Harvest Time For Smallest Wheat Crop In History

The smallest wheat crop on record for this northwest section of Floyd County is almost ready for harvest. Local elevator men say that they have no recollection of a wheat crop to match the one this year. They are estimating that no more than 20,000 to 30,000 bushels of wheat will be harvested in the north part of the county whereas last year the crop in the same area probably totaled between one and a half and two million bushels.

Two factors, the green bugs and the drought have combined to bring the crop failure on. The mild winter brought on the green bugs and the dry weather aided them in their destruction.

The first load of wheat from the 1950 crop is expected here within the next ten days. Floydada is expecting a load this week and at least one load has already been hauled into Crosbyton.

Generally speaking where there is any wheat left to harvest the yield will not run more than seven or eight bushels, although some spots will yield more than that. Jack Billington, living west of Lockney, is reported to have some wheat that will yield 15 bushels per acre and J. M. Tye living north of town has some that will yield from 10 to 12 bushels, it was reported.

Other parts of Floyd County are more fortunate with some yields as high as 20 bushels reported in the area south of Dougherty and 15 bushel per acre wheat being common in the Lakeview area.

Harvest East of Here

The harvest is getting started in the areas of Hardeman, Foard, Wilbarger, Knox, Baylor, Wichita, Childress and Hall counties with many combines from this area working there.

Motley county harvest is expected to start June 10, according to a bulletin from Texas Employment Commission.

Telephone Co. Asks Rate Raise; Plan Dial System

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is this week approaching the people of Lockney with a proposition to install a new $100,000 dial telephone system here if the city council will authorize a rate raise for the company. The proposition was revealed by J. A. Cornell, manager at Plainview and W. A. Thomas, district manager at Amarillo.

The dial system, Cornell said, will be modern and complete in every respect. To provide the new service, a dial telephone building must be erected, a dial switching system must be manufactured and installed here, and all telephones in Lockney must be replaced with dial instruments.

The large additional investment required to install a dial system in Lockney makes the new schedule of telephone rates necessary, Cornell said.

The proposed new rates represent an increase of $1.00 a month for business telephones, $1.25 for private-line residence telephones, and $1.00 per month for two-party line service. Also rural business and residence service will cost $1.00 per month more.

Charges for other items of service will also be increased, Cornell said, to bring the rates in line with the present day cost of furnishing them.

Lockney now has more than 660 telephones, over three times as many as in 1940, Cornell reported. Many of these are rural telephones.

Under the dial system all local operators will be eliminated and the only local personnel will be maintenance men. The Beacon was informed.

When the dial system is in operation, the manager said, the telephone user will be connected almost instantly with any other telephone here simply by dialing the number.

"We are glad to be able to offer dial telephone service to Lockney," Cornell said, "and we are sure that our customers here will be pleased with the fast modern, dependable service they will receive from the new dial system."

West Texas Youths Plan College Careers

Lubbock.—A survey of 482 high school seniors in West Texas and eastern New Mexico indicates that 60 per cent of the students expect to enter college next fall.

The survey was made by Vernon G. Higginbotham, Texas Tech student from Lubbock, under the direction of Dr. V. T. Clover, associate professor of economics and management. Fifteen high schools cooperated in the study, all of them in cities of 15,000 population or less.

Findings show that 20.8 per cent of the college-bound seniors intend to go to Texas Tech, 6.5 per cent plan to attend West Texas State, and 5.8 per cent indicate they would go to Hardin-Simmons. Thirty per cent of the seniors plan to go into the general field of arts and sciences while 22 per cent expressed a preference for business administration. Other preferences were agriculture, 16.7 per cent, engineering, 10.9 per cent, and home economics, 6.8 per cent. Thirteen per cent had not made a decision.

Even the students who do not plan to go to college are interested in further learning. Fourteen per cent of the non-college group indicated that they would attend business college, and a small number said they would go to trade schools.

Of the scholarships which students had offered to them at the time of the survey, 55 per cent were athletic and 54.8 per cent were scholastic grants.

High school seniors who answered the questionnaires included those at Lamesa, Plainview, Littlefield, Memphis, Olton, Paducah, Idalou, Abernathy, Crosbyton, McLean, Roaring Springs, Matador, Monroe (New Deal), Turkey and Clovis, N. M.

Three Counties Plan Water Districts

Water users in three counties on the High Plains are moving to form underground water conservation districts under provisions of House Bill 162 passed by the Texas Legislature in the spring of 1949.

Initial steps towards forming districts have been taken by irrigation farmers and other water users in Dallam, Lamb and Hockley counties.

Tentatively set for the early part of June in Texline, Dallam County, is a hearing at which the State Board of Water Engineers will define the boundaries of an underground water reservoir or sub-division in that area for the purpose of creating a district, according to a report by Frank Tatum, Dalhart attorney.

The Board of Water Engineers recently announced that it had completed its field work in connection with designating the reservoir. Boundaries of the district will be co-terminus with those of the reservoir.

Tatum said the Dallam County group would proceed with plans for an election creating a district, following the Board's hearing.

In Hockley and Lamb counties, petitions are being circulated seeking definition by the Board of Water Engineers of an underground water reservoir or sub-division thereof.

The Hockley county petition, which calls upon the Board to recognize that county as a district, is being circulated under leadership of the Hockley County Farm Bureau.

Neighboring Lamb County has held two "water law forums" under sponsorship of the Lamb County Water Conservation Association. Meetings this week in Springlake and Amherst drew nearly 400 persons, with 156 signing petitions asking for designation of a reservoir or sub-division thereof, according to Gus Parish of Springlake, president.

Petitions from Hockley and Lamb counties have not yet been submitted to the Board of Water Engineers. Hockley County reportedly is aiming for 1,000 signatures. Lamb County with more than 1200 irrigation wells, hopes to get about 50 per cent of the water users to sign.

After boundaries have been settled on, water users must petition for an election at which property-owning, tax-paying voters may decide of creation of a district. If the Board of Water Engineers has designated a district within a single county, then the County Commissioners' Court calls the election. If the district reaches into more than one county, the Board of Water Engineers must be petitioned to call the election.

Districts, administered locally by elected boards of five directors each, have authority under the law to protect, preserve, conserve and re-charge the underground water supply in reservoirs over which they have jurisdiction.

It is estimated that there is at least 50,000 unnecessary Caesarian operations performed each year, most of which are demanded.

Prepare Woodwork For Repaint Jobs

Proper Preliminaries Make Task Easier

Woodwork in farm homes can be repainted more effectively if proper steps are taken to prepare the surface beforehand.

This conclusion was announced after a study of the subject by the Eagle-Picher company of Cincinnati. Their survey, according to reports, showed that preparing the surface beforehand will always be valuable, whether the work is to be done by a professional, or by the farmer himself.

If the woodwork has been painted before and the paint is in good condition, it should be washed down with a few drops of benzine on a dry cloth. This is done to remove any grease. Care should be taken, however, as benzine is inflammable.

Should the present paint on the woodwork be in poor condition, then it should be removed entirely, or at least in the bad spots, with a paint remover. This applies especially to areas with blisters, roughness, streaks or looseness. Any paint left on should be cleaned with benzine.

A new set of standards for the cream will be announced by the Federal Pure Food and Drug Administration in 1951. Among the things to be required are better quality and less air whipped into the cream mixture.

No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.—Matthew 6:24.

The recent refunding of city bonds brings to the minds of most of us that the city council which has served the City of Lockney for the past few years has been the most progressive and wide awake group working in that capacity in some time. Mayor G. M. Brunner and the aldermen working with him have accomplished many things that have been of great benefit to the city, not the least among which was the refunding of the bonds and getting the city back on its feet financially. This was no small achievement and we who are citizens of the city ought to appreciate this work very much.

The fact that the council has had "good times" in which to do their good work is no less credit to them. A good job done is an accomplishment whether in good times or bad. Of course in order to put the "house in order" it has been necessary to raise tax valuations slightly and to raise the water rates also. But these are now no higher than most cities of this size and not as high as many of them. We should remember that when we are demanding a lot of city services which we think should be forthcoming on a moment's notice that it takes money, and a little more than it used to take, to get the job done. Personally we don't mind paying a little more if the services rendered increases with the cost and we feel that this has been the case as far as the city is concerned.

The Beacon editor has tried to list a few of the accomplishments of the council in the past few years and here they are as best we could remember them: Refunded city bonds and secured lower rate of interest. Extended water and sewer lines to serve more people and thereby increase the city's revenue.

Purchased new fire truck and a new chassis for the old truck, giving the city two new modern pieces of fire fighting equipment.

Purchased a city street grader which is also used as a street sweeper and relieved the business men of the cost of hiring a man to sweep the city streets. Purchased a new pick-up for the water superintendent. Built a new building for the city pumping equipment. Secured an old building and remodeled it into a fire station large enough to house both fire trucks and provide a recreational room for the fire boys. Secured a commitment from the highway department to hard-surface Main Street from curb to curb.

You may not agree with everything the council has done but we believe that any fair-minded person must agree that all-in-all they have done a good job.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

FROM THE SOIL... TO THE SOIL

IN 1862, CONGRESS ENACTED LAWS FOR LAND GRANTS TO THE STATES, ESTABLISHING STATE COLLEGES WITH EMPHASIS ON AGRICULTURAL TRAINING AND WITH THE PROVISION THAT THE STATES—AND THE STUDENTS—SHOULD SUPPORT THIS SYSTEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION.

THROUGH THIS COMBINATION OF COMMUNITY ACTION AND INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE, HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN HAVE BEEN ABLE TO SECURE A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

IN ADDITION, THESE LAND GRANT COLLEGES, THROUGH THEIR AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS, EXPERIMENT STATIONS AND EXTENSION SERVICES, HAVE ADDED BILLIONS TO OUR NATIONAL WEALTH BY ENCOURAGING FARMERS TO MAKE USE OF DISCOVERIES IN SOIL, PLANT AND LIVESTOCK IMPROVEMENT, FOOD CHEMISTRY AND CROP PRODUCTION.

OUT OF THE LAND THESE COLLEGES GREW — INTO THE LAND THEY HAVE PLOWED BACK KNOWLEDGE AND SCIENCE TO YIELD AN HUNDRED FOLD.

WEST TO GET JUSTICE

As one contributing benefit of the 1950 federal census now nearing completion, people of the South Plains, Northwest Texas and West Texas as a whole can look forward, after 30 years of waiting, to equitable representation in the Legislature. Just how many legislative seats these areas will gain cannot be calculated accurately until census figures are announced officially. But preliminary reports indicate the gains will be larger than most optimists expected.

The present distribution of the legislative membership long has been a scandal to the basic democratic principle of equality of representation in government. To maintain that equality, the Constitution commands that the State shall be redistricted for legislative purposes after each federal census. For nearly 30 years, Texas Legislatures have ignored this mandate. Presentation today is based on the population as shown by the 1920 census.

Since that time, most counties in Southeast, East, Central and Northeast Texas have lost in population. Practically all in West Texas have gained, most of them tremendously.

A disgraceful condition of inequitable representation has developed, particularly in the Texas House. Several decadent counties with fewer than 25,000 inhabitants have representatives all their own. Each, for example, has as much voting strength in the House as our own 119th district, comprised of nine South Plains counties with more than 200,000 people. All portions of West and Northwest Texas are victims in varying degrees of similar discrimination.

Fortunately, it won't be necessary to depend any longer upon the Legislature, itself, to correct the condition. The regular session in January will have its chance to redistrict the State on the basis of the 1950 census figures. If it fails to do so, a special commission created by a constitutional amendment approved in 1948 and answerable only to the Supreme court will attend to the job.

Then, for the first time in 30 years, Texans will have equal honest representation in the Legislature. And West and North west Texas will be the greatest beneficiaries to the law-making branches of their State government.—Lubbock Avalanche.

A GOOD BEGINNING

The House Ways and Means Committee has voted to make certain downward revisions in the wartime excise taxes. As an example, it halved the 20 per cent admission tax on tickets to entertainments, and did the same thing with the tax on luggage. Other commodities and services came in for the same relief.

This is a step in the right direction, but it is not the end of the matter, whether or not the current congress takes further action. The maintenance of these taxes, regardless of the percentage figure, is not in line with the conditions under which they were levied. They are not "luxury" taxes. Applying as they do to commercial passenger transportation, a long list of commodities including baby oil and the most inexpensive cosmetics, they fall on many absolute necessities—and for the most part, they are paid by people of small or moderate means.

It must not be forgotten that these taxes were strictly part of the wartime emergency legislation. They were imposed, not only for revenue reasons, but to discourage the manufacturer and use of anything that did not contribute to the war effort.

They came into being, in other words, at a time when it was necessary to sharply reduce civilian living standards and habits. This condition no longer exists, nor should the taxes.—Hockley County Herald.

Huntin' AND Fishin'

By Harve Pennington

do not undertake to say all is known, or maybe said of but I undertake to acquaint reader with many things are not usually known to every fisherman. But I do think the more you know about fishing the more fish you will catch. We have a lot of people ask us when is the best time to go fishing, and I tell them the best time to go is when they can get off, but I do believe some times of each month are better than others with water and weather being about the same. I am going to stick my neck out and say that fish feed some hour of every twenty-four and if you are fishing at that time you stand a chance to catch some fish, if you are using the kind of bait that they are feeding on that day. Now that sounds complicated doesn't it? Well it is, and that is the reason we don't catch fish every time we go fishing, but the persistent fisherman will keep changing his baits until he finds the bait they will take. I believe most of our fresh water fish will take the red worm (garden Hackle) but the reason we don't take larger fish on them is because there are more small fish than there are larger ones and the small ones get there first. Most of us know that in the summer months early morning or late evening is usually the best time of day to fish because it is quieter at that time and cooler, unless it should happen to be a cloudy day and in most cases you can have good fishing all day. We see charts and calendars that show us the best days of each month to fish, and if you will compare them with your calendar you will find that the best days are in the dark of the moon. I have a friend who tells me he catches fish on the day that the moon is full, but cannot catch them for several days after. He says they fill with the moon. But don't let this discourage you if you happen to go when the sign is not right for I still think you have a chance to catch fish. You will at least have a chance to get away from your troubles and relax. We have in most of our lakes and streams in Texas, three classes of fish, as the game fish the non-game fish and the rough fish. About all of the game fish can be taken on artificial lures as well as live bait or cut bait. The non-game fish don't go for artificials much, other than the channel cat. I have taken some good channel cat on artificial lure by fishing them slow and near the bottom and you sure are in for a good fight when you hook one. I for one think the channel cat should be classed with the game fish. There's a lot of fishermen that call the Blue cat the channel cat but there are a lot of difference. The blue cats get much larger than the channel cat and has a large head. The channel cat has a much smaller head and long, slim body and does not grow so large. I think about 25 pounds would be tops for him. The most sought after game fish in our fresh waters of Texas is the large mouth black bass. He is called by a lot of different names, some call him a trout. We have also the small mouth bass, but they are not as plentiful as the large mouth, but unless you are familiar with him you could easily mistake him for the large mouth bass. They both can be taken from the same lake or stream, but they like a different set-up. I believe the large mouth will take a surface lure much better than the small mouth bass, but either one will give you a good fight and if he gets in swift water you think you are hooked to a whale. The black bass differs from the trout, in his diet, as he will take a lure unlike anything he has ever seen if he thinks it is alive and eatable, but a trout wants a fly or caddis like the ones that are on the move at that special time.

Remember that fish dwell chiefly in those parts of the stream where the natural current carries the surface food, and that the largest fish select the best places. In lakes fish prefer spots where the coldest water is supplied by bottom springs or brooks emptying into the larger body of water.

The marriage license bureau in New York is the same room at the Municipal Building where you get your fishing license. This is true in many other places, too, so be sure you get the right one.

A married couple hooked the same fish on their lines when a big sunfish took Mrs. G. L. Miller's bait and swam under the boat to grab off her husband's bait, too. After a brief tug-of-war the wash was landed. Served him right, too, for trying to stir up trouble in domestic circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cooper and Carol and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chandler and Johnny and Tom Marr spent last weekend on an outing at Tule Lake.

Care Of Hens Makes Profits

College Station.—Laying hens are not so fortunate as the "proverbial cat." They have only one life to live and the length of that life, says professor E. D. Parnell, department of poultry husbandry, Texas A. & M. College System, may well determine whether the poultryman uses black or red ink for his book-keeping job.

If you're an average poultryman, Parnell hopes you are not, you lost 17 percent of your growing turkeys and almost 20 percent of your laying chicken flocks during 1949. That was on a national basis but the record in Texas was even worse. He says 24 percent of all the laying hens in Texas die sometime during their first year of egg production. Poultrymen, he points out, who suffer such flock losses are burning or burying their poultry profits with the dead hens.

He says there are lots of good drugs available to help with the fight against diseases but their use is only a part of the answer. Preventive practices must be used more widely, he believes so the poultry just will not have any excuse for getting sick.

Here are some practices that poultrymen have found mighty effective for preventing disease outbreaks, says Parnell. When new birds, unless it's day old stock, or when birds are return-

SUNBACK IS BACK!

The sunback-bolero combination that made such a hit with fashionable femmes last season is back again this year, more popular than before. Here is a typical sample of the smart cotton bolero-sunback ensembles you'll be seeing everywhere this summer. This capelet bolero and sunback are designed in cotton broadcloth with lace trim. The Miami Fashion Council reports breaks up the surface crust but also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground or before their root system becomes established.

He reports that most farmers slow down the tractor because they are afraid that they will cover up the cotton plants or tear up the soil to such an extent as to cause damage to the young plants, however tests, he says have proved that this is not true if the rotary hoe is properly adjusted.

An all time record in house building is expected for this year, according to the federal Bureau of Labor statistics. The pace was set in March when construction was begun on 110,000 new homes, the highest total for any one month yet recorded. The association predicts that if the present pace continues as it is expected to do, more than a million new homes will be built in 1950. For the first quarter of this year 270,000 new

MODERN DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM IS PROPOSED FOR LOCKNEY

Telephone company is ready to start work on new dial system when revised rate schedule is approved

A NEW DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM for Lockney—estimated to cost more than $100,000 will be in service in 1951, if prompt approval is given to the telephone company's request for a revised schedule of telephone rates here.

Lockney now has more than 660 telephones—over three times as many as in 1940. The rapid growth of Lockney's telephone system, together with high post-war levels of operating costs and the added investment which a dial system would require, make a new schedule of rates necessary.

Moderate Revision in Rates Will Bring Dial Telephones to Lockney

To justify the large additional expenditure necessary to bring dial service to Lockney, the telephone company must have approval of a new schedule of rates.

The proposed new rates are:

Private-line business service . . .	$6.00 a month
Rural business service . . .	4.50 a month*
Private-line residence service . . .	3.75 a month
Two-party residence service . . .	3.25 a month
Rural residence service . . .	3.00 a month*

*Rural customers living more than five miles beyond the base rate area will pay a mileage charge of 25 cents for each 3 miles or fraction thereof, beyond the five mile allowance.

The above rates do not include the Federal tax. The new rates represent an increase of about 3 cents a day for business telephones in Lockney, about 4 cents a day for private line residence service and about 3 cents a day for two-party line telephones.

Rural business and residence service will cost about 3 cents more a day.

We are ready to start work on the dial system as soon as the adjusted rates are authorized.

We feel sure that our customers here will be pleased with the modern, fast, dependable service they will receive from the new dial telephone system.

Rate Adjustment Needed to Justify Expenditures for Dial System

A revised schedule of telephone rates is necessary to justify the expenditure of additional large sums of money to provide a dial telephone system for Lockney.

Modern Dial Telephone System Is Proposed for Lockney

To bring dial telephone service to Lockney, a dial central office building must be erected, a complete dial switching system, as intricate as a fine watch, must be manufactured and installed here, and all telephones in Lockney must be replaced with dial instruments.

With the dial system, telephone users will dial their numbers and be connected—almost instantly—with any telephone in Lockney. Dial service has proved popular in other cities throughout the nation, and today about eight out of every ten telephones in America are dial-operated.

Dial telephone service is modern, fast, accurate and dependable, and provides maximum privacy on all calls.

Three New Grain Sorghums Are Being Developed

College Station. — Three new grain sorghum varieties — each selected to meet a definite need — have been developed by plant breeders of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and released to certified seed breeders for increase. Director R. D. Lewis has announced.

The Station will have additional seed at the end of this season for distribution through county agents for demonstration plantings in 1951.

The characteristics of the new varieties, as explained by R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of grain sorghum investigations, and J. R. Quinby, superintendent of the Chillicothe station, are:

Combine Kafir-60—Like Kafir, the stalks are juicy and stand up well in the field. The heavy head is borne on a long stem and stands well above the stalk. The variety is awnless and seed are white with black specks, testing 60 pounds to the bushel. The variety blooms in 60 days from June 1 planting at Lubbock, or about a week earlier than Texas Blackhul Kafir or Plainsman. Combine Kafir-60 was developed by crossing a double dwarf Kafir selection with Texas Blackhul, followed by selection and backcrossing to the Kafir parent several times until a pure type of double dwarf adapted to combine harvesting was obtained.

Redbine-60 and Redbine-66 — These new red-seeded varieties are similar except in their maturity. Redbine-60 blooms in 60 days, a little earlier than Martin; Redbine-66 in 66 days, a few days earlier than Plainsman. Both have dry head-stems and rachis, can be combined before frost if desired, and have a long stem so that there are fewer leaves and less stalk to load down the shaker when combining. Both varieties have a brighter reddish-yellow seed color than Martin and have a longer stem.

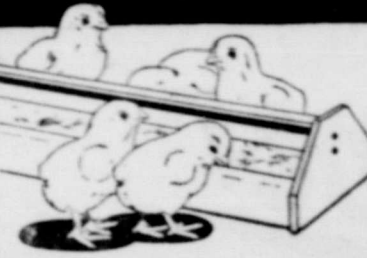

are taller and have better threshability than Plainsman. Redbine-60 has awns, tests 57 pounds to the bushel and is a little surer of production because of its earliness. Redbine-66 is awnless, tests 60 pounds to the bushel and will yield higher under favorable conditions because of its longer growing season. These two varieties were chosen after several years of test from numerous selections from the progeny of a cross between Martin and a sib of Caprock.

Four ounces of each of the new varieties were distributed to 35 Texas certified seed growers.

One such pool of 70 ounces of each variety is expected to yield 20 bushels of certified seed from plants that are bagged to insure self pollination. This 20 bushels would seed 300 acres or more; if the crop averages only a little over 30 bushels an acre on the South Plains, the increase in one year would be a half million pounds, or enough to plant 100,000 acres in 1951.

Other certified seed growers will further increase the foundation seed of the new varieties in plantings on their own farms this year.
