BEACON LIGHTS

by Jim Huggins

A minister and his wife were discussing two men who were mentioned in the local news. "Yes," mused the minister, "I knew both as boys. One was a clever, handsome fellow; the other a steady, hard worker. The clever one was left behind in the race, but the hard worker—well, he died and left $500,000 to his widow. It's a great moral."

"Yes," replied his wife with a smile, "it is. I heard this morning the clever one is going to marry his widow."

HAVE YOU HEARD this one about the rapid-fire conversation between two friends? (As related by Bob Miller in The Hamilton Herald.)

One of them opened with, "Suppose you heard about what happened to John?"

"No," the other replied, "What happened?"

"Well, he was up in a plane when the engine knocked out."

"Oh, that's too bad."

"Not so bad—he had a parachute."

"Well, that's good."

"Not so good. It wouldn't open."

"Oh, that's bad."

"Not really bad. There was a hay stack below."

"Well, that's good."

"Not good. There was a pitch fork pointing straight up in the middle of the stack."

"That's bad, for sure."

"Not bad, either. John missed the pitch fork."

"Well, that's good."

"Not good. He missed the hay stack too."

Not too long ago I read a humorous story of a mother who observed her small child vigorously drawing a picture.

When she asked him what he was drawing, he answered, "A picture of God."

The mother smiled and said, "But, Honey, no one knows what God looks like."

He quickly responded, "They will when I get finished with my picture!"

A COWBOY'S PRAYER

Oh Lord, I've never lived where churches grow.

I love creation better as it stood

That day you finished it so long ago

And looked upon Your work and called it good.

I know that others find You in the light

That's sifted down through tinted window panes,

And yet I seem to feel you near tonight

In this dim, quiet starlight on the plains.

I thank You, Lord, that I am placed so well.

That You have made my freedom so complete;

That I'm no slave of whistle, clock or bell,

Nor weak-eyed prisoner of wall and street.

Just let me live my life as I've begun

And give me work that's open to the sky;

Make me a partner of the wind and sun.

And I won't ask a life that's soft or high.

Let me be easy on the man that's down;

Let me be square and generous with all.

I'm careless sometimes, Lord, when I'm in town,

But never let 'em say I'm mean or small.

Make me as big and open as the plains.

As honest as the hawse between my knees.

Clean as the wind that blows behind the rains.

Free as the hawk that circles down the breeze.

Forgive me, Lord, if sometimes I forget.

You know about the reasons that are hid.

You understand the things that gall and fret;

You know me better than my mother did.

Just keep an eye on all that's done and said

And right me, sometimes, when I turn aside.

And guide me on the long, dim trail ahead

That stretches upward toward the Great Divide.

Joe Harrison

NO one really knows who wrote this updated version of the well-known fable. But it has been widely reprinted and even read in stockholders' meetings.

THE MODERN LITTLE RED HEN

ONCE upon a time, there was a little red hen who scratched about the barnyard until she uncovered some grains of wheat. She called her neighbors and said, "If we plant this wheat, we shall have bread to eat. Who will help me plant it?"

"Not I," said the cow.

"Not I," said the duck.

"Not I," said the pig.

"Not I," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen, and she did. The wheat grew tall and ripened into golden grain.

"Who will help me reap my wheat?" asked the little red hen.

"Not I," said the duck.

"Out of my classification," said the pig.

"I'd lose my seniority," said the cow.

"I'd lose my unemployment compensation," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen, and she did.

At last, it came time to bake the bread. "Who will help me bake the bread?" asked the little red hen.

"That would be overtime for me," said the cow.

"I'd lose my welfare benefits," said the duck.

"I'm a dropout and never learned how," said the pig.

"If I'm to be the only helper, that's discrimination," said the goose.

"Then I will," said the little red hen. She baked five loaves and held them up for her neighbors to see.

They all wanted some—in fact, demanded a share. But the little red hen said, "No, I can eat the five loaves myself."

"Excess profits!" yelled the cow.

"Capitalist leech!" cried the duck.

"I demand equal rights!" shouted the goose.

The pig just grunted. Then they hurriedly painted "unfair" picket signs and marched around, shouting obscenities.

The government agent came and said to the little red hen, "You must not be greedy."

"But I earned the bread," said the little red hen.

"Exactly," said the agent. "That is the wonderful free-enterprise system. Anyone in the barnyard can earn as much as he wants. But, under government regulations, the productive workers must divide their product with the idle."

And they lived happily ever after. But the little red hen's neighbors wondered why she never again baked bread.

The award plaque is inscribed: "Presented to Postmaster Douglas W. Meriwether for outstanding performance and customer service, 1976. (Staff Photo)

Lockney Postmaster Douglas Meriwether has been selected one of the Lubbock Management Sectional Center's outstanding postmasters for 1976. Meriwether received an award plaque from Sectional Center Manager Elmer J. Reed, Jr., at a recent meeting of postmasters of the Lubbock and Childress Sectional Centers.

Meriwether's selection as an "Outstanding Postmaster" was based, according to Reed, on management ability, excellent attitude, and excellent service to postal customers.

A letter from Reed explaining the award said in part:

"Only minor discrepancies reported by Postal System Examiners. Your office has excellent controls."

"Staffing team noted over-all condition at the Lockney, Texas post office reflects the pride and personal involvement of the postmaster and employees. Even though the office is old, it is still maintained in spotless condition—one of the best over-all operations we have seen.

"4. Budgetary Responsibilities: Total Man-hours Authorized FY76—4,361;

Total Man-hours Used FY 76—4,079; Savings—282 hours. This is a 6.5% reduction in man-hours for this office.

MY HART'S IN THE HIGHLANDS

True there are tree-filled forests in Scotland, but to the sportsman the most important parts of the Highlands are the deer forests which are not really forests at all.

Most of the ground consists of bare mountainside, with a few shrubs to relieve the monotony.

Scotland is a small country, but deer forests cover more than 2 1/2 million acres.

They are now the happy hunting ground of rich visitors from America, Japan, France and Germany. Their ambition is to bag a royal stag.

Teacher's Scotch Information Centre explains that a stag doesn't have to belong to Queen Elizabeth to be royal. The term royal stag is applied to animals which carry points on their horns.

Welfare System To Be Discussed At Meeting In Dallas

Citizens with ideas on how to reform the nation's welfare system are invited to be heard at a special town meeting March 30 at One Main Place Building, Dallas, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., in the Town Hall Auditorium.

Both spoken and written testimony are invited.

The meeting, to be held under a directive from HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano, Jr., is part of a nationwide effort to get public suggestions on how the welfare system should be reformed. Secretary Califano will make welfare reform recommendations to President Carter in May after public comments are in.

The Secretary personally conducted a public meeting in Washington, D. C., March 10, at which he asked interested groups to offer suggestions for welfare reform. The outcome was so impressive that he has now called for similar meetings to be held in all states.

HEW Regional Director S. H. Clarke of Dallas stated: "The full commitment of our Department is behind this effort. Welfare reform is justly one of the foremost priorities of our Department and of the nation. And since it is so important, every citizen who wishes to be heard should have the opportunity to offer his comments."

These are only a few of the possible issues for discussion, Clarke said, and urged the public to write the regional office with their comments, as earlier announced. The previous deadline has now been extended, because of the town meetings being held, to April 4. Those citizens especially who are unable to attend the town meeting in their state should send their comments to: Dan Reed, Assistant Regional Director for Program Coordination, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 1200 Main Tower Building, Dallas, Texas 75202.

Understanding Your Child

HELPING HIM LEARN

Your child might do better in school—if you helped him a little less with his homework.

There are several things, however, that good parents can do to help a child become a good pupil.

- Be sure he or she is up to par physically. Regular medical examinations are important. Have hearing and vision corrected if necessary.
- Provide a quiet corner to work in. See that it has a smooth, well-lighted desk surface.
- Equip the work area with the right implements:
- Encourage scholarship by making a game of learning. Play word and number games with your child and show him

Science To Help Clean Up Kitchens

COLLEGE STATION--"Un-creative" kitchen clean up tasks may go creative with science, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a food resource management specialist, predicts.

Many improvements in food waste disposers, trash compactors and dishwashers are being proposed by scientists and appliance designers, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System specialist said.

They include: --"Compartments" in dishwashers designed for washing and storing clean dishes and holding dirty ones. You'd touch dishes only when setting or clearing the table.

--Satisfactory washing of pots and pans in separate dishwasher cycles.

--A combined dishwasher and food waste disposer appliance.

--Improvements in detergents for washing dishes in cooler water to save energy.

--Recirculation of used water to irrigate the garden or compost pile, or --Permanent re-use of dishwashing and clothes washing water by filtering, purifying and re-heating. Other significant dishwasher developments are smaller dishwashers, water-saving cycles and energy saving switches, new loading arrangements (including silverware compartments in the door) and portable-convertible models, to build in, but move later, the specialist said.

Also, proposed disposal systems would either convert garbage into pellets for land-fill or to gas for powering sewage plant machinery or to help generate electricity.

Sewage is already used for fertilizer in many areas, and studies are considering present sewage and trash incineration systems for future home heating, the specialist added.

BRIGHT COLORS, particularly red and egg-yolk yellow, teamed with white will be one of summer's most popular combinations, says Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"The Family-Living With Change" Theme For SPG Meeting

LUBBOCK—How to deal with changes within a family's early years is the subject of a one-day community program April 21, 1977 at St. John's United Methodist Church.

The public event is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the South Plains Development Program family living task force.

A noted psychologist, Dr. Frederick Mears from Texas Eastern University at Tyler, is a featured speaker for the program which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Five workshops will be offered, dealing with pre-marriage, marriage, pregnancy, in-law relationships and living with children.

"The day's discussions are intended to focus on changes within the family's early years and how to deal with the stress situations that affect family stability," according to Mrs. Catherine B. Crawford, district agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The stability of today's family—and future families depends more than ever on how well its members get along together.

Strong families have agreed upon values which are passed on to children through personal example and explanation. They set goals together and plan for the future while enjoying daily satisfactions of living.

Strong families have realistic expectations and learn to adjust to change. They cope with, and conquer, stressful situations effectively.

Another factor which strengthens today's families is the existence of two-way communication.

When members are willing to express themselves and take time to listen to the concerns of others in the family or the community, communication lines are kept open.

Families find strength and growth through association with friends and neighbors and involvement with community concerns.

And when family members show and share a loving concern for each other, a family unit grows stronger. This supportive atmosphere encourages the development of self-confidence and autonomy. Adults learn to exercise self-discipline and provide guidance to help children become independent and self-directing.

The program is the first in a series of three on coping with changes within the family. All are being planned by the South Plains Development Program family living committee, says Mrs.

Accent On Health

People who choose to live in rural or sparsely-populated areas deserve the same quality of health care as their big-city neighbors. The problem is that not enough physicians and other health providers want to live in rural areas.

The problem concerns the entire health services system, both the public and the private sectors. For a number of years, the medical profession in Texas, through the Texas Medical Association, has looked for ways to encourage young doctors to locate their practices in small towns where they can serve the surrounding countryside.

According to Dr. Ed Schmidt, the past president of the Texas Medical Association, practicing medicine in outlying areas offers several advantages: "short travel time between places, no smog, no traffic problem, relative freedom from crime, a wholesome atmosphere" are some of the examples he cites.

On the other hand, Dr. Schmidt recognizes that

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

The Floyd County 4-H

Dress Revue will be a spring time affair this year. It has been scheduled for May 10, 1977. Girls and boys between the ages of 9 and 19 are beginning over-all clothing projects that will teach them skills in all aspects of clothing, which includes construction, economics, textiles and social roles.

These young people need interested leaders to guide them through all phases of acquiring knowledge, as well as developing skills in making clothing for themselves or others. You could help them learn these things and so much more. If you have six to ten hours to give, they need you in Lockney and Floydada. Training complete with packets of teaching materials are provided by areas obtain an education in medicine. Hopefully, after they receive their education, they'll return to their hometowns to practice among the people they know best. This approach has been used with some success, but it's inherently a slow process—and the young doctors don't always want to go back home once they've spent a few years in the bright lights of the big town.

According to Dr. Schmidt, science and technology are beginning to help rural physicians provide better care, and to end the feeling of isolation. New devices such as remote telemetry, closed-circuit television, and computers can be used to give the rural practitioner access to expert consultants and other sources of vital information even if it's thousands of miles away. Also, the expanded use of paraprofessional medical personnel, such as physician's assistants and paramedics, helps to relieve the rural doctor's burdensome caseload.

Public health in Texas has made great strides in its effort to provide better service to people in the countryside. Although there are full-time local health departments in only about 75 of the state's 254 counties, the local agencies now serve roughly

Boy Scout Operation '77 Kick-Off Held

Thursday, March 17, was the South Plains Council's "Operation '77" kickoff, at Reese Air Force Base Officers Club. The purpose of the banquet meeting was to invite prospective sponsoring institutions for Cub Scout Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts to hear the story of Scouting. An invitation to use the Scouting program was extended to 100 people from 49 institutions, according to Lubbock School Superintendent, Ed Irons, the Operation '77 Chairman. The South Plains Council serves 20 counties surrounding Lubbock.

In 1976, the Council served over 13,000 youth and adult members through more than 300 units sponsored by 288 different institutions, Irons said. Information about the Boy Scouts of America is available from the Scout Service Center, #30 Briercroft Office Park, 747-2631.

An organization using the BSA program agrees to provide leadership, meeting place, and program facilities. The BSA Council will help make available training, activities, camping and facilities, advancement and personal counseling, Irons said.

The Operation '77 banquet is just the beginning of the new unit organization. The institutions were asked to appoint a Scouting Coordinator. He is the manager of Scouting and becomes a member of the local Council, and helps coordinate the use of the program in this area, Irons said.

Today's Quilting Renews Spark

COLLEGE STATION—Quilting in the United States is enjoying renewed interest as the nation begins its third century. This art in America mingles a rich international heritage from the ancient past with today's technology and creative freedom—to produce heirlooms for the future.

Today's quilt combines two arts—patchwork and quilting.

Patchwork pieces a variety of fabrics together, or lays one patch upon another. Quilting fastens layers of cloth together in a manner that will firmly secure a loose material spread between them.

Patchwork—to adorn—requires some artistic ability. Quilting—to protect from cold—requires skill in handing a needle. Combining both for a pleasing, satisfactory product requires particular skills and patience.

Accurate dates for quilting beginnings do not exist, so we must turn to folklore and other sources for a hint. Spinning and weaving, the first steps, are noted in the Bible as inventions of Naamah, a sister of Tubal Cain. The Chinese record says the Lady of Silong invented the loom in 2640 B. C.

Tomb treasures from Egypt prove the Egyptian ancient manufacturing and textile-coloring abilities. One of the oldest patchwork examples is a piece of a canopy or pall used for an Egyptian queen about the year 960 B.C. It is made of gazelle hide in bright pink, deep golden yellow, pale primrose, bluish green, and pale blue laid in a formal design of lotus flowers, cartouches (scroll-like designs), scarabaeus (black beetle) and other forms.

Today's artform still reflects those early beginnings.

Quanah Parker Returns To 'Texas'

Canyon, Texas—Quanah Parker will return to the Palo Duro Canyon every night this summer except Sundays. He will come back to ask the question, "What do you intend for the earth, our Mother?"

And in "Texas", the story of the Texas Panhandle by Paul Green - amid the excitement and sorrows of settlement and storm, struggle and joy, the white men lay aside their battles with fire and wind and drought and each other to answer, "(We) intend good things. Here where you once followed the buffalo, a kind and happy people will build their homes and cities in joy and thanksgiving...and we will remember you suffering...and our children and our children's children will remember!"

Eighty people tell the story, recalling the dances of the time - the 1881's - and the songs and the gaiety, as background for the relentless battles with the vastness and the elements and their own needs.

868,405 people have shared this experience in the last eleven seasons - reliving the story as it unfolds against the background of the 600 foot bluff the audience faces. The Palo Duro Canyon is a magnificent gash across the wide plains, cutting away near Canyon and Amarillo, Texas. It is a place of beauty and calm and a cradle for sound.

To make reservations and Robin "Red Breast" and potholes are sure signs of spring, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. If you want to avoid cuts, bruises and blowouts that may occur when striking potholes, slow down on bad roads and give your tires a chance.

Dr. Duff says, "The public health regions have demonstrated that public health services can be provided to all citizens of the state in an efficient and economical manner, even in the sparsely populated rural counties with very limited fiscal resources."

The goal for both the private and the public sectors of the health care system is the same: to ensure that every citizen in Texas has access to the services he or she needs, no matter where people choose to live.

YOUNG CHILDREN learn by imitating their parents. They feel that it is "okay" to do something as long as they see parents doing the same thing, says Mrs. Irene Miller, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Tractor Pull Well Attended

More than 77,000 farm and ranch operators trooped through the turnstiles last week for the Southwest Farm Show and Championship Tractor Pull held in Fort Worth.

Winners were announced for the state-wide Future Farmers of America tractor mechanics contest on Saturday with first place going to the DeKalb FFA Chapter.

Coleman and Dayton won second and third place. Irene Degner of Malone was named winner in the Daytime Division of the Natural Fibers Fashion Review which ended with a style show on Saturday during the Farm Show.

First place in the After-Five Division was awarded to Janell Sherwood of Goldthwaite.

The fashion-conscious homemakers were given gift certificates by J. C. Penny Co. and trophies by Progressive Farmer magazines, one of the co-sponsors.

After three nights of tractor pulls in the Convention Center arena, winners from Texas and Oklahoma included: 5000# Southwest Open - Ronnie Culb, Lamesa; 7000# Southwest Modified - Jerry Willis, Grandview; and 9000# Southwest Stock - Elbert Long, Big Spring.

Other winners were: 9000# Southwest Stock - Wayne London, Apache, OK; and 12,000# Southwest Stock - Steve Kennemer, Burns Flat.

A total of 26,050 fans turned out for the pulls. Dates for the 1978 Southwest Farm Show and Tractor Pulls have been set for March 10, 11, and 12 in the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth.

Area sites considered for nuclear waste dump

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Sites being considered by the federal Energy Research and Development Administration for dump sites for nuclear waste in the near future include the Texas Panhandle, the South Plains and East Texas, according to an ERDA report.

Nuclear dump sites require geologic formations suitable for storage of radioactive waste that must be isolated deep underground from man's environment for thousands of years.

ERDA spokesmen said this week the agency's National Waste Terminal Storage program involves studies in 36 states.

Two sites are expected to be selected by 1978 for operation by 1985 and Texas is among the prime candidates because it has the geologic formations required, ERDA said.

Joe Ventura, executive director of the governor's energy advisory council at Austin, said the council was contacted by ERDA several months ago. He said the information indicated that the sites would not be approved unless the governor approves them for such use.

VENTURA SAID that although some core drilling has been done in East Texas as part of a survey of sites, "Right now, they are just gathering information."

"They may even abort the project at any time," he said.

Clayton Zerby, a spokesman for Union Carbide, the principal contractor for ERDA out of Oak Ridge, Tenn., said contracts will be awarded within the next few months for detailed geological studies of the Palo Duro Basin and the Dalhart Basin.

ZERBY SAID the geological studies in West Texas would determine the underground stability of the area and the conditions of the salt beds several thousand feet underground that are considered ideal for nuclear storage.

In Austin, John Barry, a nuclear studies specialist with the governor's energy advisory council, said the decision to build the dump sites will not be made without local and state consultation. He said there are bills in Congress aimed at giving state legislatures veto power.

AND, HE added, "no matter what the legislature does, I think it is assured that if the people of the state do not want the facility, it won't be there."

ERDA has the responsibility to locate, construct and operate federal repositories for the disposal of radioactive wastes.

A draft "generic environmental impact statement on radioactive waste management" will be issued next spring by ERDA. The statement will be submitted for public review and comment before any final action is taken.

The Palo Duro basin is mostly under the southern Panhandle down to Lamb, Hale and Floyd counties. The Dalhart basin covers Hartley and Dallam counties.

Modley County Livestock Show Starts Monday

The 37th annual Motley County Jr. Livestock Show sponsored by the Motley County Livestock Association will be held for Motley County 4-H and FFA members at the old Matador FFA building on Monday March 28th, with judging starting at 10:00 a.m.

Heifer classes open to anyone living in Motley County, owning land in Motley County, or Juniors eligible for the Jr. Show will also be judged. Two crossbred and/or purebred heifers, 12-18 months of age may be shown per exhibitor. These animals are not shown at halter.

Vann Francis, chairman of the show reports that the sale of the top 18 steers and market hogs will follow the show, starting at approximately 2:30 p.m. Don McCandless, Floydada, will serve as auctioneer.

Juniors will exhibit 24 steers, 40 hogs, 6 sheep and 14 rabbits. Over 20 heifers are expected to be shown.

House honors Judge Reeves

Herald Austin Bureau AUSTIN — The Texas House Thursday stood at attention to vote for a resolution in the memory of Judge Elbert Paul Reeves of Plainview who died Feb. 10, at the age of 72.

Representatives W.S. Healy of Paducah, Pete Laney of Hale Center and Phil Cates of Shamrock were sponsors of the resolution honoring the native and long-time resident of Matador who had served as county judge of Motley County for eight years.

The resolution cites that Judge Reeves was born in 1904 and had been a farmer and rancher for more than 30 years, a dedicated educator at Floydada, Lakeview, Acuff, Becton and Whiteflat, and served a term in the State Legislature in the early 50s.

Judge Reeves, cited in the resolution as a "faithful member and deacon of the First Baptist Church" also was active in several Masonic Lodges. The resolution goes on to say "he was a devoted husband to his lovely wife, Jewell, during their marriage of over 50 years."

"Whereas, Judge Reeves will be long remembered for his service to his community and state, and he will be deeply missed by his many friends in Plainview and throughout Texas; now, therefore be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Texas, the Senate concurring, that the 65th Legislature pay tribute to the life of devotion of the Honorable Elbert Paul Reeves, former state representative and county judge and extends sympathy to their great loss to the members of his community . . . and family."

Now the resolution goes to the Senate for its concurrence.

VA News

Nearly 100,000 veterans and active-duty service members gained new GI loans during the past two years after once using their entitlement and having it restored, Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Director, reported today.

Prior to January 1, 1975, restoration of home loan eligibility could be gained only if the VA had been relieved of liability and the property was disposed of for "compelling reasons," Coker explained.

Congress removed the "compelling reasons" restriction, allowing entitlement to be restored if the property has been disposed of and the loan satisfied. This means that most veterans with service since September 19, 1940, are potentially eligible for a GI loan.

The law also provided that the original veteran's liability be removed automatically and entitlement restored if another veterans purchases the property and substitutes his VA loan eligibility for that of the seller.

Since 1944, more than 9.5 million veterans and service members have borrowed $129 billion under the VA loan guaranty program. The VA guarantees a loan up to 60 percent or a maximum of $17,500.

The loan guaranty is available to veterans and active-duty personnel with at least 181 days service. Also eligible are unmarried surviving spouses of these veterans and spouses of service members listed as missing in action for more than 90 days.

MORE FREQUENT use of portable appliances in place of major appliances will save consumers money—and reduce energy use, predicts Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. She reported that almost half of the respondents to a recent survey by the Consumer Research Center, The Texas A&M University System, indicated they were not talking advantage of portable appliances they own.

The winter of 1976-77, with its record breaking cold, was probably the toughest in recent history on roads, says the Federal Highway Administration. Damage is expected to be very severe, creating hazards to both tires and cars. The Tire Industry Safety Council says slow down on pothold-marred roads and make sure your tires are properly inflated.

When it's time to replace that old water heater... here's a new idea. The Conservationist Electric saves!

It saves energy... saves money. In fact the Conservationist Electric saves 15% of electric water heating cost.

And because it's electric the Conservationist can be installed close to the point of use, giving you hot water instantly, saving hot water that would otherwise be transported along lengthy water pipes.

The Conservationist Electric... It saves!

Magnesium Essential

COLLEGE STATION--Magnesium—essential for all living cells and controlled by kidneys—serves as a catalyst for many biologic reactions, Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist says.

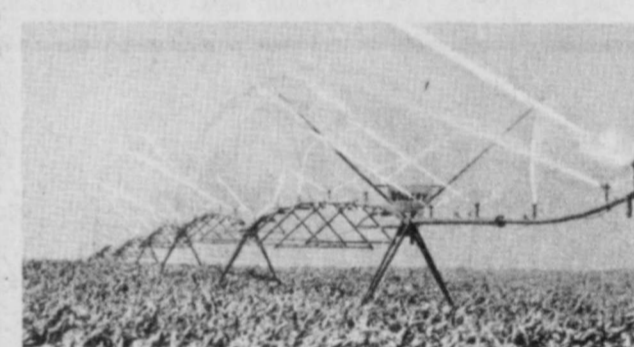

"The recommended daily dietary allowance of magnesium is 400 milligrams for men and 300 milligrams for women. During pregnancy and lactation the need increases to 450 milligrams," she added.

Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Dairy products furnish about 22 per cent of the total intake of magnesium in the United States. Another 18 percent comes from flour and cereal products, the specialist said.

"Other good sources of magnesium are dry beans and peas, soybeans, nuts and green leaf vegetables," she added.

Dear American Friends,
I am so glad to receive your birthday gift, a lovely birthday card and two color photos. Mother cooked eggs, pig's feet and noodles for my birthday celebration (Eggs are a symbol of life and noodles longevity—Chinese customs to celebrate one's birthday).

Our junior high graduation was held yesterday. We exchanged pictures and farewell words. The principal taught us how to treat others and live in this world and other things we should pay attention to. I feel I grow older.

After graduation I will work as a lathe apprentice in a steel factory where my elder brother works. I thank you all very much for your kind help in the past. I will learn your spirit of helping others to help others. I sincerely wish each one of you much blessings and wish you good health and happiness forever. I am sending you a picture for remembrance.

Trial Moved From Motley County

The Capital murder trials of Stacy Albert Carter, 25, North Carolina and Larry Carnell Fortenberry, 28, of Louisiana, were moved Monday by District Judge George Miller of Floydada. The two are accused of the shotgun slaying of Motley County Sheriff Jinks Wilson.

Carter will go on trial in Lubbock's 72nd District Court after May 1 and Fortenberry's trial will be tried in Hale County at Plainview.

Both Carter and Fortenberry have claimed they are unable to pay for their own defense, putting the expenses of the trial on Motley County. The county has asked for a $51,000 defense cost figure and estimated that $26,000 of the amount would be split between attorneys for both defendants.

According to reports by Pat Patrick, a staff writer for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, the two accused men, until Monday, were under two count capital murder indictments— one count for allegedly committing a murder during commission of another felony, robbery, and the second for allegedly killing a peace officer while he was acting in the line of duty.

A companion of Sheriff Wilson, John D. Rogers, was wounded and Carter and Fortenberry face attempted murder charges in connection with Roger's shooting. The first count was dropped Monday, according to the Patrick report, with Fortenberry's count appointed attorneys, Steve Hurt and Joe Cox of Plainview, and Carter's lawyers, John Montford and Mark Hall of Lubbock, successfully arguing the indictment did not make clear who was being robbed or what was being taken.

Area Fed Cattle Production 4.2 Million Head Last Year

The production of fat cattle in the Panhandle-Plains during the past year has resulted in a $1.75 billion contribution to area businesses, according to a recent survey conducted by Southwestern Public Service Company.

The fed cattle totaled 4,286,629 head for the calendar year 1976 and represents a 31% increase over 1975 production. It is the third largest number produced in any one year and ranks behind the highest year 1973 with 5 million head and 1972 with 4.7 million.

The survey, released by Sam Thomas, SPS manager of Agriculture Development is quoted throughout the United States as the most authoritative source as to production of fat cattle in the southern great plains area.

"This production was accomplished during a time when cattle feeding profits were minimum and cattle year period were in excess of $30-billion," Thomas said. "The total business generated from this volume of cattle can be calculated by multiplying the estimated sales value by 3.86 with a $6.75 billion result. When the impact of the slaughter industry is calculated, another $7-billion can be added for a total contribution of $13.5-billion to area business."

The survey also revealed that the one-time feedlot capacity in use increased by 2% and reversed a two year downward trend from the peak year of 1974 when the feedlot capacity in use at the beginning of the year was 2.7 million head. Thomas reports that there is an additional 223,000 capacity standing idle with 153,000 of this capacity in units large enough to be in commercial production.

Thomas also says that there was a 1% loss in the number of feedlots of 1,000 head capacity and above, but there was an increase of 2.5% in the total number of feedlots producing fat cattle. Feedlots of 1,000 head and above numbered 146 and the total number of yards reporting cattle fed was 158. The total number of feedlots producing fat cattle have been steadily declining up to now since 1967 while the average size has been increasing sharply.

"Feedlot companies that are apart from the profit or loss situation of the cattle are generally in good shape," Thomas says, "but those that are involved in the cattle ownership could be in better shape. Also, the older feedyards that are not faced with the necessity of retiring extremely high capital investment as a result of the recent high building costs, seem to be in a more desirable position."

"We expect to see a greater integration between farming units and feed units," Thomas says, "and we believe the cost price squeeze facing farmers will mean a greater reliance on marketing by grazing rather than by combining. We feel that more silage will be put down both by farmers and feedyards, and that there will be a greater reliance on growing cattle as well as feeding high grain rations that were feasible in previous years."

"Present market conditions make it very difficult for farmers to make a profit producing grain. Integrating into the livestock industry is one way they can improve their profit picture," Thomas continues. "This will not hamper the big commercial feedlots, but we do believe that the cattle expertise and financial ability in the commercial yards is an essential part of the future of farming."

Thomas concluded by saying that the fed cattle output from the yards should increase as a greater number of feeder cattle become eligible for a grain finish. "This will not be a permanent change, but as the cattle cycle bottoms out and the supply of calves and grain come into balance with the market demand, then we should see a reoccurrence of high grain feeding."

"There is very little that is new in the livestock industry, other than the people in it. At the present time, about 7 million cattle can be produced in this area, but when we learn to feed 'stalk and all,' we will produce about 12 million."

Thomas also says that there was a 1% loss in the number of feedlots of 1,000 head capacity and above, but there was an increase of 2.5% in the total number of feedlots producing fat cattle. Feedlots of 1,000 head and above numbered 146 and the total number of yards reporting cattle fed was 158. The total number of feedlots producing fat cattle have been steadily declining up to now since 1967 while the average size has been increasing sharply.

MEDICARE CHANGE TO BE RAISED

The basic premium paid by Medicare beneficiaries for their supplementary medical insurance coverage will increase from the present $7.20 per month increased to $7.70 per month for the 12-month period beginning in July.

Military retirees who reach age 65 and are entitled to Social Security benefits lose their Champus coverage and become eligible for Medicare.

The supplemental program, also known as Part B, complements the basic hospital insurance part of Medicare by helping to pay physicians' bills and other medical expenses. Costs are shared by the participants and the government.
