Strikers at Sosnovice Make a Desperate Attempt to Put Out Fire in Furnace

SOLDIERS FIRE 3 VOLLEYS

Workmen in St. Petersburg Again Go Out When Eight-Hour Day Is Refused

WARSAW, Feb. 10.—Over one hundred strikers were killed or wounded by the military at a conflict which took place at the Katherine Iron works at Sosnovice yesterday evening. The strikers attempted to put out the fire in a furnace in the smelting department of the works when the troops appeared and a conflict ensued. The soldiers fired three volleys and finally scattered the workmen.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Press dispatches from Sosnovice describe the bloody character of the conflict between the military and strikers at Katherine Iron works. One correspondent telegraphs that fifteen persons were killed and thirty-five wounded, while another gives the number killed as fifty. The military fired eight volleys.

Another collision occurred at the Nifka mine, beyond Modrzeff, where it is rumored 150 persons were killed. A third collision occurred yesterday forenoon near Milovice, but this affair was bloodless.

Strike Breaks Out Afresh

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—The Putloff iron works and the Franco-Russian works are again closed, the men having walked out in a body today in consequence of the refusal of their employers to grant an eight-hour day. The men of Putloff works who yesterday started enforcing eight-hour shifts returned to work this morning, but subsequently at a conference of the directors the latter adhered to their refusal to grant the eight-hour day and the men thereupon ceased work and induced their comrades to join them, and the whole body quitted the plant and formed groups in the streets. The employees of the Franco-Russian works took similar action.

HELL BLACKER, HE SAYS, THAN IT'S USUALLY PAINTED

Learned German Professor in New Book Says Hades Is Pitch Black

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Dr. Joseph Bantz, royal Prussian professor of theology at the University at Munster, has written a remarkable preface to the second edition of his book, "Hell as It Is." He gravely announces that "it is not so hot in Hades as is generally supposed. The flames which are the outward manifestations of the warmth within, 'Satan's chimneys as it were,' which vomit forth flame and sulphur when his infernal majesty becomes angry.

In this new preface the Herr Professor pays his compliments to the press, which greeted the first edition of his work with derision.

"These journalists, so-called," he says with fine scorn, "will probably have occasion to verify my views in the hereafter."

"Purgatory," he adds, "is heated by the same fire as hell, but both are limited to their proper sphere. As both places are populated by ghosts only, they need not be very extensive at present. However, if more room should be wanted after judgment day, the Lord will create a second hell and purgatory in the new earth to be set up."

The learned professor sounds only one reassuring note: "There are no blizzards in hell," he says. "Frost and cold are excluded. At the same time both hell and purgatory are pitch dark, because light and heat are not identical as some scientists claim. We are therefore permitted to assume that by the grace of God the condemned do not see the horrors they are suffering."

"They feel them, though," says the professor.

TO PUSH COTTON TRADE IN ORIENT

Southern Convention Committee Will Visit President Soon to Present Arguments

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10.—Chairman John L. McLaughlin of the committee appointed by the Southern Interstate Cotton convention recently held here and of which Hon. John M. Parker of this city and Brister Ashcroft of Alabama, are members to wait on President Roosevelt and ask him to form a commission to introduce the American cotton into the Orient and other undeveloped markets, will visit Mr. Roosevelt on the 20th. Senator McLaughlin believes that if China may be induced to use American cotton it is not unreasonable to believe that 25,000,000 bales of the American crop will be consumed after five years.

HOUSE BUSY WITH SENATE'S BILLS

Consideration of Upper Body's Measures Occupied Session on Thursday

ROPING BILL IS AMENDED

Bill Protecting Prisoners in Confessions, Passed to Engrossment

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 10.—The house was not exactly the senate yesterday, but it was wide open for senate business and only senate bills on second and third reading were considered.

The bill by Senator Hill prohibiting roping contests and employment of stenographers by the courts of civil appeals, and extending the time for the construction of railroads by Senator Hawkins all had easy sailing and passed to a third reading.

A snag was struck when the act of Senator Stone requiring the courts of civil appeals to decide all issues presented before them was taken up.

Mr. Mays thought the requirement of the bill would have the effect to subvert and destroy the province and power of judges who were in position to be the judges of fact and credibility of witnesses, and would add to and enlarge the duties of the judges of the courts until they would become exceedingly burdensome.

Major McKinney denied the power and duty of the courts would be enlarged, but the effect of the bill would be to keep them from being dragged from the lower to the higher courts to the injury of the rights of litigants who unfortunately get into the courts.

The debate did not turn all the light on the bill desired and so a final vote was postponed for one week.

ANTI-ROPING BILL AMENDED

The house tightened the cords on the senate bill prohibiting roping contests yesterday by adding the following:

"Provided further, that any person who shall enter the enclosed lands of another, and shall rope any stock without the consent of the owner of said stock, shall be fined in any sum not less than $25 nor more than $100 and each and every animal roped shall constitute a separate offense.

This amendment was offered by Messrs. Hudspeth, Gray and Johnson and was adopted.

TO STRIKE OFF NECK-TIE

Mr. Shannon of Bell county has the reputation of being a very dignified man, rather inclined to take a sober view of all questions that come before the house. For this reason he surprised the members yesterday when a very grave question was being considered by offering the following amendment:

"Amend the bill by striking off the red-hot neck-tie of the reading clerk."

PRISONERS' CONFESSIONS

The bill by Senators Chambers and Terrell relating to the confessions of prisoners excited a good deal of interest in the house yesterday.

This bill provides that the confession shall not be used, at the time it was made, the defendant was in jail or other place of confinement, nor while in the custody of an officer, unless the confession be made in a voluntary statement, taken before an examining court, and after he has been warned that the confession may be used against him and not for him, this warning to be in writing, signed by the court and filed among the papers in the case. Mr. Kennedy advocated the passage of the bill.

Mr. Wilmett of Scurry saw no proper place in the statutes for this law, nor no useful purpose to be subserved by its passage and moved to strike out the enacting clause. This motion failed and the bill was engrossed.

INSURANCE PREMIUM RECEIPTS

The substance of the bill imposing a tax on the gross premium receipts of insurance companies reported favorably by a committee on revenue and taxation is as follows:

Every life, fire, marine, accident or other insurance company at the time of filing its annual statement, shall report to the commissioner of insurance the gross amount of premiums received in this state during the preceding year, and each of such companies shall pay an annual tax of two per cent of such gross premium receipts, and gross premium receipts are understood to be the amount reported by the insurance companies on sworn statements.

It is estimated that this measure will add to the revenues of the state from $150,000 to $200,000.

ALABAMA RIVERS ON THE RAMPAGE

All Streams Swollen as Result of Rains and Floods Are Expected

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 10.—Heavy rains have started all Alabama rivers on the rampage and flood stages are reported at all points. The Warrior river is now fifty-five feet and is expected to reach sixty feet tonight. People living in the low lands are moving out. At Demopolis the gauge shows forty-two feet, with indications of reaching forty-eight feet tonight.

At Montgomery the river is twenty-five feet. Much damage is reported at interior landings and steam boats are having a hard time filling schedule.

THREATEN TO AID PROHIBITIONISTS

Smaller Saloon Men Said to Have Petition Ready if Love Bill Carries

OPPOSED TO HIGH LICENSE

Declare It Unjust to Put Entire Liquor Business in Hands of Larger Dealers

"If the Love uniform high license bill is passed by the Texas legislature, we will carry this county for prohibition," said Billie Williams, who conducts a saloon at the corner of Main and Weatherford streets, to a Telegram reporter this afternoon in referring to the Love measure and those who are championing it.

"It's not fair to discriminate against the small saloon man, many of whom do not permit even a domino to be played or keep a wine room or gambling hall attached to their places of business, in favor of the saloon keeper who has plenty of means," continued Mr. Williams, "and if the Love bill becomes a law we smaller men will see that Tarrant county goes prohibition if the 2,500 vote we can control will accomplish it. We have all paid our poll taxes and are qualified to vote. There are some 125 of the smaller saloons in Fort Worth as against only about fifteen of the larger ones, and each of us, with out employes and friends, can control an election of this kind, and we will do it if forced to."

PETITION READY

"We have our petition already drafted by a local attorney calling a prohibition election, and if the bill now pending in the legislature passes we will insert the date on which it is desired to hold the prohibition election, secure the proper number of petitioners and present the same to the county judge, who will then order an election.

"Mark my word, if we are forced to do this it will be done, and what is more, we will vote with the aid of prohibitionists to shut the saloon out of this county."

If the pending Love bill becomes law it will go into effect Sept. 1.

ARIZONA FLOODS CONTINUE

Colorado River at Yuma Is Now Higher Than Since Disastrous Flood of 1891

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 10.—A special report from Yuma, Ariz., says: The Colorado river has risen three and one-half feet in twenty-four hours. At midnight last night it registered 29 feet, which is the highest water since the 1891 flood, when it was 32 feet, and the town was wiped out. Citizens with shovels and scraper teams have labored all night strengthening the weak points. The government levee on the Gila side is generally conceded to be safe, but the embankments on the Colorado river are causing grave apprehension, as several breaks have occurred there, one near the territorial prison and another close to the Yuma Water and Light company's power house.

Overseer of Zion City Says He Gets Direct Messages About Colony in Mexico

NOW ON THE WAY THERE

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—The first apostle, John Alexander, declares he now receives revelations direct from God, instructing him as to the establishment of a new Zion City in Mexico and the conduct of affairs in his main Zion City in Illinois. He asserts in a telegram to Overseer Speicher yesterday that as first apostle he now is in closer communication with God, by reason of which he receives direct messages and revelations telling him what to do and how to plan.

This new claim has been hinted at ever since he assumed his new office, but never was asserted positively until in recent telegrams he claimed that he received directions to expel from Zion City those who did not coincide with his views and for building his new city in Mexico. The telegram of yesterday was sent from Nassau, Bahama Islands, to Overseer Speicher and directed the overseer to read to the people psalms 39, 1-5.

"These words," said Dowie, "are my expression on the death of our late beloved sister and brother. God has answered my prayers and yours and rested upon me until I am as strong as ever in my life."

"I begin my journey for the site of the new Zion in Mexico Tuesday. Our prayers have conspired the widow of late Colonel Stern."

"I have received more clear revelations from God as to how the new Zion shall be built. Expect to sail for Vera Cruz Tuesday. Love."

SALOONS KEPT OPEN BY MAYOR'S REQUEST

Unusual Condition in Mississippi Town Came as Result of Prolonged Cold Weather

TUNICA, Miss., Feb. 10.—Saloons at Lyons, a small town in this county, were run in full blast Sunday for the first Sunday in the history of the town.

By order of the mayor's office, proprietors of the only two wet goods emporiums in town were requested to remain open night and day since the present cold snap commenced, which was accompanied by the heaviest fall of snow seen in years.

Owing to the almost entire suspension of the lumber business many citizens put in the time rabbit hunting. Hundreds of hares were killed by being tracked in the snow by their holes, one party being led by the mayor.

The entire community celebrated, and the saloons are doing a big business by alternating, one keeping open and closing at 5 a. m. for the other to open, and vice versa.

He corroborated Mose Felner in that B. F. French paid them money to leave Winchester and that all the expenses were paid by Felner.

Sheriff McCord has received from the circuit clerk of Breathitt county a warrant of arrest for Mose Felner. It was issued at the request of D. H. Hurst, who is his bondsman for $5,000, for his appearance at Jackson to be tried for the killing of Jesse Fields, and Hurst desired to be released from this bond.

IN FACE OF DEATH M'GUE CONFESSES

Former Mayor of Charlottesville, Va., Hanged for Murder of His Wife

YIELDS ONLY AT THE END

Confession Announced by Spiritual Advisers—Murder Stirred Whole State

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 10.—J. Samuel McCue, former mayor of this city, was hanged at 7:36 o'clock this morning for the murder of his wife Sunday, Sept. 4, 1904. McCue made a confession.

McCue was pronounced dead eight minutes after the trap had been sprung. Immediately after the execution McCue's three spiritual advisers gave out the following signed statement:

"J. Samuel McCue stated this morning in our presence and requested us to make public he did not wish to leave this world with suspicion resting on any human being other than himself. That he alone was responsible for the deed, and was impelled to it by an evil power beyond his control, and he recognized the sentence as just."

J. Samuel McCue was 46 years of age and twice had been mayor of Charlottesville. The tragedy for which he paid the penalty created more interest than any other crime that occurred in the state in the past quarter of a century.

On Sunday night, Sept. 4, McCue, accompanied his wife to church. They returned home about 9:15 o'clock. Within fifteen minutes after they retired to their room to retire for the night the city was aroused by messages announcing the murder of Mrs. McCue, and friends, physicians and officers hurried to the McCue home. Mrs. McCue was found dead in the bath room and McCue was lying on the floor with an abrasion on his cheek and feigning unconsciousness. He later asserted an attack had been made by an unknown white man who had climbed through the window.

Mrs. McCue had been dealt a blow that broke her nose and her left artery had been almost severed by the second blow.

Death was caused by a gunshot wound just above the heart.

McCue was never able to explain the presence in the bathroom of a small piece of cotton undershirt which fitted exactly a torn place in the shirt which he had on when the officers arrived.

Two women figured in reports that circulated as the cause of the murder, and a letter filled with endearing terms sent him by one of his women clients after it occurred, and McCue had quarreled with his wife a number of times.

She was 40 years of age and the mother of four children. The coroner's jury held McCue for the murder three days after it occurred, and he has since been confined in jail vehemently protesting his innocence. His trial concluded Nov. 5 and he was convicted, the jury being out only 25 minutes.

GORKY'S CASE IN DOUBT

Not Yet Decided Whether Military or Civil Charges Will Be Preferred Against Him

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10, 12:25 a. m.—The Associated Press representative was able yesterday afternoon to see Maxim Gorky and can assure the author's friends that he is well and cheerful. The procurator of the court of appeals who is conducting the investigation of the charges of high treason against Gorky, refused the Associated Press permission to converse with the prisoner, as it is contrary to law to allow any one except relatives and counsel to visit political prisoners.

At noon a closed carriage, in which sat Gorky, muffled in furs and attended by a gendarme, drove out of the grim portal of the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, and proceeded at a rapid trot to a lonely building beyond the Tauraid palace, three miles distant, where Gorky, Kedrine and three professors, who were arrested with Gorky, are almost daily conveyed and interrogated by the procurator's assistant.

The Associated Press representative followed and saw Gorky alight and enter the premises, where he remained several hours. An officer of the gendarmes said: "Gorky does not betray the slightest sign of discouragement. He is cheerful and talks and retains the fullest composure during the long interrogations. Indeed, he is so self-possessed, that he seems more like the examiner than the examinee."

Absolute secrecy is still maintained regarding the charge against Gorky. It has not yet been decided whether he will be tried by a military or a civil court, but it is practically certain that the charges against him do not involve the death penalty.

SAYS TERRELL NEEDS CHANGING

Judge C. K. Bell Suggests Improvements in Address to County Judges

JUDGES NAME COMMITTEE Will Codify Proposed Alterations and Present Them to Legislature

Former Attorney General C. K. Bell addressed the County Judges and Commissioners this morning by invitation on the Terrell election law.

He said as a general thing the law does not need changing, except that inconsistencies which were overlooked by the legislature in tacking them on as amendments should be eradicated.

One amendment he thought ought to be made, namely, to permit independent candidates to announce themselves on the evening of the election.

Judge Bell also suggested that the association take cognizance of another matter of very much importance to the people.

He suggested as a remedy that the law should be changed so that one-twentieth of the principal of bonds should be paid annually with interest, so that the debt may be paid off when it matures.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS In the presence of Judge Hawkins, who was called home to Ellis county by the sudden illness of one of the county commissioners of that county, Former County Judge M. B. Harris of Tarrant county was called to preside over the meeting this morning.

Judge McKoy of Johnson county announced that the committee on resolutions was ready to report on the death of the late County Judge Skeen of Wichita county.

The subject of amendments to the Terrell election law was taken up and discussed by members of the convention.

Another feature of the law he thought should be remedied is furnishing the various counties a certified list of tax payers.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the large cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food cranked in his glory, and arguments and theories galore add to the confusion.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remmon on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it.

That class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food, and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents for full treatment.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

The analogy between the events that have been transpiring in Russia of late and those leading to the French revolution have been frequently commented upon in the leading papers of the country, and another recent development but adds to the similarity of conditions.

As no liquor is to be allowed in the new state of Oklahoma for a period of twenty-one years, the people of that section are in position to judge of the inspiration behind that celebrated remark that was alleged to have been made by the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina.

If the recent bad spell of weather means good crops in Texas this year, then the people will not complain now that it has been numbered with the things that were. But it is devoutly hoped that there will be no necessity for further visitations of the same kind in order to insure an abundant harvest.

In the hope of influencing the cattlemen to hold their next annual meeting in that town, it is said that leading Dallas implement men are going out of business. But the hayseed in Dallas unkept locks is too apparent to be obscured by such a temporary subterfuge.

Perhaps the big snow that has fallen in Kansas and Oklahoma during the past few days will insure such an abundant wheat yield as to obviate the necessity for the millers of those states grinding kafir corn and selling it to us next season in the guise of wheat flour.

From four to six inches of snow fell out in West Texas during the bad spell of weather now of blessed memory, and that snow means a great deal to the country and incidentally to Fort Worth. All things that benefit the west help this city.

This is a year when we are to have no political excitement, and all the time usually wasted on politics can be utilized in town building. And there are many towns in Texas that can appropriate the suggestion with much benefit to themselves.

Dallas wants "owl cars" on her streets during the wee sma' hours, and there are many other things Dallas will be wanting in the days that are to come that she can find only in Fort Worth.

Reports from the range country indicate that cattle are suffering severely in consequence of the continued cold weather, but the extent of the suffering and fatalities will probably never be known.

Oklahoma swallowed the Indian Territory, Indians and all without one single grimace, just as she swallowed Greer county when it was dismembered from Texas a few years ago.

Mr. Yoakum can make his arrangements to proceed with the expenditure of that $400,000 in Texas upon the breaking up of the present spell of bad weather.

Late reports from the scene of conflict in the Far East are to the effect that the Japs are feverishly fortifying. It is presumed in the same connection that the Russians are coldly retiring.

None of the indicted United States senators have yet been landed behind the cruel prison bars, but some of the postoffice manipulators have succeeded in donning the penitentiary stripes.

Russia has raised another $200,000,000 loan to be expended in an abortive effort to conquer the plucky little Japs, but it will prove but another case of sending good money after bad.

The electoral college has met at Washington, and there was no one there to carry tidings of great joy to Parker and Davis. The Roosevelt and Fairbanks crowd had everything their own way.

with those which marked the fall of the French empire as to be almost startling. But Russian blood does not course with the fire and rapidity of French blood, and it may take much more time for history to finish repeating itself in all particulars.

Senator Griggs would deny the people of Texas the privilege of making platform demands upon the state legislature, and that is a very bad break for a man to make who owes his position to the people who comprise the democratic party. The people have as much right to instruct Senator Griggs in the way they would have him go as he has to accept nomination upon a democratic platform. If there was no democratic platform there could be no democratic party, and if there was no democratic party where would Senator Griggs be?

Congressman Smith of the Texas Jumbo district is about to land his pet project of an international dam across the Rio Grande above El Paso, and El Paso people are delighted with the prospect. The dam is to cost more than seven million dollars, and will subject thousands of acres of Texas land to the benefits of irrigation.

Austin has at last managed to secure a new flouring mill, and it is expected the landing of this first enterprise that has come to the capital city in a decade will result in further agitation of the rebuilding of the great dam across the Colorado river at that point.

As no liquor is to be allowed in the new state of Oklahoma for a period of twenty-one years, the people of that section are in position to judge of the inspiration behind that celebrated remark that was alleged to have been made by the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina.

If the recent bad spell of weather means good crops in Texas this year, then the people will not complain now that it has been numbered with the things that were. But it is devoutly hoped that there will be no necessity for further visitations of the same kind in order to insure an abundant harvest.

In the hope of influencing the cattlemen to hold their next annual meeting in that town, it is said that leading Dallas implement men are going out of business. But the hayseed in Dallas unkept locks is too apparent to be obscured by such a temporary subterfuge.

Perhaps the big snow that has fallen in Kansas and Oklahoma during the past few days will insure such an abundant wheat yield as to obviate the necessity for the millers of those states grinding kafir corn and selling it to us next season in the guise of wheat flour.

From four to six inches of snow fell out in West Texas during the bad spell of weather now of blessed memory, and that snow means a great deal to the country and incidentally to Fort Worth. All things that benefit the west help this city.

This is a year when we are to have no political excitement, and all the time usually wasted on politics can be utilized in town building. And there are many towns in Texas that can appropriate the suggestion with much benefit to themselves.

Dallas wants "owl cars" on her streets during the wee sma' hours, and there are many other things Dallas will be wanting in the days that are to come that she can find only in Fort Worth.

Reports from the range country indicate that cattle are suffering severely in consequence of the continued cold weather, but the extent of the suffering and fatalities will probably never be known.

Oklahoma swallowed the Indian Territory, Indians and all without one single grimace, just as she swallowed Greer county when it was dismembered from Texas a few years ago.

Mr. Yoakum can make his arrangements to proceed with the expenditure of that $400,000 in Texas upon the breaking up of the present spell of bad weather.

OKLAHOMA PROGRAM

The Oklahoma Live Stock association meets at Guthrie Feb. 11. It is expected that the meeting will be a very important one. The rapidly increasing prestige of Oklahoma as a live stock territory owing to the natural advantages of the country and the increasing population of agriculturists and live stock farmers is bringing Oklahoma into greater prominence each year as a live stock country, and it is certain that the meeting this year will be better attended and the results more far-reaching than in any previous year.

The program as at present constituted includes a number of papers by men prominent in various lines of the live stock trade which will be very interesting and instructive and redound to the great benefit of those who attend. It is probable that addresses will also be made by others who have not permitted their names to go on the list of stated speakers. The order of business as just announced by Treasury Bolton follows:

TUESDAY. 9 a. m.—Business session by members; reports of officers; appointment of committees; election of officers.

10 a. m.—Address of welcome, Mayor C. M. Barnes of Guthrie; response by George W. Carr, president of association; address, "The Needs of the Hour," Hon. Frank Cooper, Kansas City; paper, "Quarantine Legislation," Hon. Thomas Moras, secretary Oklahoma Live Stock Sanitary commission; address, "The Range, the Stock Farmer and the Feeder," Hon. W. E. Campbell, Tulsa, I. T.; address, "Does It Pay to Sell to Shippers or Consign Direct to Commission Merchants at the Markets?" Hon. L. A. Allen of Kansas City. 12 m.—Adjournment.

TUESDAY EVENING. 8 p. m.—Invocation; music; the Guthrie Mandolin club; address, "The Value of Oklahoma Live Stock and Its Relations to the Material Development of Our New State," Governor Thomas Ferguson; vocal combat, Scottish Rites choir; reading, "How Salvator Won," Miss Estelle G. Burke, Wichita, Kan.; music, Guthrie Mandolin club; address, "Past, Present and Future of Cattle Raising in Oklahoma," Prof. John Fields, director Oklahoma experiment station; "Soldiers Chorus," Scottish Rites choir; reading, selected, Miss Burke; music, Guthrie Mandolin club.

WEDNESDAY. 9 a. m.—Report of legislative committee.

10 a. m.—Address, "Relationship and Powers of State and Federal Quarantine Regulations and Importance to Oklahoma," Colonel Albert Dean, agent bureau of animal industry. 11 a. m.—Report of committees on membership, resolutions and quarantine; selection of place for next annual convention; final adjournment; evening—Cattlemen's ball, under the management of the Guthrie Commercial club.

IOWA STOCKMEN MEET. DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 10.—A forceful demand for radical changes in treatment of live stock in transit is made by the Iowa Live Stock Producers' convention, now in session here. These demands include: Permanency of the stockman's return pass. Abolition of delays at division points to live stock in transit.

Feed in transit rates. Equal rates for live stock and packing house products. President Ames, in his annual address says on this question:

"The question of transportation is far from settled. There are cases of unjust discrimination in every part of the state that must be rectified. On many of the roads stock trains are habitually held from one to three hours or more, at division ends, and much needless time is consumed on the journey to market. Return transportation is still in an unsettled condition, with no assurance of its permanency. The matter of joint freight rates is passed over as quickly as possible by the man who pays the freight money never knowing how great is the tax. The feed in transit rates used west of the Mississippi river are conspicuous by their absence and pasture rates are unknown. Classification of different commodities and by-products used by the feeder are out of proportion. Rates allowed packing house products and dressed meats under cover of car ownership are unjust and discriminatory, and explain the whole situation."

CORN AND HOGS

"We raised a bumper crop of corn in Montague county last year," says A. C. Bink, a prominent young stock farmer of Nocwoka, Texas. "Some of the farmers of that county raised more corn to the acre than the land is worth, and made more money out of the crop than the cotton raisers. As a result a good many are plowing up their cotton that was not picked last fall for the purpose of planting the cotton land in corn this spring. The indications are that a large acreage of corn will be put in this spring. The low price of cotton has held most of the crop in the cotton fields, and the scarcity of help had the effect to keep a great deal of cotton in the fields last fall, and all that is not picked now will be left out."

"All over the country there is a great scarcity of calves, and the cattle supply is far below the average in Montague county. During recent years the cattlemen have been turning their attention more to raising grain and cotton and also to raising hogs. The country is well stocked with young hogs at the present time and all the cattle in that country are wintering exceptionally well. Farmers are well stocked with all kinds of feed."

AMERICAN MEAT FOR PHILIPPINES

A resolution has been introduced in the United States senate calling on the secretary of war to make a statement in regard to the supply of beef and other meats for the use of the army in the Philippines. The resolution has been prepared at the instance of ex-Senator Harris of Kansas, who represents numerous live stock interests. It will ask for information as to the source of the supply of meats, the cost to the government and a statement of the cost as compared with American meats. It is said the resolution will be the first made by the cattle interests of the west to force the use of American cattle by our armies in the Philippines. Western packers have for several years shipped large orders of American canned meats to the Philippines, and their business is on the increase.

Antonio to attend the Rough Rider's reunion: He will travel over the Katy from St. Louis to Denison. From there he will go to Sherman and Dallas by the Houston and Texas Central. From Dallas he will go to Waco and Austin by the Katy and International and Great Northern, landing at San Antonio. On his return he will go from San Antonio to Houston by the Southern Pacific and from Houston by the Katy to Fort Worth and Fort Worth by the Fort Worth and Denver City road to Amarillo and Denver. He will leave the train at Dallas, Waco, San Antonio, Houston and probably at Fort Worth, which means that he will stop at a short time at these points. At the other points he will make short addresses or see the public from the platform of his car.—Denton News.

It is hoped the president's visit to Fort Worth will be so timed as to come during the session of the cattlemen's convention. Efforts are being made in that direction and the cattlemen are quite hopeful of success, but nothing definite is yet known.

Has Fort Worth gone to sleep, dreaming about that great carnival announced for the spring? It takes wide-awake activity for several months to make a success of such an event as Fort Worth planned a few weeks since.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Fort Worth has not fallen asleep on any proposition. Just at this time our people are more interested in making a success of the coming Fat Stock Show than they are in promoting the carnival idea. When the Fat Stock Show has been made the success it deserves will be time enough to turn to other matters.

Chairman Yoakum thinks that Texas will do right as to railroad consolidations, passes and all the rest. That is a charitable judgment and is well expressed, but what would be right is not as certain as it might be, and with so many conflicting ideas trying to steer the tub of state it is by no means certain that it will land at dock, no matter what good intentions may be shown. You might have more than a good cause to win out in an Austin fight.—San Antonio Light.

Chairman Yoakum has been so long identified with Texas and Texas interests that he has an abiding faith in the willingness of Texas people to do the square thing under all circumstances. There will be no hitch in Mr. Yoakum's railway development plans in Texas. He realizes that laws are as essential for the protection of railways as for the protection of the people. The railways will get a square deal at Austin.

Those who supposed that the beef trust had bought up and controlled the Federal courts now find that they were mistaken. The trust has just been dealt a knockout blow that it will not forget for a while. The Sherman anti-trust law has been upheld and the country is rejoicing. If the beef trust can be controlled there is good reason to believe the sugar trust, the paper trust, the steel trust, the oil trust and the balance of the trusts can be either forced to quit the field or to be fair according to law.—Mineral Wells Index.

The country seems to have plenty of anti-trust law, and the only trouble appears to be in its enforcement. The people are too content to sit down and take what the various trusts dish out to them without any effort to bring them under the influence of the law. There is probably not a trust in the country that could not be put out of business in short order.

I suffered greatly from both, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZIEBER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for Malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HEMINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow spots and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. S. S. Facing Death From Kidney Disease

Health is an absolute impossibility when the kidneys are out of order. The explanation is simple. Life cannot be lived without waste. The blood sweeps through arteries and veins, supplying vitality to every organ and part. On its course it gathers up these waste matters and carries them back to the kidneys. The kidneys are a filter, and it's their office to strain from the blood all these poisonous deposits and to pass them on to the bladder, for expulsion in the urine. When any part of the kidneys is inflamed the purifying is less perfectly done. The circulation slows down. The kidneys and veins are clogged with poisonous, decaying matter, and the next step is Bright's Disease and Blood Poison. Generally the process covers months or years, or even generations, for kidney disease is hereditary, but often only a day or two.

To effect a cure the inflammation must be checked and the kidneys freed from all accumulation by use of Warner's Safe Cure, which doctors say is the only remedy that can be used without danger of permanently rupturing the frail glands of these most delicate organs.

As an example of the marvelous effects of Warner's Safe Cure, we select at random the case of Mr. Stephen Cloonan, Jr., 715 Madison St., Brooklyn, N. Y., who says: "Nine months ago I was suddenly taken with chills and fever. I broke out into a cold sweat, with terrible pains in my back, and my feet and hands swelled up. Doctors held a consultation and decided I had kidney disease complicated with rheumatism, but their medicines did no good. I grew worse and could not leave my bed. My wife coaxed me to try Warner's Safe Cure. I improved from the first, and six bottles entirely cured me. From that day to this I have never known a touch of kidney trouble or rheumatism and am in better general health than for years. I cannot speak too highly of Warner's Safe Cure."—August 29, '04.

There are other unmistakable signs of kidney disease—pains in the head and neck, swellings under eyes, dry skin, dull complexion, tired feeling, loss of energy, scanty and too frequent desire to urinate, painful passing of water, reddish-brown sediment in morning urine when it stands 24 hours, etc. If you have any of these symptoms it's dangerous to delay only one day. Begin taking Warner's Safe Cure at once. It will put all the organs into healthy working order and cure even in advanced stages when doctors have given up. In use over 30 years.

Beware of so-called kidney cures that act violently. They are bound to injure the tissues. They won't cure. Take nothing but Warner's Safe Cure. At all drug stores or direct, 50c and $1 a bottle. Booklet and doctor's advice free. Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y. WARNER'S SAFE PILLS move the bowels gently and aid a speedy cure.

through the vigorous enforcement of existing laws. But instead of enforcing the laws we now have public sentiment seems to be demanding more drastic measures, evidently under the impression that the trusts can be frightened out of existence. But they are not built that way.

When a poor man violates a law that has a jail attachment to its penalty, he goes to prison, as he should do. When a beef trust baron violates a law that has a jail attachment to its penalty, he is told to go his way and sin no more. What a blessing it is to be one of the beef barons.—Texarkana Courier.

All men should be compelled to respect the majesty of the law, but in this day and time there is too much disposition on the part of the law to respect the majesty of the Almighty Dollar. The beef trust baron should be just as amenable for any infraction of the law as is the man who sandbags and robs his victim around a dark street corner. The prominence of the criminal is but an additional reason why he should be compelled to pay the full penalty for his crime.

Saloon keepers may as well get ready to close their places at 12 o'clock Saturday night and remain closed until Monday morning at 6 o'clock. Senator Hanger's bill has passed the senate and will pass the house. This will give the union bartenders thirty-six hours "off duty" and compel the thirsty one to buy refrigerators in "the good old summer time."—Dallas Times-Herald.

The Hanger bill meets with general approval, as there is no reason why places where liquid refreshments are served should not be placed on the same footing as other business institutions, which are compelled to observe Sunday closing. The bibulous can soon learn to adapt themselves to new conditions.

If Senator Grigg's proposed bill to prevent state conventions from dictating the character of legislation that shall be passed by legislatures goes through, something new in the way of laws in this country would find a place among the statutes of Texas. It would to some extent be an abridgement of the right of petition—a principle that our forefathers "frit, bled and died for."—San Antonio Express.

Senator Griggs evidently belongs to that class of statesmen who believe the masses should enjoy no right or privilege save that of voting for the individual. That all power belongs not to the people, but to the men they elevate to places in the state legislature for a temporary sojourn.

Why not some economically inclined legislator introduce a bill to abolish the office of chaplain of the legislature and provide for prayers at the opening by the members. It would save a little money for the state and give the members a little practice in an art in which many of them are doubtless sadly deficient.—Sulphur Springs Gazette.

The good book lays down the predicate that the prayers of the unrighteous availeth nothing, and if the state legislature was reduced to the necessity of doing its own praying it would be idle to hope for any practical results. Better stick to precedent and safety, even if it has to be done at some little cost.

What has become of the tramp printer? He has become a rara avis in Texas printing houses. The time was, but a few years since, when he journeyed up and down the land "panhandling" the boys with an effrontery and bonhomme unsurpassed, and "throwing" in a case for a square meal and the price of a lodging. He was regarded as a necessary evil and tolerated as one of the trade's appurtenances. He had the happy faculty of striking an office when work was slack and dull; he was never known to appear when his services were really desired. Texas has its own clique of tramp printers who roamed over its broad area, making excursions into other states simply for pastime. They were known in every office and were the awe and admiration of the "devils." They were their worst enemies themselves and the steady printers knew it and generously overlooked their faults. Here in Hallettsville where at one time a visit from a tramp was a weekly occurrence, not one has dared knock the Herald's door. Verily the traditions of the art typographic are being slowly shattered one by one.—Hallettsville Herald.

The old-time tramp printer has now become a very rare bird of passage, and his place has been filled by a class of men who are as gentlemanly as those which ornament any profession. It is well, too, that it is so. There was a time when the business world was too much given to judging all newspaper workers by the tramp printer standard, but the passing of these old landmarks has served to open the eyes of the public to the fact that men can be printers and still remain gentlemen.

A TOUCHING STORY is the saving from death of the baby girl of George A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave her up. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At W. S. Fisher, Reeves Pharmacy and N. S. Bishop Hare Charges President With Permitting Evasions of the Law

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 10.—Bishop Hare of the Protestant Episcopal church for the missionary district of South Dakota follows up the charges made by Senator Bard of California, and in an open letter charges President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock with evading the law prohibiting government aid to sectarian Indian schools and with paying money to aid Roman Catholic mission schools by diverting trust funds held by the government for the Indians.

It was urged, says Bishop Hare, that when rations and annuities had reached the Indian country and a parent who had a child in a mission boarding school consented that that child's fair share of the rations for his family should be turned over to the mission school the law would not be violated.

GOVERNMENT MAKES CO. CONTRACTS. Last September the bishop discovered that the government had been making large contracts for the conduct of mission boarding schools. He laid the matter before the Indian commissioner, who replied: "These contracts were entered into pursuant to a petition filed in the house by the Indians of the several reservations, the expense to be paid out of trust funds now to their credit in the treasury of the United States."

WIRES REPAIRED BUT LOSS HEAVY

Service Now Practically Normal But Damage Has Been Most Severe in Years

Damage to property all over this and Louisiana is the result of the recent blizzard. Telegraph and telephone companies were particularly heavy losers, wires and poles being down all over the country.

The damage to telegraph lines leading to this city, however, has been repaired so that conditions are almost normal and very little trouble is being had with the wires at present.

Reports received from Shreveport, La., state that damage to the Western Union wires and poles in and around that city as well as to the lines from Shreveport to New Orleans, has been very heavy. The damage around Shreveport is estimated at $3,000, while it will cost the company $10,000 to repair the work of the storm on the New Orleans lines. The total damage to the Western Union in Louisiana is put at $30,000.

At Tyler, Texas, the havoc created by the storm was great. Trees and telegraph poles were broken down by the weight of ice upon them. It is said that elm trees sixty years old and seventy-five feet in height were destroyed in this manner. Wood and coal are scarce, wood selling for $7 a cord, by the accumulation of ice and snow on the Marvin Methodist church of Tyler much damage resulted by the dripping of water to the interior of the building. The church is one of the finest in Texas, costing $75,000.

At Palestine the Palestine Telephone Company suffered heavily from the storm. Miles of poles and wires are down, aggregating a loss of $3,000. The company has been forced to place a large order for new supplies.

City Suffers Loss. City Electrician Crabtree states that it will be necessary to send to New Orleans in order to replace the coils which were burned out of a number of the city fire alarm boxes as a result of the falling of a highly charged electric wire Wednesday.

Fending the arrival of the coils the boxes have been temporarily adjusted so that alarms can be turned in.

Ten boxes in all were burned out, as well as an indicator in No. 1 station. It was announced this morning that all boxes with the exception of No. 5 on Boss street had been repaired. This box will be in working order by this evening.

AMUSEMENTS

"Magda" is a tragedy of conventionalism; a satire on our smug twentieth century code of family ethics; a sermon on the curse of success attained at the price of sin; a simple drama of German home life, yet so full of truths that burn and blaze and sear it outwards its common German surroundings and becomes a play typical of any home where a Puritanical code rules.

The simplicity of Magda is one of the drama's sources of great power. The scene is in the home of a retired German officer of the middle class. The same room serves for all four acts. The time of action is less than twenty-four hours. Two principal characters and two of secondary importance tell the story and carry the action, although four others are introduced.

And the story. It is about a girl, passionate, impulsive, possessing what we call for want of better expression an "artistic temperament," to whom the conventionalities of her father's house, added to the introduction of a young stepmother, become unbearable. On top of all is the proffer of love from a youth studying to become a clergyman.

The girl revolts at it all. She has a voice, her only possession, so she goes out into the world to make her living and achieve success as a singer.

In her first struggles for existence she meets another man of a different type from the lover she deserted. He is a man of the world. In their brief acquaintance the old story of a woman's betrayal and desertion is written. The girl, changed into a woman by her first great sorrow, flings pride, forgets home and friends and takes up alone the struggle for existence of herself and child.

And in time success comes. She becomes an artist with the world of music at her feet. Her betrayer in the meantime has become a convention counselor, a man of some importance in his little circle and a pillar of good form.

At this stage the play opens. Magda has returned to the city of her former home for a concert. While there, through the offices of the clergyman whom she had spurned as a youth, her father consents to receive her. She visits the old home and spends the night there, promising to remain there during her stay in the city if no questions are asked about her past life.

While there her betrayer calls to visit her. Their stormy interview attracts the attention of Magda's father and after the man has left the father wrings the girl's confession from her.

The old man's thought is for the retrieval of the family honor. He sends for the betrayer, prepared to fight a duel, but when the man for whom he has sent arrives and proposes that he marry Magda the father seizes the offer as a favor and promises that his daughter shall assent.

The struggle between the will of the father seeking to compel his daughter to take the step which he deems necessary to protect the family honor and that of the daughter refusing to sacrifice her artistic career and become bound to the cowardly man she loathes furnishes the intense dramatic climax of the play. It ends with the father's collapse in an apoplectic stroke, followed by his death. The auditor is left free to assume that Magda went back into her own world while her betrayer remained in his.

The daring argument that a woman can lift herself above shame, can be true to herself after having been false to conventionalities of society, is so skillfully worked up as to be wellnigh unanswerable. The line between rugged honesty of conviction and mere religious cant is finely drawn in the character of the father. Satire or sermon, Magda well deserves its claim to being called a masterpiece.

Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, who carried the title role at last night's production, never appeared so favorably here. Physically she is what Sudermann might have chosen for his ideal, and her thorough study of the difficult character she assays has given her rare naturalness and strength in the part. There is a sincerity in her acting that is admirable.

The character of Colonel Schwartz, Magda's father, is finely portrayed by Charles W. King. Miss Isabel Egerton, who has the role of Franziska, Magda's aunt, has the only comedy work in the production. She succeeds well.

Edward Mawson as Hietferding, Magda's rejected lover, and later her father's pastor, has a good mental conception of his part, but his execution is more as if he were essaying the role of an American rector. His appearance and style hardly conform to the ideal German "pastor," whom he is supposed to represent.

Francis Gellard, as Dr. Von Keilar, Magda's betrayer, introduces a foreign accent so pronounced as to make it hard for his hearers to understand. He is supposed to be a German and addresses all of his remarks to Germans. His introduction of a foreign accent when the other members of the cast are properly using English is as improper as it would be for him to speak German with an English accent were the play given in the former language.

TRAIN LOAD OF SONGBIRDS

Savage Grand Opera Company with 150 People and Immense Equipment of Singers Here

The working staff of ten men arrived yesterday in advance of the Savage Grand Opera Company and took possession of the opera house stage at once to make alterations necessary to accommodate the elaborate productions that are to be shown during the opera festival. Three rows of orchestra chairs were removed and a complete new orchestra pit constructed for the musicians carried by the company. On the stage traps had to be cut, platforms built and the other changes made that are always necessary for grand opera.

Underneath the stage special arrangements were made to accommodate the scores of hampers, crates and boxes containing the hundreds of costumes to be used during the engagement, there being over two thousand changes in costume required for the chorus and supernumeraries in the entire repertoire of the company. A force of wardrobe women and property men must have shop room to repair and "touch up" the immense amount of paraphernalia. This work must be attended to in each city in order to keep the many costumes and multifarious properties in first class condition.

The big company of 150 people arrived on its special train of twelve cars this morning. The company is making a complete tour of the country this year and is carried in its own chartered railroad equipment. There are seven cars piled full of scenery, properties, baggage and electric effects, one car for the musicians, two for the chorus and one for the principals. For the longer railroad jumps a dining car and two sleeping cars are added to these, making fourteen cars in all.

This is the first year Manager Henry Savage has attempted to make a cross-continent tour with his organization, and the undertaking requires a special corps of workmen to remain with the show while others go ahead to prepare the way. The company is the largest on the road, numbering 150 people, and its 10,000-mile trip, that includes opera festivals in New Orleans and San Francisco, is the largest venture of the kind ever attempted with a grand opera organization in America. The English at Greenwall's opera house tonight in "Tannhauser," Saturday matinee "Carmen" and Saturday night "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci."

NANKEVILLE'S MINSTRELS

Time may come and time may go, but W. E. Nankerville's Consolidated Minstrels, headed by Billy Van, "the assassin of sorrow," goes on forever. It will be the attraction at Greenwall's opera house Monday matinee and night, Feb. 12. There is no question but it will more than duplicate the success it made last time it was seen here, as it has been strongly reinforced by some new and clever acts, chief among which is the team of Clayton, Jenkins and Jasper. This team was imported from England by Manager Nankerville. There will be a concert in front of the theater Sunday at 7 p. m.

"A CHINESE HONEYMOON"

The promise of an early production here of "A Chinese Honeymoon," with its original cast bespeaks a rare treat in store for amusement lovers. The comic opera which Sam S. Shubert has plotted to such triumphs on both sides of the continent possesses the same charms which held London, New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago for so many weeks. The opera is in its fourth year in London, and the Britishers have shown no signs of tiring of it. "A Chinese Honeymoon" comes to Greenwall's opera house Tuesday matinee and night, Feb. 14.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT

Chauncey Olcott, one of the favorite actors in the north, appears in a new play at Greenwall's opera house Wednesday and Thursday nights, Feb. 15 and 16 "Terence" is the title of the play, that has scored a big hit in nearly every city of the north. It is a dramatization by Mrs. Edmund Nash Morgan of Mrs. B. M. Croker's novel of that name. "Terence" is an Irish drama after the style of other Olcott plays, except that the time is the present, while all of Mr. Olcott's other plays are of a century ago. Mr. Olcott, as is his custom, has written and composed four new songs for the play.

CRESTON CLARKE

Creston Clarke, whose professional visits in this locality are always a source of exceeding dramatic pleasure, is about to reappear here soon in a magnificent production of Richard Mansfield's masterpiece, "Monsieur Beaucaire," a most inviting adaptation of Booth Tarkington's popular book romance. Son of John Sleeper Clarke and nephew of Edwin Booth, whose lives once so beautifully graced the American stage, Mr. Clarke adds inheritance to the singular merits of his own ability. Creston Clarke comes to Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, Feb. 18.

LEE COUNTY MAN MAKES GREAT RECORD

M. E. Atchison Has Record of Only 46 Misses Out of 660 Shots at Houston

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 10.—The event among the shooters who have been in competition during the past three days for honors and purses in the fourth annual Grand Southern Handicap was the victory of M. E. Atchison, the son of Lee county, over all competitors for the trophy.

Out of a maximum of 660 shots for three days he made forty-six misses, the next man being fourteen behind him. The next man to him was Crosby, and today Barnes made the greatest score.

At the Tremont hotel last night George Tucker of Brenham, in the presence of the contestants, presented him with the Post diamond trophy with an appropriate speech.

This wound up the shoot. The state shoot will be held at Waco in April.

Proprietors of Large Saloons Favor Love Bill Now Before Legislature

Prominent saloon men of the city are heartily in favor of the passage of the Love bill, now before the legislature which calls for a uniform high license for all saloons, as well as providing regulations eliminating the dive element by setting the closing hour at 12 o'clock every night.

J. H. Thrasher emphatically endorses the bill in every feature.

"I could give fifty reasons why the passing of such a bill will benefit the public," he said. "In the first place it will prohibit small saloons locating in residential sections. It will shut off all dives that are not able to pay a respectable tax and conduct a respectable place. The closing of saloons at 12 o'clock will do away with the majority of drunkenness, as well as most of the fights, debauches and rowdiness that occur after 12 o'clock, when every man should be at home and in bed."

Mr. Thrasher left Thursday night for Austin to work for the passage of the bill.

Oscar Longlet said: "I am in favor of the bill for the reason that I am in favor of anything that will raise the standard of the saloon and thus avoid antagonizing prohibitionists. Unless saloons are properly regulated I feel that prohibition is sure to come. I do not necessarily endorse the tax itself, but simply endorse what it will bring about. Twelve o'clock closing every night is the proper thing. Dives should be eliminated and if the passing of the Love bill will bring about these changes, I sincerely hope that it will be passed."

H. Brann, wholesale and retail liquor dealer, made the following statement: "From one standpoint I would like to see the Love bill, calling for uniform license, passed. That is, I would like to see all the objectionable features of the saloon eliminated. On the other hand, I would hate to see the small beer saloon driven out of business and hundreds of men thrown out of employment. Here in the city of Fort Worth there are about sixty-five saloons of the class just mentioned, and I hate to see them forced to the wall. I am afraid if the legislature succeeds in passing this new tax regulation, thus closing the saloon of the small dealer who can not pay, that it will be only a matter of time when we larger men will go the same way, driven out by the same whip that we are endorsing."

WIFE MURDERER HANGS

Augustus L. Shaffer Pays Penalty for Crime in United States Jail at Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Augustus L. Shaffer was hanged in the United States jail today for the murder of his wife. The crime which Shaffer explained today was killing his divorced wife, Katherine Ivy, daughter of a bookkeeper in a local bank, by cutting her throat with a razor on the night of August 22, 1902. The murder was premeditated and unprovoked save by jealousy. The woman obtained a divorce from him three years before. Shaffer was 39 years old, and employed in the government printing office. Despite the separation and her living at her father's home with her two children Shaffer was insanely jealous of her. He met her on the street early in the evening of the murder and when he had spoken a few words, exclaimed: "Kate, it's my time to change now," and grasping her by the neck cut her throat with a razor, severing the jugular vein and carotid artery. She died almost instantly. The tragedy was witnessed by several persons and Shaffer's arrest followed immediately. His explanation was "She done me dirt and I ought to have done it years ago." A number of appeals for commutation of the sentence have been made to the president.
