To fill this vacancy the local board will be required to appoint someone to serve the unexpired one year of the term. Supt. March 11, 1952
To:
Board of Trustees,
Lockney Rural High School,
Lockney, Texas.
Gentlemen:

Due to the conflict of my business and work on the School Board I feel that I must tender my resignation as a Trustee of the Lockney Rural High School. It is with much regret that I take this move but if I remain it would be in the position of serving two masters and I believe that is untendable. I wish to thank each of you for the patience that you have shown me during the time that I have served with you and each of you are to be commended for the untiring and unselfish service that you have rendered this district. Each man should serve on the School board at one time as it is good for him.

May I wish each of you continued success in your undertaking and I stand ready and willing to help each and all of you at anytime that I can be of service to the school. I am deeply interested in the school and want to see the most progress made possible. I have enjoyed the association with each of you and hope that it has been a pleasure to you to work with me. My sincere wish is that you can secure a good man for my place and one who has the time to give the position that it deserves. Again thanking you I am,
Yours very truly,
M. W. Wiley.

Pylant's Observe 15th Anniversary

Pylant Grocery & Market here is this week observing their fifteenth anniversary in business in Lockney. Mr. and Mrs. Pylant moved to Lockney from Colorado City in 1937 and bought the store in its present location from C. H. Peck. They operated a small store without a market for the first year but a market was added in 1938 with H. P. Coleman as butcher.

The business has grown steadily, for which the Pylants give credit to their many friends and customers of this area. They have two daughters, Lena Sue and Patricia Anne, who were reared and educated here. Lena Sue graduated from Lockney High School in 1949 and attended West Texas State College in Canyon. She later married Edward Babbitzke, and the couple are now living in San Antonio where he is stationed with the Army Air Force. Patricia is a junior in high school this year.

"We wish to thank all our friends who have been so kind and have helped to make our store a success," the Pylants said this week. "We have our 15th anniversary sale in progress this week and in this issue of The Beacon you will find our regular advertisement listing many specials at reduced prices. We do not claim to be perfect but we will gladly correct all errors. We do appreciate very much your patronage of the past 15 years."

Mexican Shot At Twice Early Monday

A young Mexican, probably 19 years of age, was shot at twice early Monday morning at his home a mile west of Aiken. Neither bullet struck him. Deputy Sheriff Pat Murphy, who did not know the Mexican's name, said that the young man was dressing early Monday before day and had a light on in his room. A pick-up drove up outside and two shots from a .22 calibre rifle were fired into the house. One of the bullets was dug out of a wall.

Other members of the family rushed outside in time to see a late model green Chevrolet pick-up drive away. The Mexican could think of no one who would want to kill him, he said. Officers have found no trace of the gun wielder.

Floydada C-C Banquet Held

A man who has known the reality of life in Russia, Siberia and is now happy in his new American home, even with taxes, declared at Floydada Friday night that the American economy is the strongest and most dynamic the world has ever seen.

Dr. Andrew C. Rockover, Polish-born teacher in the Department of Economics at McMurry College in Abilene, challenged that "we must balance our military power with that of the Kremlin before we try to balance our budget."

Speaking before 300 persons attending the annual Floydada Chamber of Commerce banquet, Dr. Rockover's address was made as D. T. Mayo was installed as new president of the Floydada organization. Other officers include Clement McDonald and Earl Crow as vice-president and treasurer, respectively. James H. Word is outgoing president.

The United States "must remain a Christian nation if it is to survive Russian imperialism," Dr. Rockover asserted. "We have to challenge our fear with our faith," he said.

"A poet of my country in the deepest moment of despair after years of Russian domination wrote a poem in which he challenged God," said the speaker. "He challenged God that 'I have given my heart and my body to my country. You give it freedom...'"

Was Warsaw Professor

"You in America do not have to challenge God. He gave you a free country. All you need to do is give your heart to God—and this country."

Dr. Rockover was, before World War II, a professor of economics at the University of Warsaw. He was taken as a political prisoner to Northern Siberia and released after the treaty between Russia, Britain and the U. S. provided for the release of such political prisoners.

Later, Dr. Rockover became a high official of the government-in-exile of Poland in Britain and, after the war, returned to Warsaw as a government official. As Communism became more threatening, he escaped with his wife and daughter and became a professor in the University of Lima, Peru. He later came to the United States and, finally to McMurry College.

Dr. Rockover was introduced by Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president of McMurry, who in turn was introduced by J. M. Willson, Floydada businessman and chairman of the Board of Trustees for McMurry.

How to have a winning TELEPHONE PERSONALITY by EMILY POST re often judged by the way we use telephone service. Good phone technique and good telephone manners are important winning personality . . . and help you get the most from your phone service.

all the many questions I'm asked about good party line matters, probably the most frequent one is "How long old my telephone conversations be?"

Answer: The length of your conversations will vary, of course. But purely for a selfish reason, it's a good idea to avoid long, drawn-out conversations.
No incoming calls, however important, can get through to you while your telephone is tied up. And your party line neighbor can't make OR receive a call. You're displaying good party line manners when you hold conversations to a reasonably short length—consideration that folks on your party line will appreciate and return.

ently, a friend visiting at my home noticed a small book-titled "LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE NUMBERS" lying beside telephone. My guest asked "Is there any advantage in ding long distance calls by number?"

Answer: Indeed, there is. Long distance calls go through faster—often twice as fast—when you call by number. The smart, well-informed telephone user takes fullest advantage of today's fast long distance service by placing out-of-town calls by number whenever possible. Incidentally, if you don't already have one of those convenient booklets for listing out-of-town telephone numbers, you can get one free at the telephone company business office. That's where I got mine.

is another test of good telephone technique. When int about a telephone number, should you look in the phone directory . . . or call information?

Answer: You will usually save time if you look in the directory first. Chances are, you'll find the number there. The telephone company people tell me their records show that 3 out of 4 calls to information are for numbers listed in the telephone book. Why make two calls when one will do, three out of four times?

Dr. Cox Warns Of Whooping Cough

Austin. — Inasmuch as the incidence of whooping cough in Texas is expected to show an increase during the coming months Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, released a statement today urging that strenuous efforts be made to control the spread of this debilitating childhood disease. There were 1273 cases reported during the first 5 weeks of this year.

"Whooping cough can only be contracted by direct exposure to the disease, and isolation of cases must be universally practiced if the incidence is to be controlled," Dr. Cox stated.

"The infectious agent or germ of whooping cough is transmitted by droplets expelled in coughing, sneezing, or speaking," Dr. Cox said. "The discharges from the nose and throat are dangerous to susceptible persons; the need for early recognition and careful isolation of whooping cough is obvious. Your family physician should be called at the first sign."

"The first symptom of this disease is usually a dry cough, which persists day and night and tends to become increasingly severe. The disease is fully developed when vomiting of food and whooping accompany the paroxysm of cough. Dr. Cox stressed the fact that children who have whooping cough should not attend school or some in contact with other children until three weeks after the appearance of typical signs of the disease.

Prevention and control of whooping cough, especially among infants and small children, may be accomplished through use of approved vaccine and convalescent serum," Dr. Cox asserted, "and it is important that such measures be taken to protect them. Neglecting to do so, and allowing the young child to suffer an attack of this disease, may seriously impair his future health."

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

"GOOD MEN and TRUE"

THE TWO FUNDAMENTALS IN OUR AMERICAN SYSTEM OF JUSTICE ARE: THE LEGAL PROVISION THAT A PERSON ON TRIAL MUST BE PRESUMED INNOCENT UNTIL PROVEN GUILTY— AND THE RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY, WHICH PROTECTS THE INDIVIDUAL AND SAFEGUARDS SOCIETY AGAINST IRRESPONSIBLE POWER.

IT IS AN INTEGRAL PART OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP TO SUPPORT AND STRENGTHEN THIS SYSTEM OF JUSTICE BY SERVICE ON A JURY—TO REGARD IT AS A DUTY TO BE ACCEPTED WITH PRIDE AND EXERCISED WITH FULL REALIZATION THAT SUCH SERVICE IS VITAL TO THE MAINTAINANCE OF DEMOCRACY.

ONE-A-DAY HOME HINTS

Leftover ham or tongue can be used in a casserole dish with spaghetti, rice, or macaroni, combined with a can of undiluted tomato soup, grated cheddar cheese and topped off with a crumbled wheat biscuit. Bake in the oven of your modern gas range at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Good!

The Red Cedar Is Valuable Tree

College Station. — The red cedar, native to many parts of Texas, can be used in landscaping the homegrounds.

Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says it makes a dense shade in the summer and in the winter forms a colorful spot in the landscape. If used in the yard, plant it at least sixty feet from the house.

One of the most useful ways to use the red cedar is in wind-breaks, especially in the northwestern part of the state. It will grow rapidly with a moderate amount of water and will survive surprisingly well during dry years. Once established it is almost immune to wind injury and is damaged less than many other trees during ice and snowstorms. Most of the 349 windbreaks planted in Texas during 1951 contained red cedar.

Because the cedar will grow in alkaline soils and dry climates, it promises much for the reforestation of Texas. This tree does not spread from roots and rarely grows from seeds. Therefore, it does not threaten to become a pest like the blue spruce and post cedar. It also produces a valuable wood that has many uses in the home and about the farm.

Miss Hatfield points out that the Texas Forest Service has been encouraging the planting of this tree for a number of years by selling seedlings on a non-profit basis.

Consider the impact of Texas' $100 million economic loss annually caused by traffic accidents.

Accidents are always caused by something; therefore, they could always be prevented.

Recompense no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men.—Romans 12:17.

—cOo—

Our congratulations to the City of Lockney and the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department upon receiving the 25% good fire record credit. This isn't just a happen so or an accident. It is the result of some thought and planning by officials of both the city and the fire department and is an indication that someone is on the job. Of course, big fires do happen at times though an accident or circumstances beyond the control of man, but the work of officials do have some bearing on preventing fires and the efficient fire fighting group we have in Lockney has certainly prevented small fires from becoming big ones on more than one occasion. We hope that all of us may continue to "prevent fires" every day and every week. The business man or the home owner can help in this business just as much as anyone.

DANIEL IS RIGHT

Price Daniel's comeback that Tom Connally's remarks on tidelands are "misleading, to say the least" is absolutely right. Old Tom, lashing out at his Senatorial race foe in sniping remarks about the handling of Texas' tidelands case, not only was ill-advised in his choice of subjects, but he didn't quite stick to the facts.

Several days ago, Connally (in the half-truth fashion of another tidelands critic, Drew Pearson) said Texas would have won its tidelands fight if the issue had not been confused with similar cases in California and Louisiana. Obviously the split in Texas ranks comes at a most distressing time—just as the tidelands issue is bouncing around in Congress.

Connally and Pearson, said Daniel, have left false impressions about conduct of the case in the Supreme Court. "Texas' entire defense in the Supreme Court was based upon our special contract of annexation, which the court ignored by a four to three vote," said the attorney general. "Our co-operation with other states has been limited solely to defense of the general claims of all the states, in the California case and in congressional action. Such co-operation is the only way we can win in Congress."

Too, Daniel noted, the four men who sold Texas down the river in the Supreme Court steal had been supported and confirmed in their appointments to the bench by Connally.

All the evidence indicates that the Patronage Saint of Texas, not the attorney general, is at fault. Certainly none can quarrel with the fact that Connally is harming the state's tidelands hopes in an ill-chosen attempt to gain votes. — The Daily Texan.

SPENDING MONEY AWAY

Post, like any other small town which is located within an easy traveling distance of a large city, is faced with a serious problem. A problem, in fact, which takes thousands upon thousands of dollars out of the town each year. Dollars which are needed in the town to help it continue to progress, yet which are lost and tend to help build another town. These dollars are spent by people who depend on Post for a living. People who have their homes here and derive their livelihood from businesses, industries and professions in this small town. Yet, they annually take the money they make and throw it into the pockets of businessmen elsewhere. They do not stop to realize this is hurting their own town (or many of them don't care one way or other). The amount of money spent outside of Post for items which can be bought right here in town would add to the economy of the town immensely. It could even mean that many people could have better jobs. Of course the fault cannot be placed on the person spending the money altogether. Business places are to blame also. Their stock does not compare to what the buyer can find in Lubbock and other towns. Then too their prices, brought about by the comparatively small volume they have, fail to come down in the bracket hit by some of the stores in larger towns. So the blame can be as easily fall on their shoulders as it can on the spender. Yet, if a check could be made, much of the goods bought outside of Post by its residents could have been purchased in Post as cheaply and much more easily. Buyers will argue the point that their money is their own, they can spend it where they wish. True. No one can call them wrong. But there should be a matter of personal pride enter the picture. A person living in a town, calling it home, and depending on a job in that town for the provisions for his family, should be interested enough in the town to want it to prosper. — Post Dispatch.

ECONOMY MUST BEGIN AT HOME

from the lack of interest from us, their citizens. For nowhere in the world are there more so-called "parasites" in small towns than in America. People who live in a town only for personal gain. Just what they themselves can get out of the town and to heck with the rest of the people. Let them root for themselves. In the animal kingdom these kind of people would be "leeches." They never contribute to the welfare of the community in which they live, but are content to sit back and live off the fruits of other people's efforts. They complain when the community in which they are living or have a business does not progress, yet they make no determined effort to help it progress. They continuously criticize those who attempt to better the community; yet they make no effort to pitch in and help; they merely hang on and ride the train and then are the first to complain when the road gets rough. Post is no different from any other small town. It has its certain number of interested people and then it has its certain number of "parasites." Post is your town. So inspect yourself and see which classification you belong to. — Post Dispatch.

REASON FOR TAXES

Another reason why it takes lots of taxes to run this country Dan Kimbell, Secretary of the Navy, has a government furnished yacht whose captain draws a salary of $6,935 and the 24-man crew draws a combined pay total of $24,436 yearly. Supplies, equipment, fuel, repairs and overhaul, the Navy estimates, brings the Secretary's yacht cost to the taxpayers to about $102,000. Just a lifebelt is all the poor taxpayer asks for! — Saint Jo Tribune.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

March 1st, 1952 Yongdongpo, Korea

Dear Mr. Hays: I will write a few lines and give you my new address so I can start getting The Beacon again. I enjoyed getting and reading it while I was in the states but it will be even more company over here.

I left Seattle, Washington the last of January and went to Yokohama, Japan. We only stayed there four days then we came on to Korea. We landed at Inchou February 19th. I am assigned to an Engineer outfit in Yongdongpo, located four miles out of Seoul. This was a pretty big town but it was torn up pretty bad at the beginning of the war.

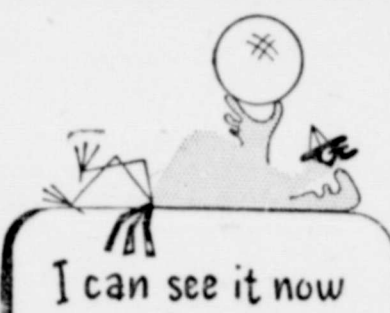

I am working as an electrician in the electric shop. My main job is working on electric power units.

Well Mr. Hays I will close for now. Please send my Beacon to the below address.

A friend, Billy Griffith.

South Plains Fat Stock Show March 17-19

Lubbock — Premium lists and entry blanks for the South Plains Jr. Fat Stock Show have been mailed to more than 125 county agents and vocational agriculture teachers in Texas and New Mexico. George Wilson, general chairman of the show, announced this week.

FFA and 4-H club exhibitors are expected in record numbers this year from the 29 counties in Texas and New Mexico, in the established show area. Wilson predicted more entries this year than in 1951 when entries hit a record of 568 pigs, 266 calves and 142 lambs.

In addition to regular premiums, the Kiwanis club offers showmanship awards for the top three nearest exhibits in all divisions. Cash awards will be $6 for first, $5 for second, and $4 for third place in the steer, swine and lamb divisions.

NPA Opens Way For Church Building

Washington, D. C. — Now that the National Production Authority has approved construction of 446 churches, whose applications had been held up by defense controls on strategic metals, church building committees should proceed immediately with plans to take care of their congregations' needs for larger worship quarters and new religious education buildings, according to Harry G. Uhl, President of Timber Engineering Company, affiliate of National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Construction of nearly 200 municipal and community buildings, in addition to the churches, received NPA approval. Preliminary work, such as excavations and footings, may start now on the specifically approved projects, although the allotted metals will not be available until the third quarter. Builders have NPA assurance that additional material to complete each approved project will be forthcoming in subsequent quarters.

"Although this action applies to specific projects only," Mr. Uhl stated, "it indicates an encouraging trend. Groups who have had to shelve their planning for churches, orphanages, and similar community buildings, should proceed with their plans and applications."

"In the light of NPA's action, it is reasonable to assume that applications for this type of building will receive prompt and cooperative action from NPA, particularly if the applicant's metal requirements are not too great. This can be accomplished readily by using timber roof trusses and timber framing. Plenty of timber is readily available through local retail dealers," said Mr. Uhl, "so there's no need to delay important building."

OPS To Make Price Survey

Several members of the Lubbock district office of the Office of Price Stabilization are in training and preparing to conduct a nation-wide business survey to get under way later this month. The survey is to be a study of percentage markups in use by wholesale and retail grocers on products bought and sold in the period immediately preceding the outbreak of war in Korea, according to district OPS officials.

The nation-wide survey, which will be conducted by the OPS in cooperation with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, will be used to determine how the markups used in the agency's wholesale and retail grocery ceiling price regulations compare with the markups resulting from the margins grocers were using in the pre-Korean period, May 24-June 24, 1950.

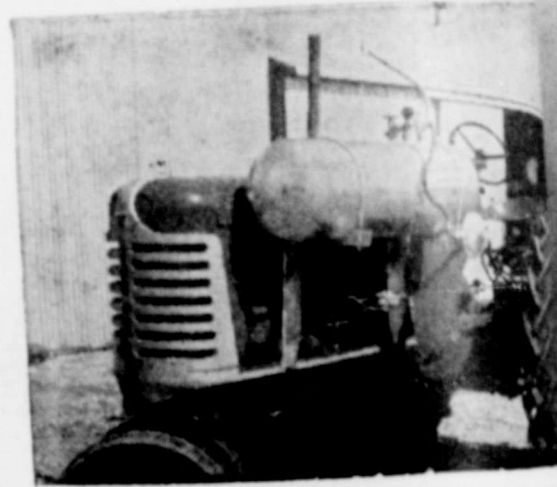

CARD OF THANKS

I want to express my thanks for all the flowers and cards sent me during my illness while I was in the Lockney General Hospital.

Vet Benefits Are Tax-Free, VA Says

Payments to veterans for benefits administered by the Veterans Administration are tax-free and need not be considered in computing Federal income tax, VA reminded veterans today.

Also, VA added, dividends which veterans have received on their GI insurance policies are exempt from taxation, and need not be reported.

Among the tax exempt VA payments are the following: Subsistence allowances for veterans training in schools, on farms and on-the-job under the GI Bill and Public Law 16 (for the disabled).

Payments by VA to be applied to veterans' GI loans. Under the GI Bill, VA says the lender, an amount equivalent to four per cent of the guaranteed portion of the loan, which is credited to the veteran's account.

Disability compensation and pensions paid to veterans for both service-connected and non-service-connected disabilities.

Grants for seriously disabled veterans for homes designed for wheelchair living.

World War I emergency officers' retirement pay.

Death benefits to families of deceased veterans are also exempt from taxation, VA said. These include compensation, pension and all GI insurance payments.
