

Brannon Will Address Farm Group Friday

Denton — Former Secretary of Agriculture, Charley F. Brannon, now general counselor for the National Farmers Union in Denver, Colorado, will address an all-group Farm Program Development Conference at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium, Friday January 31st, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Alex Dickie, Jr., of Denton, Texas, President of the Texas Farmers Union, which originated the idea for the conference, said all producers of agriculture commodities and all farm organizations in the state will be invited to the conference. Other sponsors include Grain Sorghum Producers, Plains Cotton Growers, Texas Milk Producers Federation, Co-op Oil Mill, Producers Grain Co-op of Amarillo, and Cotton Marketing Co-op.

The primary purpose of the conference, Dickie said, will be to develop a comprehensive farm program that would have the backing of the producers of all agriculture commodities.

After a round of speeches during the morning, which also includes address by Professor Troy Cauley, Department of Economics, University of Texas, the conference will be broken down that afternoon into commodity groups, with the producers in each session working up a program to suit their particular needs.

The conference then will convene in a general session to map an overall farm program acceptable to the entire group.

Selected to head the commodity group discussions were: R. G. Peeler, President, Grain Sorghum Producers, Chairman of the Grain Sorghum Group; George Pfeiffenberger, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Chairman of the Cotton Group; Russell Hogue, President of Texas Wheat Growers, Chairman of the Wheat Group; S. E. Brown, former president of United Livestock Assn., Chairman of Livestock Group; and B. E. Stallings, President, Texas Milk Producers Assoc., Chairman of the Dairy Group.

$15,000,000 Net On Texas Onion Crop In 1957

Austin — Texas onion growers made more than $15 million from the 1957 crop, realizing their highest income in five years, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

They have been planting an estimated 30,000 acres for early spring harvest this year.

Large acreages and high revenues from onions are not unusual in Texas, which in recent years has ranked first in the U. S. in total acreage planted, George E. Neil, Jr., of the Bureau staff points out. Major production centers include the Rio Grande Valley, the Laredo and Winter Garden areas of the South Texas Plains.

One of the northern sections of the state where there has recently been increased interest in and substantial new production of onions is the irrigated district of the High Plains. Significant acreages are planted in Dallas, Collin, Rockwall and Ellis Counties. Development of late-maturing onion varieties has been helpful in onion acreage expansion in northern parts of the state, but perhaps more important has been increased use of irrigation, especially on the High Plains.

Although production has spread to other parts of Texas, the onion was introduced in the Laredo area. In 1898 a packet of onion seed from the Canary Islands was planted near Laredo and the resulting crop shipped to Milwaukee. The onions were received so enthusiastically that planting was increased and by 1904 approximately 500 acres were planted to Bermuda onions in South Texas. As planting spread to other parts of the state, production increased to a record 10,164 carloads in 1946.

Two Silverton Youths Injured

Two Silverton youths were injured, one seriously, Friday morning when the automobile in which they were riding to school collided with the engine of a Fort Worth & Denver freight at a crossing in Silverton.

Marvin Jones, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones, received head injuries. After undergoing treatment and observation at the Briscoe County Clinic at Silverton he was taken to an Amarillo hospital by ambulance.

The youth suffered head injuries, including a possible concussion and fractures of his nose and the right side of his face.

James Tennison, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tennison of Silverton, other occupant and driver of the automobile, received only bruises. He was released from the clinic after treatment and first aid.

Tennison had driven into the country to pick up young Jones and they were on their way to high school. The freight engine struck the rear of the west bound auto, swinging it end-around. The car did not overturn. The train was traveling slowly and stopped within a few yards after the collision.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to thank each one who has been so kind in remembering us in prayer, also your cards, letters, flowers and gifts since Mr. Howell became ill.

He is home from the hospital and is feeling better. May God bless each one of you is our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Howell.

CROSS ROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

My neighbor west of town is a little bitter about how President Ike wants more pay for government hired help and less pay for farmers and farm-town citizens.

Says this is favoritism, discrimination, injustice, dirty pool, and several other things which you wouldn't print if I told you.

But I try to reason with him. After all there is nothing personal in the President's attitude. He don't really hate country people. Our vote appeal has just been out-classed.

Producers of certified hybrid sorghum seed have taken another step in producing the best quality seed they can produce. If you were dissatisfied with rogue stalks in your field you can now choose planting seed that has been tested in Mexico and the Rio Grande Valley showing the per cent of these rogue stalks. We will always have some off type stalks in hybrid due to the way they are produced. However, experience and testing should prevent as much off type this coming year.

If you are planning on sowing Spring barley the variety that has proven to be the highest yielding and most adapted to Spring sowing is Cordova. A test conducted in Floyd county is has been first in fields. However, Cordova sown the fall has winter killed more than the other varieties.

The use of 2-4-D and cropping systems can be a valuable asset in the control of bindweed. If infestations are in small enough areas the use of sterilants should be used for complete control. For larger areas the use of 2-4-D twice a year can help control bindweed. The applications should be applied early enough to prevent damage to cotton and late enough in the fall when the cotton is mature and before frost. Three years of this practice at the Bushland Experiment Station gave about 75% control. Summer fallow and cultivation gave 89% control for a three year period. The treatments were about 25 days apart and about 5 to 6 cultivations were required during the growing season.

The use of combinations of D and cultivation gave a 85% control. For large acreages of bindweed this would probably be the most economical means of control. For wheat land the use of rotation of wheat and fallow

Hospital At Floydada Faces
Foreclosure

Floydada. — Peoples Hospital in Floydada faces a dilemma this week, following suit filed in 110th District Court by National Farmers Union Property & Casualty Company asking foreclosure of a lien on real property of the hospital under deed of trust and a chattel mortgage on furniture, fixtures and equipment. The petition of the insurance company alleges that $11,500 of a $15,000 debt is past due, together with interest at 4 per cent which has accrued since December 19, 1953. The petition alleges that $3,750 has been paid on the debt and the interest kept paid until December of 1953. Past due principle and interest draw interest at the rate of 6 per cent, according to the terms of the deed of trust and the mortgage, the petition recites.

The note was made originally to the National Farmers Union Life Association, which is now the National Farmers Union Life Insurance Company.

The mortgage and deed of trust cover all of Block 6 in Baker Heights addition to the City of Floydada, together with all improvements, furniture, fixtures and equipment.

Made defendants with the hospital are the City of Floydada, Floydada Independent School District, the County of Floyd, the State of Texas, the United States of America, and Ellis Campbell, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Northern District of Texas, together with about 13 individuals. These individuals are made defendants to establish priority of the insurance company's claim to the property over other liens which these individuals may hold.

The government and units of government are made defendants in the petition for the purpose of enjoining them from the enforcement of tax claims they hold. Of such taxes as are charged against the hospital the petition recites "all are invalid and enforcement of the same should be enjoined."

Notice of the suit was served on F. C. Harmon, president of the hospital, the first of the week. Mayor J. M. Willson accepted service for the city and County Judge J. D. McBrien for the county.

President Harmon of the hospital board of directors said Tuesday that the holders of the deed of trust and mortgage could not be expected to do anything other than what they thought best to protect their own interests and there is no reason why there should be any ill feeling against the insurance company.

"It will be an expensive procedure so far as the hospital is concerned, of course," Harmon said. He did not know what the attitude of the board would be, he pointed out, but he assumed that since they cannot make any payments at this time, there is not anything that can be done other than to let the company have their judgment by default.

He was due to get the board together this week to consider the matter.

Harmon pointed out the likelihood that the insurance company will not have much use for a hospital and that after the smoke of the foreclosure has cleared away something could possibly be worked out with the officials of the company.

CROSS ROADS

Dear Editor:
I note that a government expert has put out a bulletin for housewives to advise them that "dish pans should be large enough to hold the dishes but not too large for the sink."

Without this wise counsel, I guess there would be millions of ladies working their little hearts out trying to keep house with old dish pans that were too little to hold the dishes and too big for the sink.

What the country needs is enough of these brain-swelling government jobs to go around, so everybody could know it all.

Additional Farm Credit Available
In Floyd County

Additional farm credit, in the form of initial emergency loans is now available to Floyd County farmers, Walter T. McKay, State Director, today advised Delbert L. Kassahn local County Farmers Home Administration Supervisor.

The designation to authorize the making of initial emergency loans in Floyd County was made by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson as a result of damage and losses sustained by local farmers from excessive rains, freeze and other adverse weather. Loans to finance 1958 operations are available to farmers who suffered actual production losses, who have a good record of past operations, and who are unable to obtain the credit they need from private or cooperative credit sources. Loans may be made for normal farm and home operating expenses, the interest rate is 3 per cent and loans are repayable annually, Delbert L. Kassahn, advised.

"This credit assistance is in addition to credit services already available from Farmers Home Administration," Delbert L. Kassahn further stated. "Other credit services include subsequent emergency loans to farmers who suffered losses due to drought and all loans authorized under the agency's regular lending activities."

Eligibility for all types of loan assistance is determined by the local County Committee and applications are now accepted at the local Farmers Home Administration office, W. Earl Edwards, Hubert E. Frizzell and Malcolm J. McNeill are now serving on the Floyd County FHA Committee.

FOOD FINISHES

A cloud of whipped cream on split pea soup, chopped nuts stuccoed on the sides of a frosted cake and lemon and parsley with fish are examples of touches that enhance the original food. Home economists say that eye appeal is just as important as taste. They use jams and jellies to perk up everyday puddings, cooked frozen peas tossed into cooked rice, finely chopped parsley in mashed potatoes, tiny whole mushrooms in creamed spinach, and grated chocolate, orange rind and fresh coconut for glamour touches on desserts.

HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. L. A. Blair returned to her home Monday after spending several days in Lockney General Hospital. She is getting along nicely.

They might demand dou- and better working conditions, such as fewer empty pews and empty faces to look at, and more crying rooms for babies and snoring rooms for church officers.

Of course, this could make for shorter sermons if preachers had to quit when the whistle blows, but also might lead to the same kind of bickering between them and the Lord that goes on between other unions and their employers.

Dear Editor:
Well, I see where there is agitation for the preachers to organize them a labor union and no telling what this could lead to.

Mrs. Jay McPherson and girls, Karen and Pamela, and Mrs. Olive Myers spent last week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Myers and the Mace McPherson family.

Let's Consider Money

... a very fascinating subject

Money is beautiful stuff to look at . . . not so much, perhaps, because of its artistic design as because the sight of it reminds us of the many pleasing and necessary things it can do for us.

Yet . . . if we're not careful about how we handle it we may thoughtlessly cheat ourselves out of some of the finer things our money can bring us.

Because only a part of each dollar we spend puts actual goods and services into our hands. Whether we like it or not . . . part of each dollar also goes toward the upbuilding and support of the community in which it is spent . . . to pay for the schools and churches, the roads and streets, the police and fire protection and other social facilities that make up modern living . . . and to strengthen that community's economy.

If the area that benefits from our trade is that in which we live, then we get for ourselves all that our hard-earned money pays for . . . and often many times over . . . in better business, better jobs, better living among more good and useful neighbors.

Trade in Lockney

... where your trade improves your own economy

It Pays to Buy where you Live

YOU get everything that your money pays for . . . merchandise AND a trade-invigorated community to live in . . . when you buy from your home town merchants . . .

CHARLYNE BROWN was named "Homemaker of Tomorrow" in Lockney High School last week.

Charlyne Brown Named Homemaker Of Tomorrow

Miss Charlyne Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and a senior in Lockney High School, was named the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in Lockney High School last week after scoring the highest grade in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating girls in the local school.

Her examination paper now will be entered in competition with those of 628 other school winners to name this state's candidate for the title of All American Homemaker of Tomorrow and will also be considered for the runner-up award in the state. For her achievement she received an award pin designed by Trifari of New York.

Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip with her school advisor to Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City. A $500 scholarship will be awarded the second ranking girl in each state. The school of the state winner receives a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

A record 327,000 young women in 11,800 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools participated in the fourth annual Betty Crocker Search sponsored by General Mills. This year's huge entry brings the four year participation over the million mark. A total of 1,071,000 girls has enrolled in this national home-making project since it was launched in 1955 to assist schools in education for home and family living. A total of $106,000 in scholarships will be awarded this year.

The national winner will be named April 17 at a banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City. The scholarship of the All American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. Girls who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

Science Research Associates of Chicago prepared and scored the examination through which local, state and national Homemakers of Tomorrow are selected.

Ira Buie Is Killed, Wife Critically Injured In Wreck

Word has just been received at the Beacon Office of the death of former resident, Ira Buie and the serious injury of his wife, Joy, early in Dec. The couple lived here about three years before moving to Crosbyton and El Paso. Mrs. Buie was technician at Lockney General Hospital for two years after receiving her training here.

Buie, who was driving, received multiple injuries when their car went out of control and ran off a 210 ft. bluff in El Paso. The car went through a rock wall during the fall which occurred about 9:50 at night. Mr. Buie's body was found fifty feet from the wreckage and he passed away at 11:45 the same night, according to word received here by friends of the family. Mrs. Buie was found pinned under the car. She has been receiving treatment about seven weeks for a crushed ankle, a broken leg, two breaks in her left arm and one in the right arm and five bad gashes on her face.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Buie at his hometown near Fort Worth where his parents live.

Mrs. Buie has been at the home of her sister in El Paso the past three weeks. She is still in casts and a wheel chair, and it will be several more weeks before she is able to walk, reports say. Friends may send cards and letters to her in care of her sister, Mrs. Howard Gilcrest, 325 Buena Vista, El Paso, Texas. It was feared for some time the left arm would have to be amputated but at last examination it was found definitely improved. She is expected to recover satisfactorily in time.

While here Mr. Buie represented Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. Both Mr. and Mrs.

Buie were members of Lockney Baptist Church.

"Parlor" Method Of Raising Pigs Being Debated

Lubbock — Texas Tech researchers are seeking some definite answers to a current agricultural debate over the "pig parlor" method of hog raising versus the open-field method.

The question under study is whether or not one method produces better meat than the other.

In the pig parlor method, the swine are kept inside a room with a washed cement floor, and are allowed virtually no exercise. They eat from nearby feeders.

The exercise, or open field method, allows the hogs to range freely over an outside plot, without so much thought being given to movement and sanitation.

Making a controlled study of the two situations is Billy Greer Jackson, a Tech graduate student now teaching vocational agriculture at Boys' Ranch near Amarillo.

Jackson has taken 20 hogs and divided pairs of litter mates into two herds. That is, one litter mate went into one herd, the other mate into the other herd. Three breeds were utilized: Yorkshire, Poland and Hampshire.

One group was raised by the confined method, the other by the exercise method.

The hogs have been butchered and the meat now is being analyzed. Tech nutritionists are studying the palatability, tenderness and flavor of the meat samples, while chemists are running tests on fat content of each one.

Jackson, who is working toward a master's degree with a major in animal husbandry, is being supervised by Dr. N. C. Fine, and Coleman O'Brien.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

OPEN SESAME

Do you always read recipes and directions on packages of food products before opening the package? Home economists say you can get more information about packaged foods on any cookbook. Food manufacturers put their best recipes and directions on the package where it is handy to use. They want you to like their products so you will buy them again. Once you become familiar with the product and the way it is supposed to be used, you can add your own variations.
