Senator Platt said that $10,000 was frequently paid as an annual contribution to the state campaign fund, but that it was not a regular thing; that he could not remember the years in which it was paid.

"MARK TWAIN," American Humorist and Author, Who Has New Cure for "Bossism" in Politics

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—"Mark Twain" has suggested a remedy for bossism, a way to overthrow the Murphys, the McCarrens and the Coxes and make them stay overthrown. He believes his treatment will not entail the abandonment of that habit, so dear to most citizens of this great republic, of voting for their party candidates.

Mr. Clemens believes it is simple to bring about this state of political perfection. All that is required is the organization of a permanent third party, call it "mugwump," if you choose, which shall continually hold the balance of power in municipal, state and national elections.

honesty of purpose and this his qualifications fit him for the office of district attorney. "But this very power which rests with the people is accountable for the laxity which permits the Murphys and the McCurdys and the McCalls and Hegemans to flourish. We know that whenever we get tired of the domination of the bosses we have an unfailing remedy. We may apply it at any time, and for that reason we don't un-til such some flagrant act causes an upheaval such as we have just seen in this city and in Philadelphia and in some other places.

"If you ask me what I suggest as a remedy for present conditions, I'll tell you that some one, a man of great executive ability, John W. Wainwright, for instance, will have to enlist all his energies in the formation of a permanent third party. It must be composed of men who are willing to give up all affiliations with either of the great parties. No man in it can have any political aspirations. He must not have any friends whom he wishes to push forward for political preferment. The sole reason for the existence of this new third party must be to elect the candidate of either the democratic or republican party who is believed to be the best fitted for the office for which he is nominated.

the privilege of voting as he chooses, the rest to vote as they choose, and therefore you have this result, that if the candidate of one of the great parties is conspicuously a better man than the candidate of the other great party it is believeable that the independent party would vote as a mass for that man.

"I have often wondered at the condition of things which set aside morality in politics and make possible the election of men whose unfitness is apparent. A mother will teach her boy at her knee to tell the truth, to be kind, to avoid all that is immoral. Could anything be more absurd?

LASSITER OPENS CITY CAMPAIGN

Mayorality Candidate Addresses First Meeting of Civic League

URGES MUNICIPAL PROGRESS

"Keep City Growing" Key-note of Speech—Alderman Lehane Endorsed

"Keep the city growing" and "100 cents value returned to the city for every dollar expended" were the campaign keynotes sounded Monday night by Newton H. Lassiter, latest announced candidate for mayor of Fort Worth, at his opening campaign speech delivered to voters of the Fourth ward, who had met for the purpose of organizing a municipal league. The voters met in the Fourth ward school house.

Mr. Lassiter was asked to speak after preliminary steps for organizing the league had been taken and J. H. Lehane, alderman from the Fourth ward, had been endorsed by the voters present.

Mr. Lassiter said he had been a resident of Fort Worth twenty years and had lived in the Fourth ward the past fifteen. He had come out as a candidate for mayor, he said, at the repeated and earnest solicitation of all classes of citizens.

He said he believed the office of mayor should be held by the man best qualified for that place and declared he did not want the vote of any man on personal grounds.

"It is the duty of every good citizen," he said, "to decide in his own mind the man best fitted for the office and to cast his vote accordingly.

"I am told that an effort will be made to declare that I am the candidate of a special class. I want to say to you and through you to any man in this city, if you believe I would be subject to the influence of any interest, don't vote for me. If I believed I was subject to the undue influence of any interest I would hide my face in shame."

Mr. Lassiter declared that he did not want any office in Fort Worth beyond that of mayor and would not take one if it were offered.

He said regarding the policy of administration he would favor, that he believed in immediate augmentation and extension of the present water system. Next he favored additional school facilities, and after that better streets and more paving.

"Keep the city growing," said Mr. Lassiter. "I promise if I'll be mayor there shall be a dollar spent unless I know where it goes and why it goes, and that the city gets 100 cents value for every dollar spent."

Mr. Lassiter said he objected to indorsement by the voters present at the meeting, asking them to wait until later in the campaign if they wished to pass any resolutions of that character.

League Organized

Preliminary steps for the organization of a municipal league in the Fourth ward were taken at the meeting, which was attended by forty representative voters of the ward. R. H. McNatt was elected chairman of the league, George E. Miller, vice president; James Hays Quarles, secretary, and Captain H. C. Eddington, treasurer. The following committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws and report Friday evening, Dec. 1: W. F. Young, George E. Miller and Elmo Sledid.

George E. Miller addressed the voters and stated the purpose for which the meeting had been called. He said its purpose was to prompt good fellowship and an interest in municipal affairs. The benefits of such organization, he said, had learned during the recent Arlington Heights franchise campaign, in which he had met other municipal organizations of the city.

James Hays Quarles, who was elected secretary of the league, addressed the voters, commending the course in the city council followed by Alderman Lehane of the Fourth ward, and moved that a vote of indorsement be taken. This was carried. Mr. Lehane, who was present, thanked the voters and said he was glad to see they were following the example of voters in other wards and taking a more active interest in city affairs.

candidate for justice of the peace for precinct No. 1, one of the positions effected by the law, and will ask for place or nomination No. 1 on the official ballot.

The question as raised is an interesting one, the old practice of "single shooting," by which a voter cast a ballot for but one man where two were to be elected, having a practical result of counting a vote and a half for the candidate favored.

PROMPT DEATH PAYMENT

Record of Local Institution Paying Death Claim in Five Days

The demand for Old Line or other fraternal protection than that of the United Beneficial Association of Fort Worth, Texas, has entirely ceased, for that order stands pre-eminently above all others in its plan, methods and manner of doing business, as evidence of which it becomes my sad but pleasurable duty to state without reservation, that the payment of loss due to the death of my late husband, Mr. J. S. Hatt, who was a member of the United Beneficial Association, was made in full within five days from date of his death.

On the 12th day of November the Angel of Death entered our home. Notice of my husband's death was mailed promptly by Brother J. P. Daniel, our lodge secretary, reaching the Supreme Office at Fort Worth on the 13th.

One hundred dollars funeral benefit was mailed to me immediately and was received on the 14th. Death proofs prepared, mailed and received in the general office on the 15th and warrant for the final $900 due on certificate mailed me on the same day and reached me this 18th day of November, 1905, closing the transaction just six days from date of death, and five days after notice was filed. I received the last payment on my husband's $1,000 certificate.

Words fail me in trying to express my heartfelt thankfulness to this great friend in need, the United Beneficial Association. May God bless and prosper it in its full measure as has been meted out to me in my prayer.

Yours sincerely,
NANNIE F. HATT, Beneficiary.

SOUTH HEMPHILL WATER MAINS

To the Editor of The Fort Worth Telegram:

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 20, 1905. Much interest has been manifested by a part, at least, of the public of Fort Worth, and much matter has appeared in print, principally through the columns of the Record, relative to the connection of the Capps Land company with the laying of a certain water main on Hemphill street, south of the city limits, on the property of the Capps Land company. The absurdity and utter ridiculousness of the various charges made through the medium of the Record, from time to time, has heretofore called for no notice, but when one of our correspondents for the office of mayor of the city of Fort Worth, in a campaign speech, makes charges and insinuations, entirely without foundation in fact, coupling the name of the Capps Land company with the city council, and superintendent of waterworks, in an attempted fraud on the city, I feel, in justice to all parties and the public at large, that the true facts relative to the laying of this water main should be stated.

For the past two years I have had absolute charge of the affairs of the Capps Land company, the improve-sibly pass to the ownership of the city.

Immediately upon completion of the laying of the main by Mr. Calhoun, he mailed me bill for same, one item in the bill being for a large meter, which I considered an improper charge, and in the adjustment of said item I held the bill a short time before sending in the check of the Capps Land company in payment of same, but as soon as an adjustment was had I sent Mr. Calhoun a check for the sum of $322.03, the amount of the city's bill for laying the main, furnishing the hydrants and putting them in. This check is now in my office, properly endorsed by the Fort Worth city water-works, said paid by the State National bank, and is subject to inspection by any interested party, and has been since its payment.

Every step in connection with this matter was made by me, and I am alone responsible for any transaction between the Capps Land company and the city, and as stated, every dollar of the cost of the main, laying it and the fire hydrants was paid for by the Capps Land company, and the company has been reimbursed in a limited amount by payments from Ben O. Smith, A. Sandegard and others who agreed to pay a pro rata part of the cost of the main if laid by the Capps Land company.

The gentlemen composing the Capps Land company are men of high standing and character in their several communities, and any insinuation that they would lend themselves to collusion or "graft" for the benefit of the company is utterly false, and if the candidate making such insinuations is the gentleman he should be to offer himself for the high office of mayor of this city, he will investigate the matter, and, finding the facts as they exist, will retract his charges in as public a manner as they were made. If not, the public of Fort Worth will be forced to the conclusion that campaign methods in this city are of so low a standard that the candidate desires to ride into office by an appeal to the prejudices of the people, on statements, or worse insinuations, utterly false, and known by the candidate to be false.

HARRIS ATTACKS CITY SPRINKLING

Declares Present Contract Is Not Advantageous One

Judge W. D. Harris addressed about fifty residents of the Ninth ward at Elm and Peach streets Monday night. The gist of Judge Harris' remarks was an arraignment of methods employed by the city in making contracts, especially with the Fort Worth Sprinkling Company.

Quoting from the last quarterly statement for sprinkling he declared that citizens paid $130.80 a year for laying the dust on one mile of street; that the contract is for sprinkling thirty and one-sixth miles of street, making a grand total of $125,120.80 for the year, or $750,724.80 for six years, the length for which the contract runs. Judge Harris said the hands of the city were tied in respect to making a new contract in case a more advantageous offer was made. "In my opinion this is an exaction, an imposition, that has been imposed upon the taxpayers of Fort Worth, and I assure you that in case I am made mayor no such contract will pass by me without my prompt veto. And yet they tell you I am not progressive enough for Fort Worth's mayor," added the speaker. "If this method is what they call progress, I am frank to admit that I am not progressive," he concluded.

"If the mayor is a man and has an eye on the business rights of the people at large he will demonstrate to you that he is something else than a mere figurehead. If the issue is fought out and the people do their duty we will have something to go to the liquidation of the bonded debt of Fort Worth. It is held that Fort Worth is on a cash basis. How? By giving notes that draw a larger rate of interest than do the bonds? These conditions should not be tolerated by the voters of this city, and if I am elected mayor I shall be my aim to oppose all such methods. While I will advocate better school buildings and better streets and sidewalks, I shall not go beyond the point of justice."

Judge Harris then reviewed his record while county judge. He then referred to the construction of the Jennings avenue viaduct and said that the council favored a wooden structure, while the city engineer also favored it being a wooden viaduct, and that he was opposed to it and wanted either an iron or steel viaduct.

Judge Harris then said that he is accused of being a prohibitionist. "What would they open that I would close? No business is a lawful business if not conducted in a lawful way. No one is entitled to run a business unless they run it lawfully. I am in favor of enforcing the law and will not go beyond the law. What the people want is the observance of the law and nothing more."

ROSEN HEIGHTS TO INCORPORATE

Annexation to North Fort Worth Voted Down

Citizens of Rosen Heights held a meeting Monday night at Mallory hall and discussed the question of petitioning to be annexed to North Fort Worth, incorporation as a separate city or remaining as at present. Before the 150 citizens present had gone home three meetings had been held, one after the other. At the end of the first meeting it was decided by a vote of 26 to 2 not to go into North Fort Worth. When the question came up the vote stood 17 to 13 in favor of incorporating as a separate city.

The first meeting adjourned within a few minutes after taking this vote. Citizens in favor of the incorporation then called a second meeting at which nothing was done.

A third meeting was then held at Riden's drug store and within a few moments a committee of six was appointed to investigate the advisability and legality of incorporating Rosen Heights and instructed to see how much of the community could be included in such incorporation. The committee appointed is composed of E. H. McKinley, chairman; John M. Lionberger, J. A. Reynolds, A. F. Hampton, G. S. L. Fox and J. M. Warren. The committee will report at a meeting to be held Saturday night in the school house.

The first meeting was called at 7:30 o'clock and S. O. Lovejoy was elected chairman and G. S. L. Fox secretary. The question for the evening was then proposed, J. J. Riden was the first speaker of the evening. He asked Mayor Pritchard of North Fort Worth several questions as to the indebtedness of North Fort Worth, tax collections and tax valuations, which were answered by the mayor.

Mr. Riden then said that he was in favor of annexation as by joining with North Fort Worth the taxes of Rosen Heights could be equalized so that every one would have their lots valued on the same basis.

Method of Incorporation

Mayor Pritchard of North Ft. Worth then followed and gave a detailed statement of the state of the finances of his city. He told his hearers that North Fort Worth was bonded to the limit now, but that he was not worrying about the bonds as they were to run forty years. He then described the manner in which it is possible for a city to incorporate. "You can get 20 names to a petition to the commissioners' court to order an election," he said. "If the election carries you can only assess a 25 cent tax on the $100. If you have over 1,000 citizens you can incorporate under and assess a 50 cent tax. If you have 10,000 inhabitants you can get a special charter and assess a higher tax." He then explained that the North Fort Worth tax of 85 cents was made up of the 50 cent city tax, road tax of 15 cents and the school tax of 20 cents.

Mayor Pritchard then said that if Rosen Heights wanted to be annexed to North Fort Worth he would be more than glad to welcome them and would be greatly pleased by such an addition to the number of the inhabitants of the city. He reminded them that all that could be taken in would be a strip a half mile wide and that that strip would include the school house.

Annexation Opposed

J. M. Warren then spoke against annexation, saying that it might disturb the present arrangements of the school matters and on that account he was opposed.

B. F. Hall spoke in favor of annexation, saying that he did so because he wanted the privilege of using some of the money that North Fort Worth possessed for Rosen Heights' purposes. He told the people outside of the district that could be annexed that they would indeed take the school into North Fort Worth but they would take half the school children and leave fifteen-sixteenths of the Heights left for taxes to pay for the schooling of the other half of the children. He also said that by taking the school they would also take the debt of the school and would thus leave the people outside better off than they were today.

G. S. L. Fox said he was opposed to annexation. He also said that it was a question in his mind as to why the Heights had to incorporate at all. He brought up the question of the equalization of taxes and said that he hoped that that would be remedied at the next assessment. He said that if Rosen Heights joined North Fort Worth the balance of power would lie with the councilmen from the lower part of that city and it would be question as to what Rosen Heights would get. He also said the new $30,000 school in North Fort Worth had not been put where it should have been.

Propositions Explained

Chairman S. O. Lovejoy then took the floor and explained what the benefit would be either way. He said that if Rosen Heights incorporated the total number of lots that could be assessed would be 3,540. Taxing these at $200 a lot, an over valuation, and then taxing the 400 houses at $500 apiece and taking the 80 per cent that the law requires, he said the total taxable property of Rosen Heights would be $768,000, which, at 50 cents on the $100, would give a tax receipts of $387,750, which would not be enough to pay expenses. He declared he was in favor of annexing to North Fort Worth as to use the $1,674,554 taxes paid by the packing houses.

W. D. Davis, who was chairman of the board of equalization of North Fort Worth year before last, then made a statement of the conditions in North Fort Worth. Upon closing he declared that he would meet the citizens of Rosen Heights at the line and welcome them if they wanted to come in, but also stated that he was sending his boy to the Rosen Heights school, at present, instead of the North Fort

MEN RISK NECKS FOR FIVE CENTS

Robbery With Firearms Committed Near Cemetery

A daring robbery with firearms occurred Monday night shortly before 7 o'clock on the road between the cemeteries and this city. Michael Barksdale, 1125 East Tenth street, a 16-year-old boy, being stopped, covered with a revolver and searched by two men. The boy had but 5 cents in his pocket, which the men took.

Barksdale is a driver for the Bowden-Tims Lumber company and was returning to the company yards with a one-horse wagon when he was stopped, the robbers evidently expecting to separate money he might have collected for the lumber delivered. As a dark spot of the road was reached near the wooden bridge, the men suddenly stepped from the side of the road. One grabbed the horse while the other covered the boy with the pistol. He was then ordered to get down and while kept covered with the pistol, searched carefully. He was then permitted to go on his way, the men disappearing in the bushes. He immediately drove to the lumber yard and reported the robbery. Owing to the darkness and his fright he is unable to give any description of the men.

At the offices of the company it was announced Monday night a reward of $500 will be given for the capture and conviction of the men.

Robbery with firearms is made a capital offense in this state.

Worth school, even though he was in the district of the latter school.

Vote Taken

A motion was then made by G. L. Fox to vote on the triple question, which resulted as above with the annexation proposition voted down by a large majority. Members only of the district that would be annexed were permitted to vote. The question as to whether Rosen Heights should incorporate was then carried for the affirmative.

Before all the members got out of the hall another meeting was called with about 75 present. Chairman Lovejoy again took the floor. As most of the people present were in favor of appointing a committee to investigate the matter the question was called for several times while he was on the floor. Finally an invitation was extended to those in favor of annexation to meet at Riden's drug store and the meeting broke up to convene a few moments later at the store with about twenty-five present. The committee was then appointed to report on Saturday night.

WOMAN'S VITALITY

DEPENDS ON CARE REGARDING A SIMPLE MATTER.

Mrs. Ford Tells What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Surely Do for Many Perplexed Women.

"I wish I could help other women get rid of certain physical troubles as completely as I have succeeded in getting rid of mine," said Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Peshmatata, Miss., recently. "You know," she continued, "that a woman's health depends chiefly on the regularity of just one function. If she fails to keep that properly regulated she has no end of physical misery. I suffered from that one cause for two wretched years, during one of which I was kept in bed all the time. I tried medicines enough to cure any illness, but nothing gave me the slightest benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They cured me. Why, I was suffering all the time practically from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of sound health.

"Within three weeks after beginning the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I experienced such relief that I knew they must be adapted to the needs of my case. After using them for a short while longer I became, and have since remained a well woman, and the reason why is simply that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." The pills which Mrs. Ford praises so enthusiastically cure the chief ailments of women by thoroughly renovating the blood. They make uterine action regular and painless, banish headaches, languor, nervousness, create appetite, promote digestion, put color in the complexion, build up strength and, in a word, enable women to reach and maintain full physical perfection.

Every woman should send to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for a valuable booklet, entitled "Plain Talks to Women." It will be mailed free in sealed envelope to the address of any applicant. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. They are safe as well as effective. They do not contain the slightest trace of opium or of any other harmful drug.

The home laxative should be safe

This one is. A good physic should always be kept in the house. Nearly every affliction to which the human body is heir, from a slight cold to a severe attack of liver or kidney trouble, is in a great degree due to improper bowel action and can be more quickly relieved and cured by cleansing the bowels than in any other manner.

The home remedy should be safe for all members of the family who may be required to use it. The average physic, such as the alleged mineral waters, which are nothing more or less than preparations of salts and carbonated water—similar to soda water—candied pellets and pills, will move the bowels, but in doing so they often leave the patient weak. No one should ever take a physic which makes him weak. If such a remedy is continued a terrible habit is created which will make it necessary that a physic be administered before the bowels can be induced to perform their functions.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

is a safe remedy for the home. It is a stomach tonic which gives strength to the entire system and makes it possible for the bowels to act without further aid. It never causes pains or griping. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

THE LAST TO APPEAR

Every morning when the miners collected around the entrance to the Berard pit to answer to the roll call, the last to appear always was a tall, jovial fellow, who led by the hand a little girl some 7 or 8 years of age.

It was Michel Perron and his motherless little daughter. Before putting foot on the platform to descend into the pit, the man raised the child into his arms, imprinted a kiss on each cheek and set her down again.

"Be tranquil," said Michel, smiling. "I will not die without telling thee of it."

It was gospel truth, since her father had said so, and she went away to school almost reassured.

One day the rumor spread suddenly that an explosion of fire had just occurred. In less time than it takes to tell it the entrance to the Berard pit was thronged. Excited crowds rushed from every direction.

The daughter of Michel ran about, her hair streaming in the wind, in the midst of the debris, which had been brought up from the mine, crying: "Papa! papa! papa!"

Nobody had seen her father. Of the sixty miners who had gone down in the morning, forty-five had ascended; fourteen were dead. There was one missing. It was Michel.

For forty-eight hours Mademoiselle Papa had waited feverishly, but without growing weary. At every human form that appeared in the entrance she started up, and not recognizing the one she awaited, sat down again with a profound sigh.

They thought that fatigue would conquer her. The third day the child was still at the entrance of the pit.

"We must put an end to this," said the chief engineer, and approaching her he said: "Be reasonable, little one."

"Papa! Seek papa!" "Alas! He is dead!" "No!"

She uttered this "No!" with such energy that the engineer was struck with it.

"Why not?" he said. "He would have told me."

"Poor little thing," murmured the engineer. And he made a sign that she should be taken away. But she clung desperately to him, crying: "Papa is not dead! I want to go down! I will find him!"

The engineer was a kind-hearted fellow. He took pity on her.

"After all," he said to himself, "perhaps that would be best. When she has seen with her own eyes she will believe. This condition, if it lasts, will perhaps kill her."

And taking her in his arms he stepped on the platform and gave the signal for descent. They went down.

For two hours she traversed the galleries, questioning the men whom she knew, striking her little fist against the black wall, pressing her ear close to it, peeping into the least cleft, and thrusting her hands in, calling always: "Papa! Papa!"

The little "papa" sought always. Suddenly they saw her run, pale, trembling, choked. She cried: "There! there! papa!"

"What! there?" said the miner. "His blouse!"

"Bah! Where is it?" The little girl, panting, her eyes fixed, her lips parted, her hand in the hollow in the wall, cried: "I hold it!"

They moved her aside; they looked. Yes! It was a bit of cloth—of blue cloth. It was a blouse. Was there a man there? They set to work, and what blows of the mactock they gave! In a twinkling the wall was thrown down, and in a deep excavation they saw a man extended; it was Michel Perron.

Confused cries arose on all sides, and more piercing than all others a cry escaped from the lips of the little girl. She sprang upon the body, clasped it with both arms, half weeping and repeating again and again: "Papa! Papa!"

She was very low, the poor Michel. Weakened by the deprivation of air and nourishment, he recovered his sense only to faint away again; but he lived. She had spoken truly: "Mademoiselle Papa." The man would not die without having told the child.

A week later he was up, thin, but well and ready to commence work.

The evening before he was to go down to the mine for the first time a grand banquet was given by the miners to "Mademoiselle Papa." The place of honor was reserved for her. There were kisses and embraces and many a huzzza in honor of the little queen.

And would you know what she replied to all that, smiling and clapping her hands, the little queen? She said: "Papa."

WOULD LIMIT ASSETS

New Insurance Cure Suggested by California Official SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Insurance Commissioner Wolfe, in connection with developments made during the insurance investigation in New York, has framed a line of action with relation to the department of life insurance, and prepared a general line of action as a result of the exposure of administration of companies' affairs.

Wolfe has decided to go before the legislature and recommend important changes in the law covering the regulation of insurance companies in California.

He has decided there should be a limitation on assurance companies and that no company should be allowed to do business in this state if its assets are more than $500,000,000. Mr. Wolfe says there should be concerted action by the states of the union so that legislation might be made uniform as to restriction and regulation.

ONLY GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE

"Hymel Costs You Nothing If It Fails," Says R. A. Anderson

Among the many medicines upon the market that claim to cure catarrh none but Hymel has enough faith in its own merit to offer to refund the money if it does not cure.

This scientific remedy for catarrh kills the microbes and germs of the disease and from its introduction has been sold under a positive guarantee to return the money to all dissatisfied customers.

Hymel is the only method of treatment that sends by direct inhalation to the most remote parts of the air passages, a balsamic air that destroys all catarrhal germs in the breathing organs, enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone, and makes permanent and complete cures of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs $1 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hymel and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime, and additional bottles of Hymel can be obtained for 50 cents.

Breathe Hymel for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh will grow better from the first day's use and will be completely cured within a short time.

Do not try to cure catarrh with ordinary stomach medicines. Breathe the killing Hymel which goes to every part of the air passages and respiratory organs, killing the catarrh germs and preventing their growth.

It is the only treatment for catarrh where you can get your money back from a local physician and respiratory organs, in case it does not help.

HILLSBORO, Texas, Nov. 21.—Nearly $4,000 was raised for Polytechnic college at Fort Worth by the Northwest Texas Methodist conference here yesterday. The sum was secured at a collection taken for the purpose of helping secure a science hall for the college.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Telegram will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given at the office, Elgin and Throckmorton streets, Fort Worth, Texas.

It was in many ways the most unique and seductive of all our great state attractions. Why not revive it? The country about Fort Worth has developed within the last decade in leaps and bounds, and Fort Worth itself has put on the rich raiment of a metropolitan city and has affected the enticing airs of a veritable Chicago of the Southwest.

Fort Worth has a board of trade that has been handed something to think about "o' nights" by that vigorous 150,000 Dallas club. But even though Fort Worth could shut her ears to the din that Dallas keeps up, Captain Paddock, Paul Waples, William Newby and the Fort Worth press and others would not permit the town to go to sleep.

Fort Worth, it is true, has the annual meet of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, except when she kindly consents for some other town to have it; and she has her live stock shows. They are not enough to test her mettle, and, besides, she owes something more than this to her friends in Texas and to Texas. As we have said, Fort Worth should revive the Spring Palace, and she could make it a wonder. The old Spring Palace idea could be enlarged upon. If it came to be held in June, when Texas was in flower, she could add attractions that would not only draw, but that would prove of inestimable value to Texas. She could have a fruit show that was not possible in the old days, and she could have a spring race meet the greatest in the South.

The Current Issue puts the proposition up to Fort Worth and dares the prediction that she will respond to it as a ready warrior responds to a challenge.—Austin Current Issue.

The Current Issue apparently forgets Fort Worth's annual Fat Stock Show, which is destined to soon become one of the biggest things in Texas and the entire Southwest. Arrangements have already been made which insure the unqualified success of this great undertaking next March, and if the editor of the Current Issue will grace the occasion with his presence we promise that he will not go home under the delusion that Fort Worth is napping.

It would be a good idea, however, to provide a suitable number of miscellaneous attractions in connection with the Fat Stock Show that will insure the attendance of large numbers who may not be interested in a live stock exposition. This can be done with the proper effort and with a modicum of expense, and those who are promoting the enterprise should carefully consider this feature of the situation.

There is no reason in the world why the Fat Stock Show could not be the nucleus for a great entertainment here every year that will be as pretentious in its class as the Dallas fair or any other undertaking in this southwestern country. There is no reason why the people of Texas and the Southwest should not gather here by the thousands every year to enjoy the entertainment provided by Fort Worth for their delectation. There is no reason why the Fat Stock Show shall not be made to answer the purpose in the matter of all that can be reasonably expected of Fort Worth.

RAILWAYS FIGHTING THE CANAL

There is a very strong impression getting abroad in the land that the railways of the country are responsible for much of the delay that has been experienced in getting the Panama canal started off on the right foot, and that impression will be manifested in a forcible manner in the pending fight before congress for railway rate regulation. The people of these United States want that canal, and they want it finished at as early date as is practicable, and the disposition on the part of the railways to hinder the work can but provoke a spirit of retaliation on the part of the masses, which will be made evident when congress assembles. The San Francisco Chronicle says:

Now, as a matter of fact, the officials in charge of the construction of the canal are the most competent men of hitherto untarnished reputation whom President Roosevelt could induce to undertake the work for the salaries at his disposal. Government work cannot be carried on by the rapid and effective methods of private corporations, and however we may chafe under the delays, we must recognize that fact. Chief Engineer Wallace presumably resigned because he would not submit to checks to his powers and responsibilities to which he had not been accustomed, but which are necessary in public business. In fact, virtually all the friction which has arisen among the canal officials probably grew out of setting railroad men to work under government conditions. It is believed that all these things have finally got themselves adjusted. Methods of organization and accounting have been simplified as much as possible without revolutionizing the general practice of the government and opening the door to possible frauds. But the croaking continues.

"Who," asks Mr. Shonts, "is capitalizing this industry? What interests, except those foolishly dreading the competition of an isthmian canal, would put up money to delay, and possibly defeat, its construction?" The answer, of course, is that nobody but the railroad people have any interest to delay the canal, and, therefore, it must be they who are putting up the money to discourage the American people. So Chairman Shonts thinks, and so will everybody else. They are wasting their money. The American people are standing squarely behind President Roosevelt in this work—as well as in another matter—and the more the railroads rage the more enthusiastic the people will become.

There may not be much direct connection between the matter of railway rate regulation and fighting the Panama canal, but the attitude of the railways in the premises will be accepted as ample justification by the people for insisting that the growing disposition on the part of these great corporations to have things absolutely their own way shall be promptly and summarily curbed. It represents that steady corporate encroachment on the rights of the masses of which there is already so much complaint, and if the railway people are wise they will stand under. There are two things that may already be set down as accomplished realities. One of these is the building of the Panama canal, and the other is that the railways of the country are going to be regulated and controlled by federal authority. The people have their minds fully made up on both propositions.

JUDGE WELLS' CANDIDACY

Judge James B. Wells of the lower Rio Grande country still has an idea of entering the gubernatorial race, but if Judge Wells is as wise as he is represented to be he will stand under. This is not the time when he can reasonably expect to have an inning.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Does The Telegram think because it has a candidate of its own that no one else should enter the race for governor? A great many people believe that Mr. Wells can go into the convention with more instructed votes than any other candidate, in which event he would stand a good show for the nomination. Mr. Wells has just as good a reason as any other candidate for expecting an inning next year, and certainly no one of them is more entitled to an inning than he.—State Topics.

Certainly not. This is a free country and Judge Wells is as free to entertain gubernatorial aspirations as any other citizen of Texas. As chairman of the state democratic executive committee he has rendered his party distinguished service, which is quite generally appreciated. But The Telegram thinks that Judge Wells has pursued a wrong policy by making himself simply a receptive candidate. If he had bona fide intentions of becoming a candidate he should have gotten out in the open with the rest

AMONG THE EXCHANGES

If Senator Joe Bailey could have his way, the guilty packers who unbosomed themselves so freely to Commissioner Garfield would serve a term in the penitentiary. The senator is correct in asserting that in his judgment, no more fines should be assessed against these lawbreakers. Instead they should be made to "do time."—Texarkana Courier.

Not on suspicion. Let's wait until the packers are tried and proven guilty before we have them commence "doing time."

The salary range in the cases of preachers is again attracting attention. Why not start a preachers' union and let all fare alike, same salary to good, bad and indifferent, just as is the same wages in the union. That would be a real up to date arrangement, and one not down in the books.—San Antonio Light.

The laborer is always presumed to be worthy of his hire, but in the Lord's vineyard he very often fails to get it.

The tax question seems to be the question uppermost in the minds of the candidates for governor of Texas. The men who are advocating a system of taxation that will exempt certain classes of property from taxation are making a serious mistake. Populists never went that far.—Sherman Register.

What Texas needs is the proper equalization of taxes, and when that is done we will have no tax question to disturb the dreams of any citizen of the state.

Many "prominent" preachers have been airing their views from the pulpits and in the press on the subject of angels. They appear to have reached unanimity of belief touching one most vital point on the subject. They have agreed that there are no female angels in heaven. Then we would like to know what becomes of all the "female angels."—Tyler Courier.

There may be all sorts of angels over on the other side, but it is morally certain that their nearest approach in this vale of tears are all of the female persuasion.

A dull thump against the ceiling in the office of the secretary of the navy can be expected almost any day. Secretary Roosevelt has announced opposition to President Bonaparte's program for a monster navy. Swish of the big stick can almost be heard now.—Beaumont Journal.

Not necessarily. The President can but have respect for a cabinet officer who has the moral courage to stand up for his convictions. President Roosevelt is not the secretary of the navy, and doubtless will not attempt to force the issue with the man he has so recently placed in that responsible position.

Congressmen are assembling in Washington to be ready for the opening of the regular session and to do a little preliminary caucusing. The congressmen may have their political bearings, but the country is at sea. With party lines practically obliterated, it is hard to tell how the senators and representatives will be allied on the important issues.—San Antonio Express.

The democratic congressmen will be squarely behind the President in the matter of railway rate regulation—one of the most important matters that will come up for consideration, and it is a measure that is sure to win.

The politicians are having their inning now, but the masses will pass on all the questions involved just one year later. And the masses can be depended upon to do the subject justice after they have been put to thinking.—Fort Worth Telegram.

It is to be hoped that they will not make a failure this time, for it is high time that they got off of the thinking stool and put their thoughts into action for the betterment of the masses.—Mount Pleasant Eagle.

No danger of failure this time. The people learned a lesson last year from letting the politicians run things. They are going to resume control next year.

The amount of money sent out of Texas each year to pay premiums on life insurance is something enormous. There are a few companies in the state that are doing a legitimate business and they ought to be patronized by our home people.—Alvarado Bulletin.

Those people over there seem to hardly know what they do want. The liberty conferred seems to have been largely misdirected.

So far the Fort Worth market has handled about 1,000 bales of cotton, and those who are engaged in an effort to develop this very important undertaking feel very much encouraged over the situation. Next year the Fort Worth market will be a very important factor in the situation.

It is reported that Dr. D. E. Salmon, former chief of the bureau of animal industry at Washington, has accepted a similar position in South America, and will soon depart for his new field of labor.

Lands are enhancing in Texas every day, and the man who defers the purchase of a home will pay dearly for his procrastination. Better buy while prices are still reasonable and anchor yourself permanently to the soil.

Fort Worth should have a big cotton mill ready for operation in time to work on the next crop made in Fort Worth territory. There should be some speedy and effective work done in this direction.

The Isle of Pines is knocking at our doors for admittance as United States territory, but it is meeting with a decided frost from the direction of the national administration.

One hundred acres of land sold near Clarendon recently at $100 per acre, and that is a pretty good indication that the Panhandle country is coming squarely to the front.

Fort Worth is a busy city these days. Merchants and business men in all lines report splendid fall business, and the work of general improvement goes steadily and merrily forward.

Editor Hearst acknowledges that his campaign for mayor of New York cost him a little in excess of $65,000, but it cannot be denied that Editor Hearst has had a great deal of fun for his money.

As the time for Thanksgiving approaches it becomes more and more apparent that Fort Worth has a great deal to be thankful for this year.

The Sunday Telegram never fails to please its friends. It is the one Texas publication that never fails to measure up.

Norway has finally succeeded in electing a king, but the king business over on the other side is a little bit shaky at this time.

Strike matters are reported to be quieting down to some extent in Russia, but there is very often a complete calm before a terrible storm.

Range cattle shipments from the Northwest are now about over for the season, but Texas will be shipping fat stuff for six weeks yet.

The Dallas Times Herald modestly suggests that the Robbins will all nest in Wilbarger county after next year.

THE DAY IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21. Special to The Telegram. Speaker Cannon will have 154 vacancies to fill on the various committees of the house when he pulls off his coat, bites off the end of a big black cigar and settles down with Brother Busbey and Brother Hines to close up the business. There will be sixty vacancies in the republican committees and ninety-four vacancies among the democrats.

VERSES THAT RING

NO PLACE FOR BOYS

What can a boy do, and where can a boy stay, if he is always told to get out of the way? He cannot sit here, and he must not stand there. The cushions that cover that fine rocking chair were put there, of course, to be seen and admired; A boy has no business to ever be tired.

The beautiful roses and flowers that bloom on the floor of the darkened and delicate room are not made to walk on—at least not by boys; The house is no place, anyway, for their noise.

Yet boys must walk somewhere; and what if their feet sent out of our homes, sent into the street, should step round the corner and pause at the door, Where other boys' feet have paused often before, Should pass through the gateway of glittering light, Where jokes that are merry and songs that are bright

Ring out a warm welcome with flattering voice, And temptingly say: "Here's a place for the boys." Ah, what if they should? What if your boy or mine should cross o'er the threshold that marks out the line

'Twixt virtue and vice, 'twixt puresness and sin, And leave all his innocent boyhood within? Oh, what if they should, because you and I, While the days and the months and the years hurry by,

Are too busy with cares and with life's fleeting joys To make round our hearthstone a place for the boys? There's a place for the boys. They will find it somewhere;

And if our own homes are too daintily fair, For the touch of their fingers, the tread of their feet, They'll find it, and find it, alas, in the street, 'Mid the giddings of sin and the glitter of vice, And with heartaches and longings we pay a dear price

For the getting of gain that our lifetime employs, If we fail in providing a place for the boys. A place for the boys—dear mother, I pray, As cares settle down round our short earthly way, Don't let us forget, by our kind, loving deeds, To show we remember their pleasures and needs; Though our souls may be vexed with the problems of life, And worn with besetments and toiling and strife, Our hearts will keep younger—your tired heart and mine—

If we give them a place in our innermost shrine; And to life's latest hour 'twill be one of our joys That we kept a small corner—a place for the boys.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

If a man wastes his time he robs himself. It takes more than a Sunday suit to make a saint. This is a cold, cold world—and the coal dealer is glad of it. There might be less trouble brewing if there were fewer breweries. Narrow-minded men and women talk about persons instead of things. A woman who believes that time is money is apt to spend her time foolishly. It takes a feather-weight wife to make a heavy-weight husband shake in his shoes. Did you ever hear of a girl marrying the kid of a fortune teller said she would? It might be said, perhaps, that the man who passes a counterfeit bill effects a change of base—Chicago News.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS

Your can't buy success at the bargain counter. Pugilists stand up for their rights and their lefts as well. When it comes to bills the fast set are usually slow settlers. Supply is generally governed by demand, except in the matter of making mistakes. The fellow who makes hay while the sun shines doesn't have to borrow an umbrella when it rains. The worst thing about becoming famous overnight is that we are sure to wake up in the morning. Society forgives a man if he breaks the Ten Commandments, but never if he breaks a dinner engagement. A woman may believe in the efficacy of prayer, but that doesn't prevent her from looking under the bed for burglars. The mere wearing of high heels makes some people feel that they are head and shoulders above their neighbors.—Philadelphia Record.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

A man can make a very good living by marrying a rich wife. A woman can guess a thing right quicker than a man can reason it. Some people are always willing to tell the truth when it is disagreeable to somebody else. A girl of 16 always wants to do the things she will never let her daughter do when she has one of that age. Can anybody explain how it is that at 6 o'clock in the morning the temperature of the furnace is six degrees lower than the air outdoors?—New York Press.

to sustain him during the coming year. In fact both Mr. Herriex and ourself are cast adrift without office, and too late in the fall to pick up any stray jobs as janitor for the winter. But we take all the blame for our own defeat, however. When we got a new Pritchard suit and foxy hat we knew that we were taking chances in displaying such evidences of high living in the heat of a campaign in which reckless expenditure in office was one of the main issues. One consolation, however, there is always a sort of heroic glamor about a defeated candidate, that often adds to his popularity. Bryan and Parker are much sought for on the lecture platform and to talk to students, and otherwise deport themselves at a good round price. We may lecture some and write for the magazines. Then there are Webster, Clay, Tilden and Blaine, all in the same boat with us—a very consoling reflection, indeed. We will, of course, not now be beset with the temptations of a salary of $50 a year. We never knew but that these reverses are blessings in disguise.—West Lafayette (Ohio) Indicator.

"This is a free country," yelled the enthusiastic patriot. "Sh!" whispered his comrade, warningly. "Somebody'll hear about it and organize a trust." "Poor Pringle has been in hard luck for the last year." "Pringle in hard luck! Why, he's owned a steam yacht for the last year." "Yes, that's why he's in hard luck."

NO PLACE TO TIE 'EM

The great captain of industry and master of rebate had set aside $75,000,000 for the formation of a university. Many of his plans had been carried out, but a site for the institution had not been selected, and he was conferring on that question with the man he had chosen as president. "I think the place I have mentioned is ideal," said the c. of i. and m. of r. "The land is elevated, the views are fine, and the buildings would not be too close to the city that might offer temptations to the students." "The site is a fine one in many ways," remarked the president, "but I fear it will not be attractive to the students. The nearest railroad track is at least ten miles away."

MOST AWFUL SKIN HUMOR

Covering Entire Body. Shed Dusty Scales Nightly. Skin Cracked Open. Suffering Dreadful. Doctors Fail. Prayed for Death. Sister says, "Won't give up. Try Cuticura." Eureka! Instant Relief. In 6 Weeks Completely CURED BY CUTICURA

I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D. Psoriasis, and others Lepra, commencing on my scalp, and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until my entire body was covered with a crust of scales in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be a shower of scales of scales falling from the sheets on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking and itching so that I could not sleep. I tried everything I could get my hands on, but to no avail. I finally reached Detroit and was admitted to the hospital, but finally taken from the sheets on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. AMUSEMENTS

"Hooligan in New York," a farce comedy melodrama, played a return engagement before a good-sized crowd at Greenwall's last night.

The crowd found plenty to enjoy. One of the surprises of the program was the singing of Mand Red Price as the Widow McGuire, who evidently didn't expect the encores she received and was much embarrassed at repeated recalls.

Her strong baritone voice and clever character singing made a hit. James L. McCabe had the part of Hooligan, and save for continual lapses of dialect into something that approached a minstrel show's negro monologue, played the part acceptably.

Ethel Bennett as Lily Svensen, also was troubled with dialect lapses and occasionally set her lines in a brogue that was decidedly more Hibernian than Scandinavian.

If nothing else in the way of stage investiture ever emanates from the prolific brush of Walter Burridge, the scenic artist, save the birchen grove and sylvan dell scenes in the Henry W. Savage production of Pringle & Luders' dairy bird rhapsody, "Woodland," which comes to Greenwall's Opera House on Wednesday night, Nov. 22, his standing in the art world through their exquisite treatment, would be firmly established.

Nothing in scenic art seen recently can quite compare with the ineffable sweetness of the spring-like foliage his magic brush has caused to burst forth.

The whole stage is pervaded with the charm of Arcadia. It can be fancied that in just such sylvan spots as these conjured by the hand of this great artist the great naturalist, Audubon, made his remarkable studies of the bird life of our country.

Burridge undoubtedly ranks first among the painters of forest foliage. He is considered an authority on scenic environment, as well as one on the difficult evolution of correct color schemes for costume and electrical effects.

When the question of the stage settings for "Woodland" was first mooted quite a controversy arose between the worthy collaborators, Pixley and Luders, regarding the proper locale for the forest fantasy, Pixley insisting that the Rocky Mountains furnished the correct atmosphere, and Luders equally insistent that the Hartz Mountains and the Black Forest was the ideal locality.

"Great Gott in Himmel! Pixley think of the majesty of the Hartz! Please to remember the fact, The Black Forest is the legitimate home of the nightingale; not the Rocky Mountains!"

"Well, that's all right, Gus, but the Rockies are the legitimate home of the eagle—proud bird of liberty!"

SUZANNE SANTJE IN "SOWING THE WIND"

Manager M. S. Roth will present to our theater-goers the beautiful Miss Suzanne Santje as a star in Sydney Grundy's great drama, "Sowing the Wind," supported by a specially selected cast, at Greenwall's Opera House Thursday matinee and night, Nov. 23, the engagement opening with a matinee on that date.

This play possesses remarkable charm; there is a natural quality about it that is extremely pleasing, something wholesome that just seems to touch the right spot.

One feature of the play which commends itself strongly is its alternate light and shade. There are many pathetic scenes, which are counterbalanced by some nice comedy which the author has inserted at the most opportune times. It is unusually clever in its sketches of character and possesses the distinct quality of crispness.

"BUSTER BROWN"

There are some fifty people engaged in the representation of Melville B. Raymond's "Buster Brown," that Richard F. Outlook has illustrated in the funny papers of the New York Herald.

"Buster Brown" comes to Greenwall's Opera House Friday and Saturday nights, with a matinee Saturday, Nov. 24-25. The company includes the large chorus, a ballet and a number of beautiful girls, whose excellent work is well known.

A FINE NIGHT CAP

The Best Thing in the World to go to Bed and Sleep On

"My wife and I find that four teaspoons of Grape-Nuts and a cup of hot milk, or some cream, with it, makes the finest night cap in the world," says an Allegheny, Pa., man.

"We go to sleep as soon as we strike the bed, and slumber like babies till rising time in the morning."

"It is about three years now since we began to use Grape-Nuts food, and we always have it for breakfast and before retiring and sometimes for lunch. I was so sick from what the doctors called acute indigestion and brain lag before I began to use Grape-Nuts that I could neither eat, sleep nor work with any comfort. I was afflicted at the same time with the most intense pains, accompanied by a racking headache and backache, every time I tried to eat anything. Notwithstanding an unusual pressure from my professional doctor, I was compelled for a time to give up my work altogether."

"Then I put myself on a diet of Grape-Nuts and cream alone, with an occasional cup of Postum Food Coffee as a runner-up, and sometimes a little dry toast. I assure you that in less than a week I felt like a new man—I had gained six pounds in weight, could sleep well and think well."

"The good work went on, and I was soon ready to return to business, and have been hard at it, and enjoying it ever since. Command me at any time any one enquires as to the merits of Grape-Nuts. You will find me always ready to testify." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

MOTORMAN WILL RUN FOR COUNCIL

J. G. Hendrick Announces Candidacy in Third Ward

From motorman to alderman is the step essayed by J. G. Hendrick, who has announced his candidacy for representative of the Third ward in city council.

Hendrick, who is at present conducting a grocery and saloon at 1017 East Front street, declares he will make his independence of the organizations on a platform calling for an open city and staunch defense of the referendum as at present secured in this city.

When seen Monday afternoon at his place of business Hendrick was still wearing his motorman's cap, and declared absolute confidence in his reelection. "I have announced my candidacy," he said, "and I am going to win."

Hendrick is well known to patrons of the street cars in this city, having had turns on all lines operated by the Northern Texas Traction company. Part of the time he was employed as motorman and part as conductor. His latest service with the company was as motorman on the Interurban. Before running on the Dallas line he was employed by the company as special officer at Lake Erie, having gone to that position from the city police force, upon which he served over a year under ex-Chief William Rea. He was born in Jackson, Miss., and came to Birdville fourteen years ago, moving to this city from there.

At present he is holding at his place of business in a location at the Third ward thickly settled by street railway employees, the car barns being within a square of his home. As an employee of the Traction company he was a member of organized labor. His card announces his candidacy as subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

WILL ROOF STOCK PENS

Preparations to Begin for Fat Stock Show

Preparation of quarters for the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show will be begun shortly, following the decision of the directors of the Fort Worth stock yards not to erect a pavilion during the coming winter.

General Manager King of the stock yards has received instructions to place under roof the open pens lying east of the horse and mule barns and west of the hog pens. This will make 18,400 square feet more under cover, which can be used to shelter the exhibits in case the Fat Stock Show should be held at the yards. The north tier of pens in the hog division and the sheds in the Hickey barn on the east could be used as they were last year and the auction ring could be used for sale and for judging.

INGOT OF STEEL
COFFIN FOR TWO
 Unusual Burial Takes Place at Philadelphia Works

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—A funeral without a parallel in this city took place Sunday at Midvale steel works, where a forty-ton ingot of steel permeated with the flesh, blood and bones of two workmen was buried with the rites of the Roman Catholic church. The workmen who were so strangely laid away were John Forking and Joseph Gazda, two foreign-speaking laborers, who met a horrible death a week ago. They were in a pit near a cupola containing many tons of molten steel. A plug gave way and 50,000 pounds of the fiery fluid poured from the cupola and overwhelmed them. The men were completely incinerated and not a trace of them or their clothing was left.
 The Midvale Steel Company was opposed to selling the steel or using it for the purpose for which it was intended and it was decided to bury it with the rites of the church by which the unfortunate men had belonged. Therefore, the forty-ton ingot, oblong in shape, twenty-eight feet long, six feet wide and five feet thick, was moved last week by a traveling crane to the rear of the machine shop, where a grave ten feet deep had been dug.
 A great crowd sought admission to the works today, but only the two sisters of Gazda, who were dependent upon him for support, and about one hundred workmen who were on Sunday duty were permitted to attend the services, along with the officials of the company. Among the officials was President Charles Harrar. All heads were bared and flags were lowered at half mast, while two priests conducted the services. The great ingot was covered with earth and the funeral party dispersed. The grave of the men will be appropriately marked by the company.

BONDED LIQUOR BURNS
 Eight Hundred and Ten Thousand Gallons Destroyed
 CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 21.—At A. Overholt distillery at Bradford Sunday $100,000 gallons of whiskey furnished a spectacular fire, entailing a loss of $4,000,000, fully insured. The main bonded warehouse was burned to the ground. A steady northeast wind which blew the flames toward the Younghiogony river saved the town of Bradford, the building of H. C. Flick & Co. Company and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station.
 The A. Overholt Distillery is one of the largest manufacturers of whiskey in the world. The plant is practically owned by H. C. Flick and the Meltons of Pittsburgh. Much of the whiskey had already been sold and was being kept in storage for the owners.

PANIC OCCURS AT JEWISH SERVICE

Memorial Service for Russian Victims Interrupted
 CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Scenes of panic interrupted the morning service held for Jews murdered in Russia in the synagogue of the Congregation Beth Hamedrash Hagadol U'bnai Jacob Sunday.
 Worked into a white heat of emotion by the prayers and lamentations of the pathetic service, the 500 Jews in the synagogue, many with relatives and friends, or in immediate danger, were startled at the sound of a disturbance in the rear of the hall.
 A third on the floor and frightened cries took the music has fainting. An unreasoning fear struck the women in the galleries and many of the men below. In a flash the scene was changed from one of wild grief to one of a mob seeking escape.
 Women grabbed up their babies and fled screaming to the exits. Men jumped on seats and tables and fought to be the first out. It did not last long and no one was hurt seriously. Several were knocked down and bruised, but the rabbi and the cooler men in the congregation succeeded in quieting the rush in time.
 It developed that the man who fainted had been stricken with grief. He was lost in the riot that he caused.
 All through the ghetto, memorial services were held. In every synagogue of the district men pleaded for money to send to the suffering and starving ones in the land of the czar.
 Christian pastors in their pulpits spoke words of sympathy. Some said the United States government should intervene. Others asked financial aid for the Jews.

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

DEMANDED BIG MONEY
 CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Wm. S. McSwain and William Cole, his brother-in-law, were arrested here today, charged with attempting to blackmail J. Ogden Armour and other members of Armour & Co. for $100,000 in connection with the beef trust investigation, with letters which they are alleged to have stolen from the files of the company.
 McSwain was employed by Armour & Co. for four years as a stenographer, and in that way had access to part of the files of the packing company. Since the recent beef investigation was begun it is charged he has taken letters from the files of the concern.

MELVIN A CANDIDATE

Dr. A. D. Melvin is a declared candidate for the chairmanship of the bureau of animal industry. In answer to a telegram sent by Editor Neff of the Kansas City Drovers' Telegram, he wrote:
 "Replying to your wire even date have made application for position of chief of bureau; appreciate your interest in the matter."
 Mark MacKenzie, president of the American Stock Growers' Association, "TRINIDAD, Col. Nov. 45.—The writes as follows:
 American Stock Growers' Association will endorse Dr. Melvin to any position in the bureau of animal industry to which Secretary Wilson may appoint him. The members of our association have every confidence in Dr. Melvin's ability in the position of chief of the bureau and would be glad if Secretary Wilson should see his way to appoint him.

"MIRDO MACKENZIE"
 "Evil spirit."
 Every interest in the west appears to be following as a matter of course. The bureau ought to be operated for the benefit of the western stockman. It never has been, and the present is a good opportunity for Secretary Wilson to relieve himself of responsibility in the matter. Mark MacKenzie, president of the American Stock Growers' Association, a few days ago said that the organization had endorsed Dr. Melvin for chief of the bureau, but that, because of the political campaign being waged for the place in the west, the name would be appointed. Dr. Melvin to continue to act as available, as chief of the bureau. Mr. MacKenzie suggested that Dr. Melvin should be appointed as chief of the bureau, and indicated that his health was the best which would prevent his appointment as chief. Dr. Melvin's attitude sets all this doubt at rest.—Chicago Live Stock World.

WILL REMOVE FENCES

OMAHA, Nov. 21.—W. G. Comstock and Bartlett Richards, two prominent cattlemen in western Nebraska, Saturday pleaded guilty to the charge of unlawfully fencing government land, they themselves upon the necessity of the court and were sentenced by Judge Murray to pay a fine of $200 each and half of the costs, which amount to $500 and remain in the custody of the marshal for six hours. They begged leniency and received it upon the ground that for some time past, and at the present time, their employes are diligently at work in removing fences which unlawfully inclosed 212,460 acres of government land in Sheridan county.
 In the recent trial in the federal court of John and Herman Krause, it was demonstrated that the government was no longer temporizing with the fencing matter. Conviction was secured and heavy penalties imposed. In an affidavit filed last June Messrs. Comstock and Richards announced their intention to fight the indictment against them to the bitter end. The government also prepared for the fight and at the suggestion of Special Deputy Rush, the attorney who was appointed to look after these illegal fencing cases, secret service men were sent out to make investigations, and, under the direction of Special Agent Wheeler, they did so. They have been steadily at work since last July and only finished their reports some two weeks ago.
 It is probable that the success of the government in the Krause cases together with the vast amount of evidence in this case, secured by the secret service men, determined the defendants to plead guilty and take their chances.

SHIPPERS ARE COMPLAINING

Related runs are provoking considerable protest from live stock shippers. Much stuff has been getting late lately at an hour when markets are practically over.
 Added to delay in getting cars at shipping points, the situation is doubly aggravated.
 "If we cannot get in on decent time now, what will happen when the stormy season begins?" asked a shipper.
 Railroad officials decline to admit that they are not doing as well as ever, but wholesale shippers of claims on account of delays tells the story.
 "The trouble is that the tonnage system is still working overtime," said W. J. Hyslop of Omaha. "I have made the run from Galveston to Chicago in five and one-half hours, yet lately the time has been doubled. We get all kinds of excuses but the right one, the tonnage system. Railroad managers insist on engines being loaded to the last ton and as the result is frequent breakdowns delays are grievous."
 Shippers say they are forced to spend too much time on sidetracks and laying around yards at division points waiting for the accumulation of enough freight to make up the load an engine is required to haul.—Chicago Live Stock World.

LET TARIFF ALONE SAYS "UNCLE JOE"

House Speaker Declares No Need for Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Uncle Joe Cannon came bounding out of the sanctuary of the executive office, his shining countenance overcast with a troubled look.
 "Not with my vote will the country be held up by the fall this winter and all through the year," he said, when asked if it were likely that a bill, even remotely touching the Dingley schedules in a tender spot, would be presented from the republican side of the house at the coming session.
 "Where does this so-called demand for tariff tinkering" he inquired, "look at the latest balance sheets of the treasury. Don't they show that everything is all right? Is there need for revenue legislation? Who says there is? Avert all of our fellow-happy."
 "But maybe Mr. Babcock is not yet entirely happy about the duty on iron, and he may want to revise his measure to cut down the necessary tariff because thought the steel trust was getting from the Dingley law," was suggested to Mr. Cannon.
 Leaves Wisconsin Out
 "Oh, please!" snorted Uncle Joseph. "It seems to be coming about that this country is divided into two parts—the republic of the United States and Wisconsin." And then the man who will wield the gavel over the house of representatives of the fifty-ninth congress and behind the impregnable bulwarks of the committee on rules repud all attacks on the Dingley tariff sauntered on his way, as if in a happier frame of mind than when he emerged from a conference with the President, which had just taken place. Apparently, he had thrown a load from his mind by this speaking plainly his thoughts as to the wicked folly, from his viewpoint, of all such efforts as that which had been made by the day before by a powerful delegation of shoe manufacturers and leather dealers to induce President Roosevelt to exert his influence with congress to repeal, at the earliest practicable date, the present duty on hides.

WOMEN PARADE STREETS

Poverty-Stricken London Females Ask Convention of Parliament
 LONDON, Nov. 21.—Another poverty parade of the streets of London of five or six thousand women marched through the streets. Speeches were made and a resolution passed condemning charity as a cure for the lack of employment. The women demanded the summoning of parliament.
 Billions, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, nervousness, headache, giddiness and dizziness, wind and pain or fullness of the stomach after meals, cold chills and flushings of heat, shortness of breath—these are the blank cheques of physical bankruptcy.
 The man who suffers from these disorders and neglects them will soon be in the relentless grasp of some fatal disease. If he is naturally narrow chested and shallow lunged, it will probably be consumption; if his father or mother died of paralysis or some nervous trouble, it will probably be nervousness, dizziness or prostration, or even insanity; if there is a taint in the family blood, it will be blood or skin disease; if he lives in a new or a low, swampy country, it will be malaria; if he lives a life of exposure, it may be rheumatism. There is one safe course for a man to follow who finds himself "out of sorts" and suffering from the symptoms described. It is to resort to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine makes the appetite keen, corrects all disorders of the digestion, renders assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood and builds firm, healthy flesh and nerve tissue. It cures almost all diseases that result from "insufficient or improper nourishment of the brain and nerves, bronchitis, throat, and even lung affections, when not too far advanced, readily yield to it.
 A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Laxative cures constipation. One little "Pellee" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Don't let a selfish seller over-persuade you to accept a substitute for these Original Little Liver Pills. Beware of cheap imitations. Dr. H. V. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated but never equalled.

THE GREAT JOBBERS' SLAUGHTER SALE CONTINUES

Every Day This Week--Unprecedented Bargains

Extraordinary values that could only be made possible by such a gigantic sale as was held in St. Louis last week when five of the largest jobbing houses placed their surplus stock on the market regardless of cost and worth. Buyers as our Mr. Peel, who is constantly on the market, has special advantages and is favored by salesmen, hence we have the best values and were shipped out even before many had made their purchases. Hence, the goods are all in, showing upon special tables arranged so you can see and select during the crowded sale without confusion. There is no one showing half the amount of goods from this sale as we are, and not a single merchant who can name prices as low as we do on dependable, worthy goods. Every man and woman should attend this sale for the low prices penetrate every department of this great store. Come.

It is more than a food; you may doubt it, but it digests perfectly easy and at the same time gets the digestive functions in a condition so that ordinary food can be easily digested. Try it if you are run down and your food doesn't nourish you.

Is what every one says after trying our Sealship Oysters—quite different from some of the sawdust breakfast foods. Sealship Oysters are not only good for you, but taste good. They are very easily digested and like all shell fish contain the phosphates and brain food which are not found in the food products of the animal and vegetable world. Sealship Oysters come only in Patent Carriers, you're sure to get the genuine here because we handle no other kind of oysters. NOEL'S COLD STORAGE MARKET, 202 MAIN

Christmas Times

It looks like Christmas time at our store. Why? Because we are showing the most elaborate and comprehensive display of jewelry ever shown in Fort Worth. In one word we express ourselves about this showing—COMPLETE. The extent of our stock of jewelry is such that the intending purchaser is afforded a selection ranging from the most elaborate and expensive pieces to the very moderately priced and simpler articles. Do not make any jewelry, or, in fact, silverware, cut glass or cutlery purchases without first seeing our matchless qualities.

Diamonds

Would you like to feast your eyes on a $50,000.00 STOCK OF DIAMONDS? We can show them to you without charging you ONE CENT, and can sell them to you at 10 PER CENT LESS than ANYBODY. We heeded the advice of our importer and bought heavily in LOOSE DIAMONDS early in the spring, saving quite a snug sum, and can therefore give our customers the benefit of our wisdom. Our diamonds are sold by ONLY EXPERIENCED DIAMOND SALESMEN, and you are absolutely safe in their hands. That we save you 10 PER CENT on diamonds can't be disputed, if you consider the quality.

We wish to be judged by our works—not by our looks nor by our location, nor by our advertisements, nor by our prices. It's the work that counts. Work goes into our sponging—in our cutting, in our fitting, and in our making. The combination is our garments by which we wish to be judged. Specimens are to be seen on your well dressed friends or in our house, and your judgment requested as a basis for your future favor.
