Bank Deposits Up Over Two Million Dollars

The June 30th State Bank Call reflects a continuing prosperity for Floyd County as its two First National Banks were up in deposits over the same period a year ago over two million dollars.

Most of the increase was at the Floydada bank which was up in deposits about two and a half million dollars. The bank showed $22,661,994.01 this June 30th as compared to $20,107,282.45 last year. The loans were up from $7,403,461.82 to $10,191,678.25.

The Lockney bank was up in deposits from $12,352,807.55 to $12,357,166.27 and loans were also up from $5,813,977.38 to $7,019,955.26.

Clay Henry at the Floydada bank said deposits were up because farmers were selling both 1976 and 1977 wheat in the government loan program. He said some money "had come home."

Henry said a lot of the increase in loans was for farmer's increasing costs of operation.

Gene Collins at the Lockney bank said not much wheat money had been deposited and the increase in loans reflected the greater size of farming operations, plus overall expansion in the Lockney trade area.

Some Elevators Receive More Wheat Than Last Year

In comparing this year's wheat harvest with last, some of the grain elevators were called to determine an estimate this week.

Lockney Cooperatives three elevators reported about the same amount of wheat handled as last year.

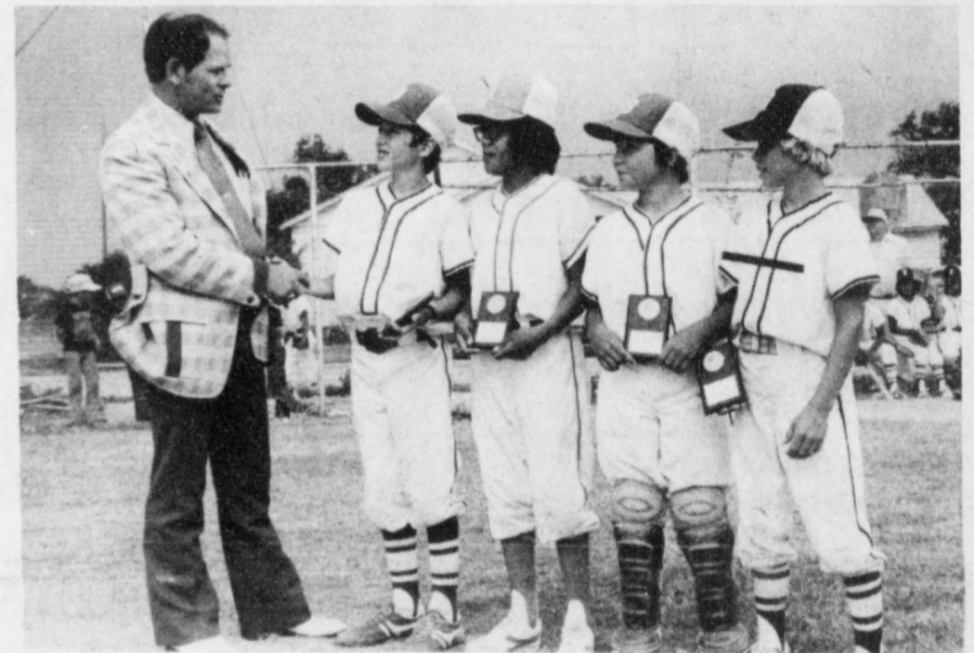

D&P at Dougherty and Lon Davis Grain were down about 40% from last year mainly due to a lot of hail storm damage to the wheat in their areas.

Producers Cooperative four elevators reported about 20% down from last year.

Only elevators showing a gain were Muncy and Sandhill Elevators which were up some 20%.

This year's wheat crop made a better per acre yield than last year, but several damaging hail storms hurt the overall county production.

It is expected that County Agent Doyle Warren will come up with an estimate of overall county production to determine the economic impact.

"BEST" AND "MOST IMPROVED" BALLPLAYERS...in Lockney Lions Club Little League this year received award plaques before the Indians-All-Stars game Thursday night. Receiving plaques from Lions president James Race were (top) the "Best Player" award winners Joey Davis, Robert Rendon, Ronnie Durham and Kelly Hayes and (bottom) the "Most Improved Player" award winners Joey Davis, Israel Gonzales, Keith Owens and Brent Hallmark. CHAMBER DIRECTORS MEET MONDAY

Lockney Chamber of Commerce board of directors will have their monthly meeting breakfast at 7 o'clock Monday morning (July 11) at Rogers' Cafe.

Tax Representative Floydada Thursday

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Lubbock office to Floydada on Thursday, July 12th to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Raymond Bogus will meet with local taxpayers at the Floydada Court House—Room 103 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

"If Floyd County merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Bogus will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on July 14th that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FREE tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Lubbock office, headed by Donald F. Paxton, serves Lubbock and surrounding counties.

Tennis Tourney Won't Conflict With Baseball

Young tennis players reminded that they may enter Lockney Tennis Club's Elementary Tennis Tournament through Saturday evening (July 9). Call Cheryl Bradley, 652-3110, to enter. Entry fee is 50 cents per event. You do not have to be a member of the tennis club to enter.

Singles, doubles, and mixed doubles play is scheduled in three divisions—grades one and two, grades three and four, and grades five and six. Players will be classified according to LAST YEAR'S grade level.

Play begins at 10 a.m. Monday, July 11. No matches will be scheduled during Peewee League baseball games or practice sessions.

City Council Okays Out-Of-Town Water Connections

Lockney's city council okayed sale of city water to additional out-of-town residents (up to one mile from the city limits) Thursday morning at the regular monthly council meeting. During a water shortage in the summer of 1975, the council had voted to stop connections of city water to out-of-town residents "...until the city has an ample supply of water..." and no new water connections outside the city limits had been made since then.

At the request of a person planning to locate a residence near the city, the council voted to allow new water hookups outside the city, up to a mile from the city limits, because the city now has an "ample supply"—not an abundance, it was stressed, just an ample supply.

EQUALIZATION BOARD
An ordinance was passed establishing a board of tax equalization, with the council acting as the equalization board, to meet on Tuesday, July 26.

MEET WITH DISTRICT ATTORNEY

District Attorney Randy Hollums met with the council and proposed appointing a single investigative officer for felony crimes in the county, to be agreed upon by both city police departments and the county sheriff's office. The council agreed to "go along with" a preliminary plan and to allow the local police department to enter into a trial agreement.

Present at the Thursday-morning meeting at city hall were Mayor Claude

Dieters Can Enjoy Low Fat Meat Cuts

SAN FRANCISCO, CA.—You're watching your diet but you still enjoy eating. You can do both and perhaps more easily than you think, according to Frances Hall, Asst. Director of the Nutrition Research Dept. of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

For instance, in the meat category alone there are many more low-fat cuts than most people realize, said the nutritionist dietitian, who represented the Meat Board at the American Medical Assn. convention, June 18-22.

Mrs. Hall noted that the average daily per capita consumption of cooked, lean red meats (beef, veal, pork, lamb) amounts to only 2.9 ounces. She also observed that there's a general misconception that meat contains a great deal of cholesterol. "Actually, no muscle meat products are regarded as primary sources of cholesterol," she said.

Mrs. Hall, a Registered Dietitian, said: "The average cut of lean beef round or pork loin chop contains much of the protein needed as a daily nutritional requirement...yet contains considerably less fat and fewer calories than is generally believed."

As far as cholesterol is concerned, Mrs. Hall said a 100 g (3 1/2 oz.) serving of lean, raw beef, pork, veal or lamb averages only 68 mg of cholesterol—beef, 68; veal, 71; pork, 62; lamb, 71. For comparison, following are the mg of cholesterol per 100 g of other foods (raw basis): herring, 85; mackerel, 95; shrimp, 150; chicken, with skin, 81; chicken, meat only breast, 79; drumstick, 91; turkey, with skin, 74. One large whole egg contains 252 mg cholesterol. These figures were compiled by the Consumer and Food Economics Research Division, ARS, USDA, and published in the Journal of the American Dietetic Assn., Vol. 61, No. 2.

Some of the low-in-fat cuts of beef include: eye of round; top round steak; bottom round steak; rump roast; tenderloin; flanked steak; sirloin tip roast; sirloin steak; heel of round; boneless neck pot roast and stew meat. For lamb, either the leg or loin chop are low-in-fat, stated Mrs. Hall.

"There is still a great deal of misinformation going the rounds about pork in relation to fat," she continued. "Actually, many pork cuts are lower in fat than either beef or lamb. This misunderstanding about pork and fat is most unfortunate. It means many people are depriving themselves of one of our most delectable foods." Among the low-in-fat pork cuts are: sirloin roast; loin chop; fresh ham, center cut; cured ham, butt; cured ham, whole; and tenderloin.

Today's meat animal is bred and fed to produce more meat, less fat; and the packers and retailers trim the fat more closely today than was the common practice in earlier times, Mrs. Hall explained.

Service Officers are aware that a number of government agencies have already instituted programs allowing persons receiving their benefits to have their monthly payments deposited directly to their accounts at banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, etc. This action is referred to as Direct Deposit/Electronic Funds Transfer (DD/EFT), and is already in effect for recipients of Social Security and some other Federal benefits.

The VA is currently operating a pilot program of DD/EFT in the states of Florida and Georgia, beginning with the checks dated June 1, 1977. Plans are already underway to accomplish full implementation for all states, starting with checks dated October 1, 1977. All persons receiving VA compensation, pension, DIC or Emergency Officer Retirement will receive, with their checks on August 1, 1977, an insert explaining the procedures necessary to join DD/EFT.

Enrollment in the DD/EFT program as it pertains to VA benefit payments will be accomplished by each individual veteran or other beneficiary completing a Standard Form 1199A, "Authorization for Deposit of Federal Recurring Payments." These forms will be available at all financial organizations such as banks, saving and loan offices, etc. The form must be completed and signed by both the payee and the financial organization with which payments will be deposited. The completed Form 1199A is to be forwarded by the financial organization to the VA regional office of jurisdiction. It is important that each payee wanting a direct deposit be sure where his or her VA records are located. The payee should furnish the bank with the correct address of the VA office to which the completed form should be sent, thus avoiding any delays that would occur with non-delivery.

The VA is now developing procedures to enable a payee to request that a change be made in the financial institution to receive their checks. In most instances, a new Form 1199A will be sufficient to allow the VA to stop sending payments to one bank and commence paying another, in accordance with the payee's request. In the event a payee desires to terminate a Direct Deposit Authorization, he or she should submit the request in writing, to the appropriate VA regional office.

VA payees who receive their August 1, 1977, payments should pay particular attention to the information shown on the accompanying envelope stuffer. The information provided in the paragraphs above will enable Service Officers to better understand the VA procedures for initiating a DD/EFT. Many VA claimants will be ready to initiate action for direct deposit immediately, while others may wish to delay such action. See your Service Officer for more information.

In some cases, deceptive promotional tactics were used to sell the coupon books. Telephone solicitors for one outfit convinced the consumers to buy the book by telling them that the proceeds would go to charity. They may say it will go to help build a playing field for local youngsters. As it turns out, only a dollar of the $20-dollar purchase price will benefit the local charity; the rest of the money will be profit for the coupon book promoter.

So, in short, coupon books aren't always the bargain they seem to be. Here are some ways to avoid the problem of

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cochran and children returned home last Sunday from a two weeks vacation through New Mexico, Arizona, California, along the coast to Portland, Oregon and back through Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado. They enjoyed Disneyland and Yellowstone National Park during the travel and spent some time in Portland visiting his brother, William Cochran and family.

Miss Fulton Honored With Bridal Shower

Brenda Fulton, bride elect of Rex Yearly, was honored with a pre-bridal courtesy June 30th in the Johnny West home. Guests called between the hours of 7 and 9 p.m., and received by Mrs. West, the honoree, and mothers of the betrothed couple, Mrs. Bill Fulton of Floydada and Mrs. Betty Yearly of Lubbock.

The serving table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and was centered with a green hollowed melon filled with cantaloupe and melon balls. Finger sandwiches, lemonade and coffee were served by Miss Lisa West.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. West included Mmes. Kent Covington, Connie Bearden, Lewis Reddy, Ray Gene Ferguson, J.W. Day Jr., Jim Jackson, Mack Hickerson, Ray Reed, L.H. Blum, Dan Fry, Jimmy Vickers, Deral Young, Jerrold Vinson and Fern Hartsell.

Their gift was a set of cookware.

What One Person Can Do

Probably few people beyond northern Georgia even know Jim and Mona Sims' names. What they do is not spectacular. But they do it with grace.

If you have hiked the Appalachian Trail where it begins near Vogel State Park, you might know the Sims. The trail passes within inches of their living room door. Across the path, under the same roof, is the craft shop and haven for hikers which they run for the State Parks Service.

Jim Sims had to put a sign on their door, "Ranger's home." He did it because hikers who would occasionally blunder in were embarrassed at finding they were in someone's home. The Sims didn't mind. In fact, they take a warm interest in wayfarers. "We get wonderful letters from people who've stopped by off the trail," says Mr. Sims. "A lot of times it was just that we'd dried their clothes for them in our clothes drier."

The couple, in their mid-fifties, used to spend summers in a cabin in the park. When Jim Sims retired from government service, they settled in their present role. They took on a mission to be ready to help people coming through in any way, even with spiritual support. They have two Bibles opened on a table in the hikers' lodge. "A lot of them are searching for something," says Jim Sims. "They're confused and don't know what they're looking for. They come out here to meditate and become closer to God." And if they want to talk about it, their hosts will

AUSTIN—Summer brings with it a desire to get out and do things—to play golf and tennis, to eat out, to go to amusement parks, and to engage in many other forms of activity and amusement. Often consumers are offered a way of enjoying these pleasures at what is represented as being considerable savings. This way is through the purchase of a coupon book.

Coupon books are sold in many Texas communities. Buyers are told that the coupons contained in the booklet are worth a couple of hundred dollars in discounts and merchandise. The coupon booklet itself usually costs about $20.

The question consumers need to ask before they buy them, however, is whether they do represent a real savings. Many consumers complain that some merchants fail to honor the coupons. Many are misled into thinking that they are getting something free, when most cases they have to buy something to use the coupons.

In some states, attorneys general have taken legal action against several coupon book sellers during the past few years. In some instances, the promoters failed to disclose the limitations and conditions on the use of coupons. In other instances, promoters exaggerated the value of the coupons.

For example, promoters didn't tell consumers that the coupons could be used only if they purchased something of equal value. And consumers weren't informed that some of the coupons, like the ones for theaters and restaurants, Miss Kim Harrison registered guests in the bride's book from a table which also held a picture of the betrothed couple.

Hostesses alternated in serving punch, cookies and nuts from a table laid with a white cloth centered with an arrangement of yellow flowers.

Assisting Mrs. Harrison with the shower were Mmes. Weims Norman, Jerry Livingston, Gene Lawson, Dallas Ramsey, Fay Gooch, Q.D. Williams, Jack Covington, Orville Marler, Adrian West, Bob Alldredge, Jimmy Vickers, J.S. Hale, Jr., J.R. Foster and Bill Holladay.

Their gift to the honoree was an electric mixer.

Mr. and Mrs. Monty Bybee are the parents of their first child, a son, born Tuesday July 5th in Central Plains Hospital, Plainview. He weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs. and has been named Monty

Mrs. Marr Surprised By 'Expectant Grandmother Coffee'

A surprise "expectant grandmother coffee" Wednesday honored Mrs. Thomas Marr. The informal coffee was held in the home of Mrs. B.J. Terrell at Lone Star. Mrs. Ken Watson assisted with hostess duties. Special guest was Mrs. Gary Marr, the mother-to-be. She and the "expectant grandmother" wore corsages made of baby rattles surrounded by green net and ribbon.

The serving table centerpiece was a bassinet filled with ivy and yellow and green flowers. The cake was decorated with yellow booties. Cake squares, punch and coffee were served, and there was a fresh fruit bowl.

Understanding Yourself

Helpful Ideas From The International Lutheran Laymen's League

ONE IN THE FAMILY

If there's one place in the world where people can be expected to be at one with one another, it is at home, in the family.

But although it sometimes seems that it is right here that life falls apart, it doesn't have to be so. Misunderstandings and disagreements are not new to the human family, nor to the family circle on the human scene. They have their root, as St. Paul said, in human nature, which likes to write its own story, governed by its own passions and punctuated by its own pride.

St. Paul said to people, "Don't be conceited. Don't have an exaggerated opinion of yourself." This does not mean that you have to downgrade yourself. That's not humility. Genuine humility is to see yourself as you are, without rose colored glasses. You don't have to discount your strength to be humble. What you can do is build up those around you, letting them feel that they are more important to you than you are to yourself.

Cox & Son Irrigation Well Permanently Closed

The final chapter in a long legal entanglement over the closing of an irrigation well on the Lewis Cox and Son farm in Floyd County has ended with the well destroyed.

The Cox well was drilled in 1968, and, as a result of a well location survey, was discovered to be in spacing violation of the Douglas Cox well, located only 149 yards west, in 1974. After a series of public meetings before the Floyd County Committee, and the District's Board of Directors, the Lewis Cox well was ordered closed in 1974.

Lewis Cox then filed suit against the District seeking to enjoin the enforcement of their order. Culminating the numerous trials and appeals through the District, Appeals, and Texas Supreme Courts, the Texas Supreme Court affirmed the District Court's order denying Cox's plea for injunction against the District and finding for the District's suit seeking summary judgment against Cox.

In disregard of the Court's findings, the Cox well was again placed into operation in April, 1977, and the District filed contempt of court charges against Lewis Cox on April 20, 1977.

Before the contempt trial could be heard, on June 9, 1977, Lewis Cox destroyed the subject well (see photos) — Mr. Cox testified at the June 9th trial that he had placed a six-foot cement plug in the well, several feet below land surface.

In response to the District's suit for contempt, Judge John T. Boyd found, that since Lewis Cox had destroyed his well and was now in compliance with his order of November 3, 1976, he would not find Cox in contempt but would provide for recovery of attorney fees by the District, if precedent for such award could be shown by the District's attorneys.

Lewis Cox has recently completed a new well located 161 yards due east of his destroyed well, and 410 yards east of the Douglas Cox well.

Legal Process Slow
Several persons have expressed concern that the legal processes, and cost associated therewith, available to the District for enforcement of its rules and regulations are much too slow and costly and are subject to such lengthy delay as to effect, at least, a partial circumvention of the District's aims and powers.

Texas Law provides that "the District may enforce its rules by injunction, mandatory injunction, or other appropriate remedy in a court of competent jurisdiction (Chapter 53.102)".

Although the District sometimes encounters gross "legal delays" in its rules enforcement, it continues to pursue its purposes and ultimately sees its rules enforcement to their legal conclusion.

It has been suggested that the District adopt procedures for seeking fines for violation of its rules; as is provided for the enforcement of the rules of several Federal and State water agencies. However, the District's Manager has noted that if the District could recover its attorney fees—and if such recourse to recovery of attorney fees was made well known to the rules violators—the resultant "fine" would be an effective deterrent to abating stalling tactics through "legal maneuvering".

In any event, he further noted, both parties are subject to the high cost of attorney fees for any protracted legal process; a fact that has guided the District to first seek and pursue all other means to enforcement of its rules before seeking solution through the courts.

GREENHOUSE VEGETABLE GROWERS TO MEET—The 14th Annual Texas Greenhouse Vegetable Conference at Texas A&M University, July 17-19, will feature information on the latest production techniques and ideas as well as special presentations on energy conservation directed toward self-sufficiency. Producers will also have an opportunity to apply for a private pesticide applicator's license, notes a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Legal Contingency Fund
Although the District infrequently encounters legal expenses in pursuing its rules application, a special "legal contingency fund" is maintained for this purpose. This fund, now containing several thousands of dollars, is maintained with a minimum reserve of $20,000 in order to guarantee the District's ability to pursue the enforcement of its rules in those cases where high legal costs are encountered. However, the District Manager noted, the pursuit of the Cox case did not require the use of any funds from the legal contingency account.

NOTE: A detailed review of the Cox case, through appeals to the Supreme Court, was presented in an article headlined, "Texas Supreme Court" in the November, 1976, issue of "The Cross Section".

Weather Modification To Be Eyed Monday

Swisher Citizens for Natural Weather have called an emergency meeting for Monday night for the purpose of taking the first step to call an election to decide the weather modification issue for the county.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the district courtroom in Tulia.

Recent legislation passed by the state legislature provides for elections which will be explained as well as the procedure in calling an election.

Ten percent of the qualified or registered voters must sign a petition calling the election. An outline of the target and operational areas will be explained.

A question and answer period will be conducted. The county committee is composed of Earl B. Cosby,

The farm bill is now scheduled to begin its journey through the House of Representatives in Washington on Friday, July 15, but the real "action" will be carried over until the following week.

The bill reported by the House Ag Committee has been given an open rule, and if all goes according to plan general debate will take place in the House on the 15th. But the offering of amendments and voting probably will not come before July 19, according to word received by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The cotton section of the bill under consideration calls for a Commodity Credit Corporation loan level equal to the smaller of (1) 85 percent of the four-year average U.S. spot market price for cotton or (2) 90 percent of a price equivalent to the adjusted average Liverpool Cotton Outlook "A" index during the first two weeks of October preceding the required loan announcement on November 1 each year. The loan level for 1978, the first year of the program, would be 51.1 cents for Strict Low Middling 1-1/16 inch cotton.

The bill stipulates a target price at 110 percent of the loan, which for 1978 would figure 56.1 cents per pound.

A farm measure already passed by the Senate sets the loan by the same formula and at the same 1978 level as the House. But the Senate bill would set the target price at the cost of production as determined by the Secretary. For 1978 the Senate proposed target figure would be 51.1 cents, five cents below the price called for in the House bill. This and other differences between the House and Senate versions will be ironed out in a House-Senate Conference Committee after the House takes final action.

Under both bills farmers would be paid the difference between market price and the target price on production from the farm allotment, as is done under current law.

The Senate measure would set cotton allotments at a percentage (not less than 90 percent nor more than 100 percent) of each year's planted acreage. The percentage factor would be determined by dividing the acreage calculated by the Secretary as needed to supply domestic and export markets by his estimated U.S. acreage for harvest.

The House Ag Committee measure as it will be offered by Chairman Tom Foley of Washington proposes no change in the current system which sets cotton allotments on historical plantings. But the House Cotton Subcommittee, chaired by David Bowen of Mississippi, has held hearings and reported a bill to base cotton allotments on current year plantings as does the Senate bill, but without the 90 percent minimum "factor".

The Bowen bill will be offered as a committee amendment by Chairman Foley.

"It now appears that the cotton section of the House bill, which is essentially what has been proposed by a unified cotton industry, including the Bowen allotment proposal," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "may have fairly smooth sailing."

Keep On Going

They were marching down Main Street, and right at the height of the parade the tuba player blew a sour note. A really sour note.

People snickered. Some burst out laughing. But, regardless, they had to hand it to the tuba player . . . he kept right on blowing, right on going.

Makes you stop and think. Sure, it's natural to laugh at someone else's sour note. But how about our own mistakes? No one can get through life without them — that's sure.

The question is, do you stop or do you keep on trying, keep on going? If you've been in church lately, you'll know the answer to that one.

TO COMPETE AT STATE SHOW...Mona Henderson of the Floyd County 4-H Club showed the first-place registered gelding under five years of age, and placed second in showmanship at the District 4-H Horse Show last week in Lubbock, qualifying for competition at the State 4-H Horse Show at Houston July 27-30.

CONSERVE MOISTURE IN HOME LANDSCAPE—Drouth conditions during the hot Texas summers mean that homeowners must give close attention to wise use of irrigation water, says a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Since trees serve a multipurpose role and require years to develop, they should receive first priority. Moisture can be conserved by using a mulch around plants, using soaker hoses or flood irrigation, watering thoroughly when irrigating, and using sprinkler irrigation only in the late evening and early morning when the evaporation rate is the lowest.

TEXAS HIGH IN COTTON—The Texas cotton crop is off to a good start and prices look good, says a marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A crop of well over four million bales is expected, and prices should average near those received for the 1976 Texas crop.

New Butcher At Carter's

NEW BUTCHER at Carter's Market. Bobby Pinner, a Lockney native, has moved back to the city and is the new butcher at Carter's market. He was a butcher for several years at Jack's Food Store in Petersburg. Pinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pinner of Lockney, invites everyone to come in and get acquainted (or reacquainted). He promises more choices in Carter's meat department, with satisfaction always guaranteed. "It's always been my policy that I wouldn't put anything in the meat counter that I wouldn't take home and eat," Pinner says. Pinner and his wife Glenda have two children, Missy, age 14, and Susy, 12. Carter's, located at 121 West College in Lockney, now gives double Gold Bond Stamps all day Friday and Saturday, and once a month, the store will offer triple stamps with coupons from their newspaper advertisements.
