which she was born, lives in a valley of the Clearwater Mountains near the banks of the Snake River.

She is brown-eyed and blonde, the daughter of Jack C. Brown, a state highway surveyor, and Barbara Brown, who have a younger daughter, Carla, one year old.

Debbie Sue's birth defect of an open spine was not immediately apparent. But a few days after birth her grandmother, Mrs. Fred Bening, a registered nurse of nearby Orofino, Idaho, recognized that a serious disorder was present; and the parents then drove 400 miles at headlong pace to Seattle's Children's Orthopedic Hospital. (The mother collapsed on arrival and was herself hospitalized.)

At he hospital the parents were told that Debbie Sue's spinal defect was of such severity that the infant probably could not live beyond three months. If she were alive at that she mand the needle used for intravenous feeding, Doctors told us a she must lie face down on the night train riding home. Instead, she insisted on sitting up, jabbering without end and keeping all the passengers awake."

The Asotin County Chapter of The National Foundation-were dassistance and, since 1958, it has financed much of the cost.

"We drove home sadly," Mrs. Brown relates, "trying to adheck-up trips to Seattle, the breadth of the state away. Happity, in her case serious crippling has been averted. At least 250,000 infants are three months. At eight months, sue's Sue's States with birth defects—some were turned to Seattle where her spine was mended. When she was so mischievous that she succeeded in wrenching free from the blood-transfusion tube and the needle used for intravenous feeding, Doctors told us she must lie face down on the night train riding home. Instead, she insisted on sitting up, jabbering without end and keeping all the passengers awake."

The Asotin County Chapter of The National Foundation-would be some time before she can consider marriage, Debbie Sue's losing our beautiful baby.

The inspection service carried out on posted markets in Texas by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association is the biggest obstacle faced by the man who has a yen to steal a cow today.

This was the testimony of livestock producers from throughout the state, law enforcement officers, and officials of county, state, and national governments who entered testimony at a USDA hearing in Austin recently which is to determine whether or not the TSCRA will have authority to inspect cattle on the posted markets.

The present authority expires Nov. 1, 1961, and a rash of cattle thefts, particularly in East Texas, has livestock producers in that area highly aroused.

At the hearing Attorney General Will Wilson said: 'It is a well known fact the Texas cattle rustling is not confined to television, but were it not for the cattle raiser association it would have been much worse.

"It is my understanding there is no eligible agency, government or private, in this state which is ready, willing and able to provide the service of cattle inspection offered by the cattle raisers association. "Unless the Association is permitted to do this inspection service the USDA will have created a hole in the law enforcement net which will be a beacon light to every cattle thief in the state to dump his cattle at such market or markets as have no inspection of brands and markings.

Similar testimony was entered by Congressman Poage of Waco, Gov. Price Daniel, Joe S. Fletcher of the Texas Department of Public Safety, L. E. Berry, executive secretary of the Sheriff's Association of
