

SMALLER TOWNS AFRAID OF FEVER

Many Threaten to Declare Serious Commercial Embargo Against New Orleans

TEXANS FREED

Passengers of Steamer Alamo Detained in New York Are Released

TEXANS RELEASED

NEW YORK, July 29.—All passengers of the Malloy line steamer Alamo who were transferred to Hoffman Island yesterday, were released this morning.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—The most disquieting news in the yellow fever situation today is the evidence of a panic increasing in the smaller towns of Louisiana, Mississippi and eastern Texas, and a disposition is growing to revive a commercial quarantine as in 1898, when some country towns even refused to receive ice or hardware from New Orleans.

Columbia, La., bans all kinds of merchandise except hardware. Ucker, Miss., will not receive freight of any kind. Oyster, Miss., will take no freight or vegetables. Jackson, La., wants no household articles from New Orleans.

There are towns asking that the quarantine on freight be removed, but the belief is spreading that freight is carrying the disease to outside towns.

Up to the present there has been no local apprehension of a dangerous epidemic and it is believed that if the boards of health in other states lived up to the rigid agreement not to place any restrictions upon the transportation of freight there would be only a slight reduction of business and the inconvenience would be in the inability of the country people to come here and of New Orleans people to go into southern towns and cities.

Anticipating quarantines, most of the business houses, with the discovery of fever, wired their drummers not to come to town, but to remain in their territory, so they might travel freely and avoid the rigors as usual during the prevalence of sickness, but if the embargo is put on freight new Orleans drummers will find their usefulness at an end and New Orleans' natural business will be diverted to other points.

Case in Mississippi The history of the case of yellow fever reported at Lumberton, Miss., the first in that state, has not yet been traced, but it is not considered improbable that the victim is one of the many Italians who fled from the French market district here. Very probably cases will develop at other points, though the danger is constantly lessening because a cordon has been drawn around New Orleans Italians, so that it is doubtful if any more will be allowed to leave the city. Lumberton is on the Gulf and Ship Island railroad, between Gulfport and Hattiesburg.

A physician is in charge of the Lumberton case, which has been screened and isolated and is being scientifically treated. It is not considered probable that there has been any spread there and Ship Island trains will continue to run to Gulfport.

The cleaning campaign still continues to be carried on with great energy and every cart to hire in the city has been requisitioned by public works department and the committees. Tons of street cleanings are being transported in an effort to purify the streets, gutters and back yards.

Masses of people think the disinfectants are killing the germs and are putting fever out of the way. The Era Club, one of the chief women's organizations of the city, volunteered its services to Dr. Warner, proposing to hold parlor meetings daily in order that the women of the city may be instructed in the methods of ridding the city of them.

Much sympathy is felt here for Memphis, which has been compelled to quarantine New Orleans against the treatment of the city. A representative here who saw no occasion for quarantine, but the judgment of others in authority prevailed and Memphis is now entirely cut off from New Orleans.

THE TWENTY-ONE NEW CASES The official report of the city board of health to the state board of twenty-one new cases and three deaths, making a total of 27 cases and forty-seven deaths up to date, indicates a very slight spread of yellow fever and shows all cases are traceable to the original infection. Eighteen new cases are of Italian descent, one is a Frenchman and one German. All but five are below Canal street, most of them in the French market section. One is an engineer of the steamer Creton, which came from Contrabando, and two of the three reported deaths are Italians. There are still no reports of new cases from outlying sections.

MAJOR ISSUES STATEMENT NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29.—Mayor Martin Behrman this morning gave out the following signed statement to the newspapers: "New Orleans is suffering more from rigid quarantines than from yellow fever, which the citizens have the fullest control. The mosquito theory is accepted by all of our physicians and laymen alike, and there is nothing remaining to be done but to fight the clean-up, which is being done by oiling the gutters and screening and oiling cisterns.

The number of new cases is less than yesterday by five. We have the situation so thoroughly in hand that we believe that we will shortly convince the world that by working on the mosquito theory

STREET CAR MAKERS FORM A COMBINE

Consolidation Will Work With $54,500,000 Capital—All Big Firms Included

NEW YORK, July 29.—Reports that a combination has been effected of street car building companies, including some of the largest concerns in the United States, is confirmed today by the Times, which states that the consolidation will be capitalized at $54,500,000. Foremost among the firms in the merger is said to be the J. G. Bill Company of Philadelphia, which takes in the American Car Company and the John Stephenson Company, each a big concern in itself. The St. Louis Car Company is also in the merger. Edward Harrison Power will be president of the company and will maintain his office in this city while the syndicate which has undertaken to float the stock.

"The $54,500,000 capital is to be divided into a bond issue of $11,500,000; $15,500,000 of preferred stock, and $27,500,000 of common. Besides the concerns mentioned, many more old companies are in the merger, but their names could not be learned. The list, it is understood, however, to include the Barney and Smith Company of Dayton, Ohio. This company has capital stock of $2,500,000 preferred and $1,000,000 common.

the yellow fever will be robbed of its terrors and that shotgun quarantines are unnecessary. This is a fight wholly against the mosquito and not against "MARTIN BEHRMAN, Mayor."

MILITARY PLACED IN CONTROL

MOBILE, Ala., July 29.—A special from Gulfport, Miss., says Governor Vandeman yesterday, acting by the state board of health of Mississippi, placed Adjutant General Ridge in charge of the state quarantine service and all further aggressions against the yellow fever plague in Mississippi will be conducted under the auspices of the adjutant general's office. Advance details from officers and men stationed at Camp General, who are preparing the camp grounds for occupancy of the Mississippi National Guards, will be utilized to supplement the civil force now on duty there and throughout the state and a strict quarantine will be maintained throughout the state. The adjutant general should be maintained at the point of the bayonet.

MUST SHOW HEALTH PAPERS

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 29.—Dispatches today from doctors who are in charge of the cases in Lumberton state that no new cases appeared there and that they feel confident of their ability to stamp out the infection without further spread. An order requiring all persons to exhibit health certificates before entering Mississippi goes into effect today.

DENY TROOPS WERE CALLED

JACKSON, Miss., July 29.—A report in circulation that the governor has called out the state troops to prevent the entrance into Mississippi of refugees from Louisiana has been vigorously denied. Several officers and privates of the Mississippi National Guard have charge of the quarantine stations, however.

GALVESTON, Texas, July 29.—As a result of the action of New York health authorities in quarantining ten passengers of the steamer Alamo from Galveston yesterday, the following message was sent out last night:

Melville E. Stone, General Manager Associated Press, New York: Nothing at all resembling yellow fever has occurred here this season. Mortuary reports last and this week show no case of any kind of fever, except one of long-existing typhoid. C. W. TRUEHART, M. D., City Health Physician. E. S. COX, M. D., County Health Physician. I believe the above statement absolutely true. GEORGE R. TABOR, State Health Officer.

MEMPHIS QUARANTINES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 29.—By a vote of 10 to 3 the health council of Memphis went on record late yesterday as favoring a strict quarantine against New Orleans and other fever-infected points. The quarantine will become operative immediately. Inspectors have been appointed and every train from the south will be canvassed before arriving in Memphis. Bats will also be inspected, and no report of the fortune left by him is partly at the bottom of the present court proceedings.

In her petition Mrs. Fovell declares that Misses Daisy and Hattie Mulholland have kept constant guard over their mother, have constantly kept the doors of their apartments locked and have refused to allow their mother to leave the premises unless accompanied by one of them. Mrs. Fovell insists that her mother has repeatedly expressed a desire to live with her, but that the two other young women have refused to let their mother go for the reason that they desire to retain control of her money and property. It is probable that the hearing in the case will be postponed until next week on account of the feeble condition of Mrs. Mulholland.

GAMBLERS ESCAPE DOWN AIR SHAFT

Chicago Police Force Pool-room Beggars to Flee. Raids Continue

CHICAGO, Ill., July 29.—After a day of activity against handbooks and poker rooms, Chief of Police Collins' men last night attacked the pool rooms and gambling house of James O'Leary at 4187-4189 Halsted street. A big telephone switchboard and five poker tables were smashed and confiscated. Entrance to the place was effected after almost two hours of work by the policemen, who battered down five heavy oak doors and a dozen trap doors with sledge hammers and rams.

Before the police reached the room better sheets and other paraphernalia were destroyed. The persons in the place when the police made their attack escaped. It is thought that a shaft led from the first two bales of new cotton raised in Williamson county this season were brought to Taylor yesterday. The first bale weighed 600 pounds and was sold at 10 1/2 cents and the other weighed 500 pounds and sold for 11 cents. The producers got over $100 for each of the bales, including the premium. Mr. Pennington said at Cameron two days ago the first bale of cotton sold for 25 cents per pound.

In her petition Mrs. Fovell declares that Misses Daisy and Hattie Mulholland have kept constant guard over their mother, have constantly kept the doors of their apartments locked and have refused to allow their mother to leave the premises unless accompanied by one of them. GUTHRIE, O. T., July 29.—John H. Seger, founder of the Seger Indian Industrial School in Custer county, and for thirty years an instructor in that institution and in missionary work among the Cheyenne Indians in Western Oklahoma, has resigned because of trouble with the interior department. Recently James Mooney of the Smithsonian Institute and Professor Dorsey of the Field Columbian Museum of Chicago attended a sun dance in Custer county. Several Indians mutilated themselves with knives and went without food until they were exhausted. Seger preferred charges against Mooney with the department, alleging that he instigated the dance.

FIRE AT HUMBLE CAUSED RAIN OF OIL

Remarkable Phenomena Noted at Bay City During Blaze in Big Petroleum Fields

AUSTIN, Texas, July 29.—Captain John A. Hughes of the state ranging force, who returned yesterday from southeast Texas, related a very remarkable story in reference to the recent fire in the Humble oil field.

At the time of this great conflagration was raging he was in Groveton, which is exactly seventy-six miles from the Humble field. In a few hours after the fire commenced great black clouds swept over Groveton and everybody predicted that a terrific rain storm was on hand. In a few minutes what all thought was a shower commenced descending, but which was not hard enough to force people to take shelter. When the cloud passed on to the north it was discovered that what was supposed to be rain was really oil. Shirt fronts and Panama hats were blackened and Captain Hughes said many light suits fared the same fate.

The phenomena was so remarkable that men were led to distrust their conclusions, but the strong odor of petroleum left no room to doubt that the shower was real oil and not water. Groveton is almost due north from Humble, and the wind being from the south and blowing briskly, carried this shower of oil to Groveton and how much farther is not known.

FARMER DELEGATES SLEPT ON THE GRASS

Superintendent Cousins of Public Instruction Says Congress is Too Big For Quarters

AUSTIN, Texas, July 29.—R. B. Cousins, superintendent of public instruction, returned yesterday from College Station where for the past three days he had been in attendance upon the meeting of the Farmers' Congress. Mr. Cousins said when he returned this congress was a great meeting, but had outgrown by far the accommodations furnished at the college, and in his opinion in future other arrangements should be made for its entertainment. There would have to be in some more central location, where more commodious accommodations could be provided.

The congress, Mr. Cousins said, had assumed and grown to such immense proportions that the lodging and eating at the college were no longer adequate to entertain it and it was more than probable that hereafter these annual meetings would have to be changed to some other place. Owing to the gallantry of men no women were invited to do so, but scores of green healthy and happy men slept on the green bermuda sward in the several campuses surrounding the various buildings.

COTTON CAMPAIGN WAS HARD FOUGHT

Prominent Worker in Farmers Union Tells of Victory Over Low Prices

By F. V. Evans

Having been in the fight against the bear speculator for better prices for the farmers' cotton from July 15, 1904, to this time, I thought it of some interest to the public to give some of my observations. I have been requested by many who have heard my explanation in speeches I have made in this congressional district to give the public the benefit of some facts I have, but I have declined to do so up to this time on grounds of modesty.

LAST YEAR'S ESTIMATE

The reader will note that the May report of last year announced that the south had 22,000,000 acres in cotton and that the condition of the crop was above an average. Upon this information the spinner or bear speculator estimated that there would be 12,000,000 bales of cotton marketed in the United States in 1904-5.

The bull speculator was dumfounded at this condition. Now what was to be done and who was to dispute the right of the enemies to the producer? In the language of one of the leading bulls, there was no chance to win against the bears.

The Farmers' Union was in the field with about 100,000 members and was the only available agency to dispute the right of the bears to price the farmers' cotton regardless of the cost of production.

COST ASCERTAINED

They first found that this cotton then priced at four cents to produce. The question very naturally arose: "How can we secure a legitimate price?" This called together the executive committee of the Farmers' Union to consider the great question. After due deliberation they decided to enter the fight by sending out a circular letter calling upon all farmers to market their cotton slowly and hold such surplus as they might have, so as to meet the demand with the amount and quality demanded at such a price as would justify the production of the staple. They held that we could not afford to take less for 12,000,000 bales than was paid for 8,000,000 bales.

CIRCULAR EFFECTIVE

This circular of the farmers caused a great stir in the speculative world. The result was that all the business interests of the south became concerned and joined in the fight for better prices. The press came to the front and gave the idea prominence in its columns. The Southern Cotton Growers' Association and the Texas Cotton Growers' Association joined until the south was stirred from east to west. The result was a meeting was called at Shreveport, La., at which all these interests were to have representation. This was one of the largest meetings ever held in the south for any purpose.

COMMITTEE NAMED

The committee appointed at this meeting was instructed to push the idea, which they did by organizing the National Cotton Association to urge the three propositions. Merchants and bankers were called upon to assist in this work, which they did in a most liberal manner—here we may digress to say this was the first time that these factions had joined to fight a common enemy.

JAPAN'S CHIEF PEACE ENVOY

the first 6,000,000 bales of cotton sold for $51 a bale.

BEARS HAVE INNING

The weight became too great when the November report from the government came out announcing there were over thirteen million bales of cotton produced. The stamped of the broker and small holder of cotton caused them to sell each other to sell their holdings and 5-cent cotton was the result. This called for another general onslaught, which was called at New Orleans in January. At this meeting every interest of the south was well represented. Everyone was determined to do everything possible to stop the sale of cotton till better prices could be had.

The foregoing are the facts as I see them and to me they are very encouraging. The farmer and business man are closer to each other than ever. The Farmers' Union has demonstrated a wisdom in the management of farmers' affairs that is attracting the admiration of the world—they have demonstrated the ability of the farmer to secure just prices for his staple crops.

The future looks brighter for the south. The co-operation of the farmer and the business man will lead the south to that eminence to which it is rightfully entitled. If this spirit of co-operation is continued (and it must be) there will not be a single bale of cotton exposed to the weather another year, but it will be housed safely in bonded warehouses and sold when the demand causes a legitimate price for it.

TRUCK DRIVERS ASK FOR OLD PLACES

Last Stage in Chicago Teamsters' Strike Believed to Have Been Reached

CHICAGO, July 29.—Applications for work by scores of truck drivers mark what is believed to be one of the last stages of the teamsters' strike.

While a few of the men were told to report for duty next Monday morning, there was no general reinstatement of the strikers, the Employers' Association having decided to await the action of the coal teamsters tomorrow before removing the ban against their former employees.

Many of the State street stores tried making deliveries in the outlying territory without police protection. The plan generally was unsuccessful. As an evidence, however, of the precautions still being taken against possible violence to the non-union teamsters, Assistant Chief Schuetzler last night reported 2,200 patrolmen still on duty.

GETS FORTUNE AT 70

New Yorker Who Ran Away When a Child Now Wealthy

NEW YORK, July 29.—James Travis, 70 years old, will sail for his home in New Zealand today, having established his identity to the satisfaction of relatives whom he had not seen for more than fifty years. Travis came back to his old home a few weeks ago, seeking the recovery of an inheritance of $25,000 which has been held by the state treasurer for his benefit for about a quarter of a century.

It was only after a thorough examination of his life story and a detailed account of his doings from the time he was a child in this city and ran away to sea and later located in New Zealand, that Frank Hordick, who was appointed referee to ascertain whether he was the man who was entitled to the fund, decided that he was and that his identity could not be questioned. Upon this report Judge Coger of the supreme court yesterday signed an order directing the state treasurer to pay $25,077 to Mr. Travis, less the costs of the proceedings.

CAPTAIN ELMORE F. TAGGART ACCUSES WIFE OF INFIDELITY—SHE MAKES COUNTER CHARGES AND IS DEFENDING HERSELF

CAPTAIN ELMORE F. TAGGART, Sixth Infantry, U. S. A.

WOOSTER, Ohio, July 28.—Society in many states is burning to learn what will be the outcome of the Taggart divorce trial that is to begin July 31 in the court here. For the last few months depositions have been taken in Cincinnati, New York, Ky., Fort Thomas, Ky. (where Captain Taggart was formerly stationed at the United States army post), Manila, San Francisco, Chicago, Akron, Ohio; Orrville, Ohio; Leavenworth, Kan., and points in Montana and Arizona.

Each side of the bitterly fought case has, in the course of its struggles to obtain witnesses, used as many as fifty different detectives, and the Cincinnati depositions are said to be the result of Captain Taggart's detectives finally securing the presence of certain witnesses in the state.

So far Captain Taggart has named about a half dozen correspondents in the Taggart's maiden name was Culver, her father having been prominent in Chicago and a member of the Board of Trade there. She has several children. It is alleged by her husband's attorneys that committed indiscretions while he was in the Philippines.

Mrs. Taggart has filed a counter petition for divorce on the grounds of desertion and improper conduct.

Day Set Apart to Founder of Zionism Celebrated by Thousands in New York

NEW YORK, July 27.—A great outpouring of Hebrews observed on the East Side last night the day set apart in memory of the founder of Zionism, Dr. Theodore Herzl, who died last July. There was no extensive outward show of mourning, but the event was rather turned into a racial celebration of the convening at Basle, Switzerland, of the Seventh Congress of Zionists, which movement was founded by Dr. Herzl.

HARD WORK PROBING COTTON SCANDAL

Department of Justice at Washington Annoyed at Difficulty in Gathering Evidence

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—The department of justice is becoming aroused over the difficulties it has encountered in securing information in the cotton scandal. The attitude of the bureau chiefs in the department in over-awing employees; the system of espionage inaugurated by high officials to detect employees who were giving information to correct evils; the leaving of former Chief Statistician Hyde for Europe; the fact that Secretary Wilson permitted Mr. Hyde to have full run of the bureau of statistics for four days after his resignation had been accepted and the way in which Edwin S. Holmes Jr. goes out of town whenever the mood seizes him—all these things are forcing District Attorney Beach and Solicitor General Hoyt to realize that they have a fight on their hands to secure the information they want.

Mr. Hyde resigned Tuesday last. About that time the district attorney requested from Secretary Wilson copies of all reports on crops prepared by the bureau of statistics in the last three years. Mr. Hyde and his private secretary, Mrs. Bertha Burch, were permitted to prepare this evidence for the district attorney and send to him on Friday.

This was the last work either Mr. Hyde or Mrs. Burch did in the department. Mrs. Burch resigned that day. Since the connection of both with the crop reports is under scrutiny by the district attorney there is a doubt among some officials that the data is exactly the form the government desires.

Mrs. Burch undoubtedly knows more about the workings of the bureau than anybody else except Holmes and Hyde. Her record in the department reads: "April 5, 1897—Appointed laborer at $480 per annum; Aug. 20, 1900, promoted to stenographic clerk at $900; Oct. 15, 1900, salary raised to $1,000; May 1, 1901, salary raised to $1,200; July 1, 1902, salary raised to $1,400; Jan. 1, 1903, salary raised to $1,600; July 1, 1904, salary raised to $1,800; July 31, 1905, resigned and resignation accepted."

EL PASO, Texas, July 27.—As a result of over-athletics while a student at Columbia University, Arthur T. Kerr, 22 years old, is dead here. CROPS GOOD IN MEMPHIS VICINITY

Cotton Nearly Fruited and Promising Excellent Yield—Corn Yield Will Be Large

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 27.—Cotton all over this section is as fine as it could possibly be. It is now nearly waist high and very heavily fruited. No pests of any kind have appeared so far and old cotton planters from other sections of the state freely predict that it will make a bale per acre. Corn is now made and will make a good yield. June corn, kafir corn, milo maize, sorghum and other feed crops are the finest for several years.

Grass is very fine in this section and range cattle are as fat as stall-fed heaves.

COTTON OUTLOOK IS VERY GLOOMY

Texarkana Farmers Have Been Compelled in Many Cases to Abandon Fields

TEXARKANA, Texas, July 27.—The crop outlook, especially as to cotton, is gloomy indeed in this section and with the continued daily rains is constantly growing more and more discouraging. Not a day this week have the farmers in this locality been able to proceed with their work. It is raining, and more rain every day and every night.

On many plantations it has been found necessary to abandon the cotton in whole or in part, and even that which has been partly cleared weeds and grass is at least a full month behind what the crop was at this time last year.

Reliable and authentic data from territory surrounding Texarkana show the following: Complete reports from ten north Texas counties show that since June 25 29 per cent of the cotton crop has been thrown out and entirely abandoned.

Complete reports from seventeen western and southwestern Arkansas counties show upon an average that 23 per cent of the crop has been abandoned. Hempstead, Texas reports 28 per cent of its cotton crop the largest cotton county in this section abandoned since the date given—June 25.

WILL PLAY SUNDAY BALL

Manager Henry Fabion of Waco Team Believes All Trouble Is Over

WACO, Texas, July 27.—Manager Henry Fabion of the Waco baseball team seems inclined to believe that there will be no further molestation as to Sunday game and that it will be possible to play out the season without interruption again. The recent decision of Judge Sam R. Scott of the Fifty-fourth judicial district court causes him to take this position, and he has maintained from the beginning that he was not violating any law. "I think there is no law against playing ball on Sunday, and that is why I have continued to give exhibitions of that character," he said. "I shall continue to play unless it is shown that this is violation of the law, which I do not believe, otherwise I should not play. It is not my intention to violate any laws of the state."

EARTH SWALLOWS TRAIN DOUGLAS HAS ENOUGH

Locomotive and Ten Cars Sink into Great Mine Cave-in SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 27.—An engine No. 3 was drawing ten loaded coal cars to the main slope of the Richard colliers today the ground gave way beneath them and engine and cars were engulfed as though by magic. Engineer Samuel Ramsey, Conductor Nace and brakeman Palkdrick leaped from the train and ran for their lives. The earth continued to sink, slowly at first, then faster, and just as the fleeing men reached the opening slope there was a terrific roar and it appeared as though the entire mine had caved in. As yet it has been impossible to obtain a trace of the cars or the locomotive. Equally as fruitless has the investigation into the cause of the cave-in been.

YELLOW FEVER IN THE SOUTH

The people of the south have reason to dread the appearance of "Yellow Jack" in any portion of the southern states, from the fact that in the past some great epidemics have occurred in which thousands of human lives were sacrificed.

While the present epidemic in New Orleans has not yet assumed very large proportions, the disease is reported to be of a very malignant type, and a considerable number of deaths have already resulted.

The yellow fever epidemics in the southern states in the past will never again be repeated, from the fact that methods have been discovered for handling the disease that have greatly reduced the danger.

During former epidemics the sanitary officers burned tar in the streets and used all methods of disinfectants that were known at that time, but without avail.

We will probably continue to have yellow fever in the south for many years to come, but with the knowledge we now have of the disease and the manner of its dissemination and control, there is no occasion for hysterics over its appearance.

INJUSTICE TO CATTLEMEN

The Galveston News says that there are rumors—which, however, it is reluctant to believe—that some lessees of large ranches, occupying state lands have hit upon a scheme to prevent sales under the new land law.

No policy could be so injurious to Texas as one which would oppose settlement and farm proprietorship. Many ranchmen do, according to reliable report, desire to hold their property longer, and their object is to get all the profit which can be derived from their leases.

and if they are to be worked there must be inducements and facilities for investors and settlers. Texas, like any other state, needs industrial treatment.

It is hoped that the land law will not meet with antagonism when it goes into operation in September. Even the lessees would not, as the Galveston News says, gain through the scheme which is advanced; for there would be a reaction against them.

One would naturally infer from the charges that are being made against the West Texas cattlemen in connection with the approaching sale of a batch of state school land, that this land had only been recently discovered, and the cattlemen are on hand with shovels and hand carts prepared to carry every foot of it away and dump it where it can never again be found by the actual settler.

As a matter of fact, this land has been right where it is now located ever since it was won from Mexico by Texas valor and heroism. How long it had been there prior to this time is not known, but it is generally believed it was right there when Columbus discovered America, and did not budge an inch when Cortez was busily engaged in putting the screws to the Montezumas.

It is an old cry that the cattlemen of West Texas are doing all in their power to retard and prevent the settlement of that portion of the state. They have heard it continuously since the first bonus hunter and school land speculator crossed the Brazos and headed toward the setting sun.

The cattlemen have done much to settle and develop West Texas, and are still doing more in the same direction. They are large land owners in that section, and constitute its real bone and sinew.

THE WORK CURE

A few days ago one of the ablest preachers who fill pulpits in Cincinnati—the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow—had something to say on the saving grace of work. It recalled that earlier wisdom of Carlyle: "Get work. Get work. Be sure 'tis better than what you work to get."

"I am thinking this morning, hot of leprosy, but of another malady for which the world craves a remedy. I am thinking of that disease of the soul called pessimism. Is life worth living? No," said the nine thousand who committed suicide in the United States last year.

"Life without labor is guilt," says Ruskin. Yet my formula, like the advice of Elshka, may seem too trite and commonplace to deserve a trial. The Naamans who want salvation by mystery will reject it with contempt. My specific for the gains of pessimism is work—congenial work, useful work, well-paid work.

Work has always proven a great panacea for trouble. When we are oppressed by the weight of some great evil or calamity that has overtaken us, we instinctively turn to physical labor as the best method of diverting our minds from the affliction that has come upon us.

The implement that is not in constant use soon rusts away, and it is better to wear out than to rust out. The workings of nature reveal the great fact that to that member of the body that is not properly and continually used will soon waste away. And so it is with man in the entirety. If he eschews work and seeks the shady side of easy street continually he soon becomes a degenerate, while good honest work not only gives him stamina, but it also adds some very desirable attributes to his character.

It is said James Hazen Hyde has concluded to make his home in France, and this will occasion no great surprise. The trouble that was developed in Equitable circles originated from some of the young man's French proclivities.

Weatherford wants the Interurban line that is to be built from this city to Mineral Wells, and threatens to do all possible to have the line built into that city. This will cause a general hustle along the Springtown route.

Fort Worth needs more factories in her business, and the work of the Factory Club should be liberally encouraged. There should be hearty co-operation on the part of every progressive citizen of the city.

The members of the Baton Rouge board of health resigned in a body because a mass meeting of the people in that city denounced the theory that mosquitoes disseminate yellow fever.

Talk will not build that Interurban line to Mineral Wells. The promoter insists that $100,000 in good hard solid coin of the realm is the first prerequisite.

DOC'S JOLLING HIMSELF

Dr. Rush, the pioneer osteopath of Northern Indiana, came to Fort Wayne over six years ago, as a man in the prime of life, a gentleman of culture, refinement and ability, of the strictest honor and integrity.

However, Senator Mitchell may find some consolation in the fact that most folk won't think any the less of him just because he is in jail.

"A town feller's an awful fool when he gets out in't th' country, H." "Yep, reckon he is. But you ought 't see him when he's in town."

GOING BACK

He cannot imagine what ails him. His claret and champagne are stale; his club life is insipid; his chef has lost his skill; opera and theater are no longer diverting; the old zest is all gone; the almighty dollar is no more consolatory; he gets to sketching little bits upon the margin of the little village is almost exactly as "home"—back where as child and boy he lived those years so far away.

There still stands the old red schoolhouse, where he let little brown haired Nellie "spell him down;" and just over yonder is the white stone where Nellie sleeps; and there is a queer feeling in his heart when memory pictures his little "sweetheart," and how he cried when he left her, promising to come back "some day."

How very, very soon he "forgot," and he almost wishes now he had remembered; and wonders if he would not have been a better man if he had been with Nell, who loved him, instead of "Vere-de-Vere," who loved his position.

The brook where he fished for minnows is just a little smaller, but its banks are thronged with ghosts of the past—Johnnie, now a minister; Ben, a missionary; Will, shot in his first battle; Ned, living a peaceful, contented life on the old farm. Strange that out here they do not seem to need his pity for their "narrow" lives half so much as there in the great city.

For the first time in his prosperous life he asks himself if his vaunted successes have not been mostly failures after all. He leaves the old home till the very last. How small and plain and poor it looks, tenanted by only those spectral years.

He questions whether the years that went by so swiftly for him did not drag by in increasing loneliness for the two he left behind—he, their "only son."

He sees the father's bent shoulders and toil-worn hands; he hears the "father" never came to the city but that one time was because he knew that "son" was ashamed of the country-fied old man who was such a contrast to himself and his city friends.

And mother—he meant to come back oftener; he remembers how difficult it was for the knotted old fingers to hold the pen; every loving sentence, every word of longing for "her boy" stands out now in letters of fire before his tear-filled eyes.

He thought he was doing such great things when he sent his dollars as substitute for himself; but he knows with sudden knowledge how every one of them hurt, and how pitifully small and mean a return they were for the love and care and sacrifices made for him.

Only twice back to the old home in all these years—when "father died," and then—that other time—when for the first time "mother" had no word of welcome for her boy; he was just "too late;" and all that he meant to do "some time" could never be done now.

He realizes at last that all his millions cannot buy back one hour of youth, one lost opportunity, one chance for recompense.

The "boys" in the office wonder what has come over the "governor," he acts so queerly. They do not know that he feels "old;" that everything is "stale, flat and unprofitable;" that life's might-have-beens is ever with him; and he would change places with the poorest beggar if he could only "go back" once more and live even one year of life as he knows now he ought to have lived it—now, when it is too late for anything but memory.

GLEANINGS FROM EXCHANGES

It begins to look now as though the people of Fort Worth, Springtown, Whit and Mineral Wells would soon be ready to call Major Beardsley's hand. Within a very few days Mineral Wells can say to the world that she has raised her pro-rata share of the bonus and is ready for business.

Of course, we are going to get the Interurban. That matter was settled at the very beginning of the present campaign. Major Beardsley may not be the man to build the line, but it may be put down as a gospel fact that it will soon be constructed.

Ambassador Sayers may not succeed in establishing a better understanding between the people and the railroad corporations, but with the aid of Judge E. P. Hill he is rapidly acquiring for himself a better understanding of the difficulties of the job he has butted up against—Hillsboro Mirror.

It can be said to the credit of Secretary Wilson that no suspicion attaches to him in the existing cotton scandal at Washington. It seems to be only a case where he has reposed too much confidence in his subordinates—Telegram.

The agricultural department is the farmer's friend, and these cotton reports are almost invaluable—the most reliable, the most extensive and exhaustive of any issued. They have proved so valuable during the past one or two years we only wonder that a worse scandal has not resulted. We think there is only one way to remedy it, and that is, as has been suggested, make them public every day, the same as election returns are given out, and allow every one, farmer or financier, to do his own figuring. The farmers want the report—Glimmer Mirror.

The government report is the only safeguard the producer has against the eastern gambler. If it were discontinued they would issue an estimate of their own, and fix the figures just where it pleased their fancy.

This may be only temporary—a new and unexpected force may suddenly burst on the scene with all the effulgence of a "Mary Jane" Cox smile—but right at this particular moment Brooks and Colquitt and Sterett and Wells are in partial eclipse in the Waco territory.—Waco Times-Herald.

It is generally believed that the race for governor will really be between Bell and Campbell, but before forming a final conclusion it would be well to wait and hear what Jim Hogg will have to say on the subject.

LABOR EARNS THE CROWN We cannot all be famed or great, Like bard or warrior, old. We cannot all have won a prize When life's short tale is told. We cannot all be leaders here, Immortal crowns to gain, The plaudits of the multitude, The pleasur, nor the pain.

For some must fight with the pain, Be privates in the line; For every mining man made rich Thousands of men must mine. No captain ever won renown Without a host of men Who carried out his orders well, And asked not why or when.

WILL ENFORCE LAW

The agricultural department is at last determined to enforce the law providing proper care for cattle in transit. For years there has been a law requiring railroad companies to unload, rest, feed and water live stock after each period of forty-eight hours in transit. The law has been a dead letter. The undertaking its enforcement let it be ascertained to what extent official connivance has been responsible for its violation. GRAIN RATES A BOOMERANG
Dealers Rely Upon Effect on Shipments to Work Revocation by Roads

It is learned here that the Texas Grain Dealers' Association, or individual members of the association, will take no steps looking to securing a revocation of the recent order of the railroads in increasing the rate on interstate grain shipments to Texas, until time has been given the railroads to act on the question themselves.

It is believed here that the situation is becoming so serious for the Santa Fe, the Rock Island and the Katy that they will take the initiative themselves in restoring the old rate. Reason for this belief is that ever since the new rate went into effect the Gould system has done the bulk of the grain-hauling business into Texas, especially to Texarkana. On this account the other competing lines are cut off, practically, from handling the grain originating in Oklahoma and Indian Territory countries. This condition will not long be endured, according to a statement made today by a grain dealer, by the roads not now doing the business.

However, should the roads themselves not take up the matter the Grain Dealers' Association of Texas will, and will push the matter in an effort to have differentials restored.

This matter was to have been given consideration by the meeting of general freight agents held in Chicago this week, but thus far no information of what has been done, if anything has been done, has been received in Fort Worth. Messrs. Preston of the Frisco and McCabe of the Rock Island attended the meeting.

"On account of the situation very little grain is coming this way," said a grain dealer today.

DOLAN'S APPOINTMENT
A dispatch has been received here from Topeka stating that no official announcement has yet been made at Rock Island headquarters of the appointment of Frank T. Dolan of the Denver road to succeed J. O. Crockett as general superintendent. The dispatch, however, says that it is generally understood in Topeka that the place has been accepted by Mr. Dolan, effective Aug. 1. It is also reported from Topeka that at the date Mr. Crockett leaves the Rock Island the position of assistant to the general manager of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific at Chicago will be abolished. The position has been made superintendent of the Chicago terminal division to succeed C. H. Hubbell, who has recently been made superintendent of the central division.

RUSHING BROWNSVILLE ROAD
Construction work on the Brownsville road is being done rapidly, considering the rainy weather. Johnson & Read are the general contractors, the position line and report that the entire line between Brazoria and Alcoa is well in hand. Mr. Johnson reports that in case the weather continues favorable the laying of rails will commence soon.

SHOP CHANGES
Aug. 1 A. D. Slack, who has been foreman of the machine shops of the International and Great Southern at Houston, Texas, will be transferred to Houston. D. T. Myles will be appointed to the place vacated by Mr. Slack, at present foreman of the Houston shops.

WOMEN DECLARE MATRON NEEDED
W. C. T. U. Adopts Resolutions Recommending Such an Appointment

Adoption of a resolution recommending the appointment of a police matron and the bettering of conditions for women prisoners in the city was the principal business of the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, held at the Taylor Street Cumberland Presbyterian church Friday afternoon.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, We, the members of the W. C. T. U., have seen in The Telegram that the city of Fort Worth is considering the purchase of a new building to be used as a city prison, and

"Whereas, We know of the unfavorable condition which exists in the present city calaboose, the dire need of a matron and the general unhealthful surroundings, be it

"Resolved, That we, the women of the W. C. T. U. of the city of Fort Worth, do recommend the appointment of a police matron, the improvement of the women's quarters in the prison and the maintenance of a sanitary city prison."

THROUGH LINE EAST
Reported Seaboard Will Make Alliance With Frisco

Evidently there is something doing in Seaboard Air Line circles. Ever since that property was taken in charge by Thomas F. Ryan and associates, various changes have taken place in official circles, one of which was to put in a Texas man as vice president and treasurer. Recently the extension of its lines into Birmingham, work on which was abandoned a year ago for lack of funds, has been resumed and within a short time Seaboard trains will enter that city on their own tracks. It is believed that the Frisco will make an alliance with the road.

MAY MOVE OFFICES
Santa Fe May Abandon Galveston Temporarily

From a report that reaches Fort Worth the Santa Fe is considering the temporary removal of headquarters from Galveston to Cleburne on account of the possibility of yellow fever invading Galveston.

This step was taken several years ago. The operating department was taken to Cleburne and the passenger department to Fort Worth. Whether the Santa Fe is seriously considering this move cannot be authoritatively verified here.

DAN O. LIVELY ILL
Former Resident of This City Yellow Fever Patient

News comes from Washington that Dan O. Lively, well known in Fort Worth as the publisher of the Fort Worth Live Stock Journal in Dallas, has been stricken with yellow fever at Panama, where he is employed on canal work for the United States government. The Dallas news says that Lively was taken with fever July 24.

About ten or twelve years ago Lively was associated with the George B. Lovell Company in the publication of the Live Stock Journal in Fort Worth, and when that paper was removed to Dallas he continued service with it. Later he went to Beaumont and became connected with a number of successful oil propositions, which resulted very profitably to him. This was in 1920. About a year ago Lively went to Panama, Fla. that time he was promoting a plan to build a telephone line across the Isthmus. His headquarters were to be at Colon.

Mr. Lively was married a few years ago to Miss Allen Chicago. Both are well known in social circles, not only in this city, but in Dallas, Beaumont, San Antonio and other cities in Texas.

THIRD WARD A SAD COQUETTE
Rosen Line Is Now Asked to Gaze Upon Its Street Railway Charms

Alderman W. R. Parker is still pushing his work to interest some street company to build a line through or into the Third ward. He has already induced the Traction company and the Arlington Heights company to street car facilities for the Third ward. The Rosen Heights company will look over the field.

Alderman Parker, however, believes that the Traction company is better equipped and better situated to build the much desired line, as that company already has a franchise over Seventh and Jones streets to Front, from which street it desires to have the line extended from near the Front street viaduct out into the very heart of the Third ward.

He believes that it would also be advantageous for the Traction company to build the road, as transfers could then be made to other connections.

However, Alderman Parker is not particular what company will undertake to give the Third warders a line, so long as one is finally built. He thinks that the line will eventually be constructed as it is imperative that street car facilities be provided for the people of that part of the city.

PROHIBITIONIST'S DAUGHTER MUST USE CHAMPAGNE

she officiates at the ceremony. It is probable that Miss Hoch, who is the youngest daughter of the governor, has never seen a bottle of champagne, and it is certain that she never tasted it. She is a Kansas girl from the ground up and has spent almost her life in Marion, celebrated as a stronghold of temperance advocates. Miss Hoch attended both grade and high schools at Marion and graduated from both with honors.

DEATH FOLLOWS DEBT DISPUTE
Napoleon Bundren Shot and Killed This Morning by T. C. Eggleston

Napoleon Bundren, a carpenter, was shot and instantly killed this morning about 7 o'clock at the corner of Kentucky and Railroad avenues. T. C. Eggleston, an ice peddler, who has given himself up to the police, says he was compelled to shoot Bundren in self-defense.

Soon after the killing Eggleston gave himself up to the officers and was taken to the city hall. While sitting in the patrol wagon a Telegram reporter questioned him as to the causes leading to the difficulty.

Bundren threatened to kill me Friday during a discussion of a debt he claims I owed him, Dan Bundren, for work on one of my ice wagons, but I did not owe him anything," said the prisoner.

Continuing he said: "When Bundren approached me Friday he threatened to kill me if I did not pay his son. He held a knife in his hand during the conversation and I was apprehensive that he would carry out his threat. I thought it was best for me to admit the indebtedness and told him I would pay the amount which he Bundren's claim is $12. Bundren left me and said he would return today for a settlement.

"This morning Bundren came up to me carrying a stick in his hand and said that one of the other could not pay the $12 and that he would kill me at the same time he thrust his hand into his pocket. When he did this I shot him."

The shooting was done with a double-barreled shotgun. One lead penetrated the left breast, entering the heart. The other lead passed through the right side, low down. Either wound would have proved fatal. The gun was loaded with "steel shot."

Coroner Charles T. Rowland was notified and an inquest was held soon after the shooting. The verdict was that Bundren came to his death by gunshot wounds inflicted at the hands of T. C. Eggleston.

The dead man and his son came to Fort Worth from San Antonio, nine months ago and were living in a tent in East Front street. The family of Bundren lives at San Antonio, where they have resided for eleven years.

Eggleston is also a married man and lives at 202 Louisiana avenue. He has a wife and five children.

He discussed the tragedy freely and said he was compelled to shoot in order to save his own life.

The Popular Liver Medicine Will Keep You Well

TRAVELERS HAVE PICNIC
Dallas and Fort Worth Members T. P. A. at Lake Erie

Members of Post J. T. P. A. with members of the organization from Dallas, visiting members and members of the U. C. T., held a barbecue and picnic at Lake Erie Friday night. Those attending from this city left here at 6 o'clock, about 250 being in the party. All features of an open-air gathering were carried out in full, the barbecue being declared excellent by those present. During the meal short, lively addresses were made by representatives from both cities.

AMUSEMENTS

ROSEN HEIGHTS PIKE
An augmented orchestra greeted the audience at the summer pavilion at Rosen Heights Pike Friday night, the performance throughout meeting with the hearty appreciation of those present. A number of familiar faces among the performers called for loud applause.

Other features at the Pike were also well attended, the Comanche Indians proving a strong drawing card. The weird chant accompanying the war dance, though not understood by the audience, was entirely realistic. All efforts to change the dance to the exigencies of modern times have failed and the braves persist in giving the exact dance of their forefathers. The old chiefs constantly scan the audience and the managers report they have been unable to convince them that no vengeance will be attempted upon them for the part they at one time took in Indian raids in this part of the country.

Mosquito Bites Cause MALARIA

Scientists have discovered after the most careful tests and experiments that mosquitoes are actually the means of conveying Malaria and other summer fevers. These dangerous insects carry the disease germs from those already sick and when they bite, they inject the poison directly into the human blood.

Littell's Liquid Sulphur Prevents Mosquito Bites. It not only does this, but it puts the blood in such a fine, healthy condition, that you are rendered immune from all contagious diseases. You can do this by following these directions: Take a few drops of Littell's Liquid Sulphur in a glass of water night and morning for a week or ten days, also apply externally to exposed spots in mosquito seasons.

CALLAHAN COUNTY WANTS A RAILROAD

Rich Agricultural Country Is Clamoring for Short Line Connection

"The people living at Rising Star, Cross Plains and Cottonwood are anxious to have a railroad built through that region, which is one of the very best in the state," said Traveling Freight Agent J. G. Thompson of the Rock Island, who has just returned from a successful business trip into that part of the state.

"There are cotton fields of 500 acres just as full of bolls as can be, and many of the farmers expect to raise as much as a bale of cotton to the acre. It is expected that 50,000 bales will be handled by the towns near Rising Star. Off of 160 acres of land one farmer during the past two years has cleared $3,000. Cotton and corn were raised. There is no apprehension of boll weevils this year, and on the whole farmers in that section of the state are feeling jubilant over fine prospects.

"There is much need of railroad facilities for that part of the state. A line built from Cisco, on the Texas and Pacific, into the interior twenty-five miles would pass through all of the towns mentioned above and would no doubt make money for any company that would build a line. The people there are earnest in this matter and will try to interest some one in the railroad project at once. The country is very prosperous and would give a company a heavy traffic business from the very start.

"Enough Elberta peach trees have been sold to farmers in the section mentioned to plant 110 acres. Much attention is being given the fruit growing business around Rising Star and Cross Plains and in the next few weeks it is expected that the state will be one of the greatest fruit sections in Texas, equalling, possibly, East Texas, the home of the Elberta peach.

"Business of every description is prosperous among the merchants of these towns and with returns from this year's crop the farmers will be on easy street for all time to come."

BIG DEMAND FOR STORE BUILDINGS

Six Being Erected Within One Block in Lower Business Section. At the present time there are six new buildings and one addition being put up in Lower Main and Houston streets, between Twelfth and Fifteenth streets. These buildings are being erected at a total cost of $61,500, or an average of a little over $10,000 each. Work on two buildings was started this week, while the others are well under way. Beside these seven there are several buildings in the same district which have just been finished and are not included in this total.

All of the buildings are to be used for store purposes on the first floor and several on the second floor also. In the other cases the upper floors will be used as apartments. Four of the buildings are in Houston street and three in Main street. On the corner of Twelfth and Houston streets Bryce & Newell are adding a 23,500 second-story to the 5x100 brick building which is already there. The new addition is to be used for store purposes.

Between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, in the Houston street building, going up by the side of each other. The one is being erected by Dr. Anderson and is a two-story brick building, 25 x100 feet. The cost will be about $5,000 and when completed the structure will be used as a buggy and vehicle house. Next door Shaw Brothers are erecting a three-story brick building, also 25x100. The building will be used as a store and apartments upstairs. The cost will be $5,000.

On the corner of Twelfth and Main streets Mrs. Jennings is building a two-story brick building, which work was started Wednesday of this week. The building is 50x100 feet and will cost $10,000. The first floor will be divided into two stores and the second floor will be used for apartments.

On the corner of Fourteenth and Main streets work on the new two-story brick building put up by W. H. Smith and J. H. Thrasher is progressing very rapidly. The building will be 60x100 feet and will cost $15,000. It will be used for store purposes. Across the street another two-story brick building is being put up. The owner of this building is William Clemens of New Braunfels. It is 25x95 feet and will cost $8,000. It will be used for a store and offices.

Mr. Dolan thanked the donors with deep emotion for the remembrance, and told of his appreciation of the friendship indicated by the friends and employees from whom he is about to separate. TEXAS LIFTS PART OF QUARANTINE

Stricture Now Placed Against Only Towns Where Fever Infection Has Developed

GALVESTON, Texas, July 25.—The quarantine of Texas against New Orleans has been raised and now includes only New Orleans and other points known to be infected. State Health Officer Tabor said. "The state of Louisiana has quarantined against New Orleans and all infected points in Louisiana. This includes three or four places outside of New Orleans. The health authorities of the state advised me yesterday that they have inaugurated a rigid quarantine against New Orleans and all infected points, and no tickets are being permitted to be sold on railroads or steamboats out of those places to any point in Louisiana, Texas or other southern states. A vigorous anti-mosquito campaign is also being conducted in the infected places. In consequence of this, Texas has raised her quarantine against all points in Louisiana except infected points. But persons coming from Louisiana will have to produce satisfactory evidence to our inspectors to show that they have not been in infected points. If they cannot do so, they will have to remain in the detention camps for five days. "The infected points are New Orleans, Houma, White Castle, Donaldville and Algiers."

"In fact, Mr. Ratcliff will act as a sort of immigration agent for Fort Worth for the time being in an effort to induce several others of his neighbors at York to come with him to Texas."
