Intruder Discovered in Room at Vickery Home

BELIEVE BURGLARY FOILED

Young Man Seized by Bride's Uncle—Suspect Says He Is a Farmer

Members of a wedding party being entertained at the residence of R. Vickery at the corner of Hill street and West Daggett avenue, had an exciting time Tuesday evening, when, upon the return of Charles Vickery from a trip to Ennis, Texas, made in connection with the wedding of his niece, Miss Lillian Vickery to George W. Works of Ennis, Texas, which is to take place tonight, he discovered a young stranger in his apartments in the second story about 8 o'clock, who was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, or why he was in the house. The police were at once summoned. Mr. Vickery this morning identified three rare coins found in the young man's possession.

Three Watches Missing

Immediately after the discovery of the stranger the guests made a thorough examination of the room in the lower floor containing the wedding presents, a large number of which had been arriving Monday and Tuesday, but found nothing missing. Examination of their personal effects, however, showed that three watches belonging to lady members of the house party, were also missing. Search of the house resulted in the location of the jewelry in an upper room wrapped together near a window.

It was also found that trunks, grips, bureaus and dressing cases had been tampered with in the probable search for articles of value in the various parts of the house.

Young Man Held

A young man giving his name as Edward Murray and his age 17 years, is held by the police on a charge of burglary. Murray says he is a farmer. According to the police Murray is declared by Charles Vickery to be the man the latter captured.

DENTIST'S BILL HEAVY

Prince Pays $1,000 for One Tooth and Four Fillings

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Prince Louis' strenuous life in America included several extra strenuous hours in a dentist's chair and that particular part of his program proved costly. The total time spent with the dentist was twelve hours, according to a friend of the prince, and the bill was $1,000. When the bill was presented the prince said nothing, but gave his check for the amount. Later in the day, however, he showed the receipt to his friend, Colonel Robert L. Thompson, who declared that it was pretty steep even for a New York dentist.

"The prince paid the bill as soon as it was presented," said Colonel Thompson last night, "and the matter would have ended there had I not seen the amount charged. I told the prince what I thought about it and his British sense of fair play caused him to make a protest. The bill as presented was not itemized, and the prince at my suggestion, wrote the dentist, asking that an itemized bill be sent to Sir Percy Sanderson, the British consul general. 'All further action will be in Sir Percy's hands.'"

"The work done by the dentist consisted in filling four teeth and putting in an artificial one."

CONFERENCE AT DALLAS OPENED

Many Delegates at Episcopalian Missionary Meeting

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 22.—Three bishops and many clerical delegates were present last night at the opening session of the missionary department conference of the Episcopal church in the Eighth district, and there were many lay delegates in the large congregation that thronged St. Matthew's cathedral. Three other bishops are to be present at the beginning of the business sessions this morning. The gathering will continue through two days, ending with a popular service on Thursday night.

Dean George Edward Walk presided at the exercises last night.

Dr. Arthur S. Loyd of New York, secretary of the board of missions, delivered an address on "The Forward Movement for Missions" in all parts of the world, beginning at home and extending into all the countries and to all the people of the world.

Dr. Arthur M. Sherman, missionary to Hankow, China, told of the opportunity for Christian work in the rapidly developing power in China and Japan, which must be made quickly either Christian or agnostic. Bishop Garrett welcomed the visitors, and especially the men who had spoken so fervently of the higher work for Christians, and a collection was taken. The closing prayer was read by J. T. Foster, missionary of the diocese of Dallas.

Business will have the attention of the delegates for the day and at night there will be a reception at St. Mary's college for the visitors and for the people of the city, a social gathering to make the visitors at home in the midst of this people.

This gathering is composed of the bishops and clerical and lay delegates from the six dioceses of the Episcopal church in the southwest, and is the first of the meetings of this kind provided for in the action of the triennial council of the Episcopal church at Boston last year.

Its aim is the education of the ministers and through them of the parishioners of the opportunities of missions at home and in other lands, and it is intended in this way to quicken the spiritual pulse and to enhance the Christian work of the church in all the world. Leaders in mission work and workers in home and foreign territories are present at this gathering and will be at all of the others in turn.

Of the sixteen districts into which the United States is divided this is the eighth. The dioceses and their bishops are: Texas, George H. Johnston; West Texas, James M. Johnston; Louisiana, Davis Semmes; Arkansas, W. M. Brown; Oklahoma and Indian Territory, W. T. Brooke; Dallas, A. C. Garrett. Bishops and clergy with lay delegates make up the congregation. Visitors are welcome to all of the sessions. Many of the women workers of the church are in attendance.

THREE CABINET MEMBERS TO STAY

Shaw, Moody and Hitchcock Will Remain Longer

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—Secretary Shaw will remain as secretary of the treasury in President Roosevelt's cabinet until the conclusion of the approaching session of congress, and perhaps for several months longer.

It has been understood in a tentative way that Secretary Shaw expected to retire from the cabinet about the first of February, if, indeed, he should not conclude to relinquish his official duties before that time. He himself was authority for this statement. It was understood generally that he desired to leave the cabinet with a view to greater freedom in promoting his candidacy for the republican nomination in 1908, although he himself never announced his intention to be a candidate.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Shaw had a conversation last February in the course of which the secretary consented to remain at the head of the treasury for another year, by which time he would have completed a full four years' term of the office. It was subsequent to the conversation that Mr. Shaw let it be known that he expected to retire from official life next February. President Roosevelt's attention was attracted to some recent publications that Mr. Shaw had presented to him his resignation, to take effect next February, or perhaps earlier, and today he had a conference with the secretary about the matter.

Shaw Changes Mind

After their interview it was announced that at the urgent request of the President, Secretary Shaw had consented to continue, as secretary of the treasury until the close of the approaching session of congress, and perhaps some time afterward. It is probable that if congress should adjourn prior to July 1, next, Secretary Shaw will remain in the cabinet until the end of the present fiscal year at least, and he may conclude to remain even longer. He will remain until the close of the session of congress, in any event, even if that should be beyond the end of the fiscal year.

Secretary Shaw's decision to continue as a member of the cabinet detracts materially from the importance of some stories published recently that the President and his secretary of the treasury differed radically on financial matters. The President entertains high regard for Mr. Shaw, both personally and officially.

At least two other changes in the cabinet have been in contemplation, but it can be said authoritatively that they will not occur soon. Attorney General Moody having formed a law partnership in Boston, expressed a desire to retire from the cabinet last July. The President persuaded him to stay for another year and hopes to have him remain in the cabinet until a year from the fourth of next March, or until the close of the Fifty-Ninth congress. He has not received yet a definite answer from Mr. Moody on that point.

Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department has indicated his wish to leave the cabinet before the conclusion of President Roosevelt's term of office, but he has informed the President that he will remain with him throughout the present fiscal year, and perhaps longer.

No intimation is given of the identification of the successors to Mr. Shaw, Mr. Moody and Mr. Hitchcock. Indeed, it is not known that the President yet has considered the questions involved in these appointments.

CANAL BOARD MEETS

Summary of Plans Being Prepared to Give to President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The subcommittee of three members with General Davis as chairman, which was appointed from among the members of the board of consulting engineers for the Isthmian canal to draw up a rough plan for a report to President Roosevelt, will hold a session today. Tomorrow the full board will meet and consider some minor questions which have come up since it reached its final conclusion last Saturday. The last meeting of the board will take place Friday and it is expected that the meeting will have more or less of a formal aspect and that General Davis will make a short speech thanking the members for their efforts and bidding the foreign delegates farewell.

Although the board differed in opinions, at all meetings the utmost good fellowship prevailed. No certain choice has yet been made of the member who is to go to Europe in January for a final arrangement, but very likely General Davis will be selected.

Postmaster-General Cortelyou Who Will Extend Merit System With Approval of President

POSTMASTER GENERAL CORTELYOU.

Good Postmasters to Be Retained in Office and Civil Service Plan Will Supersede Appointive System

Special to The Telegram

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—The most important changes in the organization of the United States mail service were not indicated in the general order which was made public a couple of days ago. No matter if the country chairman is deemed an excellent, good, fair or poor. Unless he keeps in the first or second class he will not hang on very long.

But where does the senator and congressman get off? So far as they have been heard from, they propose to be satisfied. Settling postoffice fights is generally conceded to be the bane of the congressman's life. It is very nice to have spoils to distribute; but when there is only one office, and the town is divided into two bitterly hostile camps over who is to get the one job, the congressman stands to lose.

Many a congressman has been defeated for re-election by some pestiferous postoffice fight. Under the new regime he will sit back and smile and pass it all up to the postmaster general.

Of course, the United States senate may get jealous of its "prerogatives." The senate has to "confirm" these appointments. If any senator wants to protect his "perk" he may refuse to confirm a man with an excellent rating, and insist on a henchman with no rating.

Such possibilities make the new departure all the more interesting. There are about 50,000 postoffices which will be affected by the new policy.

The first principle entering into Cortelyou's reorganization scheme is that the heads of the larger postoffices—and that means all above the grade of fourth class—are to have larger powers and a fuller measure of discretion.

Up to this time the postmaster has been seriously hampered by the Washington department. He had to run a tremendous business, and yet he could not turn around without asking the consent and approval of some red tape artist in the national capital, even to buying a cuspidor.

Then all the postmasters are to be rated on the merit plan. Records of efficiency will be kept in the Washington offices, and every man will have a rating. He will be either excellent, good, fair or poor. Unless he keeps in the first or second class he will not hang on very long.

POSTAL BUDGET GROWS

Total Estimate for Next Year is $193,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Postmaster General Cortelyou recently completed and forwarded to the secretary of the treasury estimates for the postoffice department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907. They show a reduction of expenses wherever it is believed it will not impair service, but makes provision for development of postal facilities to meet the growing needs of all sections of the country.

Estimates for the postal service at large in the field of service aggregate $193,000,000, an increase over last year's appropriation of about $12,000,000. This increase represents a normal growth of service based upon what postal authorities regarded as a most careful and conservative estimate.

For maintenance of the rural free delivery service and proper extension over $29,000,000 will be required. This is an increase of $3,000,000 over the appropriation for the current year which in turn is over $5,000,000 more than last year, so that the present estimate is $1,400,000 less than the increase of the present over the preceding year.

The extension of the pneumatic tube service is contemplated is shown by the fact that the estimate carries $22,000,000 more than the current appropriation.

RUSSIANS LOST

56,000 SOLDIERS

Manchurian Campaign Report Made Public by Officer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Colonel John Van R. Hoff, of the medical department of the United States army, who recently returned from the Russian army in Manchuria, with which he went through a part of the campaign in the war against Japan, has been authorized by the chief of staff to give out to experts his official report.

According to Colonel Hoff the number of killed and dead from wounds reached 37,642 men and the number of men dead from disease reached 18,830. These statistics are exclusive of the casualties at Port Arthur and show almost exactly two men dead from the results of battle to one man dead from sickness.

This record, according to statistics, is the best made in any war up to the present time.

The cost of transportation of the 600 horses to New York is about $60,000. There is a foreman for each train and two groomers in each car.

RAND TO LEAVE JEROME

Lawyer Who Prosecuted Nan Patterson Has New Place

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Rumors around the district attorney's office at the present time have it that Mr. Jerome on Jan. 1 will make many changes in his staff. It is quite certain that a number of his chiefs of staff and clerks will hand in their resignations before the first of the year and go into law concerns, and among these is William Rand, Mr. Jerome's chief of staff. After his resignation he will enter into a law firm with Frank Lord and J. Frederick Kernochan, with law offices at No. 63 Wall street.

ENGINE CRASHES INTO CARRIAGE

Invalid Woman and Companion Have Narrow Escape

HACKMAN IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Accident Occurs at Santa Fe Station—Vehicle Smashed But Occupants Unhurt

The engine of a Santa Fe passenger train crashed into a hack containing an invalid woman and her companion at the Fort Worth Union depot shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, severely injuring the driver and smashing the vehicle. The woman escaped uninjured and was hurried in another hack to the Texas and Pacific station, where she boarded a northbound train, declining to give her name. The man who accompanied her also escaped injury.

Hackman Injured

Tom Brooks, the hackman, was severely hurt, receiving severe bruises in being hurled from the box. He was taken to St. Joseph's Infirmary.

Brooks was called to the station shortly after the arrival of the north-bound train this morning and drove his hack between the tracks to get the invalid woman into the carriage with the least possible movement.

The woman had been placed in the conveyance and the driver turned toward the south, when the heavy train came moving rapidly from the north. The horses became frightened at the close approach of the train and reared and plunged across the track. The engineer saw the danger and reversed, but the train was too close upon the vehicle to prevent the collision and in a moment the crash followed. The horses reared up as the train struck the tongue of the carriage and were swept to one side, uninjured.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Nov. 22.—Booker T. Washington arrived in Muskogee Monday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock from Little Rock, Ark., accompanied by his secretary, A. C. Scott, and a delegation composed of twenty negro men from this city, who met him at South McAlester, I. T.

A delegation of about 4,000 negroes met the distinguished negro at the Katy depot and he was driven over the main streets of the city by the reception committee, which was composed of thirty minutes Washington was taken to the home of A. G. W. Sango, president of the negro banking institution, and was entertained at dinner, where forty guests were present.

FRENCHMEN STRIKE

Tulsa Sewer Laborers Ask Increase to Two Dollars

TULSA, I. T., Nov. 22.—About fifty trenchmen employed on the sanitary sewer system contract, struck for an increase of wages Monday afternoon. These men have been getting $1.50 a day, but demand $2. The outside gang, who have also been receiving $1.50 a day, ask no increase.

The main grievance of the strikers is that they are compelled to work in water on First street where they now wear, which compels them to buy rubber boots and other rough wearing apparel, which they say they cannot afford to do at the wages now received.

The strike is being conducted very peaceably and it is thought it will be short-lived as a settlement will doubtless be made soon.

The bullet entered the abdomen, ranging around the stomach and fracturing the hip bone, coming out near the spine and going into the wall of the room. The mother died Monday morning at 8 o'clock and her remains were taken to Laveria for interment.

STREET PREACHER

DISCUSSES WORK

W. S. Wheeler Has Had Varied Experience

A showman thirty years, twenty-six years a circus clown, converted at the Charles N. Crittendon revival Nov. 14, 1894, married in Dallas Nov. 12, 1897, first city missionary of the First Florence Crittendon Rescue Home at Houston, honorary member of Childs and City Marshals' association of Texas, as for the interest he manifested on behalf of their juvenile court and industrial school, chairman of the Charity Carnival Feb. 18, 1904, an organization which is still in existence and now known as the "United Charities," is the record of W. S. Wheeler, the clown preacher, who has been holding street services in Fort Worth the past week.

Mr. Wheeler has been continually in the work since he became a Christian, and has visited all the cities of Texas besides preaching in the streets of the large cities in nearly all the northern states and many of the eastern states. At Springfield, Ill., he met G. W. Murray, probate, county and juvenile judge of Sangamon county. Through Wheeler's solicitation Judge Murray appeared before the Texas legislature and interested that body in behalf of the industrial school and juvenile court.

"I have been frequently asked how many conversions I have made," said Mr. Wheeler today. "Who that query I can only reply that while I have seen many come to the altar and profess religion, I cannot enumerate how many came with a heartfelt feeling." While in Chicago during the summer of 1904, Wheeler held open air meetings in different parts of that city by the lake, including the Pacific Garden and Life Boat missions. While in St. Louis during the fair he also conducted meetings at various places. Mr. Wheeler visits county and city jails, penitentiaries, police courts.

Speaking of religion he said, "You can lead horse to water, but you can't make him drink. The same with man or woman. You cannot force it on them, but you can possibly lead them. The street is my church. No upholstered seats."

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY

Do Not Try to Drive and Force it to Work When it is Not Able or You Will Suffer All the More

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill-treatment before it "balks," but when it does you had better slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will forget all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is real honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's.

Lassiter and Colonel Taylor will not do.

In every speech there is something about the street sprinkling contract, something about a "closed town," with a side attack on Hawley or Padlock or someone else, and then a windup to the general effect that he stands for the people and those who oppose him are against them. This is substantially all there is to them unless the paper which is supporting him misrepresents him.

The council granted the Traction Company the right to build its Summit avenue line in response to a petition from the people living along and near the line. It did right. The wrong done was in imposing a franchise tax on Sam Rosen and not on the others. But the mayor and the council cannot repeal it. Under the referendum it is left to the people. Neither Colonel Taylor nor Mr. Lassiter are responsible for it, nor can they give the Traction Company or Mr. Rosen any additional franchise, for that, too, is left to the franchisees, for that, too, is left to the franchisees. They may get it into this campaign? It is as much settled and as much an issue as the doctrine of secession.

I know nothing about the merits of the street sprinkling contract, except that I know and he knows that no $750,000 nor the tenth part of it has been paid out on that account. It would be much fairer for the distinguished gentlemen to ascertain from the city auditor just what has been paid and state the amount. If he really is good faith means to make an issue of this he should then state whether or not he favors street sprinkling and if by private contract, at what rate. Apparently this is referred to for the purpose of discrediting R. B. Padlock, William Capps, John P. King, Frank Hovenkamp. By lives of honorable conduct these men have built reputations that cannot be swept away so easily. They were in the forefront of the struggle to make Fort Worth a city long before he ever devalued an interest in city affairs or an ambition to be mayor.

He speaks of the "closed town" in a deprecating way as if he was accused. Then he ventures the courageous statement that he will "enforce the law." I presume he means that he will close up gambling and will prevent Sunday selling by the saloons. This objection to him is a creation of his own brain. We already have a "closed town." Mr. McLean has settled that issue. This seems to be an adroit appeal to the prohibitionists.

If it were an "open town" the mayor could not close it.

He hasn't as much authority as a justice of the peace. The sovereignty of this oft repeated statement can be changed when you consider that for sixteen years he held positions in the county in which he could have closed the town as effectively as McLean has done and he did not do it. The saloons were wide open on Sunday and gambling ran riot. As district judge for twelve years, he had authority through his grand juries to indict. In addition to that he had authority by law to remove the county attorney and appoint a successor if he did not prosecute the indictment. In view of this power and of this record, who could expect of him as mayor if McLean should relax?

Are these charges and arguments made merely for the purpose of arousing men's prejudices—for political effect? Does the gentleman want the office that bad? What Lassiter or Taylor may have done in public position would be pertinent for their record is in issue, but what Padlock or Hawley (and no man doubts his integrity) or Powell or the Traction company has done have nothing whatever to do with it.

Is the gentleman really trying to prove that the people who are opposed to him all have a personal interest to serve—that all are dishonest—that he stands as the champion of the people—that the other candidates are the tools of the people's oppressors? If so, such sublime self-righteousness, such colossal conceit is amazing! It surpasses human belief. Who constituted him the people's champion? Are the little handful of men who selected him as their candidate, are they the people? Are the thousand and odd men—greater in numbers than have voted in either of the last three elections—all of the wicks of life who petitioned Lassiter to run, are they the people's oppressors?

If the gentleman does not claim this championship by reason of the number and character of the people who are responsible for his candidacy, then it is by reason of his lofty virtues. In what respect is he a better man than Newton Lassiter or E. W. Taylor?

LATER—Since writing the above, I have read the report of his speech last night in the Sixth ward. It is to be noted that it is entirely different from his former speeches. He mentions Hawley, the Capps Land company and the street sprinkling contract, but says that he blames none of these. He goes further and says that he is informed that Waggoner is not connected with the street sprinkling company and that the company has made no money. Instead of predicting rich and racy things to come from him in the future, he warns his hearers that such things are liable to be said about him. Why this change?

He now lays everything on the "system." What "system" whose "system"? What is its form and character and who dominates it? Through whom does it act and who is responsible for it? If it is an intangible, incorporeal thing existing and acting by thought, no one, it is of course, a safe thing to say by all these declarations to. It cannot feel, it cannot talk, it has no reputation, it cannot vote, it has no friends. It cannot fight. It is an ideal scapegoat. J. D.

RAIN PREDICTED

Cloudy Weather Shown Along Railroad Systems

Fort Worth weather conditions Tuesday showed little change from the day before. The maximum temperature was 45 degrees and the minimum 44 degrees. The same range of temperature was reported from the other weather bureaus of Texas. Rain to the extent of 3/8 of an inch was reported at Amarillo and a trace at San Antonio. Rain is predicted Thursday.

Weather throughout the country was generally cold Tuesday. The 68 degrees registered at Palestine, Texas, was the highest registered in any station of the country. Throughout the north fronts and freezing temperatures were general almost all of the northern stations reporting temperatures below the frost mark. The lowest of the day was again at Heavy Mountain, where the thermometer dropped to 12 degrees below zero. No heavy rains were reported Tuesday.

Reports from the joint tracks of the Texas and Pacific and Katy lines this morning from Fort Worth to Whitesboro showed that cloudy weather prevailed Tuesday night and this morning.

Along the Texas and Pacific main line general cloudy weather prevailed over the division as far west as Baird. Official statement of the weather bureau from the weather bureau this morning:

"A high barometer area covers the region east of the Mississippi, causing fair, cool weather.

"The southwest quarter of the country continues under low barometer influence, causing rain in the Texas Panhandle this morning.

"The middle Canadian border has an area of low barometer, causing snow in the upper lakes.

"The cotton belt is mostly cloudy and rain is falling at New Orleans."

PAY CAR COMING

Texas and Pacific Envelopes to Be Here Thursday

Normal conditions of traffic having been restored over the lines of the Texas and Pacific railway in Texas and Louisiana, the pay car of that company, in charge of A. L. Ewing, will arrive in Fort Worth from New Orleans Thursday night and will go west Friday morning to complete the first unbroken trip made over the lines since July.

Payment of the employees of the company has been uninterrupted, but has been accomplished in a round-about manner, this trip of the pay car showing that the last vestige of the quarantine existing between Texas and Louisiana is now abolished and freight and passenger traffic unhindered.

DALLAS BROKERS

OPERATING HERE

Injunction Secured Here Appears to Be Ineffective

Despite the fact that the railroads in Fort Worth have succeeded in securing a permanent injunction against all ticket brokers in this city, still the sale of tickets are reported here. This morning one broker was caught in the act of selling a ticket near the Texas and Pacific station. An arrest will probably follow.

A railroad attorney said today that there was no open violation of the injunction issued by District Judge Irlby Durkin, but that it was known that a few tickets have been disposed of since the court's ruling. It is, however, through the manipulations of brokers who live in Dallas who come to Fort Worth and push the sale of tickets. Not being under the injunction of Judge Durkin there is no way are proceeded against under a new action.

"Not one-tenth of the ticket scalping is being carried on that was done previous to the issuance of the injunction," said the attorney, "and we feel that the railroads have at least secured some relief."

THAT PROPOSED EXTRA SESSION

The newspapers of the state are still talking about that proposed extra session of the state legislature, and insisting that it should be called to remedy the defects in the Terrell election law, if for no other purpose.

Texas is, indeed, in a bad way when a counterfeit law, a law made possible by the corruption of clerks, shall be allowed to stand for the official act of the legislative body.

The Hon. Charles K. Bell has flung a challenge to the esteemed Dallas News. That publication has been insisting that graft has invaded Texas, but it has declined to give a bill of particulars.

Judge Bell is satisfied with existing conditions in so far as they relate to the faithful discharge of official duties by public servants.

The Dallas News undertake to convince Judge Bell of the error of his way? Will that publication introduce some facts to make good its charge of wholesale grafting in Texas?

Judge Bell is not seeking a controversy with the Dallas News or any other Texas newspaper. He has made a public statement to the effect that he has confidence in the honor and integrity of the democratic party in this state.

It begins to look after all like the agitation that has been made in favor of single statehood, the four territories interested are to be admitted as two states.

There is talk of considerable railroad building out in the western part of the state, but talk never builds railroads. It will take a whole lot of energy and capital to achieve the desired results.

The talk of additional candidates for governor is probably entirely untrue. It would appear from an inspection of the list already before the public that any addition would be a mere matter of superfluity.

William J. Bryan is a grandfather for the second time, but is too far away at present to extend a cordial personal welcome to his only grandson, who like his father, may be a good republican.

A most remarkable decrease is shown in the item of money in banks. In 1905 the total money in banks which was rendered for taxation was only $6,589,572, while in 1904 the amount was $14,622,087.

The total amount of money other than in banks, rendered for taxation for 1905 was $11,749,986, as compared with $12,035,744.

It has been well said that necessity is the mother of invention, and in that section of the state where seasons are uncertain the men who till the soil are learning a whole lot of new tricks.

A gentleman from Paris, Texas, spoke at the republican banquet in Fort Worth Tuesday night to the topic "Why I Am No Longer a Democrat."

In other words, he would no longer be an officeholder if he was a democrat. The statement that he was United States district attorney would have entirely obviated any necessity of speaking to the question.

That is an astonishing plea of the indicted packers of Chicago—that they can not be prosecuted because they were promised immunity by Commissioner Garfield.

It is the road the packers tried to travel, but they have met with a decided obstruction. The government is prepared to establish the fact that there is no promise of immunity from punishment.

The Texas papers are pretty generally advocating the sending of the "elder statesmen" to the legislature. The idea or proposition is a good one, but some of the "elder statesmen" would have to do better than they once did if any real benefit is to accrue to the state by sending them to the legislature.

Men are presumed to gather wisdom from experience, and they are also believed to lose their coolness and get down to business with advancing years.

UPON THE FARMERS' UNION TO PULL HIM THROUGH

Evicted Farmer Henderson has not been advised that the Farmers' union is non-political.—San Antonio Express.

It is believed there are a number of politicians in Texas who are figuring on bringing the Farmers' union into state politics.

Two gentlemen have announced for state treasurer. They will have to enlighten the public as to how many relatives they expect to quarter in the treasury office, and in doing so, it might not be amiss for them to say just how many of the present incumbents they wish to retain.

It is morally certain that neither of the candidates now before the people for state treasurer could do any more for their families than the present incumbent has done.

LITTLE TALES WELL TOLD

A dinner was given to General Charles Miller in Philadelphia on his recent return from Europe. Curacao figured among the liquors served with the coffee, and General Miller said with a smile:

"I was lurching on day at an English inn, after an inspection of some very interesting troops. Across the room sat a half dozen farmers—burly, red-faced farmers—being entertained by their landlord, a young viscount.

"With their coffee, as with this, each man got a thimbleful of curacao. One farmer—a man as strong as a bull and as red as a beefsteak—drained his little glass, and then thumped the table with his huge fist, and shouted to the maid:

"O'ay, young woman, O'll take some o' that in a mug."

Kentok Hori, the Japanese missionary now in Chicago, was criticizing education in the Occident. "A western education," he said, "lays too much stress on dates, facts, general information—all these things that one can look up in a jiffy in an encyclopedia."

"The Oriental education is better in that it deals only in such things as develop the mind, leaving general information quite alone.

"Of what great good is general information, after all? The utility of it was well brought out the other day in the conversation between two students.

"Think of it," said the first student. "It would take 12,000,000 years to pump the sea dry, pumping at the rate of 1,000 gallons a second."

"The other thought, then he said: "And where would they put all the water?"

President Paul Morton was entertaining at Manhattan Beach 750 agents of the Equitable Life. An agent from the West asked Mr. Morton if he believed advertising had benefited life insurance.

"Good advertising," the other answered, "benefits every form of business."

"But what is good advertising?" asked the agent. "Good advertising," returned Mr. Morton, "is the kind that strikes home, the kind that gives you a friendly feeling toward a concern. It makes you believe that it will be pleasant and profitable to deal with the advertiser."

"A Detroit grocer in my boyhood inserted in the papers an advertisement that I think was a good one. I still remember it. It ran:

"Twins are come to me for the third time. This time a boy and a girl. I beseech my friends and patrons to support me stoutly."

Edward B. Russ, who is to engross the treaty of Portsmouth, is a nature student. Like many nature students, Mr. Russ thinks that Roberts, Seton and the new nature writers attribute overmuch intelligence to animals.

"At the rate we are going now, it won't be long before we shall be hearing such animal stories as this: "An old man, on a lonely road among the mountains, was attacked by an eagle.

"The old man defended himself bravely. The bird scratched him with its claws and beat him with its wings. He struck it and kicked it and swore at it.

"Finally worn out, the eagle withdrew. But it did no good empty-handed. The old man wore a wig. This wig the eagle snatched off and carried away."

"Surely a remarkably sagacious action on the part of the bird, which, you will please note, a bald eagle."

Oliver Peebles Jenkins of Stanford university is head professor of the department of zoology. He is a scientist, and, therefore, often preoccupied and absent-minded.

He was reading one evening after dinner when his wife approached and, touching him on the shoulder, remarked softly:

"Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Branner are coming over this evening, so just go upstairs and put on your other coat."

The quiet little professor complied without a murmur. An hour later, when the visitors had been in the house some time, the hostess excused herself for a moment and slipped upstairs to see what detained Dr. Jenkins. She found him in bed, calmly sleeping.

"Oh, to be sure, the Branners," he said when she awakened him. "I guess I was a little absent-minded. I must have forgotten what I came for when I removed my coat, for I kept right on undressing and went to bed."

Some years since Colonel Pope, E. D. Jordan and the late Marcellus Eldredge became interested, with others, in building a new hotel at Chatham. These gentlemen late in the autumn made a trip down the Cape to select a site for the hotel.

One of the party called attention to the ducks and said: "Now, colonel, there is a chance to try your skill as a marksman."

The driver stopped the wagon, and Colonel Pope, dismounting, called out to the boy: "What will you take to let me shoot at your ducks and have all I kill?"

VERSES THAT RING

A REVISED RECESSIONAL

Turk of our fathers, noble bird, Whom at harvest home we've heard Through bars whose songs thy worth have sung Since steeped bells our thanks have run, And when I pen these halting rhymes, To wear thee of the festal times When people thankful are, my pet— Lest you forget, lest you forget.

How prone art thou, when scattered 'round An amplitude of corn is found To keep thee pecking hard and fast Upon this treacherous life's repast, Upon this treacherous life's repast, How prone art thou to strut and eat, And think with food life is replete. I warn thee life exacts a debt, Lest you forget, lest you forget.

How like art thou, my feathered friend, To mortal man, who sees no end To all that life to him holds dear, But lives as though forever here His bounding step and lofty mien Were destined to be heard and seen. I warn thee, he the end has met— Lest you forget, lest you forget.

Turk of my fathers, this the time When some tall timber thou shouldst climb, Shouldst hoist thyself on ample wing, Ere roared thy bones thy praise we sing. For lo! the world with mighty cracks To earthly fowls applies the ax. Herein these warnings I have set, Lest you forget, lest you forget.

Generally people will confess a thing that they can't lie out of. The oddest thing is the way a woman can do things without knowing how.

Wonder how a woman figures it out that lace ruffles keep her feet warm? A man can have friends almost as long as his money lasts unless he lends it to them.

When you ask a girl for her photograph it is a sign she is going to have a new one taken that will not look like her if she is proud of it.—New York Press.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22. Special to The Telegram.

Representative William Allen Smith of Michigan is not at all impressed by the demand of the shoe men for free raw hides and the general talk of tariff revision that is going round.

He says that if there is any tariff revision it will have to be done without his support, and he is in no way frightened at the thought that his constituents will punish him for his views.

"I was elected to congress to succeed a democrat from a great agricultural and manufacturing district," he said. "That was twelve years ago, and my election, like that of many other republicans at the same time, was a protest against the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill. Then years ago I assisted in the passage of the present tariff law. It has brought the country great prosperity. If there is to be tariff revision it will have to be done by others, as I do not sympathize with any effort in that direction at this time. I am opposed to it, and will resist it in every way.

"Yes, I notice there is a demand for free raw hides. Why not a demand for free wool, and a demand for free other things? The trouble is that it will be impossible to safely enter upon a partial revision of the tariff. There are no doubt some changes that would be satisfactory, but once started in the change and then it will go all along the line. Rather than do that, I prefer to let the law stand just as it is.

"I think German officials are very friendly toward our government. We have no better friend than Emperor William. Any trade arrangement that can be made with Germany consistent with the most favored nation clause of our treaties with other countries ought to be made, but we should be very careful that we don't lose more trade than we get in return. There should not be hasty sentimental concessions."

Fred Southers Describes Conditions of Affairs There

Fred Southers, a former cigar manufacturer of this city and at one time treasurer of Fort Worth Trades Assembly, has returned to this city after an absence of about a year, during which he visited Cuba and the Isle of Pines.

It has been but a few weeks since he was at the Isle of Pines, a visit of a few days being made there before coming to the United States from Cuba. Conditions there, he declared, were rapidly assuming the shape, culminating in the revolution against Cuban rule. Actual news of the uprising, however, was not learned by Mr. Southers until he had reached this city.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Anniversary of First Observance Falls on Nov. 21

Yesterday was Thanksgiving Day strictly speaking, the anniversary of the New England celebration coming upon that date. First Thanksgiving Day was celebrated by the Plymouth colony, Nov. 21, 1621. In a few years the custom was observed in all New England, and after the revolution spread westward and southward. President Washington set apart the day by official proclamation, and it has since become an annual custom. The day is now celebrated the last Thursday of November.

SUSANNE SANTSJE IN "SOWING THE WIND"

"Sowing the Wind," a cleverly constructed drama by Sydney Grundy, the eminent playwright, will be presented at Greenwells' opera house, Nov. 22, opening matinee and night. Nov. 23, opening matinee and night. This play will be used as a vehicle to present our theatergoers Miss Susanne Santsje as a star. This lady is well known, having been seen in many congenial roles, notably that of Dora in "Diplomacy," in which she scored an unequalled success, receiving for her work the highest encomiums. The part of Rosamond in "Sowing the Wind," bears a very close relation to that of Dora in "Diplomacy," in that it calls for the power to adequately demonstrate pathos, comedy and highly emotional qualities. The play is of the third act in "Sowing the Wind" is dramatic in the extreme, and it is said that Miss Santsje fills the requirements of the author in a decidedly artistic manner. Miss Santsje possesses youth and great beauty and above all that particular quality called magnetism which aids one so much in securing success upon the stage. "Sowing the Wind" will be presented in a manner quite in keeping with its original production at the Empire theater. New York, and Manager Al S. Roth has taken special care in the selection of an adequate cast to properly support Miss Santsje.

SAWMILL BLOWN UP Boiler Bursts Killing One and Injuring Two Persons GROVETON, Texas, Nov. 22.—The sawmill belonging to Mangum & Magee, three miles northeast of town, was blown to pieces by an explosion of a boiler, caused by high pressure and lack of water, Monday. The boiler and boiler house were completely demolished and other parts of the machinery injured, though not beyond repair.

WILL MOURNING, colored, was killed outright, his body being found fifty yards from the mill. Sol Mangum, senior partner, was cut in the back and Clint James was hit on the head by flying timbers. Mr. Mangum was never unconscious, and says parts of the boiler were flung hundreds of feet into the air. Most of the employees escaped damage by being greened by the mill house.

Mr. Magee thinks the mill will be running in two or three weeks, as he hopes to be able to get a boiler from the Trinity County Lumber company. No insurance.

COTTON ACREAGE TO BE REDUCED Movement for Next Year Already Put Under Way

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 22.—President Harvie Jordan of the Southern Cotton Association, in an interview yesterday said the proposition to tie up 2,000,000 bales of cotton and hold for higher prices in the face of the already established short crop and unprecedented consumption is well under way and promises successful results. He said: "The entire machinery of the association will be put in motion within a few days leading the cotton growers of the south to reduce acreage for next year. We begin this early to hold down the acreage to give the planters full opportunity to make arrangements for another year."

OF INTEREST TO THE CATTLEMEN

SPLIT CATTLE LANDS

GUTHRIE, Okla., Nov. 22.—The action now being taken by the Territorial school land leasing board in classifying its lands in Beaver county, means the end of the big cattle ranges in Oklahoma. Beaver is the last stand of the cowman, and rapidly the homesteadier is driving him out of even that county, where until the past two years the land was considered of but little use except for grazing purposes.

The territory has a total of 226,550 acres of school land in Beaver, of which 267,271 is common school land, 15,075 school indemnity lands, 2,560 college indemnity lands and 1,540 public building lands. During the past six weeks Charles M. Crocker, school land inspector, together with Fred Madison and W. H. Carter, appraisers, visited every quarter section of school land in that county, classified it and placed a value on each tract, which will be the basis of the board in determining the rental value of each tract. This is the first time the Beaver county lands have been classified, and the great majority of them have been leased in large tracts for grazing purposes. When asked today what the board would do in regard to the leasing of these lands hereafter, Governor Ferguson said: "While as yet the board has taken no decisive action, yet it is the policy to cut the size of the leases to the smallest area possible, and in time each lease will compose but a quarter section of land. At the present much of the land must still be leased for grazing purposes, but agricultural leases will succeed these as rapidly as possible."

There are at present but 131 lessees holding the entire school land acreage in Beaver county. Of these fifteen hold 171 sections, eight hold three sections each, eighteen hold two sections each, 119 hold one section each, four hold three-fourths section tracts each, five hold one-half section tracts each, and only twelve at present hold a quarter section each. A considerable part of the school lands, leased for grazing purposes, is held by out-of-the-territory cattlemen, who use the land for a summer feeding ground, as the grass attains a luxuriant growth, and in some instances after it becomes dry is sufficient to winter cattle on, especially in mild seasons.

For the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1934, the territory received a total of $2,975,671 in rentals from the school lands in Beaver county, of which $8,732 went to the common school fund. The classification of the lands means a much larger common fund, and the making of improvements on numerous tracts of school lands in that county. Soil leases are daily being erected in that locality and are dotting the prairie in every direction.

NEW COMMISSION RULES

In the issue we publish a very interesting editorial from The Texas Stockman-Journal in regard to the proposed action by the commission firms at the several leading markets to increase the rates for handling live stock. Since receiving this article we have learned that the new rules have been adopted by the several live stock exchanges, to go into effect Jan. 1. These new rules will only cause a greater tendency among the producers of live stock to sell at home, and one way to retaliate will be for the producers in different localities to band together, concentrate their marketable stock at conveniently located home points at a certain date, and offer liberal inducements such as free railroad fares, free hotel bills, etc., to bring the buyers into the country. It is just possible that in time the commission men will discover that they have in a measure "killed the goose that laid the golden egg." It may be well for us to add that in a case of this kind, such papers as The Texas Stockman-Journal, this paper and other independents of the live stock press, will line up as the true champions of the producers' cause, and the subsidized market papers will be forced to show their true colors and take up the fight in behalf of their poor, down-trodden masters—the commission men.—Hugo (Colo.) Range Ledger.

SHIPPING CATTLE WEST

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 22.—For the first time in the history of the cattle business in Northern Montana, beef steers have been shipped to Pacific coast markets. Five hundred and fifty head of choice steers from a Teton county range were today shipped to a Tacoma packing firm and a representative of that firm has purchased many more in Northern Montana for early shipment, while others will be held on feed or ranches in Teton county. Those who have sold figure that they netted about $5 per head more than they would have netted if they had shipped to Chicago.

FEEDING AT HILLSBORO

J. D. Dyer, a prominent feeder of Hill county and who, with E. M. Frammel, will feed in the neighborhood of one thousand steers this season at Hillsboro and other points, is down spending a day or two at the fair and incidentally inquiring into the feeding and range conditions. This is his second trip to San Antonio. He says the country so far as he has seen and heard is looking good. If he is looking for steers to feed he was wise enough to not mention it to newspaper reporters. They always have a way of publishing items of this nature and they eat the sellers sometimes. Mr. Dyer has been in the business long enough to know that the man who wants to sell his steers is better to trade with than a man who has plenty of grass and don't care whether he sells or not.—San Antonio Express.

Exciting Argument Marks the Session at Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22.—At the morning session of the American Federation of Labor Frank Foster of Boston, chairman of the committee on President Compters' report, read a supplementary report. The matter of an eight-hour day for the union printers was discussed and the executive council in giving the printers moral aid and financial support commended. The council was instructed to continue to aid the printers if it became necessary after Jan. 1. The committee reported the eight-hour day for printers in force in 263 cities and towns in this country and Canada. The assessment of 4 cents a member was ordered by the Federation to aid the printers in their contest. This assessment is expected to yield about $80,000. The 50-cent assessment made by the International Typographical Union has been endorsed by that body by a vote of 25,948 to 6,324.

Delegate Johnson of Chicago made a severe attack upon the Industrial Workers of the World, characterizing them as enemies of free speech and free government. He resented the imputation that the American Federation of Labor is an American "Federation of Crafters," as the Industrial Workers of the World are said to have called the federation.

Delegate Goldstein of Boston followed the speaker with a drastic address, in which he condemned socialists for inconsistency and an ill-timed attack on the Federation of Labor and its officers. Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee replied to the two addresses in a witty speech and said the socialists, numbering about 10,000,000 in this country, are the night watchers of the American Federation of Labor. Max S. Hayes of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the champions of socialism, followed with a speech defending the socialist party.

Souvenirs Condemned

The principal feature of the day's session came in the afternoon when the section of the grievance committee's report was presented asking for the abolition of the souvenir program in connection with union events. It charged representatives of the smaller labor unions throughout the country with grafting, forgery and threatening the employers with strikes and boycotts in getting out souvenir books for Labor Day and other occasions.

A resolution was offered and adopted condemning the issuing of souvenir books by the labor unions, and hereafter it is likely that none will be issued.

The exposure came about as a result of a resolution offered condemning the Philadelphia Central Labor Union for using advertisements of firms whose names had been placed on the unfair list in the souvenir program issued last Labor Day.

One of the delegates accused those having charge of the Federationist, the official organ of the Federation of Labor, of applying the same methods, but a vigorous denial was made by President Compters, who is editor of the paper. He said that the Federationist never got out souvenirs, and challenged any of the delegates to expose any corruption in connection with the publication of the paper.

RHEUMATISM
RELIEVING THE PAIN
IS NOT CURING THE DISEASE.

No class of sufferers are subjected to such torture as are those afflicted with Rheumatism. When this disease becomes entrenched in the blood it seems to affect every part of the body with its sharp, shooting pains and other disagreeable symptoms.

When the sufferer is in this condition relief must be had at once, and any treatment that will ease the pain and suffering is used. Plasters, fiery liniments, penetrating oils, etc., are applied and often medicines containing morphine or other destructive opiates are taken internally.

The cause of Rheumatism is a too acid condition of the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys, torpid liver and a general sluggish condition of the system.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

"Kid" Parker, who was recently released from a Denver sanitarium, says he will return to the ring.

"Denver Ed" Smith, the once prominent heavyweight prize fighter, is conducting a boxing school at Newport, Ky.

Israel Zangwill, the novelist and playwright, has taken up boxing. Well, why not? Look at the boxers who have taken up writing and the stage.

The New York Giants will not be taken to California for spring training after all. The team will get into condition in Savannah or Memphis.

Young Corbett, who has shown lack of form in his last four fights, will not re-enter the ring until late next month, when he will meet Fred Lander, who was recently given a sleeping potion by Willie Fitzgerald in twenty-five rounds in Frisco.

Tad Jones, Yale's speedy quarter, will not play again until the sons of Ell line up against Harvard. His sprained ankle is troubling him and the coaches will take no chances by permitting him to play before his condition warrants it.

Manager Nolan announced in New York this week that Battling Nelson's next opponent in the ring will be Jimmy Gardner. Nolan said he had promised the Boston boy the first chance at Battling and that Britt must stand aside until Nelson is ready to take him on.

The decision of a New York judge that boxing bouts, held under the auspices of a duly organized club, at which no admission fee was charged, are not a violation of law, has encouraged the Gotham sports to believe that the lid may be raised soon and limited round bouts pulled off under police supervision.

STOCKS

Special to The Telegram
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—From the moment that the stock exchange opened for business on Monday morning of the present week, the frequenters of a street have been treated to a series of rapid advances, many of which have bordered on the spectacular, and today's early session furnishes another sensation in the shape of a 4-point advance in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, carrying that stock to 91, which is the highest point attained in some years; in fact since 1899.

GRAIN

Special to The Telegram
CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Wheat was irregular today. In the early trading shorts did considerable covering and for a time the market promised to react from yesterday's decline, but after working up 1/4c above last night's close for the May option, the support weakened and the market encountered renewed selling, with the result that prices broke a cent from the high point. A partial reaction was effected in the late trading and the close was at a loss of 1/8c for the December option, while May was off 1/4c. Local receipts, 144 cars, against 118 cars last year. Seventy-four cars are expected tomorrow.

COTTON

Special to The Telegram
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The fact that early cables were hardly up to expectations was the primary influence effecting a decline in the local market today. On the opening, near positions were down 5 to 11 points, and following the call there was quite a heavy volume of profit-taking by longs, which got in before the bureau report was issued yesterday, and this caused a further loss of 2 to 5 points to 11.25c for January, and 11.49c for March. After hanging around these figures for a short time a fresh stimulus was given the market by the estimate of a local firm, placing the crop at 300,000 bales.

More than 800 children's Cloaks at prices that will create a panic . . .

Beginning at $1.25 for any size from 6 years up to 14. Need we tell you again how we got these Cloaks?—a purchase of more than three thousand Cloaks by a syndicate of buyers. They were bought cheap and all we want is a small, possibly a niggardly 25c advance on a garment. We know that will make the Cloaks to you (considering the way they were purchased) at less than the cloth and buttons cost. Thursday is the day. Remember, on the same day, in order to make clearance of about 200 Girls' School Suits, we will close them at exactly—note the exactly—half price, and that will be like finding money or getting a letter from home. FALL COLDS
Prominent Society Woman Advises Fort Worth People Best Means to Cure Them

"To the People of Fort Worth: Knowing how prevalent hard colds are at this season of the year, and into what danger they often lead, I want to tell you of my experience, as it may be the means of saving your life, as I believe mine was saved by Vinol, the best cod liver oil preparation in the world.

SALLIE VAN WICK.

"On my way home from a reception, thinly clad, I contracted a severe cold and cough. I tried different cod liver oil preparations and other remedies; they only upset my stomach and gave me no relief. I finally sent for my physician. He prescribed for me, but I constantly grew worse, and as a last resort he advised me to try Vinol. I found it was delicious to take, and did not upset my stomach like the other cod liver oil preparations. It soon effected a complete cure, built up my general health, and made me feel stronger and better than I have for years.

"My druggist, from whom I purchased Vinol, tells me that it has taken the place of old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, because it contains in a highly concentrated form all the medicinal, curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of the system-clogging oil or grease to upset the stomach and retard its work, and if Vinol does for Fort Worth people what it did for me it will be worth $100 a bottle to them."

Sallie Van Wick, Vice-Pres. of the Anderson Driving Club, Atlanta, Ga.

Our local druggist, Mr. R. A. Anderson, says we have never sold a remedy in our store equal to Vinol for chronic coughs, colds and bronchial troubles, or to build up a run down system, and we will return the money in every case where it fails to give satisfaction.

TO THE TELEGRAM

AGAIN, THE RECORD

It is very refreshing to see a newspaper have the independence to come out in the open and take a positive position on public matters, even though, as in the present case, it gets on the wrong side.

But it is to be lamented that it cannot be fair in its discussion. In this morning's issue the Record puts up a man of straw and proceeds to pummel it with a valor that would do credit to a better cause.

It takes a paragraph from its local columns, written by one of its reporters, credits it to Mr. Lassiter, and then proceeds with great vigor to demolish it. By taking an extract from almost any article or speech without regard to the context an expert writer can put a person in almost any attitude, on any subject, he pleases. We are all working to the same end, as we see it, the good of the city. Let us be fair about it. If we are so blinded by prejudice that we can't be fair, let us be as fair as we can.

GREAT NORTHERN SUES

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 22.—Suits to enjoin ticket scalpers on the ground that they are interfering with interstate commerce was begun in the United States court Monday. The Great Northern filed complaint against A. Ottinger, L. H. Biehler and M. H. Miller, running a cut rate ticket office in Spokane. The railroad company gave notice that it will appear before the federal court Dec. 4 and ask for an injunction restraining defendants from selling tickets at cut rates.

"I THANK THE LORD!"

cried Hannah Plant of Little Rock, Ark. for the relief I got from Bucklin's Arnica Salve. It cured my fearful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for five years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at Walkup & Fielders, Holland's Red Cross Pharmacy, 1212-1214 Main Street, Fort Worth, Texas.
