Compelled to Be on Her Feet the Larger Part of the Day Finds a Tonic in Pe-ru-na.

Miss Curtin, of St. Paul, Gives Her Experience.

MISS NELLIE CURTIN.

Peruna is sure to restore health by cutting off the weakening drain of the daily loss of mucus.

An Admirable Tonic.

Mrs. H. Kassatt, 1309 W. 13th Street, Des Moines, Ia., for over ten years the manager of a plant furnishing ladies' wear and employing hundreds of women, writes: "Two years ago I felt that I must take a long rest, as I had been unable to work for over a month and could not regain my strength. I could not sleep and was in a very nervous, high strung condition. I decided to try Peruna. I began to improve very shortly and in less than two months I was able to take up my work again, and felt better than I have for years."

Thousands of women have catarrh of some character and don't know it. We have thousands of testimonials like the above touching the merits of Peruna as a remedy for all catarrhal diseases. Do not delay. Buy Peruna to-day, for a day gained means a day so much nearer recovery.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

MISS NELLIE CURTIN, 646 Pearl street, St. Paul, Minn., head saleswoman in a department store, writes:

"I have charge of a department in a dry goods store, and after standing the larger part of the day, I would go home with a dull ache, generally through my entire body. I used Peruna and feel so much better that I walk to and from the store now. I know Peruna to be the best medicine on the market for the diseases peculiar to women."—Miss Nellie Curtin.

Nothing is so weakening to the human system as the constant loss of mucus. Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane produces an excessive formation of mucus. Whether the mucous membrane be located in the head or pelvic organs, the discharge of mucus is sure to occur.

This discharge of mucus constitutes a weakening drain; the system cannot long withstand the loss of mucus; hence it is that women afflicted with catarrhal affections of the pelvic organs feel tired and languid, with weak back and throbbing brain. A course of

EXAMINERS FOR SUMMER NORMALS

State Superintendent Names the Board Which Is to Serve This Year

AUSTIN, Texas, July 7.—Last week the state superintendent of public instruction took up the business of selecting the summer normal board of examiners for 1904. Papers filed with over 300 applications had to be duly considered. On Friday, July 1, appointments were tendered to the school men whose names and residences are here announced. Replies accepting the appointments and engaging to be on hand at the time set for the meeting of the board have not yet been received from all (several are understood to be in St. Louis or Chicago just at this time, and letters to some others probably had to be forwarded to summer addresses), but the appointments are announced as made, in order to inform the large number of necessarily disappointed applicants. Where so small a number of men have to be chosen out of so large a number it is evident that many individuals, in every respect as eligible as those selected, must be among those not included. Other things being equal, proper consideration had to be given to a fair geographical distribution. For example, many of the present appointees are from counties never before, or not in recent years, represented on this board, and no appointee this year is from a county represented last year. Superintendent Leffler in tendering each appointment made the following reservation:

"In making appointments for the summer normal board of examiners I have avoided, so far as I knew, the appointment of any one who is a member of the faculty of any summer normal institute; and in case any appointee should be serving in such capacity his appointment may be revoked."

The first series of summer normal institutes closes July 7, and the second and much larger series closes July 28. The board of examiners will convene at 9 a. m., July 21, and will work continuously until the completion of the task of grading the examination papers of about 4,000 applicants for teachers' certificates.

The personnel of the board is as follows: A. E. Arbuckle, Waco; Nat Benton, Alice; J. M. Betts, Morgan; H. M. Brown, Livingston; George H. Carpenter, Brownwood; W. C. Chandler, Marble Falls; W. W. Clement, Yukon; E. E. Edwards, Alpine; A. C. Elliott, Gatesville; J. H. Gibson, Sherman; C. P. Hudson, Marlin; W. L. Hudspeth, Cookville; J. H. Jenkins, Corsicana; W. O. Jenkins, Bellevue; W. N. Masters, Dossin; H. T. Matthews, Bowie; E. O. McNew, Mineral Wells; Eugene Oliver, Spurger; J. R. Reynolds, Trinity; E. F. Rollins, Centerville; A. C. Speer, Ferris; H. Thomas, Matador; A. Uhr, San Antonio.

MAYOR PRITCHARD SAYS COUNCIL WILL ACT

Offer of Samuels Avenue Residents to Help Construct Another Bridge Considered Favorably

The north side council will accept the proposition of the residents on Samuels avenue to help build a bridge across the Trinity river. Mayor Pritchard and the street committee of North Fort Worth visited this side of the river yesterday afternoon to investigate the offer of the residents along Samuels avenue to contribute a large sum to the river for a road and provide part of the funds for the construction of a bridge connecting that section with North Fort Worth.

At the time the offer was made there was nothing stated to show from what part of Samuels avenue the proposed road would run and yesterday's visit by the committee was for the purpose of learning this.

Mayor Pritchard stated after the inspection had been made that the proposed road would run directly from the Ben Terrell place to the river. Members of the north side council, he stated, would prefer to have the road further down the river, making a shorter crossing and would endeavor to secure a change in that respect. "We will accept the proposition as it now stands, however," said the mayor, "if arrangements cannot be made to have it further down."

TO ORGANIZE IN TERRY COUNTY

County Seat Is Selected and Officers Are Chosen by an Election

COLORADO, Texas, July 6.—H. L. Ware of Gomez, Terry county, was in Colorado this morning. From him it is learned that an election to organize Terry county, to elect all county officers and to select a place for the county seat was held last week. Two little towns were in the race for county seat: Browning and Gomez. They are about five miles apart. Gomez was supported mostly by the settlers and Browning by the stockmen, and Browning won by a majority of four, although some mistake was made in the count, that six or eight votes for Gomez were illegally thrown out and that there will be a contest. A big uproar was raised, and much indignation is felt by the friends of Gomez. Gomez is at present much the best town.

In the race for county judge the result was a tie between Mr. Copeland and E. S. McNairy. A third man was in the race for county seat, but he got left slightly behind. J. T. Boss was elected sheriff; Willie Dickson, clerk; Nelson, assessor, and Mr. Lounf, editor of the county paper, treasurer.

W. K. Clark, sheriff of Borden county, was in the city yesterday. He had been on a long chase for a criminal from Rowell and caught him at Sweetwater. He was charged with disposing of mortgaged property, and was taken back to Rowell. Had it not been for the telephone lines extending all over this country the offender could not have been apprehended.

The entire west is now in magnificent shape. The abundant and extensive rains have picture, rural in outline and restful in effect. There are many camps, all parts of the county being represented, while visitors from city and county are all about, the outside cities being represented in a measure by persons who are on the program. The reception given yesterday evening was a decided success, and enjoyable in every way. It was in honor of General K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, commander of the Texas division; Miss Katie Daffan of Ennis, president of the Texas division; Daughters of the Confederacy; Hon. N. R. Tisdal of Fort Worth, commander in chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and W. P. Lane, division commander of the Sons of Veterans.

The encampment closes Thursday and promises to be from beginning to end a most enjoyable event. With this beginning the probabilities are that grounds will be purchased for permanent encampments.

OLD SETTLERS TO HAVE WEDDINGS

Prizes Offered for Those Who Marry at the Picnic Near Sherman

SHERMAN, Texas, July 7.—Colonel C. L. Stowe states that he is rapidly adding new attractions to the list for the Old Settlers' picnic. "But," said Colonel Stowe, "one of the most pleasing features of each evening's program will be real weddings, to take place in full view of the crowd. I have already secured two couples and there is no doubt but that we will have one for each evening. I have visited the merchants of the city and a large number have generously subscribed presents that will greatly help in furnishing the homes of those who wed on this occasion. Young people who have everything fixed except the date might as well consent to have the happy culmination realized at this opportune time and be assured of useful wedding presents."

THE IRON TRADE GENERALLY DULL

The Holidays Have Interfered With What Little Business There Was

NEW YORK, July 7.—The holidays have interfered with what little business there was going, says the Iron Age, and the iron markets generally are dull. The mill and foundry consumption usually falls off considerably during this season of the year, owing to stoppage for repairs and remodeling. The foundry branch, the key to the situation, is held by the southern producers, who are at odds with the coal miners of whom they demand concessions in wages.

An indication of the attitude of buyers is furnished by the fact that a large pipe foundry, which sold 15,000 tons of cast iron pipe to Cincinnati, covered only a small part of the iron and then withdrew from the market again.

There has been a little more activity on the smaller outside open hearth basic steel plants. Chicago reports one lot of 10,000 of southern basic sold, while in New England a similar quantity was purchased for delivery during July and August.

The billet meeting is now being held, but until the whole basis of the association and its methods are changed the trade will pay very scant attention to it. How little official prices really mean is shown by the fact that consumers who have sliding scales will get their June bills at $19, when the official price is $24.

Plate and structural mills are to hold their meetings tomorrow. One of the points which the latter group should take into consideration is whether there is anything serious in the imports of foreign structural material which have taken place, and which importers claim can be done normally at present prices at home and abroad, for delivery at exposed points, like New England, the gulf and the Pacific coast. There has been a reduction in the price of black merchant pipe in line with last week's reduction in prices of boiler tubes.

On the whole the consumption of finished iron and steel in its many forms appears to continue rather light. It is interesting as bearing on developments of the second half year what shrinkage the rail tonnage will show. With a capacity of fully 3,500,000 tons, the mills thus far booked 1,590,000 tons, inclusive of orders carried over from last year. A considerable part of this already has been rolled, and it is not believed that any very important interests will buy for the second half of the year. That leaves the rail mills in rather a lean condition and reacts back on coke, ore, pig iron and steel.

CITY OF CHICAGO IS NOT LIABLE

Litigation Is Discouraged by Recent Ruling Handed Down by the Court

CHICAGO, July 7.—Litigation by the probable aggregate total of $8,000,000 has been discouraged by a ruling of Judge Holdom in the superior court, to the effect that the city of Chicago was not liable for any damages for the ironquins after fire. A suit by Eva Catherine Gibson for $15,000 damages because of a broken arm and an injured spine was the case decided. Sixty other suits are pending, and had the decision been against the city hundreds of other actions probably would have been filed.

CONFEDERATES IN ANNUAL CAMP

In McLennan County They Honor General Van Zandt of Fort Worth

WACO, Texas, July 7.—The Mecca just now is the Confederate encampment eight miles north of the city, in the pretty grounds and tents, wagons and general encampment paraphernalia form a pretty and attractive picture, rural in outline and restful in effect. There are many camps, all parts of the county being represented, while visitors from city and county are all about, the outside cities being represented in a measure by persons who are on the program. The reception given yesterday evening was a decided success, and enjoyable in every way. It was in honor of General K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth, commander of the Texas division; Miss Katie Daffan of Ennis, president of the Texas division; Daughters of the Confederacy; Hon. N. R. Tisdal of Fort Worth, commander in chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and W. P. Lane, division commander of the Sons of Veterans.

IN BELL COUNTY TEMPLE, Texas, July 7.—Bell County Camp 122, United Confederate Veterans, is holding its annual reunion today at Belton with a large attendance. The reunion is being held in Confederate park and will end tomorrow. The regular program observed today included a welcome address by C. A. Bate, mayor of Belton; addresses by Judge John M. Furman, John D. Robinson, George W. Tyler, Dr. E. H. Wells and W. H. Reid Jr.; recitations by Miss Varina Saunders and Addie Wilson; an essay by Miss Mary Hudson and a speech by Master Herbert Rafter. Perfect weather is on tap and the old veterans are having their usual good time.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also. "I was in poor health when I commenced taking Doctor Pierce's medicine," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced gaining in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing and hemorrhaging of the lungs. I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers. For I know it cured me." "The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath."

MR. GREENE'S WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

Estate Is Valued at About Twenty Thousand Dollars in This County

The last will and testament of the late Judge S. P. Greene was filed for probate yesterday. The estate is valued at about $20,000. Carrie E. Greene, wife of deceased, is made independent executrix. The will is dated April 5, 1899.

The will was written by the deceased. The last item reads as follows: "Upon my death I commend my soul to the God who gave and who has redeemed, through Jesus Christ, my Lord and Savior. My body I intrust to the loving care of my beloved wife, to be laid to rest in a quiet and unostentatious manner in such spot as she may choose for her own last resting place, so that when the final day shall come we may together arise to meet our Lord in the air."

LUMBER MEN ARE NOW REJOICING

They Were Glad to Know the Commission Had Reversed the Order

The lumber men here are much rejoiced over the final outcome of the recent efforts to have the railroad commission of Texas to rescind its action, placing lumber shipments on a class E basis.

The news was exclusively reported in The Telegram yesterday. All local dealers here have been making consignment under the provisions of the new ruling, but when officially notified yesterday by General Agent Zurn of the Texas and Pacific of the latest action of the commission, they immediately cancelled the rate at which the lumber had been sold and ordered that the old rate prevail.

As stated yesterday, the Texas and Pacific is the first road to make public the reversal of the commission's order regarding class E shipments of lumber. Other lines will no doubt promptly follow the Texas and Pacific in this regard.

Harbin, Manchuria, is only three years old, and yet it had, in December last, a population exceeding sixty thousand people, of whom half were Russians.

Harbor Is So Badly Wrecked It Will Be Out of Business for Awhile

NEW YORK, July 7.—Private advices received by cable are to the effect, says a Tribune dispatch from San Francisco, that the Port of Champerico, Guatemala, was almost, if not wholly destroyed last Tuesday by a tornado. Details are lacking, but from the few words received it is feared that the port will not be able to receive or ship goods for two months.

WORK NOW DOING ON WIRE BRIDGE OVER TRINITY

The Commissioners Have Commenced Necessary Repairs on the Structure That Have So Long Been Needed

At last work is being done on the old wire suspension bridge northwest of the court house. The structure has been in wretched condition for a long time and in its present state repairs were absolutely necessary for the safety of passing teams.

Farmers from the vicinity north and northwest of Fort Worth complained that they did not like to cross the long bridge on account of the cars and that the wire bridge was their only means of getting to the city. These farmers presented a petition to the city authorities, but the work of repairing fell to the lot of the county, Alderman Waggoner going before the commissioners and securing their pledge to do the work.

The bridge will be completely fixed over and strengthened in every way. One side will be left open for traffic, while the other one is undergoing repairs.

Folks who still dare to think will be to one of two conclusions: (1) Either that Mr. Knox is the only lawyer in America capable of conducting a suit against the trusts, which is preposterous (there are hundreds of lawyers as able as he is) and that the trusts were anxious to get him out of the attorney general's office because they fear him more than they do any other human being; or (2) that the Knox anti-crusade has been a bunco game from the beginning and that Messrs. Frick, Casset and Cameron, together with those whom they represent, procured for him the senatorship as a reward for favors already rendered the trusts secretly while in the cabinet and to be hereafter rendered in the senate.

JAPANESE SWARMED OVER MOUNTAINS TODAY EARLY

TATONE KIO, July 7.—The Japanese swarmed over the mountain crests early this morning and advanced on Kai Chou compelling General Chirokoff, with the center of the Russian vanguard, to fall back. A whole brigade of Japanese, with masses of cavalry, occupied the village of Nan Tay, driving out two companies of Russian infantry and two companies of Cossacks, who were entrenched there. The Japanese arrived within five miles of Kai Chou. It was then nightfall. General Samsonoff made a fierce attempt to check the Japanese. He galloped out with guns to shell the Japanese left and inflicted great loss on them, but fearing his retreat would be cut off he fell back and is now holding Kai Chou. General Chirokoff's force is stationed southeast of Kai Chou. The plans of the Japanese remain a mystery to the Russian commanders.

A NEW MAN AT THE ANCHOR FENCE

The Texas Anchor Fence Company has been particularly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. S. A. Mr. Shelton the manager, has been negotiating with Mr. Crager for several weeks before a contract was finally made. Mr. Crager is recognized by men in his line as one of the most eminent in the country. He comes direct from the great Salt Lake iron and wire plant.

hastened with them to the Nebraska delegation, where they waited them. Daniel J. Campau of Michigan, a gold democrat, did his best to lead the enthusiasm by rushing the steps leading to the chairman's platform and waving his hat wildly. The Parker men at once sought to offset the Bryan demonstration by howls on their side. Then followed wild scenes as delegations marched about the halls, trying to out-yell each other. This continued for eighteen minutes after Bryan had entered the hall.

The Parker men claimed that they had information before entering the hall that the Bryan demonstration had been arranged between the Hearst men and Tammany and they were preparing to meet it by a Parker counter outburst of their own. As the noise began to subside Chairman Williams seized a huge megaphone and endeavored to announce that the recess should end and it was time for the convention to come to order. There was still so much confusion as the huge gathering was trying to compose itself that the chairman's voice, even through the megaphone, was hardly audible. It was finally ascertained that the committee of credentials was ready to report. Just at this instant Mr. Bryan rose in his place and began making his way to the platform.

As soon as this was observed up went the convention again on its feet and the cheers arose with fresh vigor. Mr. Bryan's objection to the platform was to present a minority report to that of the credentials committee. He is a member of the committee by proxy, bearing that of Delegate Casper of Nebraska. When Mr. Bryan was fully on the platform the speaker in the gallery to the rear gave him a cheer. He turned around and bowed. Chairman head of the committee had not yet put in an appearance with the majority report of the committee and Mr. Herz was dispatched for it. In the meantime, amidst great confusion, Delegate Robinson of Alabama jumped to his chair and shouted a motion, that pending the arrival of Mr. Herz with the report, Governor Beckham of Kentucky address the convention.

Market Quotations

NORTH FORT WORTH, July 7.—Receipts were hardly as large as expected, but the opening tone of the market was such that all salesmen claimed they had all they cared to dispose of. Opening receipts amounted to forty-eight cars, or about 1,800 head, with enough reported to make an estimate of the total figure around 1,500.

Receipts of hogs were again light and, with seven cars shipped in, receipts were estimated at about 400 head. The quality and weight were both good and showed an improvement over yesterday. Flood conditions at Kansas City were reported serious and closing market came in quoted lower. In spite of this fact there was a strong demand for all offerings here, and all offerings sold early, gaining another advance, selling strong to 5c higher compared with yesterday. A top of $5.40 was reached today for hogs, averaging 221 pounds, with the bulk of sales around $5.37 1/2.

WILLIAMS' KEYNOTE SPEECH

The speech delivered by Congressman Williams at the opening of the democratic convention is rather a remarkable document. It not only dissects and exposes the hidden meaning of the platform and policy of the opposition party, but it closes with a magnificent outline of democratic principles, which will not fail to appeal to the American people.

In the outset of the address Mr. Williams pays his respects to the egotism of Secretary Root and the mutual admiration society which consists of the president and the former secretary of war. The Mississippiian takes the former secretary by the scruff of the neck and shakes him as a life dog would shake a rat, and then drops him in a heap to extricate himself and straighten his broken bones as best he can.

Root's claim for the republican party and lays bare the remarkable nerve of the spokesman of the party in claiming for his organization everything in sight.

The speaker next takes up the republican platform and exposes its ingenious wording so that all the world may read. The platform was well written. It was turned out by a master hand and its superficial appearance was pleasing to the country. It looked good in print. But Mr. Williams has gone below the surface, and picking over the fabric he has torn it piece by piece and has shown that in the warp and woof of the weaving there were threads which were not genuine material.

His promises on the part of the democratic party are promises which will appeal to the American people. He outlines a system of good government, a platform which is American in every sense of the word, so American that it will not be rejected by the people who favor a democratic republican form of government.

There is a threat for the North and for the republicans in the discussion of the race question, and coming as it does from the congressman of the state wherein lives Vardaman, who has come out so emphatically on the question, it shows that there is bravery among the Southern people and they will be willing to meet the issue at any time. He dares the republicans to make it an issue.

All in all the speech of Congressman Williams is a very able document; placed side by side with that delivered by Mr. Root, it will result in the complete annihilation of the argument of words put forth at Chicago.

EATING AT SEA

A statement from the North German Lloyd Steamship Company shows the food consumption on all its vessels during the year 1903. The report goes into detail as to items, and the aggregate shows some astounding facts. The total cost of provisions consumed is $4,000,000.

The consumption of meat was 81,000 hundred weight, divided as follows: 13,270 oxen, 14,208 pigs, 7,205 calves and 16,243 sheep. The quantity of game and poultry consumed was 684,000 of poultry and 65,000 game weighing 1,166,000 pounds. Not less than 5,800 cows were required to meet the demand for butter and milk; 4,577,388 eggs were used, the product of at least 20,000 hens; 150,000 hundredweight of potatoes and 67,446 hundred weight of flour. It would require 7,900 acres to produce the wheat from which the flour was made. The quantity of bread used on the vessels of this line would suffice to furnish the whole German army, 495,590 men in time of peace, with fresh bread for twelve days. Some 50,000 bottles of champagne and over 100,000 bottles of claret were drunk by the passengers. The total beverages in gallons was 1,456,233.

From the manner in which cabinet positions are accepted and relinquished under the Roosevelt administration the president evidently wants to pass the honors around on a rotation in office policy or else a lot of fellows want to have ex before their names.

Gainesville is to have a street car line. At a recent meeting of the city council a franchise was granted E. J. O'Beirne, manager of the electric light plant in that city, who proposes to encircle the city with electric transportation facilities. For two years of forts have been made to put in a car line there, and one enterprising citizen is going ahead with the work. Gainesville will this year be one of the prosperous towns of the state because crop prospects in that section are fine.

CHARACTER

There is one thing the getting of which will not hurt you and of which you cannot get too much. And it is the only thing of which this can be said:

It is easy to be harmed by money-getting and it is comparatively easy to get more money than is good for you.

It is easy to be harmed by getting reputation and you can get more of some kinds than is good for you.

It is easy to be harmed by getting money and you can get more of some kinds than is good for you.

Only one man—if it be lawful indeed to call him a man—has ever been an Alexander Selkirk of character—monarch of all he surveyed.

An Alexander the Great of character need never weep for more worlds to conquer. However high and noble and good and gentle he may be, there are whole continents of character yet to be conquered.

We are like Mrs. Means in our getting: "While you're getting, get a plenty, says I." That is what we are all trying to do—get a plenty of money or reputation or happiness.

THE NATIONAL LUXURIES

Bishop Henry C. Potter says national dishonor menaces America, his words being:

But in discussing the pitfalls and dangers assailing us as a people, one can not overlook the love of display, the craving for luxuries, the widespread disposition to make life more ornate and less rugged, more smooth and less satisfying than when the foundations of this country were laid. Explain as you choose that the austere life of the fathers has proved the luxury of the children; appeal to the age as placing great luxury within easy range of a greater number—the fact remains that on the whole our habits are not simple, our training is not frugal, and our social customs are not plain nor unobtrusive. This national love of luxury paved the way for national dishonor. France discovered it in the reigns of the Louises. England experienced it in the time of Charles. Costliness of living and unlimited personal indulgence mean enfeebled manhood and decaying intelligence.

It is a distressing condition of affairs when a prelate of the church is called on to point to the presence or too much luxury in living, and warns the people of the result. This luxury is shown in many ways about us every day, and it is not surprising that a broad-minded, conservative churchman like Bishop Potter is attracted by it. We know that excesses are practiced from day to day by the people of this country, and as he says history teaches us it was just such an excess of living which preceded the collapse of the Roman empire.

If the people who are engaged in this fast life, this luxurious life or this aristocratic life, whichever you may call it, will but pause for a moment and study the conditions about them, will study the manner of their living and the manner of living of those who are without their charmed circle, there is a chance that they will realize that some change can be made, some improvement be brought about.

We are not disposed to criticize those who have an excess of the wealth for the manner of its spending. There is no jealousy on account of their portion being great and some other person's being small. Let them spend it, let them hoard it and let them enjoy it as they will, but there are many ways of enjoying it without going into the fast life which is a feature of this country today.

Bishop Potter suggests: Where shall we look for a corrective? I answer, in a higher ideal of the true wealth and welfare of the nation. Nothing in our day covers so many faults as money. Neither the joy of birth nor the tragedy of death are separate from a query as to how much shall be inherited or bequeathed.

While we scorn the French marriage of convenience in name, we hallow and observe it most religiously in fact. Poverty, if not a disgrace, is somehow accounted an impertinence, and the vulgarities of ostentatious display are pardonable and even admirable in precise proportion to the size of the fortune that indulges them.

As for our mothers, it is certainly regrettable that American women of a certain prominent class are opposed to large families. Formerly the best women and men of the young republic came from large families. It was the association of large families of children with each other, the doing for each other and their mutual bits of self-denial that made the men of strong character and the women of noble domestic lives of other generations.

There is food for thought in these suggestions. May the warning given have some effect, and the future will show more American people in this America.

Mississippi should be proud of her favorite sons. John Sharp Williams, her congressman, is the temporary chairman, and Joseph Weldon Bailey, who has adopted Texas as his home, looks to Mississippi as the state of his nativity, is the permanent chairman. Verily she is the mother of chairmen.

Just about the time things are becoming settled and the members of the cabinet are all personally acquainted, the president will look about the room at a regular meeting, and will remark as he looks at one of his official family "Mr. Secretary, it is your move," and then comes another change.

It does seem real funny to hear shouts for Cleveland and shouts for Bryan in the same convention.

Isn't it about time for another change in the cabinet?

SYNOPSIS

"The Gentleman from Indiana" is the story of a young college man, journalistically inclined, who buys the local paper in a small Indiana town. Through his fearless editorials he gains fame for himself and paper and becomes an important factor in politics. In the neighborhood of the town is a colony of poor whites who are constantly terrorizing the neighborhood by their lawless deeds. The young editor makes a fight against these people, convicting several of the men, thereby gaining their enmity. The town folk, loving him dearly, detail the young men of the town to guard him at night. A Miss Sherwood from the east comes to visit Judge Briscoe, one of the community's most influential men. She hears of the young editor and becomes greatly interested in his work. One evening a child from the "cross roads," the lawless settlement, is discovered in the village. Mischief is suspected and the editor is closely guarded.

The night that the little girl is discovered in the village the young editor walks in the moonlight to Judge Briscoe's house. As he approaches the house he hears strains of music and stops in the moonlight to listen and think of his college days. When the music ceases he starts for the house to greet the musicians. As he does so a figure springs from a clump of bushes and a shot rings out. Immediately pandemonium reigns. Miss Sherwood runs to the editor's aid. They give chase to the assailant but he escapes.

"I should say not," said William, with a deep frown and a jerk of his head toward the rear of the house. "He jokes about it enough. Wouldn't even promise to carry a gun after this. Said he wouldn't know how to use it—never shot one off since he was a boy, on the Fourth of July. This is the third time he's been shot at this year, but he says the others was at a what 'd he call it?"

"A merely complimentary range," Briscoe supplied. He handed William a cigar and bit the end off another himself. "Mindie, you better go in the house and read, I expect, unless you want to go down to the creek and join those folks."

"Me!" she exclaimed. "I know when to stay away, I guess. Do go and put that terrible gun up."

"No," said Briscoe lighting his cigar deliberately. "It's all safe; there's no question of that; but maybe William and I better go out and take a smoke in the orchard as long as they stay down at the creek."

In the garden shafts of white light pierced the bordering trees and fell where June roses breathed the mild night breeze, and here, through summer spells, the editor of the Herald and the lady who had run to him at the pasture bars strolled down a path trembling with shadows to where the creek tinkled over the pebbles. They walked slowly, with an air of being well accustomed friends and comrades, and for some reason it did not strike either of them as unnatural or extraordinary. They came to a bench on the bank, and he made a great fuss dusting the seat for her with his black slouch hat. Then he regretted the hat—it was a shabby old hat of a Carlow county fashion.

It was a long bench, and he seated himself rather remotely toward the end opposite her, suddenly realizing that he had walked very close to her coming down the narrow garden path. Neither knew that neither had spoken since they left the veranda, and it had taken them a long time to come through the little orchard and the garden. She rested her chin on her hand, leaning forward and looking steadily at the creek. Her laughter had quite gone; her attitude seemed a little wistful and a little sad. He noted that her hair curled over her brow in a way he had not pictured in the lady of his dreams. This was so much prettier. He did not care for tall girls. He had not cared for them for almost half an hour. It was so much more beautiful to be dainty and small and piquant. He had no notion that he was sighing in a way that would have put a furnace to shame, but he turned his eyes from her because he feared that if he looked longer he might blurt out some speech about her loveliness. His glance rested on the bank, but its diameter included the edge of her white skirt and the tip of a little white, high heeled slipper that peeped out from beneath, and he had to look away from that, too, to keep from telling her that he meant to advocate a law compelling all women to wear crisp white gowns and white kid slippers on moonlight nights.

She picked a long spear of grass from the turf before her, twisted it absently in her fingers, then turned to him slowly. Her lips parted as if to speak. Then she turned away again. The action was so odd, somehow, as she did it, so adorable, and the preserved silence was such a bond between them, that for his life he could not have helped moving half way up the bench toward her.

"What is it?" he asked, and he spoke in a whisper such as he might have used at the bedside of a dying friend. He would not have laughed if he had known he did so. She twisted the spear of grass into a little ball and threw it at a stone in the water before she answered:

"Do you know, Mr. Harkless, you and I have not 'met,' have we? Didn't we forget to be presented to each other?"

"I beg your pardon, Miss Sherwood. In the perturbation of comedy I forgot."

"It was melodrama, wasn't it?" she said. He laughed, but she shook her head. "Purest comedy," he said gaily, "except your part of it. You shouldn't have done it. This evening was not arranged in honor of 'visiting ladies.' But you couldn't think me a comedian. Truly, I didn't plan it. My friend from Six Crossroads must be given the credit of devising the scene, though you divined it."

"It was a little too picturesque, I think. I know about Six Crossroads. Please tell me what you mean to do."

broad shoulders (he shook the stoop out of them). She stretched her small white hands toward him and looked at them in contrast and broke into the most delicious low laughter in the world. At this he knew the watch on his lips was worthless. It was a question of minutes till he should present himself to her eyes as a sentimental and susceptible imbecile. He knew it. He was in wild spirits.

"Could you realize that one of your dangers might be a shaking?" she cried. "Is your seriousness a lost art?" Her laughter ceased suddenly. "Ah, no! I understand Thiers said the French laugh always in order not to weep. I haven't lived here five years. I should laugh, too, if I were you."

"Look at the moon," he responded. "We Plattvillians own that with the best of Metropolitans, and, for my part, I see more of it here. You do not appreciate us. We have large landscapes in the heart of the city, and what other capital has advantages like that? Next winter the railway station is to have a new stove for the waiting room. Heaven itself is one of our suburbs—it is so close that all one has to do is to die. You insist upon my being French, you see, and I know you are fond of nonsense. How did you happen to put 'The Walrus and the Carpenter' at the bottom of a page of Fiske's notes?"

"Was it? How were you sure it was I?"

"In Carlow county?"

"He might have written it himself." "Fiske has never in his life read anything lighter than cuneiform inscriptions."

"Miss Briscoe—"

"She doesn't read Lewis Carroll, and it was not her hand. What made you write it on Fiske's manuscript?"

"He was here this afternoon. I teased him a little about your heading in the Herald—"

"—and he said it had always troubled him, but your predecessor had used it, and you thought it good. So do I. He asked me if I could think of anything that you might like better and put in place of it and I wrote 'The Time Has Come,' because it was the only thing I could think of that was as appropriate and as fetching as your headlines. He was perfectly dear about it. He was so serious. He said he feared it wouldn't be acceptable. I didn't notice that the paper he handed me to write on was part of his notes; nor did he, I think. Afterward he put it back in his pocket. It wasn't a message."

"I'm not so sure he did not notice. He is very wise. Do you know, I have the impression that the old fellow wanted me to meet you."

"How dear and good of him!" She spoke earnestly, and her face was suffused with a warm light. There was no doubt about her meaning what she said.

"It was," John answered unsteadily. "He knew how great was my need of a few minutes' companionship with—"

"No," she interrupted. "I meant dear and good to me. I think he was thinking of me. It was for my sake he wanted us to meet."

It might have been hard to convince a woman if she had overheard this speech that Miss Sherwood's humility was not the calculated affectation of a coquette. Sometimes a man's unsuspicion is wiser, and Harkless knew that she was not flirting with him. In addition, he was not a fatuous man; he did not extend the implication of her words nearly so far as she would have had him.

"But I had met you," said he, "long ago."

"What!" she cried, and her eyes danced. "You actually remember?"

"Yes. Do you?" he answered. "I stood in Jones' field and heard you singing, and I remembered. It was a long time since I had heard you sing."

"I was a ruffler of Flanders. And fought for a florin's hire. You were the dame of my captain And sang to my heart's desire."

WEATHER SHARKS TO HAVE MEETING. Convention of the Observers Is to Be Held in St. Louis in the Near Future.

D. S. Landis, official in charge of the local weather bureau, has received a communication from Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture regarding the coming convention of weather bureau officials in St. Louis during October.

The communication states that the secretary has recommended that a part of the program be devoted to the discussion of practical meteorology and climatology as necessary in the course of study in certain universities and technical institutions.

Among the subjects announced for discussion at the meeting are: "Universities that Now Provide Courses in Meteorology," "Character of Their Courses," "Demand for Such Courses," "Didactic Value of Meteorology as a Course of Manual Training" and "The Commercial or Pecuniary Value of Meteorology as a Professional Career."

In discussing the matter the secretary stated that he is desirous of having it brought before the educators of the country and that the topics be discussed by the press, that the people in general may become better informed on such subjects and have brought before them more clearly the science which he refers to as now in its infancy, but a little giant in the future will be proud to honor.

A movement is now on foot in this country to establish a fund for the reward of research and discoveries in meteorology similar to those provided for by the German government. The movement in Germany was under the leadership of Professor Partner, a trained scientist, who says that good results are obtained in this way. It is thought likely that the higher universities may establish such a system of incentive to the study of meteorology even should the government fail to do so.

Leaves of absence will be granted to a great number of officials in charge of the government stations to attend the convention.

The way in which billiard-playing is simplified by the device of a Munich professor has astonished those who have witnessed the feat. The sides of an ordinary billiard table are provided with six mirrors, one on each of which can be viewed from above a play in which the advantage rests in the fact that one image is reflected by the same angle in which it falls on the mirror, just as the billiard ball rebounds from the cushion in the same angle.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that The State National Bank of Fort Worth, located in the city of Fort Worth, in the county of Tarrant, and state of Texas, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes, approved July 12, 1862."

Now, therefore, I, Thomas F. Kane, deputy acting comptroller of the currency, do hereby certify that The State National Bank of Fort Worth, located in the city of Fort Worth, in the county of Tarrant, and state of Texas, is authorized to have its name for the period specified in the second section of said act, continued, in accordance with the provisions of said act, until the close of business on June 30, 1904.

In testimony whereof, without any hand or seal of said National Banking Association, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the Treasury Department, at Washington, D. C., this 7th day of July, 1904.

T. F. KANE, Deputy Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

REPUBLICAN SAYS LAW IS IGNORED. Local Representative of the Party Does Not Believe a Ticket Will Be Out.

A gentleman heretofore active in republican circles said to a representative of The Telegram this morning that it is his opinion that no republican ticket will be nominated in Tarrant county.

"There are two strong factions in the party in this county," he said, "and either would prefer democratic success than that the other faction should gain any advantage."

"Chairman Barkley is organizing his friends to retain his present position and Postmaster Burroughs is also trying with him to control the party, as his own appointment comes up within the next two years. No one seems anxious that the party should get together and make a stand for party principles. It looks to a man up a tree that the few officers are all the leaders desire."

"It also looks as if no legal republican convention can be held this year outside of a few city wards, as a letter received in this city from the attorney general's office holds that the time and place must be designated by the chairman in his official care. This Chairman Barkley has failed to do, although the democratic party was careful to comply with the letter of the law. Therefore it would appear that the Territorial law was not complied with by the republicans and no legal primaries can be held except in a few city wards, where time and place were designated."

"What do you think would be the effect if primaries were to be held where the law was not complied with?" asked The Telegram man.

"I could not say in advance," replied the gentleman, "but I should think it would be a case for the county attorney and the grand jury as it would be a clear violation for such illegal primaries to participate in a county convention, and doubtless such action would make some one liable to the penalties of the Territorial law."

Treasury Department, Office of Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, June 20, 1904.

Whereas, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that The State National Bank of Fort Worth, located in the city of Fort Worth, in the county of Tarrant, and state of Texas, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes, approved July 12, 1862."

Now, therefore, I, Thomas F. Kane, deputy acting comptroller of the currency, do hereby certify that The State National Bank of Fort Worth, located in the city of Fort Worth, in the county of Tarrant, and state of Texas, is authorized to have its name for the period specified in the second section of said act, continued, in accordance with the provisions of said act, until the close of business on June 30, 1904.

In testimony whereof, without any hand or seal of said National Banking Association, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the Treasury Department, at Washington, D. C., this 7th day of July, 1904.

T. F. KANE, Deputy Acting Comptroller of the Currency.

"THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA"

NOW RUNNING SERIALLY IN THE TELEGRAM

LITTLE STORIES OF ST. LOUIS CONVENTION

(Staff Service of The Telegram) ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 6.—Characteristic Hearst placards decorate the exterior of the Jefferson hotel. One of them is a monster sign-board, forty feet long and thirty inches high bearing the legend, "Hearst Headquarters." Every letter of the two words is outlined in incandescent lights, of which there are 176. Above the headquarters sign is an American flag, also of heroic proportions. Likewise brightly illuminated. Amusement was occasioned by the signature of the artist who decorated the headquarters sign. Some deem it significant or prophetic. The gentleman's name is "Zero Marks."

William Jennings Bryan was much sought by the photographers, as well as by the interviewers. He was dragged out of the Jefferson hotel and submitted good naturedly to the advances of both. First the snappers took him alone and just as they were about to abandon him, a man carrying his little girl—Josephine Grimberg is her name—requested the famous Nebraskan to shake hands with the little one. He did so, smilingly, and the snappers, realizing the "human interest" of the picture, begged him to maintain his attitude for a few moments, that they might immortalize him and the child together. Obligingly he consented, holding Josephine's hand until the chorus of clicks told him that the camera men had done their work. "If my wife knew that I'd been holding a young lady's hand this long, I'd catch it," was his good natured parting comment.

Among the Michigan delegates who called on David B. Hill at his headquarters was Edward Ryan, Jr., a young man of 28, who lives at Hancock. Mr. Ryan told Senator Hill that he was born on the day that Samuel J. Tilden was nominated in this city in 1876 by the democrats and that his father, Edward Ryan, was a delegate to the convention which nominated him.

"We demand a plank in the platform calling for the admission to statehood of a single state of the territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory." The speaker was Phineas Fox, a delegate from Indian Territory, with Indian blood in his veins and David B. Hill was the champion. Mr. Fox was a Moman Pruet; also from the Indian Territory, and William D. Caldwell, a delegate from Oklahoma. They told the sage of Wolfert's Roost that such a plank was needed not only for commercial and business reasons, but that political exigencies made it necessary. "The government appropriates $75,000 annually for jails in Indian Territory," continued Mr. Fox, "but not one penny for the education of the 255,000 school children within the territory. We are at statehood and we want a big state." Senator Hill made no promises.

David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana delegation, accompanied by Mayor Wells of this city, were among the callers at Hill's headquarters soon after the latter's arrival in this city. The two Davids met and had an agreeable chat, in which politics did not figure largely. "That's the first time Governor Francis has been down town in eleven weeks," remarked a friend of the exposition president.

The national committee has read the riot act to the local committee and the people of St. Louis in general. Admission tickets to the democratic convention are in such demand that the hall could be filled if it were twice as large. "The people of St. Louis have had their share in the rioting they are asking for more, and this is what the national committee practically tells all applicants: 'We gave you the convention and we'll furnish the audience.'"

The convention preliminaries have reached the first shaking stage. In the hotel corridors strenuous exhibitions of oratory are given, and it is not an uncommon sight to see one man shaking his fist in the face of another. A crowd of Hearst orators invaded the Jefferson hotel corridor. Nearly all of them were glib-tongued young men and loud in their denunciation of Parker. They came from New York, Chicago and other cities and all of them know how to talk and argue. As a rule they got the better of the Parker talkers.

J. Hamilton Lewis, the irrepressible, came in yesterday. He soon had an admiring crowd about him in front of the Jefferson. Lewis was a congressman from the state of Washington, but he is in this convention as a delegate from Illinois. "I'm against Parker," he told those who were willing to listen. "What I expect to see is a combination on some one like Gray of Delaware or Pattison of Pennsylvania. With either one of these as the leader we could win."

When Bourke Cockran got in he stopped to shake hands with ex-Senator J. K. Jones, the national chairman. Jones complimented him upon his personal appearance and Cockran acknowledged the salutation in courteous vein. "But a placid countenance," said Jones, with a twinkle. "may often be attributed to an absence of all conscience as much as to a peaceful conscience." Cockran, perhaps, may have been reminded of the charge of venality in the McKinley campaign recently made against him on the floor of the house by Congressman Daboll of Pennsylvania, for his brow clouded just a trifle. "You may attribute it to either," he said, somewhat coldly, as he turned to shake hands with a less sarcastic admirer.

DEVELOPMENT OF SOUTH BOSQUE FIELD

WACO, Texas, July 6.—According to deals made yesterday there will be immediate and thorough development and investigation of the oil field discovered at South Bosque, ten miles west of Waco, on the Cotton Belt Railway. Plenty of capital is behind the movement and Judge R. E. Brooks of Houston, who made vast sums of money at Beaumont, will be in charge of the development work of the South Bosque Oil Company, this deal having been consummated yesterday afternoon and formally closed.

In addition to these operations on leases controlled by the South Bosque Oil Company, the Mary Ellen Oil Company of Beaumont, of which T. H. Bass is president, J. M. Easton vice president and Denny Call the banker, secretary and treasurer, will begin development operations at once. This company has one derrick on the ground with machinery on the way here. Judge Brooks has Jim Hamill, a well known driller, here, and outfits for drilling will be shipped immediately. Judge Brooks is in Corsicana today, looking into the refinery proposition. W. H. Jones of Waco is interested near South Bosque and starts two wells next week. As these wells are only 450 feet deep and in favorable formation a heavy flow can easily finish one in seven or eight days. The oil is high grade and thus far a pumping proposition.

Judge Brooks expects that it will continue a pumping proposition, but many regard this as a better and safer field than the gushers with their freaks, loss of oil, dangerous gas and feverish excitement. Samuel Herman of Cincinnati is here, also, and was one of the first men to aid Messrs. Bart Moore, L. Michel, Spencer and Grim in development work. He has had wide experience in oil matters and feels that a good, safe proposition has been found at South Bosque by patient investigation conducted by Mr. Moore and his companions. In the next thirty days something highly interesting is expected at South Bosque.

WOMAN PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BANK

TEMPLE, Texas, July 6.—Probably one of the few, if not the only national bank in Texas with a woman president has recently been organized at Bartlett, a town of goodly proportions and a fine trade center on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, twenty miles south of Temple. Mrs. Mary A. Bartlett is president of the Bartlett National bank and her son, John T. Bartlett, Jr., is vice president. The town was established and named after the late Colonel John T. Bartlett, Sr. The line dividing Bell and Williamson counties passes through the center of the town and the inhabitants enjoy the unique distinction of having the benefit of two separate county governments. The city government and the postoffice are accredited to Williamson county. Bell county is a "dry" county, while across the street in Williamson it is "wet." By this means the town catches the supporters of both sides of the prohibition controversy a-comin' and a-goin'.

FOUND DEAD IN YARD

PARIS, Texas, July 6.—Mrs. Frank Tucker, wife of a well known farmer near Bagwell, twenty-five miles east of here, arose at 5 o'clock to make a fire in the stove. Her husband got up an hour later and found her dead in the yard. The manner of her death is yet a mystery.

SHERMAN COUNCIL VOTES ON STORAGE

Effort Being Made to Admit Liquor to Local Warehouses of That Place

SHERMAN, Texas, July 7.—An ordinance proposed to regulate the operation of cold and cold storage houses handling sprituous or malt liquors, and authorizing the levying of an occupation tax of $50 for each of such places was voted down at an adjourned meeting of the city council.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 7.—Dear Sirs: There are several ways of cheating in milk. An old-fashioned way is to water it. Nobody waters it now. A better way is to take out the cream—rich milk with the cream taken out is as good as poor milk with its cream all in.

THE STENOGRAPHER DOOMED BY THE PHONOGRAPH

May Be Replaced by the Instrument in Making Verbatim Reports of Medical Associations

The phonograph system will probably be adopted by both the state and district medical societies at their next sessions in preparing their official reports of the proceedings.

An ordinary stenographer can make no sort of a report of the proceedings, and at the past sessions it has been customary to employ experts at salaries as high as $50 a day to make the reports of the meetings.

Dr. I. C. Chase of this city, who has charge of the official report of the last session of the State Medical Society, is now investigating the phonograph system, with a view of having it adopted.

The phonograph system is already used by Official Stenographer Parker in taking the testimony in the federal court in this city and Dr. Chase is investigating the results as obtained by him.

The following officers were elected for one year: President, William Rea, Fort Worth; vice president, W. E. Casey, Texarkana; second vice president, Epps G. Knight, Dallas; third vice president, John W. Brown, Weatherford; secretary and treasurer, M. T. Forrest, Houston; Sergeant at arms, Fred Long, Itasca.

GERMAN CATHOLICS MEET IN WESTPHALIA

TEMPLE, Texas, July 7.—The German Catholic societies of Texas will meet in conference on July 12 and 13 at Westphalia, an inland town in Falls county, seventeen miles east of Temple, and ten miles west of Lott. It is a thickly settled German community with plenty of the evidences of thrift and prosperity that usually characterize a settlement of German farmers.

The crowd will be a big one for a country community to handle, but the people of Westphalia are more than equal to the occasion. Delegates from East and South Texas will probably reach their destination via Lott and from the north and west via Temple in any event it will be necessary to use conveyances to get there, and the Westphalians will doubtless make provision for this contingency. About 150 delegates are expected to attend.

POWDER IN HIS POCKET WACO, Texas, July 7.—Lloyd Bonner, 10 years old, son of Mrs. Flora Bonner, happened to a serious accident while going about with a lot of loose powder in his pants pocket. There was a match in his pocket, also, and another boy struck him on the leg playfully, setting off the match, the spark igniting the powder. The boy was thus burned severely about the body, requiring the attendance of a physician. He is getting along well, however.

RAILROADS ARE TO REFUSE TO HAUL SOLDIERS

Martial Law Will Not Be Tol-erated on Trains in the State of Colorado

DENVER, Colo., July 7.—There will be no more martial law on the trains in the state of Colorado. The Denver agents of the various railroad companies operating in the state have been notified to instruct all employees to refuse to move trains where an attempt is made to enforce martial law as defined by Governor Peabody and Adjutant General Bell. This order is the outcome of the disgraceful conduct of General Bell's orderlies in a Santa Fe dining room car one night last week. The orderlies practically took possession of the car. They threw their rifles across the seats and threatened to "shoot up" the car if they were interfered with. The outrageous conduct by these orderlies has aroused the ire of the officials of all of the roads operating in the trouble district and drastic measures have been resorted to avoid a repetition of the affair.

Strict orders from the headquarters of all the roads were received by the local agents in Denver forbidding the crews of the trains to allow any one who is under arrest by the militia to board the trains if he refuses to submit to arrest by soldiers. The railroads are not going to take any chances of becoming liable for anything that may happen on their trains while the militia is attempting to run things to suit themselves. If the militia want to transport an unwilling prisoner in future they will have to use wagons or walk.

Superintendent Bristol of the Santa Fe road, on which the orderlies were roundly rebuked by the conductor for their disgraceful conduct, has personally thanked Conductor Skelton for the stand he took in bringing the soldiers to terms, and an order has been sent to all of the employees of the road to take the same action with any member of the militia who attempts to "own" the car.

Superintendent Bristol's action in compelling Conductor Skelton puts it up to the two orderlies why one who is under arrest by the militia should be taken on the train.

FORCES CAPTAIN TO FLY THE FLAG

MONTREAL, July 7.—A special dispatch from Dawson, Yukon Territory, says that a flag incident occurred there on Saturday which is likely to lead to international complications. The British steamer Tyrrell was engaged to take a Fourth of July excursion of children up the river. The committee and other Americans present, the dispatch alleged, forced Captain Ritchie, of the Tyrrell, to raise the United States flag on the middle flagstaff before sailing.

WEATHER FORECAST

Throughout the state generally clear weather with high temperatures prevailed yesterday, there being but little rainfall at any point. Nacogdoches, Palestine, Lampasas and Wharton had light showers. Partly cloudy weather with probable scattered showers is predicted for the northern part of East Texas tonight and tomorrow.

FORECAST The forecast for Texas east of the one-hundredth meridian, issued at New Orleans, is as follows: Partly cloudy, probably showers Friday partly cloudy weather, probably scattered showers.

South, tonight and Friday partly cloudy weather, probably showers Friday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS D. S. Landis issued the following statement of weather conditions this morning: Pressure changes have varied but little since last report, high pressure remaining over the east gulf states, and the Atlantic seaboard, and over the upper Mississippi valley. Low pressure of considerable gradient force is in the extreme northwest, and in the extreme southwest. The east half of the country is generally cloudy with the exception of the northern tier of states and the Panhandle of Texas. Rain occurred in quantities of over an inch in Louisiana, Missouri and in Nebraska. Thunderstorms are reported from Oklahoma, Kansas City, Pittsburg, Salt Lake, Dodge City, Cairo and Amarillo. Texas is generally clear, with but little rainfall the past twenty-four hours. Amarillo recorded 52 miles of wind.

A FEW DASHES AT BOURKE COCKRAN

FULL-GROWN BOLLS

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, July 7.—Colonel John C. Gibson of this city, who owns considerable land in the county, was exhibiting on the streets yesterday cotton bolls that were fully grown. Cotton is making very rapid progress and from present indications it will be opening quite freely by the latter part of this month. Local buyers expect Waxahachie to receive her first bale about the first week in August.

No complaint of boll worms has been heard yet, but the weevils are said to be damaging the crop slightly in the western part of the county. H. C. Hooser of the Roz community was in the city yesterday and gave the correspondent a small bag filled with squares, which had been gnawed by the weevil. There were several young weevils in the squares. Hooser says they are just beginning their ravages in his community.

BUMPER CORN CROP

TEMPLE, Texas, July 7.—There is great jubilation over the prospects for a bumper corn crop in the country tributary to Temple. The late rains have caused June corn to get a move on itself and it is almost certain to make a big yield. The regular corn crop is as good as made and it is a big one. This condition of affairs will enable the farmers to not only re-serve all they require for private use, but will also leave them with a good surplus for sale, something that has not been general around here for a long time.

COACH EXCURSIONS

The second coach excursion sale of tickets to the World's Fair will take place July 9 and 23. This announcement is made by the Rock Island. Other Texas lines will also sell these tickets on the above dates. This is thought to be the last sale of the kind during the life of the St. Louis exposition. These tickets are good for seven days from the date of sale.

TRAIN MANGLES BODY OF NEGRO Goes to Sleep Alongside the Track and in Slumber Rolls Over Ed Hullen, a middle-aged negro, lost his life some time during last night in the Texas and Pacific yards, a train passing over him. His body was frightfully mangled, being cut to pieces. Hullen was recently discharged from the county road. He was run over by a train, supposed to have been a freight in the west part of the city, near the Hill street viaduct under construction. From what can be learned the negro was asleep when run over. He had taken his shoes off and evidently laid down on some plank near the track, and during his slumbers rolled off onto the track. Justice of the Peace Charles T. Rowland held an inquest over the remains. The mangled body was discovered early this morning by the train crew on No. 17.

Since Ice Has Been Advanced So materially the buying of a Refrigerator should be a serious problem. When ice sold at 25 cents per hundred, "most any kind of an old box would do," but now that the price has been doubled it behoves the contemplating buyer to try and secure the most economical ice consumer in the most scientifically constructed box. The BOHN Dry Air Syphon White Enamel Lined Refrigerator is that box. Let us tell you the points about this box. Let us show you why it is much more economic than the "just as good." RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE Mail service has been established between Robstown and Brownsville on the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexican railroad. A postoffice has been established at Antelope Gap, Mills county. The name of the postoffice at Hunters Retreat, Montgomery county, has been changed to Pinehurst.

DYNAMITE ON CAR TRACKS INJURES ONE MAN HOUSTON, Texas, July 7.—Two street cars were dynamited last night. Of the numerous passengers on the Houston Heights line, L. J. Barnes, a bookkeeper in the Commercial National bank in this city, was the only one severely injured. His leg was badly lacerated. No clew or arrests. A reward of $1,250 is offered for evidence. Another car was dynamited at 1 o'clock, but there were no casualties. The most picturesque feature of a little mission church in German South Africa is its bell tower. Nowhere in it was there a place to hang a bell for nearby tree solved the problem. The bell was hung to one of its lower branches. The detective bureau of New York receives an average of 100 queries a day regarding missing persons of all classes who have disappeared from all parts of the world. The majority of these inquiries relate to criminal fugitives.
