SWEEPSTAKES TROPHY...Lockney High School band members proudly show their sweepstakes trophy. The band received "I" ratings in concert and sight-reading in Interscholastic League competition at Dimmitt Friday, and earlier had been rated "I" in marching. The LHS band was one of three AA schools in the Region 16, North Zone competition (Dimmitt and Littlefield were the others) to win sweepstakes honors.

Injured In Wreck Monday

Aiken Woman

An Aiken woman, Mrs. Enedina Molina, 40, was hospitalized Monday night as the result of a truck-automobile wreck on highway 70 in Lockney.

Department of Public Safety reports indicate a 1972 Ford station wagon driven by Mrs. Molina and a 1975 White Freightliner tractor-trailer driven by Larry Wayne Kidd, 26, of Clarendon were involved in the accident, which occurred about 10:15 p.m. Monday at the intersection of US Highway 70 and FM 378.

Band Boosters To Elect Officers Monday Night

Lockney Band Boosters will meet Monday night, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the band hall to elect new officers.

All band parents are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Molina was in stable condition Tuesday in the intensive care unit of Central Plains Hospital, Plainview. Kidd received minor cuts and bruises and was not hospitalized.

According to the DPS report, the truck was east-bound on US 70 and the station wagon was traveling north when they collided in the intersection. The impact apparently forced the truck bumper into the right front tire, drawing the truck to the right and causing it to flip onto its left side. The station wagon, hit in the left front section, was spun 180 degrees and ended facing south.

Federal Tax Load $9,736,000 Locally

NEW YORK, March 19-Taxes are in the spotlight once again in Floyd County, what with the day of reckoning April 15th, just around the bend.

The big question among local residents, as they prepare their reports, is how big a bite Uncle Sam will be taking

Last April he collected approximately $8,336,000 in personal and employment taxes in the area, based upon the prior year's earnings.

That is the amount of money turned in locally, as estimated from a breakdown of the taxes received from the State of Texas as a whole.

The statewide total was $11,908,000, 000 according to figures released by the Treasury Department.

Thus, payments by local residents constituted close to 0.07 percent of the personal taxes collected throughout

The Government expects that its haul this year will be substantially bigger than it was last April, notwithstanding the fact that unemployment was at a high level in 1976 in most parts of the country.

Despite that, there were more people who were at work, earning more than in 1975. And bigger incomes produce bigger taxes.

Nationally, according to a projection by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget, personal income tax collections, including employment taxes, will be about $37 billion greater than they were last year.

The Government's budget, now before Congress, counts on $254.9 billion coming in from this source, as against $218.1 billion in 1976.

Taxpayers in the local area will be bearing their proportionate share of the total. Their payment next month will be approximately $9,736,000, it is at their present level depends upon the President and Congress. Both favor a cut of sizeable proportions.

Just how long the rates will remain

As it stands, however, personal taxes of $296 billion are called for in the budget for the next fiscal year, $41 billion more than at present.

If Floyd County residents are to carry their share of this increase, overall income in the area will have to rise considerably.

Denton Reports On Bond Sales

January sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Floyd county were reported today by County Bond Chairman Clarence Denton. Sales for the first month period totaled $11, 883 for 6% of the 1977 sales goal of $200,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $21,030, 227, while sales for the first month of 1977 totaled $21, 030,227 with 8% of the yearly sales goal of $276.9 million achieved.

We've been delivering electricity from our sub-stations to your meter, dependably and economically, for nearly 40 years.

But getting power to our distribution points is another matter. It costs more now to generate electricity. Generating fuels are more costly and, as a result, your electric bill is higher. Our power suppliers don't like the higher costs any more than you do. But while we can't control the price of wholesale power nor the cost of generating fuels, we do control the cost of its distribution.

And where the electric cooperative controls the cost, the cost stays under control.

LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC FLOYDADA, TEXAS

ment that insulation will save enough fuel to Editor's note? The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a backward look at a new proposal in Congress.

According to an article I read last night in a copy of a big daily which I'd been saving to start a fire with in my fireplace, you know, everyobody has his favorite newspaper, some like the Globe News some like the AJ, but I'm neutral, I've found both are first rate for starting a fire and neither is any good if the kindling is wet, anyway, to get on with this sentence, according to the article I read Congress is considering a proposal to require people to insulate their homes.

The purpose is to get a more efficient use of energy, to make us efficient whether it's our nature or not. There are going to be some problems.

For instance, I know a man who said he tried to insulate his house but the wind kept blowing the stuff out through the cracks in pay for itself may be true, but his house in insulated from top to bottom and he still can't pay his fuel bill.

Obviously, homes ought to be insulated, but Congress is going to run into some big problems when it sets out to make everybody do it. What it's going to cost to set up the National Insulation Bureau (NIB) and hire enough people to see that everybody complies, may cost more than the insulation itself, although that won't matter because tax money, unlike energy, is inexhaustible. It'll make good news, too. I can see the headline now in the Hesperian: MAN NEAR FLOYDADA CAUGHT LIVING IN AN UN-INS LATED HOUSE

It's hard to legislate efficiency, just as it's hard to legislate morality. In fact you can't legislate morality among men, although immoral men can legislate.

Nonetheless, if we can get every home in the nation insulated we'll be on a par with Congess. It's been insulated for years. Yours faithfully,

Soybean Variety Results Announced

LUBBOCK-Results of soybean performance trials conducted in 1976 by scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and Halfway have been announced.

The high yielding, early maturing Columbus variety continues to be rated among the top lines for the South Plains area, said Dr. Raymond Brigham, head of the Lubbock TAES soybean breeding program.

Columbus, coming from maturity group IV, was one of the best yielding early varieties in 1976 with consistent production results of over 50 bushels per acre, he reported. The variety is outstanding in resistance to seed shattering, and lower pods are well above ground level, which allows efficient harvest with a minimum of seed loss.

"Soybean varieties are divided into maturity groups which allow producers alternate maturity times. They include maturity groups 00 through IX, with 00 being earliest in maturity," Brigham explained.

An experimental Kansas line derived from a cross of Williams x Columbus also performed well in 1975 and 1976, he said. The line, currently designated K1019, equalled Columbus in 1976 yield trials at Lubbock, and produced almost two bushels per acre more than Columbus in a strip test at the Experiment Station at Halfway.

"Based on favorable performance for the past three vears the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station has announced plans for release of K1019 as a new variety in 1977," Brigham said. "Seed should be available to certified seed grow-

"A preliminary seed increase of these lines has been made at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at Lubbock," said the TAES scientist, "and they will be tested in growers fields in 1977 in comparison with released varieties. In 1968, Paul Spitzer, a 19-year-old college student, started a research project that ultimately saved the ospreys of Long Island sound from extinction. His goal was to find out how DDT was causing the decline of these large fish hawks.

'We didn't know precisely what was happening then," he remembers, "whether the poisons were affecting the parent birds or their eggs." So he worked out a way of determining whether DDT was affecting the parent birds, making them destroy or abandon their eggs, or whether the eggs were poisoned by the chemical an unable to produce viable chicks. He swapped "clean eggs from Chesa; sake Bay" with the contaminated eggs on Long Island Sound. It worked. Clean eggs hatched in nests along the Sound. "Dirty" eggs-with thin, weak shells-were crushed by the body weight of their adoptive "parents" in the Chesa-

Centennial, a variety released by Mississippi in 1976 and tested at Lubbock last season, does not appear to be well adapted to the area, he added.

"Growers with available irrigation water should consider soybeans as a cash crop in 1977, Brigham suggested. "Well-innoculated soybeans usually do not require any fertilizer or insecticide for maximum production. The cost of seed, herbicide, irrigation, harvesting, and cultural operations make up the usual production costs."

He said that available seed supplies of popular varieties will be limited due to the expected demand, and that seed should be booked as soon as possible for planting in 1977. He added that soybeans continued to produce good yields and gave favorable net returns to High Plains growers in "The recent price advances for soybeans make the crop one of the bright spots in agricultural commodity markets, and prospects appear very favorable for attractive market prices through 1977," he cut shore areas to restock the bird population therewithout threatening ospreys in the Chesapeake Bay

Today, the decline in ospreys along the New York and connecticut shores has been reversed. Meanwhile DDT has been banned. And Paul Spitzer has decided to devote himself full-time to saving endangered species. Why?
"In a world in which cause and effect are often unclear," he says, "this seems like something I can do, where I can see the effect." One person can make a difference. Paul Spitzer

Breakeven Costs Key To Farm Profits

COLLEGE STATION-Texas farmers don't have a lot of room to waver when it comes to production costs. So determining the breakeven costs of the commodities they plan to produce can be the key for a profitable production program.

"Although cost of production for a particular commodity is often difficult to determine due to the variability of production inputs, it is a starting point for a producer to organize his productive resources to obtain optimum net income," points out Cecil Parker, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Parker estimated breakeven variable and total production costs for irrigated and dryland cotton, sorghum, corn and wheat for five resource areas of Texas. He used 1977 projected costs of production inputs and a weighted average vield for 1973-75 for the crops.

For dryland cotton, the economist's breakeven costs for variable expenses were 28 cents per pound of lint in the High Plains, 12 cents in the Rolling Plains, 43 cents in the Blacklands, 23 cents in the Coastal Bend and 25 cents in the Rio Grande Valley. Irrigated costs were 32 cents in the High Plains, 20 cents in the Rolling Plains and 44 cents in the Valley. Dryland sorghum costs (var iable costs per hundred pounds) were $1 in the High Plains, $1.83 in the Rolling Plains, $2.47 in the Blacklands, $2.09 in the Coastal Bend and $1.94 in the Valley. Irrigated costs were $2.68 in the High Plains, $2.08 in the Rolling Plains and $3.04 in the Valley.

Dryland wheat variable costs were estimated at $1.42 per bushel in the High Plains, $1.77 in the rolling Plains and 99 cents in the Blacklands. Irrigated costs were estimated for the High Plains only at $2.46 per bushel.

Parker figured the variable costs on corn production under irrigation in the High Plains at $1.62 per bushel.

Lumping the variable production costs together to obtain a statewide average, Parker came up with these figures: 28 cents a pound for cotton, $2.21 per 100 pounds of sorghum, $1.88 per bushel of wheat and $1.62 per bushel of corn.

When looking at total production costs on a state average, the figures showed the following: 47 cents per pound of cotton, $3.89 per 100 pounds of sorghum, $3.37 per bushel of wheat and $2.62 per bushel of corn.

Parker's production costs were based on weighted average yields of 350 pounds for cotton, 3,932 pounds for sorghum, 25 bushels of wheat and 122 bushels of

"These figures are simply intended to be a planning guide for producers," explains Parker. "Certainly, the estimated breakeven variable and total production costs can be influenced by a change in production input costs and crop yields. Each producer should view these data in relationship to his particular situation.

"By comparing income above variable costs per acre for each crop, a producer can select a combination of crops for optimum income above variable costs, assuming land to be the only limiting production factor. Of course if other production factors such as labor and capital are limited, determining the optimum crop combination becomes more difficult," points out Parker.

"The level of risk a producer is willing to take will determine the level of profit

We heartily invite all Senior Citizens to meet and enjoy food and fellowship with us. Don't wait for a personal invitation. Read the Hesperian and watch for the announcement of the next meeting. Our regular meeting day is the third Wednesday of each month-the place the Lighthouse Electric.

After a bountiful noon meal, Charles Bradford entertained us with a program of religious songs. The group joined in on many of the beloved well-known songs. Mrs. Edna Phillips, president, presided over a short business meeting. The Program Chairman announced that Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fullingim of Petersburg would give the program at our next meeting to be held April 20.

Baptist Church Scene Of Phyllis Guffee, Ross Hamilton Vows

Floydada was the setting Saturday afternoon, March 19th for the double ring ceremony uniting Miss Phyllis Ann Guffee and Calvin Ross Hamilton. Rev. James Smith, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Floydada, performed the 3:30 o'clock vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. (Corkey) Guffee, and the room is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hamilton all of Floydada.

Spiral candelabra, flanked by brass hurricane candelabra joined together with white satin bridal ropes formed the wedding scene in the choir loft. Each candelabra held arrangements of white glads and white mums. Brass pedastals also

Texas FHA-HERO Week March 27-April 2

Future Homemakers of America throughout Texas will observe Texas FHA-HERO Week March 27-April 2. Using the theme "FHA Shapes an Unfinished World," the more than 75,000 young men and women will join in demonstrating projects that have real value for youth in preparation for future responsibilities.

Future Homemakers of America is one of six vocational education youth organizations. A part of the junior and senior high school homemaking curriculum, it provides meaning and motivation for youth working toward educational goals related to consumer homemaking and home economics for gainful employment and reaches beyond the classroom instruction into the home and community.

State President Phyllis Cicero explained that the overall goal of the organization is "to help youth assume their roles in society through home economics in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement. "In other words," she said, "it helps us develop leadership, good citizenship, and prepare for the vital work of our country. In our FHA and HERO chapter meetings we analyze member concerns and then develop projects that are related to our home economics classroom studies. Many people have no idea what is taught in homemaking classes today. It isn't just cooking and sewing, it's learning about living, teaching us how to cope with the dual role of homemaker and wage earner in today's fast-paced society. During this week we want to impress on people the importance of vocational education and of Future Homemakers of America as a part of homemaking education in preparing us for future living.'

Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945 as an incorporated, nonprofit organization apported by membership dues. There are two types of chapters. FHA chapters place major emphasis on consumer education, homemaking and family life education combined with exploration of jobs and careers. HERO chapters, taking the name from home economics related occupations, place major emphasis on preparation for jobs and careers with recognition that workers also fill multiple roles as homemakers and community

Nationwide in membership and effort, Future Homemakers of America is co-sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. High school home economics teachers, members of the state home economics education staff and leading home economists serve as advisers to chapter, state and national youth officers. giving guidance and counseling to the program.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was completely edged on both tiers with French lace and descended from a half-cap covered in matching lace and sprinkled with tiny seed

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses and stephanotis and showers of white bridal satin and lace, atop a satin covered Bible. She wore a diamond drop and borrowed diamond earrings from her aunt, Mrs. Lois Guffee. For something old she carried a handkerchief which belonged to her late great grandmother, Mrs. Eva Hill and the wedding band belonging to her late maternal grand mother, Mrs. C. N. Hill. She also carried out the tradition of wearing something blue and pennies in her shoes bearing the birthdate of she and the groom.

Bridal attendants were Lou Ann Watson of Canyon, cousin of the bride, who was maid of honor, Mrs. Carla Fortenberry, Amarillo. matron of honor, and brides-maids, Nancy White of Idalou and Rana Parrish of Perryton. Feminine attendants were gowned in floor length ensembles of blue and white nylon dotted Swiss with an underskirt of blue satin. The gowns were fashioned with V necklines, stand-up collars, long sheer sleeves, cuffed and accented with white lace. Hemlines of the skirts were complimented with wide ruffles bordered with white lace. Each wore hair halos of baby's breath and carried white lace parasols touched at the center with arrangements of blue and white carnations and baby's breath.

Brandi Hoyle of Welch, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of blue and white dotted Swiss, resembling those worn by the bridal attendants. She wore a hair ribbon trimmed with baby's breath, and carried a white wicker basket filled with rose petals.

Jake Plunk of Amarillo, also a cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a light blue suit with a white ruffled shirt and white bow tie. He carried a white satin covered pillow with lace trim, which was made by the bride from the baby pillow used by her father, her brother and herself.

The groom, attired in a white Sullivan tuxedo, was attended by his brother. Clay Hamilton, best man. Groomsmen were Steve Ritchey, Lubbock, cousin of the groom, Randy Gilliam, Snyder, and Jim Snyder of Baird. Ushers were Larry Guffee of Duncan, Oklahoma, brother of the bride, and Donnie Fortenberry of Amarillo.

Mrs. Larry Guffee presided at the register table. Following the wedding the couple were honored with a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church. The serving table was covered with a delicate white lace cloth over blue and held a crystal candelabra with blue tapers, accented with the bride's bouquet. Crystal appointments completed the table setting. ## Pioneer Round-Up In Plainview

Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club has announced Saturday, May 21 as the date for the 1977 Pioneer Round-Up. This will be the 49th year the club has sponsored this annual event, according to Miss Judy Smith, President of the sponsoring club. The Pioneer Round-Up was started as a method of honoring pioneers of this area. This continues to be one of the purposes of the event, but in addition, it has become an entertainment feature for people of all ages in Plainview, Hale County surrounding areas.

Miss Smith has appointed committees for the Round-Up and chairman of each committee is as follows: Fannie Mae Green, Reception; Mildred Tucker, Tickets; Jan Tye, Parade; Nancy Bublis, Float; Opal Strother, Food; Wilma Courtney Serving; Jayne Edmiston, Registration; Ruth Renegar, Concessions; Helen Pemberton, Square Dance; Edna Looper, Country Store; Lou Ella Scarbrough, Door; Judy Smith, Program and Jo Ann Clements, Publicity.

The Pioneer Round-Up on Saturday night will be held in the Hale County Agriculture Center on the south edge of Plainview. The reception will be held in the meeting room at the Center and pioneers will gather for this at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday morning.

The traditional Round-Up parade will roll at 2:30 p.m. The Saturday evening's program will begin at 6:00 when the chuck wagon supper will be served in the large assembly room at the Agriculture Center and the program to follow. A square dance will conclude the day's activities. All local and area people are invited to this Pioneer Round-Up to honor those pioneers who came to this country many, many years

Lloyd Bentsen's Column

Washington, D.C. - Sena-tor Lloyd Bentsen Monday said complex Federal tax forms will cause millions of Americans to make errors when they file their income tax returns this year.

Bentsen, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he will urge the committee to adopt simplified tax forms as part of the tax cut bill. The committee begins writing its version of the tax cut legislation tomorrow. The House of Representatives has already approved such a measure.

"It is getting to the point that it takes a certified public accountant to fill out even the short version of the federal income tax return," the Senator said. "Back in 1954 all you had to be able to do was add and fill in about 30 blanks if you used the short form. But today, according to the General Accounting Office, you have to add, subtract, calculate percentages, multiply and fill in 50 blanks."

"I want to change this and I'm going to urge the Finance Committee to support proposed changes in the tax forms," Bentsen said. At present, a family of four with a $15,000 income which claims the standard deduction has to make six computations involving deductions, exemptions and a tax credit. Using the simplified form proposed by Bentsen they would make no computations, rather they would simply look in the new tax tables to determine the amount of tax they owe. Bentsen said that the Internal Revenue Service reports that, in the early weeks of the current tax season, about 11.5 percent of the tax returns using the short form contained errors. At this rate, he said, some 2.1 million of all the short

NEW YORK-The largest shirt manufacturer in the nation will shoot straight for the hearts of the consumer this spring with a new mostly-cotton shirt.

The Arrow Shirt Co. is offering a men's woven dress shirt of "Natural Blend" fabric called the mark of Cotton Incorporated for fabrics of 60 per cent or more cotton with durable press performance. Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of U.S. cotton pro-

"Arrow's commitment has demonstrated that the 'Natural Blend' concept is more than just a fad," says J. Nicholas Hahn, Cotton Incorporated vice president of sales/marketing.

Mrs. Cox died early Monday, March 21 in a Glendale Hospital after a long illness.

Survivors include her husband, Caleb Cox of Lockney Care Center; two sons, Jack Thomas of Los Angeles, California, and Lewis Thomas of Lamesa; one daughter, Kay Thomas of Glendale; one sister, Mrs. Lottie McInich of Los Angeles. Other survivors are three stepdaughters, Mrs. Alvin Nichols of South Plains; Mrs. Tom Davis of Irving; Lovella Cox of San Bernadino, California; two stepsons, T. B. Cox of Canyon, and Johns Cox of Lockney.

"Arrow's acceptance of the 'Natural Blend' concept is as significant to the future of mostly-cotton shirts as nonprofit organization supsince the Manhattan Shirt Co. introduced 'Natural Blend' shirts two years ago," according to Hahn.

"We say this, not only because Arrow is the largest branded men's shirt manufacturer in the world, but because they also enjoy the reputation within the industry of making as fine a quality of shirt as money can buy. They have a tremendous influence on the entire industry, including the large retail chains," Hahn adds. 'This shows Arrow believes the revival of interest in cotton among consumers will be with us for a long

Arrow will enter the field of "Natural Blend" shirts with about 30,000 dozen shirts, says Hahn, but he expects the company's commitment to increase to 75,000 dozen shirts by autumn.

The company will offer long and short sleeve shirts in solids, stripes, and fancy prints in all fashion colors. The shirts will sell for $12 to $14.

The "Cot-N-Arrow" shirt package will prominently display the cotton seal. Arrow's decision brings to 13 the number of manufacturers and retail chains that will be selling "Natural

Accent On Health

Judging by television commercials, the average American housewife is obsessed with keeping her kitchen clean. But just how clean? Suppose a health department Food and Drug inspector visited your kitchen. Would it pass the inspec-

According to the Texas Department of Health Resource's, there's a good chance that it would notand that might be part of the reason that the incidence of food-borne disease, such as food poisoning, is far more common in the home than in public restaurants.

Of course, how clean you keep your kitchen, and the sanitary practices you follow in your own home, are entirely your own business. But you might find it interto compare your own food-handling practices with the official rules that food service establishments are required to follow. So let's take a brief health inspection of your kitchen.

We'll start with the kind of food you serve your family. As a general rule, whatever you bought at the supermarket should be okay, since, the supermarket itself must abide by similar health department rules. But there are some things you need to check. Is every food item properly labelled to show both the contents and the source? Did you pick up some dented canned goods? If you did, throw them out-you can't use them. The same is true of any food package that was accidentally broken or opened before you got it home. You know that jar of home-made pickled peaches your neighbor gave you? And the home-canned tomatoes you bought at a little fruit stand on a back-country road? Throw them all out. Home-canned products can't be used in a restaurant: the danger of food-borne disease from improper processing is just too great. What about the way you store your foods? Dry foods, such as cereals, bread, flou sugar, and so on, must be stored in air-tight containers once the original package has been opened. Out goes that half-empty cereal box in the pantry! Speaking of the pantry, you know that bag of potatoes sitting on the floor? That's against the rules: all foods must be stored up, off the floor.

Anything that might spoil at room temperatures must be either refrigerated or frozen-of course. But is your freezer set to maintain zero degrees Fahrenheit? And does you refrigerator keep everything-top to bottom, front to back-at no more than 45 degrees? You'd better check with a good thermometer. Incidentally, if you're concerned about wasting energy by setting the refrigerator temperature that low, look at it this way: you'll probably make up for the loss because your foods will stay fresh and enjoyable several days longer at 45 degrees than they would at 50 degrees or more. One minor point to watch for: If you're in the habit of sticking fruit juice, beer, or soda pop cans in an ice cube, container to cool them down quicker, you'd better not plan on using the ice for anything else. In fact, the health inspector will frown on storing anything in ice. There's one major problem in almost every kitchen. When you're preparing a complete meal for your family, what happens if the meat is done before the vegetables are ready? According to the health inspectors, you'd better keep the meat hotno less than 140 degrees Fahrenheit. The same rule applies to all cooked foods. If you ever let cooked food stand for more than a couple of minutes at temperatures below 140 degrees, you're not only breaking the rules-you're openly inviting a serious case of food poisoning.

If there's one thing the average housewife probably thinks she's doing right, it's washing dishes-especially if she uses an automatic dishwasher. Unfortunately, a health inspector probably wouldn't agree. Unless, of course, she uses a triple sink for hand-washing in three stages: washing in soapy water, rinsing in hot water, and a final sanitizing rinse in water that has been heated to 180 degrees or more, or in a sanitizing chemical. No triple sink? No sanitizing rinse? No good. And the usual automatic dishwasher in most American homes won't pass inspection either: it may do a good job of cleaning, but it probably doesn't sanitize.

If your kitchen falls a little short of these standards, you can be thankful that you're not in the restaurant business. This is just a brief sampling of the 118 items listed on a standard health inspection form. Of course, the law doesnt apply to your private kitchen, but there are good reasons for every one of these rules. You may find it comforting to know that the Texas Department of Health Resources and your local health departsee that the rules are observed wherever your family eats-except in your own terns and diagrams.

Dear Editor:

In the name of "sport" and "entertainment", a bloody spectacle has continued for years in Texas. In enclosed fields, greyhounds and other racing dogs are encouraged to run by being given a live animal to chase—usually a terrified rabbit. Since the rabbit cannot escape from the fenced field, the "sport" consists in seeing which dog will maul and rip the rabbit first. If two dogs reach a rabbit at the same time, they literally tear it apart. The rabbit begins to scream before the dogs reach it; it senses its coming death. Have you ever heard a rabbit scream? It sounds somewhat like a human baby.

This "sport" is called "coursing." Some people think it's great fun on a fine Sunday morning to bring their children to watch the dogs run and the rabbits die. Last Sunday, I went to a coursing meet near Fort Worth to see whether it was as cruel as I had heard. It was worse. I will never forget a teen-aged girl who was screaming at her dog: "Kill that rabbit! Kill that rabbit!" Her dog had brought to her the bleeding and still-living rabbit. The rabbit was making a pitiable bleating sound. It was slow to die. Nearby, spectators munched hamburgers and drank beer. Similar places are in Waco, Houston, San Antonio, Lubbock, and other Texas cities.

That is "coursing." Another method of training dogs to run is to take a fully-conscious rabbit (chickens and kittens have also been used) and hang it upside down on a mechanical arm that is driven around a track. When the dogs reach the dangling rabbit, they bite it and tear it. They kill it by stages; it does not die quickly. A rabbit may survive a race. If it does, it is used-maimed and bleeding-in another race. Some humane-minded trainers use articicial and mechanical lures to teach dogs to run. As a matter of fact, the National Greyhound Coursing Association sells such a mechanical lure (the Jack-a-lure). Even so, most people cling to the old way and argue that the dog must taste

The people who cling to the old way come to equate cruelty with "sport"; even worse, they regard, with indifference, the suffering of a living creature that can feel pain and terror. Some may even regard the rabbit's suffering with pleasure. Such cruelty has no place in a civilized society.

Help stop this cruelty! A bill now in the Texas legislature would make illegal the use of live animals as "bait" in the racing and coursing of dogs. It is House Bill 887. Write to your State Representative and to your State Senator and tell them how you feel about this cruelty. Write also to Representative Chris Semos, Chairman of the House committee on Business and Industry, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769. Urge them to support the bill actively. Ask other people to do the same. Two years ago this bill died in committee because too few people cared.

Surely we have reached apoint in our human development where we do not have to find our pleasure in the sufferings and terrified deaths of other creatures.

Sincerely, Maloa McRay Maloa McRay Tarrant County Humane Society 1840 E. Lancaster Fort Worth, Texas 76103
