Krause and is located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 29, block K, TTRR survey and 12 miles southwest of Floydada. Operations will begin at once. Box Supper Planned For Youth Center

A box supper, benefits from which will go toward building a tennis court for young people, will be held Friday evening of this week at the City Auditorium, it was announced Wednesday by T. L. Reed, who is taking the lead in planning the event. After talking with various civic leaders here, it was decided to hold the box supper in order to start a fund for the Youth Center, Mr. Reed said. Plans are to build a double tennis court of concrete and use it also for a skating rink when tennis is not being played, it was said. The box supper will start at 8 p. m. and all the girls are invited to bring boxes. A number of local boys are working with Reed in getting some enthusiasm for the project.

The annual get-together of the Old Settlers of Floyd County celebrating the founding of the County will be held next Wednesday, May 28 at Floydada. Plans are to serve maybe 2000 people at the noon hour. Mr. Bennett himself has donated one fat steer and merchants of Floydada and Lockney have donated funds to help with the affair. A separate table will be set up for the "over 50 years in the county" group and they will be given a little extra attention, it was said. Each of these will probably be given a badge indicating their length of residence. The big parade will get underway at 1:30 p. m. and will be led by the Air Force band. In addition floats from communities, 4-H and Home Demonstration Clubs, and business houses will be included. A number of "old time" vehicles will be included as will lots of horse back riders. Ben O. Quebe Dies Suddenly Sunday Morning

Ben Otto Quebe, community, civic and religious leader of the Providence community and Floyd County for many years, passed away suddenly Sunday morning at his home in the Providence Community, 12 miles northwest of Lockney. Mr. Quebe had been suffering with a heart ailment for several months. He was stricken with a heart attack while sitting at the breakfast table and died immediately. Funeral services were held at the Providence Trinity Lutheran Church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All available space in the church was filled and a great crowd also sat in chairs on the church lawn and listened to the service over a public address system. Rev. H. L. Anderson, pastor of the church, officiated and the church choir sang several numbers. Interment was in the Memorial Park Cemetery, Plainview. Pallbearers were his nephews as follows: Helmut Quebe, Jake Jones, Luther Brandes, C. F. Weiss, Elmer Bubert, Mac Bubert, John Bubert and Marvin Bubert. Other nephews serving as honorary pall bearers were Jimmy Thompson, L. B. Brandes, Jim Jones, Wilfred Stoerner. Rev. Anderson paid high tribute to Mr. Quebe, praising him as a man who always had time to serve his church and his God, and one who never let the press of work interfere with his religious duties. He recounted his service to the Providence church and to the pastor of the church and told of his unselfish spirit. A great many floral tributes to the deceased man were evidence of the respect he earned in the hearts of his acquaintances. Many people from all over Floyd County as well as out of the county were present to pay last respects to Mr. Quebe. Mr. Quebe was born August 8, 1888 at McGregor, Texas, and was reared there. He first came to the plains about 1906 but went back to McGregor where he was married to Miss Edna Brandes on January 14, 1914. Soon thereafter the couple moved to Floyd County settling in the Providence community where they have lived since. Mr. Quebe has always been a leader in his community and county. He has been active in many community and county organizations and has always been the type of man the community could depend upon for the right type leadership. Compress Company Buys Additional Land Here

Panhandle Warehouse & Compress Company representatives signed a contract the past week end with Milton Ashton in which the company agreed to purchase approximately 70 acres of land located just at the southwest edge of the city and on which they will start construction immediately of a cotton warehouse. Sam Langford, manager of the Panhandle plant at Plainview, told The Beacon Wednesday that the company did not plan to build a compress on the property at present but would possibly do so in the future. The warehouse will be built in time to use this fall and will serve as a storage and shipping point for the firm. The warehouse will employ four men in the slack season and as high as 20 men in the busy season, Mr. Langford said. When and if the compress is built here it may employ as many as 100 men. The site purchased is the old Jack Brian place and borders on the south 18 acres which the company has owned for a number of years. The entire property is located at the intersection of the FW&D and the Santa Fe railroads and bordering Highway 70 on the south. FW&D representatives have already surveyed the property with the purpose in mind of building a spur track onto the warehouse property. This is the first construction that will take place, Mr. Langford said. When the track is completed about 400 feet of hot top loading aprons will be built along side the track by the compress company. The first warehouse will probably be built in the southwest corner of the 18 acre tract, Mr. Langford said. The compress company representatives will be here Thursday to start a survey of the grounds and then definite locations of the various facilities will be made, it was said.

Temperature Up To 89 Wednesday

The temperature had climbed back to 89 degrees Wednesday afternoon after an unseasonable cold week end, according to Joe Holt, local weather observer. The Wednesday afternoon temperature was a comfort to cotton farmers who have been trying to nurse up a stand of cotton the past week. Low for the week end was Friday night when the thermometer dropped to 46 degrees here. This wasn't as cold as reported in other areas in West Texas, however. Friday night and Saturday morning the rain gauge here measured .25 of an inch moisture, Mr. Holt said. Some farmers were planting over this week but a big majority were scratching cotton that was planted week before last and last week. Some nice stands were reported and others were optimistic about a stand. A sudden wind last Thursday afternoon did some damage on the Chester Mitchell farm southwest of Lockney, unroofing a work shed and blowing the roof more than a hundred yards across the road into a field. Damage was estimated at more than $400.

Written Answer Is Filed By Defendants

Three defendants in a $43,000 damage suit over the location of a church here have filed a written answer to the suit with the clerk of the 119th District Court at Floydada. Miss Mary McPherson, the clerk, said that the answer, a general denial of damages, was filed with her Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Troy Ray and Gene Hammitt. The complainant, Charlie Smith, has asked $18,000 actual damages, $15,000 exemplary damages and $10,000 punitive damages, charging that the location of the Revival Tabernacle has caused depreciation in the value of his property and has added fire hazard to the neighborhood. No date has been set for the hearing of the case.

CHRYSLER SARATOGA 6-PASSENGER

ITS NEW KIND OF HORSEPOWER IS SOMETHING TO FEE

With its 180 HP V-8 engine, on 125 1/2 inches of wheelbase, many people think the Saratoga is the best Chrysler car of all.

We invite you to take the wheel and feel what happens! There's a new sense of easy power, of reserve power that make driving a new experience.

Its revolutionary combustion chamber develops more of the power in each charge of fuel than other engines can do. One result is performance, even on non-premium fuel, such as you have never felt. Another result is new economy. It's an engine that scarcely forms carbon at all. It creates less heat. It will last much longer, stay younger on the way!

And with Chrysler full-time Power Steering*, you steer with one-fifth the usual effort . . . drive with five times the usual control! With Power Brakes you need up to two-thirds less foot pressure . . . and still stop in many feet less than other cars can do.

Yes, behind Chrysler's new engine you'll find a new kind of car. Won't you come in and feel what we mean?

*NOTE: Power Steering standard on Chrysler models. Available, extra, on many other Chrysler models.

ONE-A-DAY HOME HINTS

Housewives who buy a new automatic gas range, frequently install their old range in the basement and use it for preparing snacks and party meals to serve in cellar rumpus room. It's good to use during the canning season, too, as an auxiliary working space.

"Rounders" was an early form of baseball.

Baptist Notes

But what duty do we have toward those round about us who swear? If a man keeps his own conversation comparatively clean, can he say with Cain, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Let me say first of all that you would be surprised what a powerful testimony against swearing your simple refusal to swear stands out like a sore thumb amongst those who do. He does not have to say that he does not swear; the others know that! Samuel Zwemer, in comparing Moses to Samson, the morally weak "Atlas" says, "The unconscious influence of any man is, therefore, always greater than his conscious influence, whether for good or evil. This is the glory and the tragedy of everyday life. A mother in her home, a son at college, a pastor in his parish exert a constant influence and we are unconscious of it most of the time." This is what Paul meant when he told the Philippians, "Be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the word of life" (2:15). A Christian lets his light shine sometimes more brightly by what he does not do than by what he does.

In addition to this, I would say, ask God to open the way to speak for Him against this sin. After all, if the Lord expects us to do a certain something for Him, He certainly will provide the opportunity. Too often we have the notion that we have to do the Lord's work all by ourselves, in our own strength. Then our experience is just like the Israelites about to enter Canaan the first time; remember? Either we are filled with such fear that we do nothing or, brashly, we rush in without God and accomplish nothing still. Wait on the Lord with a prayer for usefulness in your heart, and you can be sure that "the Holy Spirit will teach you in that same hour what ye shall say."

I write these things, because there is so much at stake. The soul of one of your friends may be saved through a simple word "fittly spoken in due season."

Dr. Swor Will Speak At Wayland

Plainview. — Dr. Chester Swor, internationally known Baptist youth leader, will deliver the commencement address to Wayland College's largest graduating class at 8 p. m., May 26, at First Baptist Church, Plainview.

Dr. Swor's address will climax a week-end of activities for the 72 seniors and alumni which includes the baccalaureate address by Rev. L. D. Ball, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lamesa, Sunday morning, International Night on Sunday evening, and a Round-Up of Alumni with Rev. Neil Record, Tulla, presiding at on Saturday evening.

Four foreign countries and six states have representatives in the graduating class. Plainview leads the list with 18 candidates for degrees.

President and Mrs. J. W. Marshall will honor the seniors, their parents and friends at a tea in the president's home, 801 Smythe Street, from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. Sunday.

From the 18 names of graduates submitted to former students by mail, seven will be chosen to serve with the officers in setting up an enlarged permanent organization.

Alumni at the banquet will elect seven from the following, half of whom are graduates of junior college and half from senior college: Melvin Hatcher, Hale Center; Aaron Shaw, Hap-

"My brethren, if any among you err from the truth, and one convert him; let him know, that he who converteth a sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall cover a multitude of sins."

Our country's future is at stake, the very thing that servicemen are presumably fighting for. The first general that the United States Army ever had, issued an order of the day against profanity that said, "We can have little hope of the blessing of Heaven on our arms, if we insult it by our impiety and folly." It is silly to sing, "God bless America," and swear in the next breath. Better to be a Russian, with no pretense of religion, than the citizen of a "Christian" country like ours, and swear. If we are people of prayer instead of profanity, "Then conquer we must, for our cause—it is just. And let this be our motto, 'In God is our trust!'"

J. R. NAYLOR, Pastor.

PASTOR'S NOTES

I must confess that I was disappointed in our Sunday School attendance last Sunday. I realize that the weather was damp, but all roads were passable and you ought to have been here. We were grateful for the attendance at the morning worship service. You seem to be enjoying these doctrinal messages. I hope that you enjoy them as much as I enjoy giving them. I will bring the fifth in this series next Sunday Morning, "What Baptist Believe About Salvation."

A new home for our Educational Director is now being built between the Callahan and the Pinner home. Our housing committee recommended to the church last Wednesday night that we borrow what ever money is necessary to build something nice and something of which we can be proud. A loan of $8,000.00 was secured, $7,500.00 for the house and $500.00 that we lacked on the folding doors in the church. It was voted that sometime in the fall we receive an offering to apply to this debt. We won't turn any money down between now and then, if you would like to give.

There is only one difference between a rut and a grave—the rut is longer.

All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. — 2 Tim. 3:16.

The passing of Ben Quebe is a distinct loss, not only to the people of the Providence community but also to the people of Lockney, of Floyd County and West Texas. Mr. Quebe, although the recognized leader of the Providence community, did not confine his interests to that community alone. He was in the forefront in movements that were beneficial to all Floyd County and to all of Texas. For several years he has been president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau and in fact, it was through his efforts that this organization, now made up of some 500 members, was first started in Floyd County. Mr. Quebe has served on the county school board for several years and his honesty and fairness there has been an inspiration of many people. The Lockney General Hospital is in operation today partly because of the public spirit of Ben Quebe. He, along with others, came to the aid of the local institution in the days when it was trying to start operation and at a time when aid was sorely needed.

To try to recount all of Mr. Quebe's good deeds and traits of character would be impossible but the people of this community and this county know of his great spirit of humble service and straightforward honesty. We should mourn not only the passing of this great man but also for the fact that there are not more men like him. The community, county and state have indeed suffered a loss in the passing of Ben Quebe.

First Paducah, and now Matador and possibly Floydada are working up a federal housing project. Why not Lockney? This city is growing faster than any one of the three and is probably in better financial condition than any one of them. That we have a need for more housing is obvious since several people each week come here looking for houses to rent or even to buy. Although we are not thoroughly familiar with the details of securing such a project, we do not believe that a large local investment would be required. Probably the purchase of the land and the laying out of streets and alleys would suffice. Of course the area would have to have utilities available. If Lockney continues to grow as it should and as it now appears that it has a chance to do, some kind of a project must be started to provide more housing.

Mr. Truman's speech the other night in which he accused the State of Texas along with other states of "robbery in broad open daylight" in trying to keep the tidelands is just another example of his "speaking without thinking" attitude. If he had cared to trouble himself he could find that the tidelands were assured Texas in the annexation treaty when Texas joined the United States and that the robbery business goes the other way when the administration tries to take them away from Texas. Mr. Truman is just a little man trying to fill a great big place and not doing it very successfully. Probably he realized his own inadequacy to some degree and that is preventing him from seeking the office again.

Personally I desire but one thing out of Washington. My life would be simplified and less embarrassing through a national regulation forcing builders to make the doors of public buildings to swing but one direction. Invariably when I lunge against one of these inch-thick glass doors, I later observe the "pull" sign. If I pull and nothing happens, I find the "push" sign. The experience would be less bitter if I could make my mistakes without an audience, but if I am alone at the portal, I always detect little echoes of escaping laughter. — Matador Tribune.

HOW TO DO IT!

Gardner Hendricks handed us a receipt on "How To Kill a Good Town:"

1. Don't attend any civic meetings, and if you do arrive late.
2. Never accept an office. It is easier to criticize than to do things.
3. Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary, but when others use their ability, howl that the town is run by a clique.
4. If you have a suggestion to offer, don't think of going to the authorities in charge... just stand on the corner and howl.
5. Get "sore" if you are not appointed on a committee; but plan on working during the time. Such a plan is to be commended. It speaks well for the students. However, although having a summer job is worthwhile, the far-reaching effects of an education, which boys and girls should continue when schools re-open in September, "far outweigh the money earned on a summer job." With wages as they are today, the student taking a parttime job could well succumb to the thought that "why go back to school when I can make this kind of money?" Therefore students should make the decision before going to work that it is going to be temporary and will not interfere with their education. Field Office Supervisor Ben W. Ferrell of the U. S. Department of Labor urges all teenagers to know the jobs they may legally do under the ruling of the federal government. He would also like for youngsters to know about the type of age certificates needed for employment. Such age certificates are needed for minors under 18 in general employment and by those who are 18 and 19 if they work in occupations declared to be hazardous. Finally he advises young workers to find out about the legal minimum ages and other conditions for employment which are set by the state child labor laws of the state. Many Garza county youth will work here at home. For those who are contemplating other work the above advice would be sound to follow. — Post Dispatch.

MORE LAWS?

That we have too many laws in the U. S., there is no doubt. But that we have enough good ones is questionable.

At any rate, one more law might be passed by Congress: A law directing that the President of the United States have framed and in his office—where he can't overlook it—a statement by Thomas Jefferson:

"I know of no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society but the people themselves; and, if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion by education." — The Plainsman in Lubbock-Avalanche.

If you are, don't attend any of the committee meetings.

6. Get good and mad at some member of the organization.

7. Be pessimistic about every proposal to extend trade and promote the interests of the town.

We believe that every Christian should strive to promote fellowship among all of God's people by demonstrating the love of God and showing fellowship to every other member of the body of Christ. For after all we are flesh of His flesh and bone of His bone. Most all members of most religious groups are bound together by certain doctrines which naturally causes an issue against all others who do not subscribe to their particular doctrine. But our aim is to grant each individual the right to hold dear and sacred to him his particular doctrine so long as he does not stress it to the point of dividing the body of Christ for after all it is the bringing together of the body of Christ that counts and to do that we must not split hairs over technical doctrines.

We believe in earnestly contending for the faith which was once delivered to the Saints. Jude 3. It is our purpose to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bonds of peace. Ephesians 4:3. Gene Hammitt. (Adv.)

RED CROSS AID TO VICTIMS OF MARCH 21 TORNADOES NEARS MILLION DOLLAR MARK

ABOVE—The refrigerator and washing machine are all that remain in the splintered ruins of G. R. Nelson's newly remodeled home near Leno, Arkansas, after tornadoes struck in this and six other southern states March 21. The twisters destroyed 1,844 homes, caused other losses to 4,319 families, killed 214 persons, injured 2,000 others of whom 636 needed hospitalization. The Nelsons' young daughter was one of hundreds for whom Red Cross paid medical bills.

BELOW—Made possible by a $4,023 Red Cross building award, the Nelsons' new four-room home now is almost ready for the $693 of essential furniture also bought for the family by the Red Cross. Meeting actual needs, not losses, Red Cross is aiding 775 families in rebuilding homes and additional hundreds are receiving awards—outright grants, not loans—to pay for household goods, medical bills, and other needs. Expenditures now are nearing the million dollar mark.

Floyd's Income Climbs Rapidly

(This article, telling of Floyd County's agricultural progress as reported by the 1950 census, released recently, is taken from the Lubbock Avalanche.)

Possibly the greatest increase in farm income on the percentage basis in the entire South Plains area during the five-year period between 1945 and 1950 came in Floyd County, where agricultural income jumped from slightly above $6 million in 1945 to more than $18 million in 1950.

Behind that jump in farm income is a progressive fight toward more modern equipment, better irrigation, and a tremendous hike in the value of farm buildings, lands and farm homes. The fight toward more modern equipment is illustrated in the number of tractors and modern farming equipment found on farms of this county, coupled with the number of services beneficial to the home.

More Phones, Electricity

In this five-year period, the number of tractors on farms in the county increased from 1,606 in 1945 to 1,945 in 1950. In addition, there were 14 crawler-type tractors listed, more than 1,900 cars, and 973 farm-type trucks listed by farm owners in Floyd County.

Telephones were reported on 703 farms, and 1,050 farms had electricity. That was a considerable increase in both services since 1945, when only 323 telephones were reported in farm homes in the county and only 525 farms had electricity.

The number of grain combines in the county in 1950 totaled 572, and there were about 500 mechanical cotton pickers, 25 pick-up hay balers, and 25 farms with electric milking machines.

Farms, Acreage Increase

Though the number of farms in the county have decreased from 1,328 in 1945 to 1,216 in 1950, the number of acres farmed has increased during the five year period from 570,081 to 589,815. Average size of the farms in the county has increased from 429.3 to 485 acres.

Livestock numbers in the county have steadily decreased since 1945. In 1950, there were 20,189 head of cattle and calves, 7,979 head of swine, and 11,171 sheep reported in the county. However, that was considerably lower than the 35,232 head of cattle, 11,611 head of swine, and 26,257 sheep reported in 1945.

But as the livestock numbers on Floyd County farms have decreased, the cotton acreage has risen. By 1950, 564 farms in the county listed cotton as their main crop, and classed their farms as out-and-out cotton farms. An additional 388 farmers listed their farms as a combination of cotton and grain sorghum type.

Thirty Poultry Farms

Only five dairy farms were listed in the census report of Floyd County, and there were 30 poultry farms reported in the county.

During the five year period,

Cotton Production Costs Cut With Rotary Hoe

College Station.—Cotton chopping and hoeing rank next to harvesting as top labor consuming operations in the production of cotton. In some sections of Texas, almost one-fourth of all the man hours required to produce a cotton crop are spent on chopping and hoeing. Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the use of rotary hoes will reduce the item and increase the income from cotton.

He says farmers last year reported savings up to 60 per cent on these two items by using the rotary hoe. The number of rotary hoe equipped farm tractors has increased from 7,000 in 1949 to almost 19,500 in 1951. Last year such equipment was used in 111 counties.

Elliott is a strong believer in using the rotary hoe for early weed control. He is quick to point out however that the ground speed of the tractor must be right and the hoe must be properly adjusted. A common mistake often made by the tractor operator is driving the tractor too slow. For best results, he says the tractor should be operated in third gear at speeds up to five or six miles per hour and even faster under favorable conditions and with an experienced operator.

As for the picker wheel adjustments, he says the wheels should be set so they will break the surface crust to a depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. This not only breaks up the surface crust but also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground or before their root systems become established.

He reports that many farmers reduce the ground speed of the tractor because they are afraid of covering up the small cotton plants or damaging them as a result of the thoroughly torn up soil surface. Tests made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the results of demonstrations conducted by farmers, he says, have proven that such damage will not occur if the rotary hoe is properly adjusted. The cotton seed was planted well below the regulated depth at which the picker wheels should be run and thus very little or no damage will occur.

Cross-cultivating or using a mechanical cotton chopper are two other mechanical practices which have been successfully used in some sections of the state for cutting the hoeing and chopping bill. About the latest thing for early grass and weed control in cotton is the use of special oils. These oils are more commonly known as post-emergence non-fertilized oil and dinitro. Elliott reports that research is continuing on this project but sufficient information is available to indicate that the use of post-emergence oil and pre-emergence dinitro sprays are practical weed and grass control measures in some sections of the state.

Elliott suggests that cotton producers contact the local county agent for the latest information on labor saving practices that may be used in producing cotton.

farm expenditures have more than doubled. More than $6 1/2 million went for labor and machine hire, repairs and feed. About half the expense was for either hired labor or machine hire, with $2,760,520 being spent for hired labor. That expense for labor gets double emphasis by the number of tenants on farms in this county, and by the decrease in farm owners residing on their farms. In 1945, there were 1,210 farm owners living on their farms, and only 118 tenants were operating the farms. However, in 1950, only 999 farm owners resided on their farms, while the number of tenants had increased to 217. That does not include part-time farm helpers, or tenants working on a share crop basis. Total number of tenants in 1950 for the county totaled 422. Sorghum Cover
Crop Is Urged
For Sandy Soil

By A. W. Young
Head of Department of Agronomy
Texas Technological College

Farmers of the Southern High Plains should seriously consider both the present and future of their farming program before planting cotton on their sandy land farms where considerable wind erosion has occurred during the past few months.

In 1933 and 1936 a serious dust bowl developed in the Panhandle counties of Texas. The events leading to this development were primarily brought about by several successive years with below average rainfall in the area. With the low moisture conditions prevailing for three or more years over the area, the wheat crop repeatedly failed and no vegetative cover was produced. The bare soil became more susceptible each year to the erosive action of the wind. By 1935 and 1936 great areas of the Panhandle counties had turned to near desert conditions with all the top soil blown out in some areas, and the sand piled into dunes as much as seventy feet high. Dr. Charles J. Whitfield was assigned the job of bringing this area under control. Many mechanical devices were tried for leveling and stabilizing the blowing sand. Few of these mechanical schemes offered any permanent control.

Vegetative control by growing a sorghum cover crop during the summer months when rainfall occurred was the most successful means found to hold the blowing soil. The growth requirements of the sorghum plant are such that the crop can be sown in late May or June, when the heaviest rainfall normally occurs. And in addition, the crop can make sufficient vegetative growth, even on limited rainfall, to provide a cover which will prevent serious erosion the following winter and spring.

Farmers in the Southern High Plains and in the northern part of the Rolling Plains of Texas should consider the possibilities of what may follow in late 1952 and early 1953 if they fail to get sufficient vegetative cover to stabilize their soils during the 1952 growing season. If the 1950 and 1951 rainfall pattern is repeated over much of this area for 1952, only the sorghum crop can be expected to provide enough cover for the soil to prevent even more severe erosion during the spring of 1953.

Financially, a farmer might be farther ahead ten years from now if he grows a grain sorghum in 1952, than if he attempts to grow cotton and fails to make a crop. The following points should be considered:

1. A sorghum crop requires a smaller number of pounds of water to produce a pound of dry matter than is required by a cotton crop. Thus a sorghum crop will produce more crop residue than cotton on the same amount of rainfall.

2. Grain sorghums are more efficient users of soil water than cotton because of the fibrous and more intensive root system. This same root system on the sorghum plant does a better job of holding the soil than is done by cotton plant roots.

IF POLIO COMES

WATCH FOR THESE SYMPTOMS

IT MAY—OR MAY NOT—BE POLIO
CALL YOUR DOCTOR PROMPTLY
If it is Polio, get in touch with your local chapter of
THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

HERE ARE SYMPTOMS OF POLIO listed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed, contact your local chapter of the National Foundation. When polio is around, these precautions are recommended: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with mended; Keep children exhausted through work or hard play. Don't stay in cold water too long or sit around in wet clothes. Avoid becoming chilled. Always wash hands before eating.

3. If insufficient rain fails to mature a crop, the grain sorghum can still be counted upon to produce a vegetative cover to aid in holding the soil from wind erosion.

4. If sufficient rain fails to mature a 1/4 bale cotton crop which might gross about $40.00 per acre income in lint, and about $14.00 worth of cotton seed at oil mill prices for the past year, the same amount of rain will be expected to produce about 1000 pounds of sorghum grain per acre, which at the 1952 support price of $2.38 per hundred pound will provide a gross return of $23.80 per acre. The cost of cotton production per acre is normally much higher than the cost of production of grain sorghums. Cotton, in addition to costing three to four dollars per acre for seed, several dollars per acre for hoeing, with one or more spray or dust applications for insect control at three to four dollars per acre, is more expensive to harvest and gin than is the harvesting of the sorghum crop. Thus the net return per acre on grain sorghums may be nearly as great as for the cotton crop, and a profitable yield of grain sorghums is more certain than a profitable yield of cotton when moisture conditions are questionable.

5. If the farmer plants cotton and misses a crop in 1952, because of lack of moisture, the acre value of his land will be further reduced because of the continued wind erosion which will occur in the absence of adequate vegetative cover on the lighter textured soils.

6. Land once eroded by severe wind action requires several years to return to its original productivity. In severely eroded areas where larger quantities of top soil have been blown away, or where deep accumulations of the sand have come to rest, it may require a quarter of a century to get the land back to where it has its original permeability for water, stability against erosion, and a fertility condition which will support a high production of crops. In some instances, the erosion is already so severe that the land cannot be returned to its original productive condition during the lifetime of the present owner.

7. If the farmers in wind eroded areas of the Southern High Plains and the Northern part of the Rolling Plains do not have good soil moisture to a depth of about three feet at planting time for cotton, they should not take a chance on this crop. The probability of their making a successful cotton crop is too great to gamble with the chance of further permanently damaging their soil by wind erosion during next spring.

Tips On Tipping Given By AAA

With the practice of tipping now a generally accepted factor in vacation travel, motorists can save themselves considerably confusion by following a few simple suggestions, according to Paul R. Kulp, manager of the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association.

Kulp offered these tips on tipping, which he said Saturday were developed through extensive research by travel experts of his organization.

The average tip has definitely gone up from its pre-inflation scale of ten per cent of the bill to a current 15 to 20 per cent. However, let these factors help guide you in setting the tip:

1. How good was the service?
2. What quality is the particular hotel or restaurant?
3. How much money do you have, to begin with?

Normally, when you're at a city hotel you're expected to give the bellboy who carries your bags to the room about 25 cents minimum; more if you have several bags and if he performs additional services.

The chambermaid gets at least 25 cents per person per night for stays of two days or more; it's not customary to tip for a one-night stay.

At the better restaurants, the tip should be 15 to 20 per cent of the check. At a night club Kulp said you'll be expected to be even more generous.

"The important thing," Kulp stressed, "is not to let tipping become a problem and get you down. Just remember that many of the people who render service depend largely on tipping for their income. Try to help them if they've been down but most of all, don't let vacation by pumping money into tipping."

Clarence Goins Passed Friday

Floydada. — Death came to Clarence Goins, 53 at his home, 719 West California street, last Friday morning at 3:00 o'clock, after an illness of eight months. The last two months of his life was confined to his home. His family was with him when the end came. He died of cancer.

Funeral rites for Clarence Goins were held from the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with the pastor, R. Earl Allen officiating, assisted by a nephew of the deceased, Rev. Robert L. Smith of Lamesa, and by Rev. Joe Wilson of Fairview. Burial was in Floydada cemetery.

Pallbearers were W. H. Simpson, Jr., Shirley Race, Jake B. Watson, J. S. Hale, Noel Troutman, D. B. Thomas, Dr. C. M. Thacker and Bob Muncy.

Clarence Goins was born August 30, 1897 in Ewing, Virginia, and came to Floyd county with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goins in 1902. He joined the Baptist church at the age of 15 years. At the age of 20 he entered the United States navy and served during World War One.

On April 2, 1931 he was married to Miss Cleo Andrews of this city, at Lockney. One daughter, Jo V was born to this union.

Mr. Goins was a member of the Masonic order and the American Legion.

Clarence Goins was manager of lumber yards for the Higginbotham Bartlett company for the past 30 years. He moved to Floydada from Muleshoe to manage the yard here several years ago. He also had extensive holdings in Floyd county and real estate in the city.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Cleo Goins, one daughter, Mrs. Allen Bingham, one granddaughter, Sharon Lynn Bingham, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goins, Floydada, one brother, Judge J. I. Goins of Ardmore, Oklahoma and six sisters, Mrs. E. W. Colthary, of Tyler, Miss Glissie Goins of Lubbock, Mesdames B. C. Cates, Charlie Fulkerston and E. W. Thornton of Floydada, Mrs. A. E. Sermonettes From Revival Tabernacle

In Matt. 13:3, Mark 4:3, Luke 8:5, we have a parable of the sower who went forth to sow. The seed which is sown is the word of God. It fell into four kinds of ground, which in type is four kinds of hearts. The same seed was sown in every heart but they didn't each receive it the same. The first fell into a heart and the fowls (Satan) came immediately and took it away lest they should believe and be saved.

Then the word fell into hearts and they believed but when the sun was up, which is more light on our path or more of God's word revealed, they were scorched. We must walk in the light as He is in the Light. In the time of temptation and persecution because of the Word, they fell away. They had no deepness of earth, in other words they were not rooted and grounded in the Word of God.

The third group are those who received the word but they allowed thorns to grow along with it. The cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, pleasures of life, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word in their hearts and they bring no fruit to perfection. How many of us are bound with the cares of this life until God's word cannot grow and we cannot be led on to perfection?

Then the last fell into good ground—an open, honest, sincere heart before God. When they hear the Word, they believe it, understand it, and keep it. They are the ones who bring forth fruit.

Everyone falls into one of these four groups. Jesus said, "Who hath ears to hear, let him hear."

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Ray.

Resolution May Bring PHA Project

Floydada.—A resolution adopted by the city council in its Monday night meeting may result in a Public Housing authority project here.

The council adopted a resolution which recognized the need for low income rental property in Floydada and which says the council is interested in a project that would provide such.

This is the usual preliminary to the construction of low income rental property in a municipality under the federal Public Housing administration.

According to the understanding at the city hall the resolution lies in the files for 60 days during which time the council considers the matter and listens to the ideas of the people of the community. A date, time and place of meeting when the council will consider the proposed cooperation agreement will be given.

Formal notice of the passing of the resolution and of the action contemplated by the council is being issued this week through The Hesperian.

Farmers Meet To Consider Water Regulations

Eighteen farmers and business men met in Muleshoe last week to discuss with the County Water Conservation Committee various points now confronting the Hi-Plains Water District program of work, according to information from Tom McFarland, secretary.

County committees from Bailey, Castro and Parmer counties were present in the meeting. There seemed to be a definite feeling among these men, as well as others who have had similar meetings, that well spacing and prevention of waste must be taken into immediate consideration.

As soon as similar meetings are held in the other two precincts of the district some plan of study will be worked out to gain all information possible concerning the spacing and stoppage of waste, Mr. McFarland said.

The district committee has approached the Commissioners Court of Floyd county concerning a plan to collect the three cents per $100 valuation tax which the district has levied. It was reported the district would pay the county a very small percent for collecting the tax.
