A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

The cell-phone blues

Police dispatchers in Fayetteville, Ark., were sent into a frenzy Saturday after getting 35 calls to 911 from Razorback Stadium, where the University of Arkansas was trouncing the Middle Tennessee State Blue Raiders by 58-6.

Each time dispatchers answered, they heard the football game in the background, but no one responded.

As police soon found out, the calls were coming from an excited Arkansas fan whose repeated standing and sitting was inadvertently dialing his cellular phone.

Dispatchers blamed the problem on "one-touch buttons" that automatically dial a number when pushed.

Football fan tackles owl

A Dublin, Calif., man has admitted to using a slingshot to knock a barn owl from a tree and then beating the bird with a board because its screeching was disturbing "Monday Night Football."

Alan Rondi, 42, pleaded guilty Wednesday to misdemeanor charges of cruelty to an animal and removing a bird of prey from its habitat. He was ordered to complete 100 hours of community service at an animal shelter and to pay a $10,000 fine, according to County district attorney's office.

Rondi was arrested after a neighbor reported seeing him beating the owl. The injured bird was treated at Lindsay Wildlife Museum in nearby Walnut Creek.

Pick a pumpkin ... patch

A pumpkin thief has stolen five tons of the good gourd from farmer Tom Brenckle's patch near Rochester, Pa.

"When you have an apple tree, someone is going to jump up and steal an apple. But they don't steal the whole darn tree," said Brenckle, owner of Brenckle's Farm and Greenhouse in New Sewickley Township.

Brenckle said the thief or thieves made off with about 1,000 of his best pumpkins. He said he has more pumpkins for sale that he can gather from another field.

"I'm not going to tell you where that's at," he said. "I'm not stupid."

Mules overwhelm Shallowater Mustangs 31-7

By KEVIN WILSON
 Journal Sports Writer

The Mules scored three times in the second quarter en route to a 31-7 drubbing of the Shallowater Mustangs on Friday night.

Quarterback James Barrett threw for all four Mule touchdowns, finishing 5 for 11 with 154 yards.

Despite a huge offensive effort from several Mules, the defense was the key in their first district win: The Mules forced seven Shallowater turnovers and scored off three of them.

The Mustangs only got inside the Muleshoe 20 once, when Jeff Lusk caught a 21-yard pass for their only points of the game.

The Mustangs expected big things out of their running game, but premier back Justin Stone was limited to four yards on six carries. The other back, Micah Keeney, picked up some slack and had 75 yards.

"We did some things to stop the wing-T offense," said Mules head coach David Wood. Wood added that stopping the tailback was a key to defending Shallowater.

Early in the second quarter, the Mules went with a familiar target, Jeff Bruns. Bruns took a Barrett pass 51 yards to finish off a six-play, 66-yard drive.

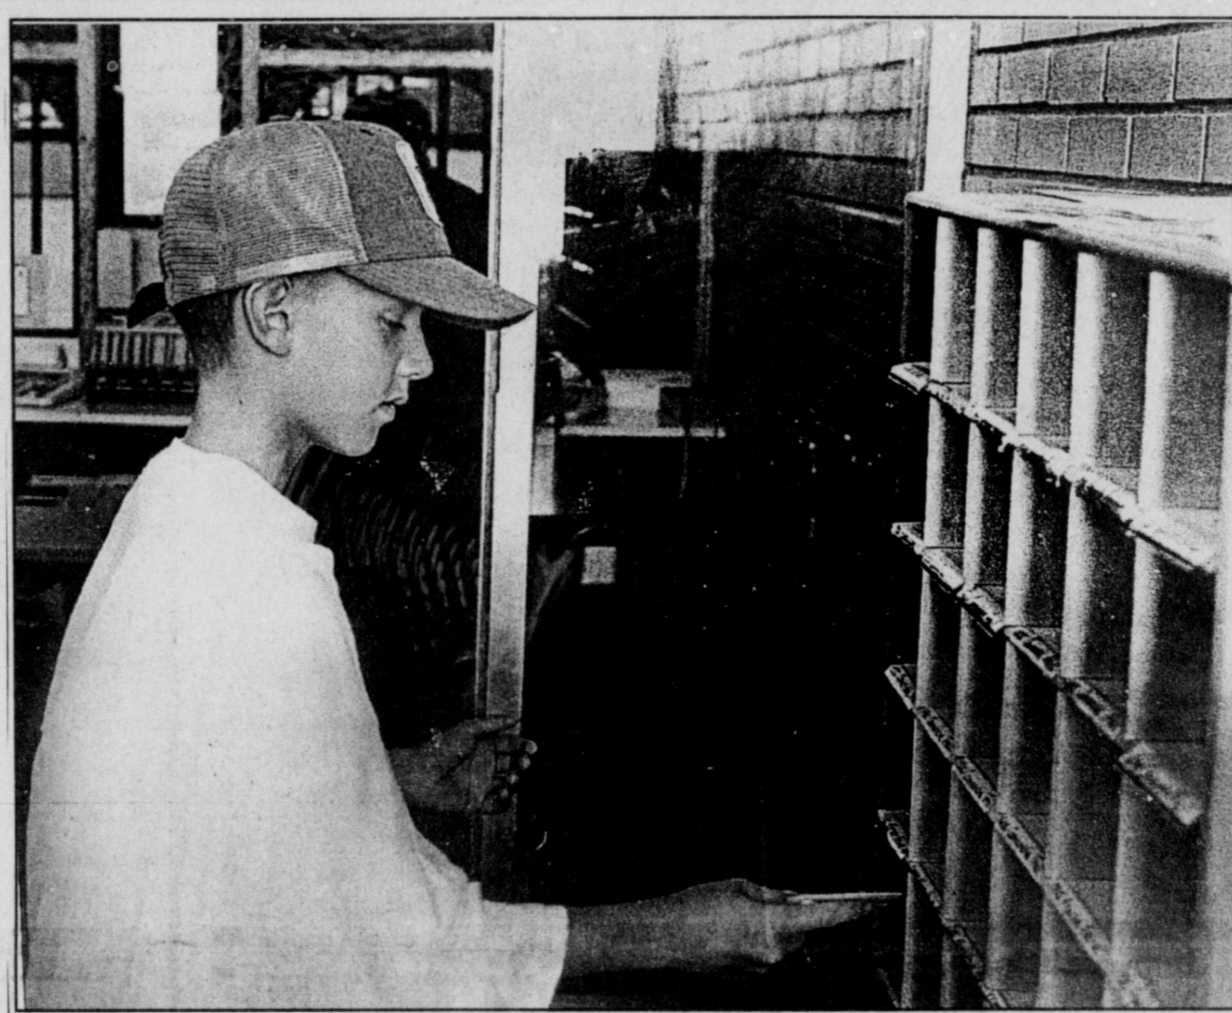

After the Mustangs lost a fumble, the Mules were on offense again. This time, the target was unfa-iar. Joey Tucker, who was just called up from junior varsity, caught a 38-yard bomb from Barrett.

"It's a great feeling," Tucker said about his first touchdown. "I didn't know what to do after I scored."

Tucker was put into the receiver slot because Wood moved Danny Ramirez to the backfield.

Students pick up life skills in Muleville

By KATIE PARKER
 Journal Staff Writer

There's joy in Muleville, and nearly every student at Mary DeShazo Elementary School can take a turn at bat.

The school has four campus businesses that were started in November 1995 and are collectively known as Muleville: the Post Office, the School Box (which sells school supplies), the Bank and the Mule Barn (which sells food), all organized and managed by the students.

The "town" has a student board of directors that meets monthly to make reports and business decisions.

The board officers consists of President Kate Lepard, Vice President Britni Carter and Secretary Chelse Hawkins, all fifth-graders.

Other fifth-grade members of the board are T.J. Brantley and Jordan Saylor.

Fourth-grade board members are Tanner Bales, Colby Carpenter, Holly Hunt, Garrett Riley and Kelsey Tipps.

Third-grade members are Vanessa Gómez, Janae Pyle, Mario Rodríguez and Wes Wood.

The DeShazo student body selects Muleville's board of directors.

Adult sponsors for the Post Office are Debbie Jo Kemp, Libby Chisolm and Myrt Feagley. Sponsors of the School Box are Jane Foster, Liz Tipps, and Staci Burris. David Keller, Nora Burris and Kay Moncrief sponsor the Bank, and Maria Garcia is the sponsor for the Mule Barn.

"These businesses are to teach the students life skills and employment skills and what it's like to hold a job," said DeShazo Principal Barbara Finney. Most all the children at Mary DeShazo have the opportunity to work at Muleville, provided they hold

'Seat-belt survivors' network to influence safety of public

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

They have rolled, tumbled, flipped and run off the road. Their autos have been scraped, dented, crushed and burned. They have felt sore, scared, angry and thankful. But they all survived auto crashes.

Sandy Bruskevitz of Round Rock, just north of Austin, was alone in her car, making a left turn. Another vehicle ran a red light, hitting her at 55 miles an hour, head on.

"I believe the car was full of angels to save me," Bruskevitz said. "The seat belt, harness, air bags and car structure saved my life."

"What made me buckle up? My children always insisted on it. I walked away with bruises and a reminder of how precious life can be."

Bruskevitz's use of safety equipment possibly helped prevent serious injury or death. In 1998, several thousand other Texans were not so fortunate.

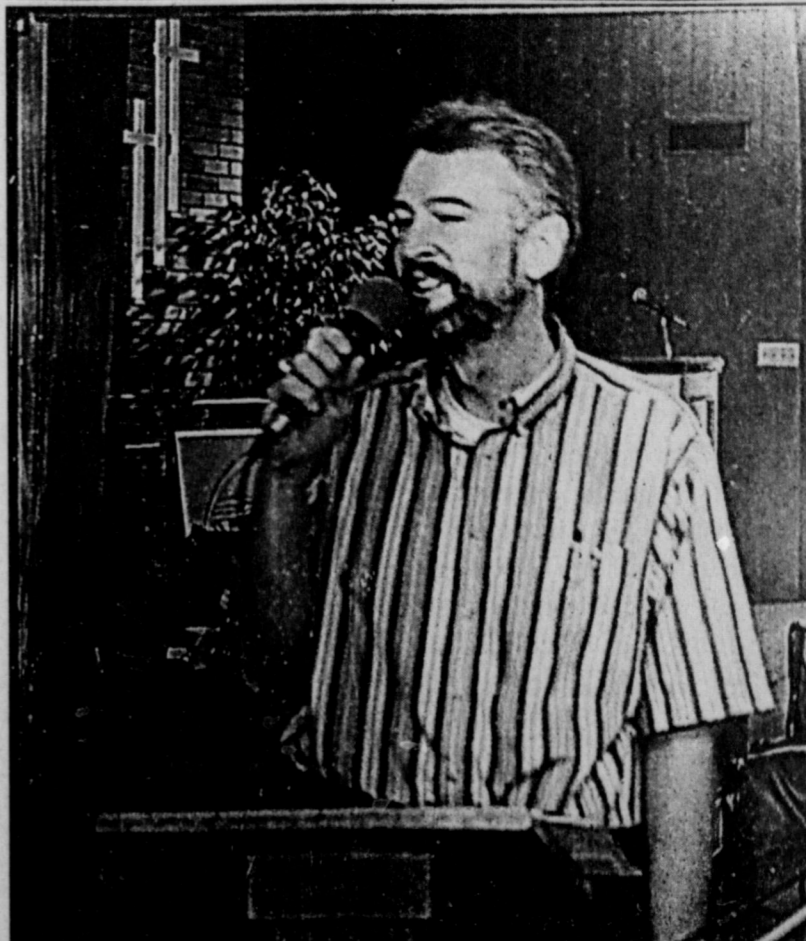

In that year, 3,576 people in Texas were killed and another 339,661 received injuries in motor vehicle crashes.

"It's important to know that of the people killed in a motor vehicle crash, when we know the data, almost half were not restrained by a seat belt," said Johnny Humphreys of the Disease and Injury Prevention Bureau at Texas Department of Health.

Humphreys also points to the fact that motor vehicle crashes are the No. 1 killer of children age 14 and younger, with 219 children losing their lives in crashes in 1998.

"What we have found is that if a driver is unbuckled, 70 percent of the time children in that vehicle will not be buckled in either," he said. "But if a driver is using a seat belt, a child also will be buckled in 90 percent of the time."

Noncompliance list on weevil program about to be made

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

The Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation has published a list of growers in active boll weevil eradication zones who have not as yet qualified for issuance of a compliance certificate.

The list is required by state law so as to inform buyers and first handlers that assessments on a farm may not have been paid and therefore that a lien against cotton production may exist.

The Legislature, which provided $75 million in support for eradication along with the availability of substantial financing, set the rules so that collection of all assessments was assured.

The list is only available to cotton buyers and first handlers and is updated daily.

A grower's name will appear on the list if the assessment has not been paid within 60 days of the official assessment notice, which was mailed along with the assessment statement.

Statements and official assessment notices were mailed out to the Northwest Plains Zone on Aug. 19.

Sept. 21 was the due date for payment of assessments.

Expiration date for the 60 day notice period is Oct. 18. After that date, growers whose assessments remain unpaid can expect their name to appear on the list.

When an assessment is settled, the foundation issues a compliance certificate.

The compliance certificate serves as a receipt and also as a release of any lien on production for that grower.

However, growers with multiple farms will not receive their compliance certificates until assessments on all their farms are settled.

A spokesperson for the foundation said it will work with any grower making late payment of an assessment by making a compliance certificate available to a buyer by fax if needed.

passing grades.

Applications and interviews are a part of the process for employment in program. Fifth-graders are responsible for the banking operations, fourth-graders are in charge of the School Box, third-grade has the Post Office, and the board of directors run the Mule Barn.

Teaching assistants help the students with each operation. All the money raised goes to the accelerated reading program and other school functions.

Hilda Rascón, a third-grade worker at the Post Office, said of her job: "I've learned you have to be neat and courteous to everyone, and neatly dressed."

The children who run the bank have to be careful when making deposits and making withdrawals because the banking operation goes through Muleshoe State Bank.

These children train their replacements and learn valuable job skills from this program, which runs 30 minutes per day.

AROUND THE AREA

Agriculture town hall set

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs will be hosting a town hall meeting Oct. 19 in Plainview. The open forum will allow farmers, ranchers and the community an opportunity to discuss with Combs those issues that are affecting Texas agriculture and rural communities.

The meeting will begin at 4 p.m. in the Hale Ollie Liner Center, 2000 S. Columbia in Plainview. The meeting is free and open to the public.

"I want to hear firsthand what is on the minds of the farmers, ranchers and citizens of our rural communities," Combs said. "I want to know what issues are affecting them, their families and their community and to hear their ideas and solutions for the future."

"Agriculture is one of the most dynamic industries in Texas. By working with our producers and agribusiness leaders, we can keep our industry on the forefront of change as we head into the 21st century," Combs said.

More information on the town hall meeting is available by contacting Scott Heselmeyer at (512) 463-4879.

Clovis checking recall signatures

Clovis city officials are checking more than 450 signatures on petitions turned in seeking a recall election for City Commissioner John Schuller of District 1 (the Colonial Park area).

In New Mexico, the number of signatures required for local recall elections is based on the number of votes cast in the last election. In Schuller's district, 394 of the signatures must be valid in order for the recall election to proceed.

The petition drive also targeted Commissioner Eldred Noble of District 1, where only 118 signatures would have been required. That effort failed, however.

Schuller and Noble have been the commission's most outspoken advocates of open government, and Noble in particular had been the center of controversy before. Most recently, they both were critical of the city administration's handling of the dismissal of former Police Chief Harry Boden.

Farwell man's murder trial opens

The capital murder trial for Michael Treadway of Farwell, accused in the 1997 slaying of Texico businessman E.C. "Red" Prather, opened Tuesday in Portales.

The charge that Treadway was the shooter in Prather's death is not being contested. His attorney, public defender Joe Shattuck of Albuquerque, has asked the court to rule whether his client is eligible for the death penalty, however.

Treadway was adopted, and Shattuck contends that Treadway's original birth certificate might prove that he was not 18 at the time of the shooting. Under New Mexico law, the defendant must be 18 at the time of the crime in order to face the death penalty.

Prather was killed inside his business, Bordertown Playorama, just west of the railroad tracks on the state line.

Already serving time as co-conspirators in the armed robbery that led to the shooting are 19-year-old Billy Joe Galván of Farwell and 20-year-old Ronald Armstrong of the Lariat area.

University schedules vocal concert

The Eastern New Mexico University School of Music will present the University Singers, Swanee Singers and Chamber Singers in concert Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. (Mountain time) in Buchanan Hall on the Portales campus.

Conductors will be Dr. David Gerig (University Singers and Chamber Singers) and Dr. Anthony Offerle (Swanee Singers). The concert is open to the public and free of charge.

The program will feature works from the Latin liturgy, the Psalms and arrangements of African-American spirituals.

As a nod to multi-culturalism, the University Singers will perform a setting of a Sanskrit text that is generally regarded as the essence of Buddhist teaching.

The secular portion of the program features some vocal jazz by the Swanee Singers, ENMU's vocal ensemble, and several a cappella madrigals and folk songs by the Chamber Singers.

Blood drive scheduled at ENMU

United Blood Services will be accepting blood donations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 18 in the Campus Union Building at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

Potential donors who wish to sign up for a time slot are asked to contact Janell Pronger at (505) 562-3623 or stop by the CUB between 11 a.m. (Mountain time) and 1 p.m. by Oct. 15. Walk-in donations will be accepted.

For every pint of blood donated, United Blood Services will donate $6 to Portales' Community Services Center for its new after-school program for at-risk children.

'Race for the Buckle' set for Oct. 23

The Hockley County Sheriff Posse has scheduled its annual Race for the Buckle on Oct. 23 at the posse's arena west of Levelland.

The race, traditionally a two-day event, has been limited to Saturday this year.

Books will open at 10 a.m. and competition will begin an hour later. Montana Silversmith belt buckles will be awarded to high-point individuals in each of the race's five age divisions.

Divisions will be 8-and-under, 9-13, 14-19, 20-49 and 50-and-over. A stick-horse race for youngsters 5 and under also will be held, with all contestants getting prizes.

A brisket dinner will be served at noon for $5 a plate. A concession stand will be open with snacks and drinks.

Spectators will be admitted free. "Gate" prizes, donated by area merchants, will be raffled off after each event. Proceeds will go to arena improvements.

More information is available by contacting Susan Kauffman at (806) 894-8492 or 894-9017, Leanna Pérez at (806) 229-6229 or Raymond Rumbaugh at (806) 894-6789.

Booths available at Littlefield event

him," Wood said of Ramírez.

Getting the ball to No. 4 was a good idea. Ramírez had the final touchdown of the first half on a 28-yard pass. Ramírez's touchdown came immediately after a Judd Glover interception, the first of five picks for the Mules.

After the Mules went up three touchdowns, it was safe to assume that Shallowater would try to throw its way back into the game. Assumptions were right, and the Mules had four more picks on the evening.

"The secondary stepped up in the second half," Wood said.

"We were just throwing the ball," said Mustang head coach Keith Kitchens. "They were just sitting there waiting (for an interception)."

"It was totally expected," said Glover, who had two interceptions. "I tried to get my hands on everything I could."

Glover wasn't the only one. Bruns also had two interceptions, while Ramírez and Mitch Mason each came up with one of their own.

Mason's interception proved to pivotal. The Mustangs had just scored and were in position to make the score 21-14 after Barrett lost a fumble on the Mule 36.

Mason ended Shallowater's hopes with his interception and then added an exclamation point 3:30 later on a 16-yard pass from Barrett.

Ryan Hodge's extra point made the score 28-7. Hodge added a 20-yard field goal a minute later to end the scoring.

The win puts the Mules at 1-1 in district with two of their remaining three regular season games at home.

The schedule wasn't as kind to Shallowater, however. The Mustangs are now 0-2 in district and they will face district leader Littlefield next Friday. However, Kitchens is still optimistic.

"If we somehow upset them, we've got a chance to get in," Kitchens said.

The Mules will need to continue to impress in order to get into the playoffs as well. Their next test will be at home Friday against Lubbock Roosevelt.

Daddy, Will You Go to Church with Me?

Daddy, will you go to church with me?"

"Daddy" directed his attention downward to the little pig-tailed pixie-princess tugging at his bathrobe.

The question caught him by surprise. And from almost anyone else, it might have prompted a different response, but now it brought on one of those "long conversation with yourself in about two seconds" situations before he answered.

Focus On Faith

Curtis Shelburne

He loved the little princess with the question on her lips. And he loved her mother. Of that there was no doubt. And he was an honest man. No one had ever doubted that either.

For his wife and daughter to go to church every Sunday morning had always been fine with him. Why didn't he go with them? Hard to say. It was a decision made not so much by fault as by default, made now each week by force of habit more than by conscious thought. He just didn't go, though he was genuinely happy for them to.

But this morning's out of the blue question made him think.

"Pearly-gate" scandals and slick "hold onto your billfold, the circus is in town" TV preachers aside, he didn't mind admitting that a world in which most people took time to bow would be a better place. In a dark alley, he'd surely rather meet a big man coming from prayer meeting than one coming from a bar.

Yeah, he had some real doubts about organized religion, but he had to admit that with all its faults it had accomplished more practical good than the "unorganized" Jesus-and-me-and-the-TV kind.

He'd jump off a bridge for this little one, throw himself in front of a car, stare death in the face . . . but would he go to church for her?

Was that honest? To go for someone else?

If what he'd read about Jesus was true, he knew Christ had not an ounce of sympathy for fake religion, but he also knew that He never turned away an honest doubter.

What would he tell his waiting princess-daughter? The thoughts raced through his head, and he bent down, and he said . . .

Panel to Texas' lowhealth-insurance percentage

AUSTIN — A U.S. Census Bureau study released last week shows that Texas had the highest percentage of residents without health coverage.

Nearly one in four Texans, or 24.5 percent, lacked health insurance last year, the highest uninsured rate in the country, according to the study.

In the spring, the Texas Legislature already knew nearly 5 million Texans did not have health insurance, and legislators agreed to appoint a blue-ribbon panel to study the problem.

Lt. Gov. Rick Perry and House Speaker Pete Laney have appointed panelists, but the group won't meet until Gov. George W. Bush also makes appointments.

Last week, Bush spokeswoman Linda Edwards said the governor probably would select his appointees within a week.

The Office of Public Insurance Counsel reported last year that 57.4 percent of Texans were in employer-sponsored insurance coverage in 1996, compared with 64 percent of all Americans.

Furthermore, only 26.9 percent of Texans could get dependent coverage through work, compared with about 32 percent nationally.

AG targets online child porno
Texas Attorney General John Cornyn on Oct. 6 announced a partnership with Internet service providers to identify and prosecute online transmission of child pornography.

Combs: Mexico should drop beef tariffs

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs has announced she will urge Mexico to reconsider its plans to impose tariffs on chilled and frozen processed beef imports from U.S. meatpackers.

Especially hard hit will be Texas' medium to small independent meatpacking companies that will face tariffs up to 215 percent, Combs said. "Increasing tariffs is harmful to the beef industry, and these price-depressing actions will deal a blow not only to Texas cattlemen, but also to their Mexican counterparts who sell their calves in Texas," Combs said. "I strongly urge the Mexican government to reconsider these actions."

Last Sunday, Mexico announced it was imposing tariffs on U.S. boxed beef imports.

The steepest tariff, 214.52 percent, was set on imports of Cornyn released suspect-referral guidelines based on his office's successful partnership with the Internet service provider America Online.

Since 1998, America Online has made about 80 referrals.

"These guidelines serve the state's interests in getting these criminals off the Internet, and the ISPs receive the benefits of customer loyalty in being family friendly," Cornyn said. He encouraged other Internet service providers to join in the effort.

Chad Kissinger, president of the Texas Internet Service Provider Association, also urged all Texas providers to adopt the guidelines.

AG criticizes unfunded mandate
Cornyn last week called on the federal government to allow flexibility in implementing an unfunded child-support mandate.

Cornyn said that although Texas' child-support system operates efficiently through county offices, the federal mandate requires a central state office to handle disbursement edible beef strippings, except for livers and tongues.

Other tariffs are 198.07 percent for frozen tongue imports; 106.24 percent for frozen liver imports; 74.98 percent for boneless beef cuts and 5.24 percent for carcasses, fresh-refrigerated or frozen.

Four large U.S. meatpacking companies will receive lower tariffs or be exempt from certain tariffs. They are Excel Corp., IBP Inc., Farmland National Beef Packing Co. and ConAgra. Mexico's trade ministry said these companies will receive the lower tariffs and exemptions because they provided information on their exports to Mexico as "affected parties" in a trade ministry investigation into charges that the U.S. is dumping beef on the Mexican market.

"I am very concerned that the actions taken by the Mexican government will restrict the of child-support payments.

Rep. Rob Junell, D-San Angelo, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said the federal government is asking us to "re-invent the wheel and pay for it ourselves."

Cornyn said he will be working with members of the Texas congressional delegation to develop a legislative remedy.

Lottery cans 54-ball idea
No further public hearings will be conducted on the Texas Lottery Commission's proposal to add four more numbered balls to its 50-ball jackpot game.

Lottery director Linda Cloud, who canceled five scheduled hearings, said players have made it clear that they are against the 54-ball proposal.

Odds of winning the twice-weekly game under the proposal to add four more balls would have dropped from the present one in 16 million to one in 26 million.

"We have heard a single message loud and clear, and that is 'don't mess with Lotto Texas,'" Cloud said at a news conference.

Less interest in the lottery has had an adverse effect on the state budget, which receives 32 percent of lottery revenues.

Tort reform savings continue

Tort reform legislation passed in 1995 has reduced the number of lawsuits and lowered the dollar amounts of insurance settlements.

The Texas Department of Insurance periodically has flow of U.S. beef into Mexico," Combs said.

"This action will have a very adverse impact on several Texas meatpackers and processors who employ hundreds of Texas workers and purchase thousands of Texas cattle each year. The majority of these companies are small companies that have worked hard to open markets for Texas beef in Mexico. Such actions will deal a terrible blow to their bottom line and limit sales of U.S. beef that Mexican consumers have become accustomed to," she said.

Combs recently met with top agricultural officials in Mexico to discuss trade and other issues of interest to Texas and Mexico. "I think we have initiated a very substantive dialogue to deal with these types of situations, and I am committed to working this out with Mexico," Combs said.

REBEKAHS

Acting Noble Grand Thursie Reid called Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge No. 114 to order at 7:30 p.m.

Chaplain Ruby Green gave the opening prayer escorted by Acting Past Grand Ona Berry. Secretary Patsy Chance called the roll, with 12 members answering. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Berni Marts reported that she is now going to Lubbock for treatments. Reid reported that Velma Howell is doing about the same, and Green reported Bill Maddox is still in a Lubbock hospital.

Chance and Sylvia Lira will drape the charter for our deceased sister, Lucille Gross.

Tickets for our annual Thanksgiving dinner are $6 for adults and $3 for children under 10. Tickets are available from any Rebekah or Odd Fellow.

It was nice to have Ona Berry, Trinidad Ramirez and Ruby Garner at our meeting this week. The conductor, Alene Bryant, escorted Berry to the lodge deputy to present her with a certificate of perfection.

With no further business, Marts closed with the Rebekah Creed and two verses of the song "An Evening Prayer."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

AMOS, THE PROPHET

THE NAME AMOS MEANS A BURDEN, OR A BURDEN BEARER. THIS PROPHET FROM TEKOA, IN THE TERRITORY OF JUDAH, WAS A MAN OF HUMBLE BIRTH. AS A HERDSMAN, HE DOUBTLESS SPENT MUCH OF HIS LIFE IN THE WILDERNESS THAT EXTENDED FROM THE VILLAGE OF TEKOA ALL THE WAY TO THE DEAD SEA. WHEN NOT ENGAGED AS A HERDSMAN, HE FOUND OTHER EMPLOYMENT AS A DRESSER OF SYCAMOR TREES PRUNING THE FOLIAGE AND PICKING ITS FRUIT FOR PACKING. (AMOS 1:1; 7:14, 15) FROM THE KNOWLEDGE THAT AMOS DISPLAYS WITH DISTANT PLACES AND EVENTS, IT IS EVIDENT THAT HE WAS USED TO HARD WORK, IN MANY CATEGORIES SUCH AS DRIVING SHEEP AND CARRYING HIDES AND WOOL AS FAR AS DISTANT EGYPT AND DAMASCUS. ODDLY ENOUGH, ALTHOUGH A MAN OF JUDAH, HE WAS CALLED UPON TO PROPHESY IN THE NORTHERN KINGDOM OF ISRAEL! HE APPEARED AT BETHEL WHERE THE TEMPLE HAD WITHIN IT ONE OF THE GOLDEN CALVES SET UP BY JEROBOAM (AMOS 8:14). AMOS SPOKE WITH SUCH BOLDNESS AGAINST THE SINS OF THE KING AND THE PEOPLE THAT HE IMMEDIATELY MADE A GREAT NAME FOR HIMSELF.....

Oh, what a tangled free-market web we weave...

"The colonies are acting up again," remarked the Queen to the Prince over a crumpet at breakfast.

"Yes dear, they are quite upset," replied his royalosity. "They are still trying to get permission to ship fruitcake to Britain and our European friends. But as you know, they use gum drops in their fruitcake, which makes it flammable. They insist that the World Court came down on their side."

"Oh, never mind them, Liza, those Dutch drive on the wrong side of the road, too."

"Yes," replied her highness, "But those silly Americans are making such a fuss, claiming it's not fair, like a petulant child. They make so much fruitcake they can never eat it all themselves.

So there they sit with a surplus. And what do their wise men in Washington ...," she paused and looked wistfully at a painting of Cornwallis. ...

"What do they do? They import more fruitcake from their Commonwealth siblings and southern neighbors! Their own producers gripe and whine because their fruitcake prices go down. So they lobby their politicians, who allowed the sibling imports in the first place, to restrict and charge duty on these same imports and demand country of origin labeling."

"Why the label?" asked the Prince, who was drifting off.

"Because," she said, "without a label, people can't tell fruitcakes apart."

"But their government says, 'What's the point of importing if it doesn't lower the price of fruitcake to the consumer?' Their poor producers answer, 'Well, duh, you will be protecting us, your own fruitcake makers here in the colonies. You will ensure that our fruitcake industry will be strong and that no foreign wars, entanglements or embargoes will leave Americans fruitcakeless.'"

"Goodness," said the Prince, "So their government wants to have their fruitcake and eat it, too. Sounds familiar."

"Righto," said the Queen, "They were slow learners but we taught them well."

NASA's advancements providing excitement again

One of the most talked-about films of the summer was "The Phantom Menace," part of the Star Wars series that has sparked the imaginations of people around the world.

But you didn't have to be in a movie theater for space thrills and excitement on the morning of July 31.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration put on a pretty good show when its Lunar Prospector mission ended in dramatic fashion, crashing violently into the moon.

Powerful telescopes on Earth watched the controlled descent for clues that water vapor had been splashed up into the lunar sky.

All the data isn't in yet, but there's a very good chance that water was, indeed, present. Earlier, during a mapping mission, Lunar Prospector scientists found indirect evidence of water contained in countless ice crystals sprinkled across the moon's surface.

Such a discovery may have the potential to change man's destiny.

The presence of significant amounts of water there raises the possibility of establishing a human colony on the moon.

This is a prospect that until now has remained the stuff of fiction and blockbuster movies.

Before it crashed, Prospector—launched in January 1998—also provided scientists with invaluable maps of the moon's gravitational fields and information about the composition of Earth's only natural satellite.

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

NASA's most recent accomplishments hold out the promise of a future as exciting as the days of its Apollo missions.

This is one of the reasons I continue to be a committed advocate for America's space program, but sometimes it's an uphill fight.

Every year since I entered the Senate, the battle for NASA funding has been a cliffhanger. This year was no different.

In July, the House of Representatives approved a measure that cut NASA's budget by nearly 10 percent.

This would have jeopardized the space agency's high-priority international Space Station project, as well as a number of other cutting-edge scientific explorations like the Lunar Prospector. This would be short-sighted in the extreme.

The Space Station has reached a critical point, and it is vital to ensure that NASA has the resources it needs to carry this mission forward. You can't cut nearly a billion dollars from a highly technical project and continue to meet the space program's goals.

When the appropriate Senate subcommittee took up NASA's budget in September, I went to the mat to get that funding restored, and succeeded.

Now I intend to work to see that NASA's $13.6 billion in funding remains largely intact though the remainder of the budget process.

Congress knows well that a strong space program furthers the national interest by advancing the frontiers of pure science in such disciplines as physics, medicine and electronics.

In addition to the Space Station, restoration of funding for NASA will preserve scientific inquiries into human survivability during long-term space travel, and the production of unique materials and compounds in a zero-gravity environment.

Our country's vibrant economy and high standard of living would not be what they are today without NASA. Scientific advances result in economic growth that is the envy of the world.

Possibly the greatest NASA spinoff of all is the microprocessor. The personal computers we all use are the direct result of NASA's development of smaller computers needed for space travel.

The Global Positioning System navigation system was developed through space. Weather satellites make it possible for forecasters to warn us of hurricanes, tornadoes and snowstorms, giving us time to take shelter and reduce property damage.

Medical science has been transformed. NASA research has given us the pacemaker, the defibrillator and countless other life-saving advances.

A laser system first used for satellite-based atmospheric experiments now is used to treat arteriosclerosis, a leading cause of death in the United States.

Thanks to the space program, we enjoy lower-cost cooling and heating systems in our homes, long-life power converters, safer chemical storage, air and water purification, and better waste management and recycling systems. It has even led to better athletic shoes and scratch-resistant sunglasses.

NASA has been one of the major contributors to this country's greatness in the 20th century.

To not support the space program with the funds it needs to move forward would be to deny our country the engineers, scientists and astronauts of the future. I will continue to fight for that future.

Take out 'insurance' to prevent falls in the home

COLLEGE STATION — Falls are the No. 1 cause of injury-related deaths in people over the age of 65. But many of these deaths could be prevented if people just took out a little "insurance," said Judy Warren, a gerontologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To get this kind of "insurance," people must take steps to clear their homes of danger zones.

"The people who recognize risks and are proactive about them are the most successful," Warren said. "Think of things like grab bars, walking with a partner and reducing clutter as insurance."

According to Warren, several daily situations present the most danger to people.

The most risky situation is going from bed to the bathroom during the night. Warren recommended that people use night lights.

"When someone wakes, that person needs to just sit up slowly and stay seated for a moment or two before rising to get their bearings and prevent dizziness. Next, if that person uses an assistive device like glasses or a walker during the day, those devices should also be used at night."

Sometimes the medications people take to keep them well can actually contribute to a fall. Side effects such as dizziness, fatigue, confusion and drowsiness can increase risks.

The living room can also present a hazard to older people.

First, the seats are often too low. Warren suggested placing a cushion on top or adding a platform beneath furniture to raise the seat level (make sure the platform doesn't stick out to trip over).

Next, make sure there are no cords to trip on and get a cordless phone. For throw rugs or carpets that might curl up, use a strong, double-sided tape to adhere them to the floor. Or get rid of them altogether.

Make sure that carpets and walls are different colors — it is easier to distinguish level changes. Get rid of clutter like old magazines and newspapers and keep any animal toys off the floor.

In the kitchen, take everything off the highest shelf or get a reacher or step ladder with a handle.

Because older adults take one-third of all prescriptions, Warren suggested getting a medication organizer. There are several to choose from on the market — some with bins for each day of the week, some with bins for the time of day for each day of the week, some with a lock and another that has a verbal reminder when it's time to take medication.

Bath time also can present some risky situations. Warren recommended that all tubs have bath mats and grab bars.

HERITAGE FOUNDATION

The annual meeting of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation was held Sept. 28.

Six new board members elected are Walter Marie Boness, Sharon Grant, Wells Hall, Rita Hawkins, Magann Rennels and Ruby Spurlock.

In a short board meeting after the annual meeting, officers elected were Jim Allison, president; Carolyn Johnson, vice president; Hall, secretary; Kristy Price, treasurer; and Jean Allison, reporter.

Guests arriving at the Muleshoe depot for the annual meeting were greeted by special music provided by Jack Henderson, Gerald Shanks and Charles Schovajsa.

The formal program began with the Rev. Sergio Leal giving the invocation. It was noted that he was one of the early members of the Student-Community Action Club who helped clean out the old depot when it was moved to its present site.

Vivian White, the outgoing board president, served as mistress of ceremonies. She began by saying, "We have a number of special guests here tonight, but you are all VIPs because you are each so important to the center."

She introduced Mayor Robert Montgomery, who read a proclamation declaring Sept. 28 "Muleshoe Heritage Day."

She then gave a tribute to the student club for its support of the foundation since 1983, when both were organized.

"When the Heritage Center needs help, the students of this club say when and how much?" White said.

Blake Gartin, president of the Student-Community Action Club, speaks during the annual meeting of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation.

Jean Allison, who has been a sponsor of the student club since its inception, noted that among the other sponsors over the years is Chris Mardis, now in his third year as a sponsor. A recently elected sponsor is Jody Wood, wife of head football coach David Wood.

Blake Gartin, recently elected president of SCAC, told of the group's activities including helping with the annual meeting, decorating for the old-fashioned Christmas Open House held annually at the center, manning rest stops for the Tour de Muleshoe bike ride and others.

Each year SCAC holds a bake sale on Channel 6 on 17, with all the money donated to the Heritage Center — a total of more than $16,000 over the years.

White presented Gartin with a plaque of appreciation for the student group.

White then:

- Introduced the center hostess, Peggie Bruton, whose services White said are invaluable to the center. Bruton was presented a bouquet of red roses.

- Thanked everyone who helped remodel the Thrift Shop, which has a new roof and a new paint job. She particularly thanked Irvin St. Clair and his team of fund-raisers for raising more than $5,000 for the renovation.

- Introduced St. Clair and showed him the plaque containing donor's names, which will be hung at the center.

- Presented Jim Allison a framed certificate for his supervision of the center's renovation.

- Thanked the volunteers — Ladene Spears, Lanell Stancell, Shirley White, Harold and Mary Jo Burge, Peggy Bates, Irene Dilts, Ollie Cox and others — who work at the Thrift Shop, whose proceeds help cover the day-to-day operating expenses of the center.

Johnson then spoke on "What's New at the Heritage Center." She showed a new brochure about the center that will be placed at the center, motels, the chamber of commerce office and other strategic places in the area. She thanked Wells Hall for the printing job on the brochures.

She then thanked the city of Muleshoe for donating $10,000 and SCAC for donating $2,000 toward the cost of renovating the center's old log cabin.

She invited those attending the annual meeting to tour the center to see new donations such as the redwood long table and benches made by Jack Hicks (vice president of the board) and reminiscent of those originally used at the Muleshoe Ranch cook house. The new items have been placed where Hicks remembers the cowboys sitting for meals.

Jim Allison outlined some of the anticipated projects at the center and introduced Jerry Bruton, recently hired for maintenance. He said the board had decided that hiring a worker would be cost-effective compared to allowing the facility to deteriorate. Jean Allison then discussed some of the activities held at the center and asked White and board members to come forward. Board members presented White with a plaque and a dozen red roses for her services as president.

Anyone wishing to donate to the center may do so by contacting memorial chairperson Jenne

McVicker; checks may be sent to her at 905 E. Ivy, Muleshoe 79347.
