NO SERIOUS INJURIES

School Bus Overturns At Providence

A Lockney school bus carrying 25 to 28 children overturned after it collided with a pickup truck at the intersection of Farm Roads 2301 and 788 in the Providence community Thursday morning, but there were no serious injuries reported in connection with the accident.

Two of the students, sixth-grader Michael Lipham, age 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lipham of Providence, and seventh-grader Jesse Ybarra, 12 son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ybarra of Providence, were hospitalized at Central Plains Hospital in Plainview. Both were still in the hospital Friday for observation. They suffered cuts and abrasions in the accident.

Ten students and the bus driver, Bill Sessom of Aiken, were treated and released at the Plainview hospital. The pickup driver, Jack Lee Welborn, 25, of Plainview, and six of the students were treated and released at Lockney General Hospital.

Children treated and released at Central Plains were Jimmy Perez, Loree Perez, Melissa Perez, Norman Perez, Sandra Perez, Teresa Perez, David Martinez, Patsy Thornton, Randy Ybarra and Lori Smith.

Those treated and released at Lockney General were Joe Ortez, Brenda Jackson, Loretta Turner, Virginia Ortez, Eddie Reyna and Charlene Ortez.

The accident occurred at about 8:25 a.m., according to Lockney superintendent John Peck, just after the children had been picked up and were on their way to school.

Student Fined For 'Misconduct'

An 18-year-old Lockney High School student was fined for "misconduct" following a confrontation with a high school coach on the school grounds Wednesday.

Justice of Peace R. H. (Raz) Ford did not release the student's name. Superintendent John Peck said the incident involved a knife which was "...shown, but not opened." The student did not threaten the coach with the knife, Peck said.

12" Walleye In Lake Mackenzie

BEACON LIGHTS

by Jim Huggins

WE MAY BE OVERLOOKING some good fishing over in the Silverton-Quitaque area. This information from the Quitaque banker Stark:

(1) Lake Theo—This scenic lake out at Caprock Canyons State Park is in excellent condition, and the water level is just a few feet below spillway level. The temperature of the water is still pretty cold, but the crappie run is due to start ANY DAY NOW, and the season's best bass fishing will probably take place there later this month. Until the Master Plan is developed for the new State Park NO OVER-NIGHT CAMPING will be allowed, but fishing during the day is FREE to the public.

(2) Cottonwood Lake—Gerald Smith's springfed lake four miles southwest of Quitaque is now almost full, and the water has been running out of the drawdown tube most of the winter. The Graham Lake farther up Cottonwood Creek keeps all the underground springs recharged, and a CONSTANT STREAM of pure spring water flows into the lake. As a result some of the largest catches in this area have been recorded there, and Mr. Harris started it all off this year with his 6 1/2 pound bass.

(3) Hawkins Lake—This popular lease lake is located in some of the prettiest country in West Texas, and it has provided some of the best fishing under the Caprock in years past. A few years ago Ruth Johnston caught a 3 1/2 pound crappie there, and it is still the largest that has been landed under the Caprock. Crappie fishing is ALWAYS good, and a number of lunker bass are taken from the lake each year.

(4) Graham Lake—This is the second largest lake under the Caprock, but it is NOT OPEN for public use. It is in a picturesque setting on the edge of the Caprock about four miles west of Quitaque, and its owner, Walter Graham, utilizes it primarily for irrigation. It is a haven for waterfowl of all kinds, and large flocks of Canadian geese stop over there each year on their journeys across the continent.

(5) Burson Lakes—For many years this scenic resort off Highway 256 northeast of Quitaque has been a popular spot for sportsmen from over a wide area. There is a cafe, several cabins, a tackle shop, boat dock and swimming area, and some FINE STRINGS of fish are taken from the lake each week.

(6) Bill Lane Lake—In the rolling countryside northeast of Turkey there is a relatively new lake on the Bill Lane place that has provided CONSISTENTLY GOOD FISHING the past few years. It is a long narrow lake, with two main channels that come together at the dam, and when the lake is full the channels wind back in two directions for nearly a mile.

Walleye fry in Lake Mackenzie. According to previous studies, there should be about a 10% survival. Capture of some of the Walleye in March showed that these fish have already attained a length of 12 inches. With some luck and a little water this Spring, we should start seeing a few catches of the Walleyes.

Regulations regarding Walleye include: no size limit, daily bag limit of five, possession limit of ten.

A little information concerning Walleye: some people refer to the Walleye as a "Walleye Pike." This is in error because the Walleye is a Perch and is not a Pike.

Most fishermen want to know, "How do you fish for Walleye?" Walleye prefer water depths of 15 to 40 feet during daytime hours. They are found along the bottom over boulders and rubble in the more open section of reservoirs. Fish by slowly trolling lures or bait over such spots as near to the bottom as possible. Use minnow or shad imitations, jigs or jigs baited with a live minnow night crawler. In clear water, use light-colored jigs, in more turbid water switch to darker colors. Walleye move to shallow waters to feed during the dark, cool hours of night. At this time, troll very slowly along shorelines which have gravel or rubble bottoms, sharp dropoffs of areas where baitfish are concentrated. Walleye are often found in large aggregations and it is often rewarding to fish the area where Walleye was previously taken.

The world record Walleye was caught in Tennessee and weighed 25 pounds. The current Texas record weighed eight pounds and fourteen ounces and was caught at Lake Meredith in May 1972.

On March 31, 1977, 185,000 more Walleye fry were stocked in Lake Mackenzie. This gives us a total stock of 485,000 Walleye. With a little rain and good growing conditions, Mackenzie should have a bright future as far as Walleye fishing is concerned.

Homemaker Service Aid Program Popular In Floydada

Some six persons are now enjoying the new Homemaker Service Aide Program sponsored by the Community Action Multi-Purpose Community Center in Floydada.

Kathy Green reports that there are more applications for the service now being processed.

Pictured with this story is Mammie Gray, 528 W. Missouri, who has employed Belen Torrez to come in one day a week to help her with personal grooming, meal preparation and home management.

The service is also available in Lockney by calling Molly Gonzales at 652-2639.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM
The program is administered through Texas Tech University College of Home Economics (Model Rural Project for Homemaker Service Aide Program to the Elderly).

The Homemaker Service

Aide Program provides quality, in-home care services of meal preparation, personal care, home management, escort service, visitation and companionship for the elderly.

The services and various other duties provided enable persons over 60 years of age to function in their own homes with limited assistance.

As well as providing much needed services for persons over 60, the Homemaker Service Aide Program provides professional training opportunities for mature, underemployed homemakers. Those with a number of years' experience in managing a household are given preference in employment. Homemakers will receive pay for 12 weeks of on-the-job training as well as for scheduled full or part-time work with elderly clients.

HOW IS IT FUNDED?

The Homemaker Service Aide Program to the Elderly is Federally funded through a grant to the Texas Tech University College of Home Economics from the Administration on Aging (AOA) of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

WHY

Many, older citizens want to keep their independence and seek alternatives to hospital or institutional care. With limited in-home services, it often is possible to remain at home, satisfying personal preference and usually at a cost saving.

WHO PARTICIPATES?
Persons over the age of 60 are eligible to receive Homemaker services, based on their ability to pay.

WITHIN WHAT AREA?
The program serves a 15-county region of the South Plains. Persons eligible to participate must live in any of these counties: Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry, Yoakum.

Homemakers provide in-home care services to the elderly in the community where both live.

WHEN ARE SERVICES AVAILABLE?

Homemakers are available on an hourly or daily basis, according to the client's needs.

Mrs. Bobby Dartland Carthel

Friday Evening Vows Unite Joann McCormick, Dart Carthel

Double ring wedding vows, recited in First United Methodist Church of Lockney Friday evening at 7 o'clock, joined in marriage Miss Cynthia Joann McCormick and Mr. Bobby Dartland Carthel.

Mrs. Carthel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCormick of Lockney, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Carthel, also of Lockney.

Rev. Frank Oglesby, minister of First United Methodist Church of Tahoka, directed the wedding service. The altar area of the church was centered with a kneeling bench and a "unity" candle. Flanking the kneeling bench were heart and tree candelabras holding white tapers, and formal baskets of blue and white flowers. The bridal aisle was marked with hurricane lamps tied with greenery, gypsophila and blue satin bows.

Mrs. Jim Price of Plainview, sister of the groom, registered guests, who were then assisted in being seated by ushers Sam Fortenberry, Larry Cunyus of Lubbock, Steve McPherson of Canyon and Martin Stoerner.

Gary White of Tahoka was organist for the pre-ceremony music program of traditional wedding songs, and also accompanied Mrs. Ray Ford as she sang "Wedding Song" and "One Hand, One Heart."

Lighting of candles by Misses Jerri Ann McCormick, cousin of the bride, and Cheryl Perry marked the beginning of the wedding service. The young ladies were dressed in long white polyester knit fashions trimmed with blue lace. The full skirts were accented by sashes. They wore blue picture hats trimmed with white ribbons. The groom's cousin, Mrs. Keisha Carthel of Plainview, was flower girl, and wore a dress identical to those of the candlelighters. Her small blue hat was accented with blue and white flowers.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE

The bride was escorted to the altar and presented for marriage by her father, Bobby McCormick. She was gowned in a pearl white silk organza dress designed especially for her by Priscilla of Boston. The elegant wedding gown reflected the French Empire era with enrichments of venise, venetian and Point-de-Paris lace appliques. The molded bodice featured a high wedding band neckline encircled with garlands of venise lace forget-me-not flowerets. The shield-shaped yolk of imported English net was etched and outlined in venetian garlands with accents of Point-de-Paris flowerets. From the high-rise bodice, long, tapered candlestick sleeves of imported English net with applique garlands of venise and Point-de-Paris flowerets fell to form peaks at the bride's wrists. A full, bell-shaped skirt of silk organza fell in graceful folds from the flowerets encircling the crescent shaped, high-waist line, and swept to form a full chapel train. The full skirt was enriched with medallions of applique Point-de-Paris lace and venise lace garlands. The entire hemline was etched in garlands of venise lace edging.

The bride wore a petal white French chou of imported Point-de-Paris lace which held her bouffant tulip veil of imported silk illusion edged with matching Venise lace appliques.

The former Miss Carthel carried a cascade bouquet of white pixy carnations surrounding phalenopsis orchids softened with gypsophila. Tied in the bouquet was her "something old"—a gold wedding band which had belonged to her great-grandmother Hill. For "something new," she carried a silk handkerchief from China which was given to her by her former employer, Lester W. James Sr. of Plainview. She borrowed diamond earrings from her sister and wore the traditional blue garter. In her shoe were pennies commemorating the birth years of both the bride and groom.

Honor attendants for the bride and groom were her sister, Mrs. Jack Fisher of Brownwood, and Louie Bybee. Mrs. Fisher and the bridesmaids wore floor-length blue and white dresses of polyester crepe acetate. The dresses were designed with Empire waistlines, high stand-up collars and elbow-length puffed sleeves. They wore blue picture hats trimmed with white ribbon. Their bouquets were of blue carnations, white cushion poms and gypsophila tied with lace and arranged in crescent shapes.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mike Ferguson and Miss Connie Bradley, both of Plainview, and the groom's sisters, Misses Jackie Carthel and Tammie Carthel.

Serving as groomsmen were Joe Martin of Portales, New Mexico, David Brotherton of Lubbock, J H Lane and Glen Graves. Ring bearer was Lance Price of Plainview, nephew of the groom.

The wedding reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The serving table was covered with a blue knit cloth and an overlay of white lace. A formal arrangement of flowers on a silver candelabra, which held white tapers, graced the table. The triple-tiered wedding cake set on a base of four large heart-shaped cakes. The design was trimmed in two shades of blue icing and was topped with wedding bells. Crystal appointments were used to serve cake and punch. Assisting at the table were Mrs. Louie Bybee, Mrs. Joe Aaron of Lubbock and Mrs. Terry Carter of Plainview. Also in the houseparty were Mrs. Kenneth Moody, Mrs. Harold Brock, Mrs. Hershel Blankenship of Plainview, Mrs. Jerry Perry, Mrs. Audrey McCormick and Martha Davis.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio and Amistad Lake near Del Rio, the couple will be at home on Route 2, Lockney, north of Aiken. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carthel are graduates of Lockney High School, she in 1975 and he in 1974. Carthel is a farmer.

Rehearsal Dinner
The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Frank Carthel, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Thursday night in Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church.

Floyd Folk Tell Of Recent Trip To Mexico City, Taxco, Acapulco

(Editor's Note) Several Floyd County residents traveled to Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco recently and some of their comments about the trip are published for your enjoyment. From Floyd County were Messieurs and Mesdames L.C. Pruitt, William Bertrand, Wendell Tooley, Fred Lipham, Orval Newberry, R.G. Dunlap. From Dallas was Virginia Dyson (former Methodist Church secretary in Floydada) and from Ruidoso, New Mexico, Betty Battey, Mildred Miller and Margaret Hutson. From Lockney were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Reynolds.

menal, thanks to being blessed by nature in having ideal winter climate, beautiful sunsets, nice beaches, tropical plants and an abundance of fresh fruits and fish. We enjoyed staying at Holiday Inn, the private beach was so convenient and food was good.

By Helen Dunlap
March 18th our tour arrived in Mexico City via Braniff—very soon we were on the bus traveling down the four lane sloping highway into Valley of Mexico. Then the capital spread into view: Mexico City with a population of 13 million! From the center of Mexico City, the Zocalo, one can see the National Palace, the Cathedral, the Town Hall, the Supreme Courts, the Aztec Ruins, and the Latin American Tower.

Heading north out of Mexico City, we visited the Shrine of Guadalupe where one can see hundreds of pilgrims, many of whom have come miles on their knees as a symbol of respect to their beloved "Dark Virgin."

Our next stop (about 40 miles out of Mexico City) was the ancient Pyramids of the Sun and Moon at Teotihuacan, an entire city which for centuries was hidden from modern man. Are you in good physical condition? If you aren't sure, try climbing a pyramid, (we wished for Jim Word at this archaeological site.)

We enjoyed seeing the Monumental Aztec Stadium with seating capacity for over 105,000 fans. Orval Newberry wanted to ask about buying a season ticket.

The National University has 80-odd modern buildings with heroic figures in sculptured concrete portraying Mexico at work.

The Central Library at the National University is very unique. The ten stories high blankets the wrap-around mural by Juan O'Gorman. His mosaic in natural stone dramatizes Mexico's history, culture, and aspirations.

By the way, we were wondering if Faye Bertrand ever found paper and pen to trace the mural to bring home for a needle-point pattern???

In visiting the Floating Gardens in Xochimilco, we learned centuries ago a vast lake covered the valley where Mexico City now stands. To create land for crops, the Aztec Indians topped wicker mats with soil and tethered the rafts together. Shrubs that grew on them gradually took root in the lake bed and anchored the gardens. Today passenger boats poled by gondoliers drift through a network of canals lined with beds of beautiful lilies, carnations, sweet peas and roses. The colorful boats move along slowly to the sound of Mariachi music.

TAXCO
Taxco, probably the oldest mining town in North America, is quaint and picturesque. It sprawls over a rugged hillside in the heart of the Sierra Madre range, having changed little since its early development in 1716 as an Indian village. A French miner, Jose de la Borda, located several silver mines and amassed a fortune!

Glowing in the sun, towers of the Church of Santa Prisca and San Sebastian rise above Taxco's red-tiled roofs and cobble-stone streets. Mexico has proclaimed the town a national monument; no venerable building may be raised, no modern structure erected.

We had a nice lunch prepared for us in Taxco; but somehow food wasn't important as soon as we had a peep at this unbelievable town! All too soon, we heard the Mexican horn calling—How could anyone be so cruel? We still had more than 300 silver shops to explore! We closed our eyes, stumbled on the bus for Acapulco (for once in my life, I wished I could get lost).

ACAPULCO is a resort town. Its growth has been phenomenal, thanks to being blessed by nature in having ideal winter climate, beautiful sunsets, nice beaches, tropical plants and an abundance of fresh fruits and fish. We enjoyed staying at Holiday Inn, the private beach was so convenient and food was good.

We took a four hour boat cruise around the bay—looking at the huge elegant homes. (Lenton and Lea Pruitt found just what they wanted if they can get the architect to design an irrigation ditch on north side of home.)

We took a tour to the fabulous Princess Hotel. The hotel has a panoramic view of the bay. The campus and golf course are spacious and beautiful. Strolling through this luxurious place, my thoughts turned to Howard Hughes. How could he lock himself in a dark room and watch an old movie in the midst of all this beauty? (R. G. Dunlap volunteered to stay awhile to see if he could answer the question!)

We continued on to Las Brisas to visit the "Cross of Peace" and admire the gardens and elaborate homes on mountain sites.

We watched the world-famous divers perform at La Quebrada.

Virginia Dyson took the exciting parachute flight. (We took pictures of her departure feeling she might never return.)

Wendell Tooley discovered a fast way to gain weight. He was standing on the beach, dressed in his tennis shorts, a large wave rolled in. The under-tow pulled him under. When he came up his clothes were filled with small rocks.

It was interesting sitting on the beach, under a palm shade, listening to Lorene Newberry, Helen Lipham and Lea Pruitt "bargain" with the natives for shoe-string bikinis (they said for their granddaughters??)

However, Mary Tom Tooley was at the head of the class in "beach-bargaining." She just smiled that sweet smile, stated her price and got it!

We enjoyed many things while in Mexico. A special treat was the abundance of fresh fruits, pineapples, oranges, grapefruit, limes, cantaloupe, watermelons, papaya etc.—also the beautiful flowers.

By Lorene Newberry
The Mexico tour was a wonderful tour and with friends that were always ready to prowl, made it an exceptional tour.

Mexico City with its beautiful churches, a university that costs so little that anyone can attend from a financial point, but if they don't have passing grades and aren't there for their education, out they go.

The pyramids are something to wonder about—how the people could have built them so well hundreds of years ago and to see them being uncovered over such a big area.

Never did we see so many Volkswagens, buses and taxi. There were very, very few bigger cars, very few pick-ups and we saw two campers and they were the pick-up type. The more beautiful homes might have three or four cars in the driveway but they were always small cars.

To see the farmers trying to farm a hillside and to see oxen pulling the plow! And Orval was impressed with the man riding the burro with his wife and kids walking behind!! To see women washing their kids and clothes in the stream and there weren't many streams. To see children carrying squirming iguanas tied together. They are huge lizards. We asked the guide what they did with them and he said they made awfully good "chicken" for Mexican food!! To see hay stored up in the trees so animals couldn't reach it.

Squatters are plentiful everywhere. It seems that if a family can throw up a shack on government land and spend the night in it they cannot make them move, but to see a family of them between two huge hotels in Acapulco was hard to believe, but there they were with no water; the girls carried buckets on their heads after filling them from faucets that watered shrubbery. They had an out house and hens with baby chicks that seemed to live in the house with them.

The vendors peddled their wares and we bargained for them. Betty Battey said she always bought first, then everybody else got on the bus and told how much less they had paid than she had.

And then Virginia Dyson was the only one of the group brave enough to ride the parachute that was pulled by a boat as she went high above the bay before they brought her back to land. The rest of us cheered her all we could—we told her we would use her vacant seat on the plane for our purchases and Helen Dunlap took her picture telling her, "I'll tell your kids this was the last I saw of your mother."

It was a fun trip.

What interested us was the country, the way some of the people still preserve their food, the roller coaster roads, and the churches.

Also, their food was very good.

There was a stir on the beach near the water, and looking toward the commotion we could see someone dressed in "the original swimsuit" complete with pantaloons legs, a tie belt over a long blouse featuring puffed sleeves, all in a dark navy. The suit was completed with a matching bonnet from which flowed locks of wavy black hair. With a guffaw of spontaneous laughter we glanced to see the face belonging to all this and it was none other than our own Betty Battey, of course. She actually got it wet and discovered to her dismay that the old fabric wasn't dye-fast.

"Until such time as there is a successful boll weevil eradication program in the Cotton Belt east of us, we on the High Plains are looking at a never ending, every-year control program to protect ourselves."

So spoke Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., March 30 before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture and Related Agencies. Appearing at the request of the National Cotton Council, Johnson testified in favor of a requested $1.7 million appropriation to fund a trial boll weevil eradication and integrated pest management program in parts of North and South Carolina.

Further explaining the intense interest of the Texas High Plains in the eradication trials for the Southeast, Johnson detailed the costs incurred and the benefits received in PCG's own 13-year-old High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program.

The High Plains program since 1964 has seen an aggregate of about 11 million cotton acres sprayed with ultra low volume malathion at a cost of almost $13.5 million. Some were Federal and State funds and about $6.5 million came from area producers. The program, Johnson pointed out, has confined weevil infestation to about ten percent of the cotton acreage in PCG's 25-county territory.

"The success of our program, both as to physical containment of the weevil and the economic benefit derived therefrom, is without question," Johnson stated, citing the conclusions drawn from a joint study by the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Texas A & M University.

That study showed about $40 in benefits for each $1 cost in the High Plains effort, it was noted, "meaning that spending $13 million has saved our producers over $500 million in control costs, yield and quality losses."

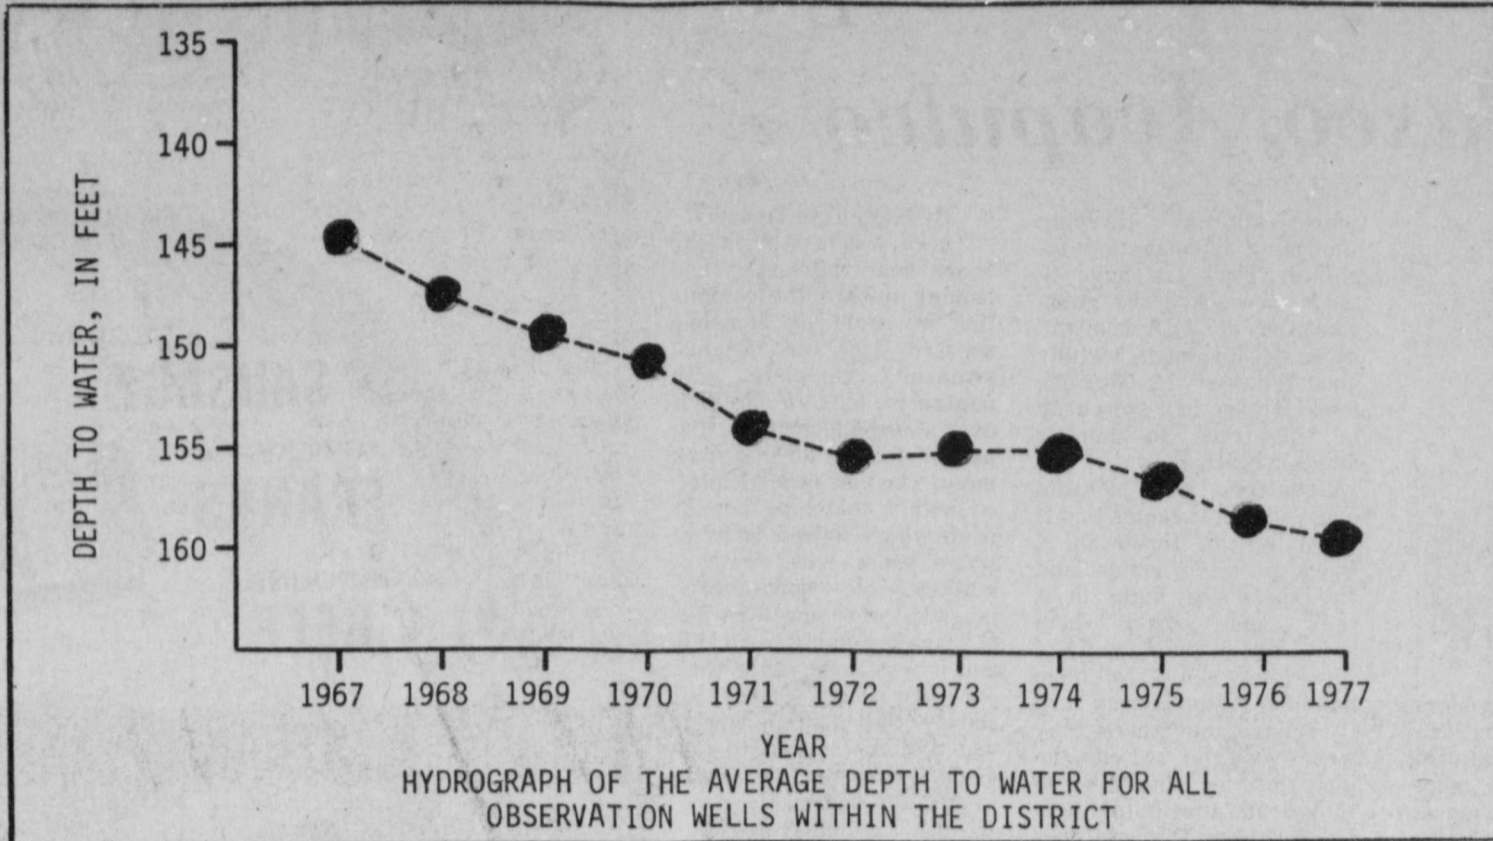

The PCG official also referred to the fact that Texas is now successfully conducting integrated pest management programs in 20 small areas of the state, five of them in the High Plains area. The objective, he said, is to achieve a statewide management program that will reduce the overall cost of pest control and achieve a reduction in the total insecticide requirement.

Johnson emphasized that integrated pest management programs should be an integral part of, and would be an invaluable supplement to eradication. The two "go together like peaches and cream," he said.

Floyd Irrigation Water Declines 3.42 Feet

by Don Smith

A preliminary evaluation of the data obtained from January 1977 measurements of the depth-to-water values in the 800-plus water level observation wells within the District has been completed. The overall direction of change continues to be a decline or drop in the water table; this trend became apparent soon after the introduction of groundwater pumpage to the area and has continued without reversal to date.

The rate of decline (feet per year or percent of reduction to the aquifer) has a direct relationship to the amount or volume of water removed from the aquifer through pumpage. Year-to-year and area-to-area pumpage extractions have normally been highly variable and closely aligned to such factors as the thickness of the aquifer, soil type of the land surfaces, intensity of well development, crop type patterns, distribution of precipitation and other criteria of varying importance. For these reasons, the validity of observed data becomes more meaningful when viewed in perspective to established long term trends with the annual changes serving as a comparison to overall averages.

The table "Average Decline of Water Table"—serves to depict the changes within each county, or that portion of the county contained within the District's boundaries.

County	Avg. Decline in ft. 1976-1977	Avg. Annual Decline in ft. 1968-1977
Armstrong	1.40	1.19
Bailey	3.09	1.44
Castro	3.86	2.96
Cochran	1.44	0.16
Crosby	2.68	1.73

Lynn	-0.55	-0.39
Parmer	4.01	3.08

Randall	0.89	1.50

Comparison of the one-year change to the ten year average annual change clearly illustrates the areas where an extremely dry Spring and early Summer necessitated extensive pumpage. By contrast, Lynn County data reflects the more than adequate rainfall received during the growing season.

The Table "Summary of Water-Level Measurements", presents data for the District on the number of wells measured, the minimum, maximum and average depths to water for each county in January 1968 and January, 1977.

While numerical statistics may lend themselves to a variety of interpretations, it would appear that the calculated values for the average-to-water within the District have not experienced as large an incremental change from year-to-year as was noted in the past. In retrospect, a marked change in the yearly overall increase in average depth became noticeable in 1972 and subsequent years' data have helped to validate this change in the

More About The A & M West Texas Regional Training Center

Officials of the Texas Engineering Extension Service and representatives of the City of Floydada will join in ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the West Texas Regional Training Center on Friday, April 15.

The ceremonies will officially mark the opening of the first regional training center of the Texas Engineering Extension Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System. Administrative offices are located on the main campus of Texas A&M University, with training facilities located in Galveston, Houston, Renner, and Weslaco.

"Through the new regional facility and through its facilities on the campus of Texas A&M University, its research and extension centers, and locations throughout the state, the Texas Engineering Extension Service affords an opportunity for all Texans to participate in training programs which are not available through local resources," said James R. Bradley, director of the Texas Engineering Extension Service.

"Our goal at the West Texas Regional Training Center is to provide training for the rural electric cooperatives and municipal and county governments of the West Texas area in water and wastewater treatment, law enforcement and secu-city, fire protection, and electric power utilities," Bradley added.

In its role as a service organization of the state, the Engineering Extension Service provides training programs on a statewide basis for industry, municipal government, utilities, and other trades requiring vocational or industrial training.

These programs are developed and conducted by the 13 specialized training divisions which include building codes inspection, construction equipment, electric power utilities, and electronics.

Basic programs in fire protection training are also offered, with special training in marine firefighting and liquefied natural gas fire prevention and control provided.

The Law Enforcement and Security Training Division offers instruction on three levels—basic, intermediate, and advanced—to meet the needs of all facets of the law enforcement community.

The program in Loss Control Training covers procedures for identifying, comparing, and evaluating specific areas of potential occupational accidents, illnesses, and injuries.

Training is also provided by the Texas Engineering Extension Service in the areas of oil and hazardous material control, telecommunications, and vocational industrial teacher education.

The Supervisory Training Division offers programs of knowledge and technique development for all supervisory/management personnel.

A relatively new division of the Engineering Extension Service is Public Works Training. Programs are conducted in six major areas of public works: solid waste, construction and maintenance, engineering, lighting, airports, and garages.

A Public Works Resource Center was established in May 1976 to serve as the focal point of public works technological analysis, organization, and dissemination throughout the state.

The Water and Wastewater Training Division offers courses ranging from basic water chemistry to equipment maintenance for water and wastewater treatment personnel.

In addition to the year-around programs, the Texas Engineering Extension Service organizes and conducts special courses requested by industry, such as a surveyors short course, a crane inspectors seminar, and a structural drafting program.

"Through its 13 training divisions, the Texas Engineering Extension Service provides supplemental training in vocational and industrial trades to employed persons so they can upgrade themselves, be promoted within their organizations, and become overall better citizens," Bradley said.

Don't change your fashion habits for a trip. It will make you uncomfortable and self-conscious. If, for example, you don't like wearing a raincoat in Philadelphia, don't buy one for Amsterdam. Rely instead on an umbrella.

In countries where an afternoon siesta is part of the daily routine, avoid going to sleep immediately after a heavy meal. Nothing adds weight so speedily as a two-hour siesta after a big luncheon.

This busy reporter is hammering out an important news story. Perhaps he is reporting a bank robbery . . . or the threat of war . . . or a major disaster, like an earthquake or a famine. The reporter is working against time. He has to get this story in the next edition; and he has to have the facts. Most newspaper stories come to a conclusion. They soon lose their "news" value, and become history. But one of the greatest stories of all time is ever fresh . . . ever relevant. It is the story of God's great Gift to man . . . the story of a promise of life after death. Through the life of Jesus Christ, through the Holy Scriptures and through the Church, we can hear this story forever, knowing that the greatest story ever told is NEWS today.
