Members Of One Family Injured In Auto Accident

Eight members of one family were injured late Sunday afternoon when their car, traveling north on Farm Road No. 288, was struck from the rear by a car driven by D. A. Ryan of Lockney. The accident happened four miles north of Lockney at the intersection of the highway near the Southwest Public Service Co.'s substation.

Edwardo Pinada, driver of the car and father of the family, was seriously injured. He suffered a dislocated hip and lacerations. He was given emergency treatment at Lockney General Hospital and then sent to Plainview Hospital for further treatment. Four other members of the family, less seriously hurt, were also receiving treatment at Plainview and three of them are being treated at Lockney General Hospital.

Pinada's car, when struck from the rear, left the highway and plunged into a bar ditch, striking a high line pole. This was believed to be the cause of the accident to the occupants.

Others in the family who were injured were Johnny Pinada, age 18; Lupe, age 10; Augusto, age 11; Osmio, age 17; Mrs. Edwardo Pinada, wife of the driver; Velente, age 25; his wife, Leneta, age 22. Ryan was not injured. The accident was investigated by Highway Patrolmen Troy Porterfield and Carl Mullins.

Both cars were badly damaged.

Several people miraculously escaped injury in an auto collision on the Floydada-Silverton highway about four miles north of Floydada Wednesday morning of this week.

Several boys were enroute to school at Floydada in a 1957 Chevrolet belonging to Dock Jones of South Plains. The driver attempted to pass a cotton trailer being pulled by a pickup, tried to pull back, struck the trailer and the pickup turning over the trailer and the car. The car was demolished and the trailer and pickup damaged but no one was injured.

Two wrecks happened Sunday morning in this area but no one was injured. A late model Cadillac driven by a Plainview man was struck by a 1953 Chevrolet pickup driven by a Mexican at the intersection of Highway 70 and the Sandhill road in South Lockney. The Cadillac, coming from the south, had stopped at the intersection and then proceeded across the highway. The pickup driver, coming from the east, skidded into the side of the Cadillac after it had cleared the highway, officers said. The Cad was badly damaged.

A 1950 Sunday morning a 1951 Ford, driven by Pablo Zamarripa, struck the signal light pole at the FW&D intersection of the northeast edge of Lockney, damaging both the pole and his car. Officers said that Zamarripa, traveling north, drove up behind a tractor traveling the same direction, found he couldn't stop and cut around the tractor hitting the pole. Damage was estimated at $250 to the pole and $200 to the car. The driver was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hodel spent the past week visiting in Arkansas. They are expected home Thursday.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM TO MARK AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

The public is invited to attend a clever assembly program at Lockney High School Friday morning designed to emphasize American Education Week. The program will begin at 8:30 a.m. and will be held in the high school auditorium. Parents and friends of the school are especially urged to attend.

Opening the program will be a play, "After The Honeymoon," presented by members of the Sophomore Class. The play illustrates the importance of planning ahead for high school students. The lead part, Ted, a high school senior is played by Robert Holland. Lorenzo, his best friend, is Wayne Workman, and Harriette, also a senior and Ted's girl friend, is played by Paulette Kropp. Chick, Ted's brother, is Ronnie Reeves, and Pauline, Chick's wife, is played by Donna Sammann.

The High School Chorus, directed by George Arthur, will be presented in its first public appearance, singing two numbers, "This Is My Country," and "Old Man River."

Arlene Purcell will play the part of a young teacher and Jo Readhimer will be the president of the P. T. A. Several other members of the Sophomore Class will act as parents.

American Education Week, November 8-14, is being emphasized on many radio and television programs this week.

Mrs. Harleen McAda, teacher in the local high school, and sophomore sponsor, is in charge of the high school assembly program.

The Home-making girls, under the direction of Mrs. Quentin Adams, will serve refreshments following the assembly.

Longhorn Grid Schedule Ends Here Friday

LOCKNEY LONGHORN footballers close out their season Friday night when the Morton Indians invade Mitchell Zimmerman Field.

The Olton Mustangs have already clinched a share of the district crown and the right to represent 2-AA in bi-district against Tulla or Canyon. However Morton could tie for the crown with a victory over Lockney.

Morton has downed Abernathy, 8-6, and Muleshoe, 31-7. They lost to Olton, 26-0. The Big Red from Lockney topped the Olton eleven, 8-6, but fell to Abernathy, 21-0, and to Muleshoe, 30-12, last Friday. The Longhorns could deadlock Morton and possibly Abernathy for second place with a win Friday night. Muleshoe hosts Abernathy Friday night.

Lockney has posted a record of five wins, four losses this year. This is considerably better than the 'Horns were picked to do in pre-season polls. They have proved to be a scrappy, hustling club all season.

Six senior boys will wear the Lockney High colors on the gridiron for the final time Friday night. They are Captain Dan Smith, Olyama Buchanan, Lewis Eiland, Terry Clark, Jake Wofford, Keith Carthel. Another senior, James Davis, had a knee operation recently and has missed the past two tilts.

Local coaches thought their athletes played a good, hard game against a big, rugged Muleshoe Mule eleven last Friday night. Injuries hurt the local club, with three regulars on the sidelines when the contest ended. The 'Horns were forced to use three freshmen linemen near the end of the game.

Lockney will have a patched lineup this week. Rickey Collis, fine sophomore tackle, will miss the tilt. He suffered pulled ligaments in his knee, which had to be placed in a cast. Guard Mickey Mosley and halfback Terry Clark, both injured in the Muleshoe battle, will play this week.

Mosley will be shifted to Collis' tackle post. Lewis Eiland, who turned in a bang-up effort against Muleshoe, or Warren Mitchell, both ends, will be shifted to left guard.

Morton is primarily a running club. Quarterback Brown and halfback Butch Nairn are fine backs. One of the Indians' favorite plays is to fake to the fullback and hand-off to Nairn who runs with a lot of authority.

The Morton eleven is not too large, but is a scrappy club. Many of the boys are seniors.

5-Year-Old Loses Sight Of Left Eye In Accident

Teena Jones, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Jones Jr., lost the sight of her left eye in an accident which happened last Sunday afternoon. An arrow from a play bow-and-arrow set struck her in the eye, puncturing the ball and destroying the eyesight.

She was given emergency treatment at Lockney General Hospital and rushed to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock for attention of an eye specialist.

There was no chance of saving the eyesight but efforts are being made to save the eyeball. An operation was performed on the eye Sunday night.

The accident happened at the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stowe, about 4:30 p.m. Sunday. Several children were playing in a back room when one of them shot the arrow from the bow and it struck the little girl in the eye.

Teena is in room 517 at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. She will be there for several days, relatives say.

Robin Baker Is Sold On Deep Plowing In Area

Robin Baker, president of the Baker Plow Company at Plainview, is sold on deep plowing as a soil conservation measure and as a means of increasing productivity of the land in this area. Mr. Baker's company has spent the past eight years developing a large plow to go down as much as 36 inches.

He said this week that his firm keeps two trucks busy hauling plows to Arizona and California where they are sold as fast as they can be delivered. This is in addition to plows sold in this area.

One dealer ordered more than $100,000 worth of plows at one time, he said. The plows are priced from $975.00 to as high as $10,500.00.

The Baker Plow Co. now employs 25 workmen and Mr. Baker expects that his firm will continue to grow as farmers of the area realize the value of deep plowing.

Cotton strippers are running full force in most fields in this area and as a result gins are buried under an avalanche of cotton. The gins are operating on a 24-hour per day basis and still not gaining on the harvesting operations.

A survey by The Beacon Wednesday afternoon revealed that gins at Lockney have turned out a total of 13,479 bales and had an additional 1500 bales setting on the yards now. Gins at Lockney, Lone Star, Aiken and Sterley have ginned a total of 27,029 bales and have an additional 2400 bales on the yards.

Gin men say that cotton in most fields is just now getting right for stripping and ginning though a few fields are still a little green. The freeze on last Thursday morning did a good job of killing the cotton, with the thermometer dropping to a low of 21 here. The temperature Friday morning was slightly lower.

Grades are holding good, one ginner said, and if the weather continues fair the strippers will continue to get the cotton in a hurry.

Soy Beans Harvested

The soy bean harvest in the Lockney area is about over and most farmers are getting about 35 bushels per acre average. The market price stood at $1.90 per bushel Wednesday which was around 20 cents per bushel higher than the government loan, with the result that most beans are being sold.

Jr. High Gridders Ends Good Season

Lockney Junior High gridders enjoyed a good season with the eighth grade eleven winning six, losing three, according to coaches. They ended their season last Tuesday with a 16-12 victory over Hale Center.

Coach Bobby Davis had only seven eighth grade boys on the squad and was forced to use many seventh graders.

Longhorn "B" Team Ends Grid Season With No Defeats

The Longhorn "B" gridders ended an undefeated season last Thursday night with a 28-14 victory over the Abernathy Antelope "B" squad. The local boys won eight straight tilts.

Abernathy was scheduled to play here tonight (Thursday), but called the game off Wednesday.

Lockney "B" eleven's starting lineup at the close of the season included: center, Rayland Brotherton; guards, Clarence Ansley and Paul Ballard; tackles, Russell Davis and Lavon Baughman; ends, Ronnie Belt and Pablo Lerma; quarterback, Kenny Clark; halfbacks, Jimmy Rushing and Danny McAnally; fullback, Terry Mosley. Guard Donnie Hanst and end Warren Mitchell played most of the season with the "B" eleven before being moved up to the "A" squad. End Audrey McCormick was also a regular until an injury sidelined him recently.

Many of the boys — Hanst, Ballard, Davis, Baughman, Belt, Lerma, Mosley — are freshmen.

Other boys who have helped keep the "B" squad undefeated include Clem Zavala, David Cates, Bill Dodson, Bobby Holt, Eddie Stinebaugh, Roy Ford, Jerry Johnson, Tommy Johnson, Teddy Bob Cooper, Johnny Tannahill, Tommy Musser, Bobby Leach, Tom McCready.

Synthetic fiber sweaters dry fast, soft and fluffy in the clothes dryer. Ban-lon, orlon, nylon, Dacron and Acrilan turn out best if the dryer is preheated for several minutes. A few heavy bath towels will cushion the tumbling action. To keep wrinkling to a minimum, remove the sweaters as soon as they are dry. Don't overdry.

Janice Miller, Bobby Holt, Ed Noel, Miss Judy Bullock was welcomed as a new member. The program was on "Food Boys Can Cook," demonstrated by Warren Mitchell and Bobby Holt who made doughnuts out of canned biscuits. Elaine Starkey and Marilyn McLain were hostesses for the meeting.

Farm Questionnaire Being Mailed To Area Farmers

Questionnaires for the 1959 Census of Agriculture are now in the mail and will be in the hands of local farmers within a few days. It was announced today by Field Director James W. Stroud of the Census Bureau's regional office at Dallas.

The farm census questionnaires are being mailed from Chicago, Illinois, with the distribution timed so that the report forms will reach farmers about a week ahead of the date when census takers will begin the field canvass. The advance mailing is for the purpose of giving farm operators time to consult their records before filling in the answers required by the questionnaires and getting them ready for the census takers to pick up. This procedure is designed to insure greater accuracy of reporting and to save time both for the farmer and the census taker when the latter calls at the farm.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture questionnaire is designed to provide information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt. On the average, each farmer is asked about 100 questions, many of which can be answered by simply checking "yes" or "no".

One-fourth of all U. S. exports go to Latin America.

It won't kill you to be careful.

Longhorns Stopped By Muleshoe Mules, 30-12

Lockney's scrappy Longhorns were eliminated from the 2-AA title chase Friday night when they fell to the Muleshoe Mules, 30-12. Despite the final score, the game was close until the final four minutes of action when the Mules posted 12 of their points.

A small crowd braved the frigid weather to view the game on Muleshoe's field.

The scrappy Longhorns tried all they had until the final whistle. Lockney tried to overcome the fired-up Muleshoe's rough defense and players sent several out of the contest when the horns' three regulars were injured. Three regulars were out of the contest when the final whistle sounded.

The Longhorns were also hurt by their inability to handle the Muleshoe's rough defense early in the contest. The Muleshoe fumbled deep in their territory the first two times they owned the ball but the Big Red was unable to cash in on these breaks. After a scoreless first quarter, the home team tallied on the second play of the second period. The Mules, aided by 45 yards in penalties, moved 78 yards for the touchdown.

Midway in the same stanza Lockney came back to tie the score. But late in the quarter the Mules moved for another touchdown to maintain a 12-6 margin at halftime.

Coming back strong after intermission, the Longhorns drove to the Muleshoe 1 before losing the ball on downs. However the next time the Big Red gained possession of the pigskin they moved for the tying points.

Turning point came on the ensuing kickoff when Mule quarterback Derrell Oliver took the ball on a triple handoff and raced 82 yards to paydirt. Muleshoe held an 18-12 lead until late in the fourth period when they tacked on 12 more points.

The Big Red displayed a lot of fight. Captain Dan Smith turned in his usual excellent performance. Big Dan opened good holes for 'Horn backs and was again the key man in Lockney's defense.

Other members of the Big Red team showing up well were Oyama Buchanan, Freddie Gent, Bill Mangold, Terry Clark, Lewis Elland, Rickey Collis, Wayne Cooper, Mickey Mosley, Donnie Hanst, Paul Bellard, Jake Wofford, Johnny Bell, Joe Allard, Billy Dan Rollins, Doyle Freeman, Jimmy Rushing, Russell Davis, Terry Mosley, Warren Mitchell, Keith Carthel, and others.

Oliver was the big cog in Muleshoe's attack. The 190-pound quarterback tallied all of the Mule's points and his beautiful punts kept Lockney in a hole much of the last half. Oliver punted five times for a nifty average of 45 yards per boot.

Summary of the Game:

As the second period started Oliver made 2, 1 for the game's first score. Oliver's kick for PAT was blocked by Smith and Cooper. With 11:20 remaining in the period Muleshoe led 6-0.

Rolling ran the kick from the 15 to L 26. The Big Red gained 4, 2, 0, punted 13 yards to the L 45.

After a 7 yard gain, Hanst covered a fumble on the L 37. A pass was incomplete, Lockney picked up 3, 3, punted 26 yards to the M 31. The ball hit a Muleshoe player's helmet and the heads-up Buchanan grabbed the pigskin.

Lockney 12, Muleshoe 12 with 3:20 remaining in the third quarter.

Smith kicked to the M 18 and, after a series of hand-offs, Oliver scooted down the sideline to score. Oliver's kick was wide, Muleshoe 18, Lockney 12.

Social Security Payments Up 38% In This Area

As of February, 1959, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits were being paid in the Lubbock district at the rate of 9 million dollars a year, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security District Office.

"This is an increase of about 38% over last year," Mr. Hutton said.

Mr. Hutton stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily for the beneficiary's economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $423,000 a year in Floyd County helps business in the community generally because most of the money is spent immediately for food, clothing, and other necessities.

"In February, social security benefits were being paid nationally at a rate of nearly 10 billion dollars annually."

"Payments to a retired worker with no dependents, receiving benefits, averaged $67.50 a month nationally in February, and to a retired couple — $119.40 a month," Mr. Hutton said. The average for a widow with two young children was $165. The maximum payment for a family is $254.

"There were several reasons for the increase in beneficiaries over last year," Mr. Hutton said. The long-term growth of the aged population and of the proportion of the aged population eligible for benefits are important factors in the continuing increase in the number of beneficiaries. Other reasons for the increase of beneficiaries are found in the provisions of the 1958 Amendments to the Security Act which now make it possible for the wife, dependent husband, and children of a disabled worker beneficiary to receive monthly payments. The amendments also provide for benefits to aged dependent parents of a deceased worker even though other survivors are entitled to payments.

Moreover, Mr. Hutton pointed out, it is now easier for a disabled worker to qualify for benefit payments. He no longer needs social security credit for 1 1/2 years before he becomes disabled. If he worked under social security for at least 5 years out of the 10 before he became disabled, he may be eligible for disability benefits.

"Increases in average benefit payments reflect the 7 percent raise in benefit amounts which became effective with the checks for January, 1959," Mr. Hutton said. Average disability benefit payments also reflect the elimination of the so-called "offset" provision of the old law. Disability benefits under social security are now payable in full even though benefits are also payable under State workmen's compensation or under some other Federal Government program.

Social Security Payments Up 38% In This Area

As of February, 1959, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits were being paid in the Lubbock district at the rate of 9 million dollars a year, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security District Office.

"This is an increase of about 38% over last year," Mr. Hutton said.

Mr. Hutton stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily for the beneficiary's economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $423,000 a year in Floyd County helps business in the community generally because most of the money is spent immediately for food, clothing, and other necessities.

"In February, social security benefits were being paid nationally at a rate of nearly 10 billion dollars annually."

"Payments to a retired worker with no dependents, receiving benefits, averaged $67.50 a month nationally in February, and to a retired couple — $119.40 a month," Mr. Hutton said. The average for a widow with two young children was $165. The maximum payment for a family is $254.

"There were several reasons for the increase in beneficiaries over last year," Mr. Hutton said. The long-term growth of the aged population and of the proportion of the aged population eligible for benefits are important factors in the continuing increase in the number of beneficiaries. Other reasons for the increase of beneficiaries are found in the provisions of the 1958 Amendments to the Security Act which now make it possible for the wife, dependent husband, and children of a disabled worker beneficiary to receive monthly payments. The amendments also provide for benefits to aged dependent parents of a deceased worker even though other survivors are entitled to payments.

Moreover, Mr. Hutton pointed out, it is now easier for a disabled worker to qualify for benefit payments. He no longer needs social security credit for 1 1/2 years before he becomes disabled. If he worked under social security for at least 5 years out of the 10 before he became disabled, he may be eligible for disability benefits.

"Increases in average benefit payments reflect the 7 percent raise in benefit amounts which became effective with the checks for January, 1959," Mr. Hutton said. Average disability benefit payments also reflect the elimination of the so-called "offset" provision of the old law. Disability benefits under social security are now payable in full even though benefits are also payable under State workmen's compensation or under some other Federal Government program.

Doyle Thurman Is Burned In Explosion

Doyle Thurman, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Thurman of Groom, former Lockney residents, was seriously burned last Wednesday in an explosion and flesh fire at an elevator in Groom.

His condition was described as serious but not critical at Groom Osteopathic Hospital where he is receiving treatment.

He suffered burns about the face and his hair was burned, reports reaching here said.

Fears are that his face may be scarred. He also received burns on his arms and hands, and possibly third degree burns on his back above the waist.

Force of the explosion sent flames towering 30 feet over the top of the head house on the elevator. The head house was shattered by the explosion.

Officials set damages at the elevator at $25,000. Foremen were able to extinguish the flames with little damage to stored grain. Cause of the explosion is not known, but officials figure it must have been a dust explosion set off by a spark.

Young Thurman was reared here and attended Lockney schools.

Dear Editor:
 I see where congressmen investigating TV quiz rigging are patting Prof. Charles Van Doren on the back because he told them some truth.

My truth-proof neighbor says this odd behavior of a committee witness seemed to sort of flabbergast the inquisitors, like a man don't hardly know how to act when he gets a tax refund.

Says the professor's remorse is the economy model which don't call for giving up the money, but it looked like there for a minute the public quizmasters might award him a Congressional Medal for Honor.

Plowing Way Down

(Reprinted by permission from the June issue of Farm Management magazine.)

Giant plows — such as the one pictured on this month's cover of Farm Management — were familiar sights through the cotton growing areas of Arizona early this year. State pink bollworm eradication programs demanded that all cotton trash and stubble had to be shredded and plowed under the ground to a depth of at least seven inches and these deep plows are the machines that can do the job.

But burying cotton trash is only one use, and a relatively minor one at that, of these deep plows. For almost a decade growers have been seeing the benefits of deep tillage, its rejuvenating effect on soils.

Introduction
For many Arizona growers, the pink bollworm eradication program meant a "forced" introduction to deep plowing; but for other growers the machines needed no introduction. This was because Arizona had been the scene of the first great popularity of deep plowing. Reason: More and more farmers were learning that by farming deeper than they had before, they were realizing increased profits, cutting weed and insect control costs, building a richer seedbed — a heavier layer of topsoil, so to speak — and aerating the soil for the development of better water retention. And costly hardpan and alkali beds were being destroyed.

What is deep plowing all about? First, and most obvious, gauge of a cultural technique's value is the measure of what it does to yields.

First User
Ben Hulse, farmer and state senator in California's Imperial Valley, had this experience: His fields were developing alkali because, as is true in similar hot, dry areas, water evaporation was quite rapid. As irrigation waters evaporated, the salts remained in the ground. Subsequent irrigations leached these salts further into the ground and, as those waters evaporated, added to the salt content. These salts created hardpan and all its evils. Further irrigations meant further salt leaching, hardpan building and alkali development.

In 1948, with the alkali buildup reaching a point where parts of his land were almost worthless, he took a gamble with this deep plowing technique. He was the first in the Imperial Valley to use it.

He chose 140 particularly bad acres, had it deep plowed, planted barley again and waited anxiously to see the results.

Leaching Alkali
Now when the irrigation water was spread on the land and percolated downward it carried its salts on through the area which had been alkali. Furthermore, it had a leaching action on the alkali in the "mixed up soil," and, in effect, cleaned the alkali out of the soil. Result: That first year, the barley yielded 500 lb. per acre more than it had the previous year. That 70,000 lb. or 35 tons of extra barley paid for the deep plowing and a lot more. Then when the enhanced value of the land is added, the dividends on the investment get to be pretty spectacular.

Sen. Ben Hulse was cited as an example only because he was the first to use the deep plow on something more than an experimental basis. Since 1948, literally thousands of farmers have done the same thing — but it's no experiment anymore. Today there are upwards of 2,500 two-wap, deep plows, moldboards and disc types, churning up God's earth all the way from San Diego to Saudi Arabia. The greatest concentration of the machines, however, is in the irrigated southwest where hardpan is a particular problem.

Developer
Says Claude Ogle, Atlas Scraper and Engineering Co., who developed the two-way deep plow:

"The effect of deep plowing is actually a 'soil rejuvenation.' Soil cannot be worked for any period of time without becoming compacted. Weight of equipment passing over a field, even the weight of irrigation water, creates a downward pressure which compacts the upper layers of the soil.

"Consider this example. You put a sample of soil in a test tube and add water. Then shake it up. Then you let it sit still. What happens? The heavier particles of soil settle to the bottom then the medium heavy particles on top of that then the lighter particles, etc.

"The same thing happens when a field is irrigated. The water percolates, the lighter soil particles tend to rise, the heavier particles tend to settle.

Lost Nutrients
"Shallow tillage merely stirs up the top layer of soil. Year after year it is this same layer that gets turned over, and worked and planted. The trace minerals and a lot of fertilizer is leached down into the ground. If hardpan develops these chemicals may unite in the hardpan and thus be "locked up" and unavailable to the plants. And any of these "potential" plant nutrients that leach into the "ground before hardpan develops are, of course, beyond the reach of any plants that are seeded above hardpan layers.

"But deep plowing changes all of this. It breaks up the hardpan, releases the nutrients, gives the soil a working over or mixing up that makes it productive."

Historically American agriculture has depended on what was referred to as "that vital 6 inches of topsoil." With deep plowing — to 36 inches depths every three or four years with 18 inch or 22 inch plowing in the intermediate years — there is no reason why a "vital 2-3 ft. of topsoil" cannot be developed.

Deeper Rooted
This matter of building a deeper rooted was the impetus

Dear Editor:
I see where there is considerable talk here lately about a movement to make TV programs honest, and it seems like everybody ought to approve of this, on account of honesty being a highly recommended virtue.

But my differing neighbor says even a reputable practice like honesty can be overdone and needs to be indulged in with temperance.

Says if the whole country got infiltrated with honesty it would bring on a mighty serious unemployment problem among policemen, congressional investigators, preachers and perfume salesmen.

D. E. SCOTT

to the development of deep plowing. In the early post World War II years, servicemen came back from Europe telling about 125 bu. per acre yields of wheat on land that had been farmed for 2,000 years. The secret? Those European farmers plow 22 inches deep every year. Said soils specialist Dr. D. A. Lang, in 1953:

"There was every indication that the only reason for such high yields was the long, continued practice of deep plowing and working organic matter and plant food into deep layers of the soil surface. This had the effect of maintaining high production over long periods of time."

The stories about southwestern farmers boosting yields by deep plowing seem endless, as witness this one:

Cotton grower Louis Johnson, Casa Grande, Ariz., was getting about .75 bales per acre in 1950. Each year he would subsoil and disc his cotton land. Then he would furrow out with a four row lister going through the fields in low gear because the lister would be going deeper than the discing. The furrows would be crooked wherever the lister engaged a subsoil groove at an angle.

Old Practices
Then he would pre-irrigate, plant and irrigate and cultivate 6-7 times. His weeding bill alone ran about $35 per acre. He tested the soil for moisture, found moisture 20 inches deep at the head of the field, 24 inches deep at the foot and would run tailwater as much as 36 hours.

For all of this, he got .75 bales per acre yield with a lister. In 1951 he first deep plowed his cotton fields. When he listed the field, he was able to go in 3rd or 4th gear because the substructure had been well broken and the furrows were straight. When he irrigated he did not run any tailwater because the soil absorbed all of the water. Three irrigations and three cultivations were all that was necessary and when he measured his moisture content he found moisture at 6 ft. depths.

"The difference in the cost of weeding alone," said Johnson,

"paid for the deep plowing." And what about yields? They jumped to 2.25 bales per acre average on one entire section.

Dependable
"The effect of the deep plowing was to change a marginal operation which sometimes showed a loss, to a steady, dependable operation."

While increased yields, eradication of alkali and hardpan, and general "rejuvenation" of the soil are the most spectacular and most obvious benefits of farming the top 22 inches of the farm instead of merely the top 10-12 inches, there are other benefits which are, in some cases, even greater.

Obviously if you put what's on the bottom on top, then what's on top has to go to the bottom. This is what happens to weeds, soil fungi and similar soil undesirable.

Cotton root rot has been virtually eliminated in many fields that have been deep plowed. This is for two reasons: First, the host plants — the cotton stalks end trash — are buried. Thus they rot, and in the decomposition eliminate the host for the fungi that cause root rot. Second, the fungi are buried so deep that they cannot possibly get to the new cotton seedlings to make hosts of them.

Humus Buildup
And as this trash decomposes it adds humus to the soil, enriching it to that extent.

R. D. Smith, Lyford, Texas, cotton rancher describes his experience with cotton root rot and deep tillage. Smith used a Towner 384 reversible disc plow, going down 14 inches.

"Of approximately 700 acres of cotton in 1957, over 1.3 was lost to root rot. Last year deep disc tillage cleared up 95% of the root rot and it looks like the other 5% is gone this year."

R. A. Passmore, Smith's foreman, said: "The truth is, this land had never been really opened up. This year our root rot has been completely eliminated and one factor I attribute it to is the aeration of the soil."

Smith deep plowed 1,500 acres of sorghum land with the deep disc plow last year and the sorghum yields jumped 900 lb. per acre.

Soil Conservation
Deep plows are playing a big part in soil conservation, too. In some parts of Arizona and New Mexico they have been used to turn up heavy clay and bury lighter, sandy soils that have drifted into deep banks along field edges and fences and have taken a toll in crop yields.

In some places, the Soil Conservation Service has looked on such practices with such favor that they make conservation payments of $5 per acre for deep plowing done to a minimum depth — usually 24 inches — sufficient to bring to the surface several inches of the rich clay which requires only water to start producing crops.

But payments of this nature are regulated and determined by each local county committee so growers planning to take advantage of this to help finance deep plowing should first check with their county ASC office.

Speaking of costs, custom rates in most areas run between $7 and $12 per acre. At this rate, and it would obviously be lower for a man using his own machine, the deep plowing pays for itself rather quickly through the improved crop yields, pest control savings, etc. From an investment point of view, it has paid big dividends for many users.

Trailer Registration Situation Clarified By State Department

Officials of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Monday termed the issuing of warnings to High Plains farmers and others about the registration of cotton trailers an educational program aimed at obeying the law.

At a meeting in the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. office in Lubbock, officials said that only warnings had been issued at various points over the High Plains and letters outlining the policy of the Department of Public Safety are being distributed.

This program started in the Valley with the cotton harvest and it has now reached the High Plains, they explained.

The law concerning registration of farm trailers was passed in 1941 and the county tax collector has all information concerning the trailer registration.

Public Safety officials said, "We would like this to be considered an educational program for voluntary compliance with this law". Some safety rules suggested include a burning red light on the rear of trailers, pulling of only one trailer, and adherence to the speed limits while pulling trailers.

Prior to the meeting between officials, House Speaker Waggoner Carr had been in contact with Col. Homer Garrison, Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin.

Crux of the situation is that trailers which exceed 4,000 pounds, gross weight, must be registered. Public Safety officials said the minimum registration fee for a 3,000 pound trailer for five months, the remaining time in this registration year, is $4.13. Permits for higher gross weights will be from $10.39 for 7,000 pounds graduated up to $17.68 for 10,000 gross per trailer for farmers. Fees for rigs who own trailers would be higher.

It was the consensus of opinion that the situation may not cause farmers additional harvesting cost this year. However, what remains to be done for future years seems to be the big question, which will be up to members of the legislature. The Plains Cotton Growers will use their influence to remedy this situation.

Dr. M. F. Husky Dies In Dallas

Dr. Marion F. Husky, former resident of Lockney and a veterinarian, died Monday of last week in Dallas where he lived. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. E. R. Harris of Lockney, Mrs. O. D. Wofford of Plainview, and Jess Shurbet of Floydada.

Dr. Husky and his family came to Lockney about 1907 and lived here about 30 years, local relatives said. The family moved to Kenady from Lockney and moved to Dallas about five years ago. Dr. Husky followed the veterinary profession here.

Funeral services were held Wednesday of last week at a funeral chapel in Dallas. Attending the services were Mrs. E. R. Harris, Mrs. O. D. Wofford and Kenneth Wofford. Burial was in Dallas.

Survivors include the wife; one son, R. V. Husky of Dallas; and one grandson.

Mrs. Stoerner was honored by being elected secretary-treasurer of the ladies auxiliary of the 90th Division Association.

Others attending from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pace of Levelland. The two families went to Kansas City by train.

Some of the outstanding guests included General Mark Clark and Major General George B. Barth, who warned against Communism in a speech to the group.

The Stoerens along with an army buddy who lost both eyes in the Normandy invasion and his wife visited the Truman Memorial Library and jail museum and saw Harry Truman's home in Independence, Mo.

Thieves Use Unique Method To Try To Steal Trailer Tires

Thieves used a unique method in attempting to steal four wheels and tires off a trailer belonging to Hilburn Casey Monday night of this week. Apparently they had no jack with them so they took off all the lug bolts, hooked on to the trailer, which was loaded with 3,000 pounds of soy beans, and pulled it thinking the wheels would come off and fall clear of the trailer. But the plan only worked for one wheel and tire. The axles fell on the other three and pinned them down so that the thieves could not get them. In addition to carrying off one wheel and tire, they also carried off all the lug bolts, Casey said. The thievery happened on the Early Pritchett farm, four miles south of South Plains, where Casey was combining some soy beans for Pritchett.

Bank's New Home Is One of Most Modern In Texas

The brand new home of the First National Bank in Lockney is one of the most modern in the state, according to Woodrow Killingsworth, of Killingsworth Construction Company, general contractor for the building. Modernistic aspects include many features ranging from a drive-in window to the mural painting on the west wall of the spacious lobby.

Located on west side of North Main Street at the intersection with Washington Street, the new building is on property acquired from the Landrum Trust of the American Legion. It contains more than 5,000 square feet of floor space and is constructed of steel and brick. The building has a 65-foot front on North Main and extends 85 feet deep to the west. Parking space will be provided on both the south and east sides of the building, and on the north side will be the drive-way for the drive-in window.

Interior finish of the new building is beautiful. Mrs. Blanche Anglund, interior decorator of Amarillo, planned and supervised the building's interior decoration. Walnut paneling covers the walls with white accoustal tile on the ceiling. The walnut paneling also covers the rails separating the offices and the lobby. On the south wall is a special basketweave design adding an unusual touch to the interior finish.

The mural is an actual photograph of a cotton field in this area. Just where the picture was made is not known by bank officials but they are expecting that someone will recognize the place.

The lobby floor and the rest room floors are covered with terrazo tile, with the office floors carpeted and the other working areas covered with rubber tile.

The exterior of the building is very unusual and planned with that desired impression in mind, according to Mr. Killingsworth. On the east wall facing Main Street and on the south wall facing Washington Street, the tan brick is decorated with protruding tile-base blue brick spaced at desired intervals. In addition on the south side of the wall is broken with 3-foot wide panels of the blue brick, set flush with the other wall, extending the entire height of the wall. Four of these decorate this wall. Dominating the building is the huge tower and clock set at the southeast corner. The entrance is of glass and aluminum and the 8-foot square foyer is completely glassed in. The night depository is installed in the foyer and the outer door will be unlocked at all times allowing deposits to be made at any time, day or night. Two brick columns also mark the front of the building.

Interior arrangements of the building are both spacious and efficient. The huge lobby is 29 feet wide by 72 feet long. Offices will be located on the south side of the lobby with the southeast corner room being a separate office which will be occupied by Minor Insurance Agency. The officers lounge will be in the southwest corner of the building.

On the north side of the lobby will be five tellers cages and back of that will be the book-keeping area size 19 feet by 47 feet. This room will also contain the drive-in window accommodations.

The drive-in window operation includes the utilizing of a sliding drawer operated by the teller. When the vehicle stops at the window the teller slides the drawer out to receive the deposit. It is then pulled in, the deposit checked and the deposit slip and change, if any, put into the drawer and pushed out to the customer.

Entrance to the drive-in window will be made from the west so that the driver will be on the right side of the street when he makes his exit. The roof extends out some 10 feet to protect the drive-in window. The employees lounge is located in the northwest corner of the building.

Two big vaults occupy the northeast corner of the building, one containing a battery of safety deposit boxes. Rest rooms are in the rear of the building.

The 25x40 basement will be used principally for storage. Landscaping plans include an evergreen cover plant. A television antenna has already been installed as part of the building equipment.

The new furniture was furnished by Southwestern Stationery & Supply of Amarillo and the fixtures were built by Industrial Fixtures of Lubbock. Contract price on the building, not including the cost of furniture and fixtures, was $79,500, making this no doubt the most costly commercial building ever constructed in this city.

Bank President Began As Lowly Bookkeeper

Charles L. Duran, president of the First National Bank in Lockney, began his banking experience as a lowly bookkeeper in the First National Bank at Henderson in 1946. Since that time he has held just about every office in the banking profession.

Born and reared at Henderson, Duran graduated from Henderson High School where he was a basketball star. Soon afterward he went into the Army where he served for three years and two months during World War II, two years of that time in the Pacific Theatre.

Starting in 1946 Duran worked as bookkeeper at the Henderson bank until June 1, 1950, when he moved to Snyder to accept a position as teller in the newly organized West Texas State Bank there. Advancing rapidly he held successively the positions of assistant cashier, cashier, assistant vice-president and vice-president of that bank which position he held when he resigned to come to Lockney as president of this bank in August, 1955. He, with B. C. Drinkard, bought the majority stock of the local bank at that time.

During his time at Henderson and Snyder, Duran completed every course in banking offered by the American Institute of Banking.

20 Years Experience
Floyd M. Neill, Duran's father-in-law, served almost 20 years as manager of a production credit association office in Henderson, before coming here as vice-president of the local bank in August of 1956. He now holds the office of executive vice-president.

Carroll Minor, vice-president, came to Lockney in 1957, purchasing the insurance agency from Frank Perkins in October of that year. He was named a director of the bank in February of 1958 and vice-president in January of this year.

Mrs. June Bybee is cashier of the bank and has been employed with the bank for 15 years. Assistant cashiers are Virgil Thomas, "Dub" Dippery and Tommy Montandon.

The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon thee, hath the light shined. —Isaiah 9:2.

THIS FRIDAY NIGHT will see the end of the football season for the Lockney Longhorns. The team, though lacking in experience and speed, has done pretty well with a five won and four lost record thus far and one game to go. We hope that the team boosters and fans will be present for the last game of the season Friday evening on Mitchell-Zimmerman Field here. Let's go with them all the way. We know the team and coaches will appreciate it.

NO COMPLAINTS from this department, but it's ironic that the Longhorn team has for the past two seasons defeated the district representative in football. Last year the local team decisively defeated the Abernathy Antelopes, yet the Antelopes wound up representing the district and even won the bi-district game with Dimmitt. This year the only game lost in district play by the Olton Mustangs was to the

ON VIOLENT DEATH

We have noticed several efforts lately to get television, book, magazine, and newspaper people to tone down stories about killings since there are theories that such things induce more murders and mayhem on a nationwide scale. We've noticed that most western and general time-killing TV programs usually treat the viewer to a killing or two. To see a man shot down on TV arouses not one iota of emotion in most of us. We've been accustomed to this sort of thing in one form or another, since childhood. It is a clearly done thing and the camera shows nary a drop of blood. The comics, too, make it seem like a clean, unemotional thing to do.

It has been our unfortunate lot to have been present at the scene of a few violent deaths. A more soul wrenching experience would be almost unbelievable. Combat veterans never become quite hardened to the sight nor does anyone. Probably more jolting than the sight of violent death is the sense of tragedy and loss that was so uncalled for.

And it looks so easy on television and in the comics. — Bascum Nelson in Castro County News.

I see where a reactionary columnist says the struggle to gain unfair advantage is now the American way of life.

My contentious neighbor says that it's mostly a fair fight when just between people, but what he don't like is the government taking unfair advantage by pulling rank.

Says if we had sportsman-like internal revenueurs they wouldn't grab tax money out of our pay checks before we get same, but would stand in line and take their chances on getting paid the same as other people we owe.

HOT-CHA SANDWICH

This sensational "Hot-cha" sandwich will make the left over Thanksgiving turkey disappear in a hurry. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Place slices of buttered caraway bread on a cookie sheet and lay several thin slices of turkey on each. Top with 2 tablespoons of crumbled Roquefort cheese. Place in the preheated oven for about 5 minutes, or until the cheese starts to melt. Serve with relishes and a hot beverage.

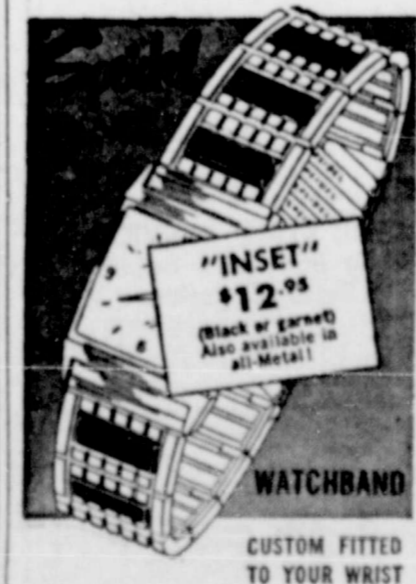

There's a lot of dirt that detergents can't touch.

Dear Editor:
I see where there is a heap of talk these days about a union sport known as featherbedding, whereby employees are made to keep surplus help on their pay-rolls.

My gravel-bedded neighbor says life would have been a lot easier for him if he had joined the right union when he first started out selling his efforts.

Says instead of being thrown out of jobs every few years by progress and work-quirked bosses, he could now have high seniority and a nice pension built up on the first job he got as a stable detyer.

VFW Official Talks To Rotary Club

Victor J. Afflerbach, senior vice-commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Texas, spoke to the Lockney Rotary Club last Friday noon, telling something of the work of his organization and its projects.

The VFW has as its motto, "Honor the dead by caring for the living," Afflerbach said. He pointed out that thirty million men had fought for this country during all of its wars and of that number one million had died in battle and one million, two hundred thousand were injured. He stressed the rehabilitation projects of the VFW and also told of the organization's orphan home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. He described the VFW's objects as civic, fraternal and patriotic.

Visitors at the meeting included local officers of the VFW. Post Commander O. C. Allison introduced the speaker. Others attending were Robert McDonald, J. E. Huggins and Kenneth Moody.

Annual Livestock Survey Begins November 19

Postmaster Jeffie M. Griffith announced today that rural carriers will begin distributing Livestock Survey cards November 19.

Arthur Nigh, Route 1, Tom Marr, Route 2, Cliff Gilly, Route Q, Mrs. Clyde Stowe, Route F, and Mrs. Vestal Eiland, Route M, will be leaving cards with farmers and stockmen along their routes.

Patrons receiving livestock cards are requested to complete and return them to their mail box. Cards will then be returned to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin. Information from this survey is used in estimating numbers of cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens on Texas farms and ranches.

Many farmers and ranchers are glad to take a few minutes time to answer the questions asked on livestock numbers in order to have information available for making business decisions. Information obtained from this survey is returned to farmers and ranchers through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, radio and television.

If you can't get behind a movement for the good of the community, the least you can do is get out from in front of it.

239 Counties In Texas Have Irrigation

A survey just completed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service shows a continued increase in irrigated acreage in Texas. The irrigated area in June 1959 was 7,140,443 acres. Similar surveys in 1957 and 1955 showed an irrigated area of 6,962,234 and 6,208,022 acres, respectively. The data in each survey was compiled from information furnished by county agents from each Texas county, according to Wayne Keese, extension agricultural engineer-irrigation.

Reports from the counties show that some irrigation is practiced in 239 of the State's 254 counties. An estimated 6,445,155 acres are irrigated by surface methods and 685,288 by sprinkler systems. Irrigation is used on 48,110 farms, and ground water supplies obtained from 60,708 wells are used on 5,914,753 acres, noted Keese.

Cotton is the leading irrigated crop with 2.2 million acres, and grain sorghum is second with 1,800,000 acres. Other important irrigated crops are rice, 436,000 acres; vegetables, 375,000; and pastures, 200,000. Corn, forage sorghum, alfalfa, cats and many other crops are produced on irrigated farms.

Irrigation did not expand as rapidly the last two years as in the previous two year period, probably because of more favorable rainfall, explained the specialist. The increase during a period of more favorable rainfall indicates an acceptance of irrigation by farmers as a sound management practice instead of simply an emergency practice to maintain production in drought periods.

Keese added that the growth

Banks Largest Lenders To Farm And Ranch Owners

Texas banks were serving farmers and ranchers with more credit than any other group of lenders on January 1 of this year, according to E. L. Norman, President of the First National Bank of Floydada, who represents the Texas Bankers Association as Floyd County Key Banker. During 1958, the state's banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services. Texas banks held a higher proportion of the total farm production credit than a year previous.

Based on the eighteenth annual farm lending summary by the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Norman reported that "at the beginning of the year, Texas Banks were helping farmers and ranchers with $331,443,000 in loans — 7 per cent more than a year previous. The total included $289,152,000 in production loans and $42,291,000 in agricultural mortgages. On the same date, $290,055,000 in agricultural loans were held by insurance companies; $211,063,000 by Federal Land Banks; $90,221,000 by Production Credit Associations; and $62,850,000 in nonreal estate loans plus $32,842,000 in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About two-thirds of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Texas farmers and ranchers came from banks."

Mr. Norman said that "more and more, the banks in Texas find that farmers and ranchers need a new type of credit to help finance the rapid increase in capital requirements. To meet this changing need, banks in Texas now make larger farm loans and an increasing amount of agricultural credit is on an intermediate-term repayment basis."

"Intermediate-term loans are most frequently needed for machinery and equipment, livestock, soil improvements, additional land, and refinancing short-term notes. Over one-half of all real estate credit is used to finance those intermediate-type capital expenses."

"As a further service to help farmers and ranchers improve their operations, about one-third of all other bank agricultural loans have a repayment program longer than one year. Banks serve farmers and ranchers with far more intermediate-term credit than any other group of lenders."

Mr. Norman believes that "farmers, ranchers, and bankers working together in this way help make Texas agriculture more prosperous."

Mr. Norman reported that 94 per cent of the insured commercial banks in Texas are serving agriculture's credit needs.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?

of irrigation not only indicates the farmer's continuing effort to increase his production efficiency but also demands continued emphasis on conservation and efficient use of one of our greatest natural resources — water.

Picking Up Game Off Highways Can Be Illegal

Austin. — Only under very limited conditions is it legal to stop and pick up game animals that have been run down by an auto, warns the director of law enforcement, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

"The same laws that govern hunting game with firearms must be taken into consideration under all conditions," explained the director. "If it's illegal to have a particular species of game animal in possession, it doesn't make any difference whether you ran it down accidentally with an auto or shot it. You are still violating a law if you have one in possession."

"It's best not to take any chances," said the director. "If you accidentally hit a deer on the road, play it safe and notify the nearest game warden or peace officer. Don't pick it up. Just move it clear of the road."

Under no condition is it legal to run down intentionally a game animal with an auto.

When a warden is notified, he will pick the animal up and give it to charity. This is the only way to dispose of an illegal kill.

"Remember," suggested the director, "that laws governing possession when hunting and fishing hold true even when picking up game that has been accidentally run down with a vehicle, or when accepting fish as gifts."

Which my mooch-master neighbor says no doubt was brought on by the prime minister's noting that the more some country's people hate us, the more money we cough up to refinance their love for us.

Says Castro probably is running scarce of funds, and hopes that by organizing the world's biggest hate festival he might hit the jackpot.
