

MOSQUITOES' DAYS ARE NUMBERED

Weather in Louisiana is Decidedly Cooler

FEVER OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Frost Occurs as Far South as Fort Smith, Ark.—Few New Cases Reported

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 11.—With a fall of 15 degrees, bringing the temperature down to 61 degrees, New Orleans had its first taste of cool weather during the fall. Very much cooler weather was experienced in other portions of the state, while advices to the weather bureau brought reports of frost as far down as Fort Smith, Ark.

The effect of the fall in temperature will, of course, be still farther than out the mosquitoes and tend to increase the improvement in the fever situation, while helping along the campaign that is now being made for the removal of the quarantine restrictions. In the city the day was bright and clear and the breeze air had a most admirable effect on the spirits of the people.

Donnellville formally announced she would throw her candidacy for the work in the 14th, and it is expected the example will be rapidly followed, although the appearance of two cases at New Iberia, the first during the fever, increased somewhat the plan for opening the Southern Pacific line as far as Crowley, New Iberia had a rigid quarantine and the appearance of the cases here caused considerable surprise and such excitement in the town. Except for the New Iberia incident, the fever conditions in the state continue to grow better. The country of which Kenner is the center is being steadily cleared as a result of the establishment of a fever hospital there. Only six points in Louisiana reported new cases in the past twenty-four hours, and outside of New Orleans there was not a single death.

Thunkie announced she is clear of mosquitoes and there is no more fever here, and she will raise her quarantine this week. Baton Rouge and Alexandria, two of the largest towns in the state, have about overcome their sickness and will resume communications with New Orleans Monday.

ORDINANCE TO HAVE REFERENDUM CLAUSE

Unusual Provision in Chicago Measure Insisted Upon by J. P. Morgan & Company

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A referendum clause differing radically from the provision in the Chicago city railway company's ordinance will be provided in the Chicago Union Traction ordinance to be submitted to the city commission on local transportation tomorrow. The Chicago city railway company's ordinance provides that a majority of the voters must register objections to it to make it void. By the conditions of the Union Traction ordinance it was said yesterday, a majority vote in favor of the measure will be required to carry it. Such a provision will meet the requirements of the committee and the aldermen generally. It is expected, and the Chicago city company will modify its ordinance so as to conform to the new condition which is said to have been imposed by Judge Grosscup.

From a high authority in the traction companies, it was learned that a referendum vote was not only desired, but insisted on by J. P. Morgan, who is understood to be at the head of the financial interests controlling the Chicago city and the Chicago Union Traction companies.

WACO, Texas, Oct. 11.—The Texas Baptist Educational commission held a session here yesterday afternoon. The various schools of the denomination received attention. Most members of the board were present. The board is composed as follows: C. Slaughter, Dallas; J. B. Gamble, Dallas; Rev. R. E. Jenkins, Greenville; President J. L. Ward of the Deatur college; M. E. Hoover, Eau, Canadian; President J. H. Grove, Brownwood; Dr. E. E. King, McKinney; Rufus Hieginbotham, Dublin; Dr. B. H. Carroll, Waco; J. H. Gambrell, Dallas; Professor C. H. Webb, Goodnight; J. P. Crouch, McKinney; Dr. B. H. Demmitt, Waco; Dr. J. M. Carroll, Waco; Rev. Forest Smith, Sherman.

NO ASSESSMENT FOR CAMPAIGN, SAYS DUNNE

Chicago Mayor Declares City Employees Will Not Be Asked to Contribute Toward Party Funds

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 11.—No assessment of city employees for campaign purposes is the claim of Mayor Dunne. He made a plain that he did not intend to impose the custom of employees in the classified service being compelled to contribute to the campaign fund yesterday after sending a check for $50 to the county committee.

"That check," said the mayor, "was my personal contribution to the campaign. There will be no assessment of classified employees for campaign purposes. If any of the employees contribute voluntarily, nothing can be done, as they then would not be amenable to the civil service bureau. But there will be no compulsion about their contributions and a voluntary subscription is not a solicited subscription."

BRITISH VESSEL SUNK BY JAPANESE MINE

Fifteen of Crew and Passengers of Steamer Lelcho Missing, Including Engineer

TOKIO, Oct. 11, 7 a. m.—Report has been received at Moji that the British steamer Lelcho struck a floating mine ninety miles east of Shang Tung light house Sept. 20.

Of the crew and passengers fifteen are reported missing, among them two foreign engineers.

TUBERCULOSIS EXPERT WON'T TAKE OFFER

Professor Behring Refuses to Consider Proposition of New York Man to Give $50,000 for Secret

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The New York cable regarding the offer made by one of the wealthiest men of that city to present $50,000 to Dr. Behring for the cure of consumption has excited great interest in Paris, says a cable dispatch from Paris to the Herald. A Herald correspondent called on Dr. Behring, who said:

"I may say at once that I could not entertain an offer of the kind in such a form."

"I have made it a principle never to accept any aid of this kind from private individuals."

"Secondly, I could not submit my investigations to the control of a committee, however eminent, as I could have no certainty that its members had the necessary qualifications as bacteriologists to conduct such a delicate task."

"It would be another thing if the offer came from the American government or from some organized scientific institution and was made in recognition of the services I had rendered science and humanity by the discovery of the serum against diphtheria and tetanus."

"It is, however, a mistake to imagine that I have kept my law strictly secret. This is not so. But I have chosen and will continue to choose the persons to whom I make the communication. My only desire is to have such collaboration as I know will advance the cause of science."

"It is only by giving such delicate investigations in the hands of duly qualified men of science that progress can be made."

JAPS TO USE STERN MEASURES IN KOREA

Prediction Made That Government of Hermit Kingdom Soon Will Be Absorbed

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Tokio by the Empress Japan states that a stern Korean policy is to be adopted by Japan following the announcement of the Anglo-Japan treaty. Tokio publicists state freely since the treaty guarantees the freedom of Japan in prosecution of the Korean interests the shadow of the Korean government shortly will be swept away. Several Japanese papers state the foreign minister of Korea will be withdrawn and the Korean ministers abroad will be recalled, for as long as Korea is in the position of vassal dependence light measures may be taken by ambitious diplomats even if Japanese interests may be jeopardized.

The return of the Russian agents and the attitude of the Korean government regarding the wishes of Koreans in the north and the formation of patriotic societies in Seoul are among the factors calling forth the demands from political leaders in Japan for rigorous measures in Korea. A Yokohama paper says part of the Manchurian army may be quartered in Korea instead of being withdrawn to Japan as a concerted uprising of Koreans abetted by officials of the Korean government is considered too imminent a possibility to be treated lightly.

Japanese Administration Attacked.

Mr. Harbut of the Korean Review, according to advices by the steamer Empress of Japan, makes grave charges against the Japanese administration.

He says a thousand Korean peasants are threatened with starvation and heart-rending scenes are occurring daily because the peasants have been deprived of their lands without compensation.

Korean Minister Sought

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 11.—Yon Bk, the former Korean minister who escaped to Shanghai in June, it is stated by Shanghai papers, is believed to be on a secret mission to Europe. On his arrival at Shanghai he addressed a long telegram to the Chinese embassy. The minister is believed to be in the hands of Japanese officials sought to apprehend him before he left Korea.

DEPUTY CAPTURES ALLEGED ROBBERS

Men Charged With Breaking Into Postoffice Last November Captured at Glen Rose

Special to The Telegram.

WACO, Texas, Oct. 11.—Deputy United States Marshal Cliff Fortney returned yesterday afternoon from Glen Rose, in Somervell county, and brought with him Amos Robinson and H. Lewandowski, two well known white men, charged with breaking into and robbing the postoffice there last November. Detectives have been secretly working on the matter some time. United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick set the examining trial for Oct. 18 and fixed bonds of the men at $200 each. They went to jail. The parties arrested are said to be rather prominent in Glen Rose and the arrest caused surprise to many.

McLEAN BUYS INTEREST

Cincinnati Man Purchases Half of Washington Post Stock

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—John R. McLean, owner of the Cincinnati Inquirer, has purchased from the Wilkins estate an even half interest in the Washington Post company. The amount of the purchase money is not stated, but it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $600,000.

Mr. McLean will take an active part in the management of the paper.

New York Life Insurance Company's President Facing Attorney Hughes

George W. Perkins, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is facing the charges of Thomas A. Buckner, attorney at law, in a lawsuit over the company's financial statements.

REFORMER'S HUSBAND WILLS AWAY HIS BODY

George William Catt, Prominent Engineer, Makes Unusual Bequest to Science

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In accordance with the provisions of his wish the body of George William Catt, husband of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, ex-president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, will be dissected for the advancement of medical and surgical knowledge.

Mr. Catt died on Sunday at his home, No. 205 West Fifty-Seventh street, following an operation for gall stones and a special permit was issued by the health department and the body taken to Cornell University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College yesterday afternoon after the funeral at his home. Various portions of the human body have been willed to medical schools from time to time, and it has not been unusual for men of science to will their bodies to such institutions, but this is the first time in the annals of doctors in this city that a man of good position and generally normal condition of health has given his entire body for the advancement of medical knowledge.

The study of Mr. Catt's body is expected to be of unusual benefit, because, except for the disease from which he died, it was in all respects normal and healthy. This disposition of the body was directed by section 6 of his will, which read:

"It is my wish that my body be given to a medical college in which anatomy and surgery are taught, nearest to the place of my demise, to be used in such manner as will be most to the advantage of medical and surgical knowledge."

Mr. Catt, who was a civil engineer of national repute, and a member of various scientific societies here and abroad, died in his will in 1897. After discussing the matter with his wife and frequently expressing his regret that medical colleges seldom had an opportunity to dissect the body of a healthy, intelligent man, he gained her consent to bequeath his body to science.

Worked in Texas

Mr. Catt was born in Davenport, Iowa, in 1840 and he was graduated in civil engineering from the Iowa State College in 1862. In 1863 he organized and became president of the New York Dredging Company, which engaged in various harbor improvements for the United States government for private parties along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, including a seven mile ship canal at Sabine Pass, Texas. He organized later the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company, an association of engineers and contractors, of which he was president. The company has a $3,000,000 contract for harbor work in the Philippines and $2,000,000 worth of coast work.

Mr. Catt married Miss Carrie Lane Chapman of Seattle in 1880. They have no children.

PRESIDENT TO MAKE FOOTBALL GENTLER

Roosevelt's Suggestions for Less Brutality in Sport to Be Sent College Athletic Associations

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Circulars will, according to the Herald, be sent in a few days to the collegiate athletic world from the football experts who last Monday met President Roosevelt, in which it was suggested that all brutality be eliminated from the American game.

Contests which are scheduled for this season will be played in accordance with the prevailing rules. At the annual meeting of the football association on to be held later in the winter at Philadelphia, however, it is expected that the changes which have been spoken of with such force by the President will be thoroughly considered.

Of the three best-known of the experts who attended the White House conference, Professor William B. A. Harvard and Professor E. H. Princeton are of the opinion that the game can be so modified that there will be less brutality.

Walter Camp of Yale declared last night that with the present rules the fierceness of the sport could not be abolished.

John Owsley, coach of the Yale eleven, said the suggestions made by the President have no effect in modifying the game this year, but intimated that there might be changes in the rules next year.

Mr. Camp said that he would make a statement as soon as the President released him from the pledge of temporary secrecy which had been made.

MILWAUKEE RAILROAD TO BUILD TO COAST

Authoritative Announcement Made Following Purchase of Terminals at Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 11.—Charles P. Pfiffer, townsite agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, announced authoritatively yesterday that the Milwaukee road is to build to the coast. He said details were useless in view of the publicity given the purchase. Monday of ten Tacoma says Mr. Pfiffer, include docks larger than any here at the present time. Mr. Pfiffer leaves today for Chicago for a conference with A. K. Darling, president of the Milwaukee and St. Paul, who has just returned from Europe.

PLATT FILES ANSWER

More Information Asked in Suit of Miss Mae Wood

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 11.—T. J. Mahoney, senator United States Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, and for the United States Express Company, defendants in a civil suit recently brought by Mae C. Wood for $25,000, which she alleges to be due her for services rendered, has filed answer to the petition.

The answer is made as a motion that Miss Wood be required to give more detailed information as to the services she rendered to the company. E. P. Fitzwilliams, local manager of the company, took the stand and testified that Senator Platt owned none of the express company's property in Omaha. This was in reply to a petition for garnishment asked for against the senator. The motion prays that Miss Wood be required to explain in detail how she secured information from the postoffice department and how she secured a modification of Postmaster General Payne's annual report with regard to the establishment of a postal check system, thus saving the express company hundreds of thousands of dollars, as she alleges.

INSURANCE PRESIDENT RETURNS TO THE U. S.

J. R. Hageman of Metropolitan Life Company Says He Did Not Avoid Inquiry

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 11.—J. R. Hageman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, and who arrived from Japan last night by the steamer Empress of Japan, and Mr. Hageman said he would go direct to New York to give evidence before the legislative committee investigating into the affairs of the insurance companies. He said the stories circulated he had gone to Japan to escape the hearing before the committee were totally untrue.

REVOLUTIONIST HAS BAFFLED AUTHORITIES

Leader of Chinese Revolutionary Party Blamed with Instigation of Peking Bomb Horror

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 11.—According to advices received by the steamer Empress of Japan, the bomb outrage at the Peking railway station, which involved the death of the bomb thrower and others, is alleged to have been instigated by Dr. Sun Yatzen, ring leader of the revolutionary party in China.

The Japanese Advertiser of Yokohama says Sun Yatzen, who is in Japan, has sent over thirty assassins to Peking since August.

Following the outrage the Chinese government telegraphed to the Chinese minister at Tokio, asking the Japanese government to apprehend Sun Yatzen, who escaped from prison in China and escaped from the Chinese legation in London when arrested there.

GEORGE MORTON QUILTS

Resigns as General Passenger Agent of Road

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 11.—George Morton resigned yesterday as general passenger and ticket agent of the Katy railroad. He was succeeded by W. S. St. George, general eastern agent, who takes charge at once. C. C. Hopper, who has been Mr. St. George's assistant, will take charge of the New York office.

Mr. Morton's resignation has been predicted by many because of the unpleasant notoriety he gained through his connection with Mrs. Mary Lillian Sprague, Morton's wife, who was arrested last spring and the charges in the bill were highly sensational.

Three weeks ago they again came into the light. On this occasion Mrs. Sprague fired two shots at Morton in the rear of his home when he returned from an automobile ride. Morton refused to prosecute and Mrs. Sprague was hauled into police court. Afterward the chief attorney charged Morton call at his office and a warrant was issued for Mrs. Sprague's arrest. The case is now pending in the courts.

SUSPEND BOYCOTT

Chinese Merchants Await Action of United States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—News that the merchants of China who have been prosecuting the boycott against American goods have decided to temporarily suspend that movement to await possible action of the United States congress in softening the exclusion laws, is contained in official dispatches received today from Peking.

The information comes from the Merchants' Guild of that place and it is to the effect that their course has been decided on by the merchants throughout the empire. The action follows the advice of the Chinese government in the matter.

Should congress fail to take the desired action, the boycott will again become effective and will be pressed with renewed vigor.

HUGHES DECLINES TO RUN FOR MAYOR

Insurance Investigator Says He Cannot Accept Nomination of New York Republicans

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee, has declined the republican nomination for mayor of New York city.

In stating his grounds for refusing the nomination, Mr. Hughes said:

"In this dilemma I have simply to do my duty as I see it. In my judgment I have no right to accept the nomination. A paramount public duty forbids it."

"It is not necessary to enlarge upon the importance of the insurance investigation. This is undisputed. It is dealing with questions vital to the interests of millions of our fellow-citizens through the land. I place opportunity for public service second to none. This work commands all my energies. It is imperative that I continue in it."

"The non-political character of the investigation and its freedom from bias either of fear or favor, not only must exist, but must be recognized."

"Were I with the best of intentions to accept the nomination, it is my conviction that the work of the investigation would be largely discarded; its motives would be questioned; such a condition would be intolerable. There is but one course open. The legislative must proceed with convincing distinctness. It is great opportunity must not be imperiled by anything the support to which it is entitled or by giving the slightest occasion for questioning the sincerity and single-mindedness with which it is conducted."

COOL WEATHER AND FROST HERE

Slight Covering Reported in North Fort Worth—Fair Weather Forecast

Frost was unofficially reported this morning in Marine and other portions of North Fort Worth. No traces were visible on the south side of the river, however. General cool weather struck this city shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday night and the cars loaded with spectators from the Lyceum and Greenwald performances were noted to be experiencing the weather with more or less uncomfortable feelings, expressions of which were to be heard on all sides.

The temperature at the local weather office was reported as falling from 42 to 68 degrees, and the wind had a velocity of six miles an hour this morning.

General average of temperature for Texas, as reported from the central station at Galveston, ranged from 48 to 76 degrees, there being slight traces of rainfall at a few places over the state.

The maximum wind velocity at Galveston was 32 miles an hour and 28 miles eastward to the Ohio, causing killing frost in Northern Kansas, Minnesota and in both North and South Dakota. Light frost occurred in Southern Kansas, Western Missouri, Indian Territory, Nebraska, Illinois, Tennessee and Kansas.

"The barometric depression, centered over Buffalo this morning, is causing rain fall in portions of Pennsylvania, New York and Virginia."

"The weather may be expected in this vicinity tonight and Thursday, with temperatures slowly rising Thursday."

Forecast until 7 p. m. Thursday for Fort Worth and vicinity, issued at New Orleans, Wednesday, Oct. 11:

East Texas (north)—Tonight, fair; colder in east portion; frost in exposed localities, Thursday, fair; slowly rising temperature.

East Texas (south)—Tonight and Thursday, fair; warmer Thursday in west portion and on west coast.

Feb. 5, last. The police believe she had been dead since Saturday midnight. Beside the body was a basket of provisions she had got at the market for the Sunday dinner.
Mrs. Kirkpatrick had gone to visit her mother Saturday evening and had left her 1-year-old baby there while she went to market. She was returning and was on her way to her mother's for the little one when the assassin met her on the street. They were seen talking together at a street corner and later walking in the direction of the scene of the crime shortly after 11 o'clock.
The police claim that witnesses who saw them declare that Mrs. Kirkpatrick's companion was talking very earnestly to her and that she heard her exclaim, "No, no," very emphatically, as though resenting a proposal.
What happened when a dark and secluded portion of the street was reached, none know. There were only the marks on the body, the broken teeth, bruises

BICYCLE CHAIN CHOPS TOES
EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 11.—Carrying one of his big toes in his hand and searching in the dark tonight for the other, Johnny Bradlock, aged 10 years, was found by a policeman and taken to a doctor. The lad had been a victim of an accident while riding behind another boy on a bicycle, his foot having been entangled in the chain of the machine.

TEXAS BOY VICE PRESIDENT
BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 11.—News reached this place today that M. I. Maxson, who is at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., is elected as vice president of the freshman class.

AMUSEMENTS
I stood for nearly three hours last night to hear and see Al Wilson in Sidney Ellis' new play, "The Gypsy," at Greenwall's opera house. That I stood that long is evidence I liked it. Last time I stood to see or hear anything was a baccalaureate sermon to a graduating class from a country academy. That was because I had to. There is nothing baccalaureate about "The Gypsy," but to be honest, I enjoyed the play better than the sermon.
That I was only one of several hundred people who also stood through the play is evidence other people liked it. Such a crowd of stand-ups hasn't been at Greenwall's since Ann's Held held the boards for one night only. In the words of the political reporter, "as forecast in The Telegram Sunday," Greenwall's was not big enough to hold the Al Wilson crowd. "Fully 1,000 people turned away between 4 o'clock and the rise of the curtain" was the box office report. The inside of the house held all who could get tickets before the turning away began.
That's enough about the crowd, except that it liked the Gypsy first cordially, then approvingly, and finally enthusiastically.
Wilson was in Fort Worth last with the "Prince of Tatters," a play that was beginning to get frayed. There is nothing frayed about the Gypsy, not a frayed costume. It was written with a full understanding of Wilson's talents and abilities, and it goes with a snap and dash which quickly unlashes smiles from behind the barriers of frowns cynical of the stagegoers put along with their dress suits and white ties.
In addition to a clever play full of quick action, Wilson is fortunate this year in having an unusually good company. Thomas Hunter as General Von Landberg is a good comedian who holds up his end admirably and Miss Lillian Rhoads is a pleasing Rosie.
And the songs! The play is full of them. Chorus might object because none are long drawn out, but all are clever and useful and some delightfully witty. Just to please his old friends, Wilson sang some of the old-time favorites for scores.
"The Gypsy" is the best play Wilson ever had here. The wit at times fairly snaps like a whip-cracker. The action is rapid, there are no awkward walks, even for the songs to begin, the story is entertaining and the scenic effects pretty.
Wilson will be back in a return engagement Oct. 26, when some of the 1,000 who were turned away will have a chance. F. H. TUCK.

DeMotte will be in this city Oct. 19 instead of Oct. 16, as announced on the course tickets.

"AROUND THE TOWN"
A crowd of pretty girls tastefully costumed, adequate scenic environments, pretty music, is what Murray & Mack, our old favorites, promise patrons of Greenwall's opera house tonight, when they will present their latest vehicle called "Around the Town," written by Edgar Seiden, who has fashioned several very successful farce comedies. This piece has more of a plot than is generally found in the Murray & Mack farces, but the plot is not allowed to interfere in any way with the excitement.

In the last act an extremely pretty number is introduced with twelve of the girls, six dressed as Buster Brownies and six as girls. The Buster Brownies swing the girls and as the swings go higher and higher they go out over the audience. The effect at first is quite startling, especially when all the lights in the theater are turned out and the many colored globes on the swings are turned on. This number will prove a great novelty—almost as much so as the confetti number used by Murray & Mack two years ago. The confetti number is a large one, numbering thirty-five people.

"BLACK PATRI TROUBADOURS"
The Black Patri Troubadours, now in the tenth year of popularity and success, comes to Greenwall's opera house Monday matinee and night, Oct. 15, with a brand new show.

Old favorites and new features are the keynotes of this year's Black Patri show. Among the new features is the "Pinafore Review" and the "Southland Review" with Black Patri and the entire company in a very pleasing review of Gilbert Sullivan's masterpiece, and the sweet old time melodies of the south. In the "Pinafore Review" Black Patri will enact the role of Josephine. The condensed operetta will be presented with characteristic costumes and scenery. "Looney Dreamland" the very funny travesty on Coney Island's amusements, will present John Rucker, "The Alabama Blossom," Al White, John Green, Will Cook, Muriel Ringgold, Maud Yeager and Ada Robinson in congenial roles.

"AN ARISTOCRATIC TRAMP"
"An Aristocratic Tramp" is not like any other play with a tramp title. It will appeal to fathers, mothers, children, sweethearts and wives. The vaudeville acts in "An Aristocratic Tramp" are seven in number. This attraction is booked for matinee and night, Oct. 17, at Greenwall's opera house.

PACKERS DEFENDED IN NEW PAMPHLET
Phil H. Hale Traces Texas Conditions as Showing Benefits Received by Cattlemen

Old and new conditions of the beef packing industry are compared by Phil H. Hale of St. Louis in a pamphlet he has just issued. In this article is found the following which has reference to Fort Worth as a shipping point. Mr. Hale says:
"I have now come to the time when I am about to give some personal testimony as to what was going on. It was in the year 1880 when the Texas and Pacific railway terminus was at Fort Worth. The rebate system was yet forcing shipments in the hands of favored firms at Fort Worth several firms were the principal commission firms holding the rebates. Of the speculators we remember A. S. Nicholson, J. D. Beauchamp, C. T. Herring and J. B. Wilson of Texas and Hans Bros. of Chicago. There were others whom we have forgotten. Then there happened to also be a set of speculative drovers who went as far west as the Concho river to buy cattle from the

PASSENGER STATION REPAIRS COMPLETED
Removal of Scaffolding Shows Building to Be More Serviceable and Attractive Than Before Fire
Workmen have been busy making repairs on the partially destroyed Texas and Pacific passenger station for several months, but Tuesday the finishing touches were made and the unsightly rubbish and scaffolding which has been an eyesore for many months, is being taken down.
About five months ago a part of the depot was torn down by a cyclone and previous to that fire practically gutted the station, necessitating the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in repairs. Now, however, the depot is in better shape than prior to the two disasters. The roof is fireproof and the walls have been made more durable and substantial.

AUTO OWNERS MEET
Final Action to Be Taken at Meeting Thursday
A meeting of persons interested in the new automobile garage was held Tuesday night with fifty men present. Several new names were added to the list of capital stock of the company has not been quite subscribed, but will be within a couple of days.
Another meeting will be held on Thursday night when it is expected that the little outstanding stock will have been taken up and the plans of permanent organization will be made.
"How," asked the first political pirate, "will we be able to get aboard the ship of state? The reform element has gained control of the party."
"Well," said the wise old henchman, "until the next convention. Then we'll slip a little plank into the platform that'll carry us through."
"Ah!" commented the other pirate, "sort of a political gang-plank, eh?"

We Will Buy

You a Bottle of Ligozone and Give it to You to Try

We make few claims of what Ligozone will do. And no testimonials are published to show what it should learn its power by a test that is the quickest way to convince you.
So we offer to buy the first bottle and give it to you to try. Compare it with common remedies; see how much more it does. Don't cling to the old treatments habitually. Ligozone is extracting, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.
The virtues of Ligozone are derived solely from gems. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so blend and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.
Contact with Ligozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Ligozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Ligozone is extracting, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.
We purchased the American rights to Ligozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved again and again in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every case that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to au-

And the result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, just as everywhere, to tell what Ligozone has done.
But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show these sick ones—at our cost—what Ligozone can do.
These are the diseases in which Ligozone has been most successful. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny:

YALE TEAM AND SCRUBS IN HARD PRACTICE

A GOOD TRY FOR GOAL, BUT TOO FAR TO THE RIGHT.

RAPID RISING OF THE BEEF BARONS

simon-pure beef barons at all, being only lawyers and other high-grade employes. Several of the real beef barons are not included. The real, big beef barons among the indicted men are all Armour, Morrises, Swifts and Cudahys. With the exception of J. Ogden Armour, the head of each of these houses began life either as a butcher or a drover.

J. Ogden Armour's name has almost invariably been printed first in the list of the indicted beef barons, so called. But the idea which made the combination known as the beef trust a possibility was not the product of an Armour brain. It was the outcome of a lot of hard thought on the part of one of the Swifts-Gustavus, the elder brother, now dead.

keeping his ears open to the remarks of both buyers and sellers. At one time he came to be one of the best judges of cattle, horse and sheep in all the yards. When he began to buy and sell he operated with rare judgment and was soon in line to a beef baron.

He made up his mind in the mid-seventies that the introduction of the refrigerator car, then newly invented by a man named Tiffany, who has already been almost forgotten, would revolutionize the meat business of the world, and it has. Until then a "packing house" was an establishment for the smoking and salting of meat almost exclusively. No one then thought it possible to ship fresh meat to the ends of the earth as it is now done.

It was quite possible to build up a big business in corned beef, dried beef and salt side pork, and smoked ham, shoulders and bacon, and to make fairly "good money" out of it. It was not until the late sixties that the idea of a multi-millionaire of the modern type until after the turn of the century had been developed.

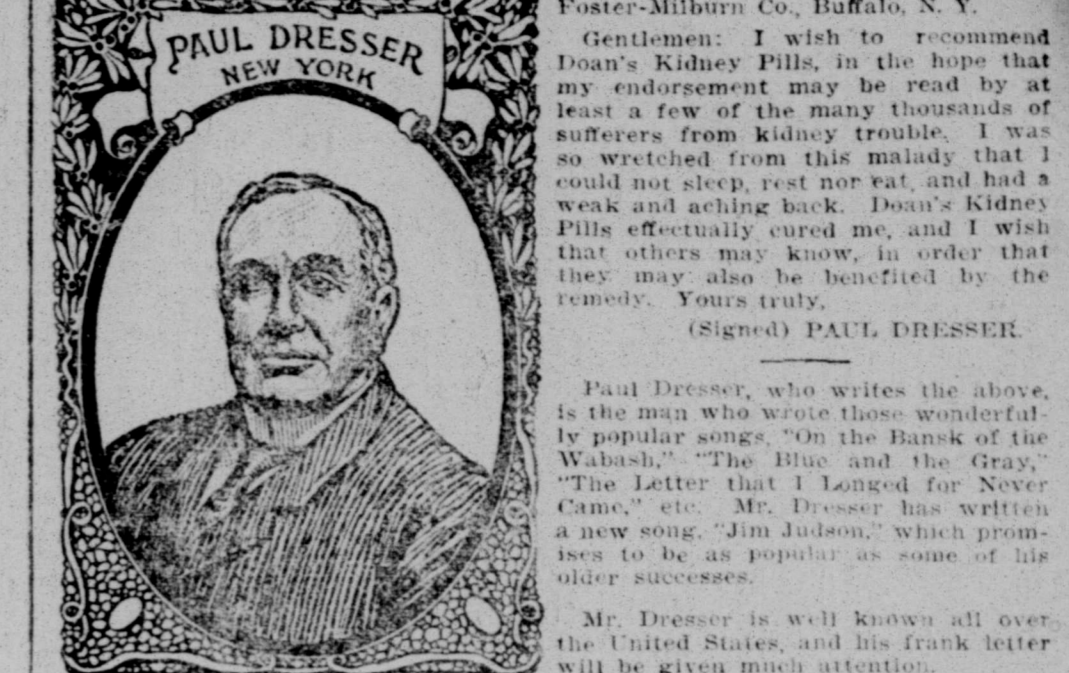

The original Swifts, Gustavus and E. C., of whom the latter survives, were Cape Codders. They lived at Sandwich, not far from the shores of Buzzard's Bay, and their names were known to the public long before they had been made famous by Joseph Jefferson and Grover Cleveland. Gustavus used to be a cattle drover, driving between Provincetown and Boston. When E. C. was only a boy he went to Chicago, where he met the captain, who had been made famous by Joseph Jefferson and Grover Cleveland. GREAT SONG WRITER PAUL DRESSER, CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

When the kidneys are well they filter out of the blood every day from three to four pounds of watery waste (urine). You can soon tell when the kidneys are sick, for if this work is not properly done, the impurities will cause urinary disorders, pain in the back and loins, dizzy spells; every change in the weather will affect you, making you feel miserable, weak, nervous and rheumatic.

Doan's Kidney Pills assist the kidneys in filtering out the poisonous waste by reviving their activity and restoring a natural action to the clogging organisms. The treatment makes you stronger and better in every way, so that you are less likely to take colds and chills. This remedy has done a great work in this city.

WHITSITT TO MAKE A MORAL CAMPAIGN

The acceptance of Dr. L. M. Whitsitt to become a candidate for alderman from the fifth ward is announced and the letter to the Fifth Ward City League made public.

The letter of acceptance outlines the following platform: "First—Uttermost economy by officials who fill the official positions in the city. "Second—Shaping city affairs to one common end by absolute economy and prevention of all appropriations for any purpose except that which is an absolute necessity in order that the city may accumulate money for the sole purpose of grading, graveling, sidewalks, water, sewerage, lights, etc.

"Third—Change in administration of the Fort Worth public school system. "Fourth—For the holders of franchises to pay liberally for same. "Fifth—Municipal ownership, if it will pay. In conclusion he makes two special requests to be followed during the canvass: "Be upright, honest and God-fearing in your efforts. "Don't spend one cent of the other toward my election, only so far as it is necessary in order that my name shall appear on the list of candidates, as the law requires. "Don't make any effort, one way or another, to induce anyone to vote for your candidate, but merely place the matter before them."

LEGISLATIVE RESPONSIBILITY. In commenting on the existing deficit of $1,000,000 in the state treasury, which has been steadily growing larger all the time, the McKinney Gazette says:

The first act of the last legislature was an appropriation of $120,000 to pay mileage and per diem of its members. The second act was an appropriation of $20,000 to pay contingent expenses of said legislature, notwithstanding the fact that it was unlawful for them to draw mileage when they rode on free passes, but if there is any member who did not accept those free passes...

The people may wake up some of these days and send men down there who will serve their people and country instead of sending a man who wants his people and his country to serve him.

This is not intended as any reflection upon any honest and patriotic member of the legislature, but those whom the state of Texas cannot pay her debts promptly.

The members of the state legislature have never yet failed to look out for their own interests, regardless of the fact that the state was not getting justice.

The last legislature that assembled at the Capital City was no exception to the general rule, as has been so tragically depicted by our esteemed McKinney contemporary.

Notwithstanding the fact that the treasury deficit existed and was steadily growing larger, the honorable body proceeded very leisurely to practically do nothing during the first session and compelled the governor to call the second session at great additional expense to the state.

There are a whole lot of people in Texas who censure the legislature for its action in this particular. It is contended that a lively appreciation should have been shown for existing conditions, remedial legislation should have been the first thing considered, and the body should have made haste to finish up its work and go home.

Instead of pursuing this policy, however, the other extreme was resorted to, and the state compelled to spend an extra session, after having paid these men for the work they did not accomplish.

These are the things that have inspired the people of Texas with the desire to call out the very best legislative material the state contains in the impending election.

The memory of the last state legislature is all that is necessary to bring the people of Texas to a realization of the fact that there must be a change of method and a change of men if the state is to have the kind of legislature it needs in its business.

The idea that any kind of material is good enough for the legislature has been exploded and the people have awakened to the fact that they have been committing gross error for years.

This error they have found can be very easily corrected, and it will be corrected by sending the brain and wisdom of Texas to the next legislature.

Half of the men who go to the state legislature under the existing state of affairs have no knowledge of what they are doing for. They seek the office from the fact that it gives them prominence, and is something of an unpaid honor.

Just how any man can imagine it an honor to have been a member of the last state legislature, however, is one of the things that cannot be easily comprehended. The work accomplished by that body must ever stand to its discredit.

The movement made in many portions of Texas to call out the best legislative material should be persisted in until it has extended to every legislative district. It is only in this manner that the proper kind of material can be obtained.

Call out the best and discourage the other kind. The exigencies of the situation demand heroic action.

WOULD LEGALIZE LYNCHINGS. George W. Knight of San Marcos has addressed a communication to the governor of the state in which he advocates legalized lynchings. In that communication he says:

"That no sort of protection or trial or legal inquiry will be attempted in case a negro assaults or attempts to assault a white woman, but that in every case death shall be sure as fate awaits all such. That the negroes must help to ferret out all such offenders and deliver them up. That for all other offenses we, the white men, will guarantee to the negro a fair legal trial with the state furnishing the means secured to white men for like offenses."

Governor Lanham in his reply to this very remarkable document says: "I have received and carefully read your letter of the 1st instant. I appreciate the awful nature of the crimes that have been committed by negroes against white women, and my whole soul revolts at the atrocity of such terrible outrages. I would readily do anything in my power to prevent their recurrence. I understand the feeling of resentment and indignation which, locally arises upon the perpetration of such crimes."

You suggest that "no sort of protection or trial or legal inquiry should be attempted in case a negro assaults or attempts to assault a white woman, but that in such case death shall be sure as fate should await all such."

I beg to invite your attention to the oath required of the governor and other officers of the state. They must support the constitution and uphold the laws. The constitution demands that "in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury etc." (See section 10, article 1, constitution.) "The governor shall cause the laws to be faithfully executed." (Section 10, article 4, constitution.)

The horrible crimes to which you refer deserve speedy and severe punishment, and no good man can contemplate them without having aroused within him the utmost exasperation and sense of revenge; for we must observe the plain requirements of the law and constitution which we are obliged to maintain, and cannot surrender the functions of the courts and juries to the unbridled and arbitrary action of lynch mobs and the desperation of the mob."

I sympathize with the depths of my heart with the victims who have suffered at the hands of brutes in human form, and for the grief and distortion of the relatives and friends of such victims I make all proper allowance; but as a public official, bound by a due sense of conscientious obligation, I must uphold the statutes of the land and discourage lawlessness in any form.

And that is exactly the kind of language the people of Texas have a right to expect from the man they have honored with the position of chief executive of this great state. The crime for which negroes are so often lynched in Texas is a most heinous one, and repulsive to every citizen of the state. But Texas is not prepared to go back to the customs that prevailed during the Dark Ages and legalize a form of punishment that is just as heinous and repulsive as the crime it seeks to expiate.

As long as these crimes are committed white blood will boil beyond the point of control and the penalty will be exacted, but the great state of Texas cannot legalize such action, and the man who is sworn to uphold the constitution and laws of this state cannot become a party to the act.

Two wrongs never constitute a right. We have laws in Texas for the punishment of every form and degree of crime, and in such cases there should be as speedy trial and quick administration of justice as possible. The law is supreme, and the majesty of the law must be respected and upheld by every conscientious citizen. When we take the summary enforcement of the law into our own hands, then in the eyes of the law we are criminals, just the same as the victim upon whom we have executed our vengeance.

The editor of a paper is always glad to know that his work is being appreciated, and there are some readers of The Telegram who are not disposed to wait until after death to place a garland of appreciation upon the brow of the Telegram. Among the kindly expressions that have reached the paper recently is the following from a prominent citizen of this city: "Your Sunday Lay Sermons are certainly excellent and very commendatory. I never fail to read them and profit thereby, and I feel grateful to the writer and the Telegram. I also enjoy the corner of your paper devoted to poems. They are usually excellent and must be selected by one who knows. Best wishes for The Telegram."

Today is circus day, and every circus is usually attended by gentlemen who cover things movable that come within the scope of their vision. It would be a good idea to nail all those things to the floor until you know these people are safely out of town.

Fort Worth is buying cotton right along these days, and there is no complaint concerning the prices realized. Fort Worth can be made a cotton market so easily that it is surprising the opportunity has been so long neglected.

The city council of North Fort Worth has unanimously adopted the new ordinance that provides for separation of the races in street cars, and this action completes the work necessary to bring about the desired result.

Readers of The Sunday Telegram were greatly pleased with the quality of the paper yesterday, and incidentally it may be mentioned that The Telegram never disappointed its friends.

Of course, you will see the next Sunday Telegram, and in it you will find the very cream of the latest news, together with many special articles of timely and absorbing interest.

As a cotton market Fort Worth is coming to the front right along, and the day is not far distant when the Fort Worth cotton market will be one of the biggest things in North Texas.

Just this morning, the first of the season, is a gentle reminder that winter is close at hand. The coal man has already resumed business at the old stand.

THUMBS DOWN!

TRUMP THAT WASN'T TURNED

But the Passengers Never Missed the Game, in the Light of the Traveler's Story. (Copyright, 1895, by the Short Story Publishing Co.)

The ferryboat Rappahannock had an experience in the winter of 1873 that will never be forgotten by any of her passengers.

The Rappahannock left Brooklyn well laden with passengers and started on her customary trip almost directly across the river—a very short and unusually easy voyage. Before even reaching the middle of the stream, however, the ice and fog had thrown her completely out of her course.

When, after long and perilous battling with the ice jams and many hair-breadth escapes from collisions, the pilot suddenly sighted the landing occupied by a sister boat, which had been driven there to avoid destruction.

He backed out, only to be lost again, and for three hours this boat, now become a mere tramp, wandered aimlessly up and down the East river with its load of excited passengers.

Between extremes of impatience and excitement was a small proportion of passengers who remained calm. Among these was a group of men in the cabin who, after having read and re-read the morning papers, were casting about for some other method of killing time.

One suggested a game of cards. "Cards?" laughed one of his companions in misgiving. "Which carry cards on a ferryboat?"

"Here is a euchre deck which is at your service," the speaker, evidently a globe-trotter, drew from under the bench a traveling bag, much worn and embellished by tags, labels and hieroglyphics. From this he produced a pack of cards and tendered it to the man who had suggested a game. In a moment four were sitting for deal.

The cards were distributed rapidly, and the dealer was about to turn the trump when a loud shriek pierced the air and a woman opposite suddenly sank fainting to the floor.

"Don't be alarmed; it is nothing serious," said the dealer, calmly. "The lady simply caught sight of her own frightened face in the mirror, and the shock caused her to faint. It reminds me of a thrilling experience an American traveler had while bumping through Syria. But pardon me, the game."

Once more he made a movement to turn the trump, when one of the party exclaimed: "There can't be a better time or place than this for telling a thrilling experience."

"Yes," said another. "Let's have the story before we begin the game."

The stranger leaned back, passed the cigar case, and, having lighted a weed himself, began: "It is an unparliamentary law among the wild Bedouins east of the Red Sea that if an infidel traveler is attended on his journey by one of the faithful he is safe from the attacks of Mohammedan robbers. But let that same traveler become separated from the Arab guard that he has bribed to give him safe conduct through his own bandit-infested country, and he becomes legitimate prey."

The party in which this American was traveling had been entering Syria from the south. On the afternoon of a resting day some one suggested a jaunt to a famous old well, where it was said were some very ancient tumuli. But, knowing the Bedouins to be ever-scientious liars, and sick of unrewarded chase for phantom treasures, the American begged to be left behind in charge of two tents, and was pitched, ed side by side on the bank of the stream.

"This was at last agreed upon, the whole party except himself going off on their three days' trip, leaving their camp stretched at full length on a rug, his marchlight, or water pipe, lighted for company.

"This oriental atmosphere, gentlemen, is a powerful drug. The man succumbed to its influences and went fast asleep. "Out of this sweet, trance-like repose he suddenly bounded into the horrible consciousness of a torturing pain in one of his hands, as though some wild beast were crunching the bones. But, as he writhed to his knees to grapple with the foe he saw instead three swartly, evil-faced Bedouins hovering over him with shaggy glees. One had just cut off, with a hideous dirk knife, the first three fingers of his left hand. In an instant it flashed upon him that these were to be sent to his friends with a demand for ransom. He was nervous in this supposition, for he had had the bleeding hand been rudely bandaged than two of his captors set out upon this mission, leaving him in care of the third, who was heavily armed."

"No one knew better than the prisoner how impossible such a ransom would be. His fellow-travelers had brought as little money as Syria is wont to meet their actual necessities while there. He therefore, in despair, cast desperately about in his mind for a loophole of escape before the fellows should return with these unsatisfactory terms. He had just thought of one, no doubt, in further mutilation of his hand. "As his gaze swept the tent for something suggesting a plan for deliverance, he saw it had been gutted of everything except two articles—his light silk coat, which hung upon the partition between the two tents, and the tourist's shaving mirror which it concealed. The coat had been overlooked because it was as grimy as the tent wall itself."

"He called loudly on a supposed protector in the adjoining tent to come to the 'window,' and prove to his captor that he was under protection of a Moslem. As he spoke he slowly drew the coat from the mirror in front of which the sheik was standing.

"No words can express the unutterable consternation pictured upon that bleary face. Heid with feigned wonder, as for the first time it saw its own awful reflection, not knowing it was his own. One instant he stood wheeling it, fascinated, horrified, over his head; the next he had seized the American quickly possessed himself of his captor's arms and was master of the situation.

"And now, gentlemen," concluded the story teller, "we will have our scene." As he spoke he again reached forward to turn the trump. There was a quick drawn breath of horror from the group who observed him, for the first three fingers of his left hand were missing.

Before he could turn the card, a savage lurch of the boat, accompanied by the cracking of timbers, announced the arrival of the Rappahannock at her New York slip—and the trump was never turned.

Verses That Ring

I SHOULD BE SATISFIED. I should be satisfied in love to evermore abide, If thro' each turn of time and tide, If thro' night and day, thro' month and year, Thro' tempest's frown, and sunlight's cheer, If there were one who loved me true, Whose love would last my whole life through— I should be satisfied.

I should be satisfied. I should be satisfied to hear of life's poor, petty care; Even death's shadow drew around it, To drink of sorrow's cup, both deep and long, And bitter tears to weep, If, when the snow, sad years were through, One heart were still unchanged and true— I should be satisfied.

I should be satisfied. I should be satisfied if life, with all its dread and doubt— Its sometimes dreams—were blotted out, If when Death's shadow drew around it, Close by me, one great Love were found; Could he then come, for whom I pray, For whom my soul has longed away— Then—I should be satisfied. POINTED PARAGRAPHS. Give a woman a chance to show off and she will make good. Some men make friends and some others make them tired. Pride holds a few people up and throws a good many down. No Alonzo, a man of grit doesn't necessarily have a sandy complexion. Speaking of unnatural mothers, what's the matter with the incubator? Many a woman leads a dog's life—by adding the other end of the string.

A man who insists on having every thing his own way will have trouble thrust upon him. Enjoy life today. The joys of yesterday are past and those due tomorrow may fail to arrive. When a man presents a woman with an engagement ring it is equivalent to a declaration of war. It takes the state legislature to change a man's name, but any justice of the peace can change a woman's.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY. Women's curiosity has been doing a continuous performance ever since Mother Eve took a bite of that little apple. An Aitchison woman, who visits a good deal, says she hates to go places where she is made one of the family. She wants to be company. If a fortune teller tells a girl that she will marry a rich man, the girl is convinced that the fortune teller told her all about her past.

Somehow it is shocking to know a great big man who is lazy and worthless. Laziness and worthlessness are not so bad in a little man. There is a certain tall, slender girl in Aitchison we greatly admire. Instead of talking forever about the boys, she talks about her mother. How she admires her mother! But dresses, and powder, and lace, and false hair, on a man, and he will look well, too. At a late minstrel show, the female impersonator looked like a handsome girl.

In speaking of another woman, last night, an Aitchison woman said: "She knows more about her neighbor's duties than she does of her own." That is what is the matter with most of us. "I seen," grumbled the father of an Aitchison princess, "to have put a telephone in that my wife might get the groceries without inspection, and my daughter might get a lover the same way." The world smiles when it reads the high sounding titles of men who achieve glory at the grand lodge, but it is a serious matter with the brethren; they attend the grand lodge in dead earnest, and really believe they accomplish great good.

We hate a man, who, when we are introduced to him, inquires: "What's the name?" When you are introduced to a man, what difference does it make whether you understand his name or not? AD FOR VETERANS TO BE DISCUSSED

Taylor McRae to Bring Matter Up at Sunday Meeting of Lee Camp U. C. V. Taylor McRae, adjutant of the Fifth brigade, United Confederate Veterans, has notified Lee camp that he will address them next Sunday on several questions of importance to the camps of the division, one especially being that of assistance for indigent members. Mr. McRae said today that there is a decided movement over the state to provide means for those members who are actually in need of aid. This assistance, he said, is not to be confined to the veterans exclusively, but will be given to the wives of veterans. Another matter that will be discussed by him at Sunday's meeting is that of providing the brigade commander, Captain B. P. Padlock, with a complete roster of every camp in the division. This far, says Mr. McRae, reports have been received from eighty-four camps in the brigade entitled to membership, twenty-six of which have been stricken from the state division, but are yet members of the division. These reports have been coming in pretty slowly, but Mr. McRae says he intends to keep up the work and hopes that he will soon complete the work. This is the first time that an effort has been made to complete a roster of the Fifth brigade.

ATHLETICS REVENGED ON NEW YORK GIANTS

Second Game of Post Season Series Goes to Philadelphia by Score of 3 to 0

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—When two well-trained ball teams are pitted against each other with the points covered by men of acknowledged cleverness, there is always doubt as to the outcome until the game is completed. The truth of this was proven yesterday when in the second game of the world's championship series the Philadelphia champions of the American League defeated the National League champions on the polo grounds. Tuesday on the Philadelphia grounds McGraw's men defeated Manager Mack's team by a score of 3 to 0, and yesterday when the latter visited this city, they just reversed the score, shutting out the locals. The visitors put in their Indian pitcher, Bender, with Schreyer to handle him against McGraw and Brannaman. The visiting battery was excellently supported, as was the local end, for two innings, but the third inning Gilbert made a costly error, which gave the visitors a lead which they never relinquished. McGraw's men were defeated in the latter half of the eighth inning. Strong batting in his stead, and Ames going into the box. The change did not prove effective, however.

The Philadelphia men went back to their home last night and the New York team is at Philadelphia today to decide the third contest in the series. A crowd estimated at 15,000 persons gathered at the gates of the Polo grounds an hour before the game was called. The police formed the throng into three lines before the ticket booths and there was no disorder. The line extended many blocks down Eighth avenue. Admission to the local team bet 8 to 5 on New York beating the Americans, and there was not much American money in sight at these odds.

Both teams reached the grounds at 1:40 o'clock. By 2:15 o'clock the grandstand in the double-decked grandstand and the bleachers were occupied with a cheering throng of men and women who overflowed into the fields. Ground rules which were established on this account at Philadelphia had to be adopted here today. It was evident that 25,000 people were present half an hour before the game. One minute after three o'clock O'Day and Sheridan, called the captains together at the home plate. Rube Waddell went to the coaching line behind first base and was given an ovation. The full score as follows:

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

OLD TIME COWMAN PAULS VALLEY, T. T., Oct. 11.—"Old Zack Addington," of Addington, down in the Chickasaw nation, dropped into Pauls Valley the other day and the old time cattlemen held a pow-wow at Jim Hybarger's real estate office and it was like writing a history of old times. Jim Hybarger used to be in the cattle business until he got mixed up so much in the land business and building railroads that he had to stop riding round looking after stray steers and take to riding round and looking after stray land buyers and vanishing tenants on his places up and down the Washita and Wild Horse creeks. When Zack Addington rode into town and saw Jim Hybarger's real perforate sign he resisted his impulse to perforate it with a free and easy trigger. He pulled on his side arm and down off his saddle and drifted into Jim's office with the result as stated, of starting a pow-wow that gathered a regular roundup of old timers in town.

Case With Small Ranch of 43,000 Cattle "Old Zack Addington," as he is called all over the southwest territory, came to the territory from Texas in 1857 with a little bunch of 43,000 head of cattle and located near Burneyville, "with," as he is wont to say, "Bob Love and his niggers." Later along about '66 he put in the first land lease of 1,000 acres known as the "B" ranch on the Mud creek, and worked up a string of something like 30,000 head of cattle. He prospered in those early days until he became the largest cattle owner in the territory and felt that he was really making money.

"We used to throw crack-aloo for $20 gold pieces in those days," said Addington, with a sly wink, "and shoot slickers just to while away time waiting for the camp cook to make gravy." "Shooting slickers," by the way, for the benefit of the modern generation was filling a tin full of nickles, quarters or dollars as the case might be, and throwing them in the air. Instead of heads and tails it was heads or tails, "heads" being the reverse side of the coin.

"The man who guessed 'reverses' got the pot if the most sleek sided came up, or lost if heads came up in the majority," he said.

"These days of town building and farming are all right," declared Old Zack pensively, "and shows a fellow that the cattle business and the cattlemen is not the only pay on the prairie, but it makes a feller feel what I read in a poem called 'Sweet Pain,' when he gets to talking over the old days and thinking about 'em."

AFTER TEXAS CALVES

Messrs. Eugene D. Lawrence, C. Lyle, W. and Isaac G. Funk, Bloomington, Ill., have just completed a tour of the S. M. S. ranches, Stamford, Texas, and have booked 500 S. M. S. calves for delivery Nov. 10. The visit was made for the purpose of inspecting the S. M. S. breeding herd, and to make this investigation thorough Manager Hastings had one entire pasture of 50,000 acres rounded up, showing some 3,000 head of calves. They were divided into two groups, one of 250 cows which they did not care to have as the mother of a calf they were going to feed, and at the end of their visit they reported four head. There are some 200 cows to go out of this pasture in the usual S. M. S. fall culling and it is fair to presume that the four objectionable head will go along with 196 others, which will only go to strengthen the breeding herd of the S. M. S. herd.—Breeder's Gazette.

WANT MORE CATTLE

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 11.—Up to the present date we have applications on file to fill the entire live stock department of our fair, with the exception of some cattle. It is a little short of that line, owing to the fact that the owners of the finer herds of cattle in Texas, particularly the beef breeders, object to keeping their cattle on the grounds 15 days.

"We have known this in time we might have made some arrangements, but as these objections came in after our fair was announced, and our rules all adopted and published, we could not do otherwise," said the secretary.

"In the live stock department we have had to build three additional barns, as we have had more applications this year than we have ever had before. The same thing can be said of exhibit houses, and also public buildings."

"In our race department we have 250 box stalls, and are now building stalls for 100 additional ones. I received a telegram Saturday from Geo. Scott, Windsor, Ont., notifying us of a shipment of 100 running horses from that place alone.

"The capacity of our live stock department is as follows: Pens for 750 head of hogs, stalls for 500 head of cattle, 250 head of exhibit horses, 500 runners, and everything will be filled probably with the exception of the cattle. Yours truly, SIDNEY SMITH, Secretary."

PAVING COMPLETED

Drainage in Front of City Hall Little Improved by Work Placing of vitrified brick in Throckmorton street from Eighth to Tenth streets has been completed by the contractors, a force of men being now at work making proper connection with the Central fire hall.

As shown this morning the depression made in the paving immediately in front of city hall is not deep enough to carry the stream of water flowing from the west side of Jennings avenue to Ninth street and thence into the sewer, the water spreading over a large area of the paving.

Difficulty has been experienced in carrying the water at this place for some time, and it is probable an underground passage will have to be provided to remedy the conditions.

BUILDING PERMITS

Residence and Addition to Be Built by Residents Building permits have been issued from the office of the city engineer as follows: B. Baumgartner, two-story, eight-room dwelling, south half lot 2, block 2, Powell's subdivision of Bellevue Hill addition; $2,000.

L. B. Meadows, one-story, two-room frame addition to property on lots and 28 of block D, Wray's block of L-8, Field-Welch addition; $150.

ELKS STUDY PLANS

Work on $40,000 Building to Begin Dec. 1 A meeting of the Fort Worth Elks was held Tuesday night for the object of looking over and discussing the plans of the new building. Nothing definite was done except to carefully examine the plans and to suggest changes that seemed advisable. Plans of the new building as submitted by Sanguinet & Staats call for a two story building with a basement to cost about $40,000, and will be 80x50 feet. It is expected that the work may be started by the first of November. J. Williams, secretary, and Morris E. Berney is secretary.

It is almost impossible for a man to have as much money that his family can't spend it for him.

RHEUMATISM A NERVE-RACKING TORTURE AN AFFLICTION OFTEN INHERITED

No other disease causes such wide-spread suffering as Rheumatism. It is a nerve-racking and excruciating torture, and so thoroughly dominates the system that its victims are complete slaves to pain. It afflicts the very young as well as those of middle life and old age, showing that it is not only an acquired disease, but also a hereditary trouble.

Rheumatism is usually brought on by indigestion, Stomach troubles, weak Kidneys, torpid Liver and general sluggish condition of the system. The natural refuse matter of the body, which should be carried off by the usual avenues of nature are left in the system to sour, and form uric acid and other irritating poisons, which are absorbed into the blood. This vital stream then becomes sour and unfit for nourishing the body, and as it circulates to the different parts, the poisons and acids with which it is loaded come in contact with the muscles, nerves, tissues and bones. The sharp, biting pains commence, the nervous system breaks down from the want of rich, pure blood; the skin becomes feverish, swollen and tender, and every part of the body throbs and twitches with pain. As the disease progresses, the bones are coated with an acid substance, and chalk-like deposits collect in the joints, drying up the lubricating oils and seriously interfering with their working and movements. One may be born with a pre-disposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. With some it is manifested early in life, while others who inherit the disease feel no effects of it during younger, vigorous years, but when middle life is reached or passed, and all the vital forces begin to weaken and decline, this taint, which has lain dormant in the blood since birth, takes possession of the system and the latter years are made miserable by the tortures of Rheumatism.

The fact that the changes from warm to cold, or damp, foggy weather, or some slight exposure, increase the pains and aches of Rheumatism is not proof that it is due to outside causes. RHEUMATISM IS AN INTERNAL INFLAMMATION. The entire system is fired with the poisonous acids, and the changes in the weather are the matches which set the circulation aflame and bring on the distressing symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism has a well-laid foundation, and requires constitutional treatment. Plasters, blisters, liniments, etc., can never cure the disease; they relieve the pain and give temporary comfort to the sufferer, but do not reach the real trouble, which is rooted and grounded in the blood.

S. S. S. is the proper treatment for Rheumatism. It goes down into the blood and attacks the disease at its head, and by driving out every atom of the poison and strengthening and enriching the blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. When the blood has been freshened and purified by this great remedy, it circulates to the different parts, dissolving and carrying out the acids and irritating poisons responsible for the disease. Then the pains cease, the muscles regain their elasticity, the joints are limbered up and the pain-racked sufferer is completely restored to health. S. S. S. builds up every part of the system by its fine tonic ingredients and carries to the weak, sour blood, health-giving properties. S. S. S. reaches inherited as well as acquired cases, and completely removes the taint from the blood. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired furnished, without charge, to all who write. CHIEF RESTS EASY

Police Officers Present Maddox Fine Office Chair Following the transfer of the office of J. H. Maddox, chief of police, into the basement, an account of which appeared in The Telegram Monday afternoon, the police force yesterday presented the chief with a fine revolving office chair of latest improved pattern, together with another office chair of similar finish. The chief made a speech thanking the men for the evidence of their appreciation of his efforts to make things pleasant for all hands while trying to make the department the best regulated piece of police machinery in the state of Texas.

The new office of the chief is now elegantly fitted up and the work on the office of the city detective, which lies immediately in the rear of the anteroom of the chief's private office, is being rapidly pushed to completion. It will be ready for occupancy in the course of the next week.

DANGER AVOIDED JUST IN TIME

That is what our many satisfied customers are telling their friends. How was it avoided? That is easily explained. They acted wise and got our prices before they placed their orders, and thereby saved the danger of paying a higher price elsewhere. We claim that we can save you money, and only a look through our stock will convince you of this fact. Get our prices and terms and you will proclaim with the many others that this firm is beyond a doubt the housekeeper's true friend and will stick to you when all others fail.

We have started out to make this month our banner month and if right prices and good goods will cut any figure we will reach the high water mark before the month is past. The last thirty days have been the largest in the history of the store in sales, but still we are not satisfied. We are anxious to do more, and more than anxious to have the good people of this and adjoining cities to come and reap the benefit of our great fall sale. We will do you good. We will have you go away feeling good and saying to your many friends, "It was good to be there, for they saved me money." Now, all we ask is your inspection, and if you are not convinced, then we will gladly take off our hat to the man that can prove to you he can sell cheaper than we do.

We will call your special attention for the coming week to our great odd dresser sale. We have placed in our windows dressers from $10.00 up that can't be duplicated. They are real live bargains. We have just received a car of nothing but odd dressers and if you need one, or are going to need one during the next six months, now is the chance of a lifetime. Be sure and see this great line of dressers.

New Line Library Furniture

We call your special attention to our handsome line of Library Furniture. We have a beautiful assortment of many patterns and designs of everything that makes a library complete. We have a very handsome line of tables, in golden quarter-sawed oak, mahogany and a very swell line in weathered oak, at prices that can't be beat. Leather Couches, Leather Chairs, Writing Desk, Rockers and in fact everything to beautify a library. Don't fail to inspect our magnificent line before placing your order. We would ask that you bear in mind that we carry everything that goes to make your home from the kitchen to the parlor and can and will save you money. Don't fail to visit our store during this coming week, for we are going to have many good bargains that are too numerous to mention. "Come and see us." Remember, we are the housekeeper's friend and bear in mind that we SELL FOR CASH OR CREDIT.

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Facts About Miss Merkley's Dangerous Illness and Complete Cure

Have you ever thought why so many women or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for ten minutes?

It is because most women suffer from some derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states laws compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women. They must get the strength which this work demands or run the risk of serious diseases and the surgeon's knife.

Read about the experience of Miss Margaret Merkley, 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Dear Mrs. Finkham— Gradual loss of strength, nervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration of the womb, and advised an operation. If I wanted to get well, I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I soon found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache, headache and nervousness disappeared, and in a short time I was strong, vigorous and perfectly well. I wish every working girl who suffers would try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and strengthens the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the case of any sick woman as with Miss Merkley.

DAILY FASHION HINT

The accompanying sketch shows a suit for the small lad composed of two pieces, natty knickerbockers and deep collar. Blue serge is well adapted for a suit of this description, the broad sailor collar being trimmed with rows of narrow black soutache braid; a ray navy emblem adorns the chemise, and a soft silk tie in blue or black supplies the finishing touch. Several suits made after this fashion, of white linen for dress-up occasions and of serge in any dark shade for everyday and school wear, will keep the little lad looking well. For a medium size 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material are necessary. Pattern No. 2815, 4 sizes, from 4 to 10 years.

proceeded to argue at length on the question of state rights to sustain his position. This is argued by rate reformers of the Comer school in this state, is not in line with the idea they represent, which is for state control of rates wholly inside the state and national control of rates of an interstate character. In a word, it is pointed out that Comer is in line with the Roosevelt idea, while Morgan is not. The fight is likely to involve the two United States senators, so it is said, since the legislature will be chosen at the next election will make the selection of successors to both Senators Morgan and Pettus, as under the new constitution the legislature meets but once in four years in this state. However, there is as yet no apparent disposition to displace either Morgan or Pettus from the senate, and it seems to be pretty well agreed that they can retain their seats in that body as long as they desire to hold them.

ALABAMANS AFTER RAILROAD RATES

Regulation of Tariffs Key-note of State Campaign

TWO OUT FOR GOVERNOR

President of Railroad Commission an Active Candidate.
Hobson Out for Congress

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 10.—The campaign in Alabama has been formally inaugurated through the action of Lieutenant Governor R. M. Cunningham in making his formal announcement for the governorship and proclaiming the platform on which he will make the race. B. B. Comer, president of the state railroad commission and regarded as the leader in the fight for regulation of freight rates by the state, is expected to make the race against Dr. Cunningham, although his formal announcement has not yet been made.

rate legislation, though perhaps not to the extent that Comer is. This, it is argued, may not only line up the conservative element on Cunningham's side, but may also bring to his support the moderate reformers.

Dr. Cunningham is a practicing physician at Ensley. He is lieutenant governor, and has served in the lower house of the legislature, in the state senate, and the constitutional convention. He is an able campaigner and eloquent speaker, and is widely popular. Mr. Comer is a large planter, cotton mill owner, and one of the wealthiest citizens of the state. The regulation of freight rates, which he claims are "grossly inequitable" in Alabama, has been his hobby, and two years ago, when the question became a big political issue, he came forward as its old advocate. The railroad commission, which had always been appointed by the governor, was then made elective by the people and given wider power.

Death May Make a Vacancy

A more unique plan has been suggested. It is likely to be placed in operation. It is that of a senatorial primary, at the same time the governor and other officers are nominated, for a second choice for senator, this second choice to be elected by the legislature, or appointed by the governor, as the case may be, to fill any vacancy which may occur in the senate from the death of either of the present senators, both of whom are very old men.

Science Wins a Wonderful Victory Over Nature at Zambesi Falls in Mid-Africa

Trains Now Crossing Great Gorge on Bridge 400 Feet Above the Water

Trains are now reported crossing the gorge of the Zambesi river falls in the heart of Africa, which was first penetrated by white men fifty years ago.

The Victoria falls are about 1,600 miles from the cape, and the railroad has already pushed 130 miles to the region in which some day the line from Cairo is to be met and connected with.

Cattle Dip is Denounced as Inhuman

A prominent cattleman who has recently visited the Osage reservation, where so many Texas cattle are on pasture, was asked for an expression regarding the dipping of said cattle in Beaumont oil.

"It is incorrect to assume," he said, "that all dipped cattle suffer from the operation. There have been many thousands had dipped up there this season, and in many instances with no apparent ill effects."

"But where a preparation is thus dependent on so many favorable surroundings it certainly cannot be called a success, more especially when under different conditions it is an absolute failure causing a certain percentage of deaths and pain and suffering."

"Granting that the actual loss is not over 2 per cent even (and in some cases it has run all the way from 5 to 70 per cent), a man cannot afford to lose even 2 per cent. Take, for instance, steers costing in Texas $2.50 and $2.50 freight to the Territory pasture, add to this cost of dipping 25 cents per head pasturage for six to twelve months, interest on the investment and natural losses for the time being, and you can readily see that with existing market conditions it is no bonanza and every head a man loses counts for just that much."

Reports of Losses "To come down to actual facts, can you cite any cases of unfavorable dipping results, and the percentage of loss in such cases?" was asked.

"Well, for the last two or three months I have noticed from time to time several reports of serious losses. Among them I have in mind some from Amarillo, where in one case the owners reported a loss of 112 out of 161 head dipped, or, say, 70 per cent; another report from the same place stated that twenty-five out of eighty-seven good high-grade Short-horns which arrived in Amarillo May 6 (weather fair and warm) died and further deaths were expected. Doubtless 50 per cent loss was in curbed in this case, not to speak of injury to the survivors."

Durham cattle, and further losses expected. This was an initial loss of 40 per cent, which most likely will have reached 50 per cent before this time.

"You ask for my own personal experience. Well, I care you to the following, of which I not only have personal knowledge in a general way, but which I actually saw and counted, and, therefore, can vouch for."

"Nineteen hundred and eighty-nine head of mixed cattle dipped at Elgin, Kan., 313 died; 1,500 head steers, dipped at Elgin, Kan., 22 died; 1,440 head of steers, dipped at Elgin, Kan., 11 died; 10,000 head of steers dipped at Nelagany, Okla., 200 died; 2,700 head of steers, 500 cows, dipped at Nelagany, Okla., 104 died."

"Will the above figures represent the total loss in these cases?" was asked.

"By no means. At a conservative estimate I should say that you may safely put them down at double these figures, because many of these cattle will starve to death. I saw big steers and cows, recently dipped, that were standing with nice, young tender grass all around them that absolutely couldn't eat a bite. They were there with backs humped up and unable to move their joints, just as if they were frozen. It so happened that the weather was pleasant and nothing like the heavy, continuous rains we have had down here, or no telling what the losses would have been. Expect they would easily reach 50 per cent, maybe more."

Call Percentage Small

The advocates of oil dipping, or, more correctly speaking, those who are financially interested in these operations, frequently refer to the small percentage, six or ten per cent at all, of deaths from dipping. The cattle linger on for days and days and finally succumb to pain and starvation.

Another thing of the survivors a big percentage have their hair taken off just as smooth as if shaved. The owner of one of the dipped bunches in the list just given stated that in his herd there were at least a hundred head whose hides were as smooth as if shaved, and he said that every animal in the herd weighed 200 pounds less than before they were dipped. You can imagine the suffering these poor brutes will have to endure from swarms of flies all the summer, and what a poor show there is for them to take on flesh. Even under the most favorable condition and with a good coat of hair cattle are tormented by flies in summer time, but when their hair is all burnt off their suffering will be increased tenfold.

"Another serious feature of this dipping business which you don't hear much about is its effect on pregnant cows. Many of them abort their calves after the operation."

"With the knowledge of all these disastrous results why do the cowmen take such risks by shipping to Kansas and Territory pastures?" was asked. "Texas is the finest breeding country in the world for cattle, but not a good maturing country. For this reason a great many of our stockmen have year after year leased the fine grazing pastures in the Osage country, Kansas and Indian Territory. Of late years these pastures have been much in demand, owing to the immense acreage of former grass lands in Texas, which have been cut up and sold for agricultural purposes. A vast number of Texas cattle are being shipped every spring to these grazing groups, but since the oil dipping requirements has been made and frequent bad results reported, many cattlemen are afraid to run the risk and rather than do so have forfeited the 10 per cent lease money advanced to secure the pastures. Confirmation of this statement may be seen in the Dallas News of April 4, in a dispatch, which says:

"Warren Bennett, deputy United States marshal for Osage Indian Nation, today announces many cattlemen will cancel their contracts with the government for grazing leases in the Osage country in view of the fact that the dipping of cattle is so precarious an operation. . . . A recent order of the bureau of animal industry makes the dipping of cattle going into the Osage country compulsory."

"In view of these facts why don't the cattlemen themselves take up the matter and make themselves heard?" "Well, that's easily explained. In the first place, it's either dip the cattle or stay on altogether, so they just accept the situation and make the best of it. But the chief reason is this: Not all of the cattle shipped to these pastures are sent by men who raised them. There are hundreds of men who are operating for years in this business partly or largely on borrowed capital and reasonably profitable business. These men naturally hesitate to precipitate conditions that would render it more difficult to obtain loans, which it undoubtedly would be if the banks and commission houses realized the situation. Of course, they only advance a certain percentage, the cattlemen must stand part of it, but capital is proverbially turned, and if the true state of affairs was known as it of course, must be before much longer, it would make a serious change in the financial aspect of the question."

NORTH FORT WORTH FIXES WATER RATE

Council Adopts Schedule of Charges for New System. Separate Rates

The regular meeting of the North Fort Worth city council was held last night. A long discussion over the disposition of the work for the city scavenger occupied most of the evening. The most important act of the evening was the passing of the Jim Crow law, which was held over from last meeting.

A recommendation of the water works committee regarding the well supply was read. This report recommended that the present deep well be left as it is and that the shallow 250-foot well be extended to the 400-foot strata. After amendments were offered, one saying that the extension would not increase the volume of water and another amending the reading of the report to read to amend through the layer of sand situated about four hundred feet down, the report was adopted as originally read.

Water Rates Fixed The report of the water works committee and the ordinance submitted by the same regarding the regulation of the sale of water was read. The ordinance is similar to the Fort Worth ordinance and provides as follows regarding the sale of water: One thousand to ninety thousand gallons per month, 20 cents per 100 gallons; from 90,000 to 100,000 gallons per month, 18 cents per 100 gallons; from 100,000 to 500,000 gallons a month, 16 cents per 1,000 gallons. Minimum amounts: Residences with one water closet, minimum rent to be $1.55 per quarter and allowing the use of 1,250 gallons of water each month without extra charge; all others, minimum rate to be $2.55 per quarter and 3,000 gallons to be allowed each month. If more than 100,000 gallons of water the ordinance was deferred until the next meeting.

A proposition from Charles M. Cooper to buy five acres, more or less, of the city dumping ground was submitted to the council and was referred to the mayor, who appointed the entire council as a committee to investigate.

Union Contract Submitted

A copy of the agreement existing between the Stationary Firemen's Union and the Rosen Heights Street Car Company was sent in by the firemen and read by the secretary. The agreement was sent with a view of having the city of North Fort Worth adopt about the same in the new water works. The matter was put on the table for want of anything definite concerning the desires of the union.

An ordinance providing for the removal of carcasses of dead animals and fowls by the city scavenger-free of charge to the city was introduced by City Attorney Valentine. The ordinance requires that the scavenger alone shall remove the carcasses and provides a maximum fine of $100 for anyone else doing so. The ordinance was passed under the suspension of the rules.

Dead Animals Wanted

A resolution designating the Southwestern Mechanical Company as the place to which the carcasses should be removed was read and deferred until the next meeting. A verbal offer was made on behalf of the Southwestern Mechanical Company to receive all carcasses and garbage of the city free of charge. J. J. Holland also offered to take care of the same and give the city $100 a year for the privilege and for the use of the city dumping ground.

City Attorney Valentine then reported the Jim Crow ordinance for the street car system, which was modified after the Fort Worth ordinance, which provides that negroes shall be seated from the rear forward and whites from the front backward in street cars. Under a suspension of the rules, it was unanimously passed without discussion.

The council then adjourned.

COLONEL MESTYN RAY

ROOSEVELT TO VISIT MOTHER'S OLD HOME

THE OLD BULLOCH HOMESTEAD WHERE THE PRESIDENT'S MOTHER WAS MARRIED.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt will visit the home of his mother at Roswell, a suburb of Atlanta, this month, as he comes to this city the guest of the Atlanta Fair Association. The President's special train will be switched over a branch line to within a few miles of the old homestead, to which place carriages will be taken. Here the reception committee from Atlanta will meet him.

Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tonic Powder

Cleanses and beautifies the teeth and purifies the breath. Used by people of refinement for over a quarter of a century. Convenient for tourists.

PREPARED BY S. W. Lyon, D.D.S.

Among the 600 clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal church who visited the cathedral, were a couple of principal ministers who professed to be horrified that the faces were those of gentlemen. Mention of "lady" angels are not abundant in the Bible, these clergy-men are not, and so vehement were their protests that they finally reached the ears of the building committee, which protested to the sculptor that his angels would never, never do. Mr. Borglum insisted that the angels be made as beautiful as the angels of the Bible, and they are now to have angelic features and gentlemen's bodies.

TEXAS CROP CONDITIONS

Cotton Has Not Materially Improved. Soil Remains Too Hard for Fall Plowing.

The weekly crop bulletin, report for the week ending Oct. 9, 1906, was as follows: General Summary.—The weather during the past week was generally moderately warm, but became slightly cooler toward the end. The nights were generally moderately cool. Over much of the state no rain at all occurred, or the rainfall was very light, but during the early part of the week scattered local showers occurred, some of which were heavy. The heavier rains occurred mainly in the western part of the central portion of the state. Where the ground is well vegetated was revived considerably, though more rain is needed in those sections, but over the rest of the state vegetation is suffering greatly for rain. Cotton.—The average condition of the cotton crop has changed but little since the previous report. The crop is too far advanced to be benefited materially by rain, though in a few localities where showers fell the growth of late buds has been helped slightly. The prospects for a top crop seem less favorable than last week. Worms and boll weevils are taking it as fast as it forms. Boll weevils are becoming more numerous and in some localities the increase has been great. Stock is being turned into fields in some localities. In many northeastern counties the bolls are opening slowly. Picking was interrupted to some extent by showers, but generally the weather conditions were favorable for this work and rapid progress has been made. In many southern and central counties picking is almost completed. In the northeast this work has not been carried on since the beginning of the crop is very late. There was some damage to open cotton by rain. Rice and Sugar Cane.—These crops are generally good, though in some localities sugar cane is now in a poor condition, and rice harvesting and threshing have been carried on under generally favorable conditions. Miscellaneous.—Harvesting corn continues where the time can be spared from cotton picking. The yield ranges from poor to very good. Plowing and seeding winter grain have been carried on where sufficient rainfall occurred, but over most of the state the weather has been too dry and the soil too hard for this kind of work. In some localities grain which has been seeded fails to germinate properly on account of dry weather. Planting fall gardens has been carried on in the coast districts where there was sufficient moisture. Potatoes and sweet potatoes are suffering from dry weather. The growth of grass has been revived and the supply of stock water replenished where good showers fell in the past few days. Stock is generally in good condition, but is deteriorating in localities.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Edward P. Elliott, who appeared at city hall Tuesday night in the Fort Worth boom course, knows a joke when he sees it—and his perception is not dulled when it is one on himself. "You did not in earlier life think of doing anything but what you were told to do, did you?" Mr. Elliott was asked him after the performance. "No, I did not," answered the interpreter of modern comedies, "and in fact it was nothing more or less than a piece of good fortune that I have taken up the work I am doing as a professional. It was this way. Up to the age of 23, although I had always been prominent in amateur theatricals at home in Chicago, Ohio, I had never had the least idea of leading a professional life. At this time, however, I arranged, managed and appeared in the first theatrical performance, which Mr. James Murdoch acted in after his retirement from the stage in 1890. These performances were The Stranger and The School for Scandal. In the last named of which Mr. Murdoch played Charles Surface and I Sir Peter Teazle. "The remark which I overheard was one which Mr. Murdoch made to a friend of mine at one of the rehearsals of the latter play. Pointing to me, Mr. Murdoch remarked: 'That young man is a fool—a big fool. He ought to be on the stage.' "I digested the remark, but for personal reasons adopted the platform rather than the stage as my chosen field. "Mr. Elliott tells another of when he was entertaining in Kansas. In his audience was a little boy who sat patiently by his mother's side until the impersonator was half through his monologue. Then he evidently decided that there was a good deal more to come before the business really would commence, for he curled himself up in his mother's lap, and said in a resigned tone, 'Mother, let me know when he begins.'"

The projected extension of the Wichita Valley line has created considerable stir in that section of the state. Major Beardsley says that the Wichita Valley people had made him a proposition to turn his contracts over to them. He agreed to do this provided they would

CIRCUS ARRANGED IN RECORD TIME

Everything in Place Three and a Half Hours After the Trains Arrived. The Barnum & Bailey show arrived this morning from Weatherford, coming over the Texas and Pacific railway. It took four long trains, comprising in all eighty-seven cars to transport the big show to this city. The first section arrived at the union depot a little after 4, and immediately upon arrival the work of unloading and transferring the gigantic enterprise to the circus grounds at Prospect Park began. The first train that came in is known to the circus people as the "Flying Squadron" because of the speed with which it travels to the next town. This section carries the cook tent and horse stables, which are erected as soon as possible in order that breakfast may be prepared at once, and a protection afforded to the animals in the equine department as soon as they come in. The first wagon that is unloaded is the cook house wagon and immediately upon its being transferred from the train to the ground, a team of six horses looks on to it, and it is rushed at once to the circus lot. This is the stake and chain wagon. The cook house is then laid out and the stakes driven, the poles erected, and the canvas

DRAYAGE CONFERENCE

Cotton Belt Dispute to be Settled Here. Thursday there will be a meeting held in this city by the arbitration board of various southwestern lines for the purpose of settling the differences existing between the Cotton Belt and other lines entering this city with reference to drayage differentials of the Cotton Belt. J. H. Johnson of Oklahoma City, O. T., has been appointed by the southwestern lines and the Cotton Belt to divide the lines at intermediate junction points, especially with the Texas Valley lines at Amarillo, in both directions. The distance from Fort Worth to Amarillo is 225 miles and to Dalhart 416 miles. This change is in accordance with usual arrangements during winter seasons by the Fort Worth and Denver City company, except that heretofore the winter service has been effective only between Fort Worth and Amarillo, instead of Dalhart. In speaking of these changes General Passenger Agent A. A. Gisson said today that because of the rapidly developing country north of Amarillo the company desires to give the benefit of that section better service by extending the run. Another fact is that there is a great movement of homeseekers to the Amarillo and Dalhart countries and the change is made for the benefit of these people, who are seeking homes in that part of the Panhandle.

NEW BANK OPENED

Fort Worth Banker Director in New Abilene Institution. The new Commercial National Bank of Abilene opened its doors for business Tuesday for the first time. The bank has a capital stock of $75,000, and was organized a year over a month ago. The record of it in a year has been that of a bank for a long time and this bank was formed because of the favorable opening there. The officers of the company are as follows: William M. Lacy, president; J. M. Beckwith, vice president; J. C. Russell, cashier; and W. E. Norton, assistant cashier. John C. Harrison, cashier of the State National Bank of Fort Worth, is one of the directors of the new bank.

CAR TIES RECEIVED

Material Now Here for Arlington Heights Line. The Arlington Heights Street Car Company received a car load of ties Tuesday for the new line and work on the completion of the line will be rushed on as fast as possible. The ties have been delivered for some time, first on account of the quarantine and now because of a lack of cars for a long time and the ties are now being laid alongside of the right of way or are in the storehouse which the company has built near the Frisco tracks on the road to the Heights. More ties will be needed and are expected within a few days.

CIRCUS DAY SESSION

Corporation Court Holds Eight-Minute Reign Today

Calling of cases on docket in Fort Worth corporation court by the city secretary this morning bore a marked resemblance to that of a circus. The proceedings were a marked contrast to the usual "rise up gentlemen and swear, etc." It is a matter which the city will be called upon to decide, as soon as the circus leaves town. Several cases were passed for pleas of guilty and the remainder will be heard tomorrow morning. Court was in session eight minutes.

GROGERS PETITION REGULAR PAY DAY

Document Circulated at Regular Meeting—North Fort Worth Dealers Join

A petition was formulated and started in circulation at the regular meeting of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association of Fort Worth Tuesday night asking the International and Great Northern railway company to establish a regular pay day for its employes in this city.

This action was taken after general discussion of the matter of deferred payments of bills, some employes of the railroad being forced to put off their grocers and butchers until the pay car of the company arrives each month. It was argued that the railway company has no right to employ men of family who will be placed in embarrassing position regarding monthly bills. It was also argued that railroad men are among the best paying customers of grocers and butchers and as grocers and butchers need the money the company should provide a regular pay day.

Discussion of the movement decided upon by the last meeting of the association showed that the proposition for all members to turn in the name and address of every customer on their books is meeting with general favor. Several grocers turned in lists containing from 300 to 500 names and those present signified their willingness to proceed in accordance with directions issued and turn in the names of customers this week. Regarding the information bureau, the report of the secretary that a number of members had been refusing to give information on customers when asked, and the report of members that some give questionable information, fearing, possibly, to lose customers in giving right reports, were both referred to the board of directors, which body is charged with the duty of investigating such conduct on the part of members. The board will report at the next meeting whether or not the offender or offenders should be expelled.

CANAL ENGINEER NOTES PROGRESS

George W. Davis Says Conditions on Isthmus Show Steady Improvement. PANAMA, Oct. 11.—Major General Geo. W. Davis, chairman of the board of consulting engineers, in an interview yesterday said he had noticed that much progress had been made in canal affairs. He found the situation very satisfactory and thought the summary measures enforced were bound to make both the canal zone and the terminal cities as healthy as it is possible for cities in the tropics to be. The general was gratified at meeting his numerous old friends and acquaintances. The American engineers refused to make any statements claiming that they had not had time to digest all the information obtained here. It is reported, however, that the discussion at the last session of the board that a majority including the European engineers favored a sea level canal.

HOME FOR ORPHANS IS NOW COMPLETED

Statement of Work Issued by Committee of the Board of Trustees

The Texas Presbyterian Home and School for Orphans recently built at Files, Texas, will be ready for occupancy Thursday and Dr. J. B. French of this city and Dr. J. D. McLean of Tyler have issued the following statement regarding the institution, which will be formally turned over to the synod at Austin:

"This institution, established by and under the control of the synod of Texas of the Presbyterian church in the United States, has been located by the board of trustees at Files, Hill county, Texas, upon a tract—343 acres—of land embracing a large hill, which will be utilized as a building site, and a part of one of the most beautiful and productive valleys of rich black waxy soil to be found anywhere in the great state of Texas. This body of land, with $2,000 in cash, was the gift of Messrs. Files and other worthy citizens of the valley, and is estimated to be worth between $20,000 and $25,000. The transfer of this property has been made, and the deed to the land is in possession of the board of trustees, and a charter has been secured for the institution. Our plan is to erect a number of cottages, putting a matron and not exceeding twenty-five children in each, believing this far preferable to one large building.

"Through the generosity of kind friends the property is being rapidly prepared for the occupancy of the home. Fifteen hundred fruit trees have been set out, and are growing nicely on the ground adjoining the building site.

"A bored well is now being sunk, from which we expect to secure pure, wholesome water. The money for the digging and casing of the well is already in hand, though no provision is made yet for the windmill or engine, tank and pipes necessary to make the well of practical use to the home.

"After months of unavoidable delay for want of funds, etc., the contract was let, Aug. 8, for the erection of our first cottage—a two-story, eleven-room, brick veneered house, with large halls and verandas; to be provided with an acetylene gas plant, with fixtures, all to be furnished in first-class order and delivered to us by Oct. 12. The cost of the cottage complete will be $4,795. For the building of this cottage we were compelled to appropriate all available money at our disposal—the ladies of the Presbyterian church of Dallas most generously coming to our aid with an additional contribution of $700 in cash. A second cottage is to be erected at once by Mr. and Mrs. Knox of Dallas, in memory of their daughter—to be known as 'Grace Cottage.'

"This, then, briefly is the situation. We will have the building ready for the children by the meeting of synod, Oct. 12, but we have no funds with which to move the children from Dallas, furnish the beautiful home, draw the water from the deep bored well and convey it to the house, build the necessary barns and other outhouses, and purchase stock—mules, cows and hogs—for the use and comfort of the home. The executive committee realizing the imperative need of funds to meet these demands have asked members of the board of trustees to visit our churches and raise the necessary amount for this important work.

"As busy pastors, charged with our own work, it is clear to all that we cannot personally visit all of our churches, therefore we send you this letter, setting forth the progress and present condition of our work, and appeal to you, as one who loves the orphan, for help in this time of our great need. The board needs from $1,500 to $2,000 by Oct. 12.

"Will you not send us such a subscription to this great work as your heart impels you, and you are able, to make—paying the same at the earliest date possible?"

A Little Blowing
On our own account

Once in every little while we just have to do a little blowing on our own account to reduce the pressure and preserve our personal safety.

Our customers repeat their orders and hand us out a kindly jolly, which of course swells us up—and some of our competitors are saying nice things about us, too, so there is no doubt that "we're pretty good."

Come and let us give you some ideas of our wonderful selves—and our tailoring.

"Star Spangled Banner."

EVER mindful of the influence a woman wields in the matter of good taste in dress, we have arranged a special reception to the ladies Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

The mother appreciates superior advantages in the selection of children's clothing, and the wife is in a large measure either directly or indirectly responsible for the purchase of wearables for the head of the household. This exhibit will interest the ladies.
