AN AIR SHIP SAILS SAFELY AT FRISCO

Quiet Inventor Startles the Natives by Flying Over the House Tops and Successfully Navigating Craft

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 19.—Dr. August Greth, who for a year past has been unostentatiously working on an airship, yesterday surprised the residents of San Francisco by sailing over their houses for two hours, directing his machine almost at will and demonstrating that in many essentials he has solved the problem of aerial navigation.

The ascension was made from a lot almost in the heart of the city, and Dr. Greth attempted to encircle a towering newspaper building about a mile eastward, but found the high currents too strong for his power. The winds carried him oceanward, and for a time he hovered over the vicinity of the Golden Gate, making various successful trials of his steering gear.

The currents threatened to take him out over the Pacific, and he decided to make a landing on the parade grounds of the Presidio military reservation, but made a mistake of letting out too much gas and he landed in the bay 200 feet from shore.

SMITH MIGHT FAVOR HEARST

West Texas Congressman Says He Has Not Decided On Presidential Choice

COLORADO, Tex., Oct. 18.—Congressman W. R. Smith, who recently returned from a long vacation in California, is now at home. He says he is looking for congress to be called together in the next twenty days. When asked his choice for the presidency, he said he had not yet fully made up his mind; that he might be for Hearst, though he was not yet quite ready to commit himself. He said he was no little amused at some of the newspapers and politicians saying that if Cleveland was nominated he would be elected. "So might Cabot Lodge, Mark Hanna, Tom Platt or any other prominent republican if the democrats would nominate them," he observed.

NEGRO PENAL COLONY

When interrogated as to his views on the proposition for congress to set aside some island as a penal colony for negroes convicted of a crime any where in the United States, as a partial settlement of the negro question, he said if the Philippine Islands should be selected the proposition would meet with his approval. He said that plan would sooner or later, in his opinion catch most of the negroes, and that the expense in shipping them would be nothing when compared with the expense the country incurs in trying to educate them and in convicting and punishing them for their many crimes. He also remarked that if they got worse as fast as the next ten years as they had in the past ten years, something would have to be done.

RECORDS OF THE MEMBERS ARE DESIRED

Lee camp proceedings yesterday were opened by Chaplain Fankay, after which minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Also the minutes of the session held October 4. These minutes were also approved.

Colonel Wynne, one of the committee appointed some month ago to investigate the descriptive lists of members of Lee camp, made a statement that the committee would complete its work and be ready to make report of their findings. The colonel urged that all members should see that they furnish proof of when they enlisted, and where, and what they did while in the army and how they got out of the army.

Chaplain Littlejohn reported that he had investigated the matter of purchasing several volumes of General Evans' history of the Confederacy, and stated that they could be purchased for $50.

Adjutant McConnell again urged that those who have not yet returned the tickets for the Wilson lecture, should do so at once. There are yet about 200 tickets unaccounted for. Commander Taylor said that unless the names of those who have not returned would be read out in open camp.

Mrs. Jordan, as secretary of Julia Jackson chapter, turned over to Lee camp $5 as the net results of conducting a lunch counter during the opening of Confederate park several weeks ago.

Judge C. C. Cummings referred the camp to a publication, entitled, "Some Truths of History," which he said was a vindication of the south against the Encyclopedia Britannica and other maligners. The history is by Thaddeus K. Oglesby of Georgia. Judge Cummings said the book was just the sort of literature that every Confederate should read.

Crosses of honor were bestowed upon W. T. Gray, J. G. Gaston, W. H. Rivers, A. W. Huffman, W. A. Lee, J. J. Massey, C. F. Young, W. E. Sellers, by Julia Jackson chapter.

Colonel Alg. Harris was added to the Dallas committee, whose work will be to arrange for bestowing honors upon the women of the south. Colonel Harris was added to the committee through the suggestion of Chaplain Fankay, who paid him a high compliment, because of his chivalrous acts.

Soon after the reunion of Confederates at New Orleans Lee camp was presented with a life-size portrait of General Lee. It was presented by the general passenger department of the Texas and Pacific Railroad company. It was hung in a conspicuous place on the wall, and has been there since. Chaplain Fankay yesterday suggested that it be turned to the wall, because, as he claimed, it did not resemble very much the likeness of the great southern general and consequently made a wrong impression on the lives of the children of the Confederacy as to just how General Lee looked.

There is no use kicking up trouble about this matter," said Captain Littlejohn, "and I think the portrait should stay where it is."

Judge Cummings was of the opinion that the picture did not look much like General Lee, and while he objected to it occupying a prominent position on the walls of Lee camp, he thought it would be a fair compromise to relegate it to the rear part of the hall.

The matter was finally dropped. The applications for membership of W. R. Matthews, H. M. Price, J. F. Acee, George L. Estro, James Sellers and R. N. Graves in Lee camp were favorably passed upon by the committee, and accepted by the camp yesterday.

Comrades J. C. Terrell, Captain Sam Evans and Judge C. C. Cummings made the following report on the death of J. T. Burt: Again R. E. Lee camp of Confederate Veterans mourns, and because of the death of one of its most beloved members, Comrade J. T. Burt, who, after a short illness, died at his home in Fort Worth on the 7th day of October, 1903, respected, honored and beloved by all. He was the son of McGuire and Mary A. Burt. Born in Holmes county, Mississippi, May 25, 1842. There and in Alabama his boy days were spent. He became a devoted Christian.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO HEAR "ELIJAH" DOWIE

Madison Square Garden Was Packed by Followers of Chicago Prophet

MRS. DOWIE ON PLATFORM

DEFENDS HER PRESENCE BEFORE THE CROWD

Campaign Against New York Sins Is Begun in Earnest.

Curiosity Brings Hundreds of Listeners to Services

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Five thousand people were turned away from Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon, after all the seats in the building had been filled with a great crowd, curious to see John A. Dowie on his first appearance before a New York audience. Fully 14,000 people were in the garden at 2:30, when the exercises began with the processional, in which the Zion white-robed choir, to the number of 600, and the capped and gowned ordained officers of the Christian Catholic church in Zion, took part.

Dr. Dowie took his text from the third chapter of the Book of Revelations, twentieth verse: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

"Then, walking back and forth in front of the pulpit, he began: "Eyes have they, yet they see not. Ears have they, yet they hear not. I shall ask the gentlemen of the press to behave and not to talk. I am not one who is accustomed much about the audience he speaks to, but I am going to have a quiet audience now, you'd better believe. Sit down, my friends, you just sit down."

With his arms above his head, in a shrill voice that reached the furthest parts of the garden, he cried: "Oh, it is good to know that God has not ceased to knock at the human heart; to knock at the doors of homes; to knock at the doors of workshops; at the doors of places of business; at the doors of business institutions; at the doors of the municipality; at the doors of halls of legislation; at the doors of princes and of presidents and of kings. Thundering at the door of the world is the King of Kings. And in his name I stand before you today and say, 'Open that door, and let the spirit of God in.'"

WIFE ON PLATFORM: "Continuing," he said: "Some will go away and say 'I don't like Dowie. He puts his wife on the platform with him.' Why should not I put my wife on the platform? She can talk better than I can, particularly when we are alone together. Oh, what fools the churches have been. They have let the devil get the women. They have let them go upon the stage and dance and sing. Is not it time we had the women singing for Jesus?"

"Yes," responded his followers in one voice.

EVENING SERVICE: Dr. Dowie filled the garden last night with an audience which equaled the great throng at the afternoon meeting.

Mrs. Dowie, known to the followers of her husband as "Overseer Jane Dowie," read from St. Mark, the first chapter and the first fifteen verses.

Dr. Dowie made a long prayer, at the close of which many hundreds of persons left the building. Dowie again remonstrated with those who were leaving, and asked them to do him the courtesy of remaining until the end of the meeting.

The subject of the discourse was "Repentance," and Dr. Dowie's text was from Scriptural passages having reference to the teachings and the promised coming of Elijah.

COMING OF ELIJAH: "In these three passages," said the preacher, "we have the great and mighty records of the appearance of Elijah and the promise that he shall come again. Where is the common honesty of modern theologians in not admitting this fact? What theologian is worth his salt who has denied the fact that Elijah must come again? I say to the Protestant theologians of New York, 'Dig up your commentaries and commentations on the gospel, look everywhere you can, and you will find that all the authorities agree that Elijah must come again before Christ comes again. No matter whether I am a Jew or a Gentile, Elijah must come again. He has come once as a mighty destroyer, when he called down the fire of Mount Carmel. He came again as John the Baptist, and once more must he come, according to the promise of God, before the great and terrible Jehovah.'"

"Elijah triumphed once," he cried, "God grant he may triumph again."

When a youth, and was a member of the Methodist church. In 1861, at the age of 18, he entered the Confederate army. He was a member of Tomblaby's company, H. Captain J. H. Sharp. After a long imprisonment in Camp Chase, he went to St. Louis and there remained until 1867, when he came to Fort Worth, where he did a flourishing business. On the day of his anniversary in 1870 he was married in Bryan, Texas, to Miss E. J. Harrison, daughter of J. and M. E. Harrison. In Bryan he built a beautiful house, but in 1877 he returned to Fort Worth and engaged in the hardware and galvanizing iron business, and afterwards in the manufacture of ice. For thirty-six years he was a Mason, and was most devotedly attached to the sublime teachings of that ancient order. Shall we again lose and enjoy the companionship of our sleeping comrade? Yes, a thousand times yes! He who taught us to call Him, "our father which art in Heaven," will some day, at some time, make the happy reunion for all. While sympathizing with his afflicted wife and kindred, we bow in humble submission to the divine will, and wait with patience the hour of the grand reunion.

"Where sickness, sorrow, pain and death are felt and seen no more."

THE SONS' MEETING: At the meeting of R. E. Lee camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, it was announced that arrangements had been completed to secure lectures by General Gordon, Polk Miller and Mrs. Pickett in this city. Polk Miller will be here on October 20. Mrs. Pickett some time in February and General Gordon just prior to the next reunion.

Two new members, H. H. Hardy and R. E. Lovejoy, were elected during the meeting.

A circular issued by Commander-in-Chief W. McL. Fayssoux, announcing the appointment of committees, was read. On this circular, which has been appointed inspector general of the Sons of R. E. Lee, Captain of this city was appointed a member of the committee to erect a monument to the women of the south. W. L. Wooten was appointed assistant adjutant general and W. P. Lane was appointed a member of the committee to cooperate with the Confederate veterans for the purpose of bringing the veterans and sons in closer touch.

Addresses were made during the meeting by Congressman Oscar Gillespie, W. P. Lane, Dr. Miller, N. R. Tisdal, W. R. Booth and others. The meeting was very enthusiastic and was largely attended.

Tams Bixby, chairman of the Dawes commission, whose function it is to allot the lands of the free civilized tribes in the Indian Territory, has arrived in Washington in response to the summons of the secretary of the interior. "FATHER TIME AND THE WATCH."

The Secret of Long Life and How to Overcome Waste.

To "Know thyself" is to take advantage of life's secrets and equip one's self with an armor which will successfully resist the attack of disease in the battle of life.

Man's system at times gets rusty like the wheels of the watch and only needs a little cleaning and oiling to put it in shape for life's battles.

By neglect of the human mechanism, by allowing the accumulation of poisons in the system; this is the most frequent gateway for the germs of disease to find an entrance to the body.

AN IMITATION OF NATURE'S METHOD OF restoring waste of tissue and improvement of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alternative extract of herbs and roots, without the use of alcohol, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Along with its use one should take exercise in the outdoor air, get all one can of God's sunlight and air; a mild breathing exercise practiced each day.

PHYSICAL FORCE AND SUCCESS DEPEND UPON ONE'S NERVE RESERVE.

What vital forces can be used, or the busy man command when the critical hour arrives? Has he staying power so that when the golden moment of opportunity comes he can for the time being do double work, or quadruple work, and so creep on to fame and fortune?

The safest blood maker, and strength builder, and digestion corrector is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

A SERMON ON MONEY

Rev. J. M. Carroll, D. D., of Waco, corresponding secretary of the Texas Baptist educational commission, preached yesterday morning at the Broadway Baptist church on "Money."

THE AFTERNOON DAILY

The Houston Chronicle is one of the examples of success in the newspaper world, and it is because it occupies the afternoon field that this is so.

The tendency of the times is the increased popularity of the newspaper which prints today's news today. This news reaches the subscriber in the evening when he has finished his day's duties in the commercial world, and he has time to devote to it. He is served with the happenings of the day within a few hours of the occurrence, and before he goes to his comfortable couch in the evening he knows the state of affairs in the entire world. The next morning he has the paper which follows after twelve hours with an extended notice of what he has read the evening before. Therefore he looks to the afternoon paper as the one which can give him the information so much desired.

The Houston Chronicle has finished two years of existence, and celebrated the event with a fifty-two-page paper. It was a hard-earned edition, and reflects credit upon the south Texas youngster which has forced ahead, against great opposition. It has been able to make this success because it is the paper of the day and not the paper of yesterday. News is not news when it is old news that is fresh from the wire, tersely told, thus favor with the reading public. The Chronicle tells the story neatly, as follows:

"At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the great heart of the world has practically ceased to throb. Cross the seas and at that hour in Houston what do you find. Night has mantled everything. It is no longer afternoon there. Syrian shadows have gathered, the day's business record has closed. The great cabinet crisis to shake England is temporarily forgotten while men refresh themselves with slumber. Assassins have invaded the palace of kings and laid the mighty of earth low, a consul's life has been attempted, the great Catholic church has named a new pope, the Russian czar has refused to evacuate Manchuria, death has laid mighty Salisbury or a powerful kingdom low. All these events easy of chronicle in a newspaper issued in Houston at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, are fraught with the deepest of human interest. All read them. Their printing twelve hours in advance of other papers, hurst—the other papers—the paper doing it. When the Chronicle's city edition goes to press it conveys the news of Europe, Asia and Africa twelve hours ahead of the exclusively morning issues. For foreign news there is nothing to silhouette the Associated Press and the afternoon papers. How about it at home? Markets are closed by that hour, courts are over, congress is through. In short, there is nothing lacking to complete the day's record. It is all available. Lensed while bringing it in, editors arrange it, printers do their part, and soon the monster press turns, the paper containing it into the hands of the newsboy, who places it in your hands. People get from the Chronicle an abstract of the world's doings at 3 o'clock each afternoon. They realize that and hence their patronage of it."

CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

Those who are opposed to convicts being brought into competition with free labor and who believe the contract system is wrong will find much to interest them in the recent report of the financial agent of the penitentiaries of this state. The report shows:

The convicts are distributed as follows: Contract forces, 1,754 share farms, 285; railroad forces, 88; Hillborn farms, 199; Clemens farm, 12; Wynne farm, 42; Rock, 747; Huntsville, 529.

The board reported all former contracts for share farms except three, and passed an order transferring the seventy-five convicts from the Southern Pacific railway to the Trinity and Brazos Valley line. The price of convicts hired out was advanced to $18 and $24, which will increase the revenue from this source about $24,000 per year.

land will increase the value of lands; increased value of lands will pay a better rate of taxation to the state and the county, and the farmer who must haul his products to market, will find that he can haul more and get better prices than he now the condition with bad roads to contend with. "The state is doing its own people an injustice to continue the system now in use. It is argued that convicts must be self-supporting. This may be true, but at the same time they should not be put out in competition with the free man, who must earn good wages that his children may be clothed and fed. They can earn their keep easy enough if they are paid builders. Road building is a public work upon which convicts can be employed, and there will be no protest from the free citizen.

Booker T. Washington discovered while touring Europe as "Mr. Jones" that the poorer classes in that country save more than the negroes here, though they earn less. He could point a great moral in this, if he will. He is a recognized leader of his race, and he should be able to convince the colored people that they should save what they earn, and by accumulation put themselves on an independent footing financially. It is well known that the majority of negroes spend all they make. There is no reason for it, and a list of the expenditures would show much that is unnecessary.

The strike of the employees of the Pacific Express company has brought out forcibly one point that the general public has never given a thought. All claims against the company for loss and damage are paid by the employees. When men ask for the settlement of a claim and think they are getting it from the soulless corporation, they are putting a burden on some working man who may not have been in a position to avoid the loss which occurred.

The factory which is to make jumpers and overalls will be started in Fort Worth within a week. It is to be a local industry, and it is entitled to the support of home people. The working men here must buy overalls. They can make this home institution a big thing if they will patronize it—ask for the garment from the home shop.

The good resolutions of this week should be started by the Parker-Washington company with a determination to get to work on that asphalt paving.

CLEANINGS FROM... THE EXCHANGES

The Telegram is one of our most valued exchanges, but we differ with it on the injunction business. We are strong believers in government by the people for the people, and when the editor of a paper has the courage to publish the results of an election in the face of an injunction, he is to be commended. We believe that the judge of Fort Worth overstepped his bounds when he issued the Cooke county injunction, and the Signal did right in ignoring his restraining order. Had he been justified in granting that injunction, then he would have seen that the publishers of the Signal got what they deserved for ignoring the orders of the court. Had the results been published in Grayson county, the same results would have followed. The injunction has been so abused that it is dangerous to good government. In the Grayson county case, however, the injunction has caused a number of counties to go for prohibition. It is the same spirit that caused the famous Boston tea party.—Bells News.

No, you do not differ with The Telegram. This paper does not believe in government by injunction, but it does believe that if the judges of Texas have jurisdiction to issue the restraining orders, that those orders should be obeyed and that when they are flagrantly ignored some one should be punished. A people who do not obey the mandates of the courts are verging upon a condition of lawlessness which is dangerous. The News knows this and The Telegram is not ready to believe that the News will have contempt of the courts of the state.

Columbia Sun: Fort Worth packeries are pleading for many hundred more hogs per day than they receive. There is an opportunity for farmers to fill in on the cotton shortage.

They "filled in" on the cotton crop last year in the way the Sun suggests; that is, by selling their hogs. They sold all they had because they brought a good price and feedstuffs were so high that they could not afford to keep them. For it must be remembered that the average farmer in Texas who has been all his life in the business of raising cotton has bought his bacon, and even where he had a few hogs he did not have the fencing to permit them to run out, or he did not make provision for them in the way of raising sorghum and other things like this with which to feed them if the corn crop failed. It did fail and the hogs were sold. Hence the supply of hogs this year is woefully short. The packeries may have still further cause to regret the lack of them. There is not a locality in the state in which a man cannot sell all the hogs he owns to his neighbors. The demand for hogs by the farmers far exceeds the demand for hogs from the packeries.—Galveston News.

Advertisement for GOLD DUST featuring an illustration of a woman washing dishes and text describing its benefits for cleaning and softening water.

Advertisement for CHILE-CON CARNE featuring Walker's Red Hot Chile Con Carne, only 10c for large one-pound size cans.

But the demand can be supplied if the farmers will try hog raising. The packers take all that are offered and good prices are paid. These industries in Fort Worth will be of great benefit to the people of Texas and they should make haste to supply the shorts needed for the killing room.

The Denison Herald credits the Times-Herald with "getting the lion in the office of the Tyler Courier to lie down with the lamb of the Fort Worth Telegram." But we refuse to underwrite their peaceful behavior, for the lion is Green and the lamb is Quarles.—Waco Times-Herald.

The lion and the lamb are agreed that Texas needs legislation which will bring about necessary reforms and they are content to work together to bring this about. The lion is of the Tyler crowd and the lamb formerly of the Waco opposition. Once opponents in a great cause, they see that scheming politicians are hurting the people's interests and now they go together, that the result of a combined fight may benefit all Texans.

The Fort Worth Telegram is enlisting the press of the state in a reform. The Telegram reform movement will operate on the state officials. This is a good move and you can count the News in. Let "down with the free press for state officers" be the battle cry.—Bells News.

The News is welcomed in the fight and The Telegram hopes its influence in its home county will be productive of results. Every editorial influence will help along in the fight and the people will applaud it.

Why He Was Caught

(Original.)

When Colorado Jack was in prison awaiting execution for his various misdeeds I, being desirous of interviewing a veritable desperado, got permission of his keeper to visit him. Among other things he told me how he came to be caught at last. This is the story:

I'd had things pretty much my own way for a long while, and it made me careless. It's never best for a man to have a run of good luck. He needs a setback now and then to keep him cautious. While I was holdin' people up and gittin' away with the plunder I forgot that those I'd leveled on was stirrin' up trouble for me.

One day I rode by a ranch and seen' it was a prosperous lookin' place I thought I'd stop and see if I could haul in anything. The door was opened by as trim a gal as you ever see. Not a platin gal or a graser or anything like that, but a lady all over. I told her I was a-travelin' and would like to get a dinner if I might be allowed to pay for it, and she said I could have all I wanted to eat with nothin' to pay and welcome. I heard an old crone's voice speakin' from above.

"What you thinkin' of, Lillian? Of course he can pay for dinner! D'you s'pose we're made of money?"

The gal colored, but said nothin' and went out and give orders to the cook, while I, bein' convinced that the place was open to me, went upstairs, and, scarin' the old woman by shovin' my we-apon agin' her scalp, I axed her what valyables there was in the house. She was a vixen, you bet, and I was axed I'd have to blow her brains out, but the cold iron and my thinkin' whether to do it or not, which she could see in my face, helped matters, and she at last give in and showed me where she kept her valyables. It happened that they was all together, so she was 'blegged to show 'em up all at once.

Well, while we was a-talkin' the gal come upstairs, and though for awhile she couldn't seem to git on to what I was up to, she did at last and give me a look I'll remember to the day I'm a-ying. Somehow it made me feel what I was. Nobody ever made me feel that way before.

"Come," she said, "when you've got what you want, I've had what we have in the house set out for you. I'm not accountable for your acts, only my own. You asked for a dinner and I promised to give it to you. I shall keep my promise."

She tuk me downstairs, and there on the table was such a snack as she could get up in a short time, cold beef and bread and butter, eggs and such like, and I set down and eat hearty, for I was hungry. I felt sort of mean, with the gal a-waitin' on me as though she was a servant and I a gentleman, specially as I had all the movable property in my pocket. Every time I'd look up there was that innocent face lookin' at me, and when I wanted anything she'd help me to it. So by the time I'd got a good meal into me I was ready to do the only decent thing I ever did in my life.

"You're a nice little gal," I said, "and you've treated me fair. Onct I was respectable, and somehow the way you've been actin' toward me and lookin' at me has made me ashamed o' myself."

I tuk out what I'd stuffed in my pockets and put it on the table and got up and walked out o' the house and rode away.

Well, that was right enough so far as it went, but it went funder. Somehow I couldn't forget the looks o' that little gal. It seemed to me that if I could live where I could see her sometimes and have a chance I'd turn decent.

One day when I was near the ranch I rode over there. That was the unluckiest visit of my life. I hadn't more'n rode in through the open gate before the committee that was a-lookin' for me came round a turn in the road, and there I was caught like a rat in a trap.

The only man on the committee that knowed me for shore had come back with a lame horse, so after they'd taken me in on suspicion they called the little gal for—they knowed I'd been there afore—and axed her if I was the man. She looked at me, makin' believe she was puzzled or couldn't remember or somp'n, then said:

"No."

I was that surprised you could 'a' blowed me over with a kitchen bellows.

"Never seen him before?" axed one of 'em.

"Not this one. The other was a bad fellow. This man, I'm sure, is a good one and wouldn't hurt any one."

That was true so far as I hadn't robbed any one since I seen her.

"All right, stranger," said the leader. "You kin go. I'm sorry to have disturbed you."

I was walkin' forward to the door when I heard a rustlin' on the stairs and the old crone come down just in time to meet me face to face. She give a shriek, yellin' "Take him. He's the man that robbed us."

Well, I seen at onct it was all up with me. They tuk me in and brought me here for trial, and I'm waitin' for the end of it. What gits me is that the only decent thing I ever did was the thing that got me into trouble. If I'd 'a' tuk the valyables and not got soft hearted I'd probably be roamin' on the road now. I tell you, when a man starts out to be bad he don't never want to turn aside to be good. It 'll give him away dead shore. JAQUELINE EASTWOOD.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquozone we publish an offer of $1,000 for a germ that it cannot kill. We do that to convince you that liquid oxygen does kill germs.

Any drug that kills germs is a poison to you and it cannot be taken internally. Liquozone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It is the only way known—the only way one can conceive of—to destroy the cause of any germ disease.

We proved that Liquozone does what nothing else in the world can accomplish, and that the results are unvarying.

A discovery that could command such a price is something you should know, if you need it. We are doing our part by supplying the first bottle free. Will you do your part by requesting it?

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, whatever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Kills With Oxygen

Liquozone is simply liquid oxygen—no drugs, no alcohol in it. It is the discovery of Paul, the great German chemist, who spent twenty years on it. His object was to get such an excess of oxygen in staple form into the blood that no germ could live in any membrane or tissue.

Oxygen is life to an animal—the very source of vitality. It is the essential part of air. It is Nature's greatest tonic. But germs are vegetables, and this excess of oxygen—the very life of an animal—is deadly to vegetable matter. Liquozone charges the blood with such an excess of oxygen that no germ can live where that blood goes. We spend fourteen days in making each bottle.

We Paid $100,000 for the American rights to Liquozone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. Before making the purchase we tested the product for years through physicians in the most difficult germ cases.

"HELLO BILL"

Few actors have come so quickly into prominence as Harry Blakemor. He is now regarded as one of the leading comedians in the country and is a great favorite everywhere. Blakemor's comedy touches are inimitable and he is one of a very few actors who is constantly working for the good of the play he is in hand. He is now touring the country at the head of the splendid organization appearing in Willis Maxwell Goodhue's jolly comedy, "Hello Bill," and will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday, matinee and night, October 20.

think. It has a theme of mistaken identity that is as old as the drama itself, but told in a delightful and interesting manner. This dual role is one of the novel features of the play, but beyond that it is well devised and well arranged, with the pathos oozing from the attic home of the tortured mother and her two wailing children and the humor drawn from several comedy characters that are well drawn and human. A home of wealth and luxury is transformed into a tenement, where poverty reigns and the rent is always due. Through it all two little tots give a beautiful rendition of characters such as are found in everyday life and their naturalness of their lines is something wonderful, as children as a rule, as seen behind the footlights, become frightened and speak in a forced intonation.

Six months in Europe has convinced "Dave" Simpson that this is the only country, and that there "is one flag, one people, and one country." While his friends call him "Dave," Mr. Simpson registers "D. J. Simpson, Chicago," and in the commercial world he is known as the purchasing agent of Armour & Co., his jurisdiction extending to all the plants of the great firm of packers. When the plant was building in this city Mr. Simpson made headquarters at the North hotel here and everything which went into the building, brick, machinery, stone and lumber, was purchased by him. During his stay here he made many warm friends, and when he arrived yesterday for a stay of three days, he found a warm welcome. This last summer he spent in Europe. He has been back but three weeks, and his visit here is merely one of inspection all the plants of the company being included in the tour he is now making.

"I am better satisfied with the United States than ever," he said when asked about his trip abroad. "I saw much that was interesting and entertaining while I was in Germany, Switzerland and other continental countries, but I did not see enough to persuade me that the old world is as good as this. I am satisfied now that the United States have all the other bested. Of course I enjoyed the trip, but I am glad to get home again.

"I am pleased to see the improvement in Fort Worth. The old town shows evidence of prosperity, and there is a growth which is noticeable. The new bank building I see going up at the corner is a credit to any city in the country, and it will not fail to attract attention from all visitors. There is a change in Fort Worth which is noticeable to me, because of my absence. I know the town before the packers came, and I look at it today. There is a busy air about every one. They all appear to have something on hand which must be done at once, and they propose to do it.

A LUBBOCK JURY IS AFTER A MURDERER

Slayer of J. W. Jarrott May Yet Be Punished for Crime. West Texas Cotton Turning Out Better Than Expected

COLORADO, Tex., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The grand jury, which has just adjourned at Lubbock, found seven indictments for felonies and four bonds were placed at $5,000 each. Some of these, as The Telegram reports is informed, are against persons charged with the murder of Attorney J. W. Jarrott in August, 1902. Nearly everybody in West Texas is familiar with the tragedy. Mr. Jarrott was charged with leading encouragement to the settlement of the country and he had some enemies on that account. So one day when he was out at his ranch, west of town, alone, he was shot to death by unknown parties and his body was not found for several days. Several attempts have been made to punish the guilty, but up to the recent court they have been unsuccessful.

COLORADO NOTES AND PERSONALS

This morning the thermometer stood at 35, a gentle reminder to vegetation in West Texas that its days were about numbered.

Reliable reports from Scurry county are that that county will this year make three times as much cotton as it did last year. A month ago the opinion was very different from this.

The crop in Mitchell county will be much better also than was first believed. About 1,200 bales have been shipped from this point already, which speaks well for the "arid region," as this country has been called.

Two men by the name of Harless and Patterson are going through this county buying up horses.

J. L. Dow, editor of the Spokesman, spent Saturday at Abilene taking in the West Texas fair. The attendance from Colorado this year was rather small; everybody was too busy branding calves, picking cotton and selling groceries; besides, fairs seem to have grown a little old with many.

G. McMeans, who has been somewhat interested in ferreting out the murderers of J. W. Jarrott of Lubbock, was in town yesterday. He was just from Lubbock and reports conditions favorable near there.

The gin at Dunn had a breakdown this week and will have to stop till a piece of machinery can be had from the factory. It has been turning out much cotton and will likely start again early next week.

The gin in this town up to this evening has ginned 200 bales of cotton, which is considered remarkably good under the circumstances, for a county that is not puffed up to be a farming county and the season has hardly opened out here yet.

The cotton and the seed, and both are selling well, have added considerable cash to the local circulation.

J. B. Peacock, who had a well improved little farm and ranch out six miles north of town, consisting of 960 acres, has recently sold to A. J. Hagler of Taylor county for $7.65 per acre. Mr. Peacock has a good cotton crop growing on it, but this he reserved. It has been untouched by the boll weevil and, it is thought, will produce 20 or 25 bales.

LIVE STOCK NEWS

Frank Long this evening shipped four cars of calves from this place destined for St. Louis.

J. D. Wulfein shipped one car of fine calves today to St. Louis.

Harry Landers shipped today to St. Louis 75 fat cows and 27 fine calves.

A. A. Bailey shipped one car of calves today for St. Louis, and one load of horses was shipped from here yesterday to East Texas.

A big shipment is being made today from Iatan by local stockmen to the eastern market.

F. G. Oakesher of Fort Worth, who has a ranch out near Stanton, also one in Hockley county, was here a few days this week talking with cowmen.

THEY WERE ACQUITTED

Stock Men Not Guilty of Charge of Conspiracy.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 15.—Frank Hall second assistant United States attorney, has returned from court at Tulsa, where he conducted the prosecution, lasting four days, of the charges against Frank James and March Spears, William Murphy, George Ivy and Daniel Holcomb. All were acquitted.

The charges were that these cattle-men were guilty of conspiracy in attempting to deprive citizens of their just rights by the trouble crew out of the "warfare" between cattlemen and the homesteaders in that county. Mr. Hall says no trouble of any kind now exists and that the people are all living together in a truly neighborly manner.

YOUR SUMMER HOLIDAY

Nature intended that we should spice up our daily toil with a short bitter exit to some beautiful lake resort during the hot summer months. This is plainly evident, both from our own natural desires and the many interesting places so lavishly provided.

Summer resorts such as Muskoka are occupying a great deal of our attention, because nature smiles upon us during the summer season and we can then live entirely out of doors, while we indulge in boating, bathing, games of different sorts and a great variety of other forms of recreation.

No other section of the world is so fortunately situated in this respect as the Province of Ontario. Muskoka with its many beautiful lakes, winding rivers and splendidly wooded islands, is within easy reach by rail or boat and rail. A trip lasting but a few hours north of Toronto will transfer tired and hot humanity to cool, peaceful surroundings, such as the gods are supposed to envy.

Handsome, illustrated, descriptive matter can be had free by applying to George W. Vaux, room 917, Merchants' Loan and Trust building, Chicago, Ill.

Don't be fooled in trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as many of the well-known and potent remedies is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind claims made for the well-known remedies, which are "just as good" medicines can show.

WILL START THIS WEEK

The Hawkins-Miller Manufacturing Company is to commence operations here next week, occupying temporary quarters until the building now being constructed is ready for the plant.

This concern will manufacture overalls, jumpers, a line of trousers, etc., and it is expected it will be well patronized by the home trade. It will be distinctly a local institution, home capital assisting in the organization of the company, which is capitalized at $20,000, a charter for which has already been issued by the secretary of state.

The company will occupy the Texas Anchor Fence Company building temporarily. A building for the plant is under construction on Boaz street, and as soon as it is finished it will be occupied.

LOUISVILLE TO PROVIDE FOR PYTHIANS

Kentucky City to Entertain Grand Lodge of Knights in 1904—Fort Worth Men Will Compete for Prizes

Tracy R. Bangs, supreme chancellor and commander-in-chief, and Major General James R. Carnahan, commanding the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, have made formal announcement that the biennial encampment of the Uniform Rank for the year 1904 will be held in Louisville, Ky., beginning Monday preceding the third Tuesday in August.

Elaborate arrangements are being made by the citizens of Louisville to give the Knights of Pythias a royal reception. The tents for the occasion are to be furnished by the people of Louisville.

Quarters for the various companies, battalions, regiments and brigades will be in readiness for occupancy on Friday preceding the opening of the encampment. This arrangement has been provided for in order that all companies that desire to get quartered before the regular opening may be accommodated. It is desired that all divisions of the rank be on hand to take part in the opening of the encampment.

In order that these arrangements may be complied with, the commander-in-chief has ordered that the several brigades and the separate regiments and companies of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, of the supreme domain of the Knights of Pythias, shall assemble on Monday, August 10, for such encampment. Further orders will be issued in due time, announcing the complete program of daily exercises and prizes for competitive drills.

Official announcement is made that the general parade will be made on the third Tuesday of August, and the field inspection and review will be on the following day.

Grand Chancellor Bangs announces that matters of great interest to the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will be presented to the supreme lodge for its action, and he adds that it is of the utmost importance that the entire membership of the rank should, as far as possible, be present at the encampment of 1904.

The supreme chancellor closes his address with the statement that there shall be no encampment, expulsion or parade outside of its grand domain by any portion of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, other than for the said encampment of 1904 at Louisville, Ky., unless upon application to and approval by the major general commanding.

Fort Worth Uniform Rank is making preparations to attend the Louisville encampment and expects to be able to carry off several of the important prizes to be offered for drills, etc.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. J. W. Dinsdale, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I use your Castoria and advise its use in all families where there are children."

Dr. Alexander E. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Gidden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Bener, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. J. Mackey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

Dr. Howard James, of New York City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."
