Jack Hightower addresses dedication ceremonies

Dedication ceremonies were held at Lake Mackenzie for the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority serving Lockney, Floydada, Silverton, and Tulia. Jack Hightower, Congressman for 13th District was the guest speaker. Following the invocation worded by C.J. Payne, of Floydada, Donald L. Bookout, legal adviser, was the master of ceremonies for the occasion. He emphasized that because they had used a cotton trailer from which to speak at their groundbreaking service, they decided to continue with that same tradition for the dedication of the water supply system.

Owen Thornton, of Lockney, a member of the MWA board from 1970, gave a brief history of Mackenzie Water project from its earliest beginning:

In April 1965 the 59th Legislature created a Conservation and Reclamation District to be known as Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority. The Authority contains all territory within the boundaries of Tulia, Silverton, Lockney and Floydada.

On September 9, 1965 the board of directors of the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority held its first meeting in the P.C.A. Building in Floydada with the following members present: Lon Davis, S. W. Ross, Tom Moore, O. C. Bailey, Charles Whiffill, Milton Dudley, John Ziegler, Jim Tom Nichols and Don Bookout. Lon Davis was elected president of the board and served in this capacity until May 10, 1983. It was decided at this meeting that the board would meet on the first Monday of each month and the meetings would be rotated in the four cities within the authority.

The engineering firm of Freese, Nichols and Endress from Fort Worth was hired October 4, 1965 to start the preliminary planning for the project and would be paid from a $70,500 loan to be received from HUD (Housing and Urban Development).

During the November 1965 meeting Joe Smith of First Southwest and Columbia Securities was hired as fiscal agent and is still connected with the water authority.

August 1967 plans and cost of the water project was presented to the board by Lee Freese. The board then set a bond election for October 14, 1967 for the amount of 7,975,000.00, which was the estimated cost of the entire project. Tulia and Floydada voted down the bond issue with Silverton and Lockney voting for the issue.

On September 6, 1969 another bond election for $4,615,000 was held in the four member cities for the purpose of buying land, building a dam, run water line to plant site and water treatment plant. The bond issue was passed by all four cities. On September 29, 1970 Don Bookout was given authority to start buying land for the Water Authority for the proposed Dam (112.80 per acre).

In spring, 1970, Owen Thornton came onto the board. Opening of bids for the construction of the Dam and Reservoir took place June 27, 1972 with Gilman-Terrill, Inc., Amarillo, Texas turning in the low bid — ($2,636,390.00). The building of the treatment plant was delayed until the Dam was completed. ($4,615,000.00) in G.O. bonds were issued July 28, 1972 with the Water Development Board purchasing $3,060,000.00 of the bonds. The Dam was completed in July 1974.

A road around the perimeter of the lake was completed in January 1975. Lots on southwest part of the water authority were surveyed and platted in February 1975 and leased by a drawing in May 1977. The first boat ramp was completed in March 1975 by Given-Terrill. 12.8 miles of fence around the lake was completed in August 1975. In September 1975 construction for the manager's house and office began. November 1975, developing of areas around the lake was started with the construction of picnic tables, public rest rooms, camping sites, etc. In March 1975 the office and manager's house was completed and the board of directors met in the new office. May 1, 1976 the lake was opened for fishing and camping. In June 1977 concession rights were leased to Dick Rallsback, George Tiry and Joe Bob Jones of Happy, Texas.

In January 1979, 30 x 40 storage building was completed. A $2,150,000 bond election was held on December 4, 1980 which passed 8 to 1 by the four cities. This money to be used with $1,255,000, approved in September 1969, a total of $3,405,000 to be used to build the treatment plant (supply system).

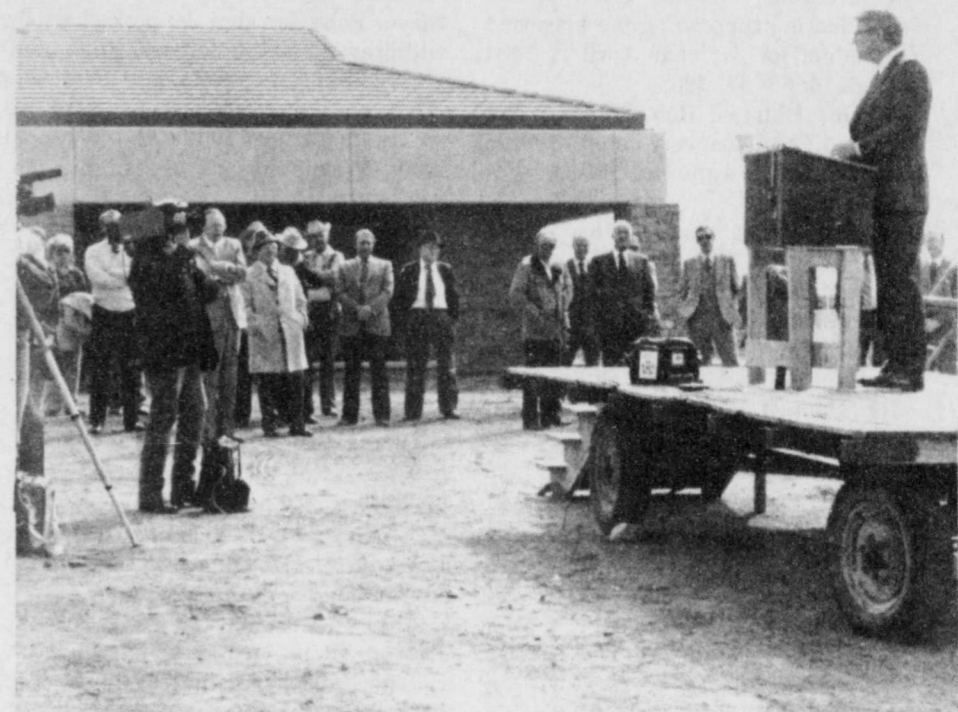

June 1981 a second boat ramp was completed with paved parking lots also completed for both boat ramps. In July 1982 a loan of $7,363,000 from F.H.A. and the same amount ($7,360,000) from the Texas Department of Water Resources approved. Total cost of supply and transmission estimated by engineers was $14,720,000.00.

On October 1982 bids were opened for the construction of the supply phase and transmission phase for the Mackenzie project. (155 contractors turned in bids). Approximately 2 1/2 million less than the estimate of the engineers. Contracts were awarded to contractors with work to start January 1, 1983.

Bookout recognized special guests from Plainview and the state office of Farmers Home Administration and the local officials from each town who were in the crowd. He also thanked the Texas Department of Water Resources for its support.

He also had some special praises to pass along to the audience for two Floydada men. He spoke of the dedicated service given by Lon Davis, Jr. Davis had been the only president of the board until May, 1983. Bookout said, "I have never seen a man give of himself

Recent burglaries reviewed at Neighborhood Watch meeting

Neighborhood Watch met Monday night, March 12th.

Bill Gray, Coordinator of the Watch, stated, "If the persons whose homes were burglarized last week would have come to at least one of the meetings their houses might not have been burglarized." Gray pointed out that one of the houses had a couple of newspapers in front of it, letting the person who robbed the house know nobody was home. Both houses were only two blocks from each other, leading authorities to believe that both were burglaries by the same persons.

Gray stated that most burglaries are committed between 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. during the day. He also said many people had been receiving phone calls, but when they answer, no one will answer. It is assumed that the persons are trying to check to see if anyone is at home.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal stresses that anyone leaving town for a trip should come by and fill out a card so the Sheriff's Department can keep a watch on the house. Also Cardinal said that if a person sees anything in their block that does not seem ordinary, please call the Sheriff's Department to check it out. "It doesn't hurt to call and be on the safe side," he said. Gray also stated that "more people to be involved is needed for this program to really take off and keep all the homes in Floydada safe."

S.W. Ross, the second name to be given special dedication, had served on the MWA board for over 20 years. Bookout referred to Mr. Ross having passed from this life in the past year, but said he was "so dedicated to the future of this country, and he realized that water was one of those precious elements essential to that future."

Bookout said the Authority had already paid HUD back the $70,000 that had been borrowed from them and that the MWA was proud they had not gone to Washington or HUD for a grant for funding the $14,720,000 project.

He also expressed thanks to Ralph Wayne, who was the Representative in Austin when the bill was introduced on February 25, 1965, to recognize the Authority. "Especially when we asking for over half of all the funds appropriated for this type funding," Bookout said.

Pete Laney, Representative for District 85, made a few comments before guest speaker, Jack Hightower, who had been helpful as a state senator in Austin, spoke. He said, "Too many people wanted to wait until it was too late and then try to send an order to Sears and Roebuck or somewhere for some water overnight. They don't get serious until the well runs dry."

In his comments he went on to say, "We need to reach over and pat ourselves on the back on a job well done."

Serving on the board of directors currently are Boyd Vaughn, president, and John Earl Simpson, of Tulia; T. Owen Thornton, vice president, and David Frizzell, of Lockney; C.J. Payne, treasurer, and Bill Hale, of Floydada; and Don Brown and F.E. Hutsell, of Silverton.

Crime Call slates tourney

With the theme "Help Shoot Down Crime," Crime Call of Floyd County is pleased to announce its Spring fundraising drive -- in the form of a golf tournament, which is being billed as "CRIME CALL SCRAMBLE." The 18-hole four-person-team scramble will tee off in a 9:00 a.m. "shotgun start" on Saturday, April 14, 1984, at Floydada County Club. Proceeds from the scramble will go into the general reward fund of the citizens-sponsored crime prevention program, which assists law enforcement agencies in their investigations of criminal activity in and around Floyd County.

There will be optional special events (nearest to pin on par-3's, "Mulligans" on 1st tee, etc.). Golfers will be assigned positions on teams based on their handicaps. Players not having current handicaps will be assigned to teams by Butch Mitchell, club professional.

Numerous prizes will be offered and several nice prizes have already been donated by local merchants. A significant contribution came on March 8 when Ricky Burns, Sales Mgr. at City Auto, Inc. gave a 24k gold-plated putter which will be awarded to the golfer having the closest tee shot to the pin on a designated par-3 hole. This is one of the optional events at $1.00 donation.

Entry fee (donation) for the scramble is $20.00 per player, which does not include green fee or cart rental. A $5.00-per-plate barbeque will follow the tournament, at which time prizes and awards will be presented. All contributions and donations made to Crime Call of Floyd County are tax-deductible. Green fees and cart rentals are not tax-deductible.

For further information, contact Butch Mitchell at 983-2769 or Bill Gray, President of Crime Call and general chairman of the tournament, at 983-3751. So, polish up the shoes, clean up the sticks, loosen up the muscles, and get ready for the "CRIME CALL SCRAMBLE" on April 14th.

INCOME TAXES MADE EASY

Nearly nine million Americans continued to place their trust in H & R Block at tax time last year.

Why do millions of people keep coming back to H & R Block? Because they like many things about the service, including the care and accuracy of the work; the competency of the tax preparers and their thorough knowledge of all the new tax laws; and, especially, the tax dollars many have saved.

But that's not all. Block's customers value the good year-round service; the courteous treatment they receive; the personal, confidential attention; and the peace of mind attained in knowing a difficult task was completed at a reasonable charge.

Join the millions who go to H & R Block! You'll be glad you did!

Miss Muncy - Jones exchange marriage vows

The First Baptist Church of Floydada was the setting for the wedding of Pamela Martelle Muncy and Russ Alan Jones, Saturday March 10. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley officiated at the 7 o'clock p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of Texas Tech University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Muncy. She is employed by the Brownfield Independent School District. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Jones of Brownfield, is a graduate of South Plains College and also attended Angelo State. He is employed by Campbell Welding in Brownfield where the couple will be at home following a wedding trip to Hawaii.

Prelude music was provided by Mrs. Bill Hardin, organist, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Mike Giesecke, pianist, sister to the bride. Mrs. Giesecke accompanied Mr. Matt Jones, soloist and brother of the groom, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "I'll Walk With God". Mrs. Hardin accompanied Mr. Jones as he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

As wedding guests entered the church foyer, their names were secured in the bridal book by Shonda Fulton of Lubbock.

The church was decorated with large white Hawaiian anthuriums, English ivy, Ming fern, and white heather on brass candelabra. Centering the front was a 15-branch arch candelabrum and twin kneeling benches. The arch was completed on each side with spiral candelabra forming a curve for the site of the vows. Flanking the curve were bouquets of large white anthuriums, English ivy, Ming fern, and white heather. Four 7-branch candelabrams lighted the sides and hurricane candelabra lighted the aisles, also complemented by arrangements of white anthuriums and mixed greenery. Several floor palms completed the scene.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of ivory chiffon. The fitted bodice was accented in alencon lace and tiny seed pearls and featured a scalloped neckline forming a "V". The full Bishop sleeves were gathered at the wrists with a cuff of alencon lace. The dropped waist fell to a full skirt of chiffon and swept to the back with a cathedral length train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a bridal headpiece covered with ivory chiffon and ivory silk flowers with two tiers of illusion of waltz length. The headpiece was fashioned for the bride by Mrs. Coy Jones, mother of the groom.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of mini white anthuriums, white sweet-heart roses, stephanotis, baby's breath, and English ivy highlighted throughout with tiny lights scattered among the blossoms and fashioned on top of a Mother of Pearl Bible, a gift acquired in Bethlehem by Mrs. Robert Muncy, paternal grandmother.

She wore her mother's wedding band for "something old" and her wedding attire was "something new". "Something borrowed" was a crinoline belonging to Penny Giesecke, the bride's sister, and "something blue" was the traditional wedding garter, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Bill Hardin. She placed an English sixpence in her slipper.

Mrs. Mike Giesecke, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Kara Copeland of Lubbock, maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Jim Finley of Floydada, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Dusty Demere of Lubbock and Martha Jones of Brownfield, sister of the groom. The attendants wore gowns of teal taffeta fashioned with a fitted waist bodice embroidered with a matching brocade design with a scallop neck and back line. The 3/4 length puff sleeve was fit to the shoulders with large gathers. The full classic A-line skirt was completed with a wide taffeta sash.

The attendants carried bouquets of white mini anthuriums, baby breath, and English ivy. Nestled in the flowers was a lighted votive candle. Teal green satin and candlelight lace bows and streamers completed their bouquets.

Groomsmen included Coy Jones, father of the groom, as best man, Bill Keeler of Lubbock, Harvey Duke of San Antonio, Lloyd Hamilton of College Station and Vernon Paul of Olton. Serving as ushers were Mike Giesecke, brother-in-law of the bride, and Matt Jones, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother was attired in a peach colored dress and Mrs. Jones wore a beige dress. Each wore a corsage of double white cymbidium orchids enhanced by ivory lace.

Grandparents attending the wedding were Mrs. Robert Garrett and Mrs. Robert Muncy, both of Floydada, and Mrs. Nell Jones of Brownfield.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents in the Wall Street parlor of the church. The bride's table was covered with an ecru lace cloth. A three tiered ivory wedding cake decorated with ivory and teal green silk flowers was topped with a small bouquet arranged in an ivory basket that was used on the bride's parents wedding cake. An arrangement of large and small white anthuriums, white heather, English ivy, and Ming fern formed the centerpiece with a silver punch service completing the table setting.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Michael Zachery of Amarillo, and Mrs. Jerry Dillard of Lubbock, cousin of the bride.

The groom's table was covered with an ecru cloth and highlighted by silver candlesticks with teal green tapers framing a bouquet matching the one on the bride's table. Serving coffee from a silver service and a two tiered chocolate cake decorated with love birds were Karen Snyder of Austin and Mrs. Bill Keeler of Lubbock.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Howard Bishop, Mrs. Laron

Fulton, Mrs. Connie Bearden, Mrs. Deral Young, Mrs. Don Bean, all of Floydada, and Mrs. Clyde Gordon of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Jones were host and hostess to a rehearsal dinner Friday night at the First Baptist Church, Floydada.

Pre-nuptial courtesies for the bride included a bridal luncheon hosted by Mrs. Jimmy Willson and Mrs. Fred Cardinal, a miscellaneous shower in Brownfield in the home of Mrs. Jim Rudd, a miscellaneous shower in Floydada in the home of Mrs. Laron Fulton, a lingerie shower hosted by Kara Copeland and Jana Demere in Lubbock, a recipe party given by Mrs. Jim Finley and a surprise shower by her fellow teachers in Brownfield. The bridesmaid luncheon was hosted by her aunt, Mrs. Bill Hardin.

Texas program presented

Due to the flu-bug finding Mrs. J.P. Moss the 1934 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Dennis Dempsey with Mrs. Garland Foster as co-hostess.

President Bunch called the meeting to order. Mrs. Anthony Latta had roll call, read the minutes which were approved by the members, followed by a brief business session.

Mrs. L.D. Simpson then introduced the Texas Heritage program. Mrs. Simpson, a Texan "by marriage", told of the pride we have in our State. She related how she and Buster made a trip to Texas in the early years of their marriage and after driving into the wee hours of the night they stopped and got out to stretch and rest a few minutes. Buster stretched, threw back his head and said "Smell that Texas air." She said as the years went by she too had that same love and pride in her adopted state.

She then introduced Mrs. Dennis Dempsey "Restless Capitol," Mrs. Garland Foster "The Texas Capitol" and Mrs. Orval Newberry "The Governor's Mansion."

Mrs. Dempsey told that in 1519 all of Mexico and the land north of the Rio Grande was claimed by Cortes for Spain. Mexico City became the first capital and remained thus for 300 years.

The land to the north was let to the Indians until the French became interested. Then a group of soldiers was dispatched and the first colonial capital established at Monclova in New Mexico. Another French threat caused the capital "papers" to be moved to Las Aduas and 52 years later the "papers" were moved to San Antonio and remained there for 54 years.

In 1821 Austin brought in 200 colonists and they cared little for Mexico and named San Felipe de Austin their seat of government and declared they were a separate state. Because of Mexican retaliation they moved to Washington on the Brazos in 1836 and on March 2 declared independence from Mexico. The capital moved eleven times after their separation from Mexico and Sam Houston was the first president.

In 1845 the capital was moved to Waterloo (which had been changed to Austin). For the next 43 years the government "papers" were shuttled to various locations finally coming to rest in 1888 in the pink granite capital.

Mrs. Foster told that work began 102 years ago by a contractor who was traded three million acres of land worth $1,500,000. That land now worth billions as the Panhandle counties are rich with farms ranches and oil.

The capital was built of red Texas granite from Marble Falls by Scottish stone cutters and convicts from the state prison. Six years and six months later the capital was dedicated in 1888. During the dedication ceremony a hard rain shower came up and the roof began to leak!

Mrs. Newberry told that Gov. and Mrs. White are the first occupants without major household problems.

Governor and Mrs. Pease moved into the Greek Revival mansion in 1856. Rooms sat void of furniture and silverware and crystal and unmatched and insufficient.

The rehabilitation was initiated by Governor and Mrs. Clements between 1979-1982. Many additional pieces of art were obtained and the home still contains numerous historic pieces that have graced the mansion from the beginning.

In 1854 the Legislature appropriated $14,500 for a residence and outbuildings and $2,500 for furnishings. After modification Abner Cooks submitted the low bid of $14,500. The mansion is still considered one of the finest examples of the squarish columned Greek Revival design that was popular in the early 19th century.

The first remodeling took place in 1900; the sidewalks built in 1907-1911, gas heat installed in 1911-1915 and in 1914 the kitchen wing was added. Governor Colquitt decided to paint the mansion white with green blinds so Texas could have a White House. And for the same reason the white finish was retained in 1979. In 1920 Governor Hobby witnessed the addition of steam heat.

Mrs. Newberry finished the article telling about Governor White converting the carriage house into a play area for his three children at an expense of some $40,000. The area is complete with bumper pool table, bathroom and small kitchen, computer game hooked up to the T.V.

Mrs. Dempsey and Mrs. Foster then served a refreshment plate of sausage pinwheels, fruit salad and cookies with coffee or tea to Mmes. Milton Ashton, Wilson Bond, W.H. Bunch, W.L. Davis, Kyle Glover, J.S. Hale, Anthony Latta, Floyd Lawson, M.J. McNeill, W.O. Newberry, Vernon Parker, L.D. Simpson, Geo. Springer, G.W. Switzer, W.W. Trapp, J.R. Turner, Walton Wilson and Mrs. Burl Holt.

shop would be at Floydada High School March 20, at 7:00 p.m. This is sponsored by the Floyd County Family Living Committee. The public is invited.

The Floyd County Living committee are planning a Christmas in October Arts and Crafts show. There will be booths to rent for those who would wish to sell arts and crafts. An exact date will be decided later.

The group was reminded the District 2 meeting for Extension Homemakers Clubs will be in Plainview April 5. All club members are urged to attend.

Mary True, the Floyd County Extension Agent, presented the program "Calcium Makes The Difference." This was a very interesting and informative program.

A diet low in calcium may result in an abnormal heart beat. This deficiency may affect the nervous system by causing heart muscles to contract repeatedly twitching, muscle cramps, and even convulsions, referred to as tetany. In addition the blood may not clot normally when calcium is deficient.

Mary made a cross puzzle for each member to work. The answers contained words that had reference to calcium.

Refreshments were served to Ruth Scott, Arvie Schultz, Bess Carr, Imelda Murry, Blanche Williams, and Mary True.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Florence VanHoose

Monday morning devotions were by Trinity Church. Ira Sullivan, Shirley Varner, Mildred Thrasher, and Dartha Westbrook sang. Mildred read the scripture. Fifteen residents were present. Monday afternoon Kim was here for music therapy. Twenty residents attended.

Tuesday morning devotions were omitted because Rev. Neeley Richardson was unable to be here. We understand that he and his wife both had the flu. We hope they are recovered by this time. Tuesday afternoon we had a good time of Bible Study. We read together the twenty-first chapter of Revelations and talked about Heaven. Ten residents attended.

Wednesday morning devotions were by City Park Church of Christ. The singers were Lorilla Bradley, Beulah Baker, Elva Blum, Mary Spears, Ruth Walker, Eva Tackett, and Myrtle Switzer. Perry Zumwalt had to be out of town. We missed his ministry of the Word. Wednesday afternoon we played Bingo. Emmet Lawerence Bingo'ed the most times and Mamie Bradshaw and Ollie Birnie Bingo'ed on the Blackout game... Sugarfree candy, gum and bananas were the prizes.

Thursday morning devotions were omitted because the Rev. Earl Blair was unable to be here. We surely did miss him. The residents always look forward to the different ministers coming each day and are always disappointed when they are unable to come. Thursday afternoon we went on the weekly Bus Ride. This week we rode down to Silverton and bought an ice cream cone. We really did enjoy the trip. Those residents going were Emmet Lawrence, Beno Wilson, Addie Lindley, Una Clark, and Ruth Benson. It was such a nice warm day for a bus ride. We appreciate getting to go out.

Friday morning devotions were brought by Nettie Adams. We missed Mary Corley who has been out of town. Friday afternoon we made some pretty book markers using some pretty leaves. The residents like to make these and have them on hand to give to family and friends.

We have enjoyed all the friends who have joined us this week for "coffee time". We have an extra good time each morning around nine-thirty at coffee and socialization time.

Visitors were: Mrs. R.L. Neil, Jess Glover, Hazel Bradley, Artie Webb, Sherry Colston, Sue Guthrie, Ruby Gooch, Norma Jecoat, Rosie Rendon, Carlos and Randy Rendon, Jr. Rendon, Maria Camacho, Worth Gwendolyn Howard, Cleo Snodgrass Crawford, Deota Odam, Merlene Breeding, Pat and Tommy Brashears, Edna Patton, Evelyn Pierce, Fred Bradshaw, Arlene Bradshaw, Clyde Bradshaw, Laura Turner, Ana Lee Brown, Dolores and J.W. Cannon, Bill and Trudie Stewart, Randy and Denise Hendrickson, Cliff and Opal Whitmire of Kress, Joyce and John Taylor of Canyon, Mrs. A.E. Guthrie, Maria Camacho, Ethel Lee of Houston, Mrs. Riley Teague, and Nelli Moore.

Group hears health program

The Harmony Extension Homebuilders Club met in the home of Bess Carr. The president, Blanche Williams, called the meeting to order. The hostess read the devotion, Isaiah 53:6. Roll call was answered by "When Was The Last Time I Had A Medical Exam?"

Recreation was led by Arvie Schultz, a quiz game. Ruth Scott read an interesting poem "The Two Holer."

Anna Maude Hopper thanked the club members for the pot flower sent to her mother's funeral.

It was announced the District 2 meeting will be held in Plainview April 5 rather than April 17 as was announced earlier. Each member is urged to attend. Blanche Williams is the delegate and Anna Maude Hopper is alternate.

Arvie Schultz presented the program, "Health - Anorexia and Alzheimers." The victims of anorexia are usually young females between the ages of 12 and 22 with an obsession to be thin. Alzheimers is a disease that effects the loss of the thinking process and as yet there is no known cause or cure. Most of the victims are 65 and older and the majority are females.

Refreshments were served to Anna Maude Hopper, Imelda Ramsey, Juanita Poole, Ruth Scott, Arvie Schultz and Blanche Williams.

Hobby Club holds luncheon

The Sandhill Hobby Club met in the home of Margaret Jackson for a luncheon. After the luncheon the president, Bess Carr, called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by "What St. Patrick's Means To Me."

Plans were discussed for having a garage sale for a money making project. Glenna Miller was appointed chairman for the committee to finalize the plans. Gertie Hollums led recreation, a quiz game. Each member was asked to bring something green to be wrapped as a gift. These were exchanged. Several surprises were noted.

After the meeting, table games were played. Those attending were Libby Becker, Mary Lou Bullock, Bess Carr, Nora Hatley, Billie Hanna, Gertie Hollums, Doris Huckabee, Glenna Miller, Neva Smith, Ruth Trapp, and Margaret Jackson.

OSTEOPOROSIS CONCERNS WOMEN

Recent publicity about osteoporosis has left many women with questions about calcium in their diets.

Osteoporosis is a degenerative disease that involves an abnormal loss of bone tissue. It's a serious problem because it has been linked to more than 200,000 hip fractures suffered by older women each year.

Most experts agree that it is normal for women past age 35 to begin losing some bone at a very slow rate, but osteoporosis speeds up that loss. After years of bone loss, an older woman may develop a "dowager's hump" or have a reduction in height.

According to health and nutrition specialist with Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service, certain groups of women are thought to be more at risk of developing osteoporosis. These include:

- *Women between the ages of 45 and 70. Women who have had their ovaries removed at a young age or those who are past menopause.

- *Women with calcium deficient diets.
- *Thin women, especially those of small stature.

- *Women who smoke cigarettes, do not exercise, or drink alcohol to excess.
- *Caucasian women.

- *Any woman with a history of osteoporosis in her family.
- *Women who have never been pregnant.

Some of these factors obviously cannot be controlled. But most women can do something about their diet, exercise, smoking and drinking habits that might prevent or slow osteoporosis.

It's important that women make sure they are getting enough calcium. The average calcium intake for most women over 25 is 500 milligrams a day. Yet the recommended daily allowance is 800 milligrams and some researchers suggest that this should be increased to 1,200 to 1,500 milligrams after menopause.

Drinking three 8-ounce glasses of milk each day would provide the equivalent of 1,500 milligrams of calcium.

You can also get equivalent amounts of calcium from eating a variety of dairy products, including yogurt or cheese. Leafy green vegetables, canned sardines and kidney beans are also good sources of calcium.

If you are worried about weight gain, select from among the many low-fat or non-fat dairy products on the market.

Exercise is equally important since reduced physical activity can hasten bone loss. Almost any form of exercise, and especially walking, can help. Healthy women should exercise regularly and as vigorously as possible to maintain their bones mass.

Once osteoporosis is diagnosed, a physician may treat the disease in several ways. These include, increasing calcium and vitamin D intake, recommending an exercise program or prescribing certain drugs.

Hopefully, more women will make sure they are getting a nutritious diet, including plenty of calcium-rich foods and enough exercise so this will be less of a health problem in the future.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

1984 youth workshop set

High school aged 4-H'ers and FFA members from across the state are eligible to attend the 1984 Youth Range Workshop to be held June 17-22 at the Texas Tech University Center near Junction.

Applications are now being accepted for the 32 openings for youth interested in practical range and ranch management, says Dr. Bob J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

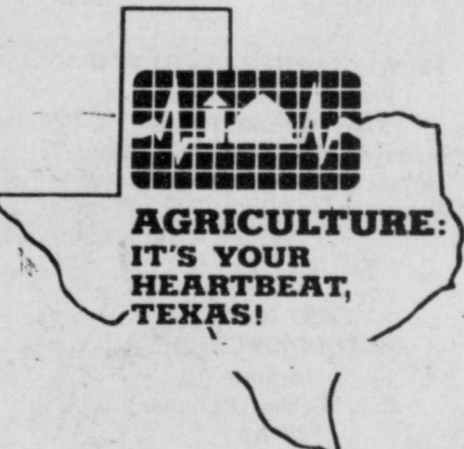

The week-long workshop, sponsored by the Texas Section of the Society for Range Management, is designed to recognize outstanding youth, develop leadership skills and provide advanced training in range management, Ragsdale says.

It will include plant, wildlife and livestock studies; field trips to ranches and experimental areas; plant collecting and range judging; and leadership training. Recreation and sports are also planned for the delegates.

However, Ragsdale says, this is not a recreational experience. "The workshop had been called a camp prior to 1982, but the name was changed because it did not truly indicate the work and study character of the week."

Ragsdale also emphasizes that the workshop is coeducational, and he encourages girls who are interested to apply.

Only one 4-H and one FFA delegate per county is eligible to attend, and the applications are considered on a first-come basis. Enrollment will close April 30 or when the quotas fill. Ragsdale adds that the 4-H quota usually fills quite early.

LANDSCAPE AND GARDENING

By Benny Butler

PREPARE SOIL NOW

"Make hay while the sun shines" is an adage which certainly pertains to spring gardening activities in Texas. This winter has been unusually cold and it has also been unusually dry. Gardeners should take advantage of the dry conditions to prepare garden sites. Rental stores do not have a tremendous demand for rototillers in late winter, so smart gardeners can beat the rush by acting now. Also, this unpredictable Texas weather may take a turn to the wet and make garden preparation later infeasible. This would be disastrous since crops such as beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, collards, corn, kohlrabi, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsley, sugar snap peas, potatoes, radish, spinach and turnips should be planted right away.

The first step in garden preparation is site evaluation. All vegetables produce optimally in a full sunlight situation. If your garden site does not receive at least 8 hours of direct sunlight daily you will not successfully produce those crops which produce seed-bearing fruit. This includes tomatoes, peppers and eggplant. By "Successfully produce" I mean tomato plants which will yield at least 15-20 pounds of fruit per plant. Greens (lettuce, collards, mustard) and root (carrots, beets, radish) crops tolerate shady conditions but do not excel.

If the site selected has been previously covered with grass, this turf must be removed. Don't think that you can dig or till this existing grass into the garden soil and get rid of it. Even a well-tilled, pulverized garden soil will contain enough bermuda grass sprigs to cause troubles for years to come. New gardens are doomed before they begin if all bermuda and other lawn grass is not completely removed before tillage begins. If a raised garden is being considered, sod should be removed before additional soil is put into the prepared frame.

What about chemicals which might be applied to the grass to kill it? None exist which can be used without damaging garden vegetables to be planted. A shovel and "elbow grease" is the best solution - remove 2-4 inches of sod to insure elimination of grass spigs.

Once the sod has been removed, a new garden area should be shoveled to a depth of 10-12 inches. Rototillers when used in a new garden area will not penetrate adequately. Rototillers can be used to loosen and mix shoveled areas.

The next step is to add some necessary ingredients. Most soils will benefit greatly by the addition of liberal amounts of organic matter such as leaves, grass clippings, compost, etc. Organic matter will help loosen up heavy, tight soils and will help sandy soils hold moisture and nutrients. If your garden soil is highly alkaline, (and most of ours are), you should consider adding sulfur.

The soil's physical condition will have to be altered over a period of time rather than trying to develop desirable soil in a season or two. If you are making the effort to build a raised bed garden don't skimp on the soil which you put into it.

The addition of fertilizer is the next step. Care must be taken that excessive amount of fertilizer are not used. Excessive fertilization causes abundant plant growth yet reduced yields. A complete fertilizer with percentages of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium should be used. General recommendations include the use of 2-3 pounds of a complete fertilizer per 100 square feet of garden area. Animal manures may be substituted for commercial fertilizer and used at a rate of 60-80 pounds per 100 square feet of garden area.

After all ingredients have been added, mix the soil thoroughly and prepare beds on which to plant rows of vegetables. These beds should be 30-36 inches apart to allow for easy movement through the garden when plants get large.

Never work wet garden soil. Soils containing a high degree of organic matter can be worked at a higher moisture content than heavy clay soils. To determine if the soil is suitable for working, squeeze together a small handful of soil. If it sticks together in a ball and does not readily crumble under slight pressure by the thumb and finger, it is too wet for working.

Now it is time to choose a spot and prepare for a spring garden. The rewards will be bountiful.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Wind erosion predicted to be worse this spring

Wind erosion has damaged more than a million acres of Texas cropland and rangeland the past few months, and it is still early in the "blow season." Conditions undoubtedly will become worse this spring.

"Current cropping systems in many areas just do not provide the needed protection to prevent soil erosion by wind," says Dr. B.L. Harris, soils specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Wind erosion is a problem primarily in western, central and southwestern sections of Texas and does its worst damage to croplands, Harris says.

"The most serious lasting damage from erosion is the separation and removal of silt, clay and organic matter from the surface, leaving only infertile and blowing sand," Harris explains. "The blowing and piles up in dunes, causing loss of productive land, covering, fences, equipment and buildings, and damaging crops."

To control wind erosion, a combination of practices is most effective, with conservation tillage systems offering good potential for many erosion-prone soils, says the specialist.

A rough surface—the ridges and depressions formed by tillage—goes a long way in battling wind erosion, notes Harris. Roughness, at an optimum height of 2 to 5 inches, reduces wind surface velocity and traps sand particles.

"Cloddiness," the relative abundance of firm and stable aggregates of soil material resistant to erosion, also serves as a barrier to wind erosion. More than half the soil surface should be protected by large clods.

"Both cloddiness and surface roughness can be affected by the type of tillage equipment used," Harris says. "Equipment which inverts the soil covers surface residue. Disk-type plows cover more residue and destroy soil clods more than sweep-type plows. Disks also create greater compaction pans than sweep plows."

"Vegetative cover is the best and most effective technique to control wind erosion," contends Harris. "The protection afforded by cover, either living or dead, depends on the size and quantity of residue. For example, wheat stubble is more effective than sorghum or corn stubble."

Erosion increases as field length increases, so the length should be reduced along the prevailing wind direction with barriers or windbreaks, or by planting perpendicular to the prevailing wind. A windbreak will protect an area equal to 10 times the height of the barrier, the specialist points out.

Research is being conducted on the use of terraces to reduce wind erosion. Terraces are small terrace barriers planted with a perennial plant—such as lovegrass, kleingrass and Alamo switchgrass—on the top ridge. This technique has proved to be very effective in reducing erosion and maintaining yields, and its use is expected to expand.

"Other factors affecting erosion include wind speed and soil moisture," Harris says. "Erosion increases rapidly as winds exceed 20 mph, and erosion decreases as soil moisture increases. Therefore, irrigation practices and benching or leveling land on slopes can provide effective temporary controls against wind erosion."

Information is available from several agencies to assist farmers and ranchers in dealing with wind erosion problems. Among those agencies are the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Soil and Water Conservation Board and Districts, Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and Agricultural Research Service. SCS is the agency with primary responsibility for providing information and technical assistance for erosion control.

$2.5 million Encroachment Settlement announced for state

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro announced February 29 that the General Land Office has reached an agreement with Texas City Terminal Railway Co. that will net the Permanent School Fund an additional $2.5 million. Mauro said the settlement was arrived at after the Encroachment Division of his agency discovered the Texas City company had illegally built and operated a terminal switching and pipeline operation on 106.76 acres of state coast land.

Mauro said the recovery is the largest encroachment settlement in the history of the state.

"The discrepancy was discovered after I ordered an encroachment inventory of the Texas Gulf Coast," Mauro said of the historic settlement. "We were able to show Texas City Terminal officials aerial photos and surveying reports that clearly established the coastal shoreline that is the boundary between private and state lands. Their only real question to us was 'who do you want the check made out to?'"

The encroachment on state land occurred, Mauro said, when Texas City Terminal expanded its existing railway transport facility on to filled land that, unknown to them, belonged to the state. Portions of this formerly submerged land had been filled with dredge material over a 70-year period but the state still retained title under a law that gives the state title to all submerged land off its coast for nearly 10 miles into the Gulf of Mexico.

The agreement calls for Texas City Terminal to put $2.5 million into an escrow account, then use it to buy four tracts totaling about 400 acres for the state. Mauro said the land swap was necessary because state law prohibits the sale of public lands but does allow them to be traded for other real estate. After Texas City Terminal obtains the four tracts, the tracts would be traded to the state in return for clear title to the 106.76 acres. The state would retain mineral rights to the formerly submerged lands.

Mauro said the negotiations were still underway for the purchase of the state's new land and that the tracts under consideration were located in the Austin-San Antonio corridor and near Port Aransas and Corpus Christi. The approximately 400 acres of land the state will receive will be leased commercially, netting the state a 10 to 12 percent return annually on its investment.

Mauro created the Encroachment Division within the Land Office when he took office in January of 1983 in order to see that the state's land was being used properly.

"This is real similar to the case of a family who always leaves town for the summer," Mauro said. "Once they are gone, all the neighborhood kids start using that yard for a playground. If that family is gone long enough, the wear and tear on the yard might take the shape of a baseball diamond. Before long, if no one is there to complain, someone could add bases, bleachers and lights."

Mauro said he doesn't believe anyone, individual or company, sets out to intentionally take state land.

"In the past the state has just been the family that always left for the summer but we have never come back," Mauro said. "But all that is going to change now."

"This settlement is in line with my commitment to implement aggressive policies for the General Land Office that produce the maximum revenue possible for the Permanent School Fund while ensuring the protection of our natural resources," Mauro said.

Production Credit Association gather for annual conference

Bill Black, president of Plainview Production Credit Association, was among Farm Credit officials throughout Texas who gathered in Austin for the 1984 Annual PCA Presidents Conference, March 1-2.

According to Black, the meeting serves as a place for PCA presidents to exchange ideas and gather information on the status of the Tenth Farm Credit District. Presentation revolved around the theme, "Where are we? Where are we going?"

Sessions included a micro computer workshop, techniques for improving growth, image and professionalism and an update on Project 1995.

Project 1995 is a nation-wide study being conducted by the Farm Credit System to assess its operating environment in the 1990s. Results will provide a basis for strategic planning in each of the 12 Farm Credit districts.

Plainview PCA is a member-owned agricultural finance cooperative which serves the credit needs of 1,218 farmers and ranchers in Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Parmer, and Swisher counties.

Plainview PCA is one of 29 PCAs in Texas. Collectively they serve more than 15,000 agricultural producers and aquatic harvesters. Last year over $2 billion was loaned through Texas PCAs.

PCAs have been a source of agricultural loans since 1933. Nationally they serve the credit needs of almost 341,000 farmers, ranchers, and commercial fishermen, and with more than $19 billion in loans outstanding.

Reduce tax burden by filing for exemptions

Texas homeowners can reduce their tax burden by filing for homestead exemptions.

"Taxpayers can claim a home, including a mobile home, that they owned and used as a principal residence on January 1 as a residence homestead," says Dr. Don Stebbins, real estate specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "By claiming their home as a homestead, taxpayers are entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes."

In addition, other exemptions may be available, by local option, from other taxing jurisdictions, adds the specialist.

"To ensure that they benefit from available exemptions, homeowners must file a claim by May 1 of the taxable year," Stebbins says. "However, once an exemption is granted by the appraisal district, it remains in effect as long as the property qualifies."

Claims can be filed on forms available from the taxpayers' appraisal district office. However, the office of almost any local taxing jurisdiction in the county can provide information on homestead exemption claims, adds Stebbins.

The specialist also advises taxpayers 65 or older or disabled on January 1 to file for other exemptions. Homeowners in these categories are automatically entitled to at least an additional $10,000 exemption.

School district taxes cannot be increased for taxpayers 65 or older who have qualified their property for available exemptions, adds Stebbins.

"Another form of tax relief available to older taxpayers is that they can postpone paying all property taxes on their residence homestead by filing an affidavit with their chief appraiser each year," Stebbins points out. "However, all postponed taxes, penalties and accrued interest must be paid when the property is sold or transferred by gift or as part of an estate."

By Mrs. J.E. Green

Sunday was a cold, foggy day. When our bus arrived we found we were the first in the auditorium. No Paynes in sight. Soon people came straggling in. A new girl at the piano. This is Spring Break. They had gone on vacation. We prayed for the Paynes safe return. They were to visit in Dallas, then fly to Alaska we were told. The leaders prepared for the opening service. We had a good service anyway. I did not learn the preacher's name.

It was still foggy and cold. A time in the afternoon to be grateful for a cozy fireside.

I have just heard from Mrs. Amelia Ashton of the Lockney Rest Home. She evidently gets around like many more - in a wheelchair. Let us visit her when we can and remember her and all the sick in our prayers.

And please forgive me for forgetting to say thank you in last week's news to
