

JAPANESE PUBLIC TO GET INDEMNITY

Domestic Loans Will Be Paid Back and Industrial Boom Will Then Result

MIKADO'S CREDIT GOOD

Total Public Debt Now Less Than One-Fifth That of Russia

By Gilson Gardner

Special Correspondence to The Telegram. WASHINGTON, June 21.—The war indemnity which Japan will demand of Russia...

This will be a departure from the precedent of the China-Japanese war. As a result of that affair China was forced to pay the victor 300,000,000 yen...

The greater part of the Russia indemnity, it is predicted, will go to the Japanese people. The need which was felt at the close of the war with China for a stronger navy and a more powerful army...

But Japan now has a big public debt. Before the war it was $261,857,143. To this add $260,000,000 borrowed in London and New York...

The fact that China paid to Japan an indemnity of $300,000,000 will be an argument for the payment of a sum at least equal to this by Russia. The pressure of the foreign influences will be divided. Germany and France will try to keep down the Japanese demands...

Questions of territory, it is felt in Washington, will almost settle themselves. Korea becomes Japanese territory. So, to all intents and purposes, does the province of Manchuria...

This question of the use to which an enormous war indemnity might be put by Japan, is likely to play an important part in the behind-the-scenes happenings of the peace negotiations...

Japan's credit today in the money markets of the world is of the very best. There is practically no limit to the money Japan could not borrow at a small rate of interest...

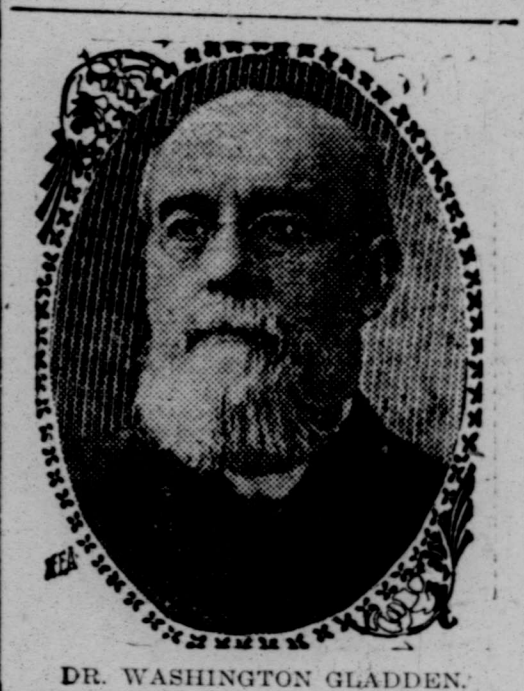

There is every reason to anticipate that Japan will enjoy a period of industrial activity exceeding that which followed the Chinese war. The foreign trade of Japan increased at that period from $265,000,000, in 1895, to $440,000,000 in 1899...

'WHAT I'D DO WITH ROCKEFELLER MONEY'

Dr. Washington Gladden Says He Would Restore It to Despoiled Men, Widows and Orphans

By DR. WASHINGTON GLADDEN, Moderator of the Congregational Church.

(Copyright, 1905, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association. CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 21.—"It is, of course, absurd to suppose that I could ever be the possessor of a fortune like that concerning which the question is asked. No man who tries to obey the law of the land and the law of God will to men could ever gain any such amount of money, nor the hundredth part of it."

fortune, and render to them full restitution. It would be a difficult undertaking, no doubt, for there would be many fraudulent claimants, and it would not be easy to determine the measure of loss which each had suffered...

"After this restitution had been accomplished I think that the remainder should all go into the public treasury. By some scheme of apportionment, it would divide it among the cities of the country, and let it go as far as it would toward extinguishing their municipal debts. Every such fortune has been gained by burdening the entire population, by levying taxes, in small amounts upon the whole people; justice would require that it be used in lightening the public burden, and this can best be done by reducing taxation."

"Much of this fortune is invested in railroads, mines and other great industries. The securities representing these properties could be widely distributed by sale, at fair prices, and thus afford a good opportunity for the people to invest their savings in remunerative industries."

MINERS SHOOT COMRADE

He Had Killed Drivers' Overseer Because Discharged

MACON, Mo., June 21.—In the vicinity of Koeta a posse of miners shot and killed Jack Plummer, a miner, who had a short time previously shot and killed William Dale, a mine mine driver overseer. Plummer had been discharged by Dale Plummer because of cruelty to the animals he drove.

It is said Plummer deliberately walked up to Dale and shot him dead and then fled, but was discovered by a posse of miners, who called upon him to surrender. He replied with a volley from his revolver and was then ridden with bullets.

SHIP COMPANY ASKS TAFT FOR MONOPOLY

Wants to Handle Freight Consigned to Ports North of Panama

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company, which at present has a contract with the Panama Railroad company whereby it has the exclusive privilege of carrying freight from Panama to ports north of that port, is trying to "keep its feet in the trough."

Since that time the company has been endeavoring to find a way to preserve its monopoly. Today President Shearin came to Secretary Taft with a bill proposition that the government as sole agent of the railroad should announce that it will deliver freight consigned to ports north of Panama only to American ships. Such a policy was urged on the ground that it costs $24,000 more a year to run an American than a foreign ship.

The secretary has not given an answer to the proposition, but the chances are that he will reject it.

CZAR'S WORDS RAISE HOPES OF RUSSIANS

Russian Press Declares Peterhof Speech Source of Confidence and Inspiration

ST. PETERSBURG, June 21, 12:40 p. m.—The impression produced by Emperor Nicholas' speech Monday at Peterhof to the delegation representing all the Russian congress of zemstvos and mayors which assembled at Moscow is reflected in the joyful acclaim with which it has been received by Russian press. The question of peace and the reports of another great battle begun in Manchuria become of secondary importance in the public mind before the great fact that the emperor has again pledged himself to popular representation.

"Hundreds of commissions elaborating schemes for reform," the paper continues, "could not inspire the people with as much hope as the future of Russia as the emperor's words to the delegation whose members were characterized by the reactionaries as traitors, conspirators and revolutionists. The fight is not yet won, but the bureaucracy will not capitulate without a further struggle but the most important step for political regeneration has been taken."

This Woman Must Hang Thursday For Murder of Husband Two Years Ago

MARY ROGERS

WINDSOR, Vt., June 21.—Mrs. Mary Rogers, who is sentenced to be hanged in the jail yard here on June 22, murdered her husband, Marcus Rogers, on August 21, 1903.

She married him when she was 16. They did not live happily, and for some time had been separated. Mrs. Rogers wanted—so the trial developed—to marry a man of Bennington. She wanted, also, the jury decided, $500 insurance Marine carried.

Mary sent a note to her husband in Hoosick Falls, requesting him to come and see her. Scarcely, despite differences and separation, the love of Marcus for Mary had not vanished. He heeded her request. Then, according to the evidence, Mrs. Rogers, with the aid of Leon Perham, a 16-year-old boy, chloroformed her husband, tied his arms and threw him in a brook beside which they had been sitting. Desperate efforts have been made to prevent the jury's sentence from being carried into effect.

WALLACE TO QUIT JOB ON ISTHMUS?

Rumor Says Chief Engineer of Panama Canal is About to Resign

COLON, June 21.—It is public announced that John F. Wallace, chief engineer of the canal zone, who sailed for the United States June 16, was going home by order of Secretary Taft for the purpose of a consultation on important matters prior to the sailing of the secretary for the Philippines, and that he is not likely to return to the isthmus until his annual report had been written and he had secured a short rest, which he was unable to take on his last trip owing to pressure of business.

Shortly before he sailed Mr. Wallace was the recipient of a memorial from the heads of departments on behalf of the canal employes, expressing deep appreciation of the benefits resulting from the new schedule of hours and wages, and from the betterment in the general welfare of all connected with the work on the canal.

The fact that Mr. Wallace went home accompanied by his wife and his two secretaries seems in some quarters to lend credence to the rumor that he does not intend to return.

TROUBLE RIFE AMONG STOCK ASSOCIATIONS

Members of American Stock Growers Accuse National of Misrepresentation

DENVER, Colo., June 21.—According to stockmen of Colorado a concerted effort is being made by representatives of the packing industries to create dissension among the members of the American Stock Growers' Association, and they are up in arms over what they consider the latest attempt to cast discredit on their organization, through the aid of the National Live Stock Association.

According to officials of the American Stock Growers' Association, Secretary J. H. Gwinn of the National Live Stock Association inspired an article which appeared in an evening local paper last week seriously reflecting on the motives of Secretary T. W. Tomlinson of the American Stock Growers' Association.

Mr. Tomlinson before accepting the position as secretary of this association was traffic manager of the Junction Railway Company of Chicago, which is now controlled by the Union Stock Yards Company of Chicago, which in turn is controlled by the packers. This was made the basis for the statement that the trust had dictated the naming of the employees of the American Stock Growers' Association, and that the association no longer represented the live stock industry.

WILL TAKE DRASTIC ACTION

Members of the American Stock Growers' Association are planning to take drastic action to put an end to what they term absolute misrepresentation. They declare that Mr. Tomlinson was employed as their secretary because he knew more of freight rates than any other available man, and that he only came to come to the position of secretary because of a substantial increase over the salary he was receiving from the packers.

This is not the first trouble that has broken out between the American Stock Growers' Association and the National Live Stock Association. The latter, less than a year old, and was formed during the last annual convention of the National Live Stock Association here last January. At that time the members of the National Live Stock Association and the different railroads were admitted as delegates with power to vote, and a number of cattlemen and stock growers withdrew and organized the new association.

NEW YORK WILL SOON BE WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Rate of Population Increase Shows Gotham is Fast Overtaking London

NEW YORK, June 21.—New York has now 3,987,252 population. It will pass London in ten years. That is what the present census, while not yet completed, indicates. This city is bound to become the largest in the world. The estimated gain in New York's population within the last five years is about 550,000. The last Federal census, in 1900, showed the population to be 3,437,202, so that the following is a fair comparison, according to the census people, of the population of London and New York: London, 4,586,541; New York, 3,987,252; London's advantage, 549,289.

DIPLOMATS THINK ARMISTICE NEAR

Rumor President Roosevelt Has Taken Initiative in Negotiations

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—It is intimated in official circles that negotiations are proceeding looking toward an armistice between Japan and Russia.

MEYER VISITS LAMSDORFF

Midnight Conference of American Ambassador With Russian Minister

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—It is intimated in official circles that negotiations are proceeding looking toward an armistice between Japan and Russia. President Roosevelt evidently has taken new and important steps in the negotiations between the belligerents. While there are collateral reasons for believing they relate to an armistice which will prevent the impending battle in Manchuria, this cannot be positively affirmed. All that can be stated definitely is that Ambassador Meyer went suddenly to the foreign office late last night and had an interview with Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, at which it is believed the ambassador communicated an important message from President Roosevelt, but at neither the foreign office nor the American embassy is the slightest light thrown on what transpired.

From the extreme secrecy observed the matter beyond doubt is one of the greatest delicacies. As the statement is vouchsafed at the foreign office, negotiations are proceeding without a hitch, the inference follows it relates to a new phase in which the president has again taken the initiative. This is more certain since the communications between the belligerents relating strictly to questions of selection of place, time and number of plenipotentiaries are conducted naturally through the intermediary of the American embassy through the intermediary of the Washington government, whereas according to diplomatic procedure only communications from the Washington government reach Minister Lamsdorff through Ambassador Meyer.

MAN WANTS FURTHER RATE CONFERENCE

Illinois Representative Believes More Thorough Investigation Should Be Made

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—A plea for further railroad rate legislation has been submitted to the interstate commerce commission. It is being urged by Representative Mann that the house committee be assembled a month before congress meets to get a bill in readiness for introduction when the session opens. He wants an agreement between the two houses on this subject.

Mr. Mann thinks that past investigations of the railroad rate situation have not been the best and believes that the committee should have gone to the big cities and summoned shippers from actual business centers and from their own experiences.

Mr. Mann thinks that a better bill than the Esch-Townsend measure can be framed and passed in both houses. He is confident of railroad legislation of a comprehensive character, if not this winter, certainly before the present congress expires.

A WORKING BRAIN

Can Be Made Successful on Right Food

A busy man in one of America's largest watch factories tells how by change of diet he gained a clear and steady nerves and averted a mental and physical breakdown. He says:
"I was accustomed all my life to the ordinary diet of the average table. I thought that meat, potatoes and other vegetables and fruit were necessary, and that tea, coffee and pastry in moderate quantities were not injurious.

"But I found, in course of time, that my dietary was affecting my health seriously. For four years I continued to run down. In time my nerves became seriously affected, they seemed constantly keyed up to the highest tension, and I became subject to the most violent bilious attacks, which used to leave me in a weak and nervous condition for several days. The climax seemed to have been reached a few years ago, when I found myself about as near a physical wreck as a man could well be, and live. Physicians, tonics, etc., etc., were of no avail.

"In sheer desperation I concluded, a few months ago, to see what effect a diet of Grape-Nuts food would have. I had often heard of it, but had little hope it would help me. I at once cut out all the heavy dishes with the tea and coffee that I had always used and began to eat Grape-Nuts with cream and to eat occasionally an egg beaten up in milk, and entire wheat bread. This has been practically my diet for more than two months.

"I found that with the new diet I gained complete relief almost immediately from all the distress that used to follow every meal, my bilious condition was speedily regulated and cured, my nerves have grown healthy and steady—in short, my run down constitution has been reconstructed and built up. As to the effect upon my mental powers, I have only to point to the fact that I have recently been placed in a responsible position in our establishment, where complete concentration of mind is required to deal with complicated records and reports, and that I have been enabled to keep my accounts absolutely correct, which my numerous predecessors uniformly failed to do.

"I think these things speak volumes in favor of Grape-Nuts as a nerve and brain builder. I subscribe all my improved mental and physical, to the fact I am possessed of steadier nerves, a clearer brain, a fine appetite, and have gained healthy weight, by the cutting out of heavy food and the systematic use of Grape-Nuts food." Name given by Dr. J. G. Smith, Battle Creek, Mich.

DECLARES AGAINST FOREIGN MISSIONS

Sir Alexander Tulloch Says It is a Waste of Money

LONDON, June 21.—Sir Alexander Tulloch has stirred up a hornet's nest by declaring to a considerable extent against money being expended in foreign missions in India and other countries, "the claim being made that to a large extent it was only wasted. One interesting statement made by him is that he believes that the world will yet get from Japan a simple and true statement of Christianity brought out by the Japanese themselves, a form of statement which would be acceptable to other nations besides the Japanese. Replying to Sir Charles Elliott he says in conclusion:

"As to Sir Charles Elliott's statement that the Christians in India have doubled in thirty years, that considering how young the natives are when they marry, and that the children would naturally be brought up as Christians, it is only what might be expected. Christian missions have been at work in India since the time of the Portuguese some 300 to 400 years ago. The number of even nominal Christians now existing in that country of several hundred millions is therefore hardly a matter to be proud of."

Panthers Lose at Temple
TEMPLE, Texas, June 21.—Gilligan, the Chicago pitcher that Willis has kept in salt for several days, made a spectacle of himself yesterday when he went up against Shelton's aggregation. He gave up eight hits and in addition threw the ball over third, permitting two runs. He was easy for the Shelton bunch, while the Ward crowd could do nothing with Mitchell. Hubbard was hit by a pitched ball in the fifth and had to retire from the game.

DOWIE TO SETTLE BIG TERRITORY IN MEXICO
Hogs, Mules, Oysters and Whiskey Will Be Barred From Prophet's Domain

EL PASO, Texas, June 21.—No hogs, no mules, no oysters, no whiskey, but more or less of everything else, is a brief statement of the principles that are to govern John Alexander Dowie's colonization scheme in the state of Tamaulipas, Mexico.
The hog, says Dowie, is the scavenger of the land, just as the oyster is the scavenger of the sea. The mule, he declares, is a creature of the devil, "an evil non-only"—a creature, in fact, something like the man without a country. And as for liquor of the kind that cheers and simultaneously inebriates, John Alexander says it is bad for any country.
Therefore, mules, hogs, oysters and whiskey are barred from the precincts of the Dowie colony.
Dowie's colonization plans have a satisfying vastness about them. This queer old man seems to have hypnotized the Mexican government into granting him more valuable concessions than any other individual has ever acquired. He is close terms with resident Diaz, and from one end of Mexico to the other he is hailed as a great man.
Briefly summarized, Dowie's plans include the building of seven cities, the construction of a network of railroads, the irrigation of an extensive region by a peculiar method, and the general development of 2,000,000 acres of land. The city which will be called Eden, and is to be built first. No attempt will be made to start the other six cities until after Eden is fully established. Various experiments in city building will be made during the early days of Eden, and when complete perfection has been reached Eden will be taken as a model from which to pattern the other six cities.
So far as possible, without conflicting with the Mexican government, Dowie will set up a code of laws of his own for the regulation of his cities and his colony. The state of Tamaulipas, in which is located the 2,000,000-acre concession granted to Dowie is on the Gulf coast of Mexico, well toward the southern end of the republic. Immense oyster beds fringe the shores and there is every natural fertility for the manufacture ofquila and other Mexican intoxicants, but as oysters and whiskey are on the prohibited list, no attention will be paid to these resources.
Although the whole tract of 2,000,000 acres will be fenced, there will be no division between the cities, and free intercourse and interchange of products are contemplated. This, Dowie believes, will carry through the commonwealth the truest idea with which he is imbued in the founding of his cities.
The ostensible purpose of Dowie is to make homes in Mexico for those of his people who dislike the cold of the north. In reality, however, his ostensible purpose move there appears that fact that out of this scheme the Dowie strongbox is likely to be loaded with additional wealth.
Whether or not the seven cities will be peopled indiscriminately without regard to the nationalities of the colonists is as yet unknown, but it is expected that Dowie will place the different nationalities in different cities and thus maintain peace and concord in his religious families. This belief is strengthened by hints dropped by Dowie on his recent visit to Mexico. This, perhaps, is the idea actuating the foundation of seven cities instead of a smaller number.
Whether the Mexican government will make an exception in favor of Dowie and permit him to build as many railroads as he chooses, according to his own peculiar ideas, remains to be seen. Mexico has some queer laws relating to roads, and as Dowie's proposed roads will necessarily have to extend beyond the confines of his land grant, in order to make advantageous connections, he is likely to have upon his hands some intricate problems, despite the fact that he has thus far shown himself to be unusually influential with the government. Dowie prides himself on the fact that greater part of the material required in railroad construction is to be had from his own lands, one of the most important improvements contemplated by the prophet is the watering of barren tracts by tunneling into four extinct volcanoes situated on his land. These volcanoes are filled with water, in some cases to a depth of 1,000 feet, and the old man believes that a tunnel driven into the sides of them will furnish ample power for machinery, and the used water can be carried in flumes into the valleys, where it can be spread over the acreage for irrigation purposes. With ample water facilities crops can be grown in profusion, especially garden truck and such things as command a fancy price in the north. Tropical fruits are also a possibility of the tract, and Dowie says that in this particular alone the colonists may soon gain financial independence. Aside from what labor will produce, the natural resources of the land are large.

Associated with Prophet Dowie in his work in Mexico is his son, J. Gladstone Dowie, who is now on a tour of the republic. The region selected by Dowie, despite its close proximity to the Gulf coast, is healthful.

Mayor Pritchard of North Fort Worth was instructed at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday night to have City Engineer Hill place in the hands of the contractors the grades and height of walls for the new school building that work on it may be started immediately. It was suggested that the city excavate the basement of the building and use the gravel for the city's streets and the matter was discussed at some length, but no definite conclusion was reached. The matter was laid over until the regular meeting of the city council, when the school board will be in a position to state what the expense attendant upon the excavation will be.
Most of the time during the meeting was taken up with a discussion of the plans for the grading and graveling of Main and Twelfth streets. It was finally ordered that the mayor and street and alley committee ascertain how much the property holders are willing to pay for the work. They have already paid in for the grading, but the work will cost $150, 450 of which the city is willing to pay if the property holders will make up the remaining $60.
An order was made authorizing the city secretary to draw a warrant for $1,580 for engineering work on the city water works.

EQUALIZERS MEET
Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the board of equalizers began their work in North Fort Worth and will be busy on the tax rolls for the next four days. The board is composed of John W. Condon, chairman; J. G. Capps and R. C. Godwin. The tax rolls submitted aggregate more than $3,000,000 and the board will have to go over this amount before sending out their notices.

THE FARMERS' UNION

The Union Banner, published in this city, denies that the Southern Mercury, published in Dallas and former organ of the populist party in Texas, has been made the official organ of the Farmers' Union, and says The Telegram is in error.

Perhaps so, but information has been sent out and published from Dallas to that effect, and something seems to have happened to cause a change in the name of the Dallas publication. The Banner says:

Inasmuch as The Telegram seems to be considerably concerned for fear the democratic party might get a backset in this state at the hands of the farmers, it might not be inappropriate to ask it, what has the democratic party done for the farmers?

The Telegram has no war to make on the Farmers' Union from any cause, and wishes it well in carrying out the legitimate purposes of its organization, but it has suggested the propriety of the organization steering clear of political bushwhackers who may seek to prostitute its purposes and bring upon it the same fate that overtook the grange and the farmers' alliance.

So far as the union and democracy is concerned, it is evident that out of the total of membership claimed for the organization that it contains enough democrats to look after democratic interests, and there is no real danger to now be apprehended from that source. As to what the democratic party has done for the farmers in Texas, it has given them the best government they have ever had and insured them an all around square deal.

The people of Texas want to see the Farmers' Union succeed. Its every step forward meets with their warmest approbation, for it is realized that in union there is strength, and there is a great work for these good people to do. But that work does not lie in the ranks of the populist party, and it is well to understand that a delivery of that kind cannot be made, even under cover.

PROSPEROUS TEXAS RAILWAYS

The railways of Texas are alleged to be in a very prosperous condition, and it is believed this fact is what has operated as a detriment to the proposed fight that has been anticipated against the reduction in the cotton rates promulgated by the commission recently, and the tax bills passed by the state legislature. O. B. Colquitt, member of the Texas railroad commission, was in Galveston a few days ago, and gave out the following public statement:

"What will be the ultimate result of the 5c reduction in the cotton rate? Do you think the railroads are going to fight it out?"

"No, I don't think they are going to say very much about it. The fact of the matter is I am pretty sure that the railroads are going to let the whole lot of bills passed by the legislature stand just as they are; that is, they are not going to fight them. They are not going to attack the Williams bill, nor any of the other railroad measures."

"One thing is certain, the railroads of Texas are in a more prosperous condition at the present time than they have ever been before. That can be shown from their net earnings. The thing, though, the reduction in cotton freight rates, over which there has been so much dissatisfaction, does not affect the lines running into Galveston as a whole. The reduction of 25c a bale affects only the lines upon which the cotton shipments originate. The fact that the railroads of the state are in a fine condition is indisputable. There are but two roads in the state whose stock or bonds can be bought at this time, namely, the Fort Worth and Denver and the Texas and Pacific. There are no stocks and bonds for sale by the other roads. They are not quoted on the New York exchange. You will notice that the stocks and bonds of some of the roads represented in Texas are quoted, but these do not represent the stock for the portions operated in this state. You can buy Katy stock, Cotton Belt stock, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe stock, Frisco stock, Rock Island stock, etc., but this stock is that of the parent bodies, and not at all that of the holdings in Texas. I am at the present time preparing a statement of the assets and liabilities of all the Texas roads, and when that is ready I am sure it will be patent to all people that the Texas railroad situation is a profit-paying proposition."

When the railways of Texas are in a prosperous condition it is a very safe indication that the people of Texas are prosperous. It is a self-evident proposition that the railways could prosper unless there is sufficient prosperity among the people to furnish the necessary business for the roads. And while crop prospects on the whole are not up to the normal in this state at this time, the people are generally in good spirits and the volume of business is about normal for this season of the year.

Texas is a rapidly growing proposition. New people are coming into the state daily, and these are buying and improving homes. All this adds to the business of the railways that traverse every portion of this great state, and the people of Texas are getting so they have something to sell and ship at all seasons of the year. In the fall there is cotton and cattle, cattle, wool, grain in the spring and summer and fruit and vegetables constantly moving in car lots. The lumber industry of the state is a big thing at all seasons of the year, and the demand for building material has been so great this spring that building operations have been seriously retarded on account of inability to secure what has been necessary. New industries are springing up all over Texas, cities and towns are growing and expanding, and there is a general air of prosperity, thrift and progress manifest throughout the state.

And there are none who envy the railways of Texas their season of prosperity. Many of them were built through sections of the state that had but a sparse population in the early days, and the roads have suffered with the other civilizing and developing influences that have been at work to transform the waste places. It has often been a great problem how to keep these great arteries of commerce in successful operation, and the earnings in populous districts have often been consumed to keep the wheels moving out where people were few and business was scarce.

The Telegram thinks the railways of Texas are entitled to great prosperity. They have been the most important factors that we have had in bringing prosperity and development to the state as a whole, and they must be treated with the fairness and consideration they deserve. There are a few people in Texas who think that Texas railways are robbers and cormorants, continually on the lookout for opportunity to gouge the body politic, but this is error. The men who are at the head of the Texas lines of railway are patriotic to the core and always ready to respond to any measure that promises to redound to the common good. At the same time, they are strictly business, from the fact they are at the head of great business enterprises that have to pay their way in the world just as the individual has to do, or go through the bankruptcy court as a penalty.

When a railroad shows a disposition to gouge the public it should be very promptly called to time. But there is no reason why there should be continued antagonism between the railways and the people of Texas. The people need the railways and the railways need the people. When prosperity attends one it should be gratifying to the other. Prosperity for one means prosperity for the other in the long run.

THEIR VOICE FOR WAR

To the student of current events it would seem that all parties in the Russian empire should have reached the point where they would look with favor upon the promise of peace, but it seems that such is not the case in the present emergency, but that the voice of the war party is still raised vociferously for war.

If there was anything in the situation that promised to redound to Russia's interest in the long run there would seem some justification for the continued baying of the Russian war dogs, but there is absolutely nothing in the situation that can be distorted into even a promise of hope or comfort for Russia.

The struggle with Japan has been one long hopeless succession of misfortunes from the very beginning, coupled with blunders that have been extremely disastrous. Thousands of lives and millions of treasure have already been sacrificed to appease the war spirit in Russia, and there has been enough of this.

If there was some way to get the war party at home out of the firing line it would no doubt make an immediate change in the situation. They would soon be in position to realize the blessings and the necessity of peace. They would soon reach the point where they would cry for the recalling of the dogs of war and counsel the distracted emperor to make the best terms possible with the enemy.

But the situation has been such that the ignorant masses have been shoved to the front as targets for the Japanese bullets, while the grand duked have remained at home, prated of Russian honor and counseled the emperor to fight to the very last. And there is nothing for the emperor to now fight for except to obtain the very best terms possible from the little nation that has proved itself the master on every field where the two armies have contended for supremacy.

There is nothing left for Russia to do now but to toe the mark and make the best terms possible to close one of the most useless and needless wars that has ever been waged in the entire history of the civilized world. She attempted to steal a large portion of China and has been defeated in that undertaking. The world looks upon that failure with great approval, and is surprised that even a few should be left in Russia who are so foolish as to clamor for additional drubbing.

DUTY IS PLAIN

While there does not appear a very marked determination on the part of members of the state legislature to return to Austin and correct the existing errors in the Terrell election law without expense to the state, the legislative duty in the premises is perfectly plain.

The state legislature was convened in special session for the purpose of perfecting the Terrell election law with some other measures that could not be gotten through the regular session. The Terrell law was rushed through the closing hours of the special session, and after it reached the executive office it was found to have been tam-

GLEANINGS FROM EXCHANGES

Texas is not the only state that has had trouble with enrolled bills in legislative session. Florida recently passed a law absolutely prohibiting Sunday baseball, but it is now discovered that the wrong bill was enrolled and the one that goes to the governor for signature after the legislature adjourned warmly recommends Sunday baseball as a moral and beneficial sport.—Austin Statesman.

That Texas gentleman who succeeded in changing the Terrell election law just before it reached the governor must have some very near relatives in Florida.

Dallas has been reading up on Omaha, which accounts for her energetic efforts in behalf of a government appropriation for the improvement of the Trinity river. Rival towns of Omaha charge that they are discriminated against in favor of the Nebraska capital by all railroads in that state, and the railroads answer that Omaha's location on the Missouri river makes it necessary to give her water rates; yet, as a matter of fact, so do the rival towns claim, absolutely no freight goes to Omaha by the river. Thus, as Dallas has been quick to recognize an advantage may be reaped even from a possibility.—San Antonio Express.

If Dallas gets water rates, what is to prevent other North Texas towns from shipping to Dallas and then paying local rates from that point? This would be less for all these North Texas towns than the rates they are now paying.

Tom Watson spoils a good story by stating in his magazine that the body recently dug up in France was not that of John Paul Jones, the great Scotchman who helped the Americans in the Revolutionary war.—Beaumont Journal.

Tom Watson, from his long connection with the populist party, is an authority on dead bodies. It is pretty safe to gamble on the proposition that it is not Paul Jones' body that Admiral Sigsbee has gone after.

The beef cattle shipping season is nearly at hand. Cattlemen of the Concho country are ready to send some mighty fine stuff to the markets this season. Never before have they had such a fine grade of beef cattle.—San Antonio Standard.

pered with in such manner as to alter its provisions.

It may be true that the changes made in the bill in this manner are not wholly and necessarily fatal, but there is a doubt created that can but operate to the detriment of the situation. Texas should not be compelled to reply upon any law upon her statute books that is a doubtful quantity.

It may also be true that the great majority of the legislature had nothing to do with the change that was made in the Terrell law, but the fact that the change was made is a reflection upon legislative honor and integrity, and this should be sufficient to cause a general desire to return to Austin and wipe this stigma off.

The senate is comparatively a small body, and it is believed it will be easy to get a quorum of senators to go to Austin and correct this glaring error. This body is so large that it will require about 59 members to constitute a quorum, and so far less than half the required number have expressed a willingness to hold a free special session.

It is to be hoped the members of the state law making body may yet realize the gravity of the situation and decide to do the clean and proper thing. Their duty in the premises is plain and obvious.

PROMOTING LITIGATION

The bars of Waco and some other cities and towns of the state are up in arms against a charge published in some of the state papers on account of charges contained therein to the effect that some members of the bar have been engaged in the practice of barratry—which is the polite name for promoting and encouraging litigation for the sake of the fees involved. Meetings of the bars involved have been held and the matter has created some talk and considerable excitement.

That there are lawyers in the state of Texas engaged in this nefarious practice is patent from the fact that a stringent law for its prevention has been called into existence. But it can be said to the credit of the legal profession generally that it is the exception and not the rule. Members of the legal profession who are real lawyers and a credit to the profession look upon barratry almost in the light of an unpardonable sin. They are in hearty sympathy with every effort made for its suppression, and are quick to institute disbarment proceedings when matters of the kind are brought to their attention. They feel that this is necessary for the protection of the profession as a whole, and the alleged lawyer who is engaged in the promotion of litigation is but inviting upon his devoted head the wrath of his brother practitioners who feel that the honor of their profession is being besmirched.

There is a big annual crop of new lawyers in Texas every year, but that is not a condition that justifies even the fledgling in going out in the highways and byways as a promoter of legal strife and contention. If these are not content to wait for business to materialize in a legitimate and proper manner, they should seek employment in the harvest fields, where there is an urgent demand just now for all unemployed labor. The farmers of Texas can afford legitimate employment to any surplus of the legal fraternity that feels it cannot wait for the business it craves to such an extent that it will go out and promote contrary to the laws of the great state of Texas.

Bob Taylor has opened his campaign for senator from Tennessee, and is hard at work in an effort to build up a political organization that will land him as Carmack's successor. But it is already apparent that the gentleman is up against the real thing.

The Sunday Telegram is a newspaper. It prints the news in such shape that its army of readers are always eager to get it.

The beef cattle season is just about at hand for all the West Texas range country, and the general report is that some very fine fat cattle are now ready to begin moving to market. The season has been very favorable out in the range country, and cattle are ready for market much earlier this year than usual.

An Illinois representative has refused a renomination because a "congressman is nothing except a pension agent and a splinter of postoffice jobs." He forgets the congressman under indictment as "grafters."—Galveston Tribune.

And the distribution annually of garden seed. The average member of congress scatters many seeds of kindness during the time he is permitted to remain in Washington.

Lawyer Patrick of Texas is still sanguine that he will yet best the electrocutor in New York and secure his liberty. He is elated over the late split in the bench of judges who confirmed the verdict of the lower court as to his guilt, and says he will get his release in the end. If ever a man suspected and convicted of such a crime deserved liberty Patrick has earned it.—San Antonio Light.

Patrick has made a gallant fight for his life and is still fighting against odds that would discourage a less resolute man. He is under death sentence, but that fact does not deter him from making plans for the future.

Sherman will be the interurban hub of one town with a college reputation such as ours, beside having earned her spurs as the railroad, swine and alfalfa center. We almost forgot—Sherman is a manufacturing center and jobbing center, also.—Sherman Democrat.

Sherman's efforts to obtain an interurban line to Gainesville has stirred up the railroads to such an extent that she is about to become a gasoline motor car hub as well. The railroads are very much alarmed over the spread of the interurban idea, and are taking prompt measures in an effort to overcome it.

THREE YEARS OF PLEASURE

This week is the third anniversary of the Indicator. Just three years ago we laid down the pig and cattle pen to take up the editorial.

Three years ago West Lafayette was largely made up of fresh air, a pretty town site and butter and eggs at current prices.

Now we enjoy all kinds of city airs, fire blazing out of hundred-foot smokestacks, paved sidewalks, Kissner's gas, even the clubs, swell banquets, a preacher or two on every street and a bank where people can go in and deposit their money, or, if they haven't any, pay their respects.

The people of West Lafayette seem to appreciate an effort to grind out a newspaper every week and they patronize it remarkably well, considering the paper. The Indicator has grown some. Three years ago we started with a rheumatically old job press with the lockjaw and the type set in the time. Today we have added to this magnificent equipment a new tombstone to set the type on, a new combined dictionary and encyclopedia, in which finding a word is of training in self possession. Then besides we have added to our library several government reports about beet sugar, and some geographical surveys. Our circulation has increased several times. We have had some wavers on our list and paid in advance at that.

These three years have been three years of pleasure and three meals a day, with a net income approaching close to 75 cents a month.—West Lafayette (Ohio) Indicator.

WITH THE CATTLEMEN

RANGE IS GOOD

J. M. and S. W. Knight of the Knight Bros.' ranch at Alledo, was on the market Tuesday with fifty-two head of fed stuff. The cattle were brought from Palo Pinto county and fed by Knight Bros.

S. W. Knight stated that the range condition near Alledo was good, grass is in extra fine condition. Cattle are late in going to market. He expressed the opinion that this was the first bunch to come from that vicinity.

INDIANA TERRITORY CONDITIONS

"We are having fine range in our country," said W. T. Bowen of Anadarko, I. T., who was on the Fort Worth yards Tuesday. "We have had fine rains and plenty of them," he continued. "Cattle are in the prime of condition and farmers have found it unnecessary to feed them at all."

"I believe there are a great many more cattle in the Territory this year than for several years past. Many of them have been shipped over us, and a great many still remain here. They are doing well."

"Several small sales have been reported lately, but none worthy mention that I have heard of. There are a few people in this section that are holding up their hands, and I am of the opinion that not many years will pass before the best cattle of the south will come from that vicinity. I know of several who have disposed of all the scrub stuff they had and stocked up on fine bred stuff."

HIS CHICAGO EXPERIENCE

"There isn't much doing in live stock circles in my section of the country," said C. E. Farwell of San Angelo, who was the lobby of the Worth hotel Tuesday. Mr. Farwell has just returned from Chicago, where he has been to inspect some cattle recently shipped there from his ranch in New Mexico, and which were held up because of some peculiar disease. "I were thought to have been in Chicago, where he has been to inspect some cattle recently shipped there from his ranch in New Mexico, and which were held up because of some peculiar disease. I were thought to have been in Chicago, where he has been to inspect some cattle recently shipped there from his ranch in New Mexico, and which were held up because of some peculiar disease."

"When I arrived in Chicago, in answer to a telegram from the commission firm," said Mr. Farwell, "I went straight to the pens in which the cattle were held. I looked them over carefully, and could not find one who showed the matter with them. I then hunted up the commission man, and together we returned to the pens. He could not show me anything the matter with the cattle. "Later in the day I found a buyer from one of the packers and took him to look at the cattle. He immediately made me an offer, which I accepted, and which was fair, considering the condition the cattle was in at the time. The packer was very anxious to get the cattle, and I shall always believe that this was merely a scheme of the buyers to get the cattle at a lower price than they were worth. They knew that the string was shipped from a great distance, and that there was no one but the commission man on hand. If they could make some kind of a complaint, then have me wired as to the result, they may have thought that any price they cared to make would be accepted. Upon receipt of the wire I left for Chicago, and did not return until I was coming, and I think my presence in Chicago was somewhat of a surprise to all concerned."

"There seems to be a disposition among buyers to take every advantage of the situation. I when it so happens that they are under the impression that a stick it is at their mercy they proceed to stick it to him to the best of their ability. The cattle that I shipped to Chicago were just as good as any that I have on my ranch, and I see now that I made a mistake in not sending them to Fort Worth, that is unless I had sent one along to look after their sale in the Chicago yards."

"A case of this nature occurred to me once in the St. Louis yards. I had sent two cars to the yards, and the boys that accompanied the train were strangers to me, and had no intention of returning, but being in a tight I had to let them go. I did not hear from them for several days, and then in the way of a letter from the commission firm, saying that they could not get but a certain price for the stuff on account of their condition."

"I wired them to sell at the best figure obtainable, which was in the neighborhood of the price I paid for the stuff as yearlings. From that time to this I have never received a satisfactory statement from the people as to what caused the low value, but believe it was a put-up job, because I was not there to look after them."

"I will say for the commission men of Fort Worth and Kansas City, that though I have trusted to them many times, I have never once received other than the best of treatment at their hands. I am candid in saying that Fort Worth has treated me better than the other cities, and I would ship here all the time were it not that I am able sometimes to get better prices at the other points on account of the cattle and the demand for them at other points."

Peering cautiously out a wild sight greeted my eyes. The waves around us ran mountain high. Not a sail was in sight. The crew was lowering down upon us, frowning and angry, and bristling with legends of great black driving clouds, while a blinding snow whistled past incessantly, thick as mist. The Cuckoo carried very little canvas; so far as I could see, only a tiny patch of mainsail, that closely reefed, and a small storm trysail forward, but she was straining and plunging like a mad-dogged thing of life. About a rattle on our lee stretched a long tall headland of gray rock, against which the seas broke with fury indescribable, and in spite of my ignorance of matters nautical I could see that we were in the position of great danger, and that all the Cuckoo's energy were being strained to wick this point. The whole crew was bunched forward in a group, save for two men who were lashed to the wheel, and John Masters, who stood beside them, grasping with one hand a shroud, a speaking trumpet with the other. I marked all these things through hills in the driving gale, but another thing I saw, and that was the momentous was propitious for our escape from the cockpit. I called Clarisse to me, and choosing a period of excessive downpour, which seemed to give the Cuckoo besides a moment of ease, we sallied forth and crept like ghosts to the main cabin. "Was but a step and we gained it unobserved, but not a second too soon, for next instant the vessel gave a reel which made its every timber shriek and a perfect deluge of water broke over us—a deluge which half flooded the cabin itself and would have swept us like matches from the deck had we been unfortunate enough to have encountered it."

I closed the door, but could not secure it, for bolts there were none, they turned to examine our effects. To my amazement the baggage had not been tampered with; even the emperor's trunk containing the gold was undisturbed. I suspect that the storm had arisen so quickly as to demand the best of the Cuckoo's master, and therein found the reason of his tenderness in respecting our belongings. I discovered, after some examination, that the cabin was furnished with a second door, which I opened without hesitation and found myself in a second apartment, which I could not doubt was John Master's private kingdom. The wall was hung with pistols and cutlasses, and these I instantly appropriated, so that I was presently wearing interest in the make of the other cabin and returned to complete investigation. In a rough cabinet I found many account books and inventories of merchandise, also a roll of coins which I left untouched. I saw the key of the captain's bed was pinned a printed sheet of paper. This, however, I would have passed by with a cursory glance, were it not that the name of my brother Devenae arrested my attention, and in a second I was reading the matter with intense interest—at interest so deep that I never heeded Clarisse's sudden outcry in the next room."

The paper was a government proclamation, couched in multiverbous legal phrasing, which, after reciting the assassination of Lord Ernest, Baron Devenae and Earl of Sudmouth, offered a 500 pound reward for my capture, or for information which should lead to the arrest of me, Caryl Franks. The reason plainly to be inferred was that I was suspected and accused of accomplishing my brother's death. To say that I was astonished would give but a paltry estimate of the feelings which burned within me on reading this precious notice. In a flash I now detected the reason of John Masters having disobeyed the emperor's signal in the harbor of Boston; the reason of his extraordinary friendliness; the reason of his brutal treatment of Clarisse and myself on the approach of the British ships of war. He wished to accomplish his revenge in a truly devilish fashion, by giving me over to the officers of justice, and at the same time arming the 500 pounds reward offered for my capture. Rage came with this thought and recovery. I swore savagely that I would follow him. At least he would not live to claim the money."

A groan issuing from the adjoining cabin suddenly brought me to a sense of the peril about me. I sprang to the door and peered through. There stood John Masters bending above Clarisse, who lay upon a berth so motionless that I knew she must have swooned. He held a pistol in his grasp, held it by the barrel, and it seemed to me that he had used it to fell Mademoiselle d'Arras.

Uttering a cry I sprang upon him. He was caught, the fool, and unprepared. But he was a strong man and fought bravely for his life. I knocked the pistol from his grasp in the first rush, and then entirely overcome with passion, filled only with the lust of hate and blood, I seized him and in a second we were sprawling on the floor.

Thinking of the matter in the light of cooler years, a horror has always come to me with the recollection of what followed. The Cuckoo still pitched and tossed most dreadfully, turning our bodies over and over as we lay locked in a very death grip. The cabin, moreover, was half a foot deep in bilge water and slime. All my plans and purposes were centered in a desperate desire to kill, to rend to fragments the man I grappled with. I thought of nothing else, forgot all else. Struggling with the ferocity of a tiger, I got him as I wished at last, one hand on his throat, his neck across one of my knees, my other pinning his body. He struck out with despairing energy, but I hardly felt his blows. With my free hand I caught his forehead, and slowly, and cruelly, remorselessly pushed back his head across my knees, while the sinews cracked and parted one by one, and soon he lay log still, his neck broken. I arose then, and lifting his body in my arms,

BOARD OF TRADE HAS ANONYMOUS HELPER

Letter and Contribution Received Regularly From "Stray Chicken"

The Fort Worth Board of Trade has the most unique contributor in the world. Each month Secretary Hitchcock receives from some part of the country a letter containing funds and advice, with the sole signature, "Stray Chicken." Amounts contributed each month vary from a few dollars to those of many figures. The range of places from which the letters are sent, however, is now the well wisher to be a wide traveler. That the mysterious contributor is a close reader of The Telegram during his travels is shown by his thorough knowledge of conditions as revealed in his monthly letter.

The June contribution, just received, is: "Dear Sir: Have taken in the Lewis and Clark Exposition and have $2 left to send you as my 'widow's mite' for the use of Fort Worth. Perhaps I could keep this and send you a larger amount later, but sometimes emergencies arise demanding 'the cash on hand' as it might be best to make it in installments as heretofore."

"Have made all the principal points from El Paso through Arizona, California and Oregon to this city and what has impressed me most forcibly in these western towns is the disposition to provide parks and lawn squares before the available and suitable land reaches a valuation that would exclude it from the possibility of purchase. San Diego, Cal., a town half the size of Fort Worth has a park of 1,200 acres. (It is not well improved, but they have the ground and they are improving it). Ramona and Redlands are small towns, but they have beautiful parks. Now, I realize that what money I send you will not buy enough land to accommodate the seat of my pants, but if the proper spirit could be made to take hold of the people who have the means, and a portion of the city's funds directed that way it would be an economical step for the city builders. Just a little provision for ornament, comfort and health has more effect on the visitor toward establishing citizenship than the average business man realizes. Fort Worth has many advantages over Dallas. Good water in abundance, while Dallas has a scarcity of bad water. Two hundred feet difference in the altitude and two hundred points better in every respect as a place in which to make a home. Still, I meet with people who argue that they prefer Dallas because she has a park and more conveniences as a city. One man said that Fort Worth reminded him of a Chinaman in America—just takes in washing at the regular rate and carries nothing for appearances or home comforts blows in his town park and so on. Now of course I took the proper stand and felt that I won out in the debate. However, I was compelled to take the position of the lawyer who knew his client to be guilty—a very uncomfortable predicament.

In a number of these cities I have asked the course pursued and they are much varied—but all are reaching the same end. In some cases benevolent citizens have done much in that direction. In others an association of some kind had the work in charge. In one case I recall the street car company was the prime mover. The street car companies are directly and very greatly benefited and it occurs to me that they would in all cases be perfectly willing and eager to do their part, for where a park is not right in the heart of a town 75 per cent of the people who go pay car fare—which means 10 cents for the round trip. At one point it was advised that the car company be granted and granted the car company a franchise with condition that they must keep up the park. And they are doing it nicely and in addition are of their own accord furnishing other attractions in the way of music and special entertainments.

"Now, Captain, I am not suggesting that you are responsible for my difficult task in the debate mentioned, and in fact I know that you are not, but I just want you to drop a few favorable remarks among the influential ladies of Fort Worth who have husbands of means and friends in the city council and possibly a movement may be started that will awaken our 'Chinaman' and induce him to sweep up his back yard and make a decent place to walk, and perhaps to sit down. It is a shame the way that car ends at what we call our park and after having been made a present of a franchise that enables them to exact a fee of 10 cents for every one who goes. I am inclined to believe that they may be induced to contribute their share toward some improvement—especially when that improvement will multiply their earnings.

"Then again there should be one single square block somewhere in the business portion of the city reserved as public ground. Preferably one toward the Texas and Pacific station and one not very far from the county court house. In such public place a stranger can stand for a few moments and rest without feeling that he is intruding or imposing upon anyone. There is an army of hard-working travelers who, while they stop at the most expensive hotels in every city, spend their money freely and are not penurious in any way, are often in very great need of a place in which to drop their burdens and sit down for a few moments and blow while resting weary bones. Right there you discover a selfish motive which I acknowledge, but my only reason for mentioning it is to know how much this privilege is appreciated, and furthermore would remind you that in these little lawn parks I have not suggested any reserved seats, so that the old people and the children may have their share of the comfort. It was a source of regret to me when the city gave up the lot on which the Carnegie library stands, for the reason that the general public would have given more freely for that purpose than they now will for what many will consider a useless luxury. It is not my intention to under-rate the library, but rather to refer to its great importance that would have enabled a petition to raise money where this will not touch the heartstrings so readily, though of equal importance.

"The Woman's Wednesday Club seems to have a good deal of motive power of some kind and it may be that if it can be induced to make a start something will be accomplished. It has often been mentioned that woman is at the bottom of everything that is done in this city. Now I am not in position to deny that, but I just want to say to you that I have observed that they are right at the top of everything good. When it comes to doing things, she will do herself what she cannot have, she will do for me with it is the Adornment Association of San Francisco. This body has a president and secretary and a board of directors, and they have an enormous amount of funds at their disposal. They have recently bought up several blocks right in the business portions of this city that are built up solid and these buildings they are tearing down to make spots of beauty and comfort in the city. I saw quite a long article in a paper outlining the plans for improvements. Now, of course, Fort Worth cannot have the enormous amount of money nor will that amount be needed, but she might have the association and the officers and gradually get a little money to start with which in time might amount to more. If the home papers would agitate it and the amateur parties that are sometimes in need of an excuse to exercise their talents and do their bit toward helping the cause of the association. Yours very truly,

PRINTING TRADES MEET AT HANDLEY

Legal Organizations Guests of Dallas Bodies for Day's Outing Tuesday

Despite drenching rain which began to fall just as lunch was being served under the trees at Lake Erie Tuesday afternoon, members of the Fort Worth allied printing trades enjoyed themselves thoroughly as guests of the Dallas organizations who entertained them under the direction of J. Will Moore, master of ceremonies.

President James Lynch of the International Typographical Union, who was to have been present and address the meeting, was detained in St. Louis. Addresses however were made by J. Will Moore, Dallas; W. F. Melton, Dallas; Tom Messins, Dallas; President McCleary of the Fort Worth Typographical Union; A. B. Moore of Fort Worth and W. M. Riley of Dallas. Following the rain, refreshments were transferred to the pavilions. A dance at night concluded the day's outing, which was well attended.

The meeting called for this special purpose, no other matters were considered.

PLANS ARRANGED FOR TRINITY AND BRAZOS

Santa Fe Tracks to Be Used to Cleburne Until New Road Is Completed

The first tangible information regarding the building of the Trinity and Brazos Valley road between Fort Worth and Cleburne and from Mexia and Houston was made public in Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon by Mike Sweeney, who was in the city, accompanied by Vice President W. C. Nixon of the Santa Fe.

Mr. Sweeney has been placed in charge of the construction of the extensions of the Brazos Valley, which is to be completed as soon as practicable, but until these gaps are completed the Colorado and Southern and Fort Worth and Denver City trains will use the tracks of the Santa Fe from Fort Worth to Cleburne. It is said that this track arrangement between the Youkum-Moore syndicate becomes effective July 1. By this arrangement the Colorado and Southern system will extend its line approximately 119 miles and the terminus for the time being will be at Mexia.

By the plans agreed upon Tuesday between Messrs. Nixon, Sweeney and Vice President D. B. Keeler and General Superintendent Dolan the Trinity and Valley tracks are to be used until such time as the Youkum interests complete their own lines to the Gulf.

Mr. Sweeney made the statement that the Brazos Valley construction will be pushed to the Gulf as fast as the work can be done, but when it would begin and when it would be finished he was unable to say definitely.

HOUSTON ARRANGEMENTS

The officials of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad company have made several propositions to the citizens of Houston looking to the establishment of general offices and machine shops in that city.

While the details of the propositions have not been made public, it is said that the company agrees for a consideration of $30,000 cash to locate both the shops and general offices in Houston. It is not yet positive that the road will reach the city of Houston over its own tracks. It is more than likely the company will enter that city by a trackage arrangement.

GREENE TO HURRY WORK

Colonel W. C. Greene, at the head of the Rio Grande, Sierra Madre and Pacific, is on his way to Mexico from New York to look into the cause of the stoppage of construction on the Casas Grandes-Dedrick eighty-mile extension, which began a few weeks ago. Colonel Greene has planned to expend $15,000,000 in the extension of his road to the Gulf coast.

FREIGHT BROKING OPPOSED

A campaign has been inaugurated to abolish what is known as "freight brokers" by western roads, the claim being made that they are having similar effect upon freight earnings as ticket scalpers have upon the passenger business of railroads. The question is raised that the practice is a violation of law, their practice of dividing commissions with shippers being held up as a form of rebate. Many western roads now pay commissions to freight brokers in all large eastern cities.

CROP CONDITIONS BETTER

Warm Weather and Occasional Showers Benefit Corn and Cotton

GALVESTON, Texas, June 21.—Following is the governmental weekly crop bulletin report for the week ending June 19, 1905:

The weather was generally very warm during the past week. Local showers occurred in central, northern and northwestern counties, but over much of the state no rain whatever fell during the week. Droughty conditions are beginning to prevail in some coast and southwestern counties. Where rain fell crop conditions were generally improved. The soil was also brought into more favorable condition for cultivation. Conditions were generally favorable for farm work of all kinds, and good progress was made. Some fields are, however, still foul and in need of cultivation.

REVENUE COLLECTOR WATCHING DISTILLERS

Andrew McCampbell Makes Cases Against Alleged Federal Law Violators

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Andrew McCampbell returned this morning from Upshur county, where he went to investigate alleged irregularities in connection with the fruit distillery of Pratt & Danner. Both men were placed under arrest on warrants charging them with engaging in the business without bond, making false reports to the government of the amount of fruit received and brandy made and evading payment of taxes. They were taken to Taylor and given a hearing before United States Commissioner J. W. Yerkes, and admitted to bond for their appearance before the federal court which convenes at Jefferson in October.

Mr. McCampbell recently made an arrest of three men—Tom Hill, Joe Barnes and Jim Hunt in Van Zandt county charged with a similar offense. Their distillery was seized and forfeited and the men were convicted and jail sentences of six months imposed in addition to fines of $200 each. For these arrests and convictions Mr. McCampbell received a complimentary letter a few days ago from Commissioner J. W. Yerkes of the department at Washington.

RAIN WILL RETARD THRESHING OF GRAIN

Much Damage Feared Unless Dry Weather Succeeds Precipitation

Excessive rains of Tuesday night and this morning, followed as they have been by low, dark, damp weather conditions, will, it is believed by dealers, have a damaging effect on the wheat crop. This is a critical time for wheat and if there is continued rain or a season of damp, dark days sets in, the grain will suffer greatly.

R. M. Kelson, general manager of the Empire Grain Company, speaking of the effect of the recent rains on the wheat crop, said: "It is problematical what effect the rains will have on the wheat. It is all harvested and a great deal of it is threshed, but there is still a great proportion of the grain standing in shocks, ready for threshing. The rains of last night will serve to put threshing back three or four days at least, and, if they continue, will throw it weeks behind. If the sun comes out and shines well and good winds come, the rains will have been an aid rather than a detriment to the wheat, for it will serve to make a better crop for threshing. A few days of damp, dark weather, however, will cause the grain to sprout and go to seed. As the crop is short anyway, this will have a very damaging effect on the season."

Mr. Kelson says that from his information, he is led to believe that the Texas crop will run from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels, or about 2,000,000 bushels more than last season. He says, however, that he does not believe that the crop will make any more flour than last year's crop for the wheat is said to be of poor quality and that the excess of 2,000,000 bushels will be required to make up for the loss in quality of the grain.

THE WEATHER

Heavy rains Tuesday afternoon and night relieved the hot weather conditions. The state reports heavy rains at large, five cotton stations having rains of an inch or more.

The rainfall in Fort Worth was .91 inches. Reports received here by the Denver railroad say that heavy rains have fallen north along their lines.

WEATHER FORECAST The forecast for Texas east of the one-hundredth meridian, issued at New Orleans, is as follows: East Texas—Tonight and Thursday, probably showers.

WEATHER CONDITIONS D. S. Landis issued the following statement of weather conditions this morning: The upper Missouri is dominated by high pressure conditions, accompanied by generally clear cool weather. Havre, Mont., reports a temperature of 34 degrees, and heavy frost. Low pressure prevails about the great lakes, also over the southwest portion of the country.

Precipitation has been quite general in the corn and the cotton belts, Texas reporting the maximum rainfall, Brownwood having 1.50 inches. Thunder storms occurred at Huron, North Platte, Atlanta, Nashville and Palestine. Rain is falling this morning at Boston and Concordia.

Cloudiness prevails throughout the cotton belt, except in the extreme southeast portion.

Texas is clear in the northwest, but cloudy in other portions. Rain has been quite general and copious in the southwest portion of the state, also in the northeast portion.

AMUSEMENT PLANS AWAITING BONUS

General Manager Carruthers Visits City and Will Return in Few Days

E. F. Carruthers, general manager of the Interstate Amusement Company, which proposes to enter the local amusement field, was in Fort Worth Tuesday night but left the city this morning for Dallas. He will visit San Antonio and Houston before returning here. Mr. Carruthers came to Fort Worth believing that the time was ripe for the opening of negotiations for a site for the new theater. He found, however, that only about three-fifths of the $5,000 bonus had been raised by the local committee, and as the fund needs to be complete before he can begin work on the plans for the theater proper, he decided that he would be unable to put in a day each in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio before he would be compelled to leave.

The Factory Club committee is still at work soliciting subscriptions to the fund for the opening night of the theater. Secretary Butler said this morning that the money already secured amounted to about $3,000 and that he felt certain the entire amount would be in by the end of the present week. He says that the money will be collected, the thing having proceeded too far to admit of failure.

Thomas Macklechen, one of the Interstate Company's representatives, said this morning that as soon as the bonus was made up, General Manager Carruthers would be notified and he would come here to enter into negotiations for a site and determine on what basis the company will enter Fort Worth. He says that they have had half a dozen propositions from local investors to build the house. The new company may build its own theater or, if it can be arranged, contract with local parties to have them build the house and then lease it for a period of years.

CROPS ARE IMPROVING

Commercial Agent Reports Big Change in Two Weeks

J. F. Dolard, commercial agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, has returned from an extensive trip over Central Texas, that territory covered by the Katy, Texas Central and the Texas and Pacific, and reports crops looking much better at the present time. Three weeks ago the situation was anything but encouraging, but the rains of the past ten days have revived crops.

"Wheat, although light in some places, is very fair, while the oat crop is the biggest in years," said Mr. Dolard. He reports that corn prospects also are very flattering since the rains. "The cotton crop has been improved, feeling pretty blue over the outlook, but they are now in better spirits," added Mr. Dolard, who thinks that the crop situation as a general proposition is at least as good as better than it was two weeks ago.

Similar reports are received by the general passenger department of the Rock Island.

Weather Bureau Change

A change will be made in the local weather bureau July 1, when the present messenger, R. H. Alger, will leave for his home in Pierre, N. D., and Herschel Stine, who served in capacity of messenger at this office one year in 1904 and 1905, will take his place by reinstatement.

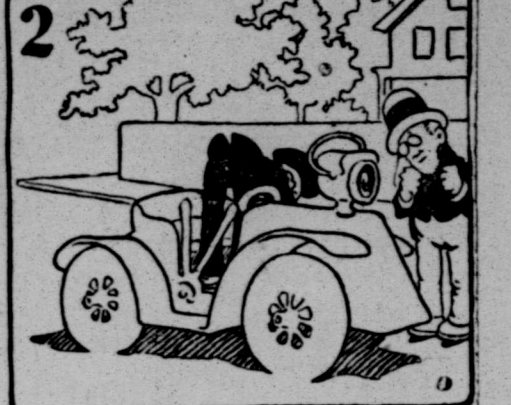

The city of London recently passed an ordinance requiring all street vendors of ice cream to placard on their vehicles the place where the cream was manufactured. The number of vendors fell off 40 per cent.

DON'T FORGET to patronize the Telephone Company that has brought good service with low rates. The new company has done both. A trial will be convincing. Call 98.

BAPTISTS ARRANGE BIG CAMP MEETING

Tent Service at Handley Will Precede Fifth Sunday in July

The monthly meeting of Tarrant Baptist workers, which convened at the Glenwood Baptist church Tuesday occupied the entire day. Rev. Mr. Nichols opened the service with a sermon on "Co-operation of Gods People." Rev. Mr. Hot then read a Scripture lesson. At this point the meeting was thrown open for reports from field workers and churches in the county. Rev. Mr. Bussy, county missionary, and Rev. Mr. Goode, co-purport, made reports. E. L. Huffman made a report on the proposed camp meeting to be held at Handley beginning Thursday, July 27. The committee on arrangements was instructed to secure a big tent and Dr. B. H. Dement of Waco was invited to do the preaching.

At this time the meeting adjourned and dinner was served in the church by the ladies of the different Baptist churches of the city.

In the afternoon speeches were made by Rev. E. N. Bell, Rev. Mr. Martin, W. A. Pool, E. L. Huffman and R. B. Morgan. Rev. J. H. Benson, a missionary of Chihuahua, was present and delivered an interesting speech on Mexico. He also speaks at the First Baptist church tonight on the same subject.

Mrs. Harry Clark delighted the congregation with two solos and a large company of children rendered some impressive choruses. The meeting was well attended from the county and adjourned to meet with the North Fort Worth Baptist church on Tuesday, July 18.

No revival services were held at the Glenwood church Tuesday night on account of the rain, but there was a good service this morning and they will continue throughout the week if the weather permits. Rev. Mr. Nichols will speak tonight on "Confession."

Auditorium Notes

The auditorium movement is rapidly assuming definite shape. The business men that have been approached have responded liberally, and among the rank and file is an earnest desire to help bring near the day of its building.

The Telegram desires to be of the forces that insure the auditorium, it will set apart a column to be at the disposal of the auditorium committee. This column will also be open to any and all citizens who desire to discuss the auditorium, any who have ideas as to raising the necessary funds, and any who may desire to express opinions as to its location.

The Telegram believes the auditorium is a municipal necessity. It invites the public to use its columns freely that every citizen may have the opportunity to say what he thinks or to know what his neighbors think.

FEET, PRICE OF PRIDE

Girl May Lose Them From Wearing Tight Shoes

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 21.—As the result of crowding her feet into shoes which were much too small for her, Miss Mary Ludwig, daughter of a Third street shoe merchant, was taken to the General hospital. It was announced today that blood poisoning had set in, and both feet may have to be amputated.

Miss Ludwig has remarkably pretty feet and she wore shoes to display them to the best advantage. Her duties compelled her to stand a great deal, and as the tiny shoes cramped the feet abscesses formed on the soles.

The family physician, when he found that the cause was serious, insisted that Miss Ludwig be sent to the hospital and the operation be performed at once. But the girl's father will not consent to amputation, except as a last resort to save his daughter's life.

SELLS PETTICOAT TO GET A TICKET

Woman's Wit Finds Way Out of Dilemma in Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, June 20.—What could the poor woman do but sell her petticoat? Alone, broke, in a strange city, her purse stolen and a stranger, with a burning desire to get to Columbus, she was reduced to one or two alternatives; either to stay in Pittsburg or make a touch.

The latter was chosen, but how to go about it was the question that troubled the stately blonde, who wore out several layers of shoe leather yesterday in walking back and forth in the union station here before she could make up her mind just exactly what to do. A swish of skirts, a quick movement in the dressing room of the station, a flash of—well, and she reappeared with the prettiest and daintiest of petticoats on her arm which she offered in a sweet voice to the highest bidder. "Sold," she said, as a flashing man bid enough to get her to Columbus.

"My name? Oh never mind that," she said, as she boarded a train.
