GREGG TAYLOR is going to attend the same school that Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach attended. Nope, Gregg's not going to Navy—Roger also went to New Mexico Military Institute, where Gregg has signed to play football next fall. While attending NMMI (in 1960), Staubach made the NJCAA All-America second team and the Junior College Grid Wire Selections All-America first team.

ALL CBERS don't monitor Channel one-nine all the time—north of Lockney on FM 378, run on channel five. Channel five's also the place to rouse somebody on FM 788 from Lone Star to Providence, and around Sterley, you might try channel 13. Lockney police and fire departments talk on channel two, but please don't interrupt them with "channel one-nine ratchet-jawing"—they usually have something important to say when they're on the air.

IT SEEMS THERE WERE five passengers aboard a chartered plane—President Jimmy Carter, Ex-President Gerald Ford, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, an elderly Catholic priest and a young hippy. The plane developed engine trouble and when it became apparent that it would crash, the pilot announced there were only five parachutes aboard. Strapping one of them on, he told the five they would have to decide among themselves who would get the other four parachutes and thereupon bailed out.

Carter said, "Natcheryly, ah HAVE to live since ah'm the president of the United States." He took a parachute and jumped.

Gerald Ford said "There's always the possibility that I will be needed for advice" and did likewise. Kissinger, declaring "I am de smartest man in de world and have to live," did the same.

The priest turned to the hippy and said "Don't worry, son. I'm old and I've lived my life. The remaining parachute is yours." But the hippy type smiled and replied, "Oh, we're alright, Father. The smartest man in the world just jumped off the plane with my backpack."

School Staff Rehired

Lockney Independent School District trustees approved hiring of the school staff for next year during the March school board meeting Monday night. The school board accepted a bid for repairing and refinishing the school gymnasium floor, voted to call for bids on school-owned property near the elementary school, and okayed dismissing school at 3 p.m. today (Thursday, March 10) because of the Interscholastic League meet (Lockney schools are hosting the UIL meet this year). School will also be dismissed at 3 p.m. April 8, the Friday before Easter.

The school trustees voted to rehire all regular classroom teachers and aides, coaches, federal employees (subject to approval of funds), and secretaries, and voted to recommend rehiring of Plan "A" staff. (Actual hiring of Plan "A" staff is done by the Floydada school district.) Two resignations were accepted, effective at the end of the 1976-77 school year.

Witt Builders Supply of Amarillo submitted the low bid for repairing and refinishing the gym floor. That bid ($3642) was accepted by the board. The repair work is to be done during the summer.

Trustees voted to adopt textbooks for next year, as recommended by the local textbook committee.

Superintendent John Peck reported that several high-school students had requested formation of a UIL golf team next year. The board did not feel the school athletic program could be expanded.

Peck, along with school board president Tom Duvall, and school tax assessor Jack Samford, were authorized to go to Austin to work on legislation regarding school finance. All trustees were present Monday night.

Bennett, right, Adkins prepare hog for show

Show competitors see no male chauvinism

By CAROL BARNES
Post Reporter

There may be a lot of pigs at the Houston Livestock Show, but very few are male chauvinists.

"All you see here is good friendly competition between the girls and the boys. They all work closely together and always have," said an official at the junior division livestock show at the Astrohall.

AND A SURVEY among a few of the estimated 650 girls and 12,500 boys entering their animals in competition confirmed that observation.

"All the guys out here are friendly. We all help each other, said Rhonda Bennett, an 18-year-old from Floydada who is entering a pig.

One of Bennett's opponents, Mike Adkins, 18, of Plainview, said, "It's quite nice having girls around here. The more the merrier."

Kaka Buregel, a 14-year-old from Dimmitt, said there's "more competition between towns than between boys and girls." Everybody gets in the picture and no one gets jealous of anybody.

Buregel remembered once a boy helped her wash down her pig to get ready for showing. "Sometimes they'll stand on the sidelines during the show and give us support." Jacky Fulton, 15, said women competitors don't bother him. "They can do just as good a job as I can. But I've never been beaten by a girl."

CINDY SHULACK, a seventh grader from Orchard, said she hadn't noticed the boys treating the girls any different. "There's not any difference in the competition."

Seth Kaplan, 11, of Bracketville, observed that more girls are competing in the stock show this year. "I think it's just fine. They put just as much effort as we do. Most of the guys think the same way I do."

In the past two years, Kaplan said his lamb has beaten girls' lambs in about 20 showings. "But they've beaten me just as many."

Don Jackson, 13, of Mullin, said he thought girls gave the event more competition. "Judges kind of favor girls."

But after thinking a moment, he said, "Girls can show just like everybody else."

An official at the livestock show said, "Girls are able to compete as well as we men and probably excel in leadership." He said girls have shown the grand champion steer four of the last 10 years.

TAES economist compares costs of sprinkle, furrow irrigation

LUBBOCK — Increasing numbers of circle or center pivot irrigation rigs are dotting the vast farmlands of the Texas High Plains, and in some cases are replacing the more conventional method of furrow irrigation. The reasons — timely applications, less water use and reduced labor costs.

Marvin Sartin, farm management economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in a speech before the Western Cotton Production Conference in Lubbock, said sprinkler irrigation has some slight economic and conservation advantages over furrow irrigation. He cautioned, however, that very little comparative data on yield response to the two systems is available.

"The majority of the Texas High Plains is traditionally irrigated by furrow applications," Sartin told the gathering of several hundred cotton industry officials. "The sandier soils and areas with undulating or sloping topography have had to use sprinkler systems. But as water supplies decline and labor becomes more difficult to find, many furrow irrigators are becoming interested in the potentials of sprinklers."

Sartin said that cotton is a relatively drought tolerant crop. Much of the cotton, 45 per cent of the Plains acreage, is produced without supplemental irrigation, and a significant part that is classified as irrigated may only receive some water sometime during the year.

With limitations on irrigation supplies, most furrow irrigators place cotton irrigation priorities on a preplant irrigation to store moisture in the soil, and, if possible, a good irrigation just prior to peak bloom, he said. If the summer is especially dry, sometimes another irrigation pays. Sprinkler applications usually consist of more frequent, lighter irrigations. However, the total water use for summer irrigations in cotton is probably not very different with the two distribution systems.

Labor availability and quality are also important considerations affecting the decision between distribution systems, Sartin said. Furrow irrigation requires about five times more labor hours than does a center pivot sprinkler used on only one circle per growing season. Because reliable farm labor is difficult to locate and is becoming more expensive, a large reduction in irrigation labor requirements weighs heavily in the decision process, he added.

"Center pivot sprinklers on the Plains have traditionally been associated with farms that could not efficiently irrigate with furrows," the economist reported. "More recently, some shifts to pivots have occurred where more moisture sensitive crops are produced. However, recent cost calculations indicate that relatively small increases in cotton yields could justify the shift to center pivot sprinklers."

"Cost calculations for different irrigation systems require definitions of particular resource situations," he added. "Because the irrigation water resource is highly variable, the identification of a typical or average situation is impossible. An individual owner should consider his particular resource situation on the farm and his financial position."

Sartin said the most usual decision faced by Plains farmers would involve an established furrow distribution system with the alternative of converting to sprinklers. The equipment required to convert

Get Your Boat Ready For Spring!

LUBBOCK Those early bird boaters manage to get out on the water well ahead of spring by starting now on launching preparations.

Taking care of properly outfitting a boat and being sure of good mechanical operation is important but, getting caught up on paperwork could be number one on the list of things to do.

A check of the boats' registration will show if it is valid. In Texas, a certificate of number or facsimile thereof must always be aboard and available for inspection by an enforcement officer when the motorboat is in operation on public waters. The certificate is valid until the expiration date shown on the card.

When you renew the certificate, the same number shall be issued, if you apply to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department within the 90-day period preceding the expiration date. All motorboats regardless of length or horsepower are required by law to register if operated on public waters in Texas. This same certificate of number will be honored by other states for different lengths of time if you boat on their state waters.

The number awarded to your motorboat must be painted, decal, or otherwise affixed to both sides of the bow of the boat in such a position as to provide easy identification. The numbers must be at least three inches in height, and must be of a color that contrasts with the background.

The validation decal must be affixed on a line and three inches aft of the registration number.

The Texas certificate of title law, which became effective Jan. 1, 1976, is for all new/unregistered motorboats in excess of 14 feet in length, and new/unregistered outboard motors in excess of 12 horsepower.

An owner of a new boat less than 14 feet in length and/or a new outboard motor less than 12 horsepower is not required to title, but may title if owner so desires.

Title applications, available at boat dealers and P&WD offices, and manufacturers statement of origin must accompany a request for boat registration for new boats and outboard motors.

The title fee for each boat or outboard motor is $2 and a registration transfer fee is $1. Applications for transfer of title and ownership must be filed not later than 15 days from date of purchase.

Insurance policies and the status of guarantees can save the day if the boater becomes involved in an accident or a piece of machinery fails to operate.

If your boat is not safe -- you are not safe. Check the following items; bow lights, properly placed registration numbers, protective edging or fenders, clean bilge (no rags, etc), good ventilation, proper type gas tank (s), proper size motor (see capacity plate on your boat), and white stern light.

Remember that equipment needs will vary depending on the type and size boat and a thorough understanding of the P&WD pamphlet "A Digest of the Texas Water Safety Act" will insure legal and safe operations.

Take along common sense when trailering your boat and check on the current trailering regulations.

Unloading your boat into the water as well as removing your boat from the water, can be tricky. Find out how it is done before you attempt it.

Keep a sharp lookout for other boats, swimmers, fishermen, skiers, divers and bad weather. Observing the rules of safe boating will insure an enjoyable season on the water.

W. H. Furrow will observe his 93rd birthday on March 23rd and four of his six children plan to be here for the observance, and to also visit their mother, Olla, who is in the Floydada Nursing Home.

Born in Illinois, Mr. Furrow was 19 and his sweetheart 16 when they married 74 years ago in Alva, Oklahoma. Mr. Furrow recalls their first days were spent in a wagon yard in Alva. They moved to Floyd 67 years ago and he farmed in McCoy and other area communities before moving into Floydada.

Mr. Furrow is still active and able to do for himself, but his wife has been in failing health several months, requiring the move to the nursing home.

The Furrows' children planning to be here for his birthday are daughters, Mrs. Newell (Edna) Golden, 73, the eldest, Mrs. Bill (Stella) Whitehead and Mrs. Bud (Elvina) Short all of Amarillo and R. T. Furrow of Lubbock. Two sons, Jay of Independence, Kansas, and Dick of San Diego, California, will be unable to be here.

IF anyone tells you brides and weddings are going out of style—he, she or it will have to tread that out with a lilt-voiced lady called Monica Hickey who presides over one of the country's most elegant bridal salons, at Bergdorf Goodman in New York. The salon has never been busier. People come from all over the country to be fitted for the exquisite designs. A preview of the collection for the spring-summer bride includes a memorable selection of lace, organza and cotton. There isn't a ragged trouser leg among the designs.

The collection begins with an ethnic note — wedding dresses "handmade in Mexico with love." These romantic cotton dresses are deep in lace and tucking and worn with wreaths of baby's-breath, or hair bows with ribbons fluttering down the back.... Shades of Emily Dickinson or some other romantic lady who made life one long poem.

To accent the unabashedly feminine aspects of the collection there were even dresses for the Garden Wedding, complete with matching picture hats. And for the traditional bride — such dream confections as French Calais lace traced with pearls — so light it weighs only five ounces. And another in ivory Brussels lace with matching turn-of-the-century lace picture hat, a silk bow streaming down to the hem of the gown.

Ah! It's a hard heart that wouldn't weep at a wedding that included such as these — and apparently the country is ready to cry at weddings again for Miss Hickey is finding it hard to keep up with the demand for an old-fashioned wedding by the new fashion contingent.

THE strange rewards of vigilance can often be seen in the files of the U.S. Customs Service. These include: Customs officers in Miami, Florida, have been seizing Chinese fortune cookies which have $100 bills baked inside them, and appear to be the latest twist in Jamaican currency smuggling; At Blue Water Bridge, Port Huron, Michigan, they seized 31,920 pounds of fruit-cocktail, worth $11,290 when they discovered it in a railway car listed as "empty." The question is where will they find the appropriate sized salad bowl?; Customs officers in Philadelphia had little time to lie back and rest despite their recent seizure of 16,200 pieces of chaise lounges which had been improperly marked as to country of origin; There will be no more flying in the face of Customs laws for one Canadian shipper. Customs officers in Noyes, Minnesota, seized 800 kites, made in Japan, and 618 kite spools with cord, produced in India, when they discovered the goods falsely labeled as "U.S. merchandise." The shipment was valued at $3,612; Customs officers in New Haven, Connecticut, seized a polar bear skin valued at $8,000, and a 1974 Oldsmobile, worth $3,000 in which the skin was smuggled back to the U.S. from Canada; Customs officers at JFK International Airport, New York, seized 306 girdles valued at $8,056. The girdles had been entered on an informal entry—valued at $50—which was stretching it a bit Chocolate brownies are an American invention and loved from coast to coast. This recipe makes a rich, "fudgy" treat, fragrant with cinnamon to enhance the chocolate flavor. As a bonus, it's very easily made.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Faye Walters
By Faye Walters

Wind and more wind seems to be what we will be having for awhile. But after all it is March and this is West Texas.

We did not get to take our field trip Wednesday because of the weather. This is two weeks in a row we couldn't go. Maybe next week will be pretty as the residents are getting tired of staying inside.

We have all enjoyed great blessings from the devotions this week, and we thank everyone who took part in them.

We have a new resident, Lola Grider (Granny). She is a dear sweet lady and we hope she will like it here.

We are sorry Gordon Apple is in the hospital. Hope he will be home soon. Also Mark Jordan has had to return to the hospital over the weekend. Cleta Bradshaw is still there where she has been for several weeks. We pray they will all be home real soon.

We sure hated to see Della Finley go to Lubbock. But we hope the doctor there can help her. She has been here with us so long she was one of the family. She will be missed so much by all the staff and other residents.

Thursday was bingo day and everyone had such a good time playing. The top winner was Clara Williamson with 4 games; Ray Reed, Hope Hammonds, and Hallie Bertrand all won 3 games each.

We would like to thank the Chamber of Commerce for the beautiful flower arrangement and corsages. The residents really enjoyed them.

We appreciate every visitor we had this week which included Sue Moore, Mrs. Geo. Wexler, Alma Ruth Nelson, Emogene Stansell, Mrs. Paul Wilson, Otis and Dorothy Anderson, Parnell Powell, Christine Robertson, Dessie Turner, Thelma Jones, Christeen Smith, Roxie Covey, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Vellie McNeill all of Floydada; and Josephine and Verdie Smith, Lockney.

This group meets the first Wednesday of each month in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist, and any interested persons are invited to attend.

Marriage Of Jamie Kay James Announced

Mrs. Raldo James of Floydada announces the marriage of her daughter, Jamie Kay, to Donald Wayne Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Buel Bradford of Plainview. The couple was married January 4, 1977 in El Paso and is presently making their home in Carlsbad, New Mexico.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Floydada High School and is a hair designer. Her husband, a 1968 graduate of Plainview High School, attended John Tarlton College in Stevenville, and is a pipeline.

Girl Scout Week March 6-12

Some 6,000 girls and adult leaders in the Caprock Girl Scout Council are observing their 65th anniversary during Girl Scout Week, March 6-12.

Floydada Girl Scouts began one day early with their annual Father-Daughter banquet Saturday night, and will conclude the week's observance by attending church together at the First United Methodist Church on Girl Scout Sunday, March 13.

Unique as a voluntary girls' organization, Girl Scouting links girls worldwide within the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in 94 countries. There are 2,723,000 girls in the U.S.A. who are members, or one out of every eight girls.

The Caprock Girl Scout Council was chartered in 1957 and serves 18 counties throughout the South Plains area. The service center is located at 2567 - 74th Street in Lubbock.

The annual cookie sale, just concluded, provides proceeds for program and for camp maintenance and development. The council has two camps - Camp Rio Blanco near Crosbyton and Camp Haynes near Silverton, and summer day camping is offered at 14 sites in the council.

Mrs. Buster Owens, Littlefield, president of the council, has announced that service units will celebrate the week with special events. The theme will be "Girl Scouts Together."

A Girl Scout luncheon for adults will be held at 12 noon on Friday, March 11, at the service center. Reservations may be made by calling the center.

On Saturday, March 12, older Girl Scouts and interested men and women will take a two-day backpack trip on property once a part of the XIT ranch in Northwest Texas.

Caprock Hospital Auxiliary Discusses Money Raising Projects

Caprock Hospital Auxiliary met Monday morning in the dining room of the hospital and discussed several money raising projects. The projects will be voted on at a called meeting when the finance committee secures additional information for the auxiliary.

Members also discussed the new hospital equipment that will be purchased later through money raising projects, donation, memorials, and honorariums.

Mrs. Bill Smith, auxiliary president, presided over the business session and Mrs. Emma Lou Whitaker gave the treasurer report.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Bill Smith, C. B. Carmack, Nile Bryant, Bill Tye, Terry James, Dallas Ramsey, Ian Moore, Emma Lou Whitaker, Nancy Noiland and Mrs. C. W. Jones.

Next meeting will be Monday, April 4th. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome.

are expected to "register more than their normal seasonal rise this winter and spring," because of sharply higher prices of fresh vegetables and coffee. Officials said, however, that abundant supplies of meat, milk and other items will help hold down total grocery bills.

"The severe cold this winter has already taken its toll on the winter fruit and vegetable crops, as well as on general economic activity," it said.

Despite a record citrus crop still in prospect, the freeze in Florida has reduced the yield of juice from last season. Officials said, further, that fresh vegetable prices this winter are expected to be up about 20 per cent from a year ago.

Retail prices in food stores in the first quarter may average around two per cent above the fourth quarter of last year, in part a seasonal rise, and also about two per cent above the first quarter of 1976," the report said.

Some further increases are likely during the summer if meat supplies decline seasonally as expected and consumer demand rises in line with improving economic conditions.

Five club members were asked to take cakes to the schools and administrative office this week to show their appreciation to the teachers. A discussion was also held on the performing of another melodrama during the Old Settler's Day celebration May 28th.

Doug Frazier, Chamber of Commerce manager, met with the club and gave a brief account on the development and improvements of the city parks.

Free Safety Inspection Available

COLLEGE STATION--Farmers and ranchers who want to assure that their operations meet the standards of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) can get a free on-site inspection.

According to Jack L. Jones, resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, such an inspection may be requested from the Texas Department of Health Resources (TDHR). He suggests writing or calling Walter Martin, Texas Department of Health Resources, Occupational Safety Division, 1100 West 49th St., Austin 78756; 512/454-3781.

Jones points out that OSHA is the federal agency that oversees the health and safety standards of business including large farms and ranches. Still fines may be assessed to those not complying with OSHA regulations.

"A 'no charge' inspection by someone from the TDHR is a good way to get your operation

Jones notes that the free inspection service provided by the TDHR has been quite popular. Requests have been so numerous that there is a three-month wait before an inspection can be made.

Retail Food Prices Could Rise 3-5%

WASHINGTON - Family grocery bills may go up more than expected this year because of drought; severe winter weather and soaring coffee prices, according to the Agriculture Department.

Overall, 1977 retail food prices may rise three to five per cent from last year's average, the department's Outlook and Situation Board said. Earlier, USDA experts predicted a rise of three to four per cent.

"Drought conditions so far this season increased uncertainties for 1977 crops," the report said. "Short crops could push average prices to the upper end of the forecast range with year end prices perhaps substantially higher than a year earlier."

On the other hand, if farmers get "favorable weather this spring and through the remainder of the year, food prices in most of 1977 will remain fairly stable, the board said.

Last year, following an 8.5 per cent increase in 1975 and annual increases of 14.5 per cent in 1973 and 1974, retail food costs rose only three per cent. Bumper crops and a cooling off of inflation were mainly responsible.

For the present, food prices

World cotton prices begin upward move

WASHINGTON (AP) — World cotton prices have gone up recently in response to generally tight supplies, the International Cotton Advisory Committee said Friday.

Following a period of relative stability during the first five months of the season, cotton prices dropped significantly in January, the committee said. "However, the weakness in prices was short-lived and during recent weeks cotton quotations have recovered to their earlier levels."

The committee represents cotton producing and consuming countries. It said that current indications are that the world cotton acreage will ex-

YF President

In Indiana

Calvin Shelton, Silverton Young Farmer member and president of the Texas Young Farmer Association, recently journeyed to Indianapolis, Indiana, for the 16th annual Indiana Young Farmer Conference held February 24-26.

Shelton attended all the general sessions and on Saturday morning brought greetings from the Texas Young Farmers.

On Friday and Saturday evenings banquets were held to recognize award winners and featured special guest speakers, including Dr. Tim Stivers, Louisville, Kentucky, and past National FFA Secretary Mike Jackson, a student at Purdue University.

The other out-of-state visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lanier, Twin City, Georgia, representing the Georgia Young Farmer Association.

Shelton and the Laniers enjoyed a short tour of the Indianapolis 500 Speed Way during their visit to the state conference.

and again in 1977-78, depending on cotton's prices in relation with other crops.

Farm prices of U.S. upland cotton averaged 64.4 cents a pound last month, up from 62.3 in January and 51.7 cents in February of 1976, the Agriculture Department reported earlier this week.

More Public Works Money For Texas

COLLEGE STATION — More federal money for public works programs should soon be available to Texas, says a resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Passage of new legislation is virtually assured by early March that would make an additional $120 million available to Texas cities and other public entities that have unemployment greater than 6.5 per cent," points out Jack Jones. "This money would be a part of an additional $4 billion to be authorized nationally to cities, counties and other special purpose public bodies with high unemployment."

Texas already received some $60 million from the Economic Development Administration in January that funded public works programs in 59 Texas cities, counties and special districts

The Floyd Philosopher Takes A Sidelong Glance At Statistics On Cheap Hand Guns Used In Crime

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm examines some statistics this week, more or less.

Dear editor: How to interpret statistics is an art a lot of people haven't mastered, and the best way for a scientist for example to get his name in the paper is to announce that his experiments show that something we've all been consuming for years is harmful to rats in his laboratory, although it doesn't seem to bother rats on the outside; they keep right on multiplying and thriving on our leftovers.

What brought this to mind were some statistics I read on the use of hand guns in crime. According to the figures, only 16 per cent of guns confiscated by the police when they apprehended criminals were the cheap "Saturday Night Specials," the rest were expensive models, like Colt and Smith & Wesson.

This, an analysis by experts concluded, proves that banning the manufacture and sale of Saturday Night Specials would have rather small effect in curbing crime.

The expert who figured that out may not be able to see the facts for the statistics. He may not understand the American way of crime. He may not know you have to crawl before you can walk.

I mean, starting out in crime may be like starting out in business. Most of the time, unless your father owns the plant or, in the case of crime, runs the gang, you have to start on a shoestring.

Sure, it's nice, in the case of business, to start out as a vice president of the company, and, in crime, with a brand new Smith & Wesson revolver, but the ordinary American youngster has no such headstart.

Therefore, if you've chosen crime as your profession, about the best you can manage at the start is a cheap Saturday Night Special, and then gradually work your way up to the better pistols. Oh, you can start with a butcher knife, but you've got to be mighty ambitious to try it.

Now as everybody knows, about two-thirds of the criminals practicing their profession these days have already been convicted a time or two and are out on bond, or parole, or were declared rehabilitated and released from prison. Gary Gilmore was out on parole.

So to go further into those statistics showing only 16 per cent of the crimes were committed with cheap guns, those experts ought to find out how many first crimes were pulled off with them. As a man advances in his profession and accumulates capital, naturally he acquires better and better equipment.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

"PIONEER® brand seeds sure pay off around here!"

ROGER POAGE

Pioneer brand seeds are winning hands down against all comers in this part of the country. They keep setting yield and test weight records for a lot of farmers, and that's the name of the game.

Take Pioneer brand corn. 3369A is a medium-maturity hybrid grown on more acres around the Southwest than any other variety and with good reason . . . profit. Pioneer 3780 is a new corn hybrid that has come on strong as an early variety with big yields at high plant level. It's about 11 to 13 days ahead of 3369A.

And, enough can't be said about Pioneer brand 8311 grain sorghum. This great hybrid makes full use of the growing season and yields big consistently, even when weather and disease threaten.

We'd like to visit with you farmers about your seed requirements. But whether you're ready to buy your seed or not, stop in soon and get your free Pioneer Hi-Bred cap.

State's Game Increases

AUSTIN—Texas' game populations have gone from a time of plenty during the 19th century to one of shortages in the first half of the 20th century and back to relative abundance in the past 36 years.

Earliest official state records at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department date back to 1852 and indicate wild game in Texas was abundant at that time.

However, in 1884, the state Fish Commissioner in his annual report complained of a growing shortage of game and fish in all areas of the state except South Texas.

Protection seemed to be the key to wildlife abundance, and the first general game law was passed in 1879. The first special game law for Galveston Island was passed in 1860, but apparently, little heed was paid to such game and fish regulations until 1923 when the warden force was increased to 45. At that time little or no thought was given to the biology of a species of its habitat.

But perhaps the single most important law relating to wildlife was passed without fanfare in 1925. The shooting preserve law gave Texas landowners an opportunity to benefit economically from game species ranging on their property. The public demand for hunting opportunities and profits to be derived from leasing rights prompted landowners to provide game broodstock protection from overharvesting.

A comparison of early reports and recent information on game populations and annual harvest shows most game species have increased in Texas since 1930. And in the case of antelope, aoudad, mule and white-tailed deer and turkey, most of the increases in numbers and expansion of range are directly attributed to Parks and Wildlife Department programs.

White-tailed deer have increased through trapping and transplanting, education of the public and protection programs designed to promote both population expansion and harvest. Some 26,000 whitetails have been trapped and moved in Texas.

Texas now leads the nation in the number of Rio Grande turkeys after more than 10,000 of the birds have been trapped and transplanted. The eastern turkey was all but extirpated from East Texas by 1945 when only some 100 birds were reported. In 1977 the first sprint turkey season is set for two counties as the result of restocking programs.

Pronghorn antelope numbers were extremely low before a restoration program was started in 1939. In a five-year period between 1939 and 1944, some 1,600 antelope were relocated and the work has continued since that time.

Educational programs and stringent controls on hunting have increased antelope to a total of 10,000 in the Trans-Pecos and Panhandle regions of Texas. Ring-necked pheasants were almost nonexistent in Texas during the early 1930s. By 1976 the estimated harvest of the birds in the Texas Panhandle amounted to 24,000. Texas also had its first pheasant season in the relands of Liberty and Matagorda Counties in January 1977 as a result of Parks and Wildlife transplanting work.

Wildlife research has contributed to extended seasons on quail, waterfowl, turkey and white-tailed deer. The quail season has been doubled, a spring turkey season has been set for some 45 counties, a special teal season has been set for September and the white-tailed deer season has been increased with bag limits of three deer in some regions.

This same field research has shown that both sexes of whitetails should be properly harvested. Since 1953, more than one million antlerless deer have been taken by permit over a large portion of Texas' deer range.

Triumphs Of American Ingenuity

The next time you shop for food, you might reflect on how you would have had to go about it 100 years ago.

For one thing, you'd have had to visit several shops.

At the grocer's, you might get some cheese, but it would have been sold in chunks off huge wheels protected by cheese cloth bandages and wax. After the grocer cut off your order, he might have left the remainder of the cheese to become rummy and hard as it rapidly dried out. The grocer had difficulty in keeping the cheese sanitary and preventing his clerks and prospective customers from sampling it.

You'd have had to bake it yourself, or else go to the bakery for your bread, and then bring it home whole, in unsliced loaves carried under your arm, exposed to the elements.

For fresh meat or poultry, you'd have had to go to the butcher, and hurry your purchases home wrapped in brown paper or newspaper. You could only get fish or seafood if there was a fish seller in town since mechanically refrigerated or frozen food was unknown—only iced products reached markets.

A century ago, it was difficult to find food that was both fresh and clean. But science devised ways to protect food and to protect people from bad foods.

Since, until 1928, it was believed that freezing ruined vegetables, you'd have had to get them "fresh" if any were in season, and if you could use them rapidly.

All this was not only time-consuming, it could be expensive. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, before the introduction of pre-packaged foods the cost of fresh fruit and vegetables doubled every time they changed hands between the farmer and the consumer because of loss and spoilage.

In addition, perishable foods couldn't be kept as long once they were brought home, so a lot of food money was wasted.

Fortunately, American technology has changed all that. Refrigeration was developed for home storage and for shipping food to market; machines were devised that sliced and wrapped bread, and experiments were done to determine what kind of wraps kept bread fresh longest.

Cellophane was devised, and in 1931 scientists developed a unique new material that combined cellophane with coatings that resulted in a transparent wrap offering food excellent protection. It was readily adaptable to mechanical application. Later, polyethylene and other films were developed to enhance food protection.

Today, a whole variety of flexible packaging materials helps food stay fresher longer. It keeps the food from being handled in the store and keeps products from shrinking, shriveling or spoiling. When pre-packaging of food is combined with refrigeration, it can save half and more of the usual distribution loss on many items, save labor costs and lengthen the shelf life of many foods.

Today's packaging covers everything from soup to nuts in food, and a lot outside that. It can keep dry milk dry, condiments moist, oxygen-hating cheese fresh and oxygen-needing goldfish alive and well.

It's used in hardware and department stores to keep things that should be sold together, together, and to keep things that must be clean, clean.

When you wrap it up, it appears that the right kind of packaging not only protects contents but adds to our contentment.

Little Known Facts About Prunes

Although the United States is the world's largest prune producer, few Americans really know much about that old wrinkle on the plum.

Only those plums that have such firm flesh and such a high sugar content that they can be dried with small loss of flavor can become prunes.

Plums as we know them are not native to the United States. They were brought here by the early colonists from Europe, where they had been known since prehistoric times. Today, however, while dozens of varieties are cultivated in the United States, Europe has only three or four varieties.

The plums that usually become prunes are Agen plums. They were introduced to California by a Frenchman, Pierre Pellier, in 1856 and named after a district in France known for its prunes.

Prunes are a nutritious food. They are a source of iron, phosphorus and magnesium. The pulp of prunes is used as food for infants, and people of all ages find prunes delicious in many forms, stewed, as a dessert or as juice. Prune juice can be pretty prune-full. One even has 10 percent more prune solids in it than the government requires. And this juice, Super Mott's Prune Juice, has vitamin C added to it.

Before they become prunes, the ripe plums are shaken off the trees, washed and placed in trays for drying either in the sun or in special dehydrators. They are inspected, graded and sterilized before being packed and sold.

It would appear you certainly don't have to be plum crazy to enjoy prunes.

POLITICAL SYMBOLS HAVE INTERESTING ORIGIN

Whether you're a Republican or a Democrat you may be surprised to know how your political party got its symbol.

The Republican elephant first appeared in an 1874 Harper's Weekly cartoon by Thomas Nast. But the elephant didn't become a Republican overnight. According to The World Book Encyclopedia, Nast used the elephant as a Republican symbol many times before it came to stand for the Republican party.

The donkey was first used as a political symbol by Andrew Jackson after his opponents called him a "jackass" during the 1828 election. By the 1880s, Thomas Nast's cartoons had caught the public eye and established the donkey as the symbol of the Democratic Party.

Local Residents Take Part In Lutheran Consultation

KANSAS CITY, MO. More than 100 concerned Lutherans developed several suggestions that would lead to establishing a world grain reserve program to help feed the world's hungry.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Brandes of Trinity Lutheran Church, Route 1, Lockney, Texas were among those taking in a two-day (March 3-4) consultation on "World Grain Reserves and U.S. Farmers" sponsored by the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church in America. The participants, most of them farmers from 15-grain producing states, heard agricultural, government and church leaders express opinions on approaches to international food security.

A summary statement was developed after extended discussions in small group sessions. This will be shared with appropriate church agencies in an attempt to sensitize members of the two churches to the concerns and to convey these to legislators and government departments that will be deliberating legislation on grain reserves in 1977.

The statement declares "We are people who produce food for use in the United States and throughout the world. We are Christians concerned that the food we grow be part of healing a hungry world. We would like to see combined our humanitarian concern for the world's hungry and the need to increase economic incentives for U.S. farmers. We expect that U.S. reserves will be established, and we want that process to have strong input from food producers."

The sponsoring churches, which have a combined membership of more than 5 million in North America, have been conducting world hunger appeals for 29 months. They have channeled $9.5 million to aiding the hungry of the world for direct aid and for preparing educational resources that would induce further efforts to alleviate hunger.

Church) and the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall of New York City (Lutheran Church in America) -spoke of the church's deep concern for combatting hunger and human injustices in worship segments of the consultation.

Dr. Preus said "our responsibilities in the church now extend to the end of the earth" and asked Lutherans to be "reasonable citizens." Dr. Marshall invited the participants to "look at the reason we work—not to be fed but because our life belongs to God and his spirit drives us to questions of hope not questions of doubt."

In response to questions, Dr. Kimmel and Fred McEl-downey of Washington, D.C. staff member of the Office of Food Policy and Programs of the U.S. State Department, said the Carter administration has indicated an attitude that will encourage grain reserve legislation.

Several participants agreed with Kathy Stephenson of Minneapolis, in the public affairs department of Cargill, Inc., grain exporter, who said there is need for "immediate action to boost local grain production in developing nations." At present 42 per cent of U.S. grain is exported.

Andrew Hahn, a rice farmer from Port Lavaca, Texas, received much support when he said farm prices must be increased so that grain farmers can depend on receiving more than production costs.

Knud Grosen of Big Sandy, Montana, said "the beef industry has gotten out of hand and turkey raisers are going bankrupt." Charles Walters of Kansas City, editor of "Aeres, U.S.A." commented "cheap prices in the fullness of time means hungry people."

Don Peterson, Ione, Oregon, farmer, said "small private enterprise must be allowed to work for the farmer and there are not a lot of us left, just about 3 per cent of the U.S. population."

Recommendations to the consultation were brought out in the small group discussions which dealt specifically with needs for grain reserves, how they should be held and the release of reserves.

Motley Hearing Date Set

MATADOR (Special) — District Judge George W. Miller Tuesday set Mar. 21 as the date for a pretrial hearing in the capital murder case against two men accused of slaying Motley County Sheriff Jalmar "Jinks" Wilson Nov. 12.

That hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in 110th District Court here.

On Monday, defendants Stacy Albert Carter, 25, of Olivia, N.C., and Larry C. Fortenberry, 28, of Mount Hermon, La., were re-indicted before a new grand jury here. Miller set bond for each man at $100,000 on two counts each.

Wilson, who was 49 days away from retirement when he and a companion came upon two men tampering with the license plates on the deputy's car, was shot-gunned to death.

The defendants are charged with attempted murder in connection with a threat to deputy John D. Rogers' life.

Lubbock attorneys John T. Montford and Mark C. Hall are the court-appointed lawyers for Carter, and Steve Hurt of Plainview is the court-appointed attorney for Fortenberry.

District Attorney Randy Hollums is scheduled to prosecute the case, assisted by special prosecutor Tom Hamilton of Plainview.

When a person enters the shared life of marriage, the right to have privacy should not be surrendered, advises Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University system.

Floydada Doctors Find Guatemala Recovering

By Wendell Tooley

Floydada doctors Charles Craig and Jack Jordan recently returned from an 11 day trip to Aquacatan, Guatemala where they represented the Flying Dentists Association, helping the people with their health and dental needs. While visiting with Dr. Craig he gave me a picture showing the homes that are now being built...an 8-1 cement block building with sheet metal roof, about 300 square feet with dirt floor.

If there should be another earthquake there will be no heavy tile roof to fall in upon the people.

Aquacatan is a town about the same size as Floydada, has two big evangelical and one Catholic church, one big school, no hospital, and one government nurse for medical care.

Dr. Craig saw 125 persons in four days, extracted an average of 100 teeth a day...there was no filling equipment, most of the work was extractions. "Dental chair was a high chair for the little ones and a sawed off chair with a head rest for the adults. The people are small...average weight of the men would be around 120...but they are pretty tough when it comes to having their teeth pulled," Dr. Craig said.

The doctors enjoyed better food and living conditions this trip...last year they were sleeping in bed rolls on a landing strip as they arrived about four days after the big earthquake.

This is the 12th trip to Central America for the two doctors. This was also the second trip for Floydada farmer Louis Lloyd. FHS teacher Jack McIntosh did not make the trip this year, but has previously made three or four. In the past they have worked in Mexico, Republic of Honduras and Panama Island.

The men again made the trip in their 1959 Bellanca plane, stopping nine times on the way down for refueling. "We had such a heavy load of supplies, we could not carry a full fuel load," Dr. Craig said.

The people of Aquacatan are "big farmers" with the average size of the farm 150' x 150'. They raise two crops of corn a year and two crops of garlic. The corn is for a living, the garlic they sell for money.

Of course a dentist never gives a patient the opportunity to talk anyway...but if they had talked to Dr. Craig, he would not have been able to understand them, as most speak a native Indian dialect...very little Spanish is spoken. Dr. Craig said missionaries from the Wycliff Bible Translators were available for interpreters and housing.

He said the people who had become Christian showed more personality, were more friendly. Most of the transportation was walking or by bus. Tops of the buses were reserved for pigs, chickens and farm produce.

Dr. Craig was very complimentary of the Dental School of Guatemala and says he looks forward to working with its students in the future.

Dr. and Mrs. Jordan are now in Africa for a three week tour. Dr. Jordan administered to the medical needs of the people while Dr. Craig worked with the tooth aches...Dr. Craig added that Louis Lloyd made a good dental assistant.

Through the Flying Dentist Assn. the doctors contribute their time and expenses in the interest of helping the people.

It was such a cold winter. The trees were stark, dead. The church looked old, tired. Spirits sagged.

Then, one day, there was a miracle. There were buds, swelling into flowers, the grass began to green, and the church seemed to straighten itself, thrusting the cross high toward the heavens.

Again, the promise had been fulfilled. Again, life began anew and hope stirred and somehow God seemed closer, even though actually He had been right there, all along.

Spring is a wonder time. A time for living, a time for loving. A very special time, for God and His Church.

PROTECTING AMERICA

Are We Selling Our Know-How?

If you asked an economist what lies at the foundation of America's world position (and high standard of living) the answer would most probably be it is our design and manufacturing know-how. Russia is richer in untapped resources, Europe has prolific scientists, and Asia has a billion workers. But in just 200 years, we've outdistanced them all, through the peculiar genius of Americans to turn laboratory dreams into realities.

Yet today, that mastery of design and manufacturing is being transferred, at a high rate of flow and by many pipelines. It is being transferred to "friendly" nations, to "non-aligned" nations, and to Warsaw Pact nations. The Task Force on Export of U.S. Technology, representing an important segment of industry, recently reported its findings on the subject to the Defense Science Board. The Task Force chairman and spokesman, J. Fred Bucy, President of Texas Instruments, pointed out that when this know-how is transferred to many nations, they can then the "donor" organization is most active in teaching design and manufacturing techniques to the "receiving" organization.

If we are to protect American know-how, many experts feel that the answer lies not in additional export control legislation, but in a modern and efficient reallocation of existing resources to focus on export requests that would result in transferring essential design and manufacturing know-how to nations that can become our competitors in the world market.

ENERGY TALKS

Energy Economics
By Robert A. Georgine
Millions of future jobs hang on building nuclear power plants now. Energy is a cornerstone of our economy and the labor movement has consistently recognized this. Studies show a close correlation between a nation's energy use and the economic well-being of its citizens. If electric supply facilities cannot be constructed as needed, power shortage will result which will inevitably affect both industry and commerce. That means losses in jobs. Already, certain areas of the country have experienced job losses as a result of energy shortages. As our nation's resources of natural gas and oil are further depleted, this country must turn to coal and nuclear fuels, at least for the near and mid-term future. Nuclear energy is generated from a fuel which will not soon be depleted and a fuel which this country can supply. It is energy future jobs can depend on. Compared to fossil fuels, nuclear energy is significantly cheaper. This means savings for consumers and electric rates that encourage industry to expand and create new jobs. America badly needs the new jobs this energy can help assure.

Do you have a question on energy? Write to Edison Electric Institute, NP, 90 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10016.

SPAG Approves Defense Funds For Motley Murder Trial

A $51,550 request for federal funds to defend two men accused of murdering Motley County Sheriff Jalmar "Jinks" Wilson was given local approval Tuesday by directors of SPAG.

The request now goes to an advisory committee of the Texas Criminal Justice Division and ultimately to Gov. Dolph Briscoe for approval.

In the words of one South Plains Association of Government (SPAG) director, "It's a lot of money to defend two thugs."

SPAG director and Lubbock Mayor Roy Bass offered another view, however. "With due process, every man is entitled to a competent defense. Motley County has to pay for it and its our duty to help them out as best we can."

Because the crime took place in Motley County, expenses for the two men's defense must be provided by the county.

Forrest Campbell, county judge, said at Tuesday's meeting, "Without federal funds, the two trials will cost every person in Motley County $25 and possible $60." County officials justified their request because of Motley County's low income levels. Population estimates taken in 1974 indicated 40 per cent of the county's population was over the age of 60 with yearly incomes below poverty level. The request to the TCJD is for unbudgeted funds. According to Dorothy Miller, SPAG planner who developed the request. "We're going in with our hands open. Whatever funds they have available we're asking for."

The Motley County request is the first of its kind of the 15 county SPAG region and only the second in Texas.

Reconstitute means to restore concentrated food. Frozen orange juice is one good example--add water and you have the whole product. Dry milk works the same way--reconstitute, following the package directions. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

FLOYD DATA
Rev. Emmitt Clappitt, pastor of the Victory Baptist Church, sustained a back injury in a fall in a skating rink in Plainview Saturday. He was able to return home from Central Plains Hospital Tuesday and is requiring a good deal of bed rest, although is resting well.

FLOYD DATA
Mrs. Bill DuBois is home from a Plainview hospital and doing well after surgery.

FLOYD DATA
Mrs. Johnny West underwent surgery last Thursday in Lubbock Methodist Hospital. She is reported to be doing well, and hopes to be able to return home the latter part of the week.

FLOYD DATA
Edna Earl Wooten of Las Vegas, Nevada is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Jewel Price.

FLOYD DATA
Chris Elda Hernandez, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tino Hernandez, who recently underwent two major heart operations in Lubbock, has been returned home. She is reported to be doing fine.

Free Photo Offers Not Always "Free"

COLLEGE STATION - "Get a free photo of your child" may turn out to mean anything but "free," Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist, says.

These advertisements sometimes back up real bargains--but Ms. Kerbel advised consumers to investigate before signing up.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Generally, bargain photographers offer a decent picture at a reasonable price. However, one of the biggest drawbacks is having little recourse if you are dissatisfied with the photos. If you want a variety of props, different settings and privacy go to a professional," she said.

Don't be pressured into buying more pictures for friends and relatives. One scheme is for the photographer to print pictures of varying sizes and make them available--just in case you want more than the special offer, she said.

"Be sure to read the fine print. The free photo may be good only with a purchase of $50. When accepting a photo offer, be sure to inquire if there are purchase requirements.

"It will take probably three to five weeks to get the photos. Be sure to ask what form of notification to expect--mail or phone--and try to get the delivery date in writing.

"Often consumers are required to pay for the special offer picture at the time of the sitting, but it's wise to hold off paying for additional pictures until you receive them."

Also, beware of long term picture packages. These contracts can run for 10 or 20 years, promising a family portrait or child's photo each year. Often these companies go out of business leaving the consumer with only a few pictures. Check with the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce if you have any doubts about the reputations of a photographer, she cautioned.

"If you do sign a contract from a traveling salesman who comes to your home, remember that you have three days to cancel your order," she said.
