Seminar Students Speak

Guest speakers at the Thursday noon meeting of the Lions Club were Diane Saenz and Anna Araujo.

The girls attended the Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar earlier this month on the Baylor University campus in Waco. Each girl told of her impression of the seminar.

Lion Boss James Race recognized past president Ewald Quebe and presented Quebe with a special plaque in recognition of his service to the local club in 1976-1977. Race also gave Quebe the Lions Club president 100% award which is a pin sent from the district governor to recognize presidents who attended all district meetings, and whose clubs turn in all reports and take in new members.

A special guest at the meeting was Jerry Ulmer, Arvin Thomason was present as a new member.

Rainfall Needed Now!

Floyd county Agent Doyle Warren was estimating 120,000 bales of cotton for the county Friday morning after the cotton showers received Thursday night in some areas of the county.

"There isn't much insect problem at this time on the cotton and the only boll weevil buildup in the area seems to run from Flomot to Turkey," Warren said.

Warren said there was quite a bit of insect spraying for green bugs in the grain sorghum and mites in the corn at this time.

"Our farmers used to make... or beat a bale to the acre on their cotton crops right along... but in the last five or six years very few can make a bale to the acre," county ASCS manager Tom Moore said Thursday.

Moore said no one knows for sure, but the estimate is that there are over 150,000 acres of cotton in the county at this time. This compares with around 118,000 acres last year and a production of around 90,000 bales.

Moore said it was his opinion that 150,000 bales would not be a large enough estimate should the cotton get some rain now or very soon. "Good rain now would save the dryland cotton and really help the irrigated cotton," Moore said.

Why can't Floyd farmers make a bale or more to the acre anymore? Some agriculture experts say the cotton crops just can't get off and growing early enough in the spring to beat the early damp falls.

"I figure our cotton farmers have hurt their land with so much weed poisoning that the early rooting system cannot respond as well, and this hurts our production," Moore added.

Irrigation wells are running night and day... and many farmers are watering every other row of cotton to try to keep "it cooled off" these hot dry days.

School To Open August 25

Lockney school trustees have set Thursday, Aug. 25 as opening date for the 1977-78 school year. Teachers will report Monday, Aug. 22 for in-service training.

School board members met Thursday noon at Strickland's Restaurant for a called session to set the opening date, adopt an official school calendar, set prices on reserved section seats and discuss personnel matters.

Resignation of Raul Ver, junior high CVAE instructor, was accepted. Vera is going to Levelland as a high school counselor.

New teachers hired include Mrs. Anna Rigler, junior high science; Miss Cherilen Russell, high school English; Mrs. Martha Sue Lask, high school math, and Lyndall Favor, junior high coach. In addition, the board hired, subject to finding, Lynda Callaway as Title I reading teacher.

Mrs. Rigler is a graduate of Wayland and a resident of Plainview.

This will be her first year to teach. Miss Russell has taught five years in Melrose, New Mexico. Mrs. Lusk will be teaching three periods of math in high school. She was on the faculty one year at Novice. The new Title I reading teacher Lynda Callaway, worked two months last spring as a third-grade teacher while Mrs. Randy Henderson was on leave-of-absence.

Reserved section seats at Mitchell-Zimmerman field will be $15 for three years. These tickets and reserved parking places will not be sold until Aug. 15. As usual, persons who presently hold reserved seats will have first choice on seats in the same general area.

The reserved parking place costs $7.50 per year, and owners of these places will have from Aug. 15 to Sept. 1 to renew. There is a long waiting list, but the superintendent's office will add names to the list. Vacancies occur at about the rate of one per year.

The board members did hold an executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Equalization Boards Meet

Both the city and the school tax equalization boards met recently. Tax representatives from the Santa Fe Corporation were present for both sessions, and the Fort Worth Denver Corporation tax people were also at the school meeting.

Both tax equalization boards recessed without making decisions about the assessed values of the railroad's transportation corridors through the district and the city. Decisions will be made after more information is received from consultants.

The school tax equalization board was composed of Lester Carter, C.L. Mooney and Ewald Quebe. The city council makes up the city board. Present for the city meeting were Pat Frizzell, Thurman Davis, Jerry Perry and Bobby McCormick.

School Superintendent Resigns

John O. Peck announced Friday afternoon that he had accepted the position of assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs with the Plainview Independent School District.

Peck has been superintendent of the Lockney schools for five years. He formerly was a junior high principal in Plainview.

The Lockney school board had voted Thursday to release Supt. Peck from his contract if he obtained the Plainview job.

He emphasized Friday that he will stay until suitable replacement can be found. He also plans to stay until after school opens to facilitate a smooth transition time after a new superintendent is hired.

Senior Citizens

Senior citizens of Lockney are reminded of the regular monthly meeting to be held Thursday.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

All those interested in fellowship with group are urged to attend.

Horse Show Sunday

Floyd County Fair Quarter Horse Show will be held Sunday at the fairgrounds in east Lockney.

Entries in both open and youth classes will be taken beginning at 8 a.m. Competition will begin at 9 a.m. Jack Rydberg of Colorado will be judge for the show.

Representatives of the studio will be in Texas Insulation from noon to 2:30 p.m. to show the picture and take orders.

Pinch Hittin'

By Monday, there should be occupants in eight of the apartments built by the local housing authority. There is still one each of the one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments available to renters. Contact the J. D. Copeland office in downtown Lockney to make application for the apartments.

THERE WAS A lot of excitement Thursday night. Grego Ortego of Lockney flipped his pickup about a mile out on the Lockney highway from Floydada. Didn't do much damage to the pickup and he was uninjured.

Then about the time the storm blew up a barn caught on fire at the D.M. Cogdell ranch, think it was at the Jack Dempsey place, about three miles east of the Cogdell home.

D.M. said the barn, which might have started burning due to the lightning, was totally destroyed. He said both Floydada and Quitaque fire departments tried to put out the fire, but arrived too late. He said seven saddles, other riding gear and some oats were lost in the fire.

The business of fice of Southwestern Bell tells me that the phone books are new in the mail. Seems they had a printing problem that delayed mailing of the new phone books.

Gregg Taylor leaves Sunday to join workouts for the Greenbelt Bowl game in Childress Friday night.

Ponderosa Meat Company defeated the Providence team Thursday night in the men's baseball league. Score was 10-8. Losing pitcher was Glen Lane.

Cathy Carthel Models In Magazine

Cathy Carthel of Lockney models clothing for The Dunlap Company in the August issue of the national magazine Seventeen. Cathy, 18, is featured in one of the advertisements and is in two of the others.

Cathy was chosen for the Dunlap Fashion Board in Lubbock last year, and then modeled for Dunlap's in several style shows before being chosen to model for the magazine ads. The pictures were made the first of June on a ranch below the Caprock.

Cathy will be a sophomore this fall at Texas Tech where she is majoring in advertising. She is to arrive home Monday or Tuesday from Ruidoso, New Mexico, where she has worked this summer.

Ted and Sally Carthel are naturally thrilled about their daughter's "fame." Other Lockneyites enjoying the excitement are Cathy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Carthel, and her aunt, Mrs. Warren Mathis and family.

Matador Receives Water System Loan

AUSTIN (Special) — Financial details of a $284,000 water development fund loan have been completed with delivery of the funds by the Texas Water Development Board to officials of the Matador Water District.

James M. Rose, executive director of the board, said the loan and a federal grant of $100,000 will be used to construct facilities to provide an adequate municipal water supply for the City of Matador. The combined funds will make possible the drilling of two water wells, the construction of supply lines to transport the water into Matador and the construction of ground storage facilities.

"By receiving these funds, over 1,000 citizens of Matador have joined the growing number of Texans realizing direct benefits from Water Development Fund monies," Rose said.

vegetables and fruits

Now is the time to freeze excess vegetables and fruits from your garden, or those that are in season that you can purchase at lower prices. But be sure they are properly prepared for freezing. That information can be found in recipe books or in specially prepared brochures that come with new freezers. With proper freezing, more of the natural flavor can be preserved and enjoyed later. Also with a food freezer in your home, you can freeze meats and baked desserts prepared ahead of time and have them handy for serving delicious meals without extra work.

Visit your electric appliance dealer soon for a modern electric freezer.

SEVERAL LOCKNEY teenagers are working for the Louisiana Seed Company detasseling seed corn. The youngsters went to work July 12 and will finish up about Tuesday or Wednesday. The Lockney group leaves before 7 each morning, joining teens from Floydada on a bus ride to the Plainview office of Louisiana Seed. The morning these pictures were taken, they were working west of Kress. A spokesman for the seed company said that the twelve youngsters working from the detasseling machine must work carefully for the pollen-producing tassel must be removed from the top of every "female" plant or it will pollinate itself and ruin the field. The pollinator or "male" rows are planted nearby to pollinate the "female" rows, thereby producing the hybrid seed. (Staff Photo).

Fireman At School

Jack Gaskins, volunteer fireman on the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department of Lockney, attended the 48th Annual Texas Firemen's training School this week. The school, attended by nearly 1,650 students representing about 600 cities from more than 30 states, was held on the Texas A&M University campus this week.

Firemen chose their course at the school from a list including Fire Fighting, Fire Prevention, Fire Department Officer Training, Fire Department Pump Maintenance, Specialized Fire Protection, and Disaster Rescue Training.

Fireman Gaskins was sponsored by Floyd County Farm Bureau and Texas

Bureau Insurance companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 County Farm Bureau and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the fireman will help the Lockney Volunteer Department to better serve the residents of Floyd County."

Baptist Youth Set Outing

MR. AND MRS. CLINTON FAWVER

Debra Jo Smith, Clinton Fawver

Wed In Garden Setting

In a garden setting at the R.C. Fawver home in Floydada wedding vows were exchanged July 16th by Debra Jo Smith and Clinton Fawver. L.C. Hamilton, pastor of the Bible Baptist Church performed the 6 o'clock p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billie Jo Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Fawver all of Floydada.

An ivy entwined archway was the focal point for the wedding scene. Yellow pompons, accented with yellow bows and white wedding bells graced the arch way built by the groom and placed in front of a pine tree. A white wrought iron loveseat completed the setting.

Recorded selection of "Let It Be Me," "I Have A Dream," "Walk Through The World With Me" and "We've Only Just Begun" were played, and as part of the wedding ring ceremony the song "She Wears My Ring" was played and the bride and groom read poems which the groom had written.

Escorted by her father, the bride paused to present her mother a long stemmed yellow rose, then continued to the wedding scene wearing a floor length dress of ceru, fashioned in loosely woven knit and lined with bridal satin. The gown was designed with handkerchief sleeves bordered in lace and caught to gather at the high waistline. The bodice featured a V-neckline outlined in lace, and caught to a slightly flared skirt, ruffled at the hem and tied at the back waist with a self sash. Her picture hat of ceru color was accented with a satin ribbon around the crown and was covered in lace matching the trim of her gown. The hat was made by the bride's mother.

To complete her wedding ensemble she carried a natural colored basket filled with white daisies, blue pompons, yellow roses and baby's breath. At the wedding altar the bride detached a yellow rose boutonniere from her bouquet and placed it on the label of the groom's wedding attire.

For something old she carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her late grandmother. Something new was her wedding attire and a diamond, ruby and sapphire pendant, a gift from the groom. She borrowed the traditional blue garter from her matron of honor, and wore pennies in her shoes bearing the birthyears of both she and the groom.

Mrs. Joe Lassere Jr., of Lubbock was the bride's attendant, and Phil Lemons of Floydada was best man. Mrs. Lassere wore a floor length peasant style gown of white cotton accented with embroidered pastel flowers. The gathered waistline was fashioned with a blue satin sash and she wore a blue picture hat and carried spring flowers in a blue wicker basket.

As the couple left the wedding scene the bride presented the groom's mother with a long stemmed yellow rose matching the one she gave her mother.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the groom's parents. Mrs. Roy Rodgers of Crosbyton, Mrs. Phil Lemons and Mrs. Victor Smith, sister in law of the bride presided at the serving table which was covered with an off-white lace cloth over blue. A silver candelabra holding white tapers and blue carnations and yellow daisies formed the centerpiece. A three tiered cake topped with satin wedding bells and decorated in blue and yellow was served from a silver plate. Banana punch was served from a crystal bowl, and coffee was served from the couple's blue and white china, placed on a table covered with a pale yellow cloth with lace trim. A ceramic miniature bride and groom painted by the bride's grandmother was used as the centerpiece.

For their honeymoon to points of interest in New Mexico and Colorado the bride changed to a white jumpsuit trimmed in red with red accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The groom wore a brown and tan western ensemble and a brown western hat, a gift from the bride.

The couple is now at home in Floydada where both are employed.

Attending the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latham, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Donaldson of Grapevine; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lassere Jr., and Nicia of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Johnston and Casey of Smyer, sister of the groom.

Char-Lee's Offers Unique Style Of Decorating

Char-Lee's, of 315 South 2nd Street in Floydada, has been in business for only three weeks. But you could say that it has been a very successful venture for Charline Langley and Sandra Noland, partners in the enterprise, largely due to the selection of catering, decorating, and furnishing offered by the pair.

The gift shop of Char-Lee's offers for sale candles, candle rings, silk flowers, dried flowers and plastic flowers.

The business also provides furnishings for arrangements such as wedding receptions, birthdays, and homes, either for decoration or celebration.

The pair also make their own candles, wedding cakes, birthday cakes, and party foods. It is not any less expensive to make the products due to the high cost of materials, but Charline claims that this method produces a finer end product.

The two also cater wedding receptions and even furnish tables, cloths, and dishes.

Charline said that she had also been attending various classes pertaining to her line of work, such as cake decoration, Figure Piping, Gum Pasting, Advanced Decorating, and Marzipan.

Also employed at Char-Lee's is Stacey Leatherman, H. E. C. student at Floydada High School. She is currently working full time.

Sales Tax Rep. In Floydada August 11

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Lubbock office to Floydada on Thursday, August 11th to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes. Bullock said Enforcement Officer Raymond Bogus will meet with local taxpayers at the Floydada Court House, Room 103 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

"If Floydada-area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Bogus will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on August 11th that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FREE tax information number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Lubbock office, headed by Donald F. Paxton, serves Lubbock and surrounding counties.

Clay Hamilton Wins First For 4-H Record Book

LUBBOCK--Thirty-four 4-H record books were named the best in their division in district level competition as a result of record book judging Monday (July 25) in Lubbock. The winning books now will be forwarded to Texas A&M University for state judging. Clay Hamilton of Floydada won first place in his records for sheep in the Senior Division. His record book will now be forwarded to Texas A&M University to compete at the state level against the best books from 13 other districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Senior 4-Hers are competing for scholarships, plaques, government bonds, a trip to the national 4-H congress in November and other awards. Other Floyd County 4-Hers entering records and winning in the senior division were Darlene Broseh, third in clothing and Byron Brock, fourth in beef. In District 2 record book judging, South Plains 4-Hers place their records of achievement on the line. Records include project summaries, information detailing on the line. Records include project summaries, information detailing their activities, experiences and leadership development, a narrative about their 4-H experience, photos and other pertinent information. Also judged during the event were junior record books. Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded for these entries. Juniors placing first from Floyd County included: Earl Broseh-Sheep; Shawnda Brock-Clothing; Jill Whitfill-Dress Revue. Kyle Brock placed second in Beef. In addition, the record book for Kenneth Broseh, 4-H adult leader from Floyd County, received honors in Alumni Recognition. Broseh, current president of the District 2 4-H Adult Leaders' Association, is a previous state winner in this category, and his records will be forwarded for national consideration. The 4-H program in Texas is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. According to Billy C. Gunter and Catherine B.

Crawford, district agents for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, record book competition is the critical measurement of achievements of these youth over the years. Records reveal their consistency in achieving goals, their experience in 4-H projects and activities, their experiences in leadership development, and their growth and development in personal, community and civic responsibilities.

TDA Responsibilities Many, Commissioner Brown Discovers

AUSTIN--Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown may have to get a bigger hatrack. As he has discovered in the three months since he became head of the Texas Department of Agriculture, running such a many-faceted organization often requires him to wear at least two hats. And sometimes it helps to have a few more on hand. "Despite my close association with the Department for over 25 years, when I came into this job I had little idea of the total scope of its services," Brown stated. "I found that every aspect of our work every day of his life. "Over 53 per cent of our budget goes for consumer services," Brown said. "There are still many benefits for the farmer, but most of our programs have a dual service role for the producer and the consuming public. As an example, Brown stated, checking for possible pesticide residue on vegetables and fruit before harvest protects the farmer from losses. But at the same time, "this testing assures shoppers that they are not buying pesticide-contaminated produce if it comes from Texas fields," Brown said.

From certifying and registering seed to grading services on some harvested produce, the Department is involved in production. "We often have to extend our services beyond the regulations we are mandated to administer," Brown stated.

Anytime Snack: Fruit Leather

Fruit leather is all occasion, so take it along—on picnics, camping trips, to the pool for a snack, or use it at home in beverages and desserts. Fruit leather is dried fruit made by pureeing fruit, adding citrus juice (and sugar, if it's tart)—and drying it, says Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Leather lasts—for up to 30 weeks—at a room temperature of 70 degrees or less. It may also be stored for years in the freezer or for months in the refrigerator. "Fruit leather is also the best way to save overripe fruit," she says.

Former Floyd County Deputy Sheriff Of Carson County

PANHANDLE (Sp)—The deputy at Groom who ran a close race for sheriff in the last election was named to the office yesterday by the Carson County commissioners. Connie Reed, 57, who had served in the Groom area five years for the sheriff's department, will become sheriff Aug. 1 and serve an unexpired term through Dec. 31, 1978. Reed replaces Frank Whitehead, who resigned from the office this week. Whitehead said he plans to devote full time to his ranching interests in Wheeler County. Whitehead, who had served as deputy sheriff in the White Deer area before his election as sheriff last November, had recommended Reed for the post. Carson County Judge Clarence Williams said eight applications were considered yesterday by the commissioners. He said the court felt that Reed was the best qualified for the job. "He also had very strong support from the Groom area." Reed served as a deputy

Texas Farmers and Ranchers Give Viewpoints at Hearings

AUSTIN--Rural farm and ranch owners were well-represented at the public hearings held July 7-8 by the House Public Education Committee at the state Capitol. The hearings immediately preceded the special session of the Texas Legislature which convened July 11, and were held to gain citizen input on the pending education bills.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown termed the turnout "very encouraging" and said he is pleased rural farmers and ranchers are making their voices heard in state government. "These people came down here with the express purpose of letting their legislators know how they feel on the rising cost of taxes on their farmland," Brown said, "and the testimony given should certainly make some people listen. "It's very valuable to hear how the individual just trying to make a living off his land feels about the decision-making that will have such an impact on him," Brown stated.

The main topic on the agribusinemen's minds was property taxes. Several spoke out on the rising tax valuations placed on farmland, and many testified that taxes often exceed the total value of products grown on the land. Some of the department's activities are aimed directly toward maintaining conformity with weights and measures standards, under which all commerce operates. "Our inspectors check eggs to see that they meet grade standards; antifreeze is analyzed for content and thousands of scales in supermarkets, dime stores, public warehouses and even drug stores are tested for accuracy," Brown noted. "Our grain inspectors measure the giant elevators from the High Plains to the Rio Grande Valley."

Brown added that the Department sometimes receives rather unusual requests. "We even had to count the number of Tootsie Rolls in a package one time to satisfy a consumer complaint," Brown recalled. He also noted that nursery inspections benefit the grower who plants 500 orange trees as well as the apartment dweller who buys a hanging plant for the window. Although the Department devotes much time and money to consumer services, Brown emphasized that "our main goal is to increase profits for Texas farmers and ranchers. "And that's a pretty tall order any day," he said.

OBITUARY

Graveside services were held Saturday afternoon in Floydada Cemetery at 2 o'clock, July 30, for James Henry Thomas, 71, who died EDUCATION HEARINGS—Marcene Thaxton, who owns a farm near Del Valle, Texas along with her husband, Hugh B. Thaxton, testifies during House Public Education Committee public hearings July 7-8 in Austin. Mrs. Thaxton, who was joined by several other agribusinemen from throughout the state, said she strongly objects to the heavy tax burden placed on agricultural land by school districts and other taxing bodies. She commented that land used for agricultural production can no longer generate enough revenue to meet these obligations, when taxed on full market value.

Thursday evening in a nursing home at Elkhart, Texas near Palestine. He was laid to rest beside the grave of his father, J. J. Thomas of Floydada who died in 1955. Moore-Rose Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Before his death, Thomas had been a resident of the State School in Abilene and the State Hospital in Big Spring. There are no known survivors.

Sun's Energy Used In Future Ericson Residence

Pot Bellied Stove In Solar Heated Home

Crosbyton and Crosby County are gaining national recognition for their efforts in the field of solar energy development. Soon there will be a solar heated and air conditioned residence to add to the quest for harnessing and transforming the sun's rays into energy.

A bulldozer began efforts last week to dredge mesquite from a picturesque Blanco Canyon plateau, upon which the first Crosby "solar home" will be erected. The site is 12 miles northeast of Crosbyton and 1 1/2 miles east of the fabled Hank Smith Rock House.

The owner is Georgia Mae Ericson. The fact that Mrs. Ericson is involved in pioneering via the solar home is now surprising. She is a granddaughter of the county's first permanent, Anglo settlers, "Uncle and Aunt Hank" Smith, and is a daughter of their oldest son, the late George W. Smith.

Land being cleared late last week by a green earthmover is 1 1/2 miles west from the entrance of the proposed amphitheater and nature park.

HOME OF FIRST SCHOOL

Site of the initial Crosby solar dwelling has another unique feature. It was on this same tract that the county's first school once occupied. The first Mount Blanco School now relegated to history -- was originally attended by children of pioneer families: the Smiths, the Leonards, and the Matthews, among others. George Mayes was the first teacher.

Mrs. Ericson's future home will couple the best of two eras. "There is a lot behind us that we need to go back to . . . and our modern conveniences are irreplaceable," the longtime nutritionist explains. She adds that "everything will be natural and rustic" in the ranch style structure.

For example, the kitchen will feature a wood burning stove as well as an electric range and a microwave oven. "Some type of wood burning stove" is envisioned for each room of the dwelling, which the owner describes as "really a small house." All mesquite wood dredged from the site is being retained for fuel.

TECH PROFESSOR DESIGNS HOUSE

Dr. Ernest Keisling, chairman and professor of the Civil Engineering Department at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, and his associates are designing the solar home. This is being used as a residential developments and environmental services project by the group.

Dr. Keisling has completed four solar residences -- including his own -- in Lubbock and has another under construction. Contractors who have built the Lubbock solar-energy houses will construct Mrs. Ericson's future home.

The owner emphasizes that this is "not a pushed project," and the residence is not expected to be completed until early 1978. Dr. Keisling and his associates (TTU graduate students) plan to conduct additional experiments as the project progresses.

COVERED POOL, TROPICAL GARDEN

surrounded by a tropical garden, will be under the same roof as the solar house. The pool and garden also are to be heated by the sun's rays transformed into energy. Mrs. Ericson anticipates having orchids among the tropical foliage growing in her unique garden.

This still is not the end of her plans. She hopes to develop a seven-acre wildlife park and to have a windmill near her future home, from which she will have a view of her beloved Blanco Canyon in any direction. She explains that this immediate area is the "widest point" of the canyon.

Mrs. Ericson desires to share the

"have envisioned a solar house since publicity on solar homes was first released."

Stanley Ericson, who succumbed earlier this year, and his wife desired to build their home in Blanco Canyon -- where roots of the Hank Smith family sink deep -- although they were residents of Darien, Connecticut, until last year.

Prior to his retirement, Ericson was chief labor negotiator for American Telephone and Telegraph. His wife went East soon after becoming the youngest person ever to graduate from Texas Tech University. Her chosen vocation lured her away from West Texas.

The former George W. Smith residence was occupied by the couple last year. When her unique, new house is completed, Mrs. Ericson will utilize the old residence as a guest house.

ELECTRICITY 'BACKUP'

While Mrs. Ericson is venturing into the field of solar energy, she explains that "we will have electricity as a backup source of power."

She notes that Dr. Keisling plans to install energy collectors at ground level for heating and cooling the ranch house. Roof collectors are anticipated to service the pool and garden. Underground installations are envisioned "around the house, with southern exposures."

Additional information about the scientific aspects of the solar system are anticipated to be released later by Dr. Keisling.

Work on the novel house is described as a "joint effort." Barton Land Improvement Co. is in charge of clearing the plot; Texas Tech is, of course, deeply involved; Crosby County Pump is drilling the well; officials of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative are working closely with the project; and South Plains Telephone is providing phone service. In order to keep the project "as local as possible," Mrs. Ericson notes that "as much employment as possible will be from Crosbyton."

OLD AND NEW

Despite the ultra-modern concept of utilizing the sun's rays for heating and cooling the residence, reflections of yesteryear keep occurring in the project.

Blanco Canyon originally was "Indian's land." A Comanche burial ground is situated one mile northwest of the future Ericson residence.

Operating the bulldozer for Dick Barton in clearing the site was Max Aumada . . . a full blood Cherokee Indian residing in Rotan.

In response to a statement by Mrs. Ericson that Blanco Canyon -- also the home of her cousins, Billy Kirk and Viola Brown -- once was the redman's land, Aumada quickly responded: "I like it the way it is now."

"Now" in Georgia Mae Smith Ericson's future home will be solar heating and a pot bellied stove!

residence with others in the community where she was reared.

"I hope the house can be used by the town; I also want to continue the hospitality of the Aunt and Uncle Hank Smith family."

DREAM OF SISTER

She adds that the house is "also a dream of my sister," the late Evelyn Lowrie. Questioned about what created an interest in a solar residence, Mrs. Ericson says she and her late husband, Stanley,

THE INDIANS once rode across this Blanco Canyon plateau, which is being cleared in preparation for the erection of Crosby County's first solar heated and cooled home. Georgia Mae Ericson looks over the site of her future residence, which is being cleared by Max Aumada [on bulldozer] and Dick Barton. The road running to the fabled Hank Smith Rock House, built by Mrs. Ericson's grandparents, lies to the west.

FARM SAFETY WEEK--National Farm Safety Week is July 25-31, with the theme, "Safety Is a Good Investment." The theme emphasizes that in addition to saving lives and preventing injuries, a small investment in accident prevention may prevent larger insurance and medical costs, equipment damage, and associated production loss expenses involving lack of labor and equipment or time delays resulting from accidents, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The smallest amount of natural gas on reserve in a long time is what we have now. Domestic supplies are dwindling. Proved reserves are at their lowest levels since 1955 and some industries have been suffering shut-downs because of shortages.

LOCKNEY AREA CHURCH PAGE

time out for GOD

But wherever it shines . . . there are shadows. Wherever there are golden opportunities there are also sombre tragedies. Some fail to grasp their blessings.

Ours is a nation which guarantees to every child the opportunity for religious training. Yet ours is a nation which smarts under the scourge of a moral disease — juvenile delinquency.

In blessing you with a son or daughter, God has entrusted to you a precious soul. You are required by law to give your child a secular education. But, despite the scourge of delinquency, a free nation must leave to your conscience the question of your child's moral and religious education.

God has blessed America. With a nearby Church ready and eager to provide Christian training for your child, and religious foundation for your family's life—the Sun shines bright. But there are shadows. You must decide!
