Local Cagers To Play At Canyon And Hale Center

Local basketball teams will hit the road for games at Canyon Friday night and Hale Center Tuesday night. The next home appearance of the LHS cagers will be December 9 when Hale Center plays here.

Both the Longhorns and Longhornettes gained one-sided wins over Crosbyton on Friday night and again Monday.

Last Friday the locals journeyed to Crosbyton. The Longhorns earned a 30-16 triumph in their first tilt of the season. Lockney's girls won 42-25.

The Crosbyton squads returned the visit Monday. (The games were scheduled for Tuesday, but moved up to Monday.) The 'Horns built up a 30-7 halftime advantage enroute to a 64-20 rout of the Chiefs. The 'Hornettes took a convincing 57-36 win. Coach Troy Lemley used reserves freely in both contests.

Doyle Freeman, with 10 points, was the lone Lockney player in double figures in the first match with Crosbyton. A pair of rangy sophomore lads, Ronnie Peit and Lavon Baughman led the 'Horns in their home opener with 17 and 11 points respectively. Sophomores accounted for 45 of the team's 64 points Monday night. Janice Boedeker sparked the Longhornettes with 22 and 27 points. Nancy Webster scored 12 and 15 points in the tilts.

Poole Starts Bldg. Addition

Doyle Poole of Poole Automotive has begun construction of a 40x48 addition to his present building on West Locust Street. The addition will be colored steel and concrete and is being erected by Plains Steel Buildings of Lubbock. Completion is expected about December 15.

The repair department will be moved into the new portion and the present building will be converted into a show room for International trucks and pick-ups. Mr. Poole said. He recently secured the local dealership for International products.

MR. AND MRS. LESLIE FLOYD will be honored at open house Sunday on their Golden Wedding Anniversary at the family home here. Friends are invited to call.

Leslie Floyds Will Be Honored On Golden Anniversary Sunday

The four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Floyd of Lockney will honor their parents at an open house Sunday at the family home, 302 South West 2nd Street, marking the Golden Wedding Anniversary of the couple.

The reception will be held between the hours of two and five o'clock and the daughters extend an invitation to all their friends to call. They request no gifts. The daughters are Mrs. L. S. Tabor, Mrs. C. L. Cunningham and Mrs. Larry Nelson, all of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. J. B. Harper, Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd have eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mr. Floyd is a native of Denton County, moving to Floyd County with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Floyd in 1898. Mrs. Floyd was born in Ellis County, moving to Floyd County with her father, the late Ben Whitfill, in 1905. The couple was married November 27, 1910 in the Methodist parsonage with the pastor, the Rev. J. A. Laney, officiating. Both are active in church and civic work. Mr. Floyd has served for many years as chairman of the board of stewards of the Lockney Methodist Church. He has been a member of Lockney Masonic Lodge No. 867 since 1909. He is a Shriner and a charter member of Khiva Temple, Amarillo. Mr. Floyd has been in the cotton buying business here since 1913.

W. L. Whitt Is Buried Here

Walter Lee Whitt, age 95 years, was buried in Lockney Cemetery Monday afternoon following services at the Main Street Church of Christ. He died Thursday in York, Pa., his home the past few years.

Local services were conducted by S. A. Freeman, minister, and interment was in Lockney Cemetery beside the grave of his wife who passed away in 1947. Carter Funeral Home of Lockney was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Whitt was born April 16, 1865, at Radford, Virginia. His mother died and he was buried on his sixth birthday. He grew up in Virginia and was married there to Amanda Louise Showalter in October of 1887. The family came to Floyd County in 1908 settling in Lockney. He was a farmer all of his active life. He became a member of the Church of Christ as a young man and was a member of the Main Street Church here for many years where he served for several years as an elder.

Following the death of his wife in 1947, Mr. Whitt usually spent the winters with his children in York, Pa., and Atlanta, Georgia, and Birmingham, Alabama, but came back to Lockney to spend the summers. Advanced age stopped this habit in 1954 however, and he has been living in York in recent years.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Celia Whitt of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Vaden Gladfelter of York, Pa.; one son, Garland Whitt of Atlanta, Ga. Deceased are three daughters, Della, Vivian and Mrs. Ivan Hess.

He is also survived by three grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. His three children and three grandchildren were present for the services as was M. V. Showalter of Abilene, a brother-in-law, along with a large number of local friends.

Palbearers were L. M. Honea, Clyde Baxter, Hestand Bennett, Bryan Smith, Howard Smith, Forrest Mickey. Twelve men and one woman have crossed Niagara Falls gorge on a tightrope.

GINS ARE BURIED UNDER AVALANCHE OF COTTON

P-TA Will Offer Schick Tests To School Students

The Lockney Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a schick test program in the local schools. It was announced this week by Mrs. Tommy Montandon, president. The test is for the purpose of determining whether or not the child needs a diphtheria booster shot.

There are no diphtheria cases in this area, as far as The Beacon could determine, but a light epidemic at Plainview has caused some concern among parents of local students. Local doctors have been busy the past two weeks giving booster shots and the P-TA program will be for the purpose of making sure that all children have the opportunity to determine whether or not they need the booster shot.

Slips will be sent home to parents Monday of next week. The parent must sign the slip, giving their permission before the test can be given. Mrs. Montandon pointed out. The tests will be given grade school pupils on Wednesday and the junior high and high school students possibly the next day. Parents are requested to pay 50c or $1.00 for the tests if they are able. If not, the child may receive the test without charge. Local doctors and the school nurse, Mrs. Elsie Peckham, will give the tests.

Gins of this area are buried under an avalanche of cotton as cotton strippers are running in almost every field, gathering what might turn out to be the second best crop in the history of the county.

A survey late Tuesday by The Beacon showed that there were 3054 bales on gin yards in Lockney, Aiken, Lone Star and Sterley. The eight gins contacted in the survey have weighed in a total of 20,272 bales and the gin people's average estimate is that 35 per cent of the crop has been ginned.

If this estimate is accurate, and it has been accurate in past years, then the eight gins in this area will gin about 58,000 bales of cotton from the 1960 crop, which is only about 4,000 bales less than they ginned last year.

The four gins in Lockney have weighed in a total of 10,500 bales but still have 1650 of that number on the yards.

For the most part, ideal weather conditions have prevailed the past few weeks and with a continuation of the same the gins are expected to get further behind with farmers hindered only by a lack of trailers.

Masons Plan New Building

Lockney Masonic Lodge No. 867 adopted definite plans for a new building at their regular meeting Tuesday evening of last week. The local lodge has bought lots on North Main Street, north of Parker Super Market, for their new lodge hall.

Starting of construction on the new building will await the securing of money for the building, according to D. D. Patterson, Worshipful Master. Construction will not start until the money is available, Mr. Patterson said.

The building will be 40 feet wide facing on Main Street and 120 feet deep. It will be constructed of steel and brick, one story, with concrete floor, central cooling and heating, and the estimated cost is $25,000. It will set near the property line on Main Street but parking space will be provided for on the north side of the building. There will be one lot between the new Masonic building and the Parker Super Market, Patterson said.

The Masonic building committee is composed of Marvin Cox, Leon Wofford, George Myers, Bill Whitfill and Jim Bert Bobbitt. A finance committee is yet to be named, Mr. Patterson said.

Drug stores, most grocery and food stores will close as will other businesses. Pylant Grocery will close only a part of the day. The Beacon was told, that the cafes and service stations will probably remain open. Some service stores will also be open, these including Consumers Gas Association and Rowland-Oil Co., along with the gas and possibly others.

Schools Close — All local schools will close Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving and the school tax office will be closed both these days.

A special observance of Thanksgiving is planned here other than the closing, as far as the Beacon could determine.

At the Lockney Methodist Church, a Thanksgiving Family Fellowship night will be observed Wednesday with a covered dish dinner served at 7 o'clock. The program will be a film showing the effects of a mysterious disease known as "M-G", which brings about deterioration of the muscles of the body. The film will be shown by Everett Masters at the Cotton Center, whose wife is stricken with the disease, according to the pastor, Rev. Russell McAnally. Mr. Masters will explain the disease. There is no charge for it.

McAnally said that people in the community who wished to see the film may do so by coming to the church at 7:30 p.m. at the time the program will be shown.

Dormans Buy Oliver Jewelry

Mrs. Margaret Dorson and son, John Alvin, have purchased the stock and fixtures of the Oliver Jewelry here from Mr. and Mrs. Ted Oliver and took charge of the business Monday morning. The name of the store now will be Dorman's Jewelry and Gift Shop.

Mrs. Dorman is well known here, having been reared in this area and she has been employed as a sales lady at Brown's Department Store and Jack & June Shop in recent years. John Alvin and his family have been living in Lubbock but moved back here several weeks ago to make their home. He is engaged in farming.

The Olivers established the jewelry store here in 1952 and have made it one of the best stores of its kind in a town this size in West Texas. The Dorman's will continue to handle nationally advertised pottery, china, silver and gift items as has been handled by the store in the past, Mrs. Dorman said Monday.

The Olivers have established a store at Uvalde, Texas, and moved there in the summer to make their home.

Highway Department Turns Down Flashing Beacon At Intersection

O. L. Crain of Lubbock, District engineer for the State Highway Department, has notified County Judge J. D. McBrien and Lockney Mayor J. E. Cox that no flashing beacon will be authorized for the intersection in East Lockney where auto collisions have resulted in two deaths and numerous injuries in recent years.

Mr. Crain said in a letter to the county judge, a copy of which was sent to the mayor, that the highway department is in the process of improving the situation by moving some markers, painting stop lines and improving the control of approach movements on the minor highway by the installing of posts.

Mr. Crain pointed out that the intersection is partially within the city limits of Lockney. He stated in his letter that the warrant for vehicle volume is met, yet his office had determined that a flashing light will not correct the difficulties.

"We found evidence that some motorists of local origin approaching from the north with the apparent intention of turning to the right and into Lockney overrun the intersection at comparatively high speeds. This occurs even though there is a 'Stop Ahead' sign in place," Mr. Crain said in his letter to the county judge.

SIMPLIFIED VOTING

The complex and large ballot for the general election has its drawbacks. The failure of a sprinkling of voters to inform themselves how to cast the ballot resulted in invalidating a small percentage of the ballots cast November 8.

None could say what the intent of the voter was if more than one candidate was left on that ballot for a single office.

The ballot was not too complete. Any literate person, who paid attention, could vote it. Those who did not know how had only to ask a judge.

There has been support for a ballot which contains a square to the left of each candidate's name. Voting this type ballot one checks in the square the name of the candidate for which he wishes to vote.

This was used in Texas for a short time, but the law was changed and the old ballot restored.

Why this was discontinued is best known by the legislature which did it.

Another type of ballot is the Massachusetts ballot. It lists the names of all candidates under the office sought, and with that name indicates the party of the candidate.

Doubtless the legislature will give some consideration to the form of the Texas ballot.

Voting machines are simpler, but their cost is high and they likely will never be in vogue in the lightly populated precincts. After all, the ballot had at the head of it these words: "Vote for the candidate of your choice in each race by scratching or marking out all other names in that race. You may vote for all the candidates of a party by running a line through every other party's column."

You can't eliminate carelessness by changing the method of voting.

Only ignorance or carelessness would lead a voter to foul up a ballot.

It's one thing to condemn the ballot used.

We hear little of a better or improved method.

Let's be constructive. If there's something better let's have it.

—Plainview Evening Herald.

WELFARE STATE

The desire to keep the free enterprise system is far from dead. We had a fine group of Canyon High School seniors call on us recently.

Their only purpose for coming by was to express approval of our stand for FREE ENTERPRISE. "We want our chance to succeed or fail on our own," was the gist of what the young men had to say. Those lads will be buffeted about in time to come by those who would try to teach them that security is the most important thing in the world. We doubt that the know-it-all bureaucrats are going to get very far with them.

I have talked to many students from West Texas State College during the past few days. There is a rising surge of conservatism among the younger folks.

It seems that the more these young college people are assailed by the propaganda of a controlled economy, the more they are determined to champion a free economy. — Canyon News.

ANOTHER ADRIFT

See where Harold Hudson, editor of The Ochiltree County Herald, can't stomach the new Wild Frontier party. Hudson resigned last week as chairman of the Ochiltree Democratic Executive Committee.

In submitting his resignation he pointed out his political views do not coincide with those of the national Democratic party or its standard bearer, Sen. Kennedy.

"I simply do not feel comfortable in a party dominated by Eastern left wingers and labor unions," Hudson said. "The platform adopted at the national convention left me stranded."

Another castigated Democrat bites the dust. — Cecil Waggoner in Claude News.

Dear Editor:

I see where a Texas business man hired three chimpanzees to work in his factory, but the deal is about to fall through on account of they don't have union cards.

And I note that our newspapers let the instant quip boys write up this story instead of the sub sisters, just like as if there is something humorous about an unemployed chimpanzee.

But my civil righteous neighbor says he is glad somebody is trying to practice fair employment by not discriminating against citizens just because they haven't evolved far enough.

Crisp, dry weather, which the farmers need, continues and as many as 460 bales of cotton were on the gin yard, at one time, during one day last week. A fire at the gin Saturday night caused the gin to be shut down for three hours.

92 attended Sunday morning services at the Baptist Church here, and 50 were present at night. Visitors at morning services were Mrs. Roy Burke, wife of the new South Plains Co-Op Gin manager and Mrs. Mitchell Sebo and girls. She is the wife of the new South Plains ginner. Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated here with most of the farmers working in the fields.

PARTNERSHIP POWER FOR PROGRESS

The lineman above is "re-planting a tree". It will have insulators instead of limbs and wires will replace foliage. But where this tree once spread its leafy comfort to a few square feet of forest, it now will help carry electricity and a new life of comfort to one million Texans.

25 years ago, when this tree was still a switch, fewer than 10% of Texas farms and ranches had electricity. Today more than 95% of them have a steady, dependable electric service, thanks to the electric cooperatives.

Rural people borrowed money to build their own electric systems and they are paying back principle and interest on their loans. And with each new pole that is "planted" in rural areas, the member-owners of the 77 electric cooperatives in Texas are providing their friends and themselves with Partnership Power For Progress.

LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

Swine Specialist Will Teach Short Course Here December 5-9

A swine short course for adult farmers will be held Dec. 5-9 inclusive under the sponsorship of the Lockney High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to H. H. Nicholas, Superintendent and M. L. Brewer and Elvin Lyon, teachers of vocational agriculture.

C. M. Laywell, swine specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Husbandry at Texas A & M College, will do the instructing in the course. He is quartered at Texas A & M College.

Mr. Laywell holds a B. S. degree in animal husbandry from Southwest Texas State. He assisted in the field of veterinary medicine at San Marcos and has had several years of ranching and on-the-farm experience. He has been an instructor in vocational agriculture and has acted as swine judge at livestock judging contests.

"Many swine short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Mr. Laywell and all have met with outstanding success," according to Walter Labay, area supervisor of vocational agriculture, Plainview. Arrangements for the adult education short course in swine husbandry and in other fields are made through Mr. Labay's office.

The short course at Lockney is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the vocational agriculture building. During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Laywell will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Mr. Brewer.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call Mr. Lyon, or Mr. Brewer. An entry fee of $2.00 will be charged. Swine Husbandry Short Course Certificates are to be presented to each farmer who attends all the training sessions.

Mr. Laywell states that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled, but that he expects to cover such subjects as selecting and breeding, feeding and feeding requirements, management, disease and parasites, housing and equipment, and marketing.

"Short courses in swine husbandry, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the new cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A & M College," stated E. V. Walton, head of the Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A & M, who coordinates the program for Texas A & M College.

C. M. LAYWELL, swine husbandry specialist, will teach a short course here in early December.

"This cooperative program," states Walton, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of dairying, insect control, farm management, farm electrification, farm welding, tractor maintenance and swine husbandry.

Modern Thanksgiving Meal Much Easier To Prepare Than In 1961

The Pilgrim homemaker boiled turkey for days to prepare for the first Thanksgiving dinner in 1620. But, thanks to methods of preservation she never dreamed of, her modern sister can put a similar feast on the table in a matter of hours.

It was almost 200 years after the Pilgrim feast that William Bradford developed a day of thanksgiving that was named. A candy named Nicolas Appert developed the report of his invention in 1810, after finding that the French government had offered a prize of 12,000 francs for a method of preserving food for its troops.

Now the housewife can simply open a can of mincemeat, pumpkin or cranberry sauce — or any of the other foods that bring the yearly retail value of canned foods to approximately $4.5 billion.

Or, she can roast a frozen turkey and open a package of frozen corn, part of the $2 billion worth of frozen food that is produced annually, according to World Book Encyclopedia. The Pilgrims probably kept some foods on ice, but it was the mechanical refrigeration developed in the late 1800's and the quick-freezing process of Clarence Birdseye developed in the 1920's that made freezing an important means of food preservation.

In Thanksgiving dinners yet to come, the housewife may serve a freeze-dried turkey, one that has been quick-frozen and the moisture removed. Freeze-drying was used in the days of the Pilgrims but only for preserving biological specimens in the laboratory. Just a few decades ago, scientists began to apply this method to food. A shipment of freeze-dried food currently is nourishing the World Book Encyclopedia Scientific Expedition to the Himalaya, led by Sir Edmund Hillary.

Recently scientists have been experimenting with irradiation as a method of preserving food. If further experiments are successful, tomorrow's turkey dinner may be chock full of gamma rays.

Dear Editor:
I see where the Brookings Institute is going to make a five-year study of government spending and taxes.

My dubious neighbor says this job is going to take a crew of very agile studiers, on account of it is very hard to study an item which won't hold still.

Says the Institution has maybe waited too long already to tackle these matters, as both government spending and taxes have long ago gone out of sight, and not much chance they will orbit into range again in a mere five years.

Telephone Co. To Make Card Survey

Every telephone customer in Lockney will receive a post card from the telephone company in the next few days, asking for his comments and criticisms of his telephone service and the company that provides it, according to J. C. Oakley, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here.

Oakley calls the project a post card canvass. "In making the canvass, we'll mail a double post card to each customer. We hope that everyone will take a minute to fill out the return half of the card and mail it to me."

"We're not seeking compliments," the manager points out. "If any of our customers have criticisms, we would like to know them. Comments like these help us give customers the kind of service they want."

Similar post card canvasses are planned for every town where Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. operates. The purpose is to find out what customers have complaints so that the company can try to remove the causes of these complaints.

"That's our most important job — giving customers the kind of service they desire," Oakley said. "We'll contact everyone who replies unfavorably and make every effort to clear up the source of his dissatisfaction."

Prussic Acid Poisoning

Sorghum fields can cause trouble to livestock after frost because prussic acid tends to build up in these plants. This poison acts quickly and an animal can be killed in a short time after eating a poisoned plant.

These fields that you are planning to graze should be completely dry before grazing to prevent this from happening.

PARLOR GAME FOR THE LAUNDRY

Remember the old game: "Is it animal, vegetable, or mineral?" Margaret Spader, home service consultant to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, suggests it is a good one to play when you sort laundry for automatic laundry appliances. Cottons and linens, for instance, are vegetable fibers. They absorb water rapidly and can be washed and dried together. Silk and wool are animal fibers. Silk needs very light drying and should be removed from the dryer when damp. Wool should never be thoroughly dried. The synthetic fibers are made of minerals. They vary in drying qualities so be sure to follow manufacturers directions for these fibers. Miss Spader advises

PINE BARK STEW

The recipe for Pine Bark Stew originated in the woods of Maine. But it's infinitely easier to make on your range, especially one with new heat and timing controls. Cut 6 slices of bacon into 1-inch pieces and fry until crisp. Remove the bacon pieces with a slotted spoon and fry a cup of chopped onion in the bacon fat. Add a large can of tomatoes, 1 can catsup, 2 cups diced potatoes, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons salt and ½ teaspoon pepper. Cover and cook 30 minutes over a low flame. Add 2 pounds of fish fillets and cook 20 to 30 minutes or until tender. Serve with Waldorf salad, hard rolls and lemon meringue pie.

TALES THROUGH A WINDOW

The window of your clothes dryer might be compared with a barometer, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. You can train your eye to observe certain signals such as the amount of steam on the glass. When the steam disappears, your clothes are dry. You can also tell something about the appearance of the tumbling clothes. They will float lightly when they have lost the weight of moisture.

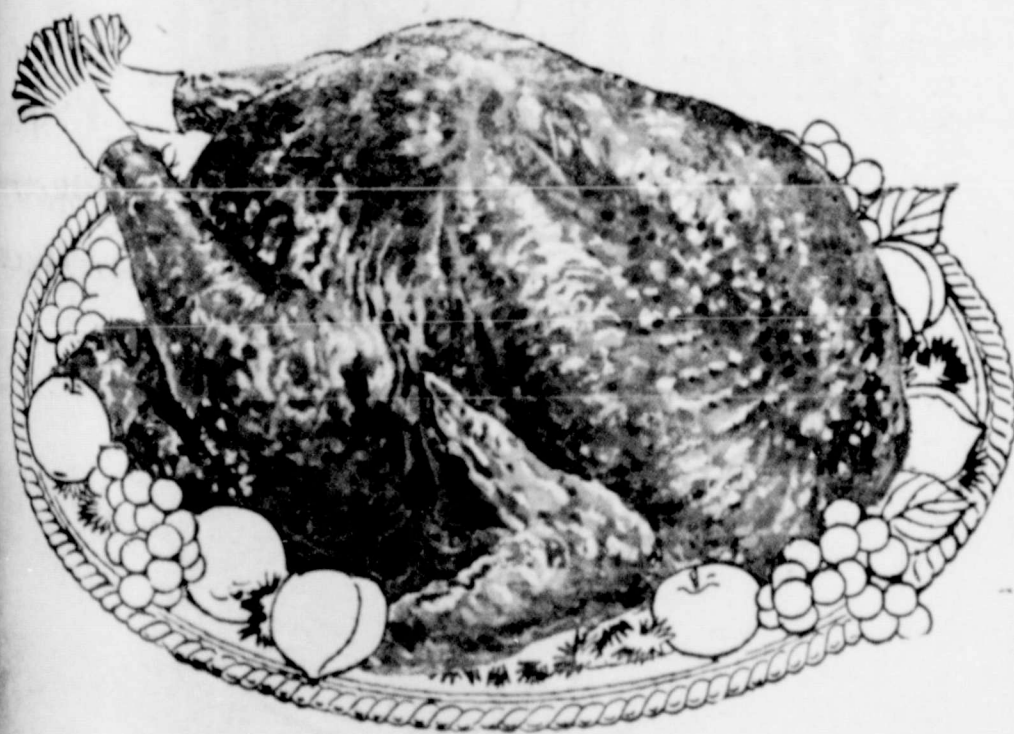

KITCHEN PROVERB

"It is better that the oven wait for the cake than the cake wait for the oven to preheat." This old kitchen proverb, says Margaret Spader, home service consultant to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, means that you turn on your oven to preheat before you start to mix a cake. Heat controls in the modern oven assume both speedy heat-up and level temperatures for successful baking.

LARGE SKULL FOUND

We all knew Texas was big but we didn't know it was so old until the discovery of the Midland Skull in 1954. Scientists estimated this human skull, found in a prehistoric water hole, to be over 12,000 years old. This may be the oldest skull ever discovered on earth. If so, it means that human beings lived in the Ice Age with the huge Mammoths.

Grain Men Seek Foreign Markets

The position of U. S. Feed Grains in foreign market is getting a close appraisal by the U. S. Feed Grains industry this month. Two nationally recognized agricultural leaders, Walter Goepfinger of Boone, Iowa and Reagan Peeler of Hereford, Texas are calling on foreign government officials, agricultural leaders and feed grain users, as representatives of the U. S. Feed Grains Council.

Goepfinger, an Iowa corn farmer is president of the National Corn Growers Association while Peeler is a Texas grain sorghum producer, and a past president and also director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association. In addition, they are respectively president and first vice president of the U. S. Feed Grains Council which was organized in July of this year to combine the efforts of corn, grain sorghum, oats and barley growers, and the industry serving them, into a unified market development program. Corn and grain sorghum are the principal U. S. feed grains being exported to the expanding European market.

PLAQUES were awarded to Judy Bullock, left, Sandhill Club, and Jimmy Kropp, right, Lockney club, for the best first year records in 4-H club work at the Achievement Banquet Saturday evening.

One of the chief objectives of the European study will be to appraise and give further direction to the market promotion projects which are being conducted throughout this area in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The two U. S. travelers are being joined by Charles C. Gidney of Rome, Italy, director of the U. S. Feed Grains Council's European programs, as they visit Portugal, Spain, the United Kingdom, Netherlands, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, Greece, Turkey and Israel.

While in Spain they are participating in the Second Annual Feeding Symposium which is being held in Madrid as a cooperative program between the U. S. Feed Grains Council, the Soybean Council of America and the Foreign Agricultural Service. Principal host of the group in the United Kingdom will be Walter Greenwood, president of the Liverpool Corn Exchange along with the other members of a British Feed Grain Mission which visited the United States recently as a part of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association's foreign market development program. In Rotterdam, which is the principal port in Europe for U. S. agricultural products, the offices of other U. S. agricultural groups located there will be visited, including Great Plains Wheat Market Development Association, Soybean Council of America, American Poultry Industry's Institute and the American Farm Bureau. The Agricultural and Industrial Institute of Thessaloniko, Greece, which is conducting livestock and poultry feeding demonstrations under auspices of aid in cooperation with the Council, will come in for close study as proposals for expansion of projects there are appraised.

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

Conserving water for future irrigation by draining the playa lakes into the underground Ogallala sand through recharge wells is an increasing practice on the High Plains. The surface water drained by gravity into the sand is thereby stored for future use rather than being lost by evaporation if permitted to remain in the lake.

One of the problems encountered in recharging is the silt in the lake water. Several filtration systems are being tested at the High Plains Research Foundation to determine the most efficient and economical method of silt removal. James Valliant, water engineer, announced.

One system will use 13 sections of porous concrete pipe capable of taking up to 5,000 gallons of water per minute. Each section is 12 inches in diameter and 36 inches long with an intake rate of 385 gallons of water per minute. Sand and gravel covers of different thickness will be used to cover the porous pipe to study the effects of silt in clogging the microscopic holes in the porous pipe.

The second filtration system will use perforated well casing 16 inches in diameter, eight feet long wrapped with fiber glass filter one inch thick.

A third method to be used for silt removal will be an eight foot circular cage of 3/4 inch expanded metal with a 7 foot cylindrical cage inside. Plastic screen will be placed inside the 7 foot inner metal circle with 6 inches of gravel between the two cylinders.

The use of chemical flocculant will be continued to precipitate silt in the lake before the water enters the recharge well. A new chemical, M-1883, designed for use in soft water produced by the Dow Chemical Company, is now being tested. This testing will be continued through 1961.

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas — Shell-shocked and exhausted from one of the hardest fought general elections in decades, Texas now can get a second wind and turn to new issues and decisions.
 Some of the significant decisions ahead grow out of decisions made at the polls earlier this month.
 As a result of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's election to the vice presidency his senate seat will become vacant on or before Jan. 20. It's a highly coveted position, and it's up for grabs, since the winner of a six-year term can be fairly sure of holding it for life.

 It is likely that the race for Johnson's post will be the first special election in Texas history to have a run-off. A 1957 law, called the Pool Bill, provided that in special elections for congressional vacancies, there shall be a run-off if no candidate receives a majority of the votes in the first polling. Previously, special elections had been on a high-man-wins basis.
 Many possible candidates are mentioned. Among them: John Connally of Fort Worth, Jack Cox of Breckenridge, Martin Dies Sr. of Lufkin, Congressman Joe Kilgore of McAllen, Wright Morrow of Houston, Lt. Gov. Ben Parnsey, John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, John G. Tower, Johnson's Republican opponent in the general election, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and Congressman Jim Wright of Weatherford.

Some lawmakers gloomily and privately predict that it will result in a worse fight than trying to pass a new tax bill.

Previously, the Constitution limited legal interest rates to 10 per cent. This provision was repealed.

Under the new provision the Legislature has the responsibility to (1) license and regulate lenders, (2) prevent misleading advertising, (3) fix and limit maximum charges and (4) impose effective penalties for violations.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, elated over the passage of the amendment, warned that "the loan sharks will pitch their final battle in the Legislature to try to eliminate the penalties and to develop loopholes."

Abner V. McCall, executive vice president of Baylor University and head of a citizens committee that worked for passage of the amendment, predicted "a real dog fight" in the Legislature over control of legislation.

3. LAND PROGRAM PICKS UP
 —Since the voters gave it permission Nov. 8 to pay higher interest on its bonds, the Veterans Land Board is getting ready to do a bigger business.

Maximum interest the board can pay on the bonds it sells was raised from 3 to 3.5 per cent. With this easing restrictions, the board expects to be able to sell more bonds and have more money available to loan veterans for land purchases.

A new bond sale is planned tentatively for December. Meanwhile, the board secretary said mailing of applications to veterans has been stepped up from 100 a week to 225 a week.

Some 40,000 veterans are now waiting for loans, but in actual practice, only about one in five finally finds land and qualifies for a loan.

Board has authority to issue $62,500,000 more in bonds. This amount of money is expected to take care of those waiting to buy who will qualify.

According to the constitutional amendment setting up the program, no new loans are supposed to be made after Dec. 1, 1965.

SCHOOL GOALS SET—Knowing it will be a tough job in this debt-ridden era, Texas school people are, nevertheless, setting their sights on a $100,000,000 improvement program.

At an Austin meeting of educators, legislators and interested citizens, Governor Daniel promised his support to the effort to pass a bill to raise teachers salaries.

This is one of the main items of the $100,000,000 Hale-Aikin recommendations. This program resulted from a study begun in 1957. It sat on the shelf during the last legislature because of the acute money shortage.

Garfield, Wilson and Eisenhower were all college presidents, before being elected to the presidency of the United States.

Water Dist. Officials Prepare For Water Depletion Allowance Case

Lubbock — At a recently-held business meeting of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, the major item on the agenda was the review of illustrations, charts, graphs and maps being prepared for use in the underground-water depletion case which will be filed very soon in the federal court.

The Water District will attempt to show the court that underground water in the southern High Plains of Texas is a natural resource that is being mined in a manner quite similar to oil and gas, or any of the other natural deposits that come under federal laws allowing an income-tax deduction for their depletion.

The District will contend that water users who can show an actual cost in underground water beneath their land and who are using the water to produce income should be entitled to deduct the cost of such water as it is exhausted.

The Board of Directors of the Water District reports that a favorable decision by the federal

Texans To See Iowa Livestock Feeding Projects

Abilene. — Sixty-six West Texans, determined to learn how Iowa farmers can profitably feed livestock for market, will leave Saturday, November 26 for Chicago and Des Moines.

Two special Pullman cars originating at Lubbock will be home for 44 West Texans, and another special Pullman carrying 22 will leave Fort Worth the same afternoon. The tour is being sponsored by the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Dr. W. L. Stangel of Lubbock, chairman of the WTCC's committee and former dean of the School of Agriculture at Texas Technological College, is tour director.

"There is no reason why West Texas cannot become the livestock feeding center of the nation," Dr. Stangel asserts. "We have grain sorghums and cottonseed meal and hulls and a far more moderate winter climate."

Among the six farms to be visited in Iowa is that of Roswell Garst near Coon Rapids . . . made internationally famous by the visit of Communist Dictator Khrushchev. Feeding research facilities of Iowa State University will be included on the tour.

Livestock specialists of Iowa State University will accompany the touring group, according to Loyan H. Walker of Abilene, manager of the Agriculture and Livestock Department of the WTCC.

Before journeying into Iowa for the cornbelt feeding tour, the group will spend an entire day in Chicago attending the International Livestock Exposition. The WTCC delegation will see judging of the grand champion steer by Texas Tech's Stanley Anderson. Special seating arrangements have been made by show officials for the West Texas group.

As originally planned, the livestock feeding tour was to include one special Pullman from Lubbock and one other from Fort Worth; but popularity of the idea spread so rapidly, officials had to add another car from Lubbock.

The West Texas Chamber expects the project to produce significant findings leading to marked encouragement in the West Texas region for finishing more cattle and hogs for market.

4-H Pair Win Trip to Chicago

Top state honors for 1960 have been bestowed upon two Texas 4-H'ers, for outstanding achievements in the frozen foods and agricultural programs. They will receive trips to the 39th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27 through Dec. 1, where they will compete for $400 scholarships.

Reba Payne, 16, of Mount Pleasant, has frozen almost 1,700 packages of foods, and estimates that she has saved $750 during her four years with this project. She began by freezing various fruits, storing them in plastic containers, and soon expanded her project to include vegetables, poultry, meat and fish.

Yeast breads, pies, cakes, pecans, sandwiches, salads and creamed dishes were added to her freezer this year. In addition, Miss Payne experimented with the freezing of egg yolks, figs, grapes and the use of glass containers.

The 4-H frozen foods program is supported by the Whirlpool Corporation in cooperation with the Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Reba Payne Billy Colston

State champion in the 4-H agricultural program this year, is 18-year old Billy Colston of Floyd county. He lives near Floydada.

His nine years in 4-H have been rewarded with a large number of ribbons, banners, plaques and trophies, representing excellence in field crops, garden, livestock, safety and various programs.

Sweepstakes winner of the Floyd county fair for the past three years, young Colston has won the livestock showmanship award, took third at a Texas 4-H Roundup, won a field crops contest, and has received a trophy for tractor driving.

This capable young farmer estimates that his profit has amounted to approximately $8,000 which he intends to use towards his college education. He will attend the National 4-H Congress as guest of International Harvester Co.

Cotton Acreage Up But Farmers Have No Choice To Make In 1961

College Station. — In response to questions raised by some growers about 1961 upland cotton allotments, B. P. Davenport, Jr., chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, today explained the difference between the 1961 program and the one in effect for the past two cotton crops.

He pointed out that the 1961 national allotment of 18.5 million acres compares with the "regular" 1960 allotment of 16.3 million acres. This 1960 figure was increased to 17.5 million acres under Choice (B) elections. In 1961, there will be only one upland cotton allotment, whereas for the past two crops growers had a choice between the "regular" farm allotment and the 40-percent-larger (B) allotment. All eligible growers in 1961 may receive the full available price support on their cotton, whereas in 1960 the eligible (B) growers received lower support but a larger acreage allotment.

Because of the provisions of the law the effect of the increased national allotment on the size of the state, county, and farm allotments will vary widely. Some farms may receive no increase or possibly a reduction from the available allotment acreage of 1960 primarily because

Fruits Give Special Touch To Stuffings

Whether you make your own stuffing for the Thanksgiving turkey or buy ready-prepared packaged stuffing, you can add chopped cranberries, chopped dried apricots, raisins or orange juice to improve the keeping quality of the mixture and to give it variety in flavor. These fruit ingredients help stuffing keep fresh longer because of the acidity they give to the mixture.

Even with these additions, be sure to keep stuffing cold and refrigerated from the time you make it until you stuff the turkey. You can make the stuffing the day before Thanksgiving and keep it cold until used. If a moist stuffing is preferred, refrigerate the dry ingredients and broth separately and then combine them just before stuffing the bird. Turkey should never be stuffed until time to roast it.

If you make a very large quantity of stuffing for a big bird, it may pay to store it in two or more containers in the refrigerator. It chills faster in smaller quantities. In one large container cold may take a long time to reach the center of the of the mixture.

In large-quantity food preparation, it is considered good practice to roast the poultry unstuffed and to bake stuffing separately in a shallow pan. This permits rapid heat penetration during the baking process, and also saves time and labor serving the turkey.

ECONOMY . . .

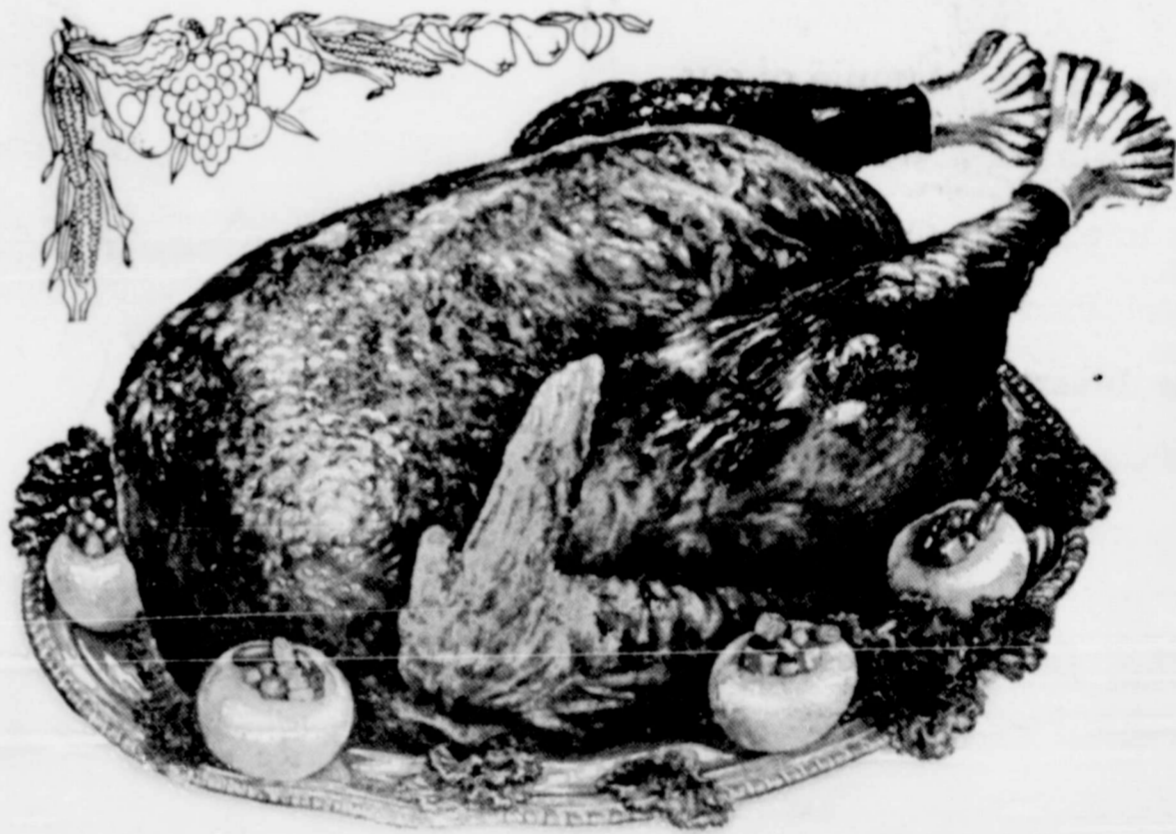

The American homemaker is about as sharp a cookie as you'll find when it comes to dough (both kinds)! The more efficiently and economically she handles the family budget, the faster she can feed the piggy bank. When it comes to buying a new range, she knows she'll be 'way ahead with GAS because what other range gives such beauty and performance . . . for so little money? And when she can save more than $30.00 a year in operating costs over "coil-type" cooking . . . what else can a smart woman choose?

State Farm Bureau Adopts Resolutions at Annual Meeting

Waco.—State policies to guide the Texas Farm Bureau's actions in the 57th Legislature next year were adopted by voting delegates to the organization's annual meeting Nov. 9-12 in Dallas.

Among the more important state-level issues on which policies were set by the convention are farm-to-market road construction, sales taxes, education and farm labor. Recommendations to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in December on national matters were also adopted by the 678 voting delegates.

Delegates recommended that no changes be made in the present system of allocating funds for farm-to-market road construction. They further stated that present funds now earmarked to build and maintain roads should not be eliminated or diverted.

In the controversial field of taxation, the delegates defeated a proposal for a state sales tax and favored, instead, more economy in government, plus enforced collection of personal property taxes. The TFB is already on record favoring a tax on natural resources.

As for education, the convention favored local control of public schools, especially regarding financing and curriculum. They urged that the youth be taught more about the "true history of our country, our Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and our free enterprise system."

Another major issue at the convention developed over a proposal for a constitutional amendment to permit a compulsory checkoff, by force of government, to finance research and promotion programs of various commodities. The delegates turned it down flatly.

Several important resolutions on labor were approved. One recommends state legislation regulating transportation and housing of migrant agricultural labor. This is intended to prevent this field and prevent federal intervention. Another resolution says that the TFB should begin an immediate investigation to determine farmers' rights and what protective measures can be taken against attempts to "force unionization" on farm workers.

In line with this, the convention went on record opposing licensing of crew leaders. The adopted resolution states: "An obvious aim of those who would license crew leaders is the forced and final unionization" of agricultural workers, particularly "stoop labor." The delegates said that "while we defend the right of farm workers to organize and bargain collectively, it must be recognized that extreme fluctuations in weather and in farm commodity prices make it impractical, if not impossible, to impose industrial standards or industrial union wage scales and working conditions upon agriculture." In other matters, the delegates also:

working conditions upon agriculture." In other matters, the delegates also:

1. Recommended that pink bollworm regulations, especially in regard to okra harvest for seed, be tightened.
2. Favored the theory of competitive rating in casualty insurance "because we believe in the free enterprise system."
3. Opposed the present merit rating (point) system for casualty insurance.
4. Favored continuation of research for the control and eradication of anthrax, vesicular exanthema, foot and mouth disease, brucellosis, wheat poisoning, cattle grubs, blow fly, sand burn, and also scabies and scrapie in sheep.
5. Recommended that livestock entering state be subjected to strict enforcement of inspection regulations at the state boundary.
6. Recommended that mineral rights separated from the land be registered each year or terminated.
