct No. 1 at El Paso in 1895, and two years later was elected to the office of county attorney, serving only one term. In 1895 he went to Kansas City to accept a position as attorney for the Elmore-Cooper Live Stock Commission company. When he left this company about eighteen months ago he went to Manila, believing the opportunities for a young man there were superior to any this country offered. Arriving at Manila he began the practice of law, which he continued until his appointment a month or two ago to the office of assistant attorney general.

Regarding the proposition of an electric road from Fort Worth to Mineral Wells and Springtown, the Mineral Wells Index says:

THE ELECTRIC ROAD

"The agitation toward the building of a railroad from Fort Worth to Mineral Wells is on again. The meeting Monday night developed the fact that Springtown is ready to put up liberally for any kind of a road that would haul freight. A road that would haul freight from Springtown to Mineral Wells doesn't seem to be so much opposed. Mineral Wells doesn't care one iota about the freight proposition, but she will put up liberally for an electric line that will handle passengers and express. Unless a compromise is made in some manner our chances for an electric line are not very bright."

STRIKE OVER MIRRORS

Loss of Looking Glasses May Precipitate Trouble

TORRINGTON, Conn., June 26.—Superintendent Atkins of the Turner & Seymour Manufacturing Company has an aversion to looking glasses.

When the two hundred girls reported for duty this morning they saw that their mirrors had been removed. At first they suspected theft, but they were told by their foreman that orders had been given to destroy them.

The superintendent believes that too much time is devoted by the girls to the study of their complexions. The girls threaten to strike.

CONFERRING PALLIUMS

The Ceremonies Following the Election of Cardinals Performed Today

ROME, June 26.—The ceremony of conferring palliums on the new archbishops and bishops took place today in a private chapel at the residence of Cardinal Macchi, dean of cardinal deacons and secretary of the apostolic briefs. Monsignor Farrel, secretary of the American college and privy chamberlain to the pope, was postulant for Archbishop Farley of New York. He took in the archbishop's name, prescribed the oath, and then Cardinal Macchi placed palliums on Monsignor Farrel's shoulders. The same ceremony took place in the case of Monsignor Jacquemin, who was postulant for Archbishop Quigley of Chicago, and Father Descurti of the propaganda was postulant for Archbishop Orth of Vancouver.

KING CARLOS A SOCIALIST

Not Only Refuses to Call Out Troops Against Impoverished Strikers, But Helps Them Out of His Own Pocket

KING EDWARD'S RIGHT

Present Ruler of England Holds Office Only by the Courtesy of Scottish Duke Who is Rightful Claimant to the Crown

By PAUL VILLIERS.

Copyrighted 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
Paris, June 27.—King Carlos of Portugal is evidently the first royal Socialist, and is certainly acting in a manner to disgrace any respectable monarch by the grace of God.

There has for some time been a strike of the weavers at Oporto and the suffering among the 35,000 strikers is great.

Now, if King Carlos had the least self respect and wanted to act as becoming the dignity of his office, his plain duty would of course, have been to call out troops and kill and wound as many as possible of these miserable strikers, who dared to ask for the wages of maybe twenty-five cents a day.

King Carlos, however, not only did not call out troops, but has actually helped the starving strikers.

The most peculiar thing is that no one in Portugal has so far tried to have the king committed to the insane asylum. Some have even been heard to praise him.

Few people know that during his last visit to Scotland King Edward met with a Scotch aristocrat, the Duke of Buccleugh, who probably has a better right to be called king of England than King Edward himself.

In return for the duke's splendid hospitality the king is going to confer upon him the old family title, Count of Monmouth.

The Duke of Buccleugh's claim upon the crown dates from the time of Charles II, when the duke claims as an ancestor.

If King Carlos really married Lucy Wallace as the family of Buccleugh assert he did, King Edward has no right to the crown.

For several generations the family Buccleugh had in its archives a document written by Charles II, and attested with the royal seal in which the king declares that he did marry Lucy Watters and recognizes the Duke of Monmouth as his natural son.

The father of the present Duke of Buccleugh, a direct descendant of the Duke of Monmouth, and a faithful subject of the House of Hanover, decided to deliver the document which proved his right to the throne to Queen Victoria, who immediately destroyed it.

In reward for this loyal deed his son will now be allowed to bear his ancestors' old title.

President Magneau of Chateau-Thierry, is certainly one of the most eccentric judges who ever sat on the bench in France.

For years his peculiar judgments, as well as his unusual acts of charity, have been the talk of France.

His liberality has now finally made him a bankrupt, but he is as eccentric as ever.

He has appointed a bankrupt his own receiver, contending that the usual official receiver is nothing more than a thief, who eats up all the creditors' money.

An "honest bankrupt" he says, "knows best how to look after the interests of his creditors."

Some time ago Marquise de Serencourt, one of the most popular members of the old French aristocracy had to leave Paris temporarily and during that absence might visit her magnificent hotel in the Champs Elysees in her absence, she put all her gorgeous furniture in storage.

Returning to the city she spent her first evening at the Comedie Francaise.

When the curtain rose the first thing she noticed on the stage was a magnificent Empire chair which looked strangely familiar to her.

"More she looked the more she was convinced that the chair was her own."

GO EAST OVER METAL RADIUM

Scientists in Germany and on the Continent Have Almost Begged Themselves in Order to Obtain Some of the Precious Metal

By MALCOLM CLARKE.
Copyrighted 1903, by W. R. Hearst.)
Berlin, June 27.—Scientists here and elsewhere in Europe seem to have gone crazy over the possibilities of rading in the mysterious element, radium. Several are said to have paid big money in order to get possession of a few grains of the precious substance, of which not much over a pound is supposed to exist, and some of the experiments would almost be laughable if they did not have at least a distant bearing upon a solution of the mystery surrounding a problem capable of giving off energy without diminution of its bulk.

The most interesting results lately reported indicate that not only do the particles precipitated from the emanation to the brain of the blind, enabling them to perceive light, but actually have a curative property. Herr Linden reports that he has cured a patient who, although totally blind, regained their sight through treatment by radium rays.

The report declares that these boys can hear things which they could not hear before. There seems to be no reason why a similar remedy will not operate as successfully in the case of all blind persons.

The Kaiser succeeded in fairly astonishing professional musicians in the course of his address which he made to the leaders of the different choruses after the conclusion of the competition of singing societies recently at Frankfurt. The choir masters were prepared to hear his Majesty argue in favor of popular music, especially the popular songs, and, but some of the technical observations quite took their breath away.

William warned these leaders against attempting to mix male voices with orchestra. He declared that downright lyrical. His Majesty said: "I am not to become too lyrical. There is certainly too much of that in the prize chorus song. You will have noticed that one of the choruses has been particularly good in its more manly and energetic character got the most applause from the audience."

Becoming still more technical, His Majesty said: "You will be interested to hear that in nearly two-thirds of the choral societies songs are set too high, in some cases four-fifths of a note. It was joy when for once the chorus was set in a key which was within their power, there was something in reserve. In future I shall try to make the selection of choruses more suitable by arranging a collection of the popular songs of the world, and written in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, where the composer is known or not."

The Academy of Science has received a letter from Mrs. Fanny Bullock-Wortley, who is in the Himalayas, and reports that all preparations for a six months' tour of the snow regions of the Himalayas are now complete and that she will start as soon as her guides, now on the way from Bombay, have arrived.

Mrs. Bullock is the first woman mountaineer climber in the world, and her knowledge of the Himalayas and of the great mountain range in the world. The Ekstein expedition expects to be gone three years.

On William rather enjoys the wrangle between Prince Bishop of Breslau, Cardinal Kopp and his Eminence, Polish primate. The bishop issued a pastoral letter admonishing his flock to refrain from agitating the Polish question on pain of excommunication.

Of course he did so in the interest of the conservative party of the Prussian government, but while the part reaps the benefit of the measure, the Catholic church reaps little but violent talk.

Whether or Not Texas Will Be Represented at the World's Fair Must Be Decided Within a Short Time

DALLAS, Texas, June 27.—"We have reached that period when the question as to whether Texas shall be represented at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition depends on the response of the people to the efforts of the commission within the next few days. We might sum up the situation by asking, 'What are you going to do about it?' And the question would not be addressed to a collective whole, but to every man as an individual."

Such was the statement made this morning at the headquarters of the Texas world's fair commission. Continuing, it was said:

"It is a personal and an individual matter for every citizen of the state and no man can escape his own personal responsibility if this project should fail. The question of 'What are you going to do about it?' comes home to every man individually. The fate of this movement is in the balance, and whether or not Texas shall elect to take her place with the progressive and enterprising states of the Union, or whether she will be content to be conspicuous for the lack of those qualities, is a question for its citizens to determine."

The question of the value of a comprehensive presentation of our resources and of the business opportunities of our state at the world's fair has been thoroughly discussed. No one has denied the validity of the arguments advanced, nor can anyone be ignorant of them. The people of Texas are practically unanimous in the opinion that Texas will profit more than any other state in the Union from a proper display of its resources. They are agreed that no such opportunity has been offered to the state since its beginning, that it must of a certainty result in a great increase of wealth and population.

"What being admitted, there is only one way for these men who have acknowledged the force of the argument to prove their sincerity, and that is to subscribe something, and at once, to the fund which will be organized for this purpose. There can be no excuse for failure. Twice the amount required to carry out this project would be a pleasure for a state half as wealthy as Texas is. What will be the world's opinion if it comes by failure to raise this money that it is too poor or too shortsighted to take advantage of this opportunity? What weight will our words have when we attempt to teach the greatness of Texas, if we fail in this opportunity to prove our words with our acts? Will not men come to the conclusion that Texas is a false pretense? It will be all but useless to say that in Texas there are better opportunities for men and women than in any other state, if we fail on this occasion to offer the proof. We are now expected to make good. The opportunity to take advantage of this opportunity is now before us, and if we should fail the certain, as it would be the logical, conclusion will be that Texas shrinks from the test."

President Loubet to Lay Down Cares of State and Study Stars.

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) Paris, June 27.—President Loubet will resume his study of astronomy as soon as he lays down the cares of state. The president will retire altogether from the field of politics and devote himself to his favorite study of his school days, so that Camille Flammarion will have to look out for his laurels.

An observatory is being built on the grounds of the chateau which the president recently purchased. The villagers of Montelmar are delighted at the prospect of the return of M. Loubet and much of their time is devoted to the discussion of the best means of doing him honor.

He used to be their mayor, and the majority of them think of nothing that will be made to feel as though he were beginning life all over again. He is another Cincinnati.

ENCYCLOPEDIAE ERRORS.

Amusing Blunders Contained in French Publication Just Issued.

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) London, June 27.—The new illustrations of Larousse, the great French encyclopedia, authority upon men and things, contains some curious errors about American affairs. In the article on Louisiana, for instance, the president is killed by a "society" named J. Wilkes. John Brown is represented pictorially as an individual who could easily pass for Louis XVI, and the United States mint is situated in New York and the Hudson river bridges is an accomplished fact.

Walter Damrosch is set down as an American composer, and James Gordon Bennett's Paris edition of the New York Herald is made to appear twice a day. Madame Patt's elder sister is killed in her youth, despite the fact that she is the most concert-going lady in Paris.

Madame Meira is described as nee Porter, although her maiden name is Mitchell. Elizabeth Barrett Browning, we are informed in a ponderous volume, was in English portess, better known by the name of Miss Barrett.

Obviously there are other people in a hurry besides Americans. Unlike the latter these have not the faculty of accurate achievement when they make haste. Six out of seven volumes of the new Larousse have appeared.

A EW BOY PREACHER.

Eloquent Lad Who Successfully Addresses Large Crowds.

Special Cable to The Telegram. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) London, June 27.—England has discovered a new boy preacher phenomenon in a slender, timid lad of sixteen, who looks a good deal younger, named Colin Livingstone. His home is at Motherwell, the busy town in the heart of the Lanarkshire mining district.

Colin Livingstone was a board school boy, and attending last winter the meetings of the local "Hallelujah Mission," as it is called, he took so earnest and accurate an interest in the work and development of the movement that he was induced to speak in public.

At his first public appearance in a Motherwell mission hall he addressed a gathering which might have abashed his seniors. Members of all the various denominations in the district were there and not a few who came as critics went away as friends.

The fresh young voice rang out full and clear in a simple prayer for guidance and for the obliteration of his own personality and then, disclaiming any pretension to the title of preacher, he spoke from the text "For God So Loved the World" and for half an hour held his audience breathless.

Much of the charm of the boy lies in his modesty. To a Telegram correspondent who spoke with him after one of his recent meetings, he spoke of his gift with great simplicity and a certain amount of affection. For two years, while at school, he had pondered over the religious side of life, and when the evangelist mission began to work in Motherwell at "all came upon him in a flood."

Lease Of Life Renewed After Terrible Suffering From Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Gave Me Health.

"Some years ago I suffered greatly with heart disease and tried the best doctors in our county and got no relief until I began the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I used three bottles and have not had occasion to call a doctor since. I restored my heart to healthy activity and have given me a new lease of life. Prior to taking the remedy I was very restless and got but a few hours sleep during the night, felt tired out, had no ambition, was completely discouraged and had given up all hopes of getting better. I had taken so much medicine without relief that I had little faith when I began taking the Heart Cure, but after taking one bottle I could rest well. My stomach did not trouble me and in three months my health was completely restored. It is nearly six years since I stopped taking the Heart Cure and have had no return of the old symptoms and I know my cure is permanent."—LEWIS LAWRENCE, Ft. Worth, Texas.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure pleases everyone who tries it. Taken, primarily, to strengthen the heart, the patient is pleasantly surprised to find that it does not cure his heart, but in better condition, his nerves are steadier, his color better, his strength greater, his appetite is improved and that he rests better at night. The reason is plain. It cures the symptoms by removing the cause. Stop doctoring your symptoms. Remove the cause with Heart Cure, the great heart and blood tonic.

SYNOPSIS.

Greenfall Lorry, a wealthy American who has just returned from a trip to the West, is introduced to a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair get acquainted at the station when the "Flyer" stops for repairs in West Virginia. Lorry wires ahead to hold the train at the next town. He hires a wagon to drive them the intervening four miles.

"Come quickly. I have a wagon out here."

Resistlessly she was hurried along and fairly shoved through the open door of the odd looking coach. He was beside her on the seat in an instant, and her bewildered ears heard him say:

"Drive like the very deuce!" Then the door slammed, the driver clattered up to his seat, and the horses were off with a rush.

"Where are we going?" she demanded, sitting very straight and debarf. "After that train. I'll tell you all about it when I get my breath. This is to be the quickest escape from a dilemma on record, provided it is an escape." By this time they were bumping along the flinty road at a lively rate, jolting about on the seat in a most disconcerting manner. After a few long, deep breaths he told her how the ride in the Springs hack had been conceived and of the arrangement he had made with the dispatcher. He, furthermore, acquainted her with the cause of his being left when he might have caught the train.

"Just as I reached the track, out of breath, but rejoicing, I remembered having seen you on that side street and knew that you would be left. It would have been heartless to leave you here without protection, so I felt it my duty to let the train go and help you out of a very ugly predicament."

"How can I ever repay you?" she murmured. "It was so good and so thoughtful of you! Oh, I should have died had I been left here alone! Do you not think my uncle will miss me and have the train sent back?" she went on sagely.

"That's so!" he exclaimed, somewhat disconcerted. "But I don't know, either. He may not miss you for a long time, thinking you are in some other car, you know. That could easily happen," triumphantly.

"Can this man get us to the next station in time?" she questioned, looking at the black mountains and the dense foliage. It was now quite dark.

"If he doesn't bump us to death before we get half way there. He's driving like the wind!"

"You must let me pay half his bill," she said decidedly from the dark corner in which she was huddling.

"He could find no response to this peremptory request."

"The road is getting rougher. If you will allow me to make a suggestion, I think you will be wiser. You can escape a great deal of jostling if you let me take your arm and cling to you. I am sure it will save you many hard bumps."

Without a word she moved to his side and wound her strong little arm about his big one.

"I had thought of that," she said simply. "Thank you." Then, after a moment, while his heart thumped madly, "Had it occurred to you that after you ran so hard you might have climbed aboard the train and ordered the conductor to stop it for me?"

"I—I never thought of that!" he cried confusedly.

"Please do not think me ungrateful. You have been very good to me, a stranger. One often thinks afterward of things one might have done. don't you know? You did the noblest when you inconvenienced yourself for me. What trouble I have made for you!"

"It has been no trouble," he floundered. "An adventure like this is worth no end of—inconvenience, as you call it. I'm sure I must have lost my head completely, and I am ashamed of myself. How much anxiety I could have saved you had I been possessed of an ounce of brains!"

"Hush! I will not allow you to say that. You would have me appear ungrateful when I certainly am not. Ah, how he is driving! Do you think it dangerous?" she cried as the hack gave two or three wild lurches, throwing him into the corner and the girl half upon him.

"Not in the least," he gasped, the breath knocked out of his body. Just the same he was very much alarmed. It was as dark as pitch outside and in, and he could not help wondering how near the edge of the mountain side they were running. A false move of the flying horses, and they might go rolling to the bottom of the ravine, hundreds of feet below. Still he must not let her see his apprehension. "This fellow is considered the best driver in the mountains," he prevaricated.

"Oh, then we need feel no alarm," she said, reassured.

There was such a roaring and clattering that conversation became almost impossible. When either spoke, it was with the mouth close to the ear of the other. At such times Greenfall could feel her breath on his cheek. Her sweet voice went tingling to his toes with every word she uttered. He was in a daze, out of which sung the mad wish that he might clasp her in his arms, kiss her and then go tumbling down the mountain. She trembled in the next fierce lurches, but gave forth no complaint. He knew that she was in terror, but too brave to murmur.

Unable to resist, he released the strap to which he had clung so grimly and placed his strong, firm hand encouragingly over the little one that gripped his arm with the clutch of death. It was very dark and very lonely too.

"Oh!" she cried as his hand clasped hers. "You must hold to the strap."

"It is broken!" he lied gladly. "There is no danger. See, my hand does not tremble, does it? Be calm! It cannot be much farther."

"Will it not be dreadful if the conductor refuses to stop?" she cried, her hand resting calmly beneath its protector. He detected a tone of security in her voice.

"But he will stop. Your uncle will see to that even if the operator fails."

"My uncle will kill him if he does not stop or come back for me," she said complacently.

"I was not wrong," thought Greenfall. "He looks like a duelist. Who the devil are they, anyhow?" Then aloud: "At this rate we'd be able to beat the train to Washington in a straightaway race. Isn't it a delightfully wild ride?"

"I have acquired a great deal of knowledge in America, but this is the first time I have heard your definition of delight. I agree that it is wild."

For some moments there was silence in the noisy conveyance. Outside, the crack of the driver's whip, his hoarse cries and the nerve destroying crash of the wheels produced impressions of a mighty storm rather than of peace and pleasure.

"I am curious to know where you obtained the coin you lost in the car yesterday," she said at last, as if relieving her mind of a question that had been long subdued.

"The one you so kindly found for me?" he asked procrastinatingly.

"Yes. They are certainly rare in this country."

"I never saw a coin like it until after I had seen you," he confessed. He felt her arm press his a little tighter, and there was a quick movement of her head which told him, dark as it was, that she was trying to see his face and that her blue eyes were wide with something more than terror.

"I do not understand," she exclaimed. "I obtained the coin from a sleeping car porter, who said some one gave it to him and told him to have a 'high time' with it," he explained in her ear.

"He evidently did not care for the 'high time,'" she said after a moment. He would have given a fortune for one glimpse of her face at that instant.

"I think he said it would be necessary to go to Europe in order to follow the injunction of the donor. As I am more likely to go to Europe than he, I relieved him of the necessity and bought his right to a 'high time.'"

There was a long pause, during which she attempted to withdraw herself from his side, her little fingers struggling timidly beneath the big ones.

Family Health

When the women and children of the family are bilious or constipated they are doped with nauseating drugs. When the father and sons are ailing they take a split.

Heptol Split

"THE SPLIT THAT'S IT" is a family beverage. It's a delicious sparkling mineral water which cleanses the bowels, assists digestion, stimulates the sluggish liver, cures and prevents la grippe and colds and is as good for the mother and children as for father and sons.

Heptol Splits are put up in family cases containing 25 bottles at $3.00 the case. Order through your druggist or the distributor named below.

For sale at all drug stores, cafes, soda fountains and bars.

Looks Good, Tastes Good, Is Good. MORRISON DRUG CO., N. Y. CITY & WACO, TEX. John M. Parker, distributor, Family cases (25 bottles) at $3 per case.

"Are you a collector of coins?" she asked at length, a perceptible coldness in her voice.

"No. I am considered a dispenser of coins. Still, I rather like the idea of possessing this queer bit of money as a pocket piece. I intend to keep it forever and let it descend as an heirloom to the generations that follow me," he said laughingly. "Why are you so curious about it?"

"Because it comes from the city and country in which I live," she responded. "If you were in a land far from your own, would you not be interested in anything—even a coin—that reminded you of home?"

"Especially if I had not seen one of its kind since leaving home," he replied insinuatingly.

"Oh, but I have seen many like it. In my purse there are several at this minute."

"Isn't it strange that this particular coin should have reminded you of home?"

"You have no right to question me, sir," she said coldly, drawing away, only to be lurching back again. In spite of herself she laughed audibly.

"I beg your pardon," he said tantalizingly.

"When did he give it to you?"

"Who?"

"The porter, sir."

"You have no right to question me," he said.

"Oh!" she gasped. "I did not mean to be inquisitive."

"But I grant the right. He gave it me inside of two hours after I first entered the car."

"At Denver?"

"How do you know I got on at Denver?"

"Why you passed me in the aisle with your luggage. Don't you remember?"

Did he remember! His heart almost turned over with the joy of knowing that she had really noticed and remembered him. Involuntarily his glad fingers closed down upon the gloved hand that lay beneath them.

"I believe I do remember, now that you speak of it," he said in a stifled voice. "You were standing at a window."

"Yes, and I saw you kissing those ladies goodby too. Was one of them your wife, or were they all your sisters? I have wondered."

"They—they were—cousins," he informed her confusedly, recalling an incident that had been forgotten. He had kissed Mary Lyons and Edna Burage, but their brothers were present. "A foolish habit, isn't it?"

"I do not know. I have no grown cousins," she replied demurely. "You Americans have such funny customs, though. Where I live no gentlemen

"Do you think it dangerous?" would think of pressing a lady's hand until it pained her. Is it necessary?" In the question there was a quiet dignity, half submerged in scorn, so pointed, so unmistakable, that he flushed, turned cold with mortification and hastily removed the amorous fingers.

CALLER—Dear old Jack, I just read in the paper about your being sun-struck, and rushed right over. I'm awfully glad you're as well as you are. You're lucky. Now, old man, I don't want to work the old "I told you so" gag on you, but the way to prevent sunstroke is to keep the bowels clean and cool, and the blood from being over-heated, by taking a CASCARET Candy Cathartic at bed-time. They work while you sleep, and keep you safe and comfortable all day.

BIG BEET FOR TELEGRAM

One Grown by McDuff Bros. Weighs Seven and One-half Pounds.

Perhaps the largest beet ever grown in Tarrant county is on view at The Telegram office. Last week the largest hen's egg ever laid in Tarrant county was brought to this office. At this rate Tarrant county will shine at the world's fair. Some of the city visitors at the Telegram office yesterday had to be informed that the big vegetable was a beet. A picture of it would look like one of those fish pictures that are so common, where the fish (hired for the occasion) is held some ten feet in front of the fisherman and toward the camera. The beet is of the Mangowetz variety and as far as known is the first of the kind raised in this locality. It was raised by Joe H. McDuff and John P. McDuff on their farm two miles northwest of town on the White Settlement road. They bought the seed this spring in order to experiment with it. The seed was planted in March. The beet was pulled yesterday morning in order to ascertain how the crop was getting along. The beets are not yet full grown. In fact, this one was counted a rather young one. It weighed seven and one-half pounds after the removal of its roots and leaves. Its length was fifteen and three-quarter inches and it was fifteen inches in circumference at its largest part. The McDuff brothers have several Percheron horses in training. They propose to let one of the beets attain full growth and are making sure of enough horse power to get it into the city. One full-size beet ought to feed a family of six for some days.

WOMEN AND JEWELS

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boesche's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at W. L. Smallwood's and Smallwood & Walkup's. Price 25c and 75c.

A SERIOUS MISTAKE

E. C. DeWitt & Co. is the name of the firm who make the genuine Witch Hazel Salve. DeWitt's is the Witch Hazel Salve that heals without leaving a scar. It is a serious mistake to use any other. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, burns, bruises, eczema and all skin diseases. Sold by all druggists.

REPORT YOUR FIRES WITHOUT DELAY

TARDINESS AT THE OUTBREAK MAY RESULT IN DISASTER.

James H. Maddox, Chief of the Fort Worth Fire Department, Gives Many Valuable Suggestions For Those Who May Be Visited by the Fire Fiend.

The dangers from fire are like many others with which the humus family has to contend—often times they would not prove as destructive if a little forethought was devoted to the proper methods by which to handle the danger. This is especially true in towns and cities where regular equipment for combating fire is maintained. There are scores of suggestions which may be given, which if observed, would many times save the loss of life.

A few of these were related by James H. Maddox, chief of the Fort Worth fire department, and are given for the consideration of those under whose observation they may chance to fall. Not using Chief Maddox's exact language but presenting briefs of what should be done in case of fire, his suggestions are these:

First remember that one of the most important things in case of a fire in your house is not to delay any time in notifying the intelligence of a fire to the station. The first few moments of a conflagration, very often determines the extent of the damage which results from the fire. Nowadays, when the telephone is in its completed and simple form is to be found so generally distributed throughout the city, that method is considered one of the quick and effective modes of transmitting the intelligence of a fire to the department. If no telephone is in the house, it is abundantly supplied with automatic fire alarm boxes, which, with but very little work, will properly record in the office of the central fire station that there is a fire in the vicinity of that box which has been put into operation.

Should you find it convenient to use the telephone, call No. "25." A call over the telephone for the fire department, insures the right of way of that message over all others. When you get No. "25," tell the fireman as briefly as possible, that there is a fire, giving the street and number, and the department will go the rest. Often times before you can hang up the receiver at the telephone, you will hear the rattle of the heavy wheels of the department apparatus, as it is being driven, thundering to the scene of the fire.

THE BOX SYSTEM

Should it be more convenient for you to report your fire by means of one of the alarm boxes maintained by the department, go to the one nearest the house in which the fire is located, open the door and pull down the lever which will be found conspicuously arranged on the inside. When it is down as far as it will go, release it, quickly, and the electrical device and the system on which the alarm is constructed will deliver the message. The number of the box from which you have called is indicated in each station. There are four keys with each alarm box placed at convenient places in the vicinity in which the box is stationed.

SHUT OFF VENTILATION.

One very important thing which should not be forgotten, especially when the fire is reported is located inside a building. If at all possible, after one realizes that he cannot himself extinguish the fire, the doors and windows should be tightly closed, in order that the supply of air may be shut off from the flames. They will not proceed with one-half as rapidly as what they will when the ventilation in the room is permitted to remain.

TO ENDURE SMOKE.

Another valuable suggestion to those who should be so unfortunate as to be compelled to remain for any time in dense smoke, is to crawl on your hands and knees. By getting down to the floor one escapes the densest smoke which usually rises as it forms. If it is necessary for one to enter dense smoke or heat in rescue work, the placing of a dampened cloth over the mouth and nostrils, will afford great protection. No doubt you have many instances of this kind, when watching firemen in the discharge of their duty. Every member of the department is provided with a tin sponge, and in some instances with a more complete and effective device for covering the mouth when entering a building in which a fire has attained considerable headway.

IN THIS CASE, DON'T RUN.

A fire in a building, especially one in which women, especially, should remember. This is particularly true, since gasoline fires have come to be of such common occurrence. Nine out of every ten women who die in any time of fire, are killed, as is almost invariably the case in gasoline explosions, will run, screaming either through the house or out into the yard, and thereby not only endangering the lives of others, but also fanning the fire to still greater fury. The flames which have spread to her clothing, if she would drop to the floor and call for assistance, those who would come to her aid would stand a far better chance of rendering her assistance than what they could if she remained in an upright position. It should be remembered that when the clothing of a person becomes ignited, or when in any manner coming with fire, the person should avoid inhaling the heated fumes, which are much more disastrous than several burns.

FEW FIRES IN FORT WORTH.

The fires in Fort Worth during the present month have not reached a very alarming extent. In fact of the total of 12 alarms were for assistance. A chemical engine and four men were sent to No. 10, Fort Worth, and there was also an alarm turned in from Arlington, but the fire there was put under control before the local department started. A feature of the fires of June has been that of the total of 19 alarms, six of those for assistance, eight were caused by gasoline stove explosions. In six of these instances the telephone was used for transmitting the alarm to central. In May there were 11 alarms, seven of which were telephone calls. In April, of the 26 alarms, 21 were telephone calls.

LOCATION OF FIRE BOXES.

The fire alarm boxes of the city are located as follows: 4—Cameron Lumber Yard; 5—Boaz near old cemetery; 6—Belknap and Harding; 7—Weatherford and Pecos; 8—Roe's lumber yard; 9—E. Keller, Seaton and Throckmorton; 10—Peach and Boaz; 11—Cotton Compress, Ninth street; 14—Thiel and Crump; 15—Ninth and Elm; 16—Seventeenth and Crump; 17—Fifteenth and Jones; 18—Peach and Hamilton; 19—East and Nichols; 21—Calhoun and Bluff; 22—Fifth and Grove; 24—Second and Rusk; 25—Main and Fourth; 26—Main and Ninth; 27—Main and Front; 28—Tenth and Jones; 29—Fruit and Taylor; 30—Weatherford and Taylor; 34—Twelfth and Houston; 35—Seventh and Houston; 36—First and Houston; 37—Weatherford and Florence; 38—Lexington and Belknap; 39—Fifth and Florence; 41—Seventh and Burnett; 42—Seventh and Mason; 43—Texas and Lamar; 45—Thirteenth and Jennings; 46—Thirteenth and Cherry; 47—Pater Smith and Fulton; 48—Anheuser-Busch vaults; 49—North and Chesnut; 50—South Main and Broadway; 52—Jennings and Tucker; 53—Daggett and Adams; 54—Summit avenue and El Paso; 55—Granger and Lueders; 56—Adams and Cannon; 58—S. THE SAN FRANCISCO CALL STAFF AND THE NEW DISCOVERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 1, 1908.—To H. T. Pangburn & Co.—Dear Sirs: As agent for the Fulton Compounds in Fort Worth there are some facts in the Call office in this city that should interest you and the editor of The Telegram, as well as newspaper men generally. We copy here from a letter from Clifford House of the Call: "However improbable may seem the statement that Bright's Disease and Diabetes are now curable in a great majority of all cases, it is well within the province of some of us in the business department of the Call to know that it is true. Mr. Edward Short of this department was given up by his physicians as a victim of Diabetes, and is now perfectly well. The mother of one of the editorial staff has also recovered from Diabetes. This was so conclusive that I told a friend, a well-to-do citizen of Duluth, Minn., who had Bright's Disease, and he too recovered."

We will also add that an ex-supreme judge, with offices in the Call building, is a late recovery. You are authorized to proclaim to the world that the most deadly chronic kidney diseases yield to the new diuretics evolved during experiments made upon himself by John J. Fulton of this city in his memorable and successful struggle against the ravages of Bright's Disease. Yours very truly, THE JOHN J. FULTON CO.

TWO KILLED ON A TROLLEY CAR

Crowded With Passengers It Dashed Into a Freight Train and Two Meet Death in the Wreck—Brakes Failed

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.—Crowded with home bound passengers, an Archer avenue trolley car crashed into a Belt line freight train at Archer avenue and Forty-seventh street, early today. Two passengers were killed and many seriously injured.

The injured: Joseph DeLaney, right shoulder crushed. John Gleason, bruised. R. Gordon, bruised. Miss Besse Jordan, dying. J. Morah, brakeman, bruised. M. McGregg, back broken; will die. R. J. Norcken, brakeman, bruising. P. Riley, right leg broken, shoulders and head bruised. E. D. Zordsowsky, conductor of the street car, thrown from car and severely bruised. Witnesses to the accident say the trolley car brakes refused to work and the car crashed into the freight train. The passengers had no time to jump before the accident. Nearly all were returning from picnics and were asleep in the car. The motorman, John Sloan, stuck to his post and was badly injured.

DIVIDENDS ARE LARGER

Railroad and Industrial Corporations Disbursements Show Gain NEW YORK, June 29.—The July dividend disbursements at this center will be substantially larger than those at this time a year ago when the total for leading railroad, industrial and banking corporations was calculated at $125,000,000. But apparently they will not be greatly larger than the total disbursements in January of this year, which were at that time placed at about $122,000,000. The taking over of the detailed competition on the previous occasions and making allowance for changes in the rate of dividends or in the amount of securities on which dividends are paid, the total disbursements for the class of companies included in the previous calculations may be estimated with fair accuracy at $17,000,000.

SUGGESTS A BIG SCHOOL

Lord Rosebery Says English Should Learn at Home Youths LONDON, June 29.—The earl of Rosebery has written to the chairmen of the London county council, submitting a plan for the establishment of a grand national school for advanced scientific and technical education at a cost of £1,500,000, toward which sum Warburg, of £1,500,000, the well-known diamond firm, and other large contributions, and others institution has also been made. A site for the school, Lord Rosebery, a practically a century for an annual grant of £150,000 for maintenance of the whole school, upon securing in his letter which he depends. "It is little short of a scandalous that our youth in the United States and Germany are suffering in consequence of education in the United Kingdom."

ADD TO BROKEN RECORD

NEW YORK, June 29.—Over one thousand immigrants were landed at Ellis Island Sunday. They came on the Italy and Karby country. The medical officers of the immigration made a most careful and critical examination of the thousands in Europe and imbeciles and paupers are being landed in numbers.

ODDIE WALSH IS HURT

NEW YORK, June 29.—Sixteen-year-old Eddie Walsh, favorite jockey of W. Daily, the horseman, has been thrown from a racehorse and was exercising on the track at Bay and sustained a fracture of the brain. The animal had been frightened by the sudden passing of a motorcycle, and when it started and Walsh made a sitting careening. Walsh was hurled over the horse's head. His head struck a telegraph pole and he had not put out his eyes and he might have been killed.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

F. Seymour Barrington Taken in Custody at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 29.—A warrant was sworn out Sunday by Mrs. James P. McCann, charging F. Seymour Barrington with the murder of her husband, James P. McCann. As the alleged crime was committed in St. Louis county the police gave Barrington over to Sheriff Hankon. The prisoner was taken to Clayton and placed in jail.

The body of the man supposed to be McCann, which was buried soon after its discovery several days ago at Bonifas, was discovered yesterday by an inquest held by Coroner Koch of St. Louis county. The features were gone, owing to the ravages of vermin. Notwithstanding this, Mrs. McCann positively identified the body as that of her husband, partly basing her identification on a gold tooth. Others who knew McCann intimately also identified the body.

Coroner Koch made a rigid investigation and returned a verdict that two bullet holes were found in the head and that the bullets extracted corresponded in caliber with the revolver found in Barrington's trunk at the Union station. The coroner also found a deep laceration in the throat and a cut in the palm of the right hand, leading to the assumption that the man had been attacked first with a knife, and in defending himself had seized the blade, which cut deeply into the hand, that finally his throat had been cut, and he was ultimately shot twice in the head. Barrington still asserts his innocence.

PHARES TRIAL STARTS TODAY

Woman Charged With Administering Poison to Her Husband Confidently Faces Jury in Mount Holly, N. J.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., June 29.—The case of Mrs. Annie E. Phares, charged with the poisoning of her husband, was called for trial in the county court today. The prosecution appeals of acquittal expected that the trial, and it is expected that the trial will last more than three or four days. The attorneys for the state declare that there could not be a fair trial in the county court, and while the defense maintains a discreet silence as to its intentions, a discreet silence, the prosecution says it will show that every symptom of poisoning, including that of Mrs. Phares' death, was announced in Phares' death, and that Mrs. Phares purchased thirty grains of this poison on the morning before her husband died. Witnesses are clear, and to testify, the prosecution declares that Mrs. Phares gave her husband some powder upon returning from work. Almost immediately after these facts were taken Phares was killed. There was something unusual in the matter and, according to the testimony of those in the house his movements were watched closely and sufficiently to add damning evidence to the case of the prosecution.

An important card upon which the prosecution depends is the testimony of Gordon Taylor, the young man for whose love Mrs. Phares is alleged to have killed her husband. Taylor, it is said, will tell freely all he knows of the case. The attorneys for the defense, on the other hand, appear to be equalled by the prosecution and declare that the state will be totally unable to establish a sufficient motive for the alleged crime.

"BUG ARTIST" IS DEAD

Miss Sullivan, Government Entomological Illustrator for 23 Years WASHINGTON, June 29.—The "Bug Artist" is dead. Miss Lillian Sullivan, for 23 years the illustrator of the entomological department at the Agricultural Department, had a stroke of paralysis yesterday. Miss Sullivan was the best known entomological artist in the United States. An expert in the art of illustrating insects, her name is known to scientists in the United States and abroad. Her paintings and drawings were the best of their kind. She had studied entomology and was able to draw an insect not only to the appearance of the model, but to the minutest details of its anatomy. She was especially adept in reproducing bugs and beetles. She was a native of New York and was appointed artist in the bureau of entomology in 1880.

W. A. HAVEMEYER DEAD

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.—William A. Havemeyer, best representative of the American Sugar Refining Company and cousin of H. O. Havemeyer, president of that company, is dead at his home in Riverside, after an illness lasting five months. Mr. Havemeyer was born in New York in 1843 and came to Chicago in 1873. He leaves a widow and four children.

YAQUIS ON WAR PATH

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, June 29.—A force of Yaqui Indians attacked a stage coach which was going from Alamos to Guaymas. Several shots were exchanged, the reports attracting a detachment of soldiers that happened to be in the neighborhood. When the troops arrived the Indians, after a brief fight, ran away. Two of the Indians were killed, as was also a soldier, who received a bullet through the heart.

ARMOUR'S YACHT IN A COLLISION

Collides With a Yacht Off the Coast Near Dunkirk and Both Boats Have Narrow Escape From Sinking

NEW YORK, June 29.—The American steam yacht Utowana, with Allison V. Armour, her owner, aboard, has arrived here considerably damaged from a collision in the North sea, says a Herald dispatch from Kiel. The accident occurred in a fog off Dunkirk. The yacht collided with the steamer Dobroga, a 3,000-ton merchantman. Her bowsprit and flying jibboom had been carried away, together with a large amount of wire rigging and stays of the first of her three large masts. Her stem is also damaged by the violent tearing out of the powerful bowsprit, the unusual strength of which possibly saved the ship. The lower part of the stem was twisted from the impact. The bowsprit lies hanging from the post side forward, surrounded by masses of twisted steel rigging and stays. Internally the yacht is not damaged.

The newspapers of Japan, expressing satisfaction at this state of affairs, attribute to General Kropatkin as the harbinger of peace, and point out that he has been the Mikado's guest at Shiba palace, where he is expected to accept a prince of royal blood over before resided.

STOCKMEN ARE BARRED

More Cattle Into Creek and Seminole Nations WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Indian department has issued an order forbidding stockmen to graze their cattle on the reservation of the Seminole and Chickasaw nations. The order is based on the fact that the cattle have been ravaging the crops of the farmers. The Indian police are mobilized to remove the cattle. Some were removed last Saturday. They will be driven over the line into Texas and Oklahoma.

AMERICANS ARE BARRED

Unusual Vote Taken by the Hawaiian House of Representatives HONOLULU, June 29.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 17 to 9, declared itself opposed to the immigration of more Americans. The native Hawaiians voted as one man against opening the doors to all comers. They took the ground that if Americans came in without restrictions they would soon outnumber the natives and thus the natives would lose control of the legislature. The speaker, H. K. H. White, the speaker, argued against admission of more Americans, as he said the natives would soon be swamped up in population from the mainland. The bill against which these and the speaker argued was to appropriate money for immigration agents who would advertise territory and attract immigrants from the mainland.

HIS PRIDE CHASTENED

Rev. MacArthur Tells the Effect of Recent Lynchings and Disorders NEW YORK, June 29.—Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, in a sermon at Calvary Baptist church upon the spirit of lawlessness as shown in recent lynching and other disorders in several states, said his heart was broken by the reports of these crimes. No one who knew him, he said, could doubt his Americanism, however, and he had no sympathy with those who refused to resume the responsibilities of citizenship. Several persons in the congregation started for the door at this point, and the pastor said, he would have to see until all those who wished to leave had done so, but the others arose. The times of the last week have made the South and Russia, to corruption of a ballot, he said, a large share of the responsibility was due.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The American steam yacht Utowana, with Allison V. Armour, her owner, aboard, has arrived here considerably damaged from a collision in the North sea, says a Herald dispatch from Kiel. The accident occurred in a fog off Dunkirk. The yacht collided with the steamer Dobroga, a 3,000-ton merchantman. Her bowsprit and flying jibboom had been carried away, together with a large amount of wire rigging and stays of the first of her three large masts. Her stem is also damaged by the violent tearing out of the powerful bowsprit, the unusual strength of which possibly saved the ship. The lower part of the stem was twisted from the impact. The bowsprit lies hanging from the post side forward, surrounded by masses of twisted steel rigging and stays. Internally the yacht is not damaged.

A BUSHY R IS CHOKED

A Brooklyn Man Dies While Eating Beef-Steak NEW YORK, June 29.—Thomas Thornbrooks, was choked to death in a beef-steak restaurant. He ordered the best beef-steak in the place and ate heartily, began half through with a most thorough and suddenly strangled on a piece of steak, and fell from his chair. It is said the meat on which he choked to death was furnished from his own shop.

DUST ALSO IN JAPAN'S EYES

Visit of General Kropatkin Seems to Have Smoothed Over Distrust and Russia Has Won Country Over ST. PETERSBURG, June 29.—The visit of the Russian war minister, General Kropatkin, to Japan, has, according to Japanese papers, had a very satisfactory effect upon the relations between Russia and Japan and paved the way for rapprochement. The newspapers of Japan, expressing satisfaction at this state of affairs, attribute to General Kropatkin as the harbinger of peace, and point out that he has been the Mikado's guest at Shiba palace, where he is expected to accept a prince of royal blood over before resided.

STOCKMEN ARE BARRED

More Cattle Into Creek and Seminole Nations WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Indian department has issued an order forbidding stockmen to graze their cattle on the reservation of the Seminole and Chickasaw nations. The order is based on the fact that the cattle have been ravaging the crops of the farmers. The Indian police are mobilized to remove the cattle. Some were removed last Saturday. They will be driven over the line into Texas and Oklahoma.

AMERICANS ARE BARRED

Unusual Vote Taken by the Hawaiian House of Representatives HONOLULU, June 29.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 17 to 9, declared itself opposed to the immigration of more Americans. The native Hawaiians voted as one man against opening the doors to all comers. They took the ground that if Americans came in without restrictions they would soon outnumber the natives and thus the natives would lose control of the legislature. The speaker, H. K. H. White, the speaker, argued against admission of more Americans, as he said the natives would soon be swamped up in population from the mainland. The bill against which these and the speaker argued was to appropriate money for immigration agents who would advertise territory and attract immigrants from the mainland.

DIAZ WILL CELEBRATE

President of Mexico Will Observe the Glorious Fourth CITY OF MEXICO, June 29.—President Diaz today accepted an invitation to attend the celebration of the Fourth of July in his given by the American colony in this city. The official exercises of the day will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning, at which hour the president will arrive, and will consist of an address of welcome to the executive, followed by a brief oration and reading of the Declaration of Independence. A feature of the day will be a special luncheon to be given to President Diaz, who will also witness part of the day's sports.

NEARLY SIXTY YEARS

Long Pastorate of a Pennsylvania Clergyman WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 29.—Rev. Nathan P. Parke, one of the oldest Presbyterian clergymen in Pennsylvania, is dead at Glen Summit. He had been pastoring the First Presbyterian church in Pittston since 1847. He was born in Princeton in the class of 1844.

HOUSE FLOATED TO HIM

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 29.—The Missouri river flood has given P. C. Nuckles, of Rocheport, a new house, completely furnished. The high water drove Mr. Nuckles away from his farm, and when he returned to it he found on his land a comparatively new house, which was in good condition, despite its watery journey. There is nothing about it to indicate who the owner is.

TO MEET HER PARENTS

Little Girl Travels Six Thousand Miles Without Companion

NEW YORK, June 29.—Separated from her parents during four years, Dorothy Rice, 10 years old, from Hereford, England, has arrived here alone on a big liner from Liverpool. She at once took up her journey to Seattle, Wash., where her father and mother await her coming. Pelted by the passengers on the trip over the ocean, traveling the 5,000-mile journey was made pleasant for the little girl, and she showed no feeling of depression when she left the pier with a railroad official as her guide to begin the second stage of her journey. Four years ago the child's father started from England for the Klondike, and Mrs. Rice accompanied him. They got as far as Seattle and went into business. Dorothy meanwhile resided with her grandmother in the English home.

WILL NOT ENTER MATCH

NEW YORK, June 29.—Sergeant W. F. Petty of the New York police department, whose score was the second best made by the American team in the international revolver match against French experts several years ago, will not be a member of the American contingent for the coming cable contest in Boston with a French team. Petty was one of the strongest men on this year's team. It is said he has been unable to secure leave of absence from his duties.

EIGHT FACTORIES ARE CLOSED TODAY

News Causes Cotton Market to Drop Four to Ten Points. Cables Also Disappointing, But Bears Cause Rally.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The cotton market opened at a decline of 4 to 10 points, the cables being disappointing and the crop news in general being favorable. There was some evidence of support and a partial rally followed, with the demand, however, chiefly from the bear contingent. Toward noon the decline had been reduced 1 to 4 points. There was practically a suspension of operations on the part of outsiders. Caution was increased by a report from Fall River to the effect that eight local mills had closed for the entire week, regular print cloth being still quoted at the same price that prevailed last year, while the price of cotton is more than 4 cents above the figure current a year ago.

NEWEST CHARGES AGAINST MACHEN

District Attorney Announces Additional Indictments to Cover Alleged Bribery Cases Involving Groffs

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The district attorney this morning announced that the grand jury would today bring additional indictments against August W. Machen and the Groff brothers, in the case of Machen for receiving a bribe and in the case of Groff brothers for giving a bribe. These indictments were brought in to cover three additional counts and to put the first indictment on the same footing as the second, which latter involved the Loewens of Toledo, Ohio, in the charge of conspiracy to defraud.

CARRIE NATION SHOCKED

The Conduct of Young Men and Women Arouses Her Ire ST. PAUL, Minn., June 29.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the famous saloon demolisher, has arrived here. She came over from Stillwater, and she says the trip was memorable—plainly memorable—for on the steamer car she saw conditions that were truly deplorable. Mrs. Nation undertook to correct some of the young people who misbehaved and she had an interesting time of it. She did not use her little tomahawk to bring reform, but she used that which is just as sharp—her tongue.

POPE LIKES WARM DAY

He Says That the Warm Weather Suits Him ROME, June 29.—This being St. Peter's day, the pope celebrated mass in the private chapel adjoining his bedroom in the presence of his chaplain and members of the pontiff's family. The temperature was 82 degrees Fahrenheit, but the pope does not suffer, saying that the warm weather suits him.

PREDICTS BRAZOS FLOOD

Colored Man Who Forecasted Storm Makes Another Guess BRENSHAM, Tex., June 29.—In Justice court yesterday August Botto and Louis Hominghaus, two of the young men implicated in the cutting affair at Wellman's, in the Welds neighborhood, last week, pleaded guilty and each was fined $1 and costs.

HAND IS CUT BY SAW

HILLSBORO, Tex., June 29.—S. H. Allred, while shoeing a horse, reached for a tool and his left hand was caught by a circular saw that was in motion. Some of the finger bones were almost severed. He had the hand dressed, however, without being subjected to great pain, and refused to go to bed.

IS SHOT BY HOODLUMS

Young Man Resents Their Jeers and Is Killed as a Result CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.—Resenting the jeers of a crowd of newboys which were directed at his women companions, Arthur J. Weber, 23 years old, was shot and instantly killed by one of the boys last night. The shooting took place in the presence of a large crowd of Lincoln park visitors. It caused great excitement and during the confusion the boys escaped.

BRAKEMAN LOSES A LEG

MARSHALL, Texas, June 29.—Brakeman H. L. Alexander, prostrated by slipping while attempting to step on the front of a switch engine in the yards in this city. Medical attention was summoned and amputation effected below the knee. The patient is doing fairly well.

EARTHQUAKE REPORTED

There are 70,829 insane patients in the 270 asylums of Prussia, according to the Prussian statistical office.

TODAY'S HEAT DOESN'T BREAK YEAR'S RECORD
Fine summer weather seems to have struck Arizona. The inhabitants of that state are just beginning to take off their winter overcoats, according to the latest reports. Phoenix reported that everything was prospering there yesterday and that the temperature had gone up to 112 degrees. This is the highest temperature that has been reported from any station yet this year.
El Paso suffered a little from the heat yesterday, also. The thermometer marked only 102 there, however. The difference between the minimum and the maximum there yesterday was 38 degrees, as the lowest temperature was 68.
The thunderstorm that was promised yesterday failed to materialize. It was only a slightly developed one and the weather conditions were such that it did not before it got this far.
The weather for Fort Worth will continue fair this evening and tomorrow morning, although tomorrow will be hot. The State's next rain showers are expected here tomorrow afternoon. A larger storm may be expected in the evening.

HONEA IS COME ON SECRET MISSION
Sheriff Honea is out of the city. The officers in charge of his office during his absence disclaim all knowledge as to his whereabouts.
There is a well-kept report in circulation that the sheriff is away from the city on a mission connected with the Wilson case, which just now, in view of the trial next Wednesday of Joe Lawrence on the charge of having murdered
Wilson, and the new testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Speck, is of first interest in the public mind.
The positive statements of Sheriff Honea that Wolf and Lawrence are innocent, notwithstanding that Wolf has been found guilty and is under sentence of life imprisonment in the penitentiary, and the further intimations let slip by the sheriff in connection with this case, have aroused public interest to the highest pitch, especially as the sheriff's statements have elicited interviews from Chief of Police W. C. Anderson and Attorney Lattimore, in which they take issue with the sheriff regard to the guilt of the two men now in jail. While Sheriff Honea believes that the men who occupied the room at Mrs.
Speck's house on Hemphill street committed the murder, the chief of police and county attorney believe that clew and maintain that Wolf and Lawrence are guilty.

RAILROAD INCREASES CAPITAL
PITTSBURG, Pa., June 23.—The

DOWN AT NEW ORLEANS
NEW ORLEANS, La., June 23.—The reaction in the cotton market sent the prices of futures down from 8 to 23 points below the closing of Saturday. Liquidation and selling orders from the country and more favorable weather reports were chiefly responsible for the decline. A bill leader said that the market was healthy and the reaction was desirable. It would leave the market in a yet more healthful condition. He said that another upward trend of prices was due after the present reaction.

TRIED ON CHARGE OF KILLING NEGRO
MORNING SESSION TAKEN UP IN SELECTING JURY
His Plea is That of Self-Defense—John Lacy and Jim Porter Pleaded Guilty to Burglary and Got Two Years Each.
Court Notes

The trial of L. G. Lem, on the charge of the murder of Gilbert Gill, a Negro, April 22 last, was begun in the Seventeenth district court, Judge M. E. Smith presiding, this morning. The entire morning was consumed in the selection of a jury. The following is the jury:
H. L. Mitchell, A. B. Jolley, Frank Kaiser, John A. Wheeler, Henry Williams, C. J. Tawater, W. B. Kibben, R.
H. Chalmers, George Bell, J. K. P. Hammond, J. E. Murray and T. J. Mayfield.
At 2 o'clock this afternoon the taking of testimony was begun. Lem's plea is that of self-defense and he will endeavor to show that after he had taken one pistol from Gill the latter went away, procured another and returned with the intention of killing him.

PLEAD GUILTY TO BURGLARY
In the same court, before the same judge was called, two men, John Lacy and Jim Porter, entered pleas of guilty to the charge of burglary and were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary.

ANOTHER NEW LAWYER
George C. Ward, chief deputy in the office of District Clerk John C. Martin, was examined for admission to the bar by a committee of lawyers in the Forty-eighth district court this morning. He successfully stood the examination. The following "qualified" him: W. R. Parker,
R. L. Carlock, C. E. Bowlin and George
T. West.

NO FRICTION BETWEEN THEM
WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Association of Missouri, Kansas and Texas et al.
reports in circulation to the effect that there is friction between the administration and Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, are absolutely without foundation. It is stated that the relations of the president and state department with Count Cassini are officially and personally entirely cordial. It is regarded as a serious reflection upon the sincerity of the president to present his action in forwarding a petition relative to the Jews in Russia as in any way connected with international negotiations in the far East or to the faithful manner in which Count Cassini has represented his government at Washington.

HANDLING IT FAIRLY: Recently the northern press has been filled with references to alleged cases of negro peonage in Georgia and Alabama and eagerly seizing the opportunity, many of the rabid journals have grossly misrepresented conditions in order to pander to the sensational imaginations of their prejudiced readers.

Of this class, a Chicago newspaper which has long ago won a reputation for bias against the South, went to the wildest extremes and filled column after column with calumnies and assertions that would naturally lead its readers to believe that negroes were being held in worse than slavery and that all the abuses of peonage, save public auctions alone, were being practiced.

Yet out of all this turmoil two facts have come. One was given in the Associated Press dispatches and merely stated briefly that a solitary Alabama planter had pleaded guilty to five indictments on the charge of peonage, and had been accordingly sentenced.

As for the conditions in Georgia, the New York Tribune, in the following dispatch, presents a wonderfully striking contrast to the lurid tales that have been printed elsewhere:

"Macon, Ga., June 24.—In the United States court today Judge Emery Spear imposed a fine of $1,000 each on three young men—William Shy, Arthur Glawson and Robert Turner—for holding a negro in involuntary servitude. He suspended the fine under conditions. In fixing the men he said:

"In view of the fact that it is the first crime of this kind which has ever occurred in Georgia and because of the frank confession of the young men, sentence is imposed in order to convince the public that the purpose of the court is to warn and deter others from a like crime. During good behavior the fine is suspended upon payment of $100 by each party."

"The men, who are well known farmers, caught a negro who was in debt to them, gave him a whipping, and made him go to work for them. Judge Spear said that the negro problem could not be solved by such harsh measures, and that the laws of Georgia were against such treatment."

Thus again a mountain has brought forth a mouse. Out of the scare-head dispatches and double-loaded editorials of the prejudiced northern press have come these facts:

In Alabama, one man has been indicted, pleaded guilty, and has been sentenced. In Georgia, three young men, exasperated by failure to collect from a negro debtor, thrashed him and compelled him to go to work to pay off his score.

The facts in the Alabama case are not stated. They may or may not have been similar to those in Georgia. It is well to note, however, that in none of the cases did any of the parties charged with peonage attempt to evade suit. All four pleaded guilty and expressed willingness to accept the punishment of the law, which in such cases is a heavy one.

The Tribune deserves credit for the fairness that causes it to print facts, and in this case the fairness is a greater virtue when contrasted with the misrepresentations of other journals.

From out of Roumania has come a sound that calls for listeners everywhere. It is the voice of a king, Charles by name, who has the courage and the principle to state to Servia's war minister that he thoroughly disapproves of the murder that has scandalized the kingdom. Charles may not be widely known outside his own land and he has probably never had his picture printed in the New York papers.

Fort Worth does not believe in one-sided progress. Sunday's Telegram, which contained the announcement of a $100,000 medical college and hospital to care for men's bodies, also contained news to the effect that a fine, new church will be built on Broadway to provide for their souls.

J. S. Roberts of Richmond, England, says we are degenerating into Indians. Ugh.

The story in Sunday's Telegram, regarding fire alarms and the location of all the fire alarm boxes, would be a good one to cut out and paste up for reference July 4, as well as at other times.

Yet President Loubet of France has shown that he also possesses courage and good sense when, in spite of the religious persecutions which have disgraced France, he said in addressing the Sisters of Charity, "Your self-sacrificing labor is the most beautiful example which can be given the children of France." The ministry stormed at such a pro-Catholic utterance, but Loubet, simple-minded and ruggedly honest, was not intimidated, and spoke what he felt was true.

"GALLEY 13"

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS: Commenting on the tragedy at Belgrade, the Dublin Telephone says: "The remains of the royal libertine and his dissolute queen—cruelly murdered while pitifully begging to be spared—were removed, all traces of the tragedy obliterated and the palace immediately prepared for the reception of the princely brute who planned the outrage, while the ancient walls of Belgrade echoed with that old familiar cry of those dark days when the coup d'etat stalked abroad in the paces of kings, leaving death and desolation behind—le roi est mort; vive le roi—off with the old, on with the new."

All of which calls to mind an Iowa editor who assumed his duties very unexpectedly because his brother, who ran the paper, had eaten ice cream and early June apples the same evening. The new editor had been graduated but three days before from the town academy, but that didn't add to the comfort of his brother, who cautioned him to be careful.

At the close of the new editor's first day's work the following item appeared in the little paper: "Last night about midnight a fella fiddler, climbed the back fence at the home of Squire Fags and at once proceeded to sing a love song. 'Du bist Mein Schoene Kaezchen,' in a tremulous tenor that soon succeeded in wakening the inhabitants of the peaceful neighborhood. It happened that one of the first to free himself from the arms of Morpheus was the squire himself, who listened only a minute and then getting his trusty shotgun went to the window. Having in former years been a man of arms virumque, the squire was easily master of the situation, and with true aim discharged his weapon, the cat falling instantly to the ground. The disjecta membra were gathered up and this morning interred without the formality of an inquest. Over the little grave in the squire's back yard was placed a shingle bearing the famous inscription, 'Here lies a requies cat in pace.'"

At 6:45 that night the editor was visited by the squire, who admitted that he had shot a cat, but who declared in supercilious language that he was a respectable man of family and would like to kill the blanked scoundrel who had been connecting his name with that of Morpheus. Thus it was that the junior editor summed up the whole of his journalistic career in that one item, and he is today running a thrashing machine, an occupation quite as profitable and much more safe.

U. S. Grant does not deny that he might be willing to become a candidate for vice president on a ticket with Roosevelt at the head. Who is this U. S. Grant?—Fort Worth Telegram.

Why, he is the son of his father, and what better qualifications do you require for a republican politician?—El Paso Times.

The common sense of fairness compels the admission of the fact that such qualifications for political preference are not confined to the republican party alone. No party is free from it—even in Texas.

The leader writer of the Times-Herald laid great stress upon the fact that the "hen lays on." The paragraph writer has always labored under the delusion that the hen lays eggs, but is glad, even at this late hour, to be informed of his mistake.—Dallas Times-Herald.

The hen rarely lays off—the nest, therefore, she must lay on.—Denison Herald.

Both wrong. The hen lays only scriptural quotations in Texas.

Pardon the impertinence, but has your cook returned yet?—Fort Worth Telegram.

Don't keep a cook, thank you.—Denison Herald.

The Fort Worth Telegram remarks: "Feminine ingenuity is ever something wonderful, but when the pretty organist at a Texas sanctuary spent the interval between the offertory and the opening prayer last Sunday in repairing a refractory pipe organ with a hairpin, a new record was established that leaves Texas still in the lead." When it comes to a needle, pin, hairpin or a hatpin, woman is in her own particular sphere and can work wonders. In such case the masculine isn't in it.—San Antonio Light.

The Tribune deserves credit for the fairness that causes it to print facts, and in this case the fairness is a greater virtue when contrasted with the misrepresentations of other journals.

BOOMING A TOWN: A lot of people think they live in the best town on earth. The thought makes them happy and self-satisfied. Yet they owe that conviction to the persistent lying and consistent boasting of a newspaper whose editor the self-satisfied one is permitting to take out a miserable existence. And yet some folks profess to believe there isn't a hell.—Austin Statesman.

GRAUSTARK

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON. Copyright, 1901, by Herbert S. Stone.

SYNOPSIS: Grenfall Lorry, a wealthy American globe trotter stumbles into acquaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair get left at this station when the "Flyer" stops for repairs in West Virginia. Lorry wires ahead to hold the train at the next town. He hires a wagon to drive them the intervening four miles.

"I crave your pardon. It is such a strain to hold myself and you against the rolling of this wagon that I unconsciously gripped your hand hard! But I knew, you—you will not misunderstand my motive," he begged, fearful lest he had offended her by his rudeness. "I could not misunderstand something that does not exist," she said simply, proudly.

"I have explained, and I am sorry I spoke as I did. I shall not again forget how much I owe you." "Your indebtedness, if there be one, does not deprive you of the liberty to speak to me as you will. You could not say anything unjust without asking my forgiveness, and when you do that you more than pay the debt. It is worth a great deal to me to hear you say that you owe something to me, for I am only too glad to be your creditor. If there is a debt, you shall never pay it. It is too pleasant an account to be settled with 'you're welcome.' If you insist that you owe much to me, I shall refuse to cancel the debt and allow it to draw interest forever."

"What a financier!" she cried. "That jest was worthy of a courtier's deepest flattery. Let me say that I am proud to owe my gratitude to you. You will not permit it to grow less." "That was either irony or the prettiest speech a woman ever uttered," he said warmly. "I also am curious about something. You were reading over my shoulder in the observation car."

"I was not," she exclaimed indignantly. "How did you know that?" she incoherently went on. "You forgot the mirror in the opposite side of the car." "Ach! Now I am offended!" "With a poor old mirror? For shame! Yet, in the name of our American flag, I ask your forgiveness. It shall not happen again. You will admit that you were trying to read over my shoulder. Thanks for that immutable nod. Well, I am curious to know what you were so eager to read."

"Since you presume to believe the mirror instead of me, I will tell you. There was a dispatch on the first page that interested me deeply." "I believe I thought as much at the time. Oh, confound this road!" For half a mile or more the road had been fairly level, but, as the ejaculation indicates, a rough place had been reached. He was flung back in the corner violently, his head coming in contact with a sharp projection of some kind. The pain was almost unbearable, but it was eased by the fact that she had involuntarily thrown her arm across his chest, her hand grasping his shoulder spasmodically.

"Oh, we shall be killed!" she half shrieked. "Can you not stop him? This is madness—madness!" "Pray be calm! I was to blame, for I had become careless. He is earning his money; that's all. It was not stipulated in the contract that he was to consider the comfort of his passengers." Grenfall could feel himself turn pale as something warm began to trickle down his neck. "Now, tell me of which dispatch it was. I read all of them."

"You did? Of what interest could they have been?" "Curiosity does not recognize reason." "You read every one of them?" "Assuredly." "Then I shall grant you the right to guess which interested me the most. You Americans delight in puzzles, I am told."

"Now, that is unfair." "So it is. Did you read the dispatch from Constantinople?" Her arm fell to her side suddenly as if she had just realized its position. "The one that told of the French ambassador's visit to the sultan?" "Concerning the small matter of a loan of some millions—yes. Well, that was of interest to me inasmuch as the loan, if made, will affect my country."

"Will you tell me what country you are from?" "I am from Graustark." "Yes; but I don't remember where that is." "Is it possible that your American schools do not teach geography? Our text us where the United States is located." "I confess ignorance." "Then I shall insist that you study a map. Graustark is small, but I am as proud of it as you are of this great broad country that reaches from ocean to ocean. I can scarcely wait until I again see our dear crags and valleys, our rivers and ever blue skies, our plains and our towns. I wonder if you worship your country as I love mine."

The Marriage Question.

Never marry but for love, but see that thou lovest only what is lovely.—Wm. Penn.

THIS year we have heard a great deal about the marriage question, from men and women of letters and Professors addressing college students. The professor who announced that "love and romance die out with the sound of the wedding-bells," was the first to start the ball rolling. It would seem a brave woman who marries with this echo in her ears, yet we have not heard that there were fewer marriages during the year. Although many people marry without reasoning about it, and do not know the word romance, they feel it and act it all their lives and are content. There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter. The more civilized or cultured a race becomes, doing with less and less physical exercise in the out-of-doors air, and with the wearing of corsets and other modest customs, the more likely are the women to suffer from womanly ills. Every woman should know what right living is—for perfect health and a fair complexion she should occasionally take a vegetable laxative such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

If you want to know what ails you the United States mail will bring you the best medical advice for only the cost of writing the materials and stamps. Many people owe their present good health to the fact that they consulted Dr. Pierce by letter, giving him all possible information about their condition, symptoms, etc., and received in return good medical advice which cost them nothing. This is why we advise you to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce by no means confines himself to prescribing his well-known medicines. He tells you in the most common-sense way what ails you, what you ought to do, what line of treatment should be followed out in your particular case, and if your case does not indicate the need for his proprietary medicine, he tells you plainly and frankly what you do need, and the best possible method of improving your health. If you are a young woman just entering upon the duties of life, you should have good medical advice of a confidential nature. If you're a mother of children, you may want advice about yourself and how best to put your system in order that your children may be healthy. To sufferers from chronic diseases which do not readily yield to treatment, or to people who are past the youthful stage of life and want confidential advice about their ailments or their physical condition, Dr. Pierce offers to carefully consider your case and give you the best medical advice within his power, free of cost to you.

Dr. Pierce, during a long period of practice, found a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, which was positive in its action. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that would make it easily procurable, and it can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

Backed up by over thirty years of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in

THE HANDICAP WEIGHTS

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.—Weights for the great western handicap to be run Wednesday at Washington Park were announced last night by Secretary Howard. Among the burdens assigned to seventy-seven horses, McChesney gets the heaviest of the year. He is to carry 134 pounds for the mile and a half journey, to 118 pounds for a mile and a half, which will be nearest to him in Oakwood. Wyeth, last year's derby winner, gets 115 pounds, while Six Shooter, which won the stake in 1902, gets in at 115 pounds. He carried 116 last year. McChesney will have a number of lightweight performers to contend with, some of which are likely to give any horse a good argument over a distance of ground. Of the possible starters Little Scout, which ran third to McChesney Saturday, gets in at 102 pounds. Linguist, which however, has not shown any liking for the distance, gets in at ninety-five pounds. Lucien Appleby will carry 106, should he start, and Judge Himes, which at least can do the distance, is assigned 102 pounds, while Helles Commoner gets 114. Schmillant, which holds the world's record for a mile and three-sixteenths, is assigned 129 pounds. Berneys will have to carry 102 pounds and Flocarline ninety-six.

FORT WORTH LOST TO THE OIL CITY

PANTHERS PLAY ERRORLESS GAME, BUT CORSICANA BUNCHES HITS

The game looked easy for Fort Worth at the start. McMurray was safe at first on a hit and then stole second. Then with two out the signal was given to Foidexeter to hit the ball and McMurray started for third. With the lead that he had it was no trouble at all to score on the hit. Corsicana tied the score in the next inning. A couple of hits and a fly to the outfield manufactured it without any further effort. McMurray was out in the sixth, aided by a sacrifice and a couple of stolen bases placed two more to Corsicana's credit. Fort Worth lost a chance to score in the eighth, when there were men on second and third. Peer hit the ball a foot in front of the plate. Blair, the Corsicana catcher, picked it up and touched home, thinking that the bases were full. Before he could recover sufficiently to throw to first, Peer was safe. All would have been well if Reitz had not come on home, practically running into the ball in the catcher's hands. The star play of the day was the catch of a line drive from McMurray's bat by Pendleton, who took riffs's place at short. The ball was going like the wind, but Pendleton jumped several feet off the ground and took it in. Before the last game of the series from Dallas yesterday, by batting in five earned runs in the ninth inning. The feature of the game was a home run over the fence in the ninth by Walsh when the bases were full. The score was 8 to 4. Today being an off day, the Fort Worth team goes to Denton to play a practice game with the Denton Athletic Club.

CORSICANA COUPE MARRIED A WORTH

W. Walton and Miss Bettie Graves of Corsicana, who came to Fort Worth on an excursion yesterday, determined to get married while in the city and yesterday afternoon the nuptial knot was tied in a parlor of the Hotel Worth by Rev. Nat B. Read of the Peach Street Methodist church. Mr. Walton and Miss Graves were accompanied on the trip by Miss Bessie Pittman and L. A. Beal. The little party was a merry one. The young couple that were united in marriage here were known by their Corsicana friends to be warmly attached to each other, but nothing was said about the wedding until Fort Worth was reached. Then Mr. Beal and Miss Pittman were left to the secret and upon Mr. Beal devolved the duty of rustling up a minister.

DUNKARDS TO LOCATE COLONIES IN TEXAS

William Penn Anderson, live stock expert of the Santa Fe system, departed Saturday on a trip into the Panhandle, but before going he furnished The Telegram with some interesting data in regard to a forthcoming invasion of Texas by the Dunkards. "I have just returned from Bellefontaine, Ohio, where and the pleasure of attending a convention of about 10,000 Dunkard preachers," said Mr. Anderson. "While there I learned that for some time past they have been looking toward Texas as a good field in which to locate one or more of their colonies. "When I started to tell them about the

ALL AMERICA GET THE CUP?

Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent accidents during the progress of the international cup race in Ireland on July 2. The cost of policing the course will amount to about $35,000. This cost will be borne by the promoters of the race, and it is understood, has already been arranged for. An official statement has been issued by the Automobile Club of Great Britain and Ireland showing how thoroughly the route will be safeguarded and how little chance there will be for accident. "Fears have been expressed that some of the accidents which have characterized the first day of the Paris-Madrid race may be repeated in the international cup race. It is desirable to explain, therefore, that the latter contest will be held under totally different conditions to the one that in the race in France over two hundred cars competed. Moreover, cars which took place on the continent. In the first place, it must be remembered that varying times and speeds were inexplicably mixed up, with the result that there was a continuous passing and re-passing at various points of the course. In the international cup race all the twelve cars will be approximately of the same speed, and there will not be in consequence, the constant overtaking of one car by another. It is manifestly impossible to properly protect the total distance of 800 miles between Paris and Madrid by police and soldiers. In the Irish course, however, the whole length of the road upon which the race will take place is only ninety-three miles, and it has already been arranged that the road shall be kept clear by 7,000 police officers, assisted by troops and city stewards. These will have strict instructions to keep spectators off the roads and on the other side of the walls, ditches and hedges bordering the course, and away from corners altogether. Another source of danger in the Paris and Madrid was the character of the surface. A constant cloud of dust hid the sharp corners and prevented drivers from seeing the gulleys, which are occasionally cut across the road. In Ireland, however, arrangements have been made to prevent this. The road corners will be treated to prevent the dust being raised. The whole road throughout the course will be put into proper condition for high speed racing cars. On the other hand, the Irish race there are several dangerous railway level crossings. There are no level crossings on the Irish course. It may be further stated that the drivers of the cars in the international cup race are already carefully studying the Irish route. They will be before the beginning of July know it in all its details and will be thoroughly familiar with the speed and character of the road. It will be negotiated. It will be seen therefore, that almost every cause which contributed to the accidents during the first stage of the Paris and Madrid race will be absent from the international cup race. There is no little fear that the mishap which started and alarmed the public in connection with the Paris-Madrid race will repeat themselves in Ireland. Spectators of the French race state that, owing to cars passing in a continuous stream at one minute intervals the road was a perfect fog of dust, and it was impossible for the drivers to see where they were going. This was the cause of several collisions and accidents in the race. In the Irish race there will be only twelve cars, starting at longer intervals, and consequently the dust danger will be reduced to a minimum. The enormous importance of the international cup race to the automobile industry in this country cannot be overestimated. Should an English car win the race this year, it will give a great impetus to the English trade, and many orders for cars which would otherwise be sent to the continent will be placed in this country. The international cup race will also take a larger number of visitors to Ireland than any previous event held in that country, and the arrangements which are being made there for the reception of the automobilists are on a most extensive scale. Four great nations will be represented. Teams of three will represent each nation. The teams and their colors will be—American Team, Red—Alexander Winton (Winton). Percy Owen (Winton). Louis P. Moorer (Peerless). English Team, Green—S. F. Edge, (Na-

STRONG DEFENSE OF WATER BARRELS

MRS. STODDARD REPLIES TO CITY PHYSICIAN

Dr. R. Chambers, city physician, stirred up a hornets' nest when he attacked the W. C. T. U. water barrels in his interview published in Sunday's Telegram. Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, the W. C. T. U. leader of Texas, and one of the most enthusiastic advocates of the water barrels, when seen by a Telegram reporter today, expressed herself as surprised at Dr. Chambers' attitude. "But the most astonishing objection raised against the free ice water tanks of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union," said she, "was the lack of information displayed with regard to their construction." "Is the doctor a stranger in these parts, or does he never walk our two principal streets, Houston and Main, or, having eyes, does he see not, that he should have said the following: "The consumptive, or, for instance, a patient who may just be in the proper stage of smallpox, drinks from one of the cups at the public water barrel; he does not empty the cup in the draught which he has quaffed and the remainder is turned into the barrel. The saliva from the mouth of that person, though small amount it may be, is turned into the barrel and the water therein becomes infected." "Now, our water tanks were kept upon the streets four months last year, June, July, August and September, and the good doctor never saw them! For his benefit I will give a description of how they are made. A large barrel is placed in a cypress tank and packed about with sawdust to keep the ice. Then the barrel is lined with galvanized iron, even the cover to the tank is lined and packed; this cover is fastened to the tank with a strong hinge. Fits into the barrel closely and is secured with a strong padlock, the key to which is carried only by the person refilling same with fresh ice and clean water. The water in the barrel is such that no water from any cup, no rain, not even a particle of dust, can get into the water to contaminate it. There are doubtless water barrels in this city answering to the description of the city physician, but they did not evolve from the brain of a white ribbon housekeeper!"

TO PAY MORE FOR ICE

Forty-cent rate to be generally effective July 1. On and after July 1 residents of Fort Worth who have been paying 40 cents per hundred pounds for ice will have the satisfaction of knowing that their neighbors cannot buy the commodity from their dealers at a less rate than they. In other words, the advance which was referred to in The Telegram several weeks ago, has become generally promulgated. On June 1 the order became effective as far as certain local dealers were concerned, while others did not post their notices until a few days ago, to take effect July 1. The advance, it is claimed, is due to the general increase in the cost of producing and putting on the market the frozen crystal so essential at this particular season of the year. The 40-cent rate is an increase of 15 cents per hundred. Persons with refrigerators having a capacity under 100 pounds will not be charged more than the 40 cents per hundred rate. Hereafter the price of ice has been 25 cents per hundred; 15 cents for fifty pounds, or, at the rate of 40 cents per hundred if the sale amounted to less than fifty pounds.

AMERICANS ARE SEEN EVERYWHERE

Annual Influx of Tourists to England Is Now Apparent. Queen Alexandra's Weakness for Fatherland

Special Cable to the Telegram. BY PAUL LAMBERT. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) London, June 29. As the season advances it becomes more and more apparent that Americans are capturing England in a social sense, that is to say...

The number of American girls who come over here and eventually arrange to stay permanently as the wives of the aristocratic Englishmen is steadily gaining. And of course there are many wealthy Americans who have established themselves here and from an integral part of English society, and the number of those who have grown so much recently as to make it possible the formation of a "Society of American Women in London," which is in a most flourishing condition.

Then there must be added another class of American invaders—the summer tourists. They are here this year in full force than ever, and in certain hotels you hear nothing but the American tongue.

A large section of the tourists seem to belong to quite a humble class, such as the English would never dream of spending their holiday abroad.

This is taken as a striking demonstration of America's abounding prosperity. In the field of sport, the American invasion is also in evidence, an American cricket team has come over to challenge English players on their own ground; three American chauffeurs are now in Ireland preparing for the great Gordon Bennett cup race; an American champion is showing them how to play lawn tennis at Chiswick; and no doubt at the forthcoming Henley Regatta, American rowers will be as well represented as in previous years.

The theatrical world has not escaped the invasion, especially in the department of vaudeville and musical comedy, while in music America is represented by Souza's band and several celebrated singers appearing at Covent Garden Opera House.

To complete the list, an American bishop is in this country, and has several times preached from Anglican pulpits.

Although Queen Alexandra has been domiciled in England for forty years, and is for all practical purposes an English woman, yet she still has a warm affection for her native land, Denmark.

Every year she pays a visit to Copenhagen for the celebration of her father's (King Christian's) birthday, when there is a family gathering, which generally includes King George of Greece and the Dowager Empress of Russia.

Recently the queen gave quite a charming demonstration of her patriotic feeling. She gave an audience to Mr. Elith Reumart, the Danish actor, who recited before her majesty some of Hans Anderson's fairy tales, in English.

Mr. Reumart first appeared before Queen Alexandra at Copenhagen and it was there that she gave him the invitation to come to London.

Mr. Reumart says that at Buckingham Palace the queen was "most sweet and kind," greeted him in Danish and after the recital said she would send him to Ashton, the concert agent, who would give him engagements in America.

It is interesting to note that two years ago Mr. Reumart went to America, where he gave his Anderson recitals, but his audiences were generally limited to his own compatriots, owing to his inability to speak English.

He thereupon set himself to learn English, and has succeeded so well as to win approbation from the Queen of England.

Lord Kintore, whose name has come before the public in connection with a company case at the law courts, is a peer of ancient Scottish lineage, and his rather inappropriate hobby is applied mechanics.

He recently visited America, and came back a firm believer in American supremacy in machinery, especially oil and electric motors.

He gave it as his opinion that the development of the horseless vehicles will be in the United States.

The Earl of Kintore, who is fifty years of age, married a daughter of the sixth Duke of Manchester, and his heir is Lord Falconer, a lieutenant in the Scotch Guards.

Lord Kintore has held several important posts, including Captain of the Yeoman of the Guard, Governor of South Australia, and First Conservative Whip in the House of Lords.

One of his ancestors was a famous field-marshal in the Prussian army at the time of the Seven Years' war, and the present earl wears the German Order of the Red Eagle, which, however, was conferred on him personally.

A marvelous feat has just been performed by the theatrical company which is now playing J. M. Barrie's successful play, "The Admirable Crichton," at the Duke of York theatre.

This was the transference of the whole company of eighty persons, with costumes, scenery and properties, to Paris after the Saturday night's performance, giving a performance on Monday night at the Renaissance theatre, and returning in time for the show in London on Tuesday night.

What are known as "flying matinees," when a company will travel to provincial cities, give an afternoon performance, and fly back to town for the evening show, are common enough in the theatrical business in England.

But a trip to Paris under the circumstances described is quite unprecedented. The play was enthusiastically received at the Theatre de la Renaissance, where the audience consisted chiefly of English and Americans.

It is a mighty amusing place, and has had a very long run. The principal parts are taken by Mr. H. P. Lewis, Sir Henry's son, and Miss Irene Vanburgh, two of the cleverest people on the London stage.

The author is at present the most successful dramatist in England. Besides "The Admirable Crichton," "Quality Street" has been running at the Vaudeville for quite a year, and as there is no prospect of either play failing to attract for months to come, it is quite possible that he may have three plays running at the same time simultaneously in the Autumn, when a new piece of his is to be produced.

The interesting announcement comes from America that a marriage will shortly take place between Lord Begot and Miss Lillian May of Maryland.

Lord Begot, who is forty-seven and a bachelor, is the fourth son of a line which boasts that it held lands in Staffordshire before the Norman conquest, and that the Stanfords of the Stanfords, are a mere junior branch of the family.

Lord Begot formerly had a commission in the South Staffordshire Regiment and afterwards in the country regiment of Yeomanry.

Authorities of Foundlings' Home Still Have Trouble.

Special Cable to the Telegram. (Copyrighted, 1903, by W. R. Hearst.) London, June 27.—If the immortal author of "Oliver Twist" were now alive he would be delighted to observe that the problem of selecting names for foundlings is still as embarrassing as it was when Mr. Bumble invented the alphabetical order scheme. The city guardians are wrestling with it because of complaints from great people that their names have been bestowed upon the city's waifs without their permission.

It will be remembered that recently a foundling boy was named Eric Farrar, and certain guardians said this was an unwarranted use to make of the late dean's name.

Once the names of two of the board's officers—Mr. Drake and Mr. Buncombe—were used, and a poor foundling is now struggling through the world with John Buncombe for his name.

In 1937 a girl was found on the steps of Bishopgate Church, and was given the marvellously ridiculous name of Victoria Marlborough, after the queen and because of the fact that the Bishop of Marlborough was at that time rector of Bishopgate. The bishop was highly indignant, and the name was changed to Victoria Bishop.

The Codfishers of Newfoundland. The isolation of this people does not appear so appealingly in the bald statement that in the remoter parts they use spinning-wheels and hand looms, cure the sick with charms, never saw a brick or horse, have faith in mermaids, sing the West Country ballads of the sixteenth century, and argue, like enough, that hell is or is not at the center of the earth, as it appears in the simple case of the maid of Punch Bowl Harbor, who came into the surgery one raw, black June night with a gust of wet wind.

"I'm Tim Hood's maid, zur," she gasped, "an' I'm just come from the Punch Bowl in the bait skiff."

She stood with her back against the door, one hand still on the knob, and the other shading her eyes—a slender girl with a shawl thrown over her head, and now dripping. Wisps of wet hair clung to her forehead, and raid drops lay in the flushed hollows of her cheeks.

"And what's the matter with you?" the doctor asked sympathetically. But he did not need to ask—the flush and gasp told the story quite well enough; she was dying with consumption.

"Me lights is floatin' zur," she answered.

"Your lights?"

"Ay, zur," laying a hand on his chest. "They're floatin' wonderful. I've been tryin' t' kape un down, zur, but 'tis noa use."

The doctor raised his eyebrows. What had the maid been doing to keep her lungs in place, he wondered.

"I've been taking shot, zur, t' weight un down," she went on; "but, zur," with a sigh, "'tis noa use, at all. An' Jim Roth's my man," she added hurriedly.

"I'm t' married to un when he comes up from the Labrador. Does you think, zur—"

She paused in embarrassment, perhaps, for it may be that it was the great hope of this maid, as it is the hope of all true Newfoundland women to live to be the mother of sons.

"Ay," said the doctor.

"Does you think, zur," she whispered, "that you can cure me afore the Labrador fleet comes home?"

The great contest has reached the twenty thousand mark. Read about it.

LADIES AND CHILDREN INVITED

All ladies and children who cannot stand the shocking strain of laxative syrups, cathartics, etc., are invited to try the famous Little Early Risers. They are different from all other pills. They do not purge the system. Even a double dose will not gripe, weaken or sicken. Many people call them the Easy Pill. W. H. Howell, Houston, Texas, says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Lafayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. Sold by all druggists.

A COSTLY MISTAKE

Blunders are sometimes very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you'll never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, Liver or Bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. See at W. J. Fisher's and the Reeves Pharmacy.

Dancing Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, Lake Eric Auditorium. Round trip 25 cents.
