At 3:30 in the afternoon the 13 bands will present a concert at the high school auditorium under the direction of W. King Jr., Hale Center band director. The program will be open to the public and free of charge. Mr. Burkhalter states.

Concluding the festival will be a parade of the bands down Hale Center Main Street.

Band Boosters Will Choose Jackets In Tuesday Meeting

An important decision as to the type of jackets to order for members of the Lockney High School Longhorn Band will be made at the regular meeting of the Lockney Band Boosters Club next Tuesday evening, March 1st. The meeting will be held at the band hall starting at 7:30.

"It is imperative that every band parent or band booster be present for this meeting so that we can reach a decision that will please the most of the members," one officer of the club said Monday.

"We must decide whether we will buy a regulation jacket and keep the same kind for several years or buy a different jacket every year," she continued. "Also we must decide on the type of jacket to buy. We are urging all band boosters to be present so that no one can say that they were not consulted on the matter."

The present plans call for ordering the band jackets now for next year so that the student will have the jacket all the year, the officer said. Previously the jackets were ordered in the Spring for the year and they were received too late to be worn but very little.

A representative of the firm which will furnish the band jackets will be present for the Tuesday night meeting.

Club officers also stated that a number of the fruit cakes which the club has been selling are still available at Knox Grocery & Market. Those who are interested in buying one of the cakes may get them there.

WILL LET CONTRACT TODAY ON HIGH SCHOOL ADDITION

The board of trustees of the Lockney Independent School District will open bids and probably let a contract today (Thursday) at 3 p.m. for a 7700 square foot addition to the present high school plant. The meeting will be held at the high school cafeteria.

Supt. H. H. Nicholas said Monday that an unusual amount of interest has been shown in the project by various construction firms over the area. Nine sets of plans are out on the general contract and six sets are out for equipment. Architects are Stiles, Roberts and Messersmith of Lubbock. Their estimate of the cost of the project is $110,000 including the equipment.

The new addition will house a homemaking department and a science department and will include considerable equipment for each of these departments. The building will be 56 feet wide north and south and 130 feet long, east and west. It will be attached onto the present high school building on the north with the east side, or front, designed to be symmetrical with the overall building.

The building will be one story, brick, tile and steel structure, and will include in the homemaking department, a food lab, an office, dining room, fitting room, living room, bedroom and bathroom. The science department will include chemistry lab, project room, dark room, office, combination lab for physics and biology, and a storage room.

Whether the building can be completed in time for use at the start of next school year is still a question, the Superintendent said.

Miss Irene Bean Is Buried Here

Miss Irene Bean of Dallas died suddenly at her home Sunday evening. She was a sister of Gilbert and Albert Bean of Lockney and was a former resident of this community.

Miss Bean was watching television with her sister when she suddenly slumped over and apparently died instantly. She had not been ill previously, friends said.

Funeral services were held at a chapel in Dallas Tuesday morning and the body brought to Lockney. Another service was held at Carter Funeral Chapel here Wednesday at 3 o'clock and burial was in the family plot in Lockney Cemetery where her mother and father are buried. Rev. John Gillispie, pastor of South Plains Baptist Church, officiated at the local services.

Miss Bean was born August 3, 1900, at Greenville. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bean. The family came to Lockney in 1917 and she lived here until 1924 when she moved to Dallas. She had made her home there since and was employed by a clothing firm.

Survivors include the two brothers of Lockney and a sister, Mrs. Leola McManamom of Dallas.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Sudden Snow Storm Covers Area Tuesday

A sudden snow storm struck this area during Tuesday night and local residents woke Wednesday morning to a world of whiteness. Snow was drifted badly due to the north wind accompanying the snow but probably averaged about three inches in depth. The snow was very dry and will not be very beneficial from a moisture standpoint.

Lockney schools were cancelled for Wednesday due to the snow storm. School officials said that they believed the buses could have made the trips Wednesday morning but they were fearful they wouldn't be able to return the students to their homes Wednesday afternoon.

The snow continued all day Wednesday and officials did not know Wednesday afternoon whether they would have school Thursday.

Temperatures sank to a low of 6 or 8 degrees above zero here Tuesday morning and hit about the same low Wednesday morning. Some warmer temperatures were predicted for Thursday.

City Loses 5% On Fire Credit

The City of Lockney will lose another 5% of its good fire record credit on insurance premiums effective April 1st. The city has had a 10% credit the past year and the coming year will have a 5% credit.

Local insurance men point back to fire losses at the school, post office and Rhodes Grocery as cause of the decrease in the credit. The credit is figured on the history of fire losses in the immediate past five years. At one time Lockney had a 25% good fire record credit.

Mills Is Named 'Ginner Of Year'

Mondell Mills, manager of the Lockney Co-operative Gin and Elevator, was named Texas Co-operative Ginner of the Year at a banquet concluding the joint annual Co-operative meeting at Austin Tuesday night. Mills has been the manager of the local co-op gin since its organization in the Spring of 1957.

DEADLINE FOR FILING IN CITY, SCHOOL ELECTIONS NEXT WEEK

The deadline for filing for a place on the ballot in both the city and school elections will come next week, officials have advised The Beacon. Three names have been filed for city alderman but no names had been filed up to Wednesday afternoon for school trustee.

With three vacancies coming up, two incumbents have filed for re-election for city alderman. They are Lloyd Wofford and J. D. Copeland. Also John Bickley has filed for alderman and other names are being rumored as possible candidates. Claude Brown, present alderman whose term also expires this year, had not filed late Wednesday but told The Beacon that he probably would file some time this week. Deadline for filing on the city ballot is Saturday of next week, March 5th.

Two vacancies will occur on the school board with terms of Oscar Golden and Clark Harris expiring. A nominating committee has been appointed but no names had been filed for the places late Wednesday. Members of the committee said that they expected to file some names later this week. Deadline for filing for the school board is March 2nd, which is Wednesday of next week.

Chili Supper At Lone Star Center

A chili supper and "42" party will be held at Lone Star community center Friday evening starting at 7:30. Everyone of the community is invited to attend.

The announcement probably came as a complete surprise to Mills since he had been busy the past two months seeking to win the honor for another co-op gin manager. The officers and directors of the local gin had, however, started a campaign of their own without his knowledge. Mills for the coveted award. Mills and his wife were present at the banquet as were other officers and directors of the local co-operative.

The award is an annual one in which the co-op gin manager in Texas who has done the best job of managing his gin and promoting the co-operative movement is selected. Last year the gin manager at Olton received the award. A plaque is given the winner.

Attending the Austin meeting, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Mills, were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Kellison, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Belt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billington and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Widener. Ellison is manager of the elevator and Durham is president of the association.

Mills moved to Lockney from Edmonston, where he had worked at a co-operative gin as clerk. This was his first experience as manager. The local Co-operative had purchased the existing plant from Harold Storie at the west edge of Lockney and made their first season with that plant. The plant turned out 3511 bales that first year but Mills went to work as soon as the season was over to improve his plant.

The gin installed additional equipment costing some $40,000 and he spent a lot of time that year traveling over the state seeking hands for local farmers. The gin did better the fall of 1958, ginning a total of 7570 bales of cotton. More equipment was installed and the gin plant was improved.

The fall of 1959 the co-op gin plant ginned a total of 10,011 bales of cotton, which exceeded the output of any other gin in Floyd County. Officials state that the plant showed a net profit of $130,000 for the year.

Beginning in 1957 with assets of $60,000 and $90,000 in liabilities, the co-operative now has assets totaling $503,650 and liabilities totaling $167,293, according to a report from officers.

Mr. Mills has also been active in church work in the community during his residence here. He is a steward in the Methodist Church, a member and past director of Lockney Rotary Club and a member of the Chamber of Commerce. He is now serving as a director of the Plains Cotton Co-operative Association with headquarters in Lubbock, is a director of the Plains Co-operative Oil Mill at Lubbock and is a past director of the Plainview Co-op Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills have two daughters, Nancy, age 12, and Pamela, age 9.

EDITORIAL

What? Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? — I Cor. 6:19.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Lockney Future Farmers of America, their advisors and members upon FFA Week. The study of agriculture is an important part of our school system in this farming area and we appreciate the part the school and its teaching contributes to the well-rounded education of these young farmers. We also appreciate the work of the FFA chapter, the many good deeds they have done in the community and the interest of the individual members in improving farming practices. Congratulations, Future Farmers.

CONGRATULATIONS are also in order to the Lockney Lions Club upon their 10th anniversary in Lockney. Especially notable is that fact that the club still has at least two of its charter members and four more members who have been with the club for 10 years. The Lions Club has promoted many worthwhile projects within the Community and have always been interested in community welfare and community betterment. The most notable project of Lionism in this state, however, is the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville. There some 700 crippled children are given an outing each year and enjoy the wonderful facilities and program of that camp. The local club is responsible for the Little League baseball program here and for many other worthy programs. May it live long and prosper.

FARMERS are urged to note the change in the legislation relating to your cotton allotment. Under a new law if cotton is not regarded as planted under provisions of the soil bank act or the Great Plains program, the farmer may lose part of his allotment. A farm must plant 75% of the allotted acres or the acreage must be released to the county ASC office. If this is not done the allotment will be reduced in 1961. If the farmer doesn't plan to use all or part of his 1960 cotton allotment, he should go to the county ASC office and release the acres he will not use before it is too late to get history credit on his farm. If acres are released other farms may apply for a portion of these released acres.

SWINDLERS and deadbeats do not always operate face to face with their intended victims. Many people today are being swindled out of money by mail. The operators stay just within the law but outside of right in dealing with their victims. Many of the advertisements sent by mail regarding various kinds of schools are designed principally to get money out of the customer without giving him much if any training. Also there is a racket wherein the advertiser offers to sell vending machines offering big profits for just a few hours work per week. Of course, the advertiser will actually sell the vending machine to the purchaser but the catch is getting the machines located in a place where they will be patronized. The Beacon has a policy to refuse advertising from vending machine sellers unless we know the firm is reliable. Work at home and make money is another gimmick which has cost some people money. We also avoid that type advertising in most cases. The thought we have is know what you are buying and from whom before spending your money.

THE DOTS are at it again. They don't like Lyndon Johnson nor Sam Rayburn and they're not going to back Lyndon's presidential push. They think Hubert Humphrey is a nice fellow and they want the minimum wage raised to $1.25 per hour. Their one and only favorite candidate is Ralph Yarborough. The trouble is he can't hold all the offices. We suspect they would like to run Mrs. Frankie Randolph for president and Raiphie Boy for governor but don't have the audacity to do it. Their goals are so socialistic they border on communism. Some good people who are hanging out with this crowd better get their eyes open.

Out of the Shadows—Into the Sunlight

With Our EXCHANGERS

LIBERAL RECORD

For all the good intentions of the liberals, they have:

- (1) saddled us with an almost intolerable tax burden.
- (2) drained private capital that would otherwise have been re-invested to provide a bigger economy and more jobs.
- (3) encouraged governmental competition with free enterprise.
- (4) snarled business in a maze of red tape and suffocated many freedoms in the compulsory embrace of good-intentioned bureaucracy.

Laws are rather inflexible things. Even if a law benefits the majority, it is bound to result in inequities to a great many people. Therefore, if these humanitarian needs which the liberals are always harping on, can be met on an individual basis, it not only lessens the inequities, but also strengthens the individual's self reliance.

At any rate this conservative is a little weary of playing the traditional defensive role to the gaudy, tinselled propaganda of unrealistic liberals. I think we conservatives have the better case and it is high time we became a positive, yea-saying group.

For the past 30 years conservatives have left a bad taste in the public's mouth because they have been identified as old moss-back reactionaries that were "agin" everything. On the other hand a few savory conservative radicals such as the late Joe McCarthy and J. Evetts Haley have done their share to make conservatism highly unpalatable.

class home, no, from the homes of the poor. In the second place, they come from homes where the parents have been exceedingly permissive.

They come not from harsh, overbearing parents, but the very permissive parents, who give them everything they need. They say, "I've given my son everything, now why isn't he satisfied? Well, they've given him everything except moral standards and moral imperatives."

They've had no challenges, never any feeling that there are some things in life that matter supremely and that you must sacrifice and suffer to attain them or live up to them. — Cecil Waggoner in Claude News.

SENATOR JOHNSON

There's Senator Johnson. Geography or religion, a gotch eye or some upward incident often rules out an otherwise good man for an important candidacy like that of running for president. But when and if the time comes that the Democrats need a good runner this fall Texas has Lyndon B. Johnson. He is in there pitching for his country and his grandfather fit the Indians. The fact that he is from Texas and that he doesn't speak Italian might be too much weight for him to carry. Otherwise he's got what it takes. — Homer Steen in Floyd County Hesperian.

Dear Editor:

I see where Pres. Ike, in one of his work orders to Congress, points out how prosperous we are and says everybody ought to count his economic blessings.

My debt-dogged neighbor says he has examined himself for some of this type blessing, but he reckons it must be that things look more prosperous to a man drawing the President's wages and fringe benefits.

Says as far as he can tell, his only economic blessing is that he is living about as high as he did 20 years ago, and getting to handle lots more money.

This Is FFA Week In Texas

Members of the Future Farmers of America are celebrating this week as State FFA Week. Governor Price Daniel has issued a proclamation designating February 20-27 as FFA Week and chapters over the state are observing this special occasion.

In presenting the proclamation to James Frewitt, State FFA President from Kirbyville, and Elaine Pennington, State FFA Sweetheart from Athens, Gov. Price Daniel praised the Future Farmers who are studying the science of agriculture and who continue to improve the agricultural economy of the state.

The Governor pointed out that the FFA is composed of boys studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in farming, ranching, and related fields.

"During the past 31 years the Texas Association of FFA has performed valuable services to our state by developing leadership, encouraging cooperation, promoting good citizenship, teaching sound methods of farming, and inspiring patriotism among its members," the Governor said.

James Frewitt received the proclamation on behalf of the 37,000 active FFA members in

What Is The Future For FFA Students?

By E. V. Walton
Agricultural Education Dept.
Texas A & M College

The thirty five thousand Future Farmers enrolled in vocational agriculture in Texas can find a ready made future in agriculture, statistics show.

Twelve percent of the nation's population is engaged in producing food and fiber for over 170 million non-farm people. A large percent of these producers are over 50 years old which means a tremendous replacement "crop" must be ready to replenish the ranks of retired in the 5 million farmers.

Vocational agricultural students receive from 1 to 4 years training in the modern science of agriculture. The vocational agriculture class room and farms are an extension of the biological science courses and laboratories in the high schools.

Many of the young men now enrolled in vocational agriculture will find places among the 15,000 college trained agriculture experts needed annually. Biologists, physicists, agricultural engineers, entomologists, writers, and communications experts are just a few career fields among the hundreds open.

The Texas Future Farmer may, however, choose to take a look at the opportunities open for the non-specialty trained person. At least 40 percent of the nation's population is engaged in some form of agriculture and experts see no percentage decrease ahead.

The thirty five thousand Texas youths with from 1 to 3 years of basic agriculture may elect to go into marketing, processing, transportation, or merchandising of agriculture commodities. If they do not find a future here the multimillion dollar agriculture supply business may beckon.

Good Crowd At Soil Fertility Meeting Here

A good crowd attended the annual Soil Fertility meeting here last Friday. A total of 145 registered for the meet with others attending. Talks were informative and interesting and the barbecue meal served by the Lockney Chamber of Commerce at the noon hour was excellent as usual.

Winning the door prizes offered by the Chamber of Commerce were Jack Yeary of Cedar Hill, the drill and floor polisher; Bert Bobbitt of Sterley, machinist hammer; Jeff Terrell of Lone Star, Crescent wrench; Bill Thomas of Blanco, a carpenter's hammer. The prizes were offered to those registering early and worked well in getting the crowd into the meeting on time, officials said.

County Agent Cecil Lewis, who was general chairman and responsible for much of the program, was well pleased with the attendance and the program generally.

Ann Brown, Lockney High School junior, spoke words of welcome to the group on behalf of Mayor J. E. Cox. She was warmly received. Chester Carthel was morning chairman and Jack McIntosh served as afternoon chairman.

Dr. T. C. Longnecker of the High Plains Station at Halfway spoke to the group concerning fertilization of grain and cotton and also told of the station's experimentation with weed control with a flame cultivator. He stated that the method was still in the experimental stage and results so far haven't been conclusive.

D. W. Sherrill, associate agent in irrigation for the extension service, talked on re-charge of the underground water strata through recharged wells. He recited cases where as much as 90 acre inches of water had been put back into the underground storage in one season. He described the greatest problem as silt, but experiments have been made with the use of a gypsum product which serves to settle the silt to the bottom of the lake.

Bob Cherry, economist with the Texas Extension Service, described the importance of agriculture to the economy of Texas. He showed figures on the number of farmers in Texas as well as the number of people employed in farm-related vocations. Although the number of farmers is decreasing the number of those employed in farm-related vocations is not decreasing and in fact have increased in recent years, he pointed out.

Henry Stroh, a farmer of Wiggins, Colo., told the group how he had increased his yields through the use of barnyard manure and described his combination stock feeding and farming operation.

Bill Gunter, farm management specialist, talked of the costs of production of cotton and grain sorghum and went into a discussion of the choice between the A and B cotton plants.

Concluding the day's program was a panel on which Jay S. Hale Jr., described the use of wheat stubble in increasing soil fertility. He described his method of fertilizing the ground after the wheat was cut and following with cotton. Francis Montandon told of the use of cotton burrs to make his irrigation water go further. He stated that the cotton burrs in the soil served to hold the water longer and enabled a farmer with a lack of water to better cover his crops.

Abernathy Falls To Dimmitt, Bi-District

Abernathy, District 2-AA's representative, was stopped in their bi-district clash by the rugged Dimmitt Bobcat quintet, 65-44. The tilt was played on Tuesday night at Plainview.

The Antelopes emerged through 2-AA competition without a loss but found the Bobcats too much to handle. Junior Coffey and Hal Ratcliff paved the way for Dimmitt's victory.

Dimmitt will meet the Hamlin-Childress winner at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock. Victor in that match will enter the Region I finals at 9 p.m. Saturday. Winner of the Region I tournament advances to the state championship meet.

Lubbock is host to regional tournaments in classes AAA, AA, A this week end.

The Abernathy girls' team will play for bi-district honors against Friona sometime next week. (No date had been set Wednesday morning.) Both Abernathy and Friona had to win playoffs for the right to represent their respective districts. Abernathy ended the season in a deadlock with Muleshoe and Friona was tied by Tulia.

Six years of research at Purdue University have shown that corn silage can be fed with satisfactory results to bred sows or gilts during gestation.

The FFA Creed

I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds — achievements won by the present and past generations of farmers; in the promise of better days through better ways, even as the better things we now enjoy have come up to us from the struggles of former years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging; for I know the joys and discomforts of farm life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skill as I can secure, and in the ability of organized farmers to serve our own and the public interest in marketing the product of our toil. I believe we can safeguard those rights against practices and policies that are unfair.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so — for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.

Aim and Purposes of the FFA

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. The specific purposes for which this organization was formed are as follows:

1. To develop competent, aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership.
2. To create and nurture a love of country life.
3. To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
4. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
5. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishments in farming.

6. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.

7. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.

8. To develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.

9. To participate in cooperative effort.

10. To encourage and practice thrift.

11. To encourage improvement in scholarship.

12. To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

Dr. Maurice Ewing Honored For Outstanding Work In Science

Establishment at Columbia University of "The Vetlesen Prize" for "outstanding achievement in the sciences resulting in a clearer understanding of the earth, its history or its relation to the universe" was announced Thursday by the G. Unger Vetlesen Foundation.

The earth sciences, of great importance today, were of secondary concern more than a half century ago when Alfred B. Nobel bequeathed funds for the Nobel Prizes that recognize achievements of the world's leading figures in Physics, Chemistry, Medicine and Physiology, Literature, and Peace.

Like the Nobel Prizes, any person in any country may be nominated for The Vetlesen Prize.

The award, to be made every two years provided a worthy candidate is presented, consists of a gold medal, the sum of $25,000, and support of publication of the recipient's papers. The Foundation also announced that Dr. Maurice Ewing, geophysicist, oceanographer and director of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory, has been selected as the first recipient of The Vetlesen Prize. Dr. Ewing is a native of Lockney and received his high school education here. The presentation will be made to Dr. Ewing at a dinner in Low Memorial Library on the Columbia campus, Thursday, March 24. The principal speaker will be Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C.

The next day Dr. Ewing will deliver the first "Vetlesen Prize Lecture" after a luncheon at the Men's Faculty Club at Columbia. A discussion conference will follow the lecture.

The medal, designed by Sidney Waugh, New York sculptor, has on its face a figure of the Creator, the sun, some planets, and, in a circle near the edge, the Biblical quotation "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God and the Firmament Showeth His Handiwork." (Psalms 19:1).

The reverse side bears the words "The Vetlesen Prize for Achievement in the Sciences of the Earth and the Universe. Maurice Ewing, 1960."

The G. Unger Vetlesen Foundation was established shortly before his death in 1955 by Georg Unger Vetlesen, who was born in Norway and became a United States citizen during World War II. He served as president and chairman of the U.S. company representing the Norwegian American Line. He also was one of the founders of the American S.A.S. organization.

Mr. Vetlesen's love of the sea manifested itself in his boyhood. After his early education in his native Oslo, he signed on at the age of eleven as a crew member for a voyage from Oslo to Copenhagen. Later he went to sea on the "Fortuna," a barque; spent two and one-half years before the mast, received his technical education in England and was granted degrees in naval architecture and mechanical engineering from the Imperial Institute of London.

He spent some time with the famous shipbuilding firms of Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson in England, and in 1813 went to Canada, where he was engaged in mining for three years. He came to the United States in 1816 and immediately went back to shipbuilding.

When the United States entered World War II, Mr. Vetlesen gave up all his civilian interests and built up Camp Little Norway, in Canada. Having become an American citizen, he joined the U.S. Navy in 1943, and holding the rank of commander, became a member of the Special Forces Headquarters under General Eisenhower.

He and the late Mrs. Vetlesen (the widow of Ambrose Monell) on many occasions crossed the Atlantic in their three-masted yacht Vema, which they turned over to the U.S. government in 1941. Columbia acquired the ship in the 1950s from its Nova Scotian owner.

Dr. Ewing, professor of Geology at Columbia, has been a teacher of both Physics and Geology. His work in the earth sciences, particularly oceanography, has drawn international attention. He has received numerous honors, including the Day Medal of the Geological Society of America, the Agassiz Medal of the National Academy of Sciences; the U.S. Navy's highest civilian honor, the Distinguished Public Service Award; and the Order of Naval Merit of the Republic of Argentina with the rank of commander.

Three years ago, when the State University at Utrecht, The Netherlands, conferring the honorary degree of Doctor of Science on Dr. Ewing, Dr. F. A. Vening-Moinesz, president of The Netherlands Geodetic Commission, said in an address that "The names of Lamont Observatory and Ewing stand

Dr. Ewing was born in Lockney, Texas, May 12, 1906, and was educated at Rice Institute, Houston, where he received his bachelor's degree in 1926, his M.A. in 1927 and his Ph.D. in 1931.

He held teaching posts at the University of Pittsburgh and Lehigh University, and before World War II he achieved world-wide scientific acclaim for his use of small underwater explosions to create shock waves to reveal the layered structure of the ocean floor.

During World War II he worked on underwater acoustics for the Navy. In 1943, Columbia invited him to head a new program in Geophysics, and he took up his post after the war ended.

Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, widow of the banker, gave the University the Lamont estate overlooking the Hudson River at Palisades, N.Y., and it became the Lamont Geological Observatory. Dr. Ewing was named its director and it has become a world-famous center of research in the earth-sciences — geophysics, geochemistry, marine geology and biology, and the application of methods of physics, chemistry, biology, mathematics and engineering to the investigation of the earth.

Among Dr. Ewing's contributions to the world's scientific knowledge are his pioneering investigations in ocean-bottom seismic reflection and refrac-

The group also worked with band students at Lockney High before and after the Rotary program. Playing a medley of popular and folk songs, the sextette made a hit with the Rotarians. Included in the group were Richard Tolley, brass instrument

tion, ocean-bottom photography, precision sounding, bottom sediment coring, gravity measurements, and the erosion and sedimentation properties of turbidity currents.

His work also led to the development of the bathythermograph for measuring ocean temperatures at various depths, and the SOFAR system of position finding by underwater sound transmission.

Observatory scientists aboard the Vema have made many important discoveries during their ocean explorations. Dr. Ewing has made many trips aboard the Vema, which is now on its sixteenth voyage for the Observatory. In 1954, the sea almost claimed him when he and three other men were swept overboard while the Vema was running before a January gale enroute to Bermuda.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration recently assigned to Dr. Ewing and a group of fellow scientists the task of devising a rugged seismograph to be landed on the moon for a study of moonquakes. He and Dr. Frank Press, one of his former graduate students who is now head of the Seismological Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, share responsibility for devising the moon seismograph.

PAYMENT DEPOSITORY

From time to time I have had customers tell me that they were by the telephone office to pay their bill and we were closed. Our offices are open from 8:00 to 5:00, 5 days a week, Monday through Friday. These customers then went on to say that they were by after 5:00 or on Saturdays.

For your convenience we have a night depository to be used by the customers to make their payments in when they find the office closed. Payments can be deposited in this depository and they will be applied to the account the next business day. There are always envelopes available for your convenience.

Do you have a list of all emergency numbers, such as the fire department, police, hospital, your doctor's business and residence numbers, ambulances, etc., handy by your telephone. If not, may I recommend you prepare one now in case you need it in a hurry.

WHAT'S A TELEPHONE FOR?

It's amazing how some folks don't make all the use they can of their phones.

A friend and I were talking about this very thing recently. This fellow, by the way, is one of the busiest people I know. In addition to his job, he does a lot of "do-it-yourself" projects, such as adding a family room to his home, takes part in social and church events with his wife, hunts, bowls and still has time to spend with his two young sons.

"How do you manage to accomplish so many things?" I asked.

"I have help," he told me.

"How's that?"

"My two phones at home," he said. "Why, I just pick up one of them and the job's done."

Yes, my friend certainly believes in using his phones as much as he can — for business and pleasure. If you aren't getting the most out of your telephone, as he is, you might ask yourself, "Why not?" After all, that's what a telephone is for . . . to use.

Find It Fast In The Yellow Pages

"I wonder where to find . . ." I bet you've heard that statement many times by folks looking for a particular product or service. You've probably said it yourself.

There's really no need to wonder, though. Not when you can refer to the Yellow Pages. It's Lockney's most complete shopping guide.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."
—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick. . . This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros. . ."
—Tom McCall, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics is the feeling of roominess inside. . . I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greatest in the Corvair than in some standard size cars. . ."

—L. H. Hoack, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked . . . it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."
—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."
—Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engine vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny."
—John R. Band, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation. . . It is a great car."

JOHN DEERE DAY WILL BE HELD IN LOCKNEY NEXT WEDNESDAY

Next Wednesday, March 2nd, the John Deere Day in Lockney and Lockney Implement Company, local John Deere dealers, will be hosts at a free lunch and a series of films in the afternoon to members of the area. The films to be shown at Plains Theatre while the free lunch is served at the implement company's store.

The lunch will be served beginning at 11:30 a.m. and the films will begin at 1:30 p.m. Farm families are invited to attend, according to Pat Stansell, manager.

The film item that's expected to draw a lot of interest and favorable comment will be a short on the new John Deere Diesel Tractor. There are big news, too, developments in 8-row plowing, and grain drying, according to Pat Stansell. A fully prepared film on machinery in farming, cotton machine picking, stubble farming will be a valuable educational feature.

The whole farm family will enjoy the varied entertainment in this year's John Deere Day program. Nationally known TV commentator Walter Cronkite will "emcee" the presentation which includes musical numbers, the popular "Oddities in Farming" and an opening visit to the John Deere Plow Works to see the automatic production of speed plow shares.

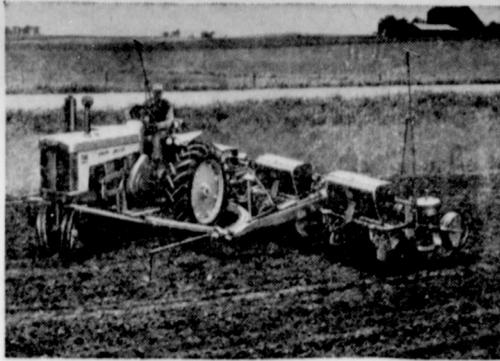

"Oddities in Farming" will take the audience from Arkansas to Minnesota, to see types of agriculture as unusual and varied as these states are far apart. The big feature of the unusual rice farm near Brinkley, Arkansas, is the rotation crop; carp of a size that would make any angler proud.

The youngsters especially will like a visit to the Halverson Christmas tree farm in Duluth, Minnesota. They can watch the interesting steps by which tiny seedling trees grow to become the principal decoration of the Christmas season.

There'll be no secrets about how quality high-speed shares are made after John Deere Day visitors see the exciting film on this automatic, precision production line at the John Deere Plow Works in Moline, Illinois. The color motion picture shows in rapid sequence every step from the shearing of the steel blanks to final packaging of the shares.

Guests attending John Deere Day will recognize some other regular performers, too — including unpredictable Tom Gordon.

The Gordon Family, this year undergoes the pains and pleasures of watching Tom take another lesson in farming the hard way, but winding up on top as usual. There'll be plenty of practical farming information in this film for any "Tom Gordons" who happen to be in the audience, too.

JOHN DEERE DAY in Lockney will reveal some exciting news about 8-row farming, as pictured above, according to Pat Stansell, manager of Lockney Implement Co. The big day, including a free lunch at noon and a free show in the afternoon will be held here next Wednesday, March 2nd.

Novelty numbers and musical features round out the show to make it a day everyone will enjoy and remember.

Better Times...for You

No other word than "if" starts off so many hard-luck stories. No other word explains so many failures. Yet it's the backward-looking word which crystallizes our experience . . . and when used as a guide, enables us to look forward with more wisdom.

► For example, we might say "IF every dollar of local money that has been needlessly spent outside of this trade area in past years had been spent at home, those of us who live in this community would be more prosperous, happier and more secure."

► And thus contemplating what might have been . . . IF . . . we can make our plans and our resolutions to avoid the costly habits we have let ourselves take up in the past.

► We can see more clearly how a dollar here and a dollar there . . . saved from dribbling away into the economic life-stream of some other community, will soon add up to brighter and more prosperous times . . . for us and our children, and for our friends and neighbors.

Buy at home . . .
no "if" about more value for your money

It Pays to Buy where you Live

YOU get everything that your money pays for . . . merchandise AND a trade-invigorated community to live in . . . when you buy from your home town merchants . . .
