JEFFRIES' RETIREMENT

ought to be labeled

Naughton Says Future Only Will Show Whether Big Champion Is Out of the Fighting Game for Good

BY W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—While the announcement of Champion Jim Jeffries' retirement from the ring wasn't expected just a while there was little surprise in San Francisco when the determination of the biggest and best of heavyweights was made known. It is generally admitted in fact, that in view of the conditions which prevail in the class to which Jeffries belongs there was nothing left for him to do but get out of the game.

It may tickle Jeffries' vanity to know that the sporting public places him so far above all his contemporaries that an attempt to match him with any of the men at present posing as championship candidates is regarded as ridiculous, but there is no money in prospect of that kind.

The returns of his match with Jack Munroe gave Jeffries an idea of what he may expect when pitted against an opponent in whom the public takes no stock. As there is no one in sight at present calculated to make Jeffries extend himself any more than the miner did, it is little wonder that Jeffries thinks of turning to the growing of beets for the sugar mills or killing venison for the market as a more profitable pursuit than cracking the ribs of his fellow men or conferring cauliflower ears upon them.

But the man who can read between the lines is in evidence. There is a small sized whisper around to the effect that the retirement story is merely a harmless little deceit conceived by the master mind of one William Delaney, the object being to create a yearning to see Jeff in action just once more with any kind of adversary that may be scared up for him.

The suspicion may be unkind of course, but it will be interesting to note if the events of the near future warrant it. If there is a scheme afoot to work up interest in a match which will have Jeffries as one of the principals the man the plotters must have in view as an opponent for big Jim is undoubtedly Marvin Hart of Kentucky. Marvin, no doubt, will be quite willing to assist in making Jeffries' farewell appearance in any ring an unequalled success. If, however, the temper of the pugilistic patrons of San Francisco hasn't been changed entirely by the thought that the chances of seeing Jeffries in war paint are becoming desperate there is every reason for believing that a Jeffries-Hart contest would be as much of a financial failure as the Jeffries-Munroe affair.

But this is dealing in surmises. The fact that Jeffries has announced his retirement is the only thing in evidence. Let us tag it "retirement No. 1," and see, if he keeps on retiring, that each withdrawal from the sport which made him famous is numbered consecutively.

There is no fear, I guess, of Jeffries developing the Adellina Patti tendencies that have made such a jack-in-the-box of Fitzsimmons during the past few years, but it is as well to be in a position to spring the dope on Jeffries if he retires too often. It might cure him of the habit if someone looks him squarely in the eye at some time in the future when he is making a farewell speech and say, "James, this is the seventy-sixth time."

If Jeff's announcement in this instance is final and is sincere what will become of the championship? A correspondent has asked me if Jeff has the power to confer the title on anyone and I am free to confess that I do not know. I believe that transfers of this kind have been made in the past but I don't think the public regarded these ready-made champions seriously. This is a hard hearted world and to be queen of the May in the domain of sport a man has to battle for the distinction.

To tell the truth, Jeffries with all his might is the kind of a man that should have little to say in regard to the world's championship once he relinquishes it. He draws the color line and according to the ethics he has established might extract from the man he endows with the title a promise that no negro fighter should be allowed a chance to become the world's premier pugilist. This would be manifestly unfair. As long as Jeffries himself refuses to give battle to a black skinned gladiator we didn't mind it so much for we felt that it was largely a whim and that Jeffries if he did happen to change his mind would dispose of his negro challengers as completely as he did of the white heavyweights who opposed him from time to time.

But Jeffries is one fighter in a thousand. There is little prospect of such another wonderful ringman being developed and there is a little fear, in the case of the white heavyweights, that the man honored being regarded as a worthy successor. For an inferior heavyweight to emulate Jeffries and draw the color line would be ridiculous though for that matter an attempt on anyone's part to assume the prerogatives of a champion because Jeff named him "as such" would only prove ridiculous.

If Jeff drops the running there will have to be a new deal. Public opinion will dictate who is best entitled to battle for the blue ribbon and the latter day match makers who make few mistakes in these matters, will see that public opinion is respected.

STOCKMEN OPEN DENVER MEETING

Members of American Stock Growers' Association Hold First Convention

DENVER, Colo., May 10.—The American Stock Growers' Association, which was organized last January by seceders from the National Live Stock Association, began its first annual convention in this city yesterday.

Addresses of welcome were made by Governor McDonald, Mayor Sheer and John W. Springer, former president of the National Live Stock Association, and a response by W. W. Turner of El Paso, president of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association.

Discussion among the members of the American Stock Growers' Association indicates that after the meeting of the National Live Stock Association is out of the question at present. President J. F. Hagenbarth of the latter organization is in attendance at the convention, but the exception he is the official head, has not apparently committed the association, or peared as anticipated.

"There will be no clash at this convention," said President Hagenbarth. "Our organization wants peace and is for everything that will promote harmony among the stockmen."

"The present convention will discuss ways and means of securing better rates and service from the railroads and of fighting the alleged combination of the packers since the organization of the new association. Its president, Conrad Schaefer, has resigned, and in advance of the assembling of the convention the members had practically decided upon the choice of Mardo McKenzie, a prominent ranchman and Texas cattleman, to be Mr. Schaefer's successor."

At the opening of the convention today Secretary A. E. DeRigles announced the death of President Schaefer. Colonel William F. Hughes of Denver was elected temporary chairman and Fred P. Johnson was elected assistant secretary.

W. A. Harris of Chicago, general manager of the National Live Stock Association, is watching the proceedings of the convention.

"We are here to extend the olive branch to the American Association," said Mr. Harris. "and we are willing to make any reasonable concessions to the new organization and shall be very glad to have it affiliate with us."

BAPTIST PASTOR TO LEAVE

Dr. Luther Little Accepts Galveston Call and Will Resign Pastorate in This City

Dr. Luther Little, pastor of the First Baptist church, left this morning for Kansas City to attend the Southern Baptist convention, which meets in that city this week. Delegates and alternates to the convention named by the First Baptist church, a large portion of whom will attend the meeting, are: Delegates, W. B. Carver, A. E. Want, William Reeves, G. H. Connell, F. C. Oxshier, F. M. Long, C. P. Dallas and J. W. St. Clair; alternates, W. P. Portwood, J. F. Wellington, U. S. Pawlett, J. W. Sturges, W. T. Stinson, A. J. Long, Otho S. Huston and M. Seogale.

Before leaving Dr. Little decided Tuesday night to accept a call tendered him by the First Baptist church of Galveston, as announced in The Telegram. He has not yet tendered his resignation to his congregation in this city, but it is understood that it will take effect about June 1.

Dr. Little has been pastor of the church in this city for six years, coming here from Bonham. During his pastorate 750 new members have been added to the church. At a recent meeting of the congregation his salary was given a substantial increase.

COTTON DELAYED BY RAIN

Weekly Crop Report for Texas Shows Weather Has Delayed Agricultural Work

GALVESTON, Texas, May 10.—The following weekly summary of conditions in Texas is issued under the direction of the department of agriculture: "Warm weather prevailed generally during the week. During most of the week the weather was fair, but heavy local showers occurred during the latter part in northern and central counties, and light showers over most of the state. The soil was generally wet as a result of the heavy rains the latter part of the previous week, and work was greatly retarded. The recent heavy rains will cause further delay. In southern and western counties, however, the moisture condition is generally favorable. The local nature of the heavy rains enable work to be performed in northern and central counties where the showers were lighter. Much damage to crops resulted from the overflow of bottom lands and washing of higher lands.

"Cotton—But little progress has been made in cotton planting in northern and central counties during the past week on account of wet ground from rain of previous week and heavy local showers near end of week. Much of the first planting will have to be replanted on account of damage by wet weather. In some counties early planted cotton is up. In those localities where local showers were not so heavy it is in good condition, but generally its condition is not very promising. Cultivation has been delayed and fields are foul. In southern counties this crop is in better condition, and the prospects are very good in some localities. There has, however, been local damage by rain. Chopping and cultivation are in progress. Cut worms are reported to have damaged the crop somewhat in Marion and Navarro counties.

"Corn—The weather has been too wet for corn. In many counties it has an unhealthy appearance. In some sections, however, it is doing well. Considerable damage resulted from flooding and washing. Fields are generally foul and in need of cultivation. "Wheat, Rye, Oats and Barley—These crops are doing well over most of the state, and promise fair to good yields. Rust is, however, reported in wheat from an increased number of counties in the northern and central portions of the state. Unless the weather improves serious damage from this cause is feared. Wheat and barley are heading in some northern counties. "Rice and Sugar Cane—Rice seeding has

DEMOCRATS LOSE IN SAN ANTONIO

Ticket Headed by Vorhies P. Brown Snowed Under By Callaghan Forces

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 10.—The city democratic party ticket, headed by Vorhies P. Brown for the mayoralty, of San Antonio was almost completely snowed under yesterday in the city election by the so-called people's party ticket, an independent movement headed by Bryan Callaghan. The only democratic candidate elected was M. W. Davis, candidate for alderman from the Fourth ward. Callaghan's majority over Brown is 589. Brown ran behind his ticket, there being much scratching of ballots. Phil Shardin, candidate for judge of the corporation court, led all candidates with a majority of 1,943. Out of 6,029 qualified voters in the city only 4,087 exercised the suffrage. This is the first election held in San Antonio under the Terrell law. The day was fair and there was every opportunity to poll a full vote. Callaghan's total vote was 2,764, against Brown's 1,875.

BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER

This is true only of good blood, or when in a normal, healthy state. There are times when the blood is so tainted with disease and polluted and poisoned that it loses its proper consistency, its richness and purity, and becomes pale and anaemic, weak and almost as thin as water. Being the storehouse of the body and the fountain-source from which the rest of the system is nourished and sustained, the purity of the blood must be maintained or every organ, nerve and tissue in the body is weakened, and sickness and disease develop. Rich, pure blood, full of life-giving elements and teeming with millions of red corpuscles is the kind that makes strong muscles, healthy nerves and vigorous bodies. To keep this great life stream free of impurities is essential to the enjoyment of full and perfect health.

A large majority of human ailments are due to a bad condition of the blood. Sores and Ulcers, Abscesses, Boils and Skin Eruptions of various kinds are some of the numerous signs of a contaminated, tainted blood. Weak and watery blood makes weak and frail bodies. Anaemic, waxy, sallow complexions, flabby muscles, shattered nerves, black heads, pimples and various other skin diseases denote blood poverty and a weak condition of this vital fluid, and that its nutritious qualities have been destroyed.

To keep this great life-stream in health requires that all morbid matter and poisonous secretions be promptly removed, or it becomes a source of disease itself, poisoning instead of nourishing the system, and producing an endless train of diseases. The blood must be kept rich, strong and pure or it cannot perform its proper offices. The nutritious elements when lacking must be renewed, all obstructions to a full and free circulation removed, and humors, and poisons, of every kind antidoted and driven out. To do this requires a blood purifier that enters into the circulation, destroying all disease-bearing germs, humors and poisons, and purifying and cleansing the blood. At the same time a tonic is needed to aid in building up the general system and stimulating the sluggish organs, and no remedy on the market has a better record or has been so thoroughly tested in such cases as S. S. S., the great vegetable purifier and tonic, the medicine nearest to nature, and composed exclusively of ingredients collected from fields and forests. No strong minerals of any description are used in the making of S. S. S., and it is the only guaranteed purely vegetable remedy in existence, and has been in use for nearly 50 years. Its reputation as a blood purifier and tonic is established. It is not a new and untried remedy, but "S. S. S. for the Blood" is widely known and popular. If you have any symptoms of bad blood or any evidences of a weak, watery condition of this vital fluid, write us and medical advice or any special information, will be furnished free of charge, and book on the blood and its diseases mailed free.

CHURCH DELEGATES GO TO CALIFORNIA

Texas Commissioners to Cumberland Presbyterian Assembly Visit City

The Texas commissioners and visitors to the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church which convenes at Fresno, Cal., May 18, left here today over the Denver Road, about 100 strong. The route will be via Colorado Springs, Denver, Salt Lake City, at which point they will spend Sunday. Members of the party will fill the local pulpits on that day. From Salt Lake City they will go to San Francisco and thence to Fresno, arriving there on Tuesday morning. The assembly opens its session on Thursday of that week, and will continue to the 25th.

Returning, the Texas party will come in the main over the Santa Fe taking in the Grand Canyon en route, where several days will be spent. A visit will also be paid Albuquerque, from which point the party will go to Trinidad and thence to Fort Worth over the Denver Road.

TO DISCUSS UNIFICATION
 Members of the church here Tuesday night say that there is hardly a doubt but that the assembly will vote almost unanimously for the union of the two branches of the Presbyterian church, but there is said to be some opposition to the unification. The vote on this question by the Cumberland Presbyterian church thus far gives ten above a necessary majority for the union, while the vote by the Presbyterian church of the United States is understood also to be largely in favor of the consolidation. At the Fresno assembly a committee will be appointed to consummate the union providing for all the legal phases of the case and other important matters pertaining to the union of the two churches.

Rev. R. E. Chandler, pastor of the Cannon avenue church of Fort Worth, who is one of the commissioners, said Tuesday night that it would probably be another year before final action was taken looking to the union; that the matter will come up at the meetings of the general assemblies of the two branches in 1905, assemblies that both assemblies will be held in the same city next year and on the same date in order that this question may be considered together by the two churches and passed upon.

Mr. Chandler said that there is some apprehension that the opposition to the union will bolt the assembly, but he is in hopes that this move will be averted. He is positive that such a thing is now under consideration by some of the more pronounced opponents of the movement. Under consideration of the movement are almost entirely favoring the union.

Texas will be represented in the assembly at Fresno by about 125 commissioners and visitors, the majority of whom is one of the city this morning. In the party are C. Edwards, Rockwall; R. F. Wilkins, Waxahachie; W. B. Miller and wife, Texarkana; J. W. Christopher and wife, Abilene; Dan Van Pelt, A. W.

CONVOCATION THREATENS FRANCHISE RECALL FOR SHORT SERVICE

Alderman Says Cars Are Not Run During Usual Hours, and Asks Improvement

TO GRAVEL MAIN STREET

Unless the Northern Texas Traction Company runs its cars on the Twenty-Third street and Packers avenue line, according to the provisions of the franchise, the city council of North Fort Worth declares it will annul the franchise and tear up the company's tracks.

Complaint in regard to running the cars on the line named above generally known as the Homan avenue line, was made by Alderman Shannon at a meeting of the North Fort Worth city council Tuesday night. The car company, according to the alderman's statement, agreed to run cars at "ordinary and usual" hours and he says that the first car at 7:45 a. m. and the last at 9:15 p. m. is not in accordance with this provision. On motion it was decided that unless the company be running cars according to the franchise provisions by the next council meeting, its franchise shall be forfeited and the tracks removed. Officers of the company when seen Tuesday morning declined to make any statement.

Though three applicants applied for the position of city physician in addition to Dr. Gilmore, who applied for reappointment, no decision in the matter was reached. The matter was deferred until the next meeting. In addition to Dr. Gilmore, those who applied for the position are: Drs. A. M. Lewis, J. B. Frazier and Fred A. Haggard.

TO GRAVEL MAIN STREET

Perhaps the most important question brought up at the meeting was that of grading and graveling Main street from Marine Creek to the south limit of the city. It was estimated that the work would require $6,000. After much discussion the matter was referred to the street and alley committee, which will make a report to the council at the next meeting.

Further time was granted the finance committee in selecting a bank for the financial business of the city. The finance committee said that it would require time to provide the bankers with the information in regard to the tax rate and renditions, which cannot be given until all renditions are received.

Report of the fire committee was adopted, recommending the purchase of hose for the chemical engine and remodeling of the fire station. The committee further recommended that the purchasing committee inquire about buying a modern hose wagon and equipment for the city. It was also suggested that the council consult with the school board in regard to placing the bell for the new school house in the rooming station, where it can serve the purpose of fire alarm as well.

Petition of B. M. Frazier, asking that the alley near his home be improved, was referred to the street and alley committee with power to act. It was decided not to erect the high board fence around the city park, as was the decision at a previous council meeting. The matter of erecting a suitable fence was referred to the public grounds committee.

The purchasing committee was referred the matter of buying a safe for keeping the council records.

The former ordinance in regard to school bonds was repealed in order that the bonds may be payable in either New York or Austin, optional with the purchaser. This action was taken as a result of statements made by City Attorney Valentine, who said that in case the state board of education made an offer for the bonds it would be necessary to have the bonds payable either in Austin or New York and not at New York alone. Alderman Conway said that all arrangements have been made for the sale of the bonds, City Attorney Valentine said later that all necessary action had been furnished the attorney general and that they will be approved July 1. Until that date nothing will be done with the bond issue.

During the meeting there was much discussion in regard to the sanitary condition of North Fort Worth. Numerous complaints were discussed, it finally being decided that the sanitary laws must be enforced.

WATER WORKS CHANGE
 After some discussion it was decided to erect a brick plant station at the water works along an additional concrete structure, at an additional cost of $400.

On suggestion of Alderman Shannon that a water works superintendent be appointed at once, Frank Grozan was nominated for the office, with other nominations open until next meeting.

To the street and alley committee was referred the matter of grading

SPRING CATARRH
 Changeable Weather Causes Disease. Breathe Hyomei and Cure Catarrh. The changeable weather of spring, with its warm days and cold nights, is responsible for a great increase in the number of cases of catarrh. It is now that Hyomei, the only guaranteed treatment for catarrh that cures without stomach dosing, should be used in every home.

For more than a century physicians have been sending persons suffering from catarrh to Egypt, Colorado or Australia, where the pure, healing air would cure the disease. For one person who could take this trip, thousands have been compelled to stay at home and continue their daily toil. To these sufferers who could not change their climatic conditions, we offer Hyomei, a method by which pure air impregnated with Nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh, can be inhaled by every sufferer in his or her home. Breathe through the nose, pocket inhaler, comes with every outfit, its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance reaches the lungs and air passages as no stomach dosing possibly can do. It gives immediate relief and makes lasting cures.

The complete outfit, consisting of the inhaler, medicine dropper and bottle of Hyomei, costs only one dollar, and extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be procured for fifty cents.

MEXICAN WAR'S VETERANS TO MEET

State Convention Will Be Held in Dallas Beginning May 23.—Plan for Monument to Comrades.

Mrs. Moore Murdock, secretary of the National Mexican War Veterans' Association, of Fort Worth, but temporarily located at Dallas, advises that the Cotton Belt, Frisco and the Texas and Pacific railroad companies have agreed to carry all veterans in Texas to the state convention to be held at Dallas, May 23 and 24, free of charge. Very low rates have also been agreed to by these roads from points outside of the state to the convention city.

Mrs. Murdock anticipates an attendance at this meeting of about 200 out of a total of about 500.

Last year the state convention was held in Fort Worth. There were about 300 here, but this is accounted for from the fact that it was not necessary for the veterans to make a change of cars in order to reach this city. In going to Dallas many of them will necessarily have to come to Fort Worth in order to reach Dallas by rail, and in their enfeebled condition many of the veterans do not care to venture out on such a trip, which, at best, tries their vitality.

One of the most important matters to be discussed at the Dallas meeting will be the plans for a monument which the association desires to erect to the memories of departed comrades. It is now thought that this shaft will be erected at Austin. An effort will be made at the Dallas convention to secure quite a large sum for this purpose.

Mrs. Murdock advises that the people of Dallas are making elaborate preparations for the reception and proper entertainment of the veterans, and she believes that the meeting will be one of the most enjoyable held in years.

Mrs. Kirby of this city and many others will attend the Dallas convention.

PAN-AMERICAN TRADE DESIRABLE

Movement Started by Texas Legislature Regarded Favorably by Railroads of the State

The movement started by the Texas legislature to secure the cooperation of the Federal government of the United States and that of the Pan-American countries in the proposition to establish a Pan-American trade college on the Texas coast is receiving considerable attention by not only the railroads in this state, but from the business interests of Texas generally.

B. F. Youkum, chairman of the Frisco board and also at the head of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Railroad Company, is very much enthused over the matter and has addressed a letter to other railroads in the state regarding the proposition. In this letter he says:

"It was much interested in the old Pan-American railway project which falls on account of the projectors' inability to finance it, caused largely from the lack of development in the South American and Central American countries, which at that time made the enterprise doubtful from an American standpoint, for the reason that the commercial relations of practically all the Central and South American republics were at that time, and are yet, enjoyed by the European merchants."

"There is nothing that would be of greater importance to Texas than to have that state the gateway for the trade and traffic to and from the Central and South American republics, to say nothing of the vast commercial advantages that will be secured to the merchants of Texas by having such an important trade opened up practically at their doors, thereby enabling them to serve the Central and South American countries both by rail and by sea to great advantage than any other section of the world."

WHAT IS A MOTOR BOAT?
 "Motor Boat" is a vaguely understood term which the average man takes on to almost any low, rakish, decked-over craft with a torpedo boat stern, which shows any signs of speed. Properly speaking, it means a boat the motive power of which is the highly refined type of engine used in the modern automobile. A motor boat is not necessarily capable of developing tremendous speed; it is merely one whose engine, for a given weight and size develops a much greater horsepower than the older and clumsier types of engine. Past rakish boats or the torpedo type were built for coasters. Steam driven launches of this sort, as early as 1890, could leap along, for short distances at least, at a rate of thirty knots. Light pleasure launches with skeleton engines and pipe boilers were in use in America a score of years ago. The naphtha engine, which made possible the power tender for small yachts, came in about 1885. The gasoline engine of the Otto and Daimler type, following later, was applied to yachts and launches of every sort from one meter deep feet down to ten feet in length. We have had, in short, small boats and fast boats, but not until the automobile engine was applied to them could they be made both fast as liners and light as skiffs.—Colliers for May 13.

BRADY TO HOLD FAIR

BRADY, Texas, May 10.—There is no portion of the Texas great west; that is forging to the front more rapidly than the Trans-Colo and industry. Within two years it has changed from a cattle range to a farming and industrial region, having in that time made as much advance as other portions of the west have made in ten years. It still presents vast opportunities to the man of enterprise and energy. The Trans-Colo and Exposition to be held at Brady, July 3-8, will contain complete exhibits from no less than a dozen different counties in that region, thus enabling the visitor to see for himself what section of the country or what town in that section offers the greatest inducements for one looking for a location in his particular line.

A SENATORIAL FARCE

President Roosevelt has made and is making a strong and manly fight in the interest of the masses of the people in his efforts to bring about the proper regulation and control of the great railway systems of the country in the matter of freight rates. Acting upon the suggestions of the president, the lower house of congress took up and passed at its last session what is known as the Esch-Townsend bill, a measure which was designed to carry out the presidential idea of regulation and control to correct the existing deficiency in the present interstate commerce commission. The proposed measure has been generally approved by the public, but when it reached the United States senate it was very promptly sidetracked and a resolution passed providing for a senate committee to investigate the general situation.

Since the adjournment of congress that senatorial investigating committee has been in session, and its proceedings have been among the most extraordinary ever witnessed by the American people. Instead of carrying out the objects for which it was established, that committee, according to Washington advices, has simply resolved itself into a great railway justification and ratification meeting. During all the time it has been deliberating no witnesses have been summoned except railway managers and railway attorneys. The testimony adduced has only been from the railway standpoint.

If unofficial but seemingly reliable reports are true, the committee has already formulated a report upon the Esch-Townsend rate bill, which in sum and substance is a high-class brief for the railroads.

The committee has practically concluded an investigation in which only the railroad officials were heard, and only the railroad interests given consideration.

This senate committee is composed of men naturally supposed to be servants of the people and guardians of the public interest, but an analysis of its personnel seems to have shown that practically all of the senators who have taken part in the so-called inquiry wore the collars of the railroads and are still wearing those collars.

This official inquiry, as reported by the careful pen of Gilson Gardner, to The Telegram, appears to be one of the greatest farces ever perpetrated upon the patient American people.

It is possible that the government could never justly fix railroad rates. It is possible.

But no snap-shot judgment by railroad senators, based upon railroad testimony alone, will ever satisfy the public.

If the senate tamely accepts a report made up in this manner it will be a disgrace to free government. It will be a scandal that will smelt to the very stars.

The president has expressed his intention of convening congress in special session early in October to pass upon this idea of government regulation and control. The senators who are leaders in his party have evidently entered into a combination with the railroads of the country to prevent the enactment of the desired legislation.

Are the railroads running this government of ours, or is it a government of the people, by the people and for the people?

There may be United States senators who consider that they owe a higher duty to the railroads than they owe to the people, but The Telegram is not of the opinion that they will be permitted to have their way. The railroads have made a great mistake in entering into this unholy combination. They are but inviting additional wrath at the hands of an already outraged public. They are making government regulation and control in the matter of rate making absolutely sure. And the republican senators who seem to be a party to the transaction are jiggling their party grave both wide and deep.

The people are going to have relief from these conditions if they have to throttle the republican party to obtain it. The party outside of the president is furnishing democracy with its desired opportunity. There will be government regulation and control of railway rates. It may not come now, but it is clearly not far off.

It is said that there are already sufficient developments in the senate committee on interstate commerce, now conducting an investigation of the subject, to indicate that there will be no measure framed by the senate embodying the president's ideas of a federal rate making commission. It has been expected from the beginning of the agitation of this subject that the railway influence in the senate would be sufficient to prevent the enactment of the desired legislation. That fact was clearly evident before there was any session of the senate committee in its alleged investigations. When the special session of congress is convened in October there is going to be a warm contest between the executive and the leaders of his party, with the odds greatly against the executive.

Members of the state legislature roundly censure a newspaper correspondent in Austin for attaching any importance to the statements of the assistant postmaster in that city, "who is a republican," concerning the attempted sale of a bunch of stamps recently. It is unfortunate that the assistant postmaster at Austin is a republican, but the fact that he is of that political stripe does not necessarily imply that he is a prevaricator and unworthy of credence. The members of the legislature should not have permitted their desire to shield an erring brother to lead them into making such a perille exhibition of themselves. All republicans are not prevaricators, as all legislators are not stamp traders.

One unpleasant incident has happened to mar the occasion of the visit of the Italian ambassador to this state, and that lies in the announcement from San Antonio that the cost of his entertainment in that city has not been paid. Citizens of San Antonio seem to think that the bill must be paid by the state of Texas, while the state of Texas thinks that San Antonio is acting very unjustly in expecting the state to come up with the coin. It is a very unpleasant situation and should be remedied just as soon as possible.

Some of the Texas papers that have gone almost into a frenzy over the hospitality extended the president of the United States upon the occasion of his recent visit to this state, have done a great deal of "slopping over" the Italian ambassador, who was also recently our guest. The difference between the two visitors was that one was a noble American, while the other was only an Italian nobleman.

President Roosevelt says his party killed a total of ten bears in the mountains of Colorado, and if the weather had been a little more favorable the number would have been increased to an even dozen. It looks like any hunting party ought to be satisfied with a record of ten bears in a few days, for the killing of that number of the bruin family affords opportunity for telling some thrilling bear stories.

The cattlemen of the southwest are in convention at Denver this week for the purpose of forming a new national association, the intention of which is to fill a long felt want by providing the stockmen with a bona fide stockmen's organization. Several thousand of the leading stockmen of the country are present.

The hope that Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court would retire, as he is now permitted to do under the law, and enable the president to appoint Secretary Taft to the position, is doomed to disappointment. Justice Fuller has announced his intention of holding on for several years yet, and Secretary Taft will have to hold down the lid on something else than the United States supreme court.

The candidate for congress from the Pittsburg, Pa., district, is said to be worth a cool $20,000,000, and with that sum of money at his command the aspirant ought to be able to obtain any office he desires within the barter of the people of Pennsylvania.

The visiting Elks are having a good time in Fort Worth and have received a cordial welcome. They are a fine body of men, and Fort Worth hopes to have the pleasure of entertaining them often in the future.

It is a lucky man these days whose name is not being suggested by some friend and admirer as a candidate for governor. Of course, there is an implied compliment in these suggestions, but after all they are only suggestive.

The deficiency claim against the Abilene asylum laundry will be paid. Now let the reformers go after the men who created the deficiency in spite of the legislative inhibition.

The hope is expressed that the state legislature will get through this week and adjourn Saturday, but the information that comes from Austin that such may be the case seems almost too good to be true.

When the big strike has been finally settled in Chicago, will the belligerent citizens of that city rise as one man and joyfully exclaim "Well, Dunne—thou good and faithful servant!"

The press agents of the Russian fleet seem utterly unable to fill an engagement. They should shove in some more hot "dope." The morning dailies are actually pining to issue another extra.

Tom Lawson is said to have cleaned up a cool million dollars during one day on Wall street recently, and still Tom is trying to work the newspapers for more free advertising.

We are now well into the month of May, and the good old summer time is drawing near. But that is no reason why the weather man should be giving us so much "hot air" so early in the season.

WITH THE CATTLEMEN

THE DENVER MEETING

DENVER, Colo., May 10.—The meeting of the American Stock Growers' Association commenced Monday and will continue up to and including Thursday. The sessions are held at the Broadway theater, instead of at the Taber opera house, as at first arranged. The program includes a meeting of the Interstate Cattle Growers' Executive Committee at the Brown Palace Hotel, and a meeting of the executive committee of the Colorado Horse and Cattle Growers' Association at the Albany hotel. On Tuesday a meeting of the central committee of the National Live Stock Association was held, and in the evening a meeting of the cattlemen of Adams county to organize a local association. Wednesday morning was devoted to a general session of the Stock Growers' Association and Wednesday evening to a meeting of the Hereford breeders to form a state organization. The final meeting of the stockmen will be held Thursday morning.

The American Stock Growers' Association was organized in Denver, Jan. 15 of this year. The organization was temporary and the present meeting is for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization. The first organization was effected by individuals who objected to the new plan of the National Live Stock Association and desired an organization for producers alone. The membership is made up of cattlemen, horsemen and sheepmen and the only proviso of membership that the member must be a producing stockman. The membership fee is $5. Any producing stockman is entitled to membership by paying this fee and registering. The principal business at this meeting will be to prepare and adopt a constitution and by-laws, elect permanent officers and make plans for active work. Hon. Conrad Schaefer of Colorado was elected temporary chairman of the organization and E. de Bles of Denver was made secretary and treasurer. The death of Mr. Schaefer a few weeks ago leaves the association without a president, but a temporary president will be selected by the convention.

In the temporary work of the meeting and the adoption of the constitution and by-laws, the individual members as shown by the membership roll, will alone have a voice. After the adoption of the constitution and by-laws, the meeting will be governed by its own laws so created.

The detailed program of the convention is as follows: TUESDAY Convention called to order at 10 a. m. Invocation, Dr. B. G. Aylsworth, president. Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins. Address of welcome, Hon. J. F. McDonald, governor of Colorado. Address of welcome, Hon. Robert W. Speer, mayor of Denver.

Address of welcome on behalf of the city of Denver, Hon. John W. Springer, Denver. Reply to address of welcome, Hon. W. W. Turney, president Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, El Paso, Texas.

Appointment of credentials and order of business; organization, constitution and by-laws, resolutions. Recess.

TUESDAY, 2:30 P. M. Convention convenes at 2:30 p. m. Reports of executive committee: Address, "The American Stock Grower—American Ideals and American Monopoly," Colonel W. E. Hughes, president Continental Land and Cattle Company, Denver. Introduction of resolutions. General business.

WEDNESDAY Convention called to order at 10 a. m. Report of committee on credentials and organization. Report of committee on constitution and by-laws. General business. Address, "The Benefits of Co-operation," Hon. M. P. Buell, president Live Stock Exchange, Chicago. Address, "Legislation Needed by the Live Stock Industry," Hon. H. S. Cowan, Fort Worth, Texas. Recess.

WEDNESDAY, 2:30 P. M. Reports of committees. General business. Address, "The Government's Work in Giving American Meats Good Standing," Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of bureau of animal industry, Washington, D. C. Address, "American's of Foreign Trade in Meats," Hon. H. C. McManus, Chicago. Recess.

THURSDAY Convention called to order at 10 a. m. Reports of committees. Election of officers. Address, "The Relation of the Agricultural College to the Stock Growers and Farmers," Professor C. F. Curtiss, dean of Iowa Agricultural College, Ames, Iowa. Address, "The Grazing Lands," Hon. John P. Irish, San Francisco, Cal. General business.

WATCHING SENATOR ELKINS

Locating Elkins is no difficult task. Steve is for the railroad interest first, last and all the time, and then some. Just now the strenuous Elkins is determined to end the hearings before the senate committee on interstate commerce to a close with the testimony of the railroad officials and attorneys he has recently summoned to Washington. Elkins figures that by following this policy the country will be so saturated with their views it might forget the injustice suffered by shippers. He has been talking informally with members of the committee during the last few days as to the advisability of calling the executive meeting of the committee, when will be discussed the question of stopping the hearings and determining formally upon the provisions of the measure to be presented to the senate. But the shippers of the country do not propose to permit Elkins to formulate any measure for presentation to the senate which shall satisfy the wish of the people for an equitable adjustment of the railroad rate question. Elkin's schemes are likely to go wrong. E. P. Bacon of Milwaukee, president of the shippers' national organization, has written to the chairman of the committee asking an opportunity to present further testimony on the question of rate discrimination and rebates. He stated he expected to bring a number of prominent shippers from various parts of the country to furnish evidence in addition to that given at the hearings last spring. Without regard, apparently, for the universal demand that there shall be effective legislation, some of the committee men are impatient over the intimation that the demands of the shippers may prolong the hearings, and they are raising all kinds of objections, the strongest of which are that the shippers have made out a formidable case, and that if more people testify it will not be possible to study the evidence properly because of the quantity. This cry for justice cannot be stifled by Steve Elkins or any other politician. The truth is mighty and will not be stayed. The public is in this fight to stay.—Chicago Live Stock World.

MORAL: DON'T WRITE

Tompkins at last found a vacation place where the fishing was like you read about in the railroad guides. Best of all, there was no mob of amateurs to spoil the sport.

Two days later Tompkins kicked himself for being so foolish.

Gleanings From the Exchanges

The government isn't going to buy railroads. Nobody is asking for such a thing—nobody is likely to ask for such a thing—that is, nobody who believes in democratic simplicity. This cry was probably started to frighten timid souls and divert attention from the main point, which is this: Rate regulation to prevent discrimination. What the people want is the good old rule of equal rights as between all points and for all producers. Anything wrong about that?—Waco Times-Herald.

The government is not going to buy any railroads, and it looks like the government regulation of the railroads belongs in the same category, if the attitude of the United States senate is any criterion to judge the situation by. The people are not demanding government ownership of the railroads, although the attitude and coming action of the senate may precipitate such a demand. All the fair-minded people of this great republic of ours demand is protection from exorbitant rates. Railway regulation and control is the present issue before the people, and it will go no further if the proper relief is extended.

Texarkana is building furniture; Paris has a peanut factory; Bonham a big cotton mill and white brick works; Sherman a cotton mill, two oil mills, four flour mills and many other factories and shops; Denison has a steamboat and railroad shops; Denton two fine state schools, and Fort Worth has the meat packeries; Dallas a jobbing center. All of these towns and cities are in the fight for business and a greater business.—Sherman Democrat.

There is an awakening all along the line in Texas on the factory proposition, and other features of domestic progress and development. And there are thousands of opportunities presenting themselves for improvement, for progress and development. Those cities and towns which do the most in this direction are going to be the future cities and towns of Texas. Those who hesitate are going to be lost in the shuffle.

Judged by his utterances and his decisions Judge Brooks believes that the local option law was enacted in good faith, and that when a community or a county has voted prohibition it is understood that the people have the right, authority and power to make prohibition effective; plainly he must favor necessary legislative enactment by which the sale of intoxicants, in any way, shape or form, can be suppressed in a locality at the wish of the people. Beside all that, he is a broad man, a progressive man, a clean man and a man with the courage of his convictions. For these reasons the Journal would like to see M. M. Brooks in the governor's chair.—Belton Journal-Reporter.

Judge Brooks is an able man and a public official who seems to be very popular with the ultra on the prohibition question. But Texas is a big state, and its very bigness will always be an impediment to the acquisition of office by any statesman on a single leading issue.

A mortgage on Admiral Dewey's place has been foreclosed, though immediately following the battle of Manila the place was held at a fabulous sum. This merely evidences that fame is about as fickle as anything a man can fool with.—Austin Statesman.

It does not require any great length of time for the American people to tire of the hero racket when it is attempted to be worked for personal profit. Dewey attempted to break into politics on the strength of his heroism, and it marked a big falling off in the number of worshippers at the Dewey shrine. He is no longer the great popular idol that he was soon after he did things over in Manila Bay.

The idea of atonement or satisfaction for wrongs is well-nigh universally fixed in the human mind. That idea frequently finds expression in doing something that is supposed to be good, and to be efficacious in satisfying the conscience. Whenever a man does a right mean and devilish thing, it will not be long before he is found doing some little good deed, or giving a little money, here or there, to this needy object or that. He does so under the impression that he is atoning for his devilment, or is covering it up from the notice of other people. Many of the large contributors for colleges, churches and other public institutions have been made by "robbers" who have supposed, no doubt, that they had made sufficient atonement for their sins.—Tyler Courier.

The idea of restitution is a good one, but it should be applied directly to the people who have suffered in consequence of the exaction. The giving of a million dollars to carry the gospel to the heathen in Africa does not atone for one dollar wrongfully taken from some other source. The big contribution may appease the qualms of conscience to some extent, but it does not square the wrong deed. The restitution must be as specific as the other act.

AMERICAN LIVE STOCK GROWERS AND THEIR WORK JUST AHEAD

Of unusual importance to the stock industry of the entire west and extent with national political significance is the stock meeting held in Denver. At this meeting the American Stock Growers' Association was formed, an organization made up of individual cattle owners from all over the country. The object of the organization is to perfect a powerful combination which will be of sufficient political strength to bring about legislation for the benefit of the stock industry.

are twin measures which the stockmen believe essential to the continued success of their industry. The missionary of the movement has been Judge S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, attorney for the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas. During the spring cattle associations have been holding meetings throughout the cow regions from Texas to Montana and Judge Cowan, an eloquent and forceful speaker, has attended them, urging tariff revision and reciprocity, arguing for the control of freight regulations by the interstate commerce commission and advising affiliation with the proposed American Stock Growers' Association.

made up of individual cattlemen and not of smaller organizations. It is anticipated that the leading stockmen of the west, northwest and southwest will become members. The membership dues will be made up on a scale of from $5 to $50, depending upon the importance of the interest represented. It is anticipated an initial membership of 2,500 will be secured without difficulty and this will mean a capital of $50,000 with which to start out.

upon the same tonnage. These advanced rates have been in effect a little over two years since the date of the last advance, so you may naturally expect to find by two and that give you for the Texas estimate, $2,250,000; outside territory, $1,200,000, total, $3,450,000.

Judge Cowan has compiled some interesting statistics as opposed to this showing, concerning the earnings, probable expense and resultant profit on a trainload of cattle from Fort Worth to Kansas City of twenty-five cars at the rate of 36 1-2 cents.

With a compact organization, extending over a wide area of territory and representing one of the most important industries of the country, the organization is bound to become a potent factor in the fight for freight regulations.

RAILROAD INQUIRY JUST A HUGE FARCE

Apparently Developing Into a General Conference to Prepare Brief Against Federal Rate Making

Special Correspondence to The Telegram. By Gilson Gardner. WASHINGTON, May 9.—The railroads have had their "innings" before the United States senate committee on interstate commerce, and, if there is no objection, the majority of senators composing that tribunal would now like to adjourn. They have made up their minds here are their conclusions:

1. The Esch-Townsend bill, passed by the house of representatives, is so bad as to be unworthy of serious consideration. 2. Rate-making by a Federal commission would be unwise, unnecessary, if not unconstitutional.

UNWISE: Because it would lodge a dangerous power in the hands of a small body of men subject to political and corrupt influences.

UNNECESSARY: Because present law is sufficient if enforced. Orders of the interstate commerce commission have been obeyed in practically all instances.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL (?): Attorneys for the railroads agree that congress has power under the constitution to delegate legislative (i. e. rate-making) power to a commission; that such a commission would have constitutional authority to make rates, to go immediately into force, and to come within the limits of the "confiscatory" on the other. These limits of "reasonableness" would be determined by the courts.

A vigorous protest has already been aroused by the suggestion that the committee adjourn without looking into the other subjects enumerated in the "Kean resolution." This resolution, being the one under which the committee is acting, enumerates other topics to be inquired into namely:

"Violations or evasions of the anti-trust law and the devices and methods by which evasions are accomplished, including refrigerator and other private car systems, industrial railway tracks, and the like, and also to consider what legislation should be enacted in relation to the liability of railroad companies engaged in interstate traffic for injuries received by their employees when in the discharge of their duties."

Missouri Pacific; William H. Moore, of the Rock Island, and W. K. Vanderbilt, of the New York Central. The general attitude of the senate committee has been extremely sympathetic toward the railroad witnesses. Chairman Elkins has left no room to doubt that his views are, summed up, a general antagonism to government control of railroads. The same may be said of Senator John Kean, of New Jersey, who is largely interested himself in railroad properties.

Senator Jos. B. Foraker has grown grizzled in the service of railroads, and is too shrewd a lawyer not to be able to find legal objections to any Federal rate-making proposition.

Senator Shelby M. Cullom, who was the author of the original interstate commerce act, and believes in government regulation, did not intend by the law to grant to the interstate commerce commission the rate-making power which, for some years, it was assumed that the commission possessed, and today does not go so far as to advocate the Senate bill of rate-making authority in a commission. He is disposed to be satisfied with the present statute.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota has contented himself in the recent hearings with bringing out evidence from each witness to show that any objections to granting rate-making authority in a commission apply with equal force to any effective enforcement of the present statute.

Senator Joseph H. Millard of Nebraska has attended the sessions of the committee, but has taken no active part. He is relied upon to sign any report prepared by the chairman.

Senator Francis G. Newlands, a democratic member from Nevada, has taken advantage of the hearings to exploit his pet panacea of Federal incorporation and taxation, a scheme which has only an academic interest. The other democrat who has addressed the hearings is Edward W. Carmack of Tennessee, who has maintained a consistent attitude of criticism of the testimony offered before the committee. Other members have been absent for various reasons.

A casual examination of this committee reveals that it is apparently thoroughly controlled by the railroad influence. Nothing which a scheme managers see a menace in the continued agitation, and fear the growth of socialistic sentiments. They fear the course which President Roosevelt may take next winter.

SENATOR S. B. ELKINS.

LITTLE PROBLEMS THAT PUZZLE

"You can get a deal of amusement out of these little problems," said H. P. Chambers of Pittsburg at the Lexington, as he abandoned an effort to figure out the fractional relations between three men, a barrel of potatoes and a lot of ungodly onions. "Here is a simple one that nearly always catches the unwary. It is this: 'If a bottle and a cork together cost $1 more than the cork, what does the bottle cost?' The first impulse is to answer '15' and I have seen good figures make the mistake. Here is another: 'If A and B can do a piece of work in a day and half, and A and C can do it in two days, and if A can do it alone in the time it would take B and C to do it, how long would it take A to finish the job?' It is assumed of course, that there is no interference by walking delegates. Manager Gilbert absent-mindedly pursued an early fly across the cigar case. 'Oh, yes,' said Mr. Chambers, 'here is another that almost proves figures unvarnished: A and B had 60 apples, which they divided. A sold his at 3 for 1 cent, receipts 10 cents; B sold his at 2 for 1 cent, receipts 15 cents. Total receipts 25 cents. Now, C came along with 60 apples, found out what the market price was and said, 'I'll sell my apples at the combined price.' A, B and C sold 30 apples, 30 apples 3 for 1 cent—10 cents; B, 30 apples 2 for 1 cent—15 cents; C, 30 apples 5 for 2 cents, 25 cents. So C sold his apples on that basis, 5 for 2 cents, but realized only 24 cents and now he's wondering where that other cent has gone.'—Baltimore News.

WHY WASHINGTON IS WINNING, AS VIEWED BY TWO GREAT CRITICS

Charley Dryden, the Philadelphia Baseball Humorist, and Walter Barnes Jr., the Boston Authority, Give Their Opinions on Early Season Spurt of the Nationals

THE BASEBALL SENSATION Never in the history of baseball has such interest been shown in the national game as manifested today in the pennant chasers. Washington, for years despised tail-end, is the sensation of the early season. Dressed in a new name (the Nationals) and led by Garland Stahl, also new at the game of management, the team has worked to the top by constant winning. The defeat of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, three of the strongest teams in the American League, speaks volumes. The Newspaper Enterprise Association has secured from two of the foremost baseball authorities in the country their opinion on this startling reversal of form. Both writers have seen Washington play and are in a position to give expert testimony.

Washington Wins by Outplaying Opponents—Taking First Game From Boston Aced Like a Hypo on a Thoroughbred

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—It is said the lowly worm will turn if trodden upon. So will the plain barrel hoop of commerce, under similar provocation. Why not the Nationals? They have studied the worm and the barrel hoop with calm, dispassionate eyeballs and found that the worm would do.

That is one reason why the Nationals determined to lead a better life. Another reason is, they play better ball than the teams engaging them thus far. For years the former tail-end outfit posed as a human doormat, with "welcome" on it. Every team that came along wiped its feet on the humble, dust biting Senators and passed into the circle that leads to the hoop.

The preliminary touch of high life came with the utter annihilation of the champions. What the Nationals did to the premiers acted the same as a shot of dope into the veins of the jaded thoroughbred. It set their sporting blood tingling, and from present inceptions, looks as if the dope would hold out.

There is none of that beaten-at-the-post air about the Nationals so noticeable in their past career. They carry a corps of up-to-date pitchers, most of whom have mastered that mystic delivery known as the Vapor Float.

Under the personal direction of Jake Stahl, the only Boy Manager now extant, the once subway champions present a hustling, aggressive front, that seems to buffalo the teams which once found them so easy.

Perhaps the real secret of the remarkable exploits thus far rests with Jake Stahl. He is a native of Illinois, a state famed for the over of Illinois. He is a man of letters, a fertile soil produced Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant may be mentioned casually as shining examples, and the phenomenal Jake himself was born at the obscure hamlet of Elkhart, Ill., in the southern portion of the state.

Stahl has picked up a lot of speedy youngsters who never had their pictures on the front page of Sporting Life, but some of them may be asked to sit before long.

Whether they will sit on the bench or in front of a camera, remains to be seen. Stahl says he is confident of keeping up the pace of the Nationals.

There are few shortstops in either league who have anything on Joe Cassidy, and Mullin is a crack at second, though he was out of the games played here.

Huelsman is a hitter of the Lajole type, when he lands. Hill, the cowboy from Texas, has rounded up in great shape at third, and Knoll and Jones have strengthened the outfield.

If anything were made to impart rest to the Nationals it was Jones. He comes from Butler, Pa., the home of Rube Waddell, and that speaks more than a column of mere words.

Last but not least on this new roster of fame is Malachi Kittredge, the peppery little backstop. Malachi has successfully eluded Dr. Osler and the sponge, and is catching the game of his life.

FIFTEEN INNINGS WITHOUT SINGLE RUN

Waco and Dallas Play Remarkable Game With Exciting Climax

WACO, Texas, May 10.—After struggling for fifteen innings the Dallas-Waco game here yesterday was called on account of darkness, neither team having scored. The game is one of the most remarkable ones ever played here.

The game was strictly a pitchers battle from start to finish. Dallas found Lower, the Waco pitcher, for only one hit. Bridges, in the Dallas box, was touched up for eight, but despite this fact pitched almost as good a game as Yewer, being invincible in the tight places.

In the last of the fifteenth inning the exciting climax of the game was reached, when McDermott after hitting to Bero went to second on a wild throw of Andres. He then went to third on a passed ball, then when Peer hit out a long fly, attempted to score. As he ran he collided with Bero, preventing the tally being made. Waco players crowded around Umpire Clark, demanding the run, but he was firm in a negative decision. At the close of the game Waco fans attempted to get at Clark but he was protected by police.

COTTON

The renewed sharp advance in the cotton market today was directly due to the bidding bid interests taking a fresh hold on the bull side and heavy buying and bidding up prices at Liverpool, the trade there being more impressed by the late news of the season and greater uncertainty regarding the new crop situation and outlook from the reports by states being called over and appearing bullish more than the summary of the weekly government crop report indicated.

The manipulation of the market bought and bid up prices aggressively and an advance of about 15 points was established over yesterday's closing. This was subsequently followed by a reaction of about six points on profit taking and southern feeling but the market lately had a fresh advance and went up to the basis of 15 to 18 points and maintained most of that improvement up to the close, continued aggressive bullishness on the part of the leading operators here said the advance had started of the crop is getting making many new bulls among local and southern operators and the general expectations are that the market will be worked higher in the grades of cotton that ultimately the Liverpool cotton bases will be reached and perhaps passed before the agricultural bureau at Washington issues its first estimate on the acreage. There are, however, very many skeptical ones at the permanency of the advance and the bull movement and holders in the south appear to be so willing to supply the demands of spot dealers and exporters, that we are likely to witness continued irregularity and erratic fluctuations in the market. We do not think any very decided tendency will be shown until the government estimate on the acreage is received. If the decrease in the acreage is not more than 10 per cent and the weather conditions should improve the speculative element who are so confidently predicted an advance to 8 1/2 would undoubtedly endeavor to unload. As it is they are believed to be only scalping the market in a moderate way on the bull side.

THE LIVESTOCK MARKET

Grass Steers Continue to Form Bulk of Receipts—Calf Market Better. Hogs Close Strong

NORTH FORT WORTH, May 10.—Cattle today were in about the same volume as yesterday, 2,500 head, against 2,833 Wednesday last week, 2,978 the corresponding day in 1904. Grass steers continue to make up the bulk of the arrivals. For these the demand keeps up, both from local packers and outsiders, with the result that an active market resulted, with a quick clearance at prices steady with yesterday. Top steers sold at $4.15, the bulk going between $3.25 and $4.00.

Cows made a reasonable showing, several straight loads being offered along with the usual bulk of mixed cattle. No special demand for packers for butchers cows, but the usual inquiry. Butcher cows and heifers have been coming in better volume recently, and this has taken off the wire end from former sharp demand. Outside buyers are still picking up loads here and there, and accumulating loads whenever practicable, so that, between this demand from the outside and the usual call from local butchers and packers, the market continues steady. Top cows sold today at $3.25, with medium cows between $2.85 and $3.00. Calf market noted an improvement, both in the supply and in prices. Two loads and quite a few found in mixed bunches made a good showing. The demand was active, and bidding was stronger for the week. Top vealers sold at $4.50, with heaves $3.00 to $3.25. Interior and thin calves sold around $2.50.

Hogs—The early hog supply was very limited and prices high. The demand was active, and bidding was stronger for the week. Top vealers sold at $4.50, with heaves $3.00 to $3.25. Interior and thin calves sold around $2.50.

Sale Now Going on at 711 Houston Street—Store Open Every Night

TERMS AS EASY AS YOU WANT

As announced in Sunday's and Monday's papers, Ross & Heyer Co. are discontinuing their outside agencies for two reasons: First—The Fort Worth business has grown to such proportions that it requires the entire attention of the firm. Second—Transportation from close-in points offers facilities that render agencies in nearby towns unnecessary.

Every instrument offered in the sale with a few exceptions (some cases being scratched) is in perfect condition. You will find eleven different makes to select from, including the high-grade Sohmer, Henry F. Miller and other well-known makes. Can you afford to miss this opportunity? This is a question you must answer.

FRENCH WARN OFF RUSSIAN VESSELS

Admiral Nebogatoff Not Permitted to Enter French Port of Saigon

PARIS, May 10.—A dispatch from Saigon to the Petit Journal says: Nebogatoff's squadron appeared at daybreak twenty miles off Cape St. James, preparing to ascend the river to Saigon, where the commander expected to find the necessary orders for effecting a junction with Rofestevsky and re-provisioning his fleet.

He was halted at sea by a scout belonging to the Russian Second Pacific squadron, which communicated to him France's desire that the junction of the Russian squadrons should occur outside of Indo-Chinese waters.

Nebogatoff then disappeared on the ocean sea, sailing toward the second Pacific squadron, which doubtless is waiting off the Annam coast.

SAIGON, May 10.—The Russian cruiser Jemchug and Russian auxiliary cruiser Rion, belonging to Admiral Rofestevsky's squadron, arrived off Cape St. James near here during the night of May 8 and left yesterday morning at the request of the governor of French Indo-China.

STORMY TIME FOR APPROPRIATIONS

AUSTIN, Texas, May 10.—In the senate today the concurrent resolution offered providing for a sine die resolution of the special session of the Twenty-ninth legislature Saturday at 6 p. m. The session will expire Sunday. No action has been taken as yet on the resolution.

The free conference committee on the general appropriation bill is having a stormy time. No information is obtainable as to what is being done, but it is learned it will be Friday morning before the committee is ready to report.

The house passed finally the Bower insurance tax bill which seeks to cure defects in the act passed by the last regular session. The bill now goes to the senate. The house adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of four to draft an appeal to the people of Texas to contribute toward paying the balance of $2, due Captain G. F. McNeil, who had charge of the Texas agricultural exhibit at the World's Fair.

The Galveston causeway bill was engrossed in the house and the Austin dam bill passed finally in the house.

A resolution was adopted in the house endorsing Representative A. L. Sharpe of El Paso for the position of collector of customs at El Paso, he being an applicant.

A YELL, A BRICK, A LOPE; THAT'S CHICAGO

a Wild and Woolly Strike—The Shot of a Dick Deadeye

BY JACOB WALDECK
CHICAGO, May 7.—For the man who craves excitement, this is the port. Satisfaction guaranteed. There are as many thrills as ever there were at Mukden—maybe more. There is something happening "most every minute. There's that quality in the air that fires the blood and makes men step high; the battle-charged atmosphere that, they say, is noticed in war just before the serried columns close. Its effect can be seen by anybody who scans the busy thorough. It has made them keen. Also wary and springy. No jackrabbit was ever half as quick to scent danger or half as rapid in getting away from it. These are the conservatives, who would keep out of trouble. They are the men who wouldn't stop a brick. "Let it go," they say. "Don't stop it. Let the man see how far he can throw if he wants to."

No famine-stricken tiger was ever as sharp of scent or of vision in locating prey. These are the radicals, the fellows who glory in throwing bricks or in seeing them sail through the air like a shower of German adjectives. Jagged they are and enormous, these missiles, but they land heavy when they land.

And so, between running to riots and away from them, your average Chicagoan has become an accomplished sprinter. Hopping has become his natural gait. He breaks into a gallop more readily than a full-blooded Arabian. A yell, or a crash or a scamper, and he is off at a center. That quick neck action, acquired in looking over the shoulder for footpads, helps to rapid decision. There's a swift look around, when a battle sign is observed, to locate the trouble, and away he goes. Toward the riot or away from it, depending on whether he is a radical or conservative. They're mostly radicals. In case of war there could be enlisted here regiments of infantry that could be ranked as cavalry. They would be swifter than the Cossacks.

Street scenes are a mixture of the wild west and grim war. Express wagons manned by lusty citizens with rifles suggest the overland stage with its brave guardians ever on the lookout for the lone highwayman. Long caravans led by patrol wagons and surrounded by marching police, have become commonplace. Large bodies of police massed at strategic points give the business district a state-of-siege look, even though the coppers do not wear soldier uniforms.

Real action can be found at almost any time in the course of a stroll through the business district. Not always action attended by casualties, but performances strenuous enough even if nobody is hurt. It may be some non-union teamster, jeered at, derided and generally bedeviled; it may be a scattered firing of rocks, or a general bombardment, or shooting.

A newcomer here, a few days ago, looking for action, was suddenly beset by a rushing throng. A well-dressed colored man, scared and almost breathless, dashed into a group of policemen. Behind him were a score of men panting from the exertion of running and ferocious as men get to be. They were furious because their quarry had found safety. The police crowded around the fugitive to protect him. They learned from the pursuers that he had shot two men. A detail of the account was that he had brought them down at a single shot, the bullet passing through the shoulder of one victim and into the arm of another.

The shooting made the fugitive a prisoner. The police hurried him away, an angry crowd tagging behind. They had progressed a block when half a brick was thrown with tremendous force at the prisoner. It was a catapult throw, but too high. The brick sailed over the head of the target and landed on the shins of the man who usually gets it and is getting his full quota these days. He howled and weaved around in the crowd, causing a bit of excitement.

A lady hustled through the crowd to see what it was all about. She was one of those robust girls with side curls and wrinkles, plenty of self-assurance and the general appearance of the sergeant-at-arms of a woman suffrage club.

"What's the trouble," she piped. "Is anybody hurt? What's the trouble, I say?"

"Wow-ow," said the innocent bystander as he corkscrewed around on one leg.

"Swish, bing," said a shower of bricks. The busy girl grabbed two handfuls of skirts, shrieked and flew. A flock of police reserves came along and chased the crowd.

A little later a caravan was stalled in the same neighborhood. Bricks were thrown and shots were fired. A bottle came hurtling down from the upper story of a building, missing a teamster by a foot. It would have killed him. Quick as a flash a revolver was fired at the thrower, who leaned glancingly out of the window. The shooter must have been Dick Deadeye or one of his mates. There seemed to be a flutter of excitement up in the block. It was learned afterward that the genlemen who threw the bottle had been shot in the face.

Ten minutes later there was some excitement down the street a couple of blocks. An imported teamster, goaded till he was crazy with fear and rage, had run amuck with a razor.

The same afternoon two men dashed into police headquarters and fell on the floor exhausted. When they were able to talk they said that they had had a running fight for a mile.

It's the same old story. Strike sympathizers jeer at the strike breakers and in some cases throw stones at them. As usual, many of the new men are professional strike breakers, thugs and roughs, who delight in that sort of work. They are turned loose with revolvers and are disposed to fire on small provocation. At this writing all the shooting has been done by strike breakers.

A feature of the strike is the fact that Chicago has become a city of bundle carriers. There's nothing for buyers to do but lug the bundles. Women who wouldn't carry a spot of thread under normal conditions jauntily walk along with packages of the size of young trunks. Street cars are filled with shoppers and their freight—especially with the freight. The suburbanite with his packages grins as he beholds the urbanite with his bundles. As matters stand the city man finds the situation uncomfortable. It promises to become decidedly serious.

A LAND OF LAKES AND ISLANDS
At a point 145 miles north of the city of Toronto, Canada, on the Grand Trunk Railway System, is reached one of the most magnificent districts in the "Highlands of Ontario," known as the "Lake of Bays" district. The region comprises a series of connected lakes, over which large steamers are navigated. What greatly adds to the Lake of Bays' value as a health-giving and sportsman's resort is the unmatched purity of the air one breathes upon its heights. The visitor forgets his ills under its reviving influence in less than a week. Its bracing morning breeze, which rivals the celebrated atmosphere of Pike's Peak, Colo., imparts new lung power and fresh vitality. Hand-some illustrated publications sent free on application to F. W. Hopper, T. P. A., Grand Trunk Railway, 327 Sheehy bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

His mother's death was a sad loss for Mr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed at W. J. Fisher's, Reeves' Pharmacy and M. S. Blanton & Co.'s drug stores. Trial bottle free.

The Student's Eyes

Every now and then we hear of some brilliant young fellow blighted in his career because his eyes gave out. Parents should see to it that before permitting their children to take up any prolonged course of study the eyes are in condition to stand the strain, and the surest way to determine this is to have them examined by a competent eye specialist, so that if glasses are needed, they are worn before it is too late.
