ONE KILLED; THREE HURT IN ACCIDENT

Thirty Men Thrown Into Bed of the Brazos Near Hempstead

OLD BRIDGE SPAN BROKE UNDER STRAIN

Workmen Were Putting in New Span Fifty Feet Above Water

ROD CARRIER KILLED AFTER THE ACCIDENT

Was Standing Viewing Disaster When He Also Missed Balance and Fell—Traffic Is Not Delayed

BRENTHAM, Tex., Nov. 2.—(Special)—Late reports from the scene of the Brazos river bridge disaster on the Central railway show that there was only one man killed and three injured. The list of the dead and injured:

Mr. Miller, hand mashed and internal injuries. The accident was caused by a span of the bridge giving way with the workmen in it, precipitating them to the river, about fifty feet below. The accident occurred at the Brazos river crossing, five miles west of Hempstead and about twenty miles out of Houston.

The bridge foreman and his gang were engaged in wrecking the old trestle preparatory to putting in a new steel trestle, and were working on the east side of the middle span. The old span having been lowered on the west end, caused the east end to part on the upstream side, to be blown out, bringing the weight of the balance of the entire span on the fractured portion of the old span, collapsing it and carrying most machinery, traveler and all into the stream.

Some thirty men were on the span at the time. Most of them jumped into the stream and by doing so saved themselves. A special train left Houston at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, carrying the hospital car in charge of Drs. J. A. Stuart and Reid of the infirmary, attendants and nurses.

The injured were given immediate attention in the hospital car and were later brought to the hospital. The new work, as well as the false work of the bridge, was uninjured, and the line is in operation today.

Shortly after the accident yesterday, C. N. Wilson, rod carrier for the civil engineer on the Central, fell from the bridge and was killed.

He was standing viewing the disaster while some workmen were pushing a handcar along the track. Stepping to one side to avoid the car, he missed his footing and fell fifty feet. He lived only a few hours.

THE CITY OF HOUSTON IS RESTRAINED

Water Works Company Secures Injunction in United States Court, Preventing City From Further Negotiations

In chambers yesterday afternoon, Judge L. P. McCormick, associate justice of the United States circuit court of appeals for the Fifth district, granted the prayer of the Houston Water Works company for an injunction restraining the city of Houston from enforcing certain ordinances affecting the conduct of the water company.

There has been ill feeling between the city of Houston and the Houston Water company for years. The city has made protest after protest against the service given by the water company, and at times it has withheld payment for service rendered as a punishment to the company.

The contest has assumed serious proportions and diplomatic relations between the city and the private corporation have been upon the eve of a severance on several occasions. There was an effort made to secure the consent of the people to municipal ownership, but this failed on a vote. Recently there have been certain negotiations between Houston and another water company and against these the present company, which holds a franchise from the city, desires to protest.

Captain J. C. Hutcheson, former congressman from the Houston district, arrived here yesterday, and during the afternoon, in chambers, presented the matter to Judge McCormick, asking that an injunction issue. The court heard the petition and granted the injunction, making it returnable to the United States circuit court for the Southern district of Texas, Judge Waller Burns presiding. Captain Hutcheson left last night for Houston with his restraining order, where it was filed today.

The next case to be tried will be a damage suit against the Houston and Texas Central railroad company, in which Mrs. Maggie Partain is plaintiff.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 2.—The St. Clair county, Ill., grand jury adjourned last evening at Belleville, after a long and busy session, returning eleven secret indictments against persons believed by it to have taken part in the lynching of the negro school teacher, Wyatt, who shot, but not fatally, County Superintendent of Schools Hertel. The names of the persons indicted will be withheld until the capias are served.

During its deliberations the grand jury examined seventy-nine witnesses in connection with the Wyatt case, many of whom were prominent citizens of Belleville. The case was considered calmly and exhaustively, and reflected the determination of the state authorities to prosecute those who had played a part in the affair.

An anonymous letter, addressed to the courts of Belleville, and threatening a riot if the grand jury indicted the lynchers of David Wyatt, was found on the steps of a Belleville newspaper office early Sunday morning by Ernest Hilgart, deputy probate clerk, who lives at 219 South Illinois avenue. The letter is generally accepted to have been the work of an ill-advised practical joker. It reads as follows:

To the Courts of Belleville: If ever any person is sent to the penitentiary, or punished for being in the Wyatt lynching, there will be a riot, for the people will never see any one punished for hanging such a man. If any one is tried and imprisoned the prison walls will fall, if necessary. This is the sentiment of the people, and we will see no court punish our citizens for a man like Wyatt. The people are all warmed up, and the best thing for Belleville and our own citizens is to let it drop and throw it out of our courts.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY CITIZEN. David Wyatt, a negro school teacher, was lynched on June 8 for the attempted assassination of Charles A. Hertel, county superintendent of schools. Hertel recovered.

LETTERS SENT TO STOCKMEN

Purpose of Independent Packing Company Meeting Is Explained

During the past few days many letters have been sent out over Texas to parties interested in the stock business in an effort to elicit their sanction and efforts in completing the formation of the company which is to swing the independent packing plants, mention of which has been frequently made in The Telegram.

Several hundred of these letters have been forwarded to cattlemen during the past week, setting forth what is proposed to be accomplished at the meeting to be held in Fort Worth the latter part of the present month. The meeting is to be held at the same time the executive committee of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association holds its annual meeting here, but it is given out by officials of that association that the two meetings will have nothing in common, unless the cattlemen who attend the latter meeting desire to take part in the meeting of the independent packing people as individuals, as the association.

The Year to Date Has Been Nearly Two Degrees Cooler Per Day Than the Average of Nine Years

The total rainfall for Fort Worth and vicinity, for the first ten months of the year, according to the monthly summary issued yesterday by the weather bureau, is 1.95 inches below the average. Prior to October the total deficiency in precipitation was over 4 inches, but last month there were several heavy downpours which brought the year's total nearly up to the average of the last nine years. The average total precipitation for October is 2.42 inches. During that month this year the downfall was 4.52 inches.

MORE SWITCHES ON THE CITY BELT LINE

The Northern Texas Traction Company today is putting the finishing touches on the last of the four switches on the stock yards division and tomorrow or the following day the force will be transferred to the city belt line on which two additional sidings are to be placed at once. One of these will be at Daggett and Henderson and the other at Sandridge and Magnolia.

The present sidings are at Magnolia and Main and the university, at the high school and on Tucker's hill, where the double tracks end.

"We would double track all the way around the city belt if we were permitted to," said General Manager Haines today, "but some of the streets are hardly wide enough. About 80 per cent of the people on the city belt favor the double loop system proposed some time ago but the other 20 per cent are strenuously opposed to it. With the double loop system in operation every patron of the line would get to his destination quicker than he does at present, even if a few did have to ride farther than is necessary at present. By putting in the two extra sidings we expect to improve the time made a bit, but any system where the cars run all one way is an improvement on a system where switches are used."

The traffic to Glenwood and Polytechnic, according to Mr. Haines, is rapidly increasing in volume. He has determined to put in a switch at Boaz and Henrietta streets, where a spur is now used. This switch will be on Boaz street so that a car proceeding toward the business district in the morning, can turn from Henrietta street on to Boaz; then, if the motorman sees the track to Front street is clear, he will go ahead without a wait. At present there is a 20 minute service on the Missouri avenue line and a 30 minute schedule to Polytechnic hill.

The traction company wanted a franchise on North Main street for a double track but the North Side council gave it only a single track, with the result that it was compelled to put in four sidings.

At the Cleveland offices of the traction company yesterday bids were opened for twenty new city cars and five new interurban cars. The latter will be seven feet longer than the present ones. The city cars will be ten bench cars to be used as trailers in handling heavy summer traffic both in the city and to Handley. The cars are to be delivered before April 1.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

KILLS BROTHERS HOLDS POSSE AT BAY

Infuriated Pennsylvania Farmer Shoots to Kill After a Quarrel, and Resists Capture for Nine Hours

PITTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 2.—Worked into a frenzy, as the result of an altercation with one of his brothers, Benjamin Franklin Weissinger, living on a farm several miles from this city, yesterday afternoon shot and killed his brothers Frederick and Louis, attempted to kill a sister and a sister-in-law, and held a large posse of policemen at bay for nine hours before he was captured.

The tragedy occurred on the farm of the men, Benjamin and Frederick had a quarrel early in the afternoon. Benjamin fired four shots at Frederick without any of them taking effect. Frederick fled to the attic of the farm house. Benjamin secured a Winchester repeating rifle and as he was leaving the house he encountered another brother, Louis. Benjamin shot Louis, the victim died in half an hour.

The murderer then walked down a path and caught a glimpse of Frederick, who was looking out of the attic window. Benjamin quickly raised the rifle and fired. The bullet entered Frederick's cheek and penetrated the brain.

Benjamin then went into the house, secured a shotgun, several revolvers and ammunition and barricaded himself in the barn. Every attempt the authorities made to approach the barn was met with several shots from Weissinger.

When Sheriff Smith appeared on the scene a ruse was planned to capture the man. A parley was held with the murderer and he agreed to let two farm hands bring him his supper. The men were instructed to watch their opportunity, seize him by the arms and shout, which would be the signal for the deputies to rush in. This they did and a terrific struggle took place. The murderer is a powerful man but the force of numbers was too much for him and he was tied hand and foot before he could further use his weapons.

OLD WOUND IS REOPENED AT FUNERAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—General Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, who refused to remain at the services in memory of his sister, Consul Emma Booth Tucker, at Carnegie hall Sunday, because the Salvation Army officials refused to permit a family gathering prior to the public service, later received a letter from Colonel L. M. Higgins of the Salvation Army in explanation thereof, together with an invitation to view the remains privately at the Salvation Army national headquarters. In reply the national secretary for the Volunteers of America forwarded a letter to Colonel Higgins, which is as follows:

"Your letter to General Ballington Booth has been received, in which you say that if you wished privately to view the body of his sister today (Monday), you will exclude the public from the lying in state, as his doing so was 'impossible' at Carnegie hall.

"After the inconsiderate and indifferent way in which General Ballington Booth was treated by you at the Carnegie music hall it would not be wise for him to subject himself to further misunderstanding. During the three-quarters of an hour he waited there it would have been quite possible for you to have acceded to his and also Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Booth's request for a family gathering. His request was only perfectly natural in any brother—simply to pray with the members of the family for a brief time around the coffin. He came purely in the spirit of sympathy and unoffensively, as also did Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Booth.

"It was further from their thoughts to allude to any difference between the movements of governments, and they felt that when the public was being allowed to participate in the obsequies of their sister, they, as members of the family, had some rights. He would never have gone near Carnegie music hall had he not been also assured by wire by your representative that his request would have been respected. General Ballington Booth was told in the hearing of Mrs. Booth that his arrangements were conceded to all but that one point, and he waived that wish in deference to the request of Miss Eva Booth and Commander Booth Tucker.

"In your letter of this morning you overlook the express purpose of General Ballington Booth's visit to Carnegie music hall. It was for a family gathering around the body and not merely to view the remains.

"We regret this deplorable condition of Salvation Army spirit, and we cannot advise General Ballington Booth to be exposed to the probable repetition of disrespect that would be shown him were he to visit Salvation Army headquarters."

Today's Market Quotations

Latest and Most Complete Report Printed in North Texas

NORTH FORT WORTH, Nov. 3.—The tone of the cattle market today was good and the entire run sold steadily and actively with Monday's close. The quality of the steers was some improvement over the steers receipts yesterday and with a good market the supply sold with an early clearance. Harrold & Spence were on the market with two cars of heavy fed steers from their feeding pens at Italy, which sold at $2.50, with good quality half-fed steers, averaging 913 pounds, selling at $2.40, and a range in prices on the usual grades from $2.25 to $2.90.

The bulk of the cow run was of good quality and trading was on a steady basis with yesterday. One choice heavy fed cow, weighing 1,050 pounds, brought $3, with a top price of $2.20 for best quality range cows, weighing 818 pounds, and the bulk of sales at $2.10 to $2.25, fair to medium quality generally selling at $1.65 to $1.90, and the thin common kinds and canners at $1.25 to $1.50.

A liberal supply of calves were offered and considering quality, sold about steady with yesterday. J. D. McCutcheon of Toyah marketed 312 fair quality calves at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3, with a top price of $4 for one choice calf, weighing 200 pounds.

A better run of bulls was in today and trading was active, the market ruling steady. Best bulls sold at $2, with the bulk of sales at $1.50 to $1.85. Stags of good quality, weighing 949 pounds, brought $2.25, with the thin heavy kinds at $2.

At the hog division of the yards the receipts this morning, including three loads of wagon hogs, were 372, with three cars in sight for the late trading. Although northern points reported prospects for lower markets, the local market opened steady with yesterday's close and the light morning run sold early. Choice sorted hogs, averaging 294 pounds, brought $5.35, with the bulk of good quality butcher hogs selling at $5.25 to $5.30. Chicago opened 5c to 10c lower on heavy shipping grades and 15c to 20c lower on lights and pigs, closing for the day 10c to 25c lower, with a top on choice fancy hogs at $5.30, and the bulk of sales at $4.80 to $5.10. Kansas City opened slow at 15c to 20c lower, best hogs selling $5.20 to $5, with a possible top for the day at $5.30.

While the light morning run sold fully steady with yesterday, in the face of the heavy slumps and unsatisfactory closes at the northern markets, afternoon trading was on a basis of 5c to 10c lower, the market closing slow and weak, showing a decline of about 10c from the morning opening.

BOX BALL ALLEY. Free Opening to Men at the Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

A large number of men will be at the free opening of the box ball alley in the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium tonight. Only one of the alleys have been put in place, and that only temporarily in the gymnasium. The plan is to build a separate room for the two alleys soon, but the gymnasium will be used for the present. Box ball is a new and popular invention, very much like ten pins, though with some improvements on this popular bowling game. Tonight the alley will be thrown open to all men, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to try a hand. After tonight its use will be restricted to members only.

THE ELECTRIC TRAVEL

There is no doubt that when the next legislature meets, a bill will be proposed which will provide a general law for the construction of electric railroads in this state. At this time the Northern Texas Traction Company is operating under a special act, and there will be little construction of interurban lines until there is a law, as the trolley people do not want to operate under the steam road statute, which gives the railroad commission jurisdiction and makes the provision as to right of way, depot grounds, etc. The trolley systems are entitled to some liberality in this matter, and as it is a new character of transportation in Texas, there will no doubt be a tendency to encourage the investment of capital.

There were, in 1888 (according to Leonard W. Sterrett, in an interesting article in Cassler's Magazine), but eighty-six miles of electric railway in the United States, using 172 cars. The census report for June 30, 1902, shows 22,589 miles of electric road, with 67,199 cars, requiring 1,289,133 horse power for operation. The gross earnings were given at $241,584,597, and the expenditure $139,912,094. The venture is new. Yet the earnings of the interurban electric roads on the mileage basis are greater than those of the steam railroads, and the operating expenses 15 per cent less. The average earnings of the steam railroads do not exceed $2,500 per mile, while that of the interurban lines is $3,800. Indeed, on some of the latter the earnings are reported at $5,000 a mile.

The discrepancy is in part accounted for by the fact that the electric roads run through densely populated sections only, while the steam railroads frequently traverse thinly populated districts. But while electric railway stocks are in general a good investment, there should be, as Mr. Sterrett judiciously indicates, as much care taken in purchasing street railway securities as in buying a horse or a house.

Make sure that the title is sound, that the property has been conservatively organized and is being conservatively managed, and that the territory is sufficiently populous to make the road pay. Always keep in mind the fact that each car must carry about three passengers at five cents each for each mile the car runs in order to pay expenses of operating the car.

This advice given by Mr. Sterrett to the investor is given here because it is information for the people who are to be affected whatever movement is commenced toward increasing the interurban travel in this state. That this character of transportation is to spread over Texas, there is no doubt, and it would be well for the people to give careful study to the benefits to each community which it will bring. The line between this city and Dallas is already a fine investment. It is carrying the bulk of the travel between the two cities and it is affording the suburban population excellent facilities to reach the cities to market the products of their farms and to do their purchasing where there is every competition. The trolley experiment in Texas is no longer an experiment. It is a success, and there is every indication that it will grow. Texas needs just such investments, and the prediction is made that the time is not very far distant when these lines will thread every part of this commonwealth.

SHE WILL DINE BOOKER T.

The effort of President Roosevelt to establish the social standing of Booker T. Washington failed, but there is a society woman who will make the attempt to give the negro a position in Washington, and her invitation has already been extended. Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruzer, whomsoever she may be, was interviewed by the New York Herald. When asked regarding the color line she said: "I am glad you happened to think of that," she replied quickly, posing one of the fragile cups in her jeweled fingers. "I am glad because I would like the Herald to put me on record as saying that I heartily approve of President Roosevelt's social recognition of Booker T. Washington. I consider Mr. Washington one of the greatest men this country has ever produced—a great genius. In fact, and recognizing him as such, I have sent him an invitation to be my guest during his next sojourn in Washington. "You will bring down the maledictions of the entire south on your head," I remarked. "I cannot help it. It is time that the common sense and common justice were being paid to the merits of the negro, and the most charitable of us cannot deny that the south has acted in a manner entirely unwarranted in its denunciation of those who would pay tribute to the genius of Mr. Washington. In inviting Mr. Washington to my house and to my table, I am not inviting him because he is a negro, but because he is a great genius and a noble Christian gentleman who represents a great principle. Surely, we cannot of democratic America can afford to be hostile to the struggling leader of a great cause, when the queens and empresses of Europe deign to dine and dance with the black heathen potentates of Africa.

"These prejudices, of which the negro problem is only a sample, are so many and so deeply imbedded that one-half of man's life is spent in trying to unlearn the false teachings of the other half. We have to devote so much time to getting rid of our foolish screw-earle pride, in banishing ready-made opinions that we are old men and women with addled brains before we begin to learn the first principles of right living and right thinking." The Telegram must confess it is unacquainted with Mrs. Cruzer, and a copy of "Who's Who" is not at hand, but her exact social position can be stated, but to be interviewed by the New York Herald is distinction sufficient to establish her as being of some importance at the time she was interviewed. What figure she will cut when the interview is scattered throughout this country and its every word has been allowed to percolate through the brain cells of the other people in the "Who's Who" set is a different matter. No matter where it is in the country, the negro cannot be established as a social equal of the whites. While the north rails against the "southern prejudice," as it is called, the negro is not admitted generally into society, and never will be. He has had a time in that regard in the north and east as he does here. In Washington it cannot be expected that he will be admitted socially, and he will not be. Mrs. Cruzer is not all of the Washington set, and she will be allowed to entertain her negro guest if she desires, but she will entertain him alone. The members of congress, the cabinet officers, and others who go to make up the first families of the city, will not accept such equalities, and she will soon find it out. It would not be a bad thing to ostracise people who discuss the race question as she does. Every such discussion puts bad ideas in the heads of the blacks, and causes trouble. It is just such talk that has caused a great deal of trouble with them in the south, because they will not be recognized in this part of the country, and if they do not know it now, they will soon find it out.

While the giving of railroad passes to legislators is objectionable, there are even worse crimes than that. One of these is the employment by the legislature of incompetent clerks merely because they happen to have a pull. The railroad are giving passes to all legislators now. Why would it not be a good plan to make the giving of these passes compulsory, if it can be done? The railroads would be out nothing, and the legislators would not be open to the imputation of bribe-taking.—Terrell Transcript.

There is no particular reason for providing legislators with free transportation. The state pays an exorbitant mileage to the member and it more than covers his expense going and coming. There is no reason the state should pay the mileage and the legislator travel free. And again, why should the state provide that its employees shall be given valuable privileges? No more demand passes on a railroad than free board from Austin innkeepers.

Rev. Cotton, a preacher of the Episcopal church at Fort Worth, has stirred up society by preaching a sermon on moral depravity, as it exists in the packing center. He says the Fort is as wicked as London and is helped to be made so by the lax church member, who indulges in those things mentioned in Holy Writ as revelings and calculated to lower the standard of Christianity.—Sherman Democrat.

There is a mistake here. He preached no such sermon and he did not say Fort Worth is worse than London. The fact is, Fort Worth is the healthiest, wealthiest and best place in the country.

Pension Commissioner Ware says: "No man can be unloaded on this office because he cannot make a living outside." Good. Now let all heads of departments resolve that no man can be unloaded or remain in this office who persists in making a fortune inside.—Houston Chronicle.

The trouble with clerks at the legislature is they are "unloaded" on the state by political friends and the result is numerous errors in the newly made laws.

The system we employ to locate winners is identical with that used by "Pittsburg Phil," John A. Drake, John Langley, W. L. Yeager and other famous plungers who win hundreds of thousands on the turf every year, and it proves just as successful. We gather our information of prospective winners through a force of expert horsemen who hold a watch on the horses in their early-morning trials, and in that way learn when they are ready to win. The money that is played into the game by persistent losers, such as the large mass of uninformed players are bound to lose, goes into the pockets of the big operators, of which the Maxim & Gay Co. representing a large clientele, stands at the head. The work of the Maxim & Gay Co. is to place the general public upon a level with the winning plungers, and our success in this accomplishment has made us famous on two continents. We do business only on the great race tracks of the U. S. We number among our clients some of the best known sportsmen, financiers and merchants in the country. Investment on the turf is now deemed as legitimate and the absolutely good faith in which turf affairs are conducted under the auspices of the Jockey Club in the East, and the Western Jockey Club in the West, has inspired millionaire capitalists and business men all over the country with the belief in racing as in the stock, grain and cotton markets, and this is one reason why transactions in the betting ring now rival in magnitude those of the stock, cotton and grain exchanges. Another reason for the rapid growth of turf speculation in popular favor, is the rapidity with which all transactions are wound up. The speculator makes his investment at the race track in the afternoon through us and receives a notification by mail, in a letter guaranteed to bear a postmark earlier than the race is run, of just what horses are to be backed for his account. By the next mail he is informed of the result of that day's operations, and he learns quickly just where he stands. At the end of each week he receives a complete statement of his account with a money order for his profits, less 25 per cent, which we deduct as our fee. This gives a wholesome tone to legitimate turf speculation which cannot be found in the more or less involved transactions of the big exchanges, and this is why turfmen live more comfortably and live longer than do men whose involved transactions are on their minds, day and night, for weeks and sometimes months at a stretch.

OUR CLIENTS WON A MILLION DOLLARS

As it is well known that our clients have collectively won as much as a million dollars at a single race meeting, it is sometimes asked: "Why do not Maxim & Gay simply sit down and bank their own selections instead of running a considerable clerical force and spending large sums in advertising in newspapers throughout the country?" The answer is simple enough if one stops to consider the situation. Maxim & Gay, by dint of ability, energy, organization, capital and advertising, have secured an enormous clientele, which means the command of immense capital. If we can pick winners for this immense number of investors, our profits are larger than if we played our own money on the turf. Our success is practically assured, for we have secured a regular, experienced, one man out of every four of our customers is practically a sure winner. The proof that this plan works for the benefit of the public as well as that they win three weeks out of four and our books show even to the customer who sits for two months ever failed to get well ahead of the game, while not a few of those who now own winning stables of race horses and who are cutting an important figure on the turf, began the game as mere novices, playing our selections through us. The principle upon which we operate is such that we must of necessity do the best we can for you. Our income, as pointed out, is derived solely from a percentage of the winnings of our clients, and if we cannot prove by the fact that we have prospered for upward of three years, pursuing more economical, efficient and less business-like methods have gone under by the score. Noting the success that was being enjoyed by our clients and more responsible firms, but who did not take the pains and public long to discriminate between the legitimate and the illegitimate, and as a result we have continued to flourish unobscuredly, while in the ranks of our rivals there have been scores of enterprises initiated, only to end in failure.

A Few of Hundreds of Recent Endorsements of the Press

- Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune, March 1, 1903. Maxim & Gay, who have been so successful in selecting winners at the New Orleans races, are in a class by themselves and have no relation in their system of operation to the "get-rich-quick" schemes that have recently gone to pieces disastrously on those who patronized them. Maxim & Gay do not guarantee their clients profits nor against losses, but merely play the money for their subscribers, a fixed percentage from winnings for placing the commissions. This point is made clear in all their announcements. That they guarantee to do is to confidentially handle all money forwarded them and place it on the races just as if it were their own. They have in their employ as "clockers" the most expert judges of track work in the country, and there is not a horse at the New Orleans meeting that they have not a record of. The information collected in this way is used to the benefit of their subscribers, and their entire attention is given to the business. Maxim & Gay are the pioneers in this line of investment or speculation; they have been established three years, and their business on a straight-forward business line; their methods have been thoroughly investigated and are entirely different from those pursued by the "get-rich-quick" schemes, so-called, which were but recently closed by the authorities. The transactions of Maxim & Gay are legal in every sense, and they do exactly what they advertise to do, that is, play the money of their subscribers on the horses they judge will win, and they usually win. Prompt and proper accounting is made of the result, but they guarantee no fixed profits, though those who have continuously patronized them have not been losers. St. Paul Dispatch, February 28, 1903. An investigation of the methods of the Maxim & Gay Co. shows them to be conducting their business on a straight-forward business line. They have been established nearly three years. They do not guarantee clients profits against losses, but merely play subscribers' money on judgment of experts, charging a fee for information and deduct a fixed percentage from winnings for placing the commissions. They are the Napoleon of this line of investment or speculation. N. Y. Morning Telegraph, February 23, 1902. Since the incorporation of the Maxim & Gay Co., the casual racegoer can possess himself of as much if not more knowledge of the comparative merits of the horses, and the chances of success, as the "regular" who burns the midnight oil studying from charts. He can secure through this company, which is incorporated under the laws of New York State, the expert knowledge and expert judgment of an experienced combination of horsemen whose duty it is to find out for him such things concerning the horses as he could not possibly find out for himself, unless he devoted his entire time and attention to the business. Even then, to do as well, he would have to possess a peculiar talent and be specially fitted by experience and natural ability. Cincinnati Times-Star, March 2, 1903. The Maxim & Gay Co. well known purveyors of turf information, should not be confounded with "get-rich-quick" turf investment or concerns of similar character. They have been established nearly three years. They place subscribers' money on judgment of their experts, and deduct a fixed percentage from winnings for placing the commissions. They are the Napoleon of this line of investment or speculation. Memphis Evening Scimitar, March 2, 1902. The advertisements that appear from time to time in the columns of various newspapers with reference to the turf plan of Maxim & Gay Co. tell a story entirely different from the exploits of the defunct "get-rich-quick" concerns. The Maxim & Gay Co. transact business thoroughly and solely on business principles.

They cannot make the game too big for us to handle. We move with every time. If you want to get aboard our discretionary series, at New Orleans, in which we play daily those and only those horses we think all betting propositions, with the privilege of not playing any horse at all on days when we consider conditions unpropitious, fill out the following blank and forward your remittance to us at New Orleans as soon as you can. Play will be begun on the first day of the season. If your money reaches us in time, otherwise we will begin play the first day it reaches us after the meeting has begun. EXPRESS STRIKE REACHES AN END

New Men Will Not Be Displaced for the Old Ones

"The trouble is all over and the Pacific Express Company is doing business as usual at the old stand," said Local Agent Edgel this morning, when seen by The Telegram.

Route Agent Price said that the men who are guilty of having committed any overt act during the trouble, would not be taken back by the company under any circumstances.

Several of the strikers were seen today, and all of them express regret that President R. E. Modie had decided to call the strike off.

"So far as the behavior of the strikers in Fort Worth is concerned, there never was occasion for the express company to take action against them," said a sympathizer this morning.

"The temporary injunction that was granted by Judge Meek of the federal court, against the men, expired yesterday by limitation, and there was no effort made on the part of the express company to have it renewed, possibly because it was known yesterday that the end of the strike was near."

All trains left the union station this morning fully equipped with express men, but not an old employe was put to work.

THE GAME AT WEATHERFORD To The Telegram: I trust that you will pardon me for writing to you concerning a news item which appeared in your Sunday's issue.

Wesley Chambers, a negro cotton picker, called him into the open, saying that he had something to tell him.

He then walked across the open ground surrounding the Chambers cabin, and observing Dan Washington, a negro, crouched upon him and struck him on the head with the sharp edge of the ax.

After committing the triple killing Craddock walked to Taylortown and mingled with the negroes there, subsequently joining in a game of craps.

Craddock was captured by a small posse of white men, but a crowd of between 250 and 300, composed largely of negroes, swooped down upon the posse and took possession of him.

Several of the strikers were seen today, and all of them express regret that President R. E. Modie had decided to call the strike off.

TROUBLES OVER STABLE CARS

Texas Roads Unable to Get Them When Needed—Other News

The railroads of the country are experiencing much annoyance and inconvenience over the matter of not being able to secure stable cars when they are needed—particularly in this case in Texas.

There are something like 150,000 of these stable cars in the United States owned exclusively by private corporations, and a move is under way, led by Commissioner Midgley of the Central Traffic association, headquarters at Chicago.

The situation just now regarding the private stable cars is deplorable. Railroads are unable to secure them to move cattle, but if they controlled them the cars, when not used in moving live stock, could be utilized in transporting other freight, such as lumber, coal and general freights.

These cars, as managed now, have an earning power both while in use and also while being unloaded, and are operated on a mileage basis.

Several of the railroads have accepted the situation as it is and are manufacturing their own stock cars. Other lines in the state may be forced to do likewise if they would be in a position to handle successfully the live stock business as it comes to them from all over the state.

A railroad man said today that it looked very much as though the railroads must be united if they would solve this problem.

CONDITIONS ON INTERNATIONAL

Charles J. Larimer, trainmaster of the International and Great Northern railroad, headquarters at Mart, is in the city, and discussing crop conditions along his line, said that the movement of cotton from all along the International was much heavier than it was expected it would be a few weeks ago, and that the road is handling great quantities to Galveston for export.

Mr. Larimer especially says that the cotton results in the boll weevil districts on the line are much more satisfactory than was first thought they would be, much to the surprise of all.

The International and Great Northern has been kept quite busy the past two weeks moving the cotton, and the shipments will continue some time yet.

Thirty Days Was My Life's Limit.

Agony From Inherited Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

One person in every four has a weak heart. Unless promptly treated a weak heart will easily become a diseased heart. A little extra strain from any cause is sufficient to bring on this deadly malady, the most common cause of sudden death. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will tone up the heart's action, enrich the blood and improve the circulation.

"My trouble began with catarrh and I have always supposed it caused the trouble I have experienced with my heart. I had the usual symptoms of sleeplessness, lost appetite, constipation, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and pain around the heart and under left arm. My mother suffered in the same way and I suppose mine was an inherited tendency. At one time I was in agony. I suffered so severely and became so weak that my doctors said I could not live thirty days. At this time I had not slept over two hours a night on account of nervousness. The least exercise, such as walking about, would bring on palpitation and fluttering of the heart so severe that I would have to give up everything and rest. Nerve and Liver Pills cured me of constipation and heart symptoms disappeared under the influence of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. I am in better health than I have been in twelve years and I thank Dr. Miles' Remedies for it. I think they are the grandest remedies on earth and I am constantly recommending them to my friends."—Mrs. L. J. CANTRELL, Waxahachie, Tex.

BATTLE WITH INDIANS IN WYOMING

Reported that Six Braves Have Been Killed as Result of Encounter With Sheriff's Posse and Volunteers

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 2.—Five hundred men, including sheriff's posses, augmented by volunteers from the ranches adjacent, are scouring the country in the vicinity of Lightning Creek, in Eastern Wyoming, in search of the band of Indians which Saturday fought a battle with Sheriff Miller's posse and killed the sheriff and one deputy named Fossenburg. The latest advices say that a second battle has been fought and ten Indians have been killed and eleven others captured, but this has not been verified.

News from the scene of the trouble, which is twenty-five miles from telegraphic communication, is very meager.

SEVENTY-FIVE IN BAND

The Indians, seventy-five in number, said to be under the leadership of Charles Carries Elk, are supposed to be Sioux from the Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies in South Dakota. They have been hunting in the Converse country, Wyoming, in violation of the game laws of the state. Sheriff Miller, with a posse, went to the scene of their depredations last Saturday and attempted to arrest the Indians. The Indians had received warning of the coming of the whites, and prepared an ambush for them. The posse would have been entirely wiped out but for the fact that they were proceeding cautiously, and were in a measure prepared for some trick on the part of the Indians.

INDIANS FIRE FIRST

At the first volley from the Indians Sheriff Miller and his deputies hastily hurried to cover, and then commenced a genuine fight. It is thought that at least six Indians were wounded, among the latter being Eagle Feather, a Sioux chief. The battle lasted almost an hour, when the Indians began to make their escape by ones and twos on horseback. They carried their dead and wounded with them and are now believed to be well on their way to the Bad Lands in Nebraska. The officers did not attempt to follow, but sent a courier to Lusk, the nearest telegraph office, with a message to Governor Chatterton, apprising him of what had occurred.

RANCHMEN ORGANIZE

The news of the battle spread rapidly, and every ranchman for miles around armed himself and joined the posse, which was organized to punish the Indians. The governor wired the interior department at Washington that the Indians must be immediately arrested.

For the last two weeks the band of Indians has been in Northeastern Wyoming, slaughtering game in violation of the law. In addition, the settlers have been complaining bitterly that the Indians have been killing and stealing their cattle. Settlers warned the leaders of the band to leave the country, but the redskins only laughed at them. They claimed that the government had so reduced the amount of the rations that they were forced to kill game to keep from starving. Charlie Carries Elk openly declared that if he and his followers were driven too far they would fight.

When Sheriff Miller of Weston county was notified of the refusal of the Indians to get out of the state, and the threats made by them, he organized a small posse, including R. D. Hackney, D. O. Johnson, Fred Howell, Lieutenant B. F. Hilton and James Davis, and started for Beaver dam, along which the redskins were encamped. On Friday the Indian camp was reached. It was deserted by all except the squaws, children and a few old men. The posse started on a search for the braves. They were located Sunday, and during the afternoon the whites were suddenly fired on and the battle followed.

Music and Drama

Attractions this week:

Tonight—"A Stranger in New York." Wednesday night—"A Trip to Chinatown."

Thursday night—Al G. Field's Minstrels. Friday, matinee and night—"The Chaperons."

Saturday, matinee and night—"Way Down East."

Last night Murray and Mack entertained a large audience at Greenwall's. It was a crowd of those seeking fun, amusement and laughter, and they were repaid for the attendance.

The attraction this year presented by this combination of Irish comedians is termed "A Night on Broadway." It has dancing, songs, beautiful costumes, hand-some scenery, and altogether is a first-class production of its kind. The singing was good, the dancing fine, the amusing situations all that would make one laugh. The applause was generous on the part of the audience.

"A STRANGER IN NEW YORK" Two of Hoyt's greatest comedies will be presented at Greenwall's opera house tonight and tomorrow matinee and night. Tonight "A Stranger in New York" will be given, and tomorrow matinee and night "A Trip to Chinatown."

"A Stranger in New York" and "A Trip to Chinatown" were considered by Mr. Hoyt himself the best efforts of his long and successful career. They are filled with bright dialogue, clever songs, dainty dances and a fund of humor which holds one in constant merriment from the rise of the curtain in the first act to its fall in the last.

FIELD'S MINSTRELS The Al G. Field's Greatest Minstrels offers everything worth hearing in the vocal line. Field's Minstrels comes to Greenwall's opera house Thursday night, November 5.

"THE CHAPERONS" That excellent company of sixty lyric artists and fun-makers in the big musical hit, "The Chaperons," will be seen in this city at Greenwall's opera house, Friday matinee and night, November 6.

"The Chaperons" has already made an enviable reputation as being one of the brightest, newest and most up-to-date of recent musical comedy offerings, and its success in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and its long engagement on Broadway at the New York theater all attest its worth.

"The Chaperons" has a singing cast of nearly twenty artists and a chorus of forty cultivated voices. A successful effort has been made to retain as many members of the New York cast as possible, as is demonstrated by the following list of names: John G. Sparks, Mabel Hite, Thomas Whiffen, Arthur Earnest, W. V. Strunz, May Boley, Genevieve Day, Carl Harberg, Oscar Ragland and Mae Stebbins.

"WAY DOWN EAST" "Way Down East," with its pretty story and quaint characters of New England life, will be seen at Greenwall's opera house Saturday, matinee and night, November 7. The play has become so well known through successive performances that any reference to its character seems almost superfluous.

ALEXANDER WEPT

When he found he had no other worlds to conquer and the sword that had clashed in battle with warring nations was sheathed amid tears. Instead of causing bloodshed with attendant pain and grief, Dr. Burkhardt considers his mission to be the healing of the sick. Encircling the globe he extended last year to $756,000 human beings a helping hand, and with his Vegetable Compound cured 80 per cent of the cases treated for Rheumatism, Constipation, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion and diseases of the Blood and Stomach. A 30 days' treatment can be obtained from any drug store for 25¢, or a six months' treatment for $1.00, with a guarantee to refund your money if a cure is not effected.

A GRUTCH FOR A COMPANION

Such is the inevitable lot of the man who allows his blood to become poisoned with acid secretions which his weakened kidneys have failed to throw off. Some morning he will wake up to find that this poison has been deposited in his joints and there he must sit, bound hand and foot with Rheumatism. No amount of rubbing, hot applications or liniment can ever cure Rheumatism. This can be accomplished only by such a remedy as will restore the natural action of the kidneys and purify the blood.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup

has been proven by test to be that remedy. It never fails to soothe and strengthen weak and wasting kidneys, neutralize the irritating acid, and purify and revitalize the blood. When the system has been thus purged of the cause of the disease, the stiffened joints will relax and the pain and inflammation disappear. In proof of this, read a few letters from those who have tried it:

MR. ANDREW WELCH, Aplene, Ala., says: Last March I was down in my back and hips so that I could not lift forty pounds. I took one bottle of your Liver and Blood Syrup and have had no trouble since. It also cured me of kidney disease, and I feel better now than I have in five years. As a spring tonic it is excellent."

MRS. DOLLY MARTIN, Jordan, Ga., writes: For years I have been troubled with my back; sometimes when down could not get up. After trying several other remedies I began to take Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and it has cured me. There is nothing like it. I wish every lady that has a weak back would try it."

Ask your dealer for it today. Dry form 25 cents. Liquid form 50 cents and $1.00. Send us two-cent stamp for sample bottle and write our Consultation Department for free confidential advice.

"Noise over a good deed."—Marcus Aurelius.

A number of thoughtful men who've inspected our special mid-season purchase of novelty woollens have told us that we're not making half enough noise about the beauty of the new fabrics—and their quickly-placed orders would seem to prove that they meant all the nice things they said.

A man who is going to pay anywhere from $50 down to $18 for a Fall Suit of some fancy fabric, can do one of two things:

He can go elsewhere and be shown the styles the other fellows have been showing since the season opened; styles bought far in advance, and therefore necessarily selected by guesswork.

Or he can come to this more progressive shop and choose his suit from fifty rich styles just bought; the cream of the season's proven favorites; patterns and colorings pronounced correct by the best custom tailors in that greatest of style centers—New York City.

Which are you going to do?

FORT WORTH NEEDS MORE SCHOOL MARMS

As a result of the regular meeting of the board of school trustees yesterday afternoon the board of examiners, consisting of Professors Hogg, Hammond and Pascal, will meet within a few days to examine applicants for the appointment as substitute teachers. It was announced at yesterday's meeting that the list of substitutes is about exhausted owing to the appointment of many as regular teachers. Professor Hogg asks that those who wish to apply for certificates confer with him as soon as possible.

The girls of the high school, it will appear, are prodigiously interested in the domestic science department which has recently been installed under the direction of Mrs. Slaight. Mesdames Frank Brady and Arthur Goetz were before the board yesterday afternoon in regard to this department. When it was started provision was made to teach thirty-five girls of the tenth and eleventh grades, but there was no stopping the girls and the result is that 112 belonging to the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades were enrolled.

The board allowed Mrs. Slaight $25 extra salary for her work and expressed themselves as cordially in sympathy with it. At the same time the school fund is in such shape at present that it cannot stand an extra drain and the board ordered that the class be reduced to the size originally provided for and limited to the tenth and eleventh grades, until other arrangements can be made.

Superintendent Hogg brought up the matter of the manual training department now being installed at the high school and asked whether the board intended to pay for certain instruments that will be required by the boys in the class and which will cost from $2.50 to $5.00. The board decided that the boys will have to bear this expense.

SOME VISITORS HERE AND WHAT THEY SAY

(By James Hays Quarles.)

One of the most prominent men in Texas is George Clark of Waco. Judge Clark has maintained that prominence for years, and today his every expression is given a hearing by the people of the state. He was at one time a man of such prominence that he was the attorney for every railroad in Texas except two, and as railroads do not employ ordinary talent, he was accorded first place in the legal profession. He has represented the state of Texas in the supreme court of the United States in boundary contentions, and in addition to this he has been prominent in politics. But Judge Clark will not talk politics today. He says he is attending to his law practice and is giving no attention to the political affairs of the country. It would be as natural to expect water to run uphill as to expect him to take no interest in politics, and he was urged to state whom he thinks will be nominated by the democrats, whom he thinks ought to be nominated, and what the platform will be and ought to be, but all the coaxing brought no response. He would not discuss the question from any standpoint. When it was insisted that the people would like to hear from him, he declined to allow that flattery to his vanity to move him to talk, and was mute.

The judge is good company. He is genial, and those who meet him in conversation enjoy it. Always ready with a good story, he always has listeners.

F. F. Hill of Denton county is in the city today. Mr. Hill is a former member of the legislature. He did not attend as a member of the last session, but spent the time practicing law. He will be a candidate, however, next year for his former seat in the house.

"The crops in Denton county this year are the best," he said this morning. "The farmers are making a half hate to the acre, which is more than they expected. The winter wheat crop is fine. Money is jingling in the pockets once more."

Joseph W. Stahl of Houston, who was depot quartermaster general of the Eighth army corps in the Philippines, is in the city. Mr. Stahl was a contractor in Houston for years prior to the breaking out of the war, and spent three years in the insular possessions of this country. He is now en route to Oklahoma prospecting, and if conditions there justify it, he will locate.

RAILROAD COMMISSION HELD A SHORT SESSION HERE

THE MEETING THIS MORNING WAS DEVOID OF INTEREST, BUT ONE SHIPPER APPEARING TO MAKE COMPLAINT AGAINST THE PROPOSED CLASSIFICATION

"I have always contended that it is not necessary for the commission to move from place to place in Texas, to accommodate the business men who desire to appear for the hearings, and this result today convinces me that I was correct."—Chairman L. J. Storey of the railroad commission.

"I wish we could have had this frost in San Antonio. It would kill the yellow fever."—Judge A. W. Houston, attorney for the Aransas Pass railroad.

"Wait until you get to Houston and I will give you a crowd who will talk to you. We are just waiting."—P. H. McNemer, manager of the Houston freight bureau.

The meeting of the railroad commission of Texas in this city today resulted in but one shipper appearing to protest against the proposed classification. Judge Storey announced in the hearing that the meeting to order that the hearing was fixed for Fort Worth and other points in Texas, so that business men would have the convenience of the commission at their homes, and urged all present who desired to protest to state their grievances. Zane-Cetti of the Texas Brewing company was the only one, and his objection was to the proposition to change the classification of empty beer kegs from one-fourth of class E to one-half of class E.

Commissioner Storey presided at the meeting. Commissioners Colquhoun and Mayfield being present. Secretary E. R. McLean was also present. Attending were Judge R. S. Lovett, president of the Houston and Texas Central; R. C. Fyfe, assistant general freight agent of the Cotton Belt; A. W. Houston, attorney for the Aransas Pass; J. Wharton Terry, general attorney for the Santa Fe; H. A. Jones, traffic manager of the Southwestern Pacific lines; D. H. Taylor, general freight agent of the Central; T. S. Miller, attorney for the Katy; P. H. McNemer, manager of the Houston freight bureau; George H. Turner, general freight agent of the International and Great Northern; D. B. Keeler, traffic manager of the Denver road; G. A. Taft, general superintendent of Wells-Fargo & Co's Express; N. A. Stedman, general attorney for the International and Great Northern; L. J. Polk, vice president of the Santa Fe; J. H. Hershey, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe; Judge George Clark of Waco, attorney; W. H. McMillan of Waco, general freight agent of the Texas Central; N. H. Lassiter, general attorney for the Rock Island; J. C. McCabe, general freight agent, Rock Island; S. W. Noble, commercial agent of the Central; S. B. Hovey, general superintendent of the Rock Island; W. C. Preston, general freight agent of the Frisco; F. H. Sterley of the Denver road; General Superintendent Davis of the United States Express Company; R. L. Price, route agent of the Pacific Express Company; T. N. Edgill, local agent of the Pacific Express Company; P. P. Stebbins, traffic manager of the Pacific Express Company, headquarters at St. Louis; J. F. Lehane, general freight agent of the Cotton Belt, and J. W. Allen, general freight agent of the Katy.

When the various reasons for the hearing were read, Commissioner Storey called for complaints. None were made, save and excepting that by Mr. Cetti. The roads were then called on and it was stated that all representatives understood that the roads were expected to present the argument at Austin when the commission meets there to finally dispose of the case.

The express companies were called on and they made the same statement as the railroads.

As there was nothing more before the commission, Judge Storey announced adjournment until tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock in Dallas.

THE ROUTINE PROCEEDINGS

The railroad commission of Texas met in Fort Worth this morning, in the county court room, the object of the meeting being to take up and consider the adoption of a classification of freights, together with the necessary rules to govern same, for application by railroads on shipments between points in Texas, and to discuss the classification of parcels of freight to be transported by railroads in passenger trains.

Judge Storey announced that this hearing was fixed at Fort Worth to give the business men an opportunity to attend, there having been some complaint that all could not attend a hearing in Austin. He asked for the complaints from business men of Fort Worth.

Zane-Cetti, president of the Texas Brewing company, protested against the proposed classification of empty packages at one-half class E. The custom at present followed by the brewery is to ship empties from small towns as they are gathered in small lots. If the brewery waits until it has empties sufficient for the minimum weight, it will cause an excessive amount of cooperation. The brewery, therefore, prefers to pay the minimum instead of paying the cooperation. For instance, if the minimum rate is $5, the brewery pays it and the railroad hauls about $3 worth of freight. If the rate is advanced to one-half of class E, the brewery would be forced to pay $10 instead of $5 and the road would perform no greater service. He called attention to the fact that breweries outside the state enjoy the rate of one-fourth of class E.

Mr. Cetti filed a brief with the commission. No other business man appeared to make complaint or protest.

Mr. Terry, for the railroads, answered that the roads desired to wait until the Austin hearing to make answer to the protests.

The express companies made the same answer and the commission adjourned to meet tomorrow in Dallas.

FORT WORTH MAY BE THE HEADQUARTERS

Charles E. Underhill of New York, special executive representative of the International Mercantile Agency, is in the city conferring with local business men regarding the location of the general offices of the company which are to be established in Texas.

The company expects to put offices in various parts of the state, and to handle the business affairs of the state as they are handled by the two big agencies now operating in this country. The general offices will employ a large force of men, and there is a desire on the part of several cities in the state to get the headquarters.

Mr. Underhill is undecided where he will advise the location. Whatever city gets it will be required to provide gentlemen of high business standing to compose a local board of directors, and one who is to be upon the national board.

The average peasant of Macedonia has a net yearly income of only about $50, of which about $17 goes on taxes. It is a common incident for villagers to cut down their fruit trees to avoid the tax on them.
