

BAILEY URGENT FOR PRESIDENCY

Sam Cook of Missouri Sees in Him Possible Nominee for President

FOLK PLACED SECOND

His Popularity Is Said to Depend on a Continuance of Reform Wave

Sam Cook, former secretary of the state of Missouri, and at present head of the Central Missouri Trust Company of Jefferson City, Mo., believes that Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas will be one of the strongest candidates for the democratic nomination for president in 1908.

Mr. Cook, accompanied by Perry S. Rader, reporter of the supreme court of Missouri, stopped over in Fort Worth last night, en route to Pecos on business. In discussing affairs in the democratic party, he expressed the belief that Senator Bailey would be one of the best men that the democratic party could put up for the office of chief executive, and compared him in temperament and character to Theodore Roosevelt.

"I believe that Mr. Bailey would make one of the most formidable candidates that the democratic party could put up in 1908," said Mr. Cook to a Telegram reporter, "because he is of that build that makes for popularity. Young, aggressive, intelligent, I think that he is almost a prototype of Theodore Roosevelt. He represents that class of men, called thoroughly American, and, except for party principles, I think he resembles Roosevelt more than any other man in the country. And, as Roosevelt is looked upon as a leading exponent of Americanism, I believe that Bailey would make a great race and a successful one for election to the presidency. The old saying that a president can never be taken out of the south might be used against Bailey's nomination, but I think that this would be but a rattle for, in my opinion, Bailey is more of a westerner than a southerner, and unless Roosevelt runs aful of the republican party leaders, I think that Bailey would be the best candidate to oppose him.

"Even if the democratic party does not have to put up a man of the Roosevelt type, they have another man, who, if the present agitation for reform continues, will make a strong candidate. He is Governor William H. Taft. The people do not change within the next four years. I would not be surprised to see Mr. Taft receive the nomination on a reform platform."

Mr. Cook was asked to what he attributed the going Republican in the last presidential election, and in reply he said: "Why, there were several things that conspired to change the vote. For one thing, the party was not together, and then against Judge Parker's unpopularity in the west had something to do with it. There was a remarkable stay-at-home vote which, if polled, would have overcome that majority that Roosevelt secured, and this, I think, was the real cause of our defeat. Roosevelt's personal popularity in the state may have had something to do with it, but I attribute our defeat to the several causes I have mentioned."

Speaking of the democratic national party, Mr. Cook said that he did not see the necessity for any reorganization, except in so far as the getting together of the several wings would mean reorganization. He said that this separation in the democratic ranks was what has brought it to its present condition and that the thing to do was to bring the party into harmonious union again. He said that notwithstanding Roosevelt's national popularity at present there was a chance in the next four years for him to do things that would not meet with the approval of the republican party and that any disputes between Roosevelt and his party would go to strengthen the democratic ranks. It was in this connection that Mr. Cook said: "Senator Bailey would be a man to bring the party together again, for it is an assured fact that he would get the vote of the Bryan wing and his known popularity would bring the others into camp."

NEWS OF STRIKE SITUATION

Both Sides Are Playing a Waiting Game and Each Awaits Developments

CHICAGO, June 13.—The teamsters' strike today showed little material change in the positions of the employers and strikers. A waiting attitude has been adopted by union leaders as well as by employers. President Shea asserted that $3,500 has been sent to the teamsters by a Boston theater, where a benefit performance was given to aid the strike, last Friday. According to the finance committee of the teamsters' joint council, weekly receipts for the strike fund are now $2,000 in excess of expenditures. The railway express drivers' union at a meeting, voted to remain on strike until satisfactory settlement was made with the express companies.

Officials of the teamsters' union are making arrangements for mass meetings to be held at various parts of the city. The public is to be invited to attend and representative unions will be on hand to tell why the strike was called and the reasons why a settlement has not been made.

TROOPS STARTED RIOTING

Stole Provisions and Opened Fire When Owners Resented

WARSAW, June 13.—An outbreak of rioting at Brestlitovsk, during which, according to report, many persons were killed or wounded, originated in a conflict between Jews and army reserve men bound for the Far East.

The soldiers are said to have looted provision stores, and the Jews, defending their property, are alleged to have fired on the troops, who returned the fire.

The town is now occupied by military. In consequence of the rumors of a general strike being planned to take place here tomorrow, the authorities issued a proclamation ordering the people not to gather in the streets.

Government Will Make 1,000,000 Silver Pesos to Meet Demand

PANAMA, June 13.—The government of Panama, in accordance with the desire of the canal commission and the local bankers, has decided to coin 1,000,000 silver pesos.

This step is calculated to relieve the demand for silver caused by the activity of the canal works and increased business and prevent any monetary crisis, which the excess in gold might produce.

ROOSEVELT TO SELECT PLACE FOR CONFERENCE

RUSSIA AND JAPAN MAY ADJUST DIFFERENCES IN MANCHURIA

Early Announcement Expected From Washington—St. Petersburg Diplomats Hope for Settlement

ST. PETERSBURG, June 13, 2:20 p. m.—An early announcement of the time and place for the meeting of the Russian and the Japanese peace plenipotentiaries is expected to come from Washington as a result of exchanges between the belligerents on that subject, now proceeding there through Count Cassini and M. Takahira, with President Roosevelt as intermediary.

In diplomatic circles the report is current that Russia, whose choice of place continues to be Paris, is ready to allow President Roosevelt to decide that point, in which case there is reason to believe the president may name Manchuria, but the report cannot be confirmed.

Ambassador Rompaul, who has returned from Paris, is closeted with Ambassador Meyer this afternoon.

Count Von Alvensleben, the German ambassador, was also among the American ambassador's callers.

Despite the rather pessimistic official utterances of the foreign office, the atmosphere here is distinctly optimistic and an ambassador who saw Foreign Minister Lamsdorff today described the Russian minister as being almost in a jubilant mood.

The opinion is practically unanimous, that if Emperor Nicholas avails himself of M. Witte's services at once, it is decided that the Japanese conditions cannot be accepted as the basis for peace negotiations, as he will be able to make better terms for Russia.

An eminent diplomat, in conversation with a correspondent of the Associated Press, referring to the possibility of a Russo-Japanese alliance succeeding the war, said he considered that a defensive agreement was entirely unlikely. He added:

"If Russia is still the big end of the combination, as was the case when she rejected, against M. Witte's advice, the alliance offered by Marquis Ito, compelling the emperor of Japan to turn to Great Britain, an offensive and defensive alliance might be possible. But considering the fact that the British alliance has rendered it possible for Japan to fight Russia for the establishment of her position in the Far East, I consider it out of the question that Japan would place herself in such a manner as might compel her to assist Russia in the event of the Russian emperor's government later concluding to make an attack on India. This is more than improbable, inasmuch as Great Britain is anxious not only to renew but to strengthen her alliance with Japan."

TRACTION OFFICIAL RETURNS FROM EAST

Appointment of Successor to F. M. Haines Expected. New Interurban

General Passenger Agent Forbess of the Northern Texas Traction Company, who accompanied the body of the late General Manager F. M. Haines to Boston where they were interested beside those of his father, reached home Monday afternoon.

Mr. Forbess brought no definite news as to who is to be the new general manager of the traction company, but he believes that the appointment will soon be made by President George T. Bishop. The appointment can legally be made by President Bishop, but the appointment of second vice president, which position was also vested in Mr. Haines, will not be made until a meeting of the stockholders can be held. Mr. Forbess was not advised as to when this meeting will be held.

Speaking of the new electric line which President Bishop is projecting in the east, Mr. Forbess said that it is to be known as the W. B. and A.—Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis. The line will start from Washington and run via Baltimore to Annapolis, making the road about ninety miles in length. The company will expend $5,000,000 in the construction and equipment of this new road, which will be the greatest electric line in this country.

It was necessary to secure control of two short steam lines, which has been done, and the right-of-way for the entire line are now being secured. Details for terminals in both Washington and Baltimore are also under consideration by President Bishop at this time.

Mr. Forbess stated that just as soon as all preliminaries are completed the construction work will begin on the line which is to be pushed through to completion just as rapidly as money and men can accomplish the undertaking.

THESE CHECKS WERE WORSE THAN TAINTED

Indiana Grocers Took Bogus Standard Oil Slips for $100,000 and Are Now Out

CHICAGO, June 13.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Van Buren, Ind., says that merchants in that vicinity have been fleeced out of $100,000 by bogus checks on the Standard Oil May payroll. It was developed on the arrival there of Assistant Treasurer F. S. Davis from New York to investigate.

The forged checks range in face value from $50 to $1,000 and are duplicates of the genuine Standard checks through which fact the frauds were discovered.

The forgeries passed the banks and were not discovered until checking up began at the company's offices. The signature of F. S. Blake, treasurer of the company is so well imitated that it deceived bankers familiar with it.

It is said that the bogus checks are being found at New York from the Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky oil fields, in each of which investigations are being made.

FARMERS PACKING COMPANY ORGANIZED

CHICAGO, June 13.—The Farmers' Packing Company has been organized in Chicago with a capital stock of $1,500,000, the intention being to enter the packing business in combination with the Chicago packing industry. The company is a part of the National Farmers' Exchange.

Two of the principal participants in the events at the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Louisville will be the sponsor in chief and the chief maid of honor. The two daughters of the south who will act in these offices this year are Miss Nora Leach, sponsor, and Miss Ada Darter, chief maid. Both are residents of Fort Worth.

A. Skeen, commander Trans-Mississippi division, U. S. C. V., and W. P. Lane, commander Texas division, U. S. C. V., together with their staffs, sponsors and maids of honor and accompanied by hundreds of the old heroes who honor the Lone Star state with residence. Many of them brought their wives, sons and daughters to share with them the joys that come through these annual reunions, which are love feasts of fellowship worth a sacrifice to see.

Here comrades meet after years of separation and live over the days of their youth, relive the incident of their meeting in when they responded to the southland's call for soldiers, of the first fight and of the subsequent service on the fields that were made red with human blood. These grand old men, the remnant of a once great army, here for many of their years and consequent infirmities and are as boys again. Their faces are all aglow as they recall the stirring events of the past and a group of these reunited comrades presents a picture good to look upon.

General Van Zandt and other commanding officers are located at the Galt house, which is general headquarters. Other Texans have secured quarters in various parts of the city, which seems well prepared to care for the many thousands that are here to attend the reunion. The Texas train, the Cotton Belt having provided solid trains, equipped with every essential to the comfort and convenience of the passengers. The cars were not allowed to become overcrowded and those who did not take the sleepers, and those who did not take the sleepers, spent a comparatively restful night in the reclining chairs. All were up and doing about when the train reached Memphis this morning and after breakfasting at the lunch counter occupying a car at the head of the train, they were prepared for a day of sightseeing along the way.

The special left the Cotton Belt track at Memphis, switching on to the Louisville & Nashville, over which the remainder of the trip was made.

MAN NOT BANKRUPT UNTIL HE ADMITS IT

Decision by United States Court of Appeals Puts New Construction on Old Laws

NEW YORK, June 13.—Many legal decisions involving the United States bankruptcy law may be overturned as a result of a decision handed down in the United States circuit court of appeals by Judges Wallace, Townsend and Lacombe. The judges in their decision hold that the appointment of a receiver by the New York supreme court of the property of an individual, is not an act of bankruptcy within the purview of the bankruptcy act, unless the receiver was appointed upon the application of the individual himself, because of an admitted insolvency.

It is further given as a fact in law that no tribunal, other than the federal courts, has legal authority to appoint a receiver because of insolvency for the property of an individual. Such jurisdiction exists, it is admitted, in cases of insolvent corporations, but not of individuals.

BOY MEETS DEATH IN TRINITY RIVER

ARCHIE HALLORAN DROWNED DESPITE EFFORTS TO SAVE HIM

Stepped From Ledge While Bathing in the Clear Fork—Body Not Yet Recovered

While in swimming with a crowd of children below dam No. 4 in the Clear Fork of the Trinity river Monday afternoon, Archie Halloran of this city, aged 16 years, stepped from a ledge into water over his head and was drowned. Searching parties have been dragging the river, but up to noon today the body had not been found.

When McDade, a lad who was in swimming with young Halloran at the time of his death, made a brave though unsuccessful attempt to save Halloran and narrowly escaped drowning himself.

The boy was a son of J. H. Halloran of this city and lived at 128 West Tucker street.

Last Thursday, accompanied by his sister, May, he went to visit Mrs. William Lehay, who lives in the country on the Cleburne road, seven miles southwest of the city. Monday the Halloran children, accompanied by Tom Lehay and a number of others went to the river.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening, terror-stricken and frightened, some of the children reported to the Lehay house that Archie Halloran and Leo McDade were drowned.

The news was also telephoned to Mr. Halloran in this city. Investigation showed that young McDade was not drowned.

Searching parties remained along the river all night dragging the stream.

WHEAT FALLING SHORT

Denton County Yield Far Below the Average

DENTON, Texas, June 13.—A good rain fell here Sunday night and in good season, as it was beginning to be needed. Wheat is turning out less than it was first thought it would, some crops thrashing out only four bushels per acre, whereas it was thought it would make eight or ten.

Denton county is the reputed banner wheat county of Texas, but it will lose the reputation if it takes a big yield this year to sustain it.

SAYS SWEDES BROKE WORD

Right of Separate Consuls Was Never Forfeited, He Declares

(This article on Norway's complaints was written by Dr. Nansen just before the coup by which Norway separated from Sweden.—Editor.)

BY DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN,

Arctic Explorer and Newly Appointed Ambassador from Norway to England.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, June 4.—Representatives of Norway in May, 1814, agreed upon a grundlov, which forms the basis of the present Norwegian constitution. At that time union with Sweden was not contemplated.

There is nothing in either the Norwegian or Swedish grundlov of the nature of a treaty or union. All that concerned the two countries jointly was embodied in a special treaty, the rigssakt, adopted in August, 1815. It had previously been decided that Norway and Sweden should be united as two "free and independent kingdoms" under one sovereign. The rigssakt contains no mention of consuls and the two countries are not bound legally or morally to have them in common.

The Norwegian grundlov, adopted before the rigssakt, deals with the consular question, and it was certainly therefore the intention that Norway should have her own consuls. Just before the union took effect, the Swedish king gave his assent to the Norwegian grundlov. The partnership as to consuls is not obligatory, but finds its sanction in the rigssakt, in the grundlov that foreigners may serve as consuls, a practice, of course, that is adopted by all states. Swedes were, therefore, competent to act as Norwegian consuls. Norway never surrendered the right to appoint her own consuls. The Swedes maintain that the appointment of consuls is a part of the political union. This is demonstrably and historically incorrect.

In the 1800s Sweden began to adopt a high tariff policy, while Norway remained an almost free trade country. A consul, therefore, had to do nothing at all, or to forward the one land's interest at the expense of the other. With a Swedish foreign minister at the head of affairs the intention that Norway should have her own consuls. PASSING OF AN OLD LANDMARK

The destruction of the old Fort Worth Packing plant, located in North Fort Worth, by fire Sunday morning, marked the passing of one of the old landmarks of boom days in this city. The history of that old plant is an interesting one. Erected at an original cost in excess of $400,000, operated for a number of years at a loss and with varying degrees of success, it represented the crystallization of the Fort Worth effort to establish here the nucleus of a great packing and live stock market. The men who promoted this first packing house in Fort Worth have passed off the scene of action and are no longer connected with the packing industry, but the new and modern plants of Swift and Armour now in successful operation are a fitting monument to the foresight and business sagacity of the men who had an abiding faith in the future.

The old plant was not in use for packing purposes. It had been relegated to the rear when the two new plants were put in operation, and was last operated by the Armour Company for a few months while waiting for new plants to be finished. While it may not have been a success so far as dollars and cents are concerned, yet it served its purpose, and to the old plant now gone up in smoke and the men who projected it, Fort Worth owes the development that has come in the form of two of the finest and most modern plants of the kind in the country.

And with the establishment of the new plants has come the fruition of the dream of Texas cattlemen that was so long in materializing—a Texas market for Texas cattle. For many years the stockmen of Texas and the entire southwest had complained of the heavy losses that annually ensued from shrinkage in the long shipments to distant markets, and the grand central idea of the first promoters of the Fort Worth packing plant was to obviate these heavy losses by establishing packing plants and a big market right here in the very heart of the range country. This has been successfully accomplished, and today Fort Worth is recognized as one of the leading markets of the country, and that market is a constantly growing proposition. The products of the Fort Worth packing houses are being shipped out all over the country, and the development that has come as a result of these things has been felt in every line of business represented in this city.

THE DOGY MUST GO

Stockmen who have been on the Kansas City market the past few days had an object lesson in the importance of growing high grade cattle that ought to give a stimulus to the business of grading up the herds of the southwest country. While all kinds of cattle have been declining, and thin stock is being sold on the market, buyers from the corn belt states were scouring the yards for high-grade stock steers and many of them had to be satisfied with something less to their liking or go home empty handed. There were plenty of cattle in the pens and owners were anxious to sell them at prices practically of the buyers' own making, but the quality was not right. Cattle are very much like potatoes in one respect. When prices are high any kind will sell, but the cheaper they get the more particular purchasers are as to quality. Dogy steers are cheap because nobody wants them, and nobody wants them because they are cheap—cheap in quality as well as in price. Dogy steers never make market-toppers, and still as as rule it costs more to put 100 pounds of gain on them than it does on high-grade steers. The high-grade steer gets a better frame on which to put flesh, has more stear to him, has a better constitution, is a better feeder, and yields more pounds gain to the bushel of grain than the dogy. Some times it pays to feed dogies, just as it pays sometimes to raise small potatoes—if you can't raise large ones. If potatoes are scarce and consequently high, the frugal housewife will be content to prepare the little ones for the table, notwithstanding the extra labor and patience required. When beef steers are high, packers will buy dogies and pay good prices for them. In the fall of 1903 several feeders took dogy steers to their feed lots from the Kansas City market, buying them at very low prices. In the early summer of 1904 all kinds of beef steers were high and these dogies, if fat, commanded good prices and showed good profits for the feeders. Right now all kinds of beef steers are low and the best are preferred by the killers, because they are relatively cheap. The dogies are the packers who want cheap beef steers—they buy southern grassers which are a good deal cheaper than the corn fed dogies. If they want good beef, they buy high-grade steers, because there is a high percentage of kill to them. This is the case nine times out of ten. Observing feeders see this, and that is why they want the high-grade stockers and feeders, and are willing to pay the prices for them.

The moral is plain as day. It is that it behooves stockmen to cull out their pennyroyal breeding stock and use only the best females and purebred males for breeding purposes. It pays to do so now, and each succeeding year it will pay bigger. The dogy has had his day.—Drovers Journal.

The facts brought out in the above clearly vindicate the doctrine that has been continually preached in the columns of this paper and clearly establishes the fact that the progressive breeders of range cattle in the state of Texas and entire southwest cannot afford to any longer engage in the production of a cheap grade of cattle. Conditions have not only changed in the range country, but they have changed in those sections where we have usually found a market for our surplus stuff. The man who comes to Texas in search of cheap stuff will not accept scrub stuff. He is simply trying to pick up cattle that will answer his purposes for as little money as possible, and if you tell him you have a bunch of scrubs on hand that you would be pleased to close out to him at a bargain counter price, the probabilities are that he will look insulted.

There was a time when the man who was in the market for cheap stuff would buy Mexicans and poorer class of Texas long horns. But that day has passed. The man who stocks up with that character of stuff experiences a great deal of difficulty in getting it off his hands from the fact that the man he has to sell to is looking for better material. So it goes all down the line, and there are none who are in the market for the trash that is yet produced in a few localities in Texas and the southwest. The man who intends to put a string of oattle on feed wants high-graded stuff from the fact that experience has demonstrated that it is the only class of cattle that can be fed and handled to advantage. The more good blood they have in them the better prices they will bring. All feeders want the very best stuff the range country can produce, and the range cattleman who is bringing up the tail end of the procession so far as herd improvement is concerned, is right in the middle of a very bad fix, from the fact he is wasting his time and energies in producing something for which there is no demand.

During all the time that the cattle industry has been laboring under a very marked depression the producers of good stuff have been selling their product at a fair price. There has continued a strong demand for well bred stuff that the depression existing so generally could not dissipate. The men who have been active in breeding better stuff are the few who have made a little money, and it is the general realization of this fact that has stimulated the demand in evidence all over the country at this time for good breeding stock.

There is not a stockman in Texas who can afford to go on in the old ruts. If he intends to remain in the cattle producing business he must make up his mind to only produce the kind of stuff that will command good prices at all times. His cattle must have sufficient good blood in them to attract buyers at all times, and the man who is engaged in this work does not have to hunt for the buyers. They are always looking for him and are ready to take all he has at remunerative prices.

The dogy must go.

Japan asks that Russia pay an indemnity of $500,000,000, insists on a Japanese protectorate over Korea and Manchuria, the cession of Port Arthur and a portion of the trans-Manchurian railroad to Japan, forfeiture of the interned warships at Manila, the withdrawal of Russian warships from the Far East for a period of twenty-five years, and the occupation of Vladivostok by Japan until these conditions are all complied with. The opinion seems to prevail that the Japanese demands are very moderate under the existing circumstances, but several of them will no doubt be stoutly resisted by the Russian government.

A committee of Texans made a trip down in Chihuahua, Mexico, recently to try to effect the release of Mac Stewart, the old Confederate, who has been confined in prison down there for a number of years on a charge of killing a Mexican policeman. The committee had all the starch taken out of it immediately after its arrival when it learned the Mexican authorities were incensed over allegations made in Texas concerning the manner in which Stewart had been treated. The matter was finally compromised by asking the prisoner's release purely as a matter of mercy, and it is now believed he will soon be free.

The Swedish government refuses to recognize the recent revolution in Norway, but it will be remembered that Colombia acted the very same way with the two-bit revolution that occurred in Panama. And Panama managed to get along without any official recognition of its revolution by Colombia.

It is said that the deal by which Paul Morton is placed at the head of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, is a great victory for George Gould in some railway interests in which he is engaged in promoting, and is in effect the complete transfer of the financial control of the United States. The price of potatoes is so low in Grayson county that the farmers and potato raisers generally are being advised to hold their crop for an advance. As spuds are a very perishable commodity, the process of holding them seems a very doubtful proposition.

Every time a pistol barks in Texas it finds a mark in some other state where an enterprising citizen has been slowly making up his mind to change his place of residence. The Texas pistol is a powerful immigration destroyer and should be suppressed.

According to all accounts, Texas will have a good fruit crop this year. And Texas produces just about as good fruit as can be found in any other state in the union.

Ex-Governor Hogg has written the International and Great Northern railroad that he is preparing to file suit against the company for personal damages, and asks if they wish to settle out of court.

The big ex-governor blames the road for his recent serious illness which came near costing him his life. He said he was on a train of that company when a sudden and unexpected jolt, caused by attempting to make a coupling, so jarred him as to rupture the glands of his neck, necessitating a very serious operation, giving him much pain and inconvenience. The plaintiff is a very stout man and, as he expressed it, the jolt just "broke his neck."—Palestine Herald.

Governor Hogg may have suffered severely from the jar given him by the International train, but if so, it was about the only thing he ever went up against in all his strenuous career that was able to "jar" him.

The friends of Judge Reagan in Texas honored him in life and they are going to honor him in death. Contributions are going up from many of them to build a monument to his memory.—Tyler Courier.

Judge Reagan was loved by all the people of Texas for his many virtues and unselfish patriotism. It is fitting that a monument should be erected to perpetuate his memory, and it should be done by the whole people.

Houston has been juggling with her directory figures to show that she has a population of 75,000. If San Antonio were disposed to do a stunt in mathematics that is almost as fanciful, she could show that 122,000 people live within her historic precincts. The scholastic census of a place is usually estimated at one-tenth of the population, and San Antonio has 12,200 school children, according to the census just completed.—San Antonio Express.

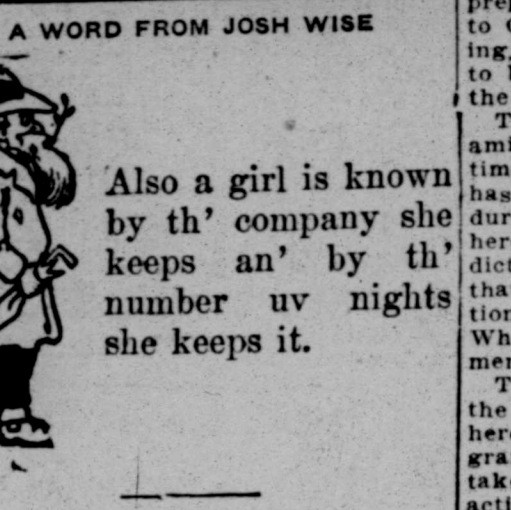

According to the same method of estimating, Fort Worth could claim a population, including her suburbs, of about 75,000. But Fort Worth is only given a fraction over 26,000 inhabitants by the federal census estimates. We all know, however, that we have more than 50,000 people in this city.

The Texas Grain Dealers' Association has chosen Fort Worth as its permanent location. That city being in the logical center of the grain belt, there was good reason why it should have been selected as the permanent meeting place of the association.—Mineral Wells Index.

Fort Worth is the convention center of the southwest, and many of the leading organizations of the state are establishing headquarters here. The people of Texas just naturally like to come to Fort Worth, the liveliest city in Texas.

WILL CONTINUE INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—Attorney General Moody denies that there has been any difference of opinion between him and District Attorney Morrison growing out of the investigation of the Chicago packers, and said the report that Mr. Morrison would resign was without foundation.

Mr. Morrison said that he would not take up the matter at all, referring all inquiries to the attorney general. He has taken the same course heretofore whenever he is asked anything concerning the investigation. This policy of absolute silence is being insisted upon by Mr. Moody.

GLEANINGS FROM EXCHANGES

The price of potatoes is proving a serious injury to potato growers in Texas. The best way out of the difficulty is for the growers to get together, get a warehouse, and employ experienced packers to put the potatoes away and hold them till such a time as they can get a fair price for them. The potatoes that are saved can be sold later for nearly ten times their present value.—Sherman Register.

It is a wonder that some genius does not come forward with a suggestion to burn the surplus potatoes. That was the serious suggestion made with regard to the cotton crop.

There hasn't been a word in the Texas papers about pistol toting for the past two or three weeks and nothing more will be said until somebody gets out and shoots up a lot of people, then the papers will get in hot after the pistol crime.—Beaumont Journal.

The officers of the law are the ones who should get in behind the men who carry pistols. The newspapers of the state have already done their duty in the premises.

Every train in this city brings immigrants to settle in this part of the state. West Texas is becoming famed far and wide as the home of the poor man where good land is almost as cheap as the air. Immigrants soon make the fertile soil blossom with crops.—San Angelo Standard.

ton is that Mr. Morrison's opinion as to the weight of the evidence out before the federal grand jury has been accepted by the attorney general and that indictments are in course of preparation. These will be taken back to Chicago by Mr. Morrison and will be in the hands of the grand jury as early as the first of next week. It is reported here that the general form of the indictments has been agreed upon, and that they are now in course of preparation by the clerks of the department. Who will be included in the government's net is being carefully guarded. There is no absolute certainty that the formal complaints being drawn up here will be adopted by the Chicago grand jury. Much of the evidence was taken over two months ago, and before the testimony, which would defer a report to the court for perhaps another week.

RAILROADS WILL HELP

Railroad officials interested in live stock traffic met at Chicago to lay plans for relief from the order recently promulgated by Secretary Williston, directing the strict enforcement of the law with regard to disembarking cattle and live stock in transit to water and feed them. The law says that live stock must be unloaded every 28 hours while in transit. The penalty is a minimum fine of $100 and a maximum fine of $500 for each violation.

Until recently this law, obviously absurd, was observed only in the breach. The measure was a compromise when passed. The Humane Society of America tried to establish a four hour limit. The railroads insisted that about thirty-six hours was about the right time. The result was the twenty-eight hour law.

In this contest the Trans-Missouri roads are mainly interested. The range cattleman also has a grievance. It was agreed that the fastest practicable schedule between points where cattle can be disembarked properly is from thirty-two to thirty-four hours. The railroads insisted that the committee to secure the endorsement of the department of agriculture for the amended law, making thirty-six hours the maximum which live stock may be kept in transit.—Chicago Live Stock World.

MAKE LOW PRICES

In view of the government investigation of the beef trust the prices quoted on beef and other meats by members of the combine to the government in bidding for contracts for furnishing two large eleemosynary institutions in Washington become interesting, especially to the ordinary consumer. The secretary of the board advertised for bids for 350,000 pounds of fresh beef, 15,000 pounds of lamb, 24,000 pounds of mutton and large quantities of cured meats. The 350,000 pounds of beef will be furnished by Armour & Company of Chicago at 64 cents per pound. The institutions which will consume this meat are the Freedmen's hospital and St. Elizabeth's, the government hospital for the insane. Other bids which were accepted are as follows: Golden & Company, Washington, 55,000 pounds of corned beef, 6 cents per pound; J. A. Whitfield Company, Washington, 35,000 pounds of bacon at 9.48 cents per pound; Swift & Company, Chicago, 15,000 pounds of lamb at 9 cents per pound; J. A. Whitfield & Company, Washington, 40,000 pounds of ham at 8.85 cents; Golden & Company, Washington, 55,000 pounds of lard at 6 cents and 72,000 pounds of shoulders at 7 cents; Nelson Morris & Company, Chicago, 40,000 pounds of veal at 7.43 cents.

ILLINOIS STOCK CONDITIONS

W. C. Garrard, secretary of the Illinois state board of agriculture, has just issued a statistical report on live stock conditions in the state May 1. It says in part: "The number of horses reported on May 1 is almost up to that of last year, being 95 per cent as compared with 1903. But little sickness is reported among horses. There is a deficiency of 6 per cent in the number of mules in the state this year as compared with last. Their May 1 condition is 98 per cent of normal. In northern and central Illinois the number of cattle reported this year is 93 per cent of that for 1904, but in Southern Illinois there is an increase of 4 per cent, making the total number for the state 97 per cent of that of last year. Their May 1 condition is 97 per cent of normal. In Northern Illinois, 97 per cent in the central division and 98 per cent in Southern Illinois. The number of hogs on hand May 1 as compared with last year is 90 per cent. In Northern Illinois the number of sheep this year as compared with 1904 is 98 per cent and their May 1 condition 98 per cent of normal. In central Illinois their number is 94 per cent of that of last year and their condition 98 per cent of normal. In the southern division of the state the number reported is but 90 per cent compared with that of last year and their condition 92 per cent of normal. There is no disease reported among the sheep."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

Men economize to get out of debt so they can be extravagant and get in again. There is no money in being because you lose what you lose and spend what you win. Next to a good cook the most important thing in your house is to get along with your wife. A woman who wears false teeth can get very indignant with another who touches up her complexion. A woman never considers herself to be properly dressed in the evening if she has enough to be clothed.—New York Press.

A SWORN ENEMY

I bowed, and resumed quickly. "That is not all my plan. I have thought the matter out in full. It may be true, as the marquis says, that England expects you to land your troops on the south coast, but Pitt is wide awake and wise. It were better that he should be made sure. In a week's time Villeneuve should be at the mouth of the channel. If a cruiser—your largest, sire—were dispatched to meet him, containing your commands to hurry on, in which you might incidentally mention that it is your intention to land near Portsmouth, or say somewhere in Essex, immediately he has raised the blockade. And if, sire, that cruiser were captured, after a desperate fight, sire—but mark me, captured—why, then, Pitt would believe—" "My largest cruiser," repeated Napoleon, doubtfully. "The English are cunning, sire; were the message captured in a less —" I shrugged my shoulders. "Believe me, sire, the emperor patted me upon the back. "It is a good plan," he said cheerily, "and, my dear count, if it were carried out—successfully carried out—my debt to you would be large." "You could easily pay it, sire," I muttered, or rather stuttered, for I was wondering what the devil I should ask. "Well," he said, "but how?"

An inspiration came to me. "The throne of England will soon be vacant, sire," I said boldly. Napoleon roared with laughter, and I could see with half an eye was mightily delighted. He slapped his hand upon his thigh and shouted out a string of strange, outlandish exclamations. Presently, with tears in his eyes—tears of mirth—he turned to me and said, "You are not very modest, count; besides, we do not think of giving England a king. A governor would be sufficient."

I affected keen disappointment. "A governor?" he protested. "Believe me, sire, England will never rest quiet without a king. I would be your vassal, sire." Napoleon laughed again, but this time somewhat sourly, I thought. "Well, well, we shall see," he said, "but for the present there is your sister's marriage. You should remember that we had contemplated attaching the price to our own person."

"Let the marriage go, sire!" I cried impudently. "My sister is quite young yet, her father—" "Ah, mon ami, you are too ambitious," he interrupted with much acidity; "the marriage is decreed."

"I loved humbly." "It must, however," proceeded the emperor, "take place in our absence, for tonight we set out—and I, count—for Boulogne." "Ah!" I cried out in a very whirl of thought. "Diable! Well, you do not seem anxious. It was your own proposal."

"It is my sister, sire," I stammered. "What of her?" impatiently. "The fact is," I blurted out, "she is not so anxious for this marriage as I could wish. Women are so foolish, and she not the present there is your sister's marriage. You should remember that we had contemplated attaching the price to our own person."

Fifty-Eight Machines Now Have Licenses to Choo Choo Three automobile licenses have been granted at the city secretary's office so far this month. W. W. Done a permit has been granted for a seven-horse power Olds. With the issuance of the foregoing the number of registered machines in the city now reaches fifty-eight. At this time last year the number registered was thirty-three, showing an increase of nearly 100 per cent during the year.

FIRE WAKENS FAMILY

Early Morning Blaze Drives Them From House Smoke and heat awakened the family of Secondo Angelini at 309 Elizabeth street early this morning, fire having broken out in the dining room of the house. All members of the family escaped without injury. The fire department responded and

"The woman, sire, is my sister," I retorted sharply. He cast at me a glance of half anger, half amusement, then shrugged his shoulders. "I have not heard that you have been always a devoted brother. Report has maligned you, prince," he sneered. "Well, then, let it be at Boulogne!" "A thousand thanks, sire!" I cried, but the door crashed and I doubt if he heard me. In a transport of delight I apostrophized the bedpost. "Did I not say that chance is the best mistress?" I demanded. "I'll play cards in England yet, and with my wife beside me; my wife, do you hear?" But the name gave me a cold turn, for I was past 40, and a long-sworn bachelor. Wife! Hm! After 25 that is a word to make a man shiver in his shoes. I was about to throw myself on the bed again, when with a crash one of the logs which had been burning bravely in the fireplace broke in half at the center where the flames had licked it through and rolled from the hearstone to the carpet. I cried out to the lackeys, and myself rushed forward to kick the logs back and so prevent a blaze. Imagine my astonishment to perceive behind the actual fire a broad open ledge of bricks, probably designed for heating of water, and reposing on its surface, not even scorched, there lay the crumpled up dispatch which Napoleon had thrown to the flames a little while before.

"Truly this is my lucky day!" I cried. "It is on such slender accidents as this that provision is made for the balancing larger issues. On the possession of that crumpled and soot-blackened paper, though I never guessed it, my very life depended."

CHAPTER XI

AN INTERVIEW WITH TALLEYRAND

"On my outcry there entered the room, in front of the servants, a gentleman dressed in a glittering state uniform, who when the fire was subdued and all made right again, lingered as if of right."

It is hard to describe him adequately by words, yet I knew him before he spoke, although I took pains to affect otherwise. His face was horribly sallow and inanimate; his cheeks were hollow; his large eyes dull and donkeylike; his lips thick and sensual, but yellow as strips of gold. He looked what he was—a diseased and worn-out profligate, and he walked in ungainly fashion on a pair of clubbed feet, hideously turned and blunted.

We regarded each other mutely for a while, then he spoke, slowly, and with a certain effort, and affected deference. "My dear prince, I had just arrived and was about to pay you my respects when you cried out for help and I took the liberty of intruding unannounced."

"I have not the honor," I suggested coldly. He shrugged his shoulders. "Ah! I was foolish to expect you to remember me, dear prince. My name is Charles Maurice Talleyrand, Perigord."

"I have never had the pleasure of meeting you before, monseigneur," I responded. "True," he murmured, "true," pursing up his lips. He, uninvited, took a chair and favored me with many furtive glances before he spoke again.

"Do you know, count," he muttered at last, "you have surprised us all by declaring for Napoleon." (To be Continued.)

CARS HAVE MIX-UP

String of Freighters and Trolley in Collision A disastrous accident was narrowly averted shortly after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, when a string of eighteen freight cars on a siding collided with a pavilion street car on Boaz street. Fifteen persons who were in the car were uninjured, though at the second collision the trucks of the car left the track. The street car was only slightly damaged and after being taken to the shops will be in commission again today.

Workmen have entirely completed the foundation for the new fifth ward school building and have begun on the brick laying for the first story. Work on the Eighth ward building has not progressed so rapidly, the foundation not yet being completed. The two buildings, according to contract, must be finished by Sept. 15, 1904.

THE LIVESTOCK MARKET

NORTH FORT WORTH, June 13.—Cattle receipts today shrank within reasonable limits, 1,400 head for the market, 492 on through billing, and 804 calves, in all 2,700 head.
 The quality of the steer run was mostly of the common to medium sort. The only fed stuff was a few loads of cake-on-gross steers. On the supply, such as it was, trading ruled moderately active, the demand before the noon hour coming mostly from the packers. Prices were steady, considering the large proportion of medium steers in sight. Tops sold for $2.50, with the bulk at $2.75@3.25.
 The cow proportion was a different matter. Many good grassers were on the market, and the demand for butcher cows made an active market at fully strong prices. The best sold at $5, with the bulk at $2.25@2.40.
 Bulls were scarce with prices nominal-ly steady.
 Calves suffered a decline of 25c. The big run was mainly responsible for this, as the quality was fully as good today as yesterday. Despite the decline the market was active. Top sold for $4.75, with the bulk at $4.40.

TRADE NOTES
 Beef is the most nutritious of all animal foods, and can be eaten longer continuously without tiring than any other meat.
 A timid, unaggressive male, is not to be desired as a breeder. The aggressive young are the ones that make the best animals. An undecided male would scarcely get this kind.
 In an experiment at the Missouri station the average weight of fifty-seven lambs born singly was 7.8 pounds, and of thirty-eight twin lambs, 7.07 pounds. It was found that by feeding the ewe liberally, the twins made as good sheep as did the lambs born singly.
 This is a good time to remember that a trimmed lamb always fetches the best price and to bring the knife into play.
 Some one estimates that a given amount of dry food, when fed to beef cattle, will produce three times as much increase in weight, as of butter, when fed to a dairy cow. A pound of butter, therefore, should have three times as much food value as a pound of beef, and cost three times as much. Sometimes it does.

Hot weather is here and it behooves the country shipper to be careful in loading his hogs. There has been a remarkable percentage in the mortality recently and in some cases the loss to the shipper was very great.

Texas bulls closed last week at St. Louis at $2.60@2.75. They sold at the same figures in Fort Worth.

Monday's rain made the farmers and stockmen wear broad smiles.

THE TIME WILL COME

When the Advice of This Fort Worth Resident Will Help You
 Very few people are entirely free from backache. It does not take much to derange the kidneys. A little cold, strain, stooping positions or hard work overtaxes those delicate organs and many aches and pains promptly follow. A Fort Worth gentleman tells you here how every kidney ailment can be relieved and cured. Read about it:
 S. J. Huff, carpenter, of 210 Pine street, says: "If I stooped over at my work or lifted any heavy weight it started an aching in my back and in spite of numerous plasters and different remedies I could, nothing seemed to do me any real good. I was in this condition off and on for more than three years. The kidney secretions were irregular and distressing. I also suffered from headaches and spells of dizziness. A friend finally recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me, stating that he had used them with good results, and I procured a box. They acted quickly and permanently and soon relieved me of the backache, as well as the kidney difficulty. I am pleased to recommend them to others."
 For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

ADVISORY BOARD

MAKES FEW CHANGES. Advisory Board of Intercollegiate Association Makes Changes in Football Rules.

NEW YORK, June 12.-No radical changes in the prevailing rules for football have been made by the advisory board of the intercollegiate association, which has been in session here.

As to the proposed change permitting the forward pass, no action was taken and the old rule will stand unchanged.

One of the earliest points considered by the seven men who attended the meeting was the question of coaching from the side lines.

Coaching from the side lines in football is, however, occasionally done, but when detected is penalized, the old penalty being a loss of five yards.

The rules of the game were amended in some slight particulars and more carefully codified.

FREIGHT AGENTS TO FIX COTTON RATES

Local Officials Leave for Important Convention to Be Held in Chicago

An important meeting will be held in Chicago this week of the general freight agents of all Texas railroads for the purpose of discussing the matter of freight rates as they refer to cotton.

The meeting is to be held under the jurisdiction of the Southwestern Tariff Association.

The most important feature to be considered and disposed of will be that of arranging tariffs to conform with the recent ruling of the Texas railroad commission touching the movement of the staple to tidewater.

The freight agents will also line-up for the movement of cotton when it begins. Those who left Fort Worth to attend the Chicago convention are: General Freight Agent Sterley of the Fort Worth and Denver City; General Freight Agent Lehane of the Cotton Belt; General Freight Agent McCabe of the Rock Island; and General Freight Agent Preston of the Wiseo.

Representatives will be present from nearly every line in the state interested in the handling of cotton.

Winchell. They are: General manager of the central and northern districts, with headquarters at Chicago; D. E. Cato, general manager of the southwestern and central districts, headquarters at Topeka; W. M. Hobbs, made assistant to the local vice president.

SANTA FE EXTENSION

Reported Colonel Polk Will Head New Branch

There is a rumor in Texas to the effect that Colonel L. J. Polk will be at the head of the contemplated extension of the Santa Fe from Lone Star via San Saba to a point near Stafford on the Southern Pacific railroad.

CUTT-OFF PLANNED

General Manager J. M. Herbert of the Colorado and Southern, who was in Fort Worth yesterday, made the statement that several cut-offs are planned by the Rio Grande Western on its line to Salt Lake City, chief of which will be one from Westover to a point between Sagers and Thompson, a distance of thirty miles, which will cause a saving of eight miles. Mr. Herbert says that work will commence the middle of the month on the construction of a branch line from Fort Steele to Encampment, Wyo. This will be built by the Union Pacific.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

The Denver and Rio Grande has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 1/2 per cent on its preferred stock, payable on July 15. The books close on June 27. After the meeting of the directors at which the dividend was declared, President Jeffrey stated that nothing could be said at present with regard to contracts between the company and the Western Pacific Railroad Company, but he would have something to say on that matter within two weeks. The Denver and Rio Grande preliminary report for the fiscal year ending June 30 shows a surplus, after charges, etc., of $320,529 against a surplus last year of $234,413.

HUNTINGTON'S CAR

The private car of H. E. Huntington is the most costly in this country and is made with the end in view of being accident-proof. The car is named "Alabama" and is a model of the builder's art. It is being equipped with four 200-horsepower motors, which will give it a speed up to 100 miles an hour. In its construction the question of safety has been solved, as the car has a steel floor and frame, making it practically unbreakable. The car is so constructed that the tracks of the company cannot be telescoped, and no pressure likely to be brought to bear on it in an accident could crush its sides or ends. The car was taken to Los Angeles from St. Louis on its own wheels, as it was closed so that in case Mr. Huntington wishes to utilize it for overland travel, it could be readily divested of its electrical features and made suitable for attachment to a steam railway train.

CARD OF THANKS

To friends and members of the Northern Texas Traction Company: No sorrow is so overwhelming but that an assurance of sympathy brings with it a sense of comfort. I wish to say to the officials and employees of the company and to my friends that their tenderness and loyalty to my son, Frank M. Haines, during his long illness, and their boundless sympathy and consolation to me, the father, you sent and which now lie upon his grave so many miles away may fade, but their memory remains as a token of your sincere interest. To those more closely associated with him in the conduct of business, I would say: Be true to your trust, finish what he began and all be hoped for, win. Faithfully yours, JANE M. HAINES. AMERICAN ROADS BEST

G. A. Anderson, consulting engineer and secretary for the government railroads in India, who was sent to this country to study American railroads, and who was recently in Texas, but now making over railroad conditions in Colorado, says regarding his investigations: "I have found the American railroads the best equipped of any that I have seen anywhere. The motive power, the roadbeds and the equipments of the railroads in the United States are far superior to those in England, and I think I can suggest a great many improvements for railroad building in India when I return."

The framework is about all in position and the roof will soon be inclosed. It is expected that the work will now be completed within the next thirty days and when finished the station will be much more substantial as it will have a steel roof instead of slate.

TO REBUILD TRACK

Santa Fe to Raise Mesilla Valley Lands

The recent destructive floods of the Rio Grande have convinced the Santa Fe Railroad Company that it is imperative that the tracks of that line should be entirely rebuilt on higher ground in the Mesilla Valley, north of El Paso toward Albuquerque, to prevent a repetition of flood damages which have recently demoralized the road.

General Manager Hurley has just inspected it with a view to rebuilding. The Santa Fe is also rebuilding many miles of track in Southern New Mexico for the same reason.

GALA NIGHT PLANNED FOR THEATER OPENING

Vaudeville House to Be Known as "The New Majestic." Open in November

First outline of the opening bill in "The New Majestic" theater to be erected in this city by the Interstate Amusement Company, providing satisfactory arrangements are made, was given this morning by Manager T. R. MacMechen.

Upon that night will take place the official dedication of the building, in addition to the performance, a short address by Mayor Powell and other prominent citizens being had with a possible introduction of the circuit to the public by President McGarvie, who, with the directors, will come to this city in a special train from St. Louis.

"The cast for the bill will have a $2,500 pay roll," said Manager MacMechen this morning, "and will comprise the best vaudeville performers to be secured in the country or abroad. Mat Grau of the famous Grau family is now in Europe under instructions from the Interstate company to secure an act new both in performers and idea to be made a feature of the opening season. The bill for the first night, together with the addresses, will be a long one, occupying from three to three and one-half hours.

"Every effort will be made to have the opening a society affair. Sections of the house will be allotted various clubs and organizations and appropriate decorations placed in these parts. Boxes for the performances will be auctioned as for grand opera.

"In establishing the circuit our every effort will be devoted to giving the public complete attention. We will inaugurate the carriage call system as followed in New York and other cities and a uniformed footman will be stationed at the curb during every performance. All employees of the theater will be uniformed and will be required to give perfect attention to patrons.

"Final plans for the building and site will be decided by Mr. McGarvie, who will return to Fort Worth Wednesday. The building will be modern in every way. As soon as the $5,000 subscription list for the opening performance is raised, contracts will be signed and the erection of the building begun here, making the ninth new building put up by the company. We will have the opening early in November. Regularly our season will run from October to the latter part of May, our circuit being the longest in the country. Vaudeville of the highest class will be our aim."

Committees to raise the opening night subscription began work among the merchants today, good results being reported.
