★ FOR SCHOOL FINANCE BILL

★ Lockney ISD Hopes For Special Session

Lockney Independent School District and other school districts, especially those in rural communities, all over the whole High Plains Area are hoping Governor Dolph Briscoe will call a special session of the Texas Legislature to pass a new school finance bill, according to Lockney Superintendent John Peck.

The legislature ended the regular 1977 term Monday without passing a school finance bill, and the governor said he planned to call a special session rather than let state aid to local school districts revert to the present law, under which more than 500 districts would lose money.

The Lockney superintendent said if no new law is passed before September, the Lockney district will have to come up with an additional (approx-mately) $157,500 to maintain the existing program for the 1977-78 school year. And that's excluding inflation.

Peck explained that Lockney's Local Fund Assignment (the share of expenses the local district must come up with; in 1976-77 was about $147,000, based on property values in the district of approximately $42 million. Next year (if no new law is passed) the Lockney Local Fund Assignment could be about $304,500 if a new study of property values is implemented. Property value in the Lockney district would be set at approximately $87 million under the Governor's Office of Economic Resources (GOER) Study, and Peck said "a person in the Texas Education Agency" has said that the GOER study would be used for setting Local Fund Assignments.

One small school district in the area would have a Local Fund Assignment increase of about 600 percent, Peck said, if there is no change in the school finance law by September.

So smaller school districts like

Lockney are hoping for a special session to avoid that increase in Local Fund Assignment. The governor has said he would call the special session only if he has assurances that both the house and senate would give the two-thirds majorities passed late in the summer.

QAP Abandonment Plea Denied

PADUCAH — An Interstate Commerce Commission judge Thursday recommended that a railroad's application to abandon 194.8 miles of line running through Cottle, Motley, Floyd and Hardeman Counties be denied.

Administrative Law Judge Geraldine R. Keys' decision against the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railway Company follows public hearings held both here and in Washington, D.C., last year.

The railway, a subsidiary of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Company, had contended it was losing revenue on the line. As few as 34 railroad cars per mile per year used the line, the company claimed.

Area citizens presented figures disputing the company's contention, saying enough wheat, milo and cotton was shipped along the line to make it profitable.

They charged the parent company was juggling figures to justify its money loss claim.

The 104.8-mile railway line runs from a point near Acme in Hardeman County to Floydada in Floyd County.

Dougherty Producers Cooperative elevator manager Bob Vickers was all smiles after learning that the QA&P railroad that serves his business and community will not be abandoned.

Bob said he had heard that there were negotiations to merge the railroad with another company that might be more interested in keeping it going.

He said QA&P runs a train through Dougherty into Floydada about once a week, twice a week when business requires it.

By phone Friday Congressman Omar Burleson in making the abandonment denial report said that QA&P would have 20 days to appeal the decision deadline being June 22.

Mackenzie Lake Open To Boaters, Campers, Visitors

At a Mackenzie Water Authority board of directors meeting Tuesday, directors voted to open "all the lake to boaters, campers and visitors. Previously, the lake has only been open to boats not harboring gasoline outboard or inboard-outboard motors. Beginning at noon Friday, boats of every size, shape and description will be allowed to cruise the waters of Mackenzie.

JIM GREEN, general manager at the lake, "Board members and officials from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department met at great length to outline future plans of this watershed. Due to the lake opening for boats, we had to make some rules and regulations," Green said.

"Fridays and Saturdays, we will charge $1.50 for boat permits and the same for recreation permits," Green explained. "Sundays through Thursdays, the fee will be $1 for both boat and recreation permits. We also will have annual permits for sale at $20 each," Green said.

Texas Parks and Wildlife lake and safety rules will be applied on Mackenzie. However, the lake has deviated from some of the rules for each person's safety. There will be no boating within 50 feet of the dam. This will always be a restricted zone. There is also a no wake sign 50 yards from the launching ramp. The lake will be off-limits until noon this Friday and then there will be no limit of the boats on Mackenzie. All persons under 16 years of age will be required to wear a Coast Guard Approved Flotation device. Older persons will follow TP&WD rules and regulations.

"CURRENTLY THE LAKE is muddy and a lot of trash is floating due to the tremendous rise from recent rains," Green said. "We've been cleaning the lake of large debris in order to eliminate any possibilities of a boating accident. Boaters will still have to use common sense while boating on this lake," Green emphasized.

"We're looking for a large crowd this weekend," Green pointed out. "We hope we have the best possible rules and regulations for any lake in Texas. We're mostly concerned with the safety of Lake Mackenzie visitors," Green said. "A lake patrol will be on the water at most times, along with state game wardens. This will be a great recreational opportunity to the sportsmen of this area and we hope we have the best possible facilities," Green stated.

Buys Elevator

It was announced this week that Goodpasture Inc. had bought the South Plains Elevator and new manager is Tommy Scaff.

Scaff has been in the grain business for some 13 years and reports that the elevator and equipment are undergoing remodeling and improvements.

"We are ready for the wheat harvest and will appreciate the opportunity to serve the Floyd farmers in our area," Scaff said Thursday.

Board members also voted to allow trotting on Mackenzie. There's no certain boundaries for water-skiers, but the upper ends of the lake are shallow and would pose a threat to skiers. Near the dam region is the most likely spot for skiers.

Tax Rep. In Floydada Thursday

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Lubbock office to Floydada on Thursday June 9, 1977 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Raymond Bogus will meet with local taxpayers at the Floyd County Court House Room-103 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

"If Floydada-area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Bogus will be there to assist them," Bullock said. "We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on Thursday June 9, 1977 that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FREE tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Lubbock office, headed by Donald F. Paxton, serves Lubbock and surrounding counties.

Auto Accident Bill $732,000

NEW YORK: From an accident standpoint and from a cost standpoint, are Floyd County car owners better off than those in other areas?

What are the chances of a local resident being involved in some kind of automobile accident during the course of a year?

Data showing the accident records in every state and the economic loss entailed have been compiled by the Highway Users Federation, the National Safety Council and others.

According to their statistics, one car in every ten will figure in an accident annually. As for the average motorist, he will have two every eight years, one of them through his own fault.

Nationally, in 1976, there were 47,100 traffic fatalities, close to 2,000,000 disabling injuries and an economic loss of more than $20 billion.

In Floyd County there has been an average of 3 motor vehicle deaths per year, according to the Government's last three annual reports. In addition, for every one who was killed, there were about 40 who were seriously injured, it is estimated.

In the state of Texas as a whole, the cost of all this, in terms of medical expenses, property damage, loss of wages and the like, is placed at $1,290 million.

This boils down, according to the findings, to $155 per motor vehicle registered in the state. Elsewhere in the United States, the average cost is $144 per vehicle. In the West South Central States it is $159.

For the 4,720 passenger cars in Floyd County, the cost per year totals approximately $732,000, based upon the area figures.

Because of the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit imposed a few years ago to cope with the gasoline shortage, the nation's accident rate dropped dramatically. More recently, however, many drivers have been ignoring the restriction and the rate, as a consequence, has been rising.

Driving Course Starts Monday

The Defensive Driving Course sponsored by Lockney Rotary club starts Monday in Rebekah Lodge Hall. Instruction is scheduled Monday and Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m.

Those who complete the course are eligible for a 10-percent reduction on automobile liability and collision insurance for a three-year period.

Hail Suppression Compromise Reached

A-J Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Water Development Board members here Thursday took the easy way out of making a controversial decision on bitterly opposed license renewal applications for two South Plains weather modification companies.

At the urging of Lubbock board member George McCleskey, the six-man panel unanimously approved a motion by Glen Roney of McAllen to grant permits to the companies, a concession to them, but only through Oct. 31 and only for the target area and operational areas within eight miles of the target area — a concession to more than 4,000 protesting farmers.

The board's decision, called "a livable compromise" by attorneys for the companies and the farmers who've fought their operations since 1970, also encouraged calling elections across the South Plains to determine voter preferences for modification activities, but did not commit the board to changing the permit area or term after those elections.

Under legislation passed by the just-concluded 65th Legislature, such elections would be possible upon petition by area residents. Gov. Dolph Briscoe is expected to sign the legislation, which was carried in the Senate by Sen. Kent Hance and in the House by Rep. Jim Rudd.

The board's action received applause from modification supporters in the crowd of about 100 persons who had packed into the old Supreme Court Room of the Capitol.

After the meeting, though, both supporters of the two companies and representatives of the farmers, many dryland farmers of the South Plains, declined comment on the decision until the formal order is drawn up later this week by board General Counsel Bruce Bigelow.

Apparent confusion over whether the board was actually ordering the elections or merely suggesting them with a promise they would be considered spawned the reluctance to speak.

Board members heard nearly two hours of discussion on the applications, mainly by attorneys for the companies, Jerome Kirby of Littlefield, and for the farmers, Harrell Feldt of Midland.

Kirby argued that testimony contained in more than 640 pages of transcript from hearings in Lubbock confirmed that "we (the companies) have not hurt anybody" through weather modification operations.

Kirby claimed the two hail suppression companies have "eliminated at least 50 per cent of the hailfall" in the area and denied charges the companies had also reduced rainfall over the same period.

Feldt claimed it was Kirby's job to prove the applicants had not injured anyone or their lands and that he had not done so. He contended that the testimony made it "absolutely and completely clear" that seeded clouds produce more precipitation than unseeded clouds, but that it is less intense and thus less beneficial than natural rainfall.

Following their arguments, board members tried to unravel legal complications posed by approving a permit with the stipulation that elections called in the affected areas could change the outcome.

Final approval came on Roney's motion to approve the permits for shorter periods and for a less expansive region that the companies had requested.

Both firms had sought four-year permits to fly cloud-seeding missions.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

If the U.S. Senate has its way the allotment system ingrained in cotton production since 1938 may be suspended from the end of 1977 through 1982.

The Senate on May 24 passed a five-year farm bill which for cotton, wheat and feed grains would base each farm's allotment coverage on current year plantings. For almost 40 years farm allotments have been figured on historical plantings, with a variety of ingenious ways to protect allotment history and receive cotton allotment benefits while planting some other crop.

Should the language of the Senate bill become law, acreage planted in a given state or county or on a given farm in previous years would not be used to determine allotments. Instead, there would be no state or county allotments and each farm allotment every year would be figured as a percentage of the farm's planted acreage for that year.

First, presumably before or near the beginning of the planting season, the Secretary of Agriculture would estimate the cotton acreage required to supply domestic and export demand, plus or minus any needed carryover adjustment. Second, sometime during the season he would estimate the total number of acres planted to cotton. Acres planted would then be divided into needed acres to arrive at a percentage factor which would be used in determining individual farm allotments.

For example if planted acres were 10.8 million and needed acres were 10 million, the factor would be 92.6 percent and each farm's allotment for that year would be 92.6 percent of the farm's planted acreage.

Thus a farm with 500 acres planted to cotton would be eligible for target price payments, if called for, on 463 acres. There is a provision in the Senate bill that would preclude a factor below 90 percent. All planted acreage would be covered for purposes of determining disaster payments.

The House Ag Committee has reported a bill with essentially the same allotment provisions for wheat and feed grains, but no change in the cotton allotment system. If the House accepts the committee bill as written, the difference in cotton allotment provisions of the two bills will be settled in the Senate House Conference Committee.

With this in mind the Cotton Producer Steering Committee of the National Cotton Council is meeting June 1 and 2 in Dallas to develop if possible a position on allotments that all can support. Continuing discussions on the High Plains, including that held in the Legislative Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, are leaning toward support for the Senate's current year plantings concept.

The PCG Legislative Committee position adopted by the Board in January of this year recognized the inequities of basing cotton allotments and attendant benefits on long-past history and called for protection of cotton allotments "only through the planting of cotton or the transfer of cotton allotments by lease or sale . . ."

J.D. Smith of Littlefield, Chairman of the PCG Legislative Committee, expressed the committee's feeling that "the current plantings allotment system looks like it would accomplish our objectives even better than we thought possible when our legislative position was adopted in January."

Il Penseroso Closes Year With 'Luau'

Il Penseroso Junior Study Club members closed their club year with a Hawaiian 'luau' in the home of Mrs. Van Bradley, Thursday night week.

Using a silhouette design, Barbara McCormick used words to draw the portrait of an outstanding clubwoman, and revealed that Mrs. Bill Bigham had been chosen for that honor in Il Penseroso this year. Mrs. Bigham, a district and state first place winner with her international affairs department report, was given a small silver plate, engraved with her name and her honor.

Outgoing president Sheryl Bybee recognized her officers, and presented each with a basket of homemade bread loaves. Mrs. Bybee then installed new officers, including Cheryl Bradley, president; Mrs. Bigham, first vice president; Betonia Belt and Judy Jackson, second vice presidents; Susan Flippin, secretary; Sharon Kinard, treasurer; Brenda Elam, historian, and Gayle Jackson, reporter. The new president presented the outgoing president with a small silver plate, engraved with her name and office.

During the business meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Bradley, the members answered roll call with appreciative remarks about their affiliation with Il Penseroso. The women voted to adopt a cottage of girls at Girlstown, and also approved a new constitution. Committees were chosen to make plans for a summer outing for club members' families, a get-acquainted brunch in August, and the club's booth at the Floyd County Fair in September.

Cheryl Teeter was presented with the quilt which she had won in a drawing among club members. The individual blocks were made by club members. The women voted to make two more which will be given away next May. Lisa Mosley again will be in charge of the project.

Charades were used to reveal "secret pals" for the past year, and names were drawn for new "pals."

Mrs. Bybee reported on the high school assembly she attended in behalf of the club to present scholarships of $250 each to Patsy Burt and Tammie Carthel, graduating seniors. Also, $100 was awarded to last year's scholarship winner, Tommy Burt. The club was able to increase its scholarship fund by $500 this year with proceeds from the Christmas greeting page. (Half of that amount had been designated for the AFS foreign exchange student program in Lockney, but the program has been discontinued.)

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Belt, Bradley, Kay Martin, Lynda Gant, Flippin and Cindy Turbeville. They decorated long, low tables with gold-colored paper cloths, and centered the tables with casual arrangements of pineapples, bananas and other fruits. Candles burned in cans with cut-out designs. Homemaker Service For The Elderly

The elderly population in America today is an often misunderstood segment of our society. Too many times older citizens are stereotyped by such terms as aged, incompetent, senile, and considered unable to handle their own lives or make their own decisions, so are "put away" where they are less trouble to family and friends.

This attitude breeds loneliness and despair as the aging process takes its toll for many, in the form of disablement, reduced vision and hearing, and other physical limitations. These changes may cause one to feel and act infirm, creating a sense of uselessness and inability to do what had been so much easier before.

But this picture of the elderly is rapidly changing due to current advancements in the field of gerontology and the activity resulting from Senior Citizens' groups and organizations. Communities are recognizing the viability of their older residents and the desire to make the aging process a time of continual development, recognizing their limitations, while capitalizing on their abilities.

Floydada and Lockney are communities which are administering to the needs and assistance of the elderly. The Senior Citizens are involved in organizations and participation of all kinds, but there are those who feel that this is beyond their limitations, and even find that it is getting more difficult to perform the everyday functions as usual.

Here again, Floydada and Lockney are providing service, through the Homemaker Service Aide Program, which enables a person over 60 to receive in-home care assistance doing a variety of activities, such as help with meal preparation, personal care and grooming, light housekeeping, and other services in the home.

Through the Homemaker Service Aide Program, mature, dependable homemakers are employed from the community to perform these and other needed activities for the elderly who so desire. This type of assistance enables the client to remain at home longer, instead of having to resort to a lengthy stay in the hospital or nursing home care. The Homemaker Service Aide Program offers a new alternative, at a fee based upon the individual's monthly income, usually at a cost saving.

This program also offers new career opportunities for interested homemakers, by providing them with paraprofessional training for work with elderly. Lockney is currently seeking such homemakers.

The program is coordinated in Floydada and Lockney through the efforts of the community action centers and is sponsored by Texas Tech University, Lubbock. Anyone interested in further information concerning the Homemaker Service Aide Program is asked to contact: Kathy Green, Floydada, #983-3134 and Molly Gonzales, Lockney.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

"Trading up" to a bigger house may be impossible for many families who need more space-but enlarging their current home may be the answer.

Higher interest rates and soaring prices for building materials are making the price of new homes higher than ever. So if sufficient space exists on the lot, it may be more economical to add on to the existing house.

Almost any house built on an average size lot can accommodate at least one additional room.

A talk with the local housing authority or contractor will clarify the types of expansion permissible in a given area. The assistance of a reputable builder, architect or contractor in planning an exterior addition generally can save time and money. These professionals will know about local building codes and regulations and will help develop an appropriate plan for the house.

Unless the homeowner has had considerable experience in remodeling, it's best to let the contractor handle the job of building the floor, walls and roof of the addition. Once this part of the job is complete, the do-it-yourselfer can take over as much of the light construetion and interior finishing as his skills permit.

But even though an addition may be desirable in terms of getting the space the family needs, it can leave the family with added financial burdens. The same factors that have driven up the cost of new housing are affecting remodeling and home improvements.

Some things a family might consider if adding new rooms is the only alternative are the cost per square foot generally drops if two floors are added instead of one, and new plumbing will generally cost less if it is installed near the existing plumbing.

Also since prices vary from one contractor to another, it may pay to do some comparative shopping. Know exactly what you want or at least some definite ideas. Weigh each contractor's suggestions. Then be sure that you get estimates on the same things from each one.

Motley Slaying Trial Date Set

PLAINVIEW (Special) — Dist. Judge George Miller said Wednesday he has set a July 18 date for the capital murder trial of Larry C. Fortenberry, one of two men charged with the shotgun slaying of Motley County Sheriff Jalmar "Jinks" Wilson.

Fortenberry's trial was moved here on a change of venue from Wilson's hometown, Matador.

The other man charged in the sheriff's death, Stacy Albert Carter, went through eight days of juror examinations in Lubbock before a mistrial was declared there in his capital murder case.

The mistrial ruling came on the heels of Carter's surprise plea of guilty to a charge of attempted murder in the wounding of John Rogers, who was with Wilson when the sheriff was killed Nov. 12, 1976.

Court observers speculated that Carter agreed to turn state's evidence against Fortenberry.

They speculate that after Fortenberry's trial, Carter may be sentenced on a reduced charge in connection with Wilson's murder — with the punishment possibly to run concurrently with the 20-year sentence the North Carolina man was handed after pleading guilty to shooting Rogers.

Carter and Fortenberry face life or death situations under the capital murder charges against them.

Life imprisonment or death sentences are the only punishment options under Texas law in a capital case.

Only eight of the necessary 12 jurors had been selected for Carter's trial when the court proceedings in Lubbock came to an abrupt halt after more than a week of work.

Court observers expect similar problems choosing a jury in the case here.

Miller, judge of the 110th Judicial District, said that names of 250 prospective panelists will be drawn in Plainview Friday afternoon.

Wilson, 61, was just 49 days away from retirement when he met his death at the side of U.S. 70 about 3.5 miles east of Matador.

The wounded Rogers, 49, is said to have told investigators that he and the sheriff were looking for stray cattle when they came upon two men apparently tampering with the license plate on Rogers' car.

As the sheriff was questioning the men, they suddenly produced sawed-off shotguns and began firing, prosecutors assert.

Fortenberry, 28, of Mount Hermon, La., is represented by court-appointed attorneys Steve Hurt and Joe Cox of Plainview.

SOMEONE GAVE Joe Teague a book called "The Joys of Hometown Living" by Nathanael Olson, and Joe loaned it to me some time back so I could read it, because he thought it was pretty good, and so do I.

The book is divided into 15 short chapters or sections, and includes poetry, reminiscing by the author and others, and in general makes really fine reading for folks over 40 or so. I say this because I doubt it would have as much appeal for younger persons until they kept it around for a few years.

The general theme of the book is that it's great to live in a small community because such places have more of an atmosphere of one big family; one feels more like he belongs, and when someone has trouble, the rest of the folks pitch in to help.

I have lived in large communities like Dallas, Fort Worth and Lubbock, in small towns like Sudan, Throckmorton, Newport and Newburgh, Ind., and in medium-size communities like Slaton and Plainview. And I agree that the medium-size and small places are the best to live in, the best for raising families, and in most ways have all kinds of advantages over the big metropolitan areas, where most folks don't care who you are or what you do, so long as you don't get their parking space.

Each division in Olson's book is called "The Joy of (something or other)". For example, the first one is called "The Joy of Familiar Surroundings." Some of the other "joys" he dwells on include first-name relationships, community activities, neighborly concern, raising children in a safe environment, clean air, feeling secure, personalized services, family living, patriotism, and worshiping God with family and friends.

He tells lots of good things about smaller towns — how nice it is to know the banker, doctor and lawyer by their first names, and how much fun it is to go shopping, because you'll know and like the other folks you meet in the stores, customers and clerks and owners, and many other things of similar nature.

Anyway, it is a good book with the subtitle, "A nostalgic tribute to those qualities that make life warm and wonderful." I don't know where Joe got it, but he may have a heck of a time getting it back.

Mennonite colony settles in West Texas

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP) — It could be a scene from a Hollywood western frontier epic.

The hard-working menfolk toil in the fields trying to urge crops from the West Texas plains. The women dress plainly and wear no jewelry. The children do their lessons in a one-room ranch house school.

It could be a movie scene but it's happening in 1977.

And these frontiersmen speak German.

These new pioneers are Mennonites — looking for a homeland. A colony of 600 uprooted their families from Mexico (too much political unrest) and Canada (too cold) and headed for Texas. They have purchased more than 7,500 acres near the New Mexico border.

They are not looking for a new life. Rather, Bishop Henry Reimer says, the colonists want to go back to their traditional lifestyles — including black wedding dresses and hard work.

"This is why we come to Texas," the leader of the Old Colony Mennonite Church said. "To get back to the old ways and to keep the kids on the farm and keep their German."

The Mennonites are Protestants and use a German version of the Bible. The family is responsible for instilling religion in their children.

They began arriving in the Lone Star State last fall. Eventually, they hope to bring thousands more settlers to the vast property.

In addition to the crops the men have started a dairy herd and plan to establish cheese factories, machine shops and a furniture factory.

They have received a warm welcome from area residents. Seminole Mayor Bob Clark said the Mennonites are not "welfare people."

"They take care of themselves, control their children and they are work-oriented; and, for that reason, I am glad they are here," Clark said.

Local bank president Dwayne Herman also thinks the new neighbors will be an advantage for the region.

"The only negative comment I've heard is that they might not spend as much money here because they are self-sustaining," Herman said.

The Mennonites say they will pay local taxes although they could claim a religious exemption for their church-owned land. They say they'll pay the taxes until they build their own school system.

Bishop Reimer hopes Texas will provide the right atmosphere for the children to "learn like we grew up."

"We have to work for our kids — what else do we have to work for? In the Bible it says we should keep them in their mother's language," he said.

And they are doing just that. The lessons are taught in German. English is taught as a second language.

In the small schoolhouse the children (ages six to 13) sit on wooden benches. The boys on one side and the girls on the other. The Bible is the only textbook.

The girls never cut their blonde hair. It's kept in braids. They wait quietly while the blue jean-clad boys leave at the end of the day. The boys always leave first, another age-old tradition.

Another Mennonite custom dictates that a woman wears a black dress on her wedding day. Helen Reimer, 25, the bishop's daughter, explains the simple reason for the simple garb.

"It is the way it is always done," she said.

Chihuahua, Mexico, is the current site of the world's largest Mennonite colony. But Reimer thinks 30,000 of the Mexican Mennonites may eventually come to West Texas. He said they hope to buy 50,000 more acres on the plains.

Squatters are part of the problem in Mexico, Diedrich Reimer, 42, said. The peasants move onto the land and stay.

"They have been doing this for years and years. They take it away, start living on it and working on it and the law starts helping them."

The Mexican government has not helped the Mennonites, Reimer said.

"They want money — the policemen, tax inspectors and whatever. They try to get more than they are supposed to, more than the law says they should," said Reimer, who is not related to the bishop.

The Canadian Mennonites also face a financial crunch. Reimer said farmland there costs up to $3,000 an acre. The Texas Mennonites hope that many of their 20,000 brethren north of the border will make the trip south to join the colony.

The Mennonites believe in large families, averaging six children each. They would like to turn those large families into a large colony in Cowboy country.

Idalou's Police Chief Tim Ward Quits Post

IDALOU (Special) — After seven years as the town's police chief, fire marshal and then chief ambulance driver, 28-year-old Tim Ward is looking forward to a less hectic life as an insurance salesman.

Effective Friday, Ward is resigning his position as police chief. The city council, which appointed him to his offices, will decide this month whether they will ask him to continue serving in the other two capacities.

Ward, of Floydada, moved to Idalou to accept the jobs in 1970. He had served as deputy sheriff and deputy marshal in Crosby County.

"This is a beautiful town, the people here have been very good to me and I hate to leave them but I got a better job opportunity offered," Ward said. Since his tenure began the city has added emergency equipment and built onto the municipal building, he said.

Although Ward will not be moving from Idalou in departing from his former jobs he said, "I feel I'll be leaving a big part of myself."

An Idalou patrolman will act as chief until a replacement is appointed.

Maybe you've heard mention of or read about EER . . . but didn't pay too much attention at the time. EER stands for ENERGY EFFICIENCY RATIO and is a measure of the efficiency of various appliances or equipment in using energy. Some do the same job using less energy than others.

We have a booklet in our offices that's free for the asking. It's called "The ABC's of EER," and it briefly and simply gives you an adequate explanation of what EER means to you if you're about to buy air conditioning equipment.

Sales Tax Collections Up 16%

AUSTIN-Comptroller Bob Bullock reported Thursday that state tax collections for the current fiscal year are running a healthy 16 percent over the same period in fiscal 1976.

Bullock said tax collections through the first seven months of fiscal 1977 (September 1, 1976 to March 31, 1977) totaled $2.24 billion, an increase of $315.8 million over the same period of fiscal 1976.

The Comptroller noted that during this period sales tax revenue has increased by 16 percent, motor vehicle sales tax by 25 percent and natural gas production tax by 33 percent.

(A 159 percent increase in corporate franchise tax revenue was due largely to the release of funds paid under protest after the settlement of a court case, he explained.)

The report on tax collections was included in Bullock's monthly financial statement for May.

The Comptroller reported that total state revenues thus far in fiscal 1977 are $3.8 billion, up 11 percent over 1976. Meanwhile, he said, total state expenditures during the same period were $3.95 billion, an increase of only 1 percent over 1976 levels.

The state closed its books at the end of March with a cash balance of $1.31 billion, Bullock concluded.

New City Policeman Former Movie Stunt Man

By Wendell Tooley

Floydada's new policeman Jim Gollihar probably won't ever have to use his "gun slinging" prowess in Floydada, but just for the record he's a former western shoot-out stunt man who decided that he and his family needed the security of a regular monthly check.

"Pay is very good for movie and contract work for various towns for shoot-outs, but the work and the pay just aren't regular enough," Jim said as he looked over past pictures of stunt work in California and various Texas towns.

His biggest and best stunt contract was to be one of the bad guys when he worked for Universal Studios in "Bad Night in Jericho." The movie starred Dean Martin and George Peppard... also Slim Pickens.

In the shoot-out near the end of the show... Jim was one of the first bad guys to be shot and his horse dragged him down the street.

The shoot-outs Jim has participated in at Electra, Texas, (Cowpoke City) one in Wichita for the Culpepper Cattle Company, are similar to those staged each day at Six Flags.

STARTED AT EARLY AGE
Jim was reared at Graham, Texas and entered the stunt business at the early age of 15. He says there is a lot of skill not only in fast gun slinging but trick falls in the street from horses, high porches, roofs, and bar room brawls.

LAW ENFORCEMENT
Since 1972 Jim has concentrated on being "the good guy" as he served as deputy sheriff in Cotton County, Oklahoma, then served at Olney and Electra Tx. for the police department. He has four children: Jimmy Dale 17, Douglas Charles 14, Vera Darlene 7 and Saundra Sue 6.

LIKES THE YOUTH
Jim says he enjoys working with the youth of the city and plans a bicycle safety rodeo this summer to better inform the youth on traffic rules here. The Gollihars live at 518 West Lee.

The American farmer builds two things better than anyone else in the world. He builds the next generation, passing along a special kind of wisdom... respect for the soil, honesty, independence, and faith in the future. And he builds his land, leaving it better than he found it. That kind of building usually requires borrowed long-term capital. That's where we have helped for 60 years.
