If you need a specific IRS tax form, check with the Floyd County Library. The library has a good supply of the most commonly used tax forms and publications. A cassette is also available with simple, step-by-step instructions to help you complete federal income tax forms 1040EZ; 1040A and Schedule 1; and 1040 and Schedules A, B, and W.

Social Security in Floyd County

by Terry J. Clements

It's the time of year when Social Security beneficiaries should consider whether an annual report should be filed with the Social Security Administration.

Such a report is necessary if the individual received payments in 1983 and was under age 65 with earnings over $4,920 or age 65 through 69 and made over $6,600. Person's whose actual earnings for 1983 were less than originally estimated may also wish to submit a report.

The annual report must be filed by April 5, 1984 with the Social Security Administration in addition to the taxt return filed with Internal Revenue Service. A penalty can be imposed for late reports. It should be noted that only income based on earnings is considered for determining proper Social Security payments. Wages and self-employment income count, while income from savings, royalties, investments, gifts and other "non-earned" income is not considered for reporting purposes. Most persons that are required to file an annual report will receive one in the mail. If not received in the mail, they are available at the Social Security Office.

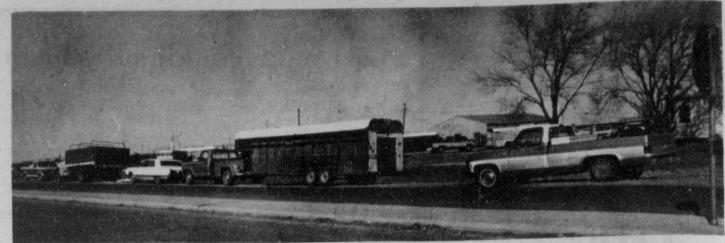

The purpose of the annual report is to validat the previous year's estimate and to establish the estimate of earnings for 1984. An overpayments will occur if the individual's actual earnings are greater than previously estimated. However, the beneficiary will be due additional payments if the actual earnings are less than was estimated in 1983.

Person may wish to delay filing the report until the W-2 form is received, or for self-employed individuals, until the tax return is prepared. If the report cannot be filed by April 15, Social Security should be notified to avoid penalty.

In summary, Social Security beneficiaries who work, normally must file an annual report. The period for submitting the report is after the exact 1983 earnings are known but before April 15, 1983.

A final note—disability beneficiaries are under different rules. Any work should be reported to the Social Security office immediately.

If you have a question concering annual reports or any Social Security matter please call us at 293-4371. If you need to visit our office our address is 1401-B West 5th in Plainview.

WEDNESDAY PICKUPS AND TRAILERS were backed up from the Floydada Livestock Company three directions for a total of ¼ mile as late as noon. Due to rising cost of hay and heavier sales later, a record number of cattle were sold this week here.

Sanders will be the second person in this chair. The first was dean emeritus of the School of Music who had been dean for 40 years.

Blocker said Sanders' duties will include teaching a minimum load, which it two choirs, and his involvement will be at the undergraduate and master's level, with leadership over the choral program at Baylor. Baylor has 400 music majors, but participation in the choral program is high among non-majors, he said.

We are accepting this resignation with a good deal of regret because Hugh has furthered the reputation of our fine arts program which has flourished under his leadership," Dr. Richard WTSU executive vice president, Mose-

As administrator of the School of Fine Arts, Sanders has nurtured positive relations between WTSU and agencies including Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, the Amarillo Symphony, Lone Star Ballet, Amarillo Little Theatre, the Fine Arts Committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and the Speech, Hearing and Language Center of Amarillo.

The University Chorale, under the direction of Sanders, has made numerous appearances at local, state, national and international professional meetings.

"We are very appreciative of the fine work Hugh Sanders has done at West Texas State while director of choirs nad more recently as dean of the School of Fine Arts. We shall miss him, but wish him much success in this position at Baylor University," Dr. Gail Shannon, WTSU president, said.

By L.A. Marshall

Speaking of pioneers, one of the most colorful, famous and widely known men that ever lived on the South Plains was known as Uncle Hank Smith.

He lived near what is now the Floydada to Crosbyton highway, just under the Caprock. His home was a two-story rock house, which burned down only a few years ago.

Uncle Hank was known far and wide for his many good deeds and good feeds -his home was on the route for cattle and travelers going west. In fact, it was a post office for a number of years.

He wrote a small book of his experiences. There is a magazine on exhibit in the museum at Canyon, Texas, that gives many of Uncle Hank Smith's experiences. A copy may be bought for $6.00.

Uncle Hank had itchy feet for adventure. Once he, and a few of his friends, decided to go west and see what they could find. Each man was riding his horse and leading a pack

Their first success was the finding of gold, in what is still known as Bear Creek, about seven miles north of Silver City, New Mexico.

Later a village was built known today as Pinos Altos, or Tall Pines.

This finding turned out to be quite a discovery. When I was out there a few years ago, over $64 million of virgin gold had been shipped from Pinos Altos, now a small Mexican village with 200 to 300 people, one general store, a filling station, school and churches.

Yours truly placer mined for gold on Bear Creek for some eight or more

There are several million dollars in gold still among the gravel in that creek and men are still working after it. I'll explain why they have not already got the gold.

The creek is fed continuously by springs coming out of the mountains. The gold is among the rocks and sand in the creek. This gravel will probably average 10 feet in depth and is full of water. The water covers the surface of the creek at depths of a few inches to several feet, so when one digs into the gravel, the hole fills with water and you can't pump a creek dry.

Uncle Hank's discovery of gold on Bear Creek spread like fire, and soon there was the village of Pinos Altos, located on a divide on the foot hills of the Rocky Mountains.

People came by horse, train, or wagons and on foot. Soon it was a wild and wooly tent and shanty town full of stores, saloons, dance halls, gambling houses and bad women.

All supplies were brought in from Dodge City, Kansas, by pony train. A herd of ponies with packs on them carried flour, sugar and coffee. The cost of these items was a dollar a pound.

Soon the Indians learned to attack these trains and cut out some of the ponies with their pack and drive them off. Or they would kill some of the ponies. There was no way to carry these provisions on the remaining ponies, so the Indians would get the supplies after the train passed on.

When Uncle Hank wrote of his adventures, he said they once figured out a plan to stop these Indian raids. They first captured some 12 to 15 squaws and put them into a pen as prisoners. After some length of time, the Indians asked to visit the squaws.

The idea was to get the Indians to stop the raiding of provision trains, and if they would, the squaws would be

The Indians came to visit the squaws. They surveyed the situation and found the squaws were being fed good, so the Indians said they could keep the

Since this bargaining power didn't work, and provisions had to be hauled from Dodge City, to feed the prisoners, they released the squaws anyway. It was costing too much to feed them. The graveyard at Pinos Altos is on the Uncle Hank wrote of how Bear Creek got its name.

He said one of the boys was panning gold in the creek bed and looked up to see a big bear close by traveling in the creek. He grabbed his Winchester, which was always close at hand, because of Indians, and shot the bear killing him with the first shot. To have hit the bear and not have killed him would have been quite dangerous, for everyone knows a wounded bear means a fight to the death.

From that day, the creek has been known as Bear Creek, which runs west to the Pacific Ocean from Pinos Altos.

Whiskey Creek runs east from Pinos Altos, and was named as the result of a broken wheel on a wagon loaded with barrels of whiskey. There couldn't be any repairs made on the wheel, so the whiskey was sold out from the wagon. To this day it has been Whiskey

The gold regions at Pinos Altos have left many deserted mines in the sides of the mountains. At least a hundred of these are hard rock mines.

Political Announcement

Uncle Hank wrote that things got so dangerous in Pinos Altos that he and seven of his friends decided to sell out, organize a pack horse train and go on west to look for new gold discoveries. They did find gold about 200 miles further west, which was even richer than strikes at Pinos Altos, and with larger nuggets. This find was in a dry gulch on the north side of the River Pi.

There they pulled the gravel out of a well they had dug in this gulch and with a rope and bucket carried it down to the river and panned it out. Some of the nuggets were worth $20 each.

Just when they were going good tragedy came along. A roving band of Indians had found them and shot the guard who was watching their horses. Horses in that day were very valuable, so they were left afoot, 200 miles west of

They buried their man and dug a cave in the bank of the dry gulch. They placed their possessions, picks, shovels, etc, in the cave and covered the

They started back to Pinos Altos. Of course, their provisions ran out, they wore out their shoes, and had to keep a guard at night for Indians.

Over a month later they arrived back at Pinos Altos, hungry, foot sore, practically no clothes, but very happy men to be back home.

This is only a fraction of the Uncle Hank Smith story, but it is the reason yours truly got into the gold business, that lasted eight years.

Dr. Charles Craig speaks on Central American trips

On the snowy and icy night of January 17, members of the 1934 Study Club reconvened after the holidays in the warm and pleasant home of Mrs. M.J. McNeill.

President Mrs. W.H. Bunch called the meeting to order. Roll call and previous minutes were read by Mrs. Anthony Latta. Business discussed was the "Spirit of Sharing" open house January 22 from 2-4:00. The club will be hostess for the event so members decided on working schedules and refreshment details.

The nominating committee headed by Mrs. A.L. Wylie brought the following names to be the officers for the next two years: Mrs. M.J. McNeill, president; Mrs. Milton Ashton, vice president; Mrs. J.R. Turner, 2nd vice president; Mrs. G.W. Switzer, secretary; Mrs. J.P. Moss. treasurer: Mrs. Vernon Parker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W.W. Trapp, reporter; Mrs. Dennis Dempsey, custodian; and Mrs. W.H. Bunch, parliamentarian.

The club then voted that these be the officers for the following two years.

Mrs. A.L. Wylie then introduced the speaker Dr. Charles Craig. Dr. Craig came to our city some 27 years ago as a dentist, reared two sons in the community and for seventeen years has gone once a year down into Mexico and into Central America where there are no dentists and did dental work.

He showed slides of different trips. The first trip was made in 1967. In the Honduras he worked with mostly negro population. He said that in Central America everything grows to profusion - trees, insects and people.

In 1972 he worked with an Indian tribe in Mexico. Slides showed oxen pulling plows made from timbers but in other fields were modern trucks. Missionary help has improved the life span of the Indian tribe as he had seen a tribe grow from about fifteen to 200 people. The children are beautiful and were healthy looking.

Dr. Jack Jordan has joined the group and Dr. Craig told how Dr. Jordan delivered a baby and the next day the mother wanted the baby's ears pierced. In 1974 Jack McIntosh went with the group and in 1976 Louis Lloyd joined the

They will leave for the next trip on February 9th which is after the monsoon season and before the burning of the vegetation when smoke is so dense.

Mrs. McNeill and co-hostess Mrs. Alan Benson served a delicious refreshment plate to members, Mmes. A.L. Wylie, Floyd Lawson, Anthony Latta, L.D. Simpson, L.B. Stewart, J.P. Moss, Milton Ashton, W.L. Monday devotions were by Trinity Church. Ira Sullivan, Mildred Thrasher, Shirley Varner, Dartha Westbrook and I sang. Then Mildred Thrasher read the scripture, and Ira played. Shirley, Dartha, and Ira sang a special song. Eighteen residents were present. In our exercise Monday, the residents had a good time pitching, catching and bouncing our new beach ball. In the afternoon we had ceramics class. The residents really did enjoy getting back their ceramic pieces they had painted the time before. Mamie Bradshaw had painted an especially pretty piece, a white Ginger jar and lid.

It was snowing on Tuesday but Neely Richardson was here for devotions, and brought bananas to all the residents and staff. Thank you to Neely. The snow is beautiful but oh, so cold, but this is the day that the Lord hath made, we will be glad and rejoice in it. Tuesday afternoon we had the resident council meeting. We discussed the Rock 'n' Roll we will have next month on Valentines Day for the Heart Fund. # PUBLIC NOTICE

In proceedings pending before the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), local exchange telephone companies are requesting authority to charge AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., for use of their facilities. These proposed charges are higher than AT&T Communications can pay at current Texas long distance rate levels. To position itself to be able to implement rates that are sufficient to produce revenues that will recover the costs facing the company, AT&T Communications must now file for rate relief to be able to implement rates that reflect the costs of access that are ultimately imposed on the company. While AT&T Communications does not want to increase its Texas rates, an increase would be required to recover the increased access charges AT&T Communications will have to pay to the local exchange telephone companies under several proposals pending before the Commission. These access charges at the proposed increased levels represent more than 80 percent of AT&T Communications' operating expense in Texas. Accordingly, AT&T Communications, in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the PUC, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates for long distance calls within Texas. The proposed rates will be effective January 28, 1984, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by AT&T Communications' proposed rates. If higher access charges are ordered, AT&T Communications has no recourse but to pay these charges and recover the costs from its customers as a cost of providing long distance service within Texas. AT&T Communications has filed rates which would mean a maximum overall increase in adjusted test period revenues of $301.4 million, or 27.85 percent. This amount would help recover cost increases due to the proposed level of access charges now pending before the PUC. A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with every municipality in Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Local entries boost 1984 Houston Livestock Show

Fifteen FFA members trom Floydada and 15 4-H members from Floyd County are set to participate in the 1984 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, February 18-March 4. Early tallies of 1984 Show entries indicate that this year's Show will be larger than ever before, with more than 32,000 entries expected to fill the Astrohall during the two-week run of the Show.

"With new events added, this year's Show promises to be our best and most versatile ever," noted Don Jobes, Jr., Assistant General Manager. "It provides spectators with a truly unique opportunity to see some of the finest livestock anywhere, gathered all under one roof." New events include a dairy goat competition, a mule and donkey show and a miniature horse show.

Local entries include FFA members. Shannon Barbee, Shayla Barbee, Tim Burns, all with one market barrow each; Joe Faulkenberry, market lamb; Troy Don Faulkenberry, market barrow; Cammy Hancock, one market lamb, and one market barrow; Keith Hancock, one market lamb and one market barrow: Coy LaBaume, market barrow: Kelli LaBaume, market barrow; David Pyle. market barrow; Shannon Shurbet, market lamb; Hunter Smith, market lamb; Gregg Thompson, market barrow; Mark Thompson, market barrow, and Brent Williams, market barrow. FFA sponsor is Tommy Hancock.

4-H members participating in the Show will be Jason Brown, market lamb; Jennifer Crow, market steer, and market lamb; Kristy Dawdy, market steer; Stacy Dawdy, market steer; Chad Edwards, market steer and beef heifer; Shannon Edwards, market steer and beef heifer; Aric Hendricks, market lamb; Angie Hinsley, market steer; Joel Mitchell, market lamb; Matt Mitchell, market lamb; Zach Nutt, market steer; Dean Smith, market lamb; Lisa Terrell, market steer and market lamb; Libby Williams, beef heifer; and Matt Williams, beef heifer. 4-H sponsor is Benny

While the focus for the next few weeks will be on the Show as the world's largest livestock show and rodeo and an entertainment extravaganza featuring 21 star performers, Jobes pointed out that the Show is much largest agricultural scholarship program and some 28 research programs at nine Texas universities," he said. "Additionally, the rewards for young exhibitors who've invested so much time into getting their animals ready for the Show can be phenomenal. The prestige of a Houston blue ribbon makes Houston the toughest showring competition in the world."

Premium monies available for open and junior show exhibitors top more than half a million dollars in prize money and in premium auction prices paid in excess of market value. Volunteer committee members of the Show line up auction buyers to insure that each junior market animal sold in the Show's four market auctions brings a price above the current market value of

And, as the Show holds the world's record price for all champion market animals sold at auction, it is evident that widespread community support translates into real dollars for these deserving young exhibitors who come from all over Texas to enter.

Junior livestock competition includes beef heifers, dairy cattle, breeding sheep, goats, commercial steers, breeding rabbits, market lambs, poultry, swine and steers. Also for 1984, there will be carcass contests for the market lamb, swine and steer shows.

While the livestock show is in full swing in the Astrohall, the Houston Rodeo also is offering the biggest line-up of star entertainers in Show history. With 21 entertainers, rodeo fans are guaranteed of seeing a favorite star or two and at a price that rivals that of a night out at the movies.

'Rodeo ticket prices have held firm at only $4 and $8," noted Jobes. "We make a point of offering the best family entertainment at a price the entire family can afford. And, to do that in 1984, we kept our ticket prices at 1983 levels and brought in more stars than at any other single event in the Gulf Coast

Tickets are on sale now by mail by contacting the Ticket Director, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, P.O. Box 25395, Houston, Texas 77005-5395, Or, tickets may be purchased at any Ticketmaster or Ticketron outlet.

Hard pans, dense layers affecting cotton yields

The tap root of a cotton plant is its lifeline. Pinch it off, squeeze it down or block its growth path through the soil and plant yields will suffer. Hard pans, dense compacted soil layers under the soil surface, are probably affecting yields over as much as 40 percent of the land farmed on the High Plains in 1983, and if not broken up will again reduce yields in 1984. These pans are so dense that it is difficult for plant roots to penetrate through to deeper moisture and nutrients. In most cases, hard pans also slow moisture from moving deeper into the soil, which increases runoff.

High Plains Water District staff, measuring field moisture over the High Plains, are finding moderate to severe compaction is widespread. It not only affected cotton tap roots, but every other crop grown on the High Plains, forcing the plants to squeeze back their root systems into smaller, less efficient laterals across the top of the pans.

Mike Risinger, Lubbock Soil Conservation Service soil scientist, explained

may grow into the compacted layer a Risinger said. "The harder the layer the slower the growth and the more yield is

"Hard pans severely restrict infiltration of rainfall and increase erosion. We're finding that soil moisture readings taken this winter are significantly lower in soils with severe pans."

"Random soil moisture samples at 139 sites measured by the District in December indicated dense compact soil layers over 75 percent of the area. About 24 percent had none to light pans, but of the 8 percent with no pan readings, virtually every field had been chiseled or deep broken since harvest.

Farm bill option may be based on past lessons programs are counterproductive and

Cotton policy options for the 1985 on policy lessons learned from the past 50 years, according to an Extension economist and professor for the Agricultural and Food Policy Center of the Texas A&M University System.

Dr. Ronald D. Knutson, an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, told delegates attending the Beltwide Cotton Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, January 9 that "cotton will obviously not stand alone in this debate.'

"The critical issue in the 1985 farm bill debate will involve selecting the balance between the degree of income support through the target price mechanism, price support through the loan program, and production controls," Knutson said.

past 50 years.'

government policy impacting agriculture has been an interesting--yet often frustrating--mixture of domestic farm policy, foreign policy and general economic policy.

vention, farm prices are determined in a world market setting, Knutson explained. "This does not mean that these prices are determined by competitive, free market forces. In regard to cotton, only a few countries compete in that world market since most are state traders. This means that government officials, not competitive market forces, determine supplies, exports, imports and prices," Knutson said.

In this kind of environment, fiber diplomacy has as much impact on the prices received by our High Plains cotton farmer as does domestic farm programs, said the economist. Additionally, the strong U.S. dollar has had the effect of raising the cost of our cotton in terms of currencies of many of our major customers above that of our competitors. The strong U.S. dollar can be traced directly to economic policies that foster high levels of deficit

Result of the interaction of these political and economic forces in a world context has led some agricultural policymakers to conclude that current farm sites. Compaction was moderate in 37 percent of the samples and moderate to severe in 13 percent of the samples."

"There are probably more pans this year, and they are especially dense now," said Risinger. "It's worse than typical because last year's abnormally wet spring drove producers into the field with sand fighters, some as many as nine times, usually the first day the field was dry enough to get into. The conditions were optimal for soil compaction. The same conditions occurred this fall as farmers rushed back into deep wet fields to harvest after unseasonable

Even when the ground appears dry near the surface, severe compaction will result when heavy equipment rolls through a field where the soil is moist.

The most evident symptom of a compact soil layer is a shallow root system, growing horizontally. It is especially noticeable in tap root crops such as cotton. The best way to determine the effects of a hardpan is to dig a hole at least three feet deep and look for crop roots in the subsoil. If the roots have penetrated that deep, chances are you do not have a serious hard pan problem. Another check is to push a sharp, steel small diameter rod into the soil at a slow uniform rate. The force required should be constant for a depth of eight to ten inches unless a plowpan

'Once a pan develops on the High Plains, it won't cure itself," said Risinger. To prevent a dense compacted ment tracks to the same row every year. Run a chisel behind the tractor tires every year, deep chisel at an angle across the field every other year, and consider deep breaking the field every third to fifth year, depending on moisture conditions.

It is nearly impossible to prevent some soil compaction, but making sure every trip is justified and combining operations for fewer passes will pay off in better yields and soil moisture.

First Assembly of God will be showing a motion picture release of International Prison Ministry entitled, "Changed Lives in San Quentin."

701 W. Missouri Floydada, Tx.

From inside the gas chamber Jerry Graham says, "I came very close to ending it all right here." In stark contrast to his life of crime, he now directs a ranch for abused children. James Williams served time in San Quentin after a gun battle with police. Now he's employed by a criminal justice organization teaching men "the way to go out," as he puts it.

Another changed life is George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver. Now 74, he counsels teenagers about the evils of drug abuse. And Jack Burbridge, once an enforcer for organized crime, is now a preacher. The film concludes with a look inside the gas

The film is free to the public and will be shown at the First Assembly of God, 701 W. Missouri, on Sunday, January 29, at 6 p.m. Pastor Jim W. Guess invites Floydada and surrounding communities to view this exciting film.

AUTOMATIC DISHWASHING -

Ways To Minize Energy Consumption The amount of energy a dishwasher uses is very small. It's the use of hot water that accounts for the main operating cost. Here are some ways to minimize energy consumption and still obtain good washing results:

* Start with the proper water temperature, a key factor in dishwashing performance. The temperature should not be lower than 130°F at the dishwasher. As the temperature is reduced, the removal of greasy and oily soils becomes more difficult, spotting and filming may occur as well as improper drying. Some dishwasher models feature a cycle that automatically heats water to the proper temperature before washing begins. In this way, satisfactory results can still be achieved in spite of a reduced temperature setting at the water heater.

* Operate dishwasher only when a full load is accumulated. Avoid overloading that prevents proper water circulation over the dishes.

* Use the "rinse-hold" or "rinse" cycle to hold partical loads before
