ST. PETER'S CHIMES SOUND LEO'S REQUIEM

General Public Given an Opportunity to Pay Tribute of Devotion to Late Pontiff as the Body Lies in State

CROWDS GATHER AT GATES OF CATHEDRAL

Impressive Ceremonies Commence—Bier Is Raised High So That All May See Visage of Departed Head of the Church

ROME, July 23.—Today the form of Leo XIII lay in state in the basilica of St. Peter, while thousands of persons from the ordinary walks of life filed past to pay their last tributes of love and veneration.

The impressive ceremonies of yesterday were witnessed by only a favored few, notably aristocrats and high clergy, but today the entire public was given an opportunity.

Many remained on the piazza throughout the hot night in order to gain place at the head of the line. By 5 o'clock this morning there was a crowd of several hundred, which increased by 6 o'clock to several thousand.

Elaborate preparations had been made to guard against accidents in the crush. All crossing streets were cleared of vehicles, leaving them free for foot passengers, while six ambulance stations have been erected, including one at the entrance to the piazza, and another beside the door of St. Peter's.

ST. PETER'S CHIMES SOUNDED

Exactly at 6 o'clock the bells of the great Catholic cathedral began tolling mournfully, a small bell beginning in high notes and the chimes running down the scale until a stroke completed the minor chord. At the sound of the first bell two regiments of Italian grenadiers marched smartly across the piazza to the stone steps and to the east portico, entered for the first time in years by Italian troops.

Within the church temporary railings had been erected to keep the people in a straight line leading directly to the bier. This was the center to which all eyes turned. The body lay on a catafalque, ten feet high, so that all could see it. The body was slightly inclined, with head to the right and feet to the left. The bier was facing the passing throng. The bier had a chalky whiteness and appeared to be unnaturally shriveled. It was robed in the full vestments, as the Roman public knew the pontiff in life. Around the bier burned half a dozen candles, while on each side stood the noble guards in full armor, with their swords scabbarded and acolytes, softly intoning invocations.

COULD NOT KISS THE FEET

The crowd pushed against the iron railings, separated the chapel from the main portion of the church, but those who expected to kiss the slippers felt disappointed, as the officials adopted precautionary measures, so that the lower extremities of the body were half a yard back from the iron railing.

"GOD REST HIS SOUL"

At 9:30 solemn pontifical requiem mass was celebrated in St. Peter's for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII. The crowd kept constantly moving within the wooden barriers, but other entrances were provided for those desiring to assist at the mass on the other side of the church. Several thousand people were present, although in no vast a church, capable of containing 70,000 persons, they appeared to be a mere handful, especially as they were all standing.

ISAAC FORD HANGS HIMSELF IN JAIL

Negro Brought From Sherman for Safekeeping Fashions Death Cord Out of Blanket Today

CHEATS EXECUTIONER BY INGENUOUS METHOD

Fellow Prisoners Find Him Dead, Hanging to Crossbar of His Cell—First Admitted He Committed Criminal Assault, Then Denied It

Isaac Ford, aged 19, a negro, brought to Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon from Sherman, for safe keeping, hanged himself to death in the Tarrant county jail this morning at 11 o'clock. The negro was accused of committing a criminal assault on Lillian Moreland, the 7-year-old daughter of a Sherman citizen.

Ford succeeded in hanging himself by ingeniously arranging a two-foot piece of rope, which he made himself by tearing a blanket into strips, and then plating the strips. The negro prayed all morning and became so vehement in his devotions that other negroes confined in the same department with him gathered in a group as far from him as possible. From where they stood they could not see him. His cell was No. 4, in department No. 1, on the second floor and in the west wing of the jail.

TORNADO WORK IN NEW JERSEY

It Lasts Three Minutes While Sweeping Across the City of Paterson, Killing Three People

MANY ARE INJURED FAMILIES HOMELESS

It Mows a Path of Destruction Four Hundred Feet Wide From the Southwest to the Northeast—Streets Are Strawn With the Wreckage

PATERSON, N. J., July 23.—A terrific tornado crossed this city yesterday afternoon and, though in its fury it lasted only three minutes, three people were killed and many were seriously injured. One house was blown down, and twenty or more were unroofed, while great damage was done to trees, fences and awnings. The wind and rain began at 3 o'clock. By 3:30 it had become a hurricane. At 750 Main street a dozen men were jacking up a house. The house collapsed and Joseph Van Dam, one of the workmen, was instantly killed. Three other workmen were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the hospital, as were several others in different parts of the city. The patients in the St. Joseph hospital became panic-stricken and the nurses had great difficulty in calming them.

Two thousand men were set to work today clearing away the wreckage strewn in the streets by last night's storm. In summing up the tornado's work, Paterson today counts three deaths, 100 injured, fifty families made homeless and property loss estimated at $200,000. The tornado mowed a path of destruction 400 feet wide from the southwest to the northeast of the city.

Joseph Van Dam, 20 years old, was crushed to death under falling building. Richard Hancock, 8 years old, had the back of his head cut off by a falling roof. Mrs. Mary Nevin, 75 years of age, died from fright.

About twenty-five persons are under treatment at the hospital. It is expected that all will recover. John Saunders, a steel worker, is the worst injured, being badly cut about the body and face.

Mr. Lemora, who was sued by Mr. Rockefeller for trespass, lives in Brandon, a former lumbering community, now entirely surrounded by Mr. Rockefeller's lands. By the court's order he is practically confined to his own dooryard, although he may use the public highway which leads to the railway.

WORLD'S FAIR GATEWAY

Chief Designer Is Engaged Now on the Plans for Structure

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 23.—Chief Designer Masquary is engaged on plans for the main gateway to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, which will be located at the north end of the grand court. The structure will be massive in proportions, 75 feet high, 300 feet long and 60 feet wide. Its form will be capital "U" with the open side toward the cascade gardens at the opposite end of the court. The center of the "U" will be a double colonnade of Doric columns, coupled in pairs and surmounted by monumental architecture. Visitors to the World's Fair will pass between the columns to gain entrance to the court. Wings of the structure will be given up to the toilet, restaurant and other conveniences. These wings will be two stories high and on both floors concessions will be located. The entire composition will cost between $50,000 and $50,000.

SAID HE WAS INNOCENT Telegram readers will remember that this paper printed an interview with him yesterday in which he explained that he was coerced into telling the Grayson county officers that he was guilty. He said that he was innocent and was confident that he could establish the fact. When the negroes in the cell with him found the body they set up a clamor that soon brought Jailer Roy and some visitors at the jail, including Jeff D. McLean, running upstairs to ascertain the cause of the disturbance. Mr. McLean took out his pocketknife and cut the negro's body down. Some of the negro prisoners then carried it out of the cell and down stairs. Undertaker Robertson took charge of the body and is holding it awaiting instructions from the sheriff of Grayson county.

STOCK YARDS, NORTH FORTH WORTH, TEXAS, JULY 23, 1903.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS:

Our market opened Monday with prices fully steady at last week's close and prices throughout this week have been better on both cows and steers. Good cows have not been plentiful. We could use a great many more fat cows and heifers. Receipts of veal calves have been light and prices have been some higher.

The top prices for steers were $4.10, with a good many selling along $3.75 to $3.90. Top cows were $3.00, with a number of loads selling at $2.35 to $2.55; bulk at $2.25.

HOGS.

The receipts have been light and prices have ruled lower in sympathy with the decline at all the Northern markets. We will say to our customers that your top hogs will sell for 10c to 15c per hundred more than tops in Kansas City. We sold top hogs yesterday at $5.65, against $5.45 tops in Kansas City.

We quote today top hogs, $5.50; mixed, $5.45 to $5.50.

On or after August 1st, this Company will be known as Cassidy Bros. - Southwestern Live Stock Commission Company. Write or wire us for any information.

Yours very truly,

HEAT RECORD GOES UP ANOTHER DEGREE
 Yesterday was the hottest day that Texas has had this year. Not only was the heat record broken again in Fort Worth, but the average temperature throughout the state and also the highest temperature for any place in the state for the year were broken.

The temperature in Fort Worth went up to 98 degrees yesterday, which is the highest that has been registered here this year. At 2 o'clock yesterday it was 95, which was very close to the record, but a little breeze at that time nearly spoiled the chances for a record.

About 4 o'clock, however, the indicator on the thermometer took a sudden rise and blistered the 98 degree mark.

Nine of the thirty-nine stations reporting to Fort Worth as a center for the cotton region bulletin had a maximum of 100 or over. Of these, three reported over the 100 mark. The hottest temperature that has been registered in Texas this year was at Henrietta, where the thermometer went to 108 degrees, which beats the 106 which El Paso reported some time ago.

Oklahoma Territory was hot again yesterday. Ten stations reported to Oklahoma City with an average of 102 degrees. Two degrees hotter than the day before. Oklahoma City itself had an even 100 yesterday.

The weather for today and tomorrow, fair and continued warm.

The United States climate and crop service report, which is issued at Georgetown, has the following to say about the effect of last week's weather on the different crops of Texas and also on the general condition of them:

Wheat.—Conditions—Steady, warm weather continued throughout the week, the average temperature being about normal. There was a very large percentage of sunshine. Light and widely scattered showers occurred in the eastern portion and heavy rainfall over the Panhandle. Amarillo received over three inches of rainfall. Drouth continues over the western portion and extends as far east as the western counties of the north-central portion.

Cotton.—The weather conditions were again ideal for cotton, and the plants continued to make very rapid growth. The plants are now fruiting more rapidly and the bolls are reported to be opening in Duvall county. Fields were rapidly cleaned and the crop is now generally free from grass, except a very small acreage in the northern portion, which has been abandoned.

Wheat, Rye and Oats.—Conditions were very favorable for thrashing and the work progressed rapidly. Wheat, rye and fall oats continue to turn out well, but spring oats are making a light yield.

Sugar Cane.—Sugar cane is in first class condition.

Miscellaneous.—In the western portion and the western counties of the north-central portion forage crops are suffering from drouth. Otherwise they are generally in excellent condition. Sorghum is being cut in the south-central portion. Melons are generally plentiful, except along the coast. Sweet potatoes are doing well and will soon be ready for use. Stock continues in good condition.

Wheat.—Conditions—Steady, warm weather continued throughout the week, the average temperature being about normal.

Cotton.—The weather conditions were again ideal for cotton, and the plants continued to make very rapid growth.

Wheat, Rye and Oats.—Conditions were very favorable for thrashing and the work progressed rapidly.

Sugar Cane.—Sugar cane is in first class condition.

CUIDAD BOLIVAR IS CAPTURED

SOLEDAI, Venezuela, Tuesday, July 21.—Cuidad Bolivar was captured at 11 o'clock last night after fifty-two hours of desperate struggling and much carnage, during which great courage was shown on both sides. The jail and capitol were the centers of the most severe fighting. Many men were killed and wounded there. When these places were captured only a few blocks behind the capitol remained to be taken.

At midnight the fusillade ceased and the silence of death reigned all the rest of the night over Ciudad Bolivar. No living persons were seen on the streets.

Associated Press followed the general commanding the government troops, who met General Gomez, Venezuela's commander-in-chief, near the capitol and confirmed the announcement that the capitol, jail and all the rest of the city were in the hands of the government soldiers.

General Gomez informed the correspondent that the residents of the capital were worthy a better cause. That such yard was a rampart, covered by the dead, and that General Nichols, Bolivar, the last representative of the revolution, his two lieutenants, Generals Palo and Guzman, and General Francisco Varquez have been taken prisoners. Ciudad Bolivar appears to have been swept by a cyclone accompanied by a conflagration.

J. R. TATUM IS IN JAIL
 He is Accused of Defrauding the First National Bank of a Large Sum

J. R. Tatum was brought to Fort Worth yesterday, evening from Dabhart and lodged in jail to await trial on a charge of forgery. He was practicing law at Dabhart when caught.

About six months ago, it is charged, he presented a certified check at the First National bank for $2,000. The check was honored. The man that presented the check drew $800 and departed. Later on the bank officers learned that the check originally was for $2,500, and had been raised to $2,500.

Ever since the crime was committed the sheriff's force has been on the look out for the check-raiser.

Sheriff Honea today declined to permit a reporter for The Telegram to interview Tatum.

CULBERSON IS INVITED
 Senator May Enjoy Hospitality of the Spanish War Veterans

C. A. Culberson command, Spanish War Veterans, will give a big smoker to his friends at the armory in the basement of the courthouse tomorrow evening.

An invitation to Senator Culberson, after whom the command takes its name, has been extended and it is thought likely that the senator, who is understood to be in Dallas at present, will come over and enjoy an evening with the command.

A line program has been arranged, and whether the senator comes or not there will be a general good time.

At a recent meeting of Benjamin Hamrick's family in Webster Springs, W. Va., it developed that the aggregate stature of Mr. Hamrick and his eight sons was sixty-two and one-half feet. The father stands six feet five and one-half inches, and the "sawed off" of the family, a son named William, is six feet one inch. The member of this remarkable family range in weight from 165 to 200 pounds.

TURNER AND GREEN RELEASED BY JUDGE

Pit Turner and W. B. Green, who were charged by E. B. Cory with trying to "work" him by means of a knife trick, were permitted to go free in the corporation court this morning. The prisoners produced two witnesses who testified that they were in bed asleep at the time the alleged trick was attempted, and that it was on this testimony Judge Prewett let them go.

J. Huffman, a bartender, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of assault. He tapped T. H. O'Neill on the pate with the butt of a buggy whip yesterday afternoon and raised a lump that looked like a hard-boiled egg. O'Neill is charged with using abusive language. His case went over until tomorrow.

When the case against A. Ralph, charged with making a ferocious attack on the flowing-bowl, was called, a sickly man past middle age stood up. "I worked hard all day, cleaning a hot boiler, and when I was through and was going home I was overheated and fell down," was his explanation. His case was passed until tomorrow.

W. W. Welch was fined for intoxication and O. L. Boyce for sleeping in a public place.

"Bill" Thompson did not respond when his name was called and his bond was forfeited.

MORGAN'S MEN REMEMBER FORTY YEARS AGO

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 23.—Although few recall the fact, it is nevertheless interesting to note that today was the fortieth anniversary of the capture of the daring Confederate leader, General John Morgan, July 23, 1863. There are many yet living in Cincinnati and vicinity who remember the great Morgan raid through Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana in one of the darkest periods of the civil war. The news of Morgan's coming excited the greatest alarm. Militia companies were hastily formed and equipped, good housewives were busy getting up stores of sup-

STREET COMMISSIONER WAGING WAR ON WEEDS

Street Commissioner Renfro has started a war on weeds. With plow and weed cutter and a large force of men he is clearing the streets of the Union Depot addition of the rank growths which modern science stamps as constituting a menace to the public health.

Health Officers McMichael and Shipp are lending valuable aid in the movement. From the Fifth ward the force will pass into the Seventh and thence other sections of the city will be visited in order within the next couple of weeks.

Heretofore, when the health officers requested property owners to cut weeds, they were met with excuses and the weeds were no use to cut the weeds on vacant lots and on the sidewalks while the city permitted weeds to flourish along the public highways. The city officers now are resolved to knock out this argument by seeing that the weeds which should be cut by the city are cut. It is a movement that deserves the encouragement of the citizens. A general war on the weeds should be started; it should be made a part of the agitation for a cleaner city.

On some of the streets already visited by the street commissioner's force the citizens, encouraged by the work done by the city, have cleared their premises of weeds.

"If all the citizens will unite in this movement we can soon clear the city of weeds," said Health Officer McMichael this morning.

ACTORS WILL GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

The Curtiss comedy company is going to church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Some of the members of this popular company claim that they go to church every once in a while, although it is doubtful if this applies to Mr. Hamner, whose diabolical maneuvers in the stock plays produced this far, at least, go far toward encouraging doubt in this regard in the minds of the roof garden patrons.

The roof garden company has accepted the invitation of Rev. Robert Hammond, pastor of Trinity church, Pennsylvania avenue and Hemphill street, who is local chaplain of the Actors' Church Alliance. Mr. Cotton said this morning: "Having been local chaplain for two years, I feel somewhat conspicuous, strictly in this city under the auspices of this excellent institution. We will try to make amends. My invitation extends to all actors and actresses who may be in Fort Worth when the services are held. After the morning prayer and litany, W. W. Heathcote and myself will deliver addresses on the religious and spiritual side of the theater. All citizens interested in the highest welfare of the stage will join us in public worship on this occasion."

AMPUTATION RECOMMENDED

But a Better, Safer Method Found
For twenty years I was an awful sufferer from Varicose veins and ulcers on my leg. For twelve winters I sat in a chair, my leg pained me so I could not lie down.
The doctors began to say I would never use it again.
Others advised amputating my leg to prevent gangrene from setting in.
One day I read of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I bought a bottle and commenced taking it.
And I surely believe if I had not taken Favorite Remedy would not be alive today. My leg healed up entirely and I am now well and strong.

A prominent physician of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in explaining the demand for this King of kidney, bladder and blood medicines, said: "Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy acts as a nerve and blood food. It has made many permanent cures of nervous debility, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, rheumatism and of the sicknesses peculiar to women, where other treatments have failed. For headaches, constipation and that run down condition there is nothing else half so good as this great kidney and liver medicine."

OUR TRADE IN POULTRY
More Than Forty-Two Head to Each Farm in the Country.

There are 5,739,000 farms in the United States, and, officially, 252,000,000 head of poultry, or over forty-two head of domestic fowls to each farm. This enumeration does not estimate chickens under three months old. It virtually ignores the great spring chicken supply. There are about 350,000,000 head of old and young chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys and other domestic fowls on the great farm of Uncle Sam. These fowls produce for the market annually $150,000,000 worth of poultry and $225,000,000 worth of eggs. In addition to this enormous output, which reaches the avenues of trade, fully 3-1-3 per cent more is consumed at home by the raisers of our chickens. Our poultry pay 1,500,000,000 dozen eggs for market. At 15 cents per dozen wholesale, it means $225,000,000. There still remains the great reserve for home consumption. The consumer at an average of 23 cents per dozen for eggs pays $330,000,000 for Uncle Sam's eggs alone. He also pays $300,000,000 for the poultry bought in the market. We produce annually more money value in eggs than in gold and silver combined, we have most of the money metals. The same is true of our yearly poultry output. Uncle Sam produced more poultry and eggs last year than the whole world together did in gold and silver combined. We have the most of the money metals. We use eggs, the baker uses eggs, the cotton factory uses eggs—oh! and lots of other people and industries use eggs. Wherever albumen is of value, there the egg goes, and we produce $8,000,000,000 of them for our commerce, domestic and foreign—National Provisioner.

It is one of the five great packing centers of the world and the second greatest jobbing center west of the Mississippi river."

THIS TRAIN IS TWO YEARS LATE

Gulf and Interstate Passenger Service Is to Be Resumed After Long Period of Delay Caused by Storm
Caught in the Flood of 1900. Tracks Before and After It Were Washed Away and It Has Remained on the Tracks Ever Since

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 23.—A train will arrive in Beaumont Sunday 1,900 days late. It is the Gulf and Interstate passenger, which left Galveston Sept. 8, 1900, and was caught by the storm. It has since been standing on the tracks, which is now connected with Beaumont. Many Beaumonters were refused in the train during the stated and were saved.

The Gulf and Interstate railway was a line between Galveston and Beaumont. It had not been in operation long when the storm of 1900 on the Texas coast destroyed Galveston and played havoc along the mainland coast. This train started out of Galveston Saturday morning, Sept. 8. It had quite a large number of passengers, as the service was the short line for communication between the port of Galveston and the lumber district of eastern Texas. When a little more than halfway between Galveston and Beaumont it was forced to stop, after having fought its way through the storm mile after mile. The tracks before it and behind it were washed out and what had once been a railroad was obliterated from the face of the earth. Refugees in that vicinity sought the shelter of the coaches, and were thus saved from exposure and from the death which was all about them. The train has remained on the portion of the track which was not washed out, and the effort to rehabilitate the road, recently commenced, has brought about a connection with Beaumont, so that this train, which has not heretofore been built or expected, is to resume its journey and arrive at its proper station in Beaumont thirty-four months after it started on its regular trip.

Not even its name has been given out, but it is declared the paper will be an eight-page affair, to be issued daily except Sunday, and will contain all the news, besides a magazine department devoted to matters of feminine interest. To avoid being "scooped," the womanly proposition is going to press a couple of hours later than their contemporaries.

TROLLEY TRAVEL IN TEXAS

The proposed interurban line from Sour Lake to Houston, regarding which there was a special dispatch in the Telegram yesterday, is worthy of more than a passing notice, as it is indicative of the possibilities of the future in regard to rapid transit in this state, through the medium of the trolley cars. Cross country travel by electric lines has not become general in this state, but two systems being now in operation—one between Sherman and Denison and the other between Fort Worth and Dallas. These have since been a success. They have long since passed the experimental stage and are money-makers for their owners, the crowded cars on every trip attesting the popularity of that class of travel.

Indians might properly be called the center of electric travel in this country. Radiating from that city are lines in every direction, and upon some of these cars operated are as comfortable and as handsome as the well polished cars of the Pullman company. So it will be in Texas in time. The Dallas Times Herald, recognizing the conditions which have been presented by trolley travel in Texas, discusses the question from a business standpoint, in which it says:

Interurban electric railways promise to play a very important part in the future development of this state. They are no longer an innovation, but a tried and true success. A few years ago the first electric interurban line to be constructed in this state was built by Northern capitalists from Denison south to Sherman. The venture was an entirely new one, and no one could foretell with any degree of certainty what would be the result of the heavy expenditure. Many predicted that the line would become insolvent within the course of a very few months, and suspend operations. But those predictions were wide of the mark. Within the course of a year the two steam lines operating between Sherman and Denison began to curtail train service between those two cities, and are now operating the least number necessary to accommodate through travel and the government mail contracts. Electric railway magnets of Ohio watched the progress of the 12-mile line in operation between Denison and Sherman, and an announcement was made within the course of a year or so that the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth would be connected by a modern electric railway. The line was built, and has been in operation several months. The volume of business has become so heavy that the facilities of the line are taxed to their utmost to accommodate the immense travel. Hourly, from 6 a. m. to 12 p. m., hardly a car goes over the line that is not filled with passengers.

The most gratifying feature resulting from the construction and operation of this line is the effect it has had upon the farm lands lying between the two cities, while the small hamlets have also come in for their share of building and improvement. These farms are now held by their owners at considerably higher prices than they were a few months ago, and some can not be purchased at any price. The unimproved lands are being largely sought after by truck farmers, who appreciate the value of the new line. Frequent stops are made by the cars, and the express rate is very low. The service enables the producer to have his vegetables on the market very early, and the rates are low enough to net him a nice profit on his produce. Large quantities of butter, cream and milk are also moving over the new line daily, as well as poultry, etc. The raiser has two large markets between which he may choose, and the prices are naturally better.

It is safe to predict that many more of these electric railway lines will be built in Texas within the next few years, and they are going to have a wonderful effect upon the development of the state.

The Galveston Cup has been drawn from its place of hiding and once more will be competed for by the Texas National Guard. Pleasant memories cluster about that old cup. It was given by the Chamber of Commerce of Galveston in 1888, and for nine years it was an active feature in military affairs. It has been trod and fought for, it has been the pride of successful contestants, and the admired of fair women. The Governor's Guards—that is the old organization of that name—of which Roberdeau was captain, won the cup in 1897, and it has been in the former captain's possession ever since. There was "something doing" at Austin when that victory was announced, and the boys of the company were given an ovation. Now the cup is to be again up for competition. There will be few of the Old Guard in the companies which will contest for it. For many of them taps have long since sounded, and others have advanced in business life and do not devote their time to the manual of arms. But the new generation is alive to the honors of such a contest, and the boys of the reorganized Texas National Guard will take a great interest in it. There is a new Governor's Guard to be reckoned with in this next contest.

There is not much prospect of a re-organization of the hope expressed in some sections, that sooner or later all religious creeds will eventually be solidified in one brotherhood—in one grand, universal organization—its efforts directed toward evangelizing the whole world, its teachings being one and the same as to every point in theology. The recent illness of the pope has called forth many expressions from Protestant divines, in which there was always a tribute to the personality of the dying pontiff. This tribute was not universal, but it was widespread, and it attracted the attention of those who hope that time will bring ONE CHURCH, and one only, to which all may show allegiance, and under the banner of which

"Christian soldiers, Marching as to war," may make the fight for doctrines which will be represented in the teachings of the single church. It is but natural to think that one church would be proper. Each organization subscribes to one command, "Thou shalt have none other Gods but me," and that God is the same. Fondly has the hope been cherished that one organization would be the result of the combination of all, but it will not be in this generation or the next. However, there is one comforting fact, and that is there is not so much secretarian animosity now as there has been and men are becoming broader, as the days go by. The illness of the pope brought this out more than anything else of recent years, and there was more of a Christian spirit shown by those who gave public expression regarding the head of the church.

Carter Harrison and the Cook County Democratic Marching club will invade Denver. The Harrison boom has been launched, and now he attacks the west, where Roosevelt has recently made his state to state canvass.

The Denison Herald has celebrated its fifteenth birthday. Editor Thompson is getting out a first class daily paper, and he is to be congratulated on the success he has made with the property. The Herald is one of the good papers in Texas—and it is in the right field. It publishes in the afternoon, printing today's news today.

Illness of his daughter prevented Former Governor Hogg making a speech at Wills Point in the Free State of Van Zandt, as it was announced he would. And the state is yet in suspense. All Texas awaits his effort, because all Texas wants to know what he is after this time—amendments or dress reform.

The war department has declined to allow joint maneuvers in Texas, but the department of the lakes will enjoy the privilege in Kentucky. Is it not possible that the joint maneuvers of the volunteer guard and the feudists in Breathitt county in the last few months is enough for one state in one year?

The events of every day are convincing to the people that the afternoon papers publish today's news today. The death of the pope was first chronicled in the afternoon papers, although the morning papers had made desperate efforts for several days to tell the story by saying, "It is believed the pope is dead."

An injunction has no terrors for Editor Irvine of the Central Texan in Robertson county. The publication of a prohibition order was enjoined, but the editor published it, ignoring the order of the court altogether. No ordinary court can stop a country editor in the publication of pay matter. Such "items" do not come every day.

By way of a gentle reminder, The Telegram will state that Texas offers $50,000 to the man who will discover a way to bring about race suicide in the family of Mr. Boll W. Eivil.

If Texas succeeds in putting the boll weevil out of business, what will the bulls do in the summer time for crop news, which will help advance prices?

CLEANINGS FROM... THE EXCHANGES

The Messenger announced the death of the pope twelve hours in advance of any other paper.—Galveston Messenger.

The people died Monday at 4:04 p. m., Rome time.—The Telegram and numerous other papers in Texas announced shortly after noon Monday. Did you get out an edition Sunday midnight?

The working people of Cleburne and others are reminded that but seven weeks or so remain until Labor Day.—Cleburne Chronicle.

Every day is labor day in this section of the state.

Rev. Walter E. Bentley has resigned the rectorate of an Episcopal parish in New York, to devote himself to the Actors' Church Alliance, the purpose of which is to bring the church and stage closer together. He argues that the stage might be made to be an adjunct of the pulpit in a way, or at least might be used to point a moral and adorn a tale that would be for good, whereas it is supposed, under bad influences, to sometimes be the other way.—San Antonio Express.

He might get them in the same building and alternate services and performances. This would bring them together and there would be some who would attend services for the first time in their lives.

Corsicana used 1,040,000 oysters last year and will be ready for more in valves in a short time.—Corsicana Courier-Light.

All a Corsicana man has to do is to open an oil valve, draw off a few barrels from his well and "bi-valves" for his stew.

Now that the pope is dead, we wonder what the newspapers are going to find to fill up with. But then what is the use of worrying? Time is a maker of news. There is the comet, for instance.—Mineral Wells Index.

Writing a tale of the comet should be easy, since it is said this one has two tails.

Although white paper and everything else that is utilized in the making of a newspaper has advanced in price since the Chronicle started, the price of subscription, Texas has cut its price of paper, and some of them have even found it necessary to put on extra pages in order to retain a fast-diminishing subscription list. Quite a tribute to the "Youngster," isn't it?—Houston Chronicle.

The "youngster" happens to be in the right field. The afternoon newspaper is the paper for the people. It is the paper they read and the paper they can enjoy.

Gradually the increase in the price of printing paper is beginning to exercise its influence. In some cities we notice that the Sunday newspapers have increased in price. At present the five leading newspapers of San Francisco have notified their subscribers that an increase in the subscription rates must be made.—Austin Tribune.

While all other states have increased prices, Texas morning dailies have reduced because of the growing popularity of the afternoon paper.

Now it is in order for the Fort Worth Telegram to speak in defense of junketing congressmen. It can defend them by pointing to the precedent set them by the president of the United States, or by the Texas railroad commission, or by the congressmen who go to and from Washington on free passes. It is also in order for the Waco Times-Herald to call for the truth.—Tyler Courier.

GRAUSTARK By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON Copyright, 1901, by Herbert S. Stone

SYNOPSIS. Grenfall Lorry, a wealthy American globe-trotter stumbles into acquaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair get left at the station when the Fleet stops for repairs in West Virginia. Lorry tries to hold the train at the next town. He hires a wagon to drive them to the intervening four miles. They catch the train, Lorry learns the young lady's name is Miss Guggenlocker and her companions are her uncle and aunt. They arrive in Washington and Lorry is asked to breakfast with the trio. They leave for New York. Lorry spends a day trying to work, but gives it up and rushes to New York, hoping to catch a farwelled glimpse of Miss Guggenlocker before she sails. Just as the Kaiser Wilhelm steams away he catches sight of her and throws a kiss from the tips of his fingers. To his great surprise the gesture is returned. Lorry joins his old friend Harry Anguish, an American artist, in Paris. Graustark and his capital, Edgewood, are located by a guide-book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenlockers there. Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glimpse of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel, signed Sophie Guggenlocker, inviting him to visit her next day. In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the court of the Princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the abductors red-handed. Following the conspirators, Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition, she is Miss Guggenlocker. Danno, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He tells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. Lorry quarters in the castle. The princess recognizes the gesture is returned. Graustark is bankrupt and owes the neighboring principedom of Aphax $20,000,000. The creditor demands cash or thecession of the richest districts of Graustark.

(Continued From Yesterday.) "I leave the answer to your tender imagination. There was a long pause. "May I ask when you expect to leave Graustark?" she asked somewhat timidly.

"Why do you wish to know?" he asked in turn. "Because I know how hopeless your quest has been. You have found Miss Guggenlocker, but she is held behind a wall so strong and impregnable that you cannot reach her with the question you came to ask. You have come to that wall, and now you must turn back. I have asked how soon?"

"Not until your princess bids me take up my load and go. You see, my lady, I love to sit beneath the shadow of the wall you describe. It will require a royal edict to compel me to abandon my position."

"You cannot expect the princess to drive you from her country, you who have done so much for her. You must go, Mr. Lorry, without her bidding. "I must?"

"Yes, for your presence outside that wall may make the imprisonment all the more unendurable for the one your love cannot reach. Do you understand me?"

"Has the one behind the wall instructed you to say this to me?" he asked miserably. "She has not. I do not know her heart, but I am a woman and have a woman's foresight. If you wish to be kind and good to her, go."

"I cannot," he exclaimed, his pent feelings bursting forth. "I cannot go." "You will not be so selfish and so cruel as to increase the horror of the wreck that is sure to come," she said, drawing back.

"You know, countess, of the life-saving crews who draw from the wrecks of ships lives that were hopelessly lost. There is to be a wreck here. Is there to be a life saver? When the night is darkest, the sea wildest, when hope is gone, is not that the time when rescue is most precious? Tell me, you who know all there is of this approaching disaster."

"I cannot command you to leave Edgewood. I can only tell you that you will have something to answer for if you stay," said the countess. "Will you help me if I show to you that I can reach the wreck and save the one who clings to it despairingly?" he asked, smiling, suddenly calm and confident.

"Willingly, for I love the one who is going down in the sea. I have spoken to you seriously, though, and I trust you will not misunderstand me. I like you, and I like Mr. Anguish. You could stay here forever so far as I am concerned."

couch a day or so before, he had entered none of the words that struggled to rush from his lips—the questions, the pleadings, the vows. Where was she now? Not in that gay crowd below, for he had scanned every figure with the hawk's eye; closeted again, no doubt, with her ministers, wearing her tired brain, her brave heart into fatigue without rest.

Her heart still trembled with the excitement of the daring attempt of the abductors and their swift punishment. Functionaries flocked to Edelweiss to inquire after the welfare of the princess, and indignation was at the highest pitch. There were theories innumerable as to the identity of the arch conspirator. Baron Dangloss was at sea completely. He cursed himself and everybody else for the hasty and ill timed execution of the hirings. It was quite evident that the buzzing wonder and intense feeling of the people had for the moment driven out all thought of the coming day of judgment and its bitter atonement for all Graustark. Today the castle was full of the nobility, drawn to its walls by the news that had startled them beyond all expression. The police were at work, the military trembled with rage, the people clamored for the apprehension of the man who had been the instigator of this audacity. The general belief was that some brigand chief from the south had planned the fabulous ransom. Grenfall Lorry had an astonishing theory in his mind, and the more he thought it over the more firmly it was imbedded.

The warm, blue coils from the cigar waited away into the night, carrying with them a myriad of tangled thoughts—of her, of Aphax, of the abductor, of himself, of everything. A light step on the stone floor of the shadowy balcony attracted his attention. He turned his head and saw the Princess Yelive. She was walking slowly toward the balustrade, not aware of his presence. There was no covering for the unrunk hair, no wrap about the white shoulders. She wore an exquisite gown of white, shimmering with the reflections from the moon that sealed the mountain top. She stood at the balustrade, her hands clasping a bouquet of red roses, her chin lifted, her eyes gazing toward the mountain's crest, the prettiest picture he had ever seen. The strange dizziness of love overpowered him. How long he reveled in the glory of the picture he knew not, for it was as if he looked from a dream. At last he saw her look down upon the roses, lift them slowly and drop them over the rail. They fell to the ground below. He thought he understood—the gift of a prince despised.

They were not twenty feet apart. He advanced to her side, his hat in one hand, his stick—the one that felled the Viennese—trembling in the other. "I did not know you were here," she exclaimed in half frightened amazement. "I left my ladies inside."

He was standing beside her, looking down into the eyes. "And I am richer because of your ignorance," he said softly. "I have seen a picture that shall never leave my memory—never! Its beauty enthralled, enraptured. Then I saw the drama of the roses. Ah, your highness, the crown is not always a mask."

"The roses were—were of no consequence," she faltered. "I have heard how you stand between two suitors and that wretched treaty. My heart has ached to tell you how I pity you."

"It is not pity I need, but courage. Pity will not aid me in my duty, Mr. Lorry. It stands plainly before me, this duty, but I have not the courage to take it up and place it about my neck forever."

"You do not, cannot love this Lorenz?" he asked. "Love him!" she cried. "Ah, I forget! You do not know him. Yet I shall doubtless be his wife." There was an eternity of despair in that low, steady voice.

"You shall not! I swear you shall not!" "Oh, he is a prince! I must accept the offer that means salvation to Graustark. Why do you make it harder with torture which you think is kindness? Listen to me. Next week I am to give my answer. He will be here in this castle. My father brought this calamity upon Graustark; I must lift it from the people. What has my happiness to do with that?"

PANTHERS LOSE BY CLOSE SCORE

Desperate Efforts in Last Two Innings Fail — McMurray Gets a Safe Hit Every Time

Fort Worth played in hard luck yesterday and lost the game to Waco by a close score. Jarvis pitched a fine game and held the visitors to a few hits, but those made off his delivery all came in the second, sixth and seventh innings, when they made three runs. Schatzke was out of the game again. His playing in the first two games of the series hurt his foot. He was in uniform, however, and was useful in the coach's box. He limped a little and will not go back into play again until he is entirely well. His playing in the two games in which he appeared held the team back, as he was unable to accept chances that a man with firm ankle could have taken with ease. McMurray played the star game of the day at the bat. He came up four times and met the ball twice for two baggers and twice for singles, thus securing a record of four hits for six bases out of four times at the bat. One of his two baggers he attempted to stretch into a triple, but a splendid throw of Butler's put him out at third. A little hard luck prevented Fort Worth from turning defeat into victory in the ninth inning. Combs and Peer both flied out and then Barrett drew a pass. Dewey made first on White's error. Barrett going to third on the play. Dewey promptly stole second. Jarvis waited until he had two strikes and three balls and then slammed a vicious liner toward third. Weiler happened to be right in the way of the ball and had but to close his hands over it. Had the hit been made a couple of feet farther to either side, both the runners would have scored and the game been won.

The complete score of the game: FORT WORTH AB R H PO A E McMurray, c. 4 1 4 10 0 1 Reitz, ss. 3 0 0 2 2 1 Dirsch, lb. 4 0 0 11 1 0 Poindexter, rf. 3 0 0 0 0 0 Combs, 2b. 4 0 0 1 2 0 Peer, 3b. 1 1 1 5 2 1 Barrett, if. 2 0 1 0 0 1 Dewey, cf. 4 0 0 1 1 0 Jarvis, p. 4 0 0 1 2 0 Totals 32 2 6 27 13 5

McMurray made two-thirds of the safe hits that the Panthers had. Dewey was the only man that Berheyden could foul on three strikes. Waco plays the fourth game of the series here today. Buchanan will pitch for the local team. Berheyden batted four times. The first time he made a sacrifice hit, and after that he failed to connect with the ball, striking out the other three times. The Fort Worth fielders were too anxious to make catches yesterday. Dewey and Poindexter bumped into each other in the sixth inning, and Peer and Jarvis collided in the next inning. Nothing came of either of these mistakes, as the ball was securely held each time.

DALLAS WINS THIS TIME Dallas defeated Corsicana at Corsicana yesterday by a score of 6 to 4. Maloney and Thebo made catches that robbed the Oil City team of almost sure runs. An error by Coyte allowed Dallas to score the winning runs.

AT THE ROOF GARDEN Last night witnessed the last performance of the Curtis Comedy Company in "Under City Lamps." Beginning tonight the company will present a three-act society comedy, "A Widow From Rome." Miss Dale, who has been taking a rest for the past three evenings, will appear as the widow. Hugh Morrison will have an entirely new list of songs and the McSpadden sisters will be seen in a change of specialties. A large theater party from Arlington will attend the performance tonight, returning on the 11 o'clock car. The roof garden has already attained the reputation as being the coolest and most desirable place in the city for an evening's amusement, and the opening performance this evening should draw a large crowd.

PUTNAM IS PROGRESSING Business Men's Club Believes the Telegram is Important Factor PUTNAM, Texas, July 22.—A well-attended annual meeting of the Putnam Progressive Club was held this evening, at which the following officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year: President, J. H. Surlis; vice president, D. C. Riley; treasurer, N. L. McCallum; secretary, J. A. Mansell; Directors—J. J. Sigler, F. P. Shackelford, J. M. Reed, Y. A. Orr and B. F. Brittain. President Surlis stated to the meeting that he had received a proposition from a strong financial institution to establish a bank in Putnam, and had obtained assurance from business men that it could be complied with.

R. T. Short offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, that the banks of the Putnam Progressive Club are tendered Colonel Harry M. Taylor, traveling correspondent of the Fort Worth Telegram, for his timely and effective assistance in promoting measures for the upbuilding of this city and the tributary country. President Surlis called attention to the extremely propitious advantages of unappreciated mineral waters in Putnam and the healthful climate, good roads and fertility of the land in the tributary territory, which along with the harmonious and earnest work of the club, would certainly result in securing large numbers of homeseekers and investors for this favored locality, and he urged the members of the club to do all in their power to extend the circulation of the Fort Worth Telegram, which was an important factor in sustaining the progressive measures, which had been so happily inaugurated for the development of this locality.

The funds in the San Francisco city treasury have been counted, and the treasurer, John E. McDougald, found to be a defaulter to the amount of one cent. It is due to Mr. McDougald to say that he tendered the amount of the deficit to the committee of the city council, but the members refused to accept it.

Lost Reason After LaGrippe.

Daughter Had Frequent Spasms.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Them Both.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for nervous disorders. It removes the cause and effects a speedy and permanent cure.

"I feel it my duty to let you know that your medicines have cured my little girl of nine, of spasms. She commenced having them at the age of three. Our family doctor said she would outgrow them but she did not. We took her to another physician who said her trouble was epileptic fits in a mild form. He did her no good either. She was so nervous she could hardly walk. As I had a ready used Dr. Miles' Nervine and found it a good remedy for myself I commenced giving it to my child. I gave her in all ten bottles of the Nervine and one of the Blood Purifier. That was over two years ago and she has not had an attack since we commenced the treatment. She is no longer troubled with nervousness and we consider her permanently cured. I enclose her picture. My mother-in-law lost her reason and was insane for three months from the effects of LaGrippe. Six bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine cured her. My sister has also taken it for sick headache with good results. We all thank you very much for your good medicines and kind advice. I don't think there is any other medicine half so good. I send my daughter's photograph so that you may see what a sweet little girl lives out in Arkansas."—MRS. HANNAH BARKETT, Springdale, Ark.

The Tyfold Collar

The picture shows how the collar is cut out on each side to allow for adjusting a necktie without springing the collar open. The collar comes close together in front, it keeps the tie in place and you don't see the cut-out part. Besides the tie is retained just over the button, which is also kept out of sight. Your summer comfort will be increased if you wear one, and you'll thank us for the style. Dealers sell them.

POOL STEADIES STEEL MARKET

Revival of Billet Agreement Has a Healthy Effect on the Trade, Says Writer in the Iron Age

SMALL WORKS ARE IN A WAY AFFECTED

Burning Question Is to What Extent Decline in Securities Will Check New Undertakings and Thus Adversely Affect the Demand

NEW YORK, July 22.—Commenting on the renewal of the billet pool, the Iron Age says it is generally acknowledged that the revival of the agreement will have a steady effect on the steel market, yet that market is much restricted when compared with what it was in olden days.

Only a small part of the steel tonnage reaches the open market. Many of the outside finishing mills, large and small, have their own steel works, which supply a considerable part of their requirements and sometimes furnish a slight surplus. The many important finishing mills have long time sliding scale contracts, which are not affected by recent happenings. Still, the welfare of many small works will largely depend upon the course which the associated steel makers, nearly all sellers of finished products of one kind or another, will pursue.

Regarding general conditions, the paper says:

The burning question is, to what extent the decline in securities will check new undertakings and thus adversely affect the demand?

In the iron trade proper the waiting attitude of buyers is being persisted in and is having its effect upon prices.

There have been repeated rumors that large consuming interests have begun to buy foundry iron for the second half, but investigation has shown them to be without foundation. What business is being done is confined to the covering of requirements for 30 days, which in the case of some smelters means pretty large blocks. But the real movement has not yet materialized.

There have been some pretty large sales of steel billets during the past two weeks, in some cases at low prices. The outside Bessemer plants meet a healthy demand. The outside basic open hearth plants are in a better position as to the basic pig market, where more ample supplies are available, notably from the South. The associated rail mills have thus far officially reported sales for 1904 aggregating 450,000 tons, which is not quite up to the figures which detailed reports of transactions would lead one to expect.

PAULIST FATHERS MEET

NEW YORK, July 22.—Seventeen representatives of the Paulist Fathers Order from various states have assembled at the mother house in this city for the annual conference called for by the rules adopted five years ago. At that conference Rev. Father Deshon, classmate of President Grant at West Point, was appointed superior general for the term of nine years. The community, an offshoot from the Redemptorists, was established in 1858, and since then its chief efforts have been in the line of its "missions to non-Catholics." It was stated that the convocate will consider only the matters bearing on the internal management.

THREE YEARS FOR A WOMAN

Case Similar to That of Oran Hoskins Develops in Coryell County, and a Conviction Follows

HOUSE IS ROBBED

WOMAN UNCONSCIOUS

Only Occupant of the Home

Present Was Found to Be Speechless—Doctors Did Not Believe Indications, and Investigation Led to an Arrest

GATESVILLE, Texas, July 22.—The jury returned verdict of guilty against Mrs. Tieman, charged with theft of fifteen $10 bills and some silver money from Henry Meyers and she was given three years in the penitentiary.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Tieman and husband lived in the house of Meyers, with Meyers and family. On May 13 Tieman, Meyers and his wife went to the field to work, leaving Mrs. Tieman alone at the house. About 10 o'clock in the evening Meyers went to the shop near the house to mend a break in his plow. Just about the time he got to the shop his children returned from school. Going into the house, they saw Mrs. Tieman lying on the floor. The little girl ran to the shop and told her father that Auntie was lying on the floor and he went to the house, thinking she had fainted, bathed her face, put a quilt under her head and sent his little girl to tell Tieman to come to the house, that his wife was sick.

It was not till the family came that the broken trunks were discovered. Meyers had about $156 in his trunk that was gone.

Mrs. Tieman feigned unconsciousness and was speechless. Next morning a stick of stove wood was found in the hall of the house with blood on it. Mrs. Tieman was speechless till the wounds on her face and head had healed up, and the doctor became convinced she was feigning.

Some two weeks ago she undertook to leave the county and while at Coppavas Cove awaiting the train Constable Layton, armed with a writ, searched her and found money of like denominations to that stolen from Meyers.

TO PRESERVE FOOD PRODUCTS

Manufacturers' Day at Convention of the Dairymen of Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 22.—Today was set apart as "Manufacturers' day" at the convention of the National Association of State Dairy and Food Commissioners, and was given over to addresses by manufacturers and dealers in food products. The speakers included, besides the state commissioners and chemists, a large number of representatives of leading manufacturers and dealers in preserved meats, favoring extracts, condensed milk, baking powder and other food products.

R. M. Allen, secretary of the food division of the Kentucky experiment station, opened the proceedings with an address on the regulation of the food industries. A response in behalf of "The Food Profession" was made by Graeme Stewart of Chicago. Dr. V. C. Price of Chicago spoke on the manufacture of favoring extracts, and the discussion was led by Joseph F. Blackburn, former dairy and food commissioner of Ohio. Other participants in the discussion were Joseph Burnett of Boston, E. S. Fowler of Dayton, Ohio; Professor R. E. Doolittle, Michigan's state analyst, and Professor J. O. Lallah of the Kentucky experiment station.

No less interesting were the proceedings of the afternoon session, the leading features of which consisted of addresses by representatives of the "great packing houses of Chicago" on "The Manufacture and Preservation of Meat Products," and an address on "Dairy Products," by former Governor W. D. Hoard of Wisconsin. The speakers were closely questioned in the discussions that followed their addresses by the dairy and food commissioners and the explanations elicited many interesting facts relating to the preservation of food products in general. The proceedings of the convention will be continued and concluded tomorrow.

The New Bureau Desires to Secure Uniformity of Standards

NEW YORK, July 22.—A joint committee appointed by the American Medical Association and the American Pharmaceutical Association to study and report on the plans of the proposed national bureau of medicines and foods, is said to have received information that a majority of manufacturers of proprietary medicines favor the movement. The object of the bureau is to secure uniformity of standards in medicines and foods. These manufacturers who are opposed to the movement say that the reputation of the individual house is sufficient guaranty of the quality of its product.

KODOL

Digests What You Eat

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: "After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured."

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammelled action.

A SNAKE FINDS ITS WAY IN MAIL POUCH

To the average wild animal of small size there seems to be nothing so comfortable as the United States mail sack. Although classed as unmailable matter, horned toads and other reptiles have a habit of getting into the pouches by some means of their own. To find a frog or a toad is no unusual matter for a clerk, and he thinks nothing more of the matter. But once in a while a moving mass inside the sack sends the clerk back to the other end of the car for a gun or some other weapon.

Such was the case of Clerk Lloyd on train No. 5, on the New Orleans and Houston line, on the 19th of this month. As he opened the pouch which was consigned to his care at Cades, La., from a small station near there, Potter, he was rather startled when a monstrous snake put its head out of the opening and, after winking its eyes at him slowly crawled outward and forward toward him. He stopped to see no more, but went to the far end of the car as fast as he could go. The snake had no modesty about coming out and soon the entire four feet of its length was spread on the floor with the mouth and the fangs pointed to Clerk Lloyd. After gazing at him a few minutes, Mr. Snake took a new notion into his head and went into a paper box which was drawn from the bag by the clerk and then reported to the head office of the division.

When asked this morning about strange things that get into the mail sacks, Superintendent S. M. Gaines said that the number of cases in his division was not very large. Horned toads, now and then a snake, and of course a lot of bugs have gotten into the bags. The number of cases in any one division does not amount to very much, but the dead letter office at Washington gets any amount of queer things. Animals and other such matter are classed as unmailable and are withdrawn from the bag by the clerk and then reported to the head office of the division.

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT Mrs. Southern fortunately was not seriously hurt. Her shoulder was bruised considerably and her arm was hurt. She was taken to her home, where she was attended by physicians.

When questioned by a reporter for The Telegram this afternoon she said: "The motorman could have prevented the accident very easily if he had applied his brakes before he got to me. I was just kept on coming. I motioned to him again and again that I was unable to get my rig out of the way, but he didn't seem to see that I was in trouble. Of course, I was busy engaged in trying to manage the horse, which was getting more and more frantic. I raised my arm several times in order to stop that motorman, but he still wouldn't understand. Just before the car struck me I thought that I was going to get out of the way, but it was too late, and the car crashed into me. I thought that I was going to be hurt severely and was quite surprised to find that I escaped with so little injury as I did, though, of course, it is not very pleasant to be in the condition that I am at present. I was not so frightened as one would think, but I was provoked that my horse should get away from me."

Probably no other small city in the state has shown the rapid growth and increased population that has come to North Fort Worth in the past two months. Before the advent of the packing-house industries and live stock improvements North Fort Worth was simply a large area of sloping land, with only an occasional house or farm to break the landscape.

NORTH SIDE AND ROSEN HEIGHTS Among the contemplated improvements there, to be an independent street car system, waterworks, new electric plant, several new stores, a bank and better streets. Rosen Heights, which is the principal residence addition, is to be connected with the immediate packing-house and exchange district by an independent street car system, which will run from the terminus of the traction company's line in front of the Exchange building to the rear of the Rosen Inn. There is also to be a new water tank erected on Rosen Heights, which will furnish water for the entire population with an abundance for an emergency should one occur. As soon as the large well which is being bored at the rear of the Rosen Inn is completed, plenty of water assured, a 200 horse power electric plant will be installed, which will not only furnish light for the new hotel, but will be used to light a part of the city and also to operate the new car line, which is to be built by the same parties.
