Commissioners Go With Ranchers, Reinstate Trapper, Cancel Cannery

County Commissioners had a long session of business Monday at their regular meeting making decisions on how Federal Revenue money should be spent, listening to complaints voiced by women concerning the closing of the Floydada Cannery and from farmers and ranchers on not having a trapper to stop the increased population of coyotes and rodents.

A request was voiced by Kathy Green of Multi Purpose Center in Floydada to see if assistance could be acquired from the county for the upkeep of Forest Lawn Cemetery which is on county land. Commissioners promised to continue a study of the situation and let Mrs. Green know their decision.

As to the $105,073.00 revenue money, Bob Jarrett made the motion, seconded by Grigsby Milton that Federal Revenue Sharing money for 1977-78 be allocated as follows: $52,750 for jail fund; $1,000 to the Floyd County Museum; $1,000 to Floyd County Day Care Center; $3,200 to Mental Health and Mental Retardation; and $47,550 to various county precincts. The Revenue sharing budget is set for adoption at 10 a.m. on November 14.

Concerning the jail, Judge J.K. Holmes said the architect has not submitted plans and specifications as yet.

The group of women meeting with the commissioners voiced their concern of not having a cannery in Floydada. Recently commissioners voted to close the Floydada Cannery due to increased costs, stating they felt one cannery in the county would be sufficient. The other is located at Lockney, which is operating more consistently, one commissioner said.

One woman said by closing the Floydada Cannery it was hurting the people who are not eligible for food stamps and who have to can vegetables and fruits given them, by farmers, especially those who do not have home canners. One woman said it was a hardship for those who do not have a car or cannot drive to get to the Lockney Cannery, while another stated that Lockney people were having to come to the Floydada Cannery because of the overflow of people using the Lockney Cannery, continuing that the county needed both canneries in operation. One spokesman said residents in Briscoe, Motley and Crosby Counties were using the cannery in Floydada and Floyd County was footing the bill.

Concerning the closing of Floydada Cannery, one said, "There goes an industry out of Floydada." Other questions put to the commissioners were "What will you profit by closing? What will you save and where will this $3,000 go to now that operates the cannery?"

One commissioner answered that due to inflation the county had to come up with some tax money and by closing Floydada's Cannery and combining the two, $3,000 could be saved. New equipment was being needed at the Floydada Cannery...thus by closing...it would eliminate buying more equipment...and as one commissioner said, "Lockney Cannery does more and that's the reason the Floydada plant was closed, it wasn't paying for itself."

The women feel that the Lockney Cannery cannot accommodate the entire county during canning season and went away from the meeting dissatisfied because of no action taken, however Judge Holmes told them they would give the subject some thought.

A session at 3 p.m. had before the commissioners, ranchers and farmers who are being plagued by coyotes and rodents since the cancellation of the trapper's contract in September.

One rancher who had been to Austin recently concerning the problem had a breakdown of the cost to the county of eliminating coyotes...by helicopter or trapper...or both...how many were killed last year in a 17 county area by a trapper...and the increase in coyote population already noted without a trapper.

One spokesman said without a trapper and since the ban of steel traps they are already behind some 200 coyotes killed in past years. "When you see one coyote you don't think much about it, but when you see a pack, then you know you are in trouble," said one rancher. One said "I lost 12 calves to coyotes and if we don't get our trapper back we will suffer more loses."

After a discussion in closed session by commissioners Grigsby Milton made the motion that court rescind the motion passed September 12, 1977, which cancelled the trapper's contract...and asked that court keep the trapper another year. The motion was seconded by Jack Lackey and carried three to two with Aaron Carthel and Bob Jarrett abstaining.

Walter Boehm is trapper and the cost of to the county is $450 per month.

Other business included a motion by Jarrett that court adopt the Taxed Employer method of unemployment compensation as opposed to the reimbursing method. Carthel seconded the motion which carried unanimously. Jarrett also made the motion, seconded by Carthel, that Floyd County pay prorata part of the $400 for a radio unit for the Criminal Investigator's car. The motion carried unanimously.

Floydada Wins

Football Game

Floydada's high-school football team defeated the Lockney high-school "Longhorns" 23-19 in a District 4-AA game at Wester Field in Floydada Friday night. It was the first conference game of the season for both clubs, and for the third consecutive year, the "Whirlwinds" won the mythical Floyd County Football Championship. The Floydada team now has a 5-2 win-loss record for the 1977 season. Lockney has won 3 and lost 4.

The Longhorns' Danny Clark, who had rushed for over 1,000 yards this season before Friday night, gained 175 on 31 carries in the contest and scored two touchdowns, but the Floydada team produced a more balanced attack (and more points). Larry Jones rushed for 81 yards on 22 attempts and scored twice for the Whirlwinds; Joe Covington ran for five yards and Floydada's other touchdown, and caught two passes from quarterback Todd Vickers for 40 yards; Rusty Cagle rushed 15 times for 88 yards; and Kary Helms caught three of Vickers' passes for another 49 yards. Kicker Junior Cuevas also scored for Floydada, booting a field goal and two extra points.

The Whirlwinds took the opening kickoff and drove to the Lockney five-yard line, where the Lockney defense forced Cuevas' field-goal attempt. The kick, from 22 yards away, hit the left goal-post upright and fell in, giving Floydada an early 3-0 lead.

They increased it to 10-0 early in the second period. After a Lockney punt and a penalty against the Longhorns, Floydada had the ball on Lockney's 35-yard line. After an 11-yard carry by Cagle another major penalty against Lockney, the Whirlwinds were at the Lockney 13. They advanced on the ground, to the one-yard line, and Covington scored from there. Cuevas kicked the extra point to give Floydada the 10-point lead with 7:25 to play in the second quarter.

Five plays and less than two minutes later, the score was Floydada 17, Lockney 0. The Longhorns were slapped with a major penalty on the kickoff return and had to start from their own 12-yard line. Two attempts by Clark lost two yards, and an incomplete pass left the Longhorns in a fourth-down-and-12-yards-to-go situation at their own 10-yard line. Junior Galvan punted to the 45-yard line, and Helms returned to the 34. Jones scored from there on the Whirlwinds' first play. Cuevas kicked the point after touchdown.

Lockney turned things around before halftime. Clark ran 77 yards on the first play after the kickoff, breaking the scoring ice for the Longhorns with 5:44 to play in the first half. The extra-point kick by Joe Rodriguez was wide.

A Floydada fumble set up another second-quarter Lockney touchdown. Cagle lost the ball at the Floydada 15-yard line, and the Longhorns recovered. Clark got the ball six times, finally scoring the touchdown from two yards out. But Danny couldn't pick up the two points on the conversion attempt. The first half ended with the score Floydada 17, Lockney 12.

SECOND HALF

The Lockney team went ahead with less than three minutes elapsed in the second half. They received the kickoff, and Danny Riddley got the ball out to the Lockney 29. Clark picked up two yards, then sped for 33, to the Floydada 36-yard line. Quarterback Sessom kept for a Lockney first down at the 25, and then he threw a pass which apparently intended for end Aaron Wilson. The ball was batted high into the air and was caught by Lockney's Junior Galvan, who scored, putting the Longhorns in front who 19-17 after Rodriguez's successful kick.

That lead held up until there were just two minutes and nine seconds to play in the game. With three and a half minutes remaining the Whirlwinds punted from near midfield to the Lockney 18-yard line. The Longhorns fumbled twice in a row. Clark fell on the first one, at the Lockney 14-yard line. But Cagle got the second one, at the 23. Jones scored on third down, from the 14-yard line. An incomplete conversion pass left the score Floydada 23, Lockney 19.

Beacon Lights

by Jim Huggins

THE LITTLE BITTY HEADLINE on the football game story is the result of a bet between the staffs of the Beacon and Hesperian newspapers. If the Longhorns had won the game, we would have had inch-high letters in the headline, and the Floydada newspaper would have had the small letters. Can't win 'em all. I didn't want a big, garish headline anyway...

HERE ARE THE FIRST PLACE essays and poem in the Americanism contest sponsored recently by Athena Junior Study Club. We had pictures of the first, second and third place winners in the paper several issues ago.

First Place-6th grade Americanism Contest Earl Brosech

America
This old land of mine is proud,
I would like to shout it out so loud.

Through hill and vale and among the crowd,
I stand amazed to hear her loud.

That Grand Old Flag is bright and gay,
I brag on it most every day.

This nation has always been the best,
I hope it's that way all the rest.

That flag has been through many fights,
And it always seems to defend its rights.

The band is playing loud and clear,
That National Anthem is what I hear.

First Place-7th grade Americanism Contest Maribel Torres

"What America Means to Me"
A for the ability America has to go forth and get something done. We don't have to worry whether we are good enough to get it done.

M for all the brave men who shed their blood just to give us Americans freedom and to get us where we are now.

E for all the enthusiasm Americans put in everything that we do.

R for the rights America gives to everyone whether you are white, black, brown or whether you are a man or a woman.

I for all the individuals that make up this great country of ours.

C for all of the courage that America has to go and fight for what we believe is right.

A for all that America has accomplished throughout the many years. That is what America, the land of the free, means to me.

First Place-8th grade Americanism Contest Tammy Williams

"What American Means to Me"
America means doing what you want to do. It means having the right to speak freely, to have a choice of religion.

America means seeing people happy, not having to work as slaves, but working for themselves. It means saluting the flag for the men who cared enough about our land to win its freedom.

America means men like Lincoln who helped to free the slaves, and other men who helped us get the right to vote for our own government. You have a right for a free education to learn what you want and you can work at the job of your choice to support your family.

America means people. Families have a right to have as many kids as they want. You can marry who you want to marry, not someone picked out for you.

America is a proud nation, to whom we should all be proud to be a part of. I have a right to speak freely about America, because I'm proud to be an American.

Floyd Residents Urged To Send In Family Histories For Book

The Floyd County Historical Museum is mailing letters to nearly 6000 present and past residents of Floyd County, explaining that the museum is compiling and publishing a history book.

The book will consist primarily of family histories. And, if book sales warrant, the book will also include histories of communities, churches, organizations, education, businesses and other information.

The book will be unique in that it will be written by all the people in the county who send in their family history.

All persons presently living in, or who have previously lived in Floyd County are urged to participate in sending in family histories. This applies to newcomers to the county, emphasizes Mrs. Virginia Taylor of Lockney, president of the museum board and project chairman.

Persons who do not receive one of the letters are also asked to participate. "We know that we probably missed people as we compiled our mailing list. We did not miss anyone intentionally," says Mrs. Taylor.

The non-profit museum organization has as its purpose in writing the history of Floyd County to preserve historical records for the education and enjoyment of future generations.

The history book is available on a pre-sale basis only. The price of the limited edition book is $24.50 plus sales tax. Checks should be made out to the Floyd County Historical Museum, and mailed to P.O. Box 304, Floydada 79235. This is also the address for sending family histories. Deadline is November, 20.

Club To Sponsor

Greeting Page

The community Christmas greeting page will be sponsored again this year by Ill Penserose Junior Study Club.

Lockney residents are urged to use this page to express Christmas greetings to local friends, while also helping a worthy project.

Proceeds from the project will be used again this year to give scholarships to several Lockney High School graduating seniors. Because of the generosity of the Lockney people and the success of the 1976 greeting page, the club was able to award last May two $250 scholarships, and also gave $100 to a previous scholarship recipient still attending college.

Minimum charge for including the names of a family is still only $3, but the club welcomes larger donations.

All Ill Penserose members are taking names and contributions for the greeting page. Deadline will be the first week in December.

PSAT/NMSQT

Exam Set At LHS

Sheree Cannon, guidance director at Lockney High School, has announced that sophomores, juniors, and some seniors will be able to join over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) this fall. The test, cosponsored by the College Board and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, is an important step in making college plans.

Scheduled for October 18, at Lockney High School, the PSAT/NMSQT measures verbal and mathematical aptitude—two abilities important in doing college work. The test can also lead to other opportunities for high school students. For example, students can ask to participate in the College Board's Student Search Service which provides their names to colleges interested in students like them.

By taking the PSAT/NMSQT, they can enter the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and can get a good idea of what the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) is like.

Floydada Chapter Represented At Beta Sigma Phi Convention

Sunday morning there was a Continental breakfast followed by a skit presented by Nu Phi Mu Chapter of Pampa. It was very well presented and showed everyone how their own problems shouldn't be the rest of the chapters.

After some free time to look at scrapbooks and yearbooks, all were guests to a southern luncheon, which of course, southern fried chicken was served.

Guest speaker at the luncheon was Jean Doleshal, area director from the International Offices in Kansas City, Missouri. She welcomed everyone and gave a brief meaning of the colors of Beta Sigma Phi. She welcomed any correspondence from chapters, with an assurance that she will extend herself in any way she can to help chapters with questions or problems.

Entertainment for the luncheon was a family from Memphis, Texas, singing country western songs.

There was an example of what's in store for next year as the Vernon Chapters put their bid in with new lyrics to "Happy Days." The area convention will be held in Vernon, next October.

The Closing Ritual was recited and all members present joined hands for the Mezpah.

After checking in at headquarters of the convention, they registered and received a tote bag containing assorted items which were compliments of the Pampa businesses, and a keepsake charm saying "Hee Haw 77"

During some free time they attended an arts and craft show in the nearby coliseum.

Saturday night they were guests for "Poke Salad" which was a beautiful assortment of salads served buffet style. The Pampa chapters then hosted a "Hee Haw." There were lots of laughs as they did a good interpretation of all the "Hee Haw gang."

Door prizes were given and Vickie Allen won a toothpaste tube roller; and Barbara Koch won an assortment of cuptowels and hot pads.

The heat pump

"THE ELECTRIC SAVINGS MACHINE"

Here's how heat pump pumps

Think of it as a two-way electrical wonder, an amazing machine that cools your home or office in summer... then automatically reverses itself to heat in winter.

Think of it as a savings machine that costs less to operate than other electric heating/cooling systems now on the market. You know that all air — even frigid arctic air — contains heat. The heat pump just puts this simple principle to work. In winter, it squeezes heat from outside air and pumps it inside. In summer, it extracts unwanted heat from the inside air and pumps it outdoors.

Or consider something already in your home that accomplishes the same thing as a heat pump: your refrigerator. It removes heat from the interior of the box and expels it. Like a refrigerator, the heat pump's basic components are simple — electric motor, compressor, condenser, evaporator, and blower system. Unlike a refrigerator, the heat pump has a reversing valve that lets it change the direction warm air is pumped — inside in winter, outside in summer.

B&PW Club To Observe Week

The week of October 16-22 has been proclaimed Business and Professional Women's Week by Lockney Mayor Claude Brown. National B&PW Week was initiated in 1928 by the National Federation of B&PW clubs to honor working women.

The Lockney B&PW Club will start the week with a coffee at Dorothy Shipp's home at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. The group will then attend services at the First Baptist Church.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday the club will have a salad supper in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church. Each member is encouraged to bring a guest.

At 7 a.m. Thursday they will meet at Strickland's Restaurant for breakfast.

New Dismissal Time

Starting Monday, October 17 Lockney Elementary School will turn out at 3:45, according to school principal Weldon Dodson.

All students that ride a bus will be kept in the room until 4 p.m. and buses will run at that time.

"We are doing this to eliminate the hazard of loading the buses when the parents are trying to pick up their children that live in town," Dodson's letter to parents explains. "We think that getting the town children out of the way at 3:45...will eliminate a traffic problem when we are trying to load the buses at 4 p.m. Until further notice all children will be kept in class until 3:45 p.m."

A 10-minute call to San Francisco doesn't take a lot of dough.

For just $2.44 or less, you could take down these recipes by Long Distance.

We're printing these recipes to make a point: a Long Distance call lets you say so much, for so little.

In a 10-minute phone call to San Francisco, between 5 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. tonight, you could take down the recipes below. And by dialing 1+, the most you pay is $2.44, plus tax.

So enjoy a pleasant visit tonight by Long Distance. Whether you call to get a couple recipes... or just to find out what's cookin'.

1. SOURDOUGH STARTER

1 package active dry yeast
2 1/2 cups warm water (105° to 115°)

1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
2 tablespoons sugar
4 cups all-purpose flour

a) Stir yeast, water, dry milk and sugar in 2 1/2 quart crock or non-metallic bowl until yeast is dissolved. Stir in flour gradually until a smooth batter forms. Let stand loosely covered in warm place, 3 to 5 days. Stir down batter occasionally. Store loosely covered in refrigerator.

b) Replace exact amount of starter used for each recipe by stirring equal amounts of homogenized milk and flour back into starter. (For example, replace 1 cup starter with 1/2 cup homogenized milk and 1/2 cup flour.) Let stand loosely covered until it bubbles, overnight. Stir down. Each time this process is repeated, the starter becomes more active and develops a more sour flavor. Note: if stored as much as two to three weeks between usings, just pour off the watery layer on top and replace following procedure in (b).

2. SOURDOUGH BREAD STICKS

1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 cup warm water (105° to 115°)
1 cup Sourdough Starter (see Recipe No. 1)
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons vegetable oil

2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 to 1 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

a) Mix dry milk, water, Sourdough Starter and 2 cups flour in non-metallic bowl, cover loosely. Let stand in warm place until mixture is coarse and bubbly, at least 8 hours.

b) Mix oil, salt, sugar and baking soda into sourdough mixture. Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Knead dough lightly on well-floured board, about 2 minutes.

c) Roll dough into rectangle, 15 x 10 inches, on well-floured board. Cut into fifteen 1-inch strips. Roll each strip into even round strand, about 14 inches long. Double strand over and twist to form bread stick. Place bread sticks on greased baking sheet; brush with melted butter. Cover with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm place until double, 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

d) Heat oven to 375°. Bake bread sticks until golden brown, 30 to 35 minutes. (Makes 15).

It's National Cooperative Month

Have you thought about a cooperative today? October is Cooperative Month. Governors of many states issue proclamations saluting cooperatives. Local co-ops hold open house, place ads in newspapers and stage special programs. State and national cooperative groups plan receptions and other events to remind legislators and the press of the importance of cooperatives.

Over 50 million people are members of the more than 40,000 cooperatives in the United States. Some use their cooperative to obtain housing. Others belong to credit unions. Farmers sell their food and fiber products through cooperatives. Rural people obtain credit, electricity and telephone service from cooperatives. Feed, seed and fertilizer are supplied by cooperatives. And many nursery schools, pre-paid group health plans, memorial societies, grocery stores and insurance companies are cooperative.

But what is all of this to the majority of Americans who are not cooperative members? What do cooperatives—many of them located in rural areas—do for the average urban dweller whose only contact with farming is a trip to the local supermarket? Why are cooperatives good for America? A cooperative is a business voluntarily owned and controlled by its members and operated for them on a non-profit basis. Each cooperative member has an equal voice in his organization and shares in benefits according to the amount of his patronage.

The significant difference between cooperatives and other businesses is that the cooperative owner-member is interested in product or service he receives rather than in cash return on his investment. He usually resides in the community where the cooperative is located and is directly affected by how the cooperative operates.

Without cooperatives many of the farmers' costs of operating would be higher. These added costs would then be passed on to the consumer.

The existence of strong cooperatives helps small businesses survive and succeed. In this world of economic complexity, many small farmers could not survive without such organizations.

As community-oriented institutions, cooperatives help build stronger communities and develop leadership. They often serve as the focal point in programs to preserve the environment, conserve resources and energy and achieve a more favorable trade balance through export of farm products.

Forty years ago, only 10 percent of American farms had electricity, although most cities had long enjoyed this vital service. Rural telephones were not dependable, and as many as 20 families were forced to share a line.

Credit for farmers to purchase land and supplies was non-existent or at unaffordable rates. The feed, seed and fertilizer offered to the farmer was frequently of dubious quality and carried a high price tag.

People began to realize that if they pooled resources and worked together, many things that could not be accomplished alone could be done. With the help of their Government, they established credit cooperatives to finance their farm needs. Electric cooperatives helped liberate the countryside from the backbreak of farm chores. Telephone coopera-tives helped modernize and extend communications to remote rural sections. And credit unions helped people save money.

President Carter hails the accomplishment of one early electric cooperative this way: "...I think the best day of my life—the one I remember most vividly, with the possible exception of my wedding day—was the day they turned the lights on in our house back in 1936 or 1937. The bringing of rural electric program to the farms of our nation made it possible for us to stretch our hearts and minds to encompass public involvement in affairs that would not have been possible without the rural electrification program."

This, of course, is the real benefit of cooperatives. They enabled the farmer to produce more at a fair return for his labor, and also showed how, by organizing, he could improve many aspects of living. He applied lessons learned in his cooperative to improve operation of school boards, hospital authorities, state legislatures and national organizations.

The cooperative idea spread to the cities. Through credit unions, people accumulated savings and got fair-priced loans for automobiles, college tuition and household necessities. Group health plans provide medical services at affordable rates, and consumer cooperatives offer groceries, furniture, home, car and appliance repair, and many other services.

Today, 500,000 families live in 2,500 housing cooperatives. 1.2 million people are members of over 1,000 consumer goods cooperatives; some 200 group health organizations offer prepaid health care, and about 600,000 have arranged economical and dignified last rites as members of cooperative memorial societies.

About 28 percent of all food and fiber sold in the United States is marketed through farmer cooperatives. About 62 percent of the 7,600 farmer-owned cooperatives help farmer's sell their products; 36 percent supply the feed, seed and fertilizer to produce them and 2 percent offer farm-related services.

The largest cooperative in numbers of members is the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation of Raleigh, N.C., with 600,000 members.

Credit Unions, however, account for more than half of all U.S. cooperative members. One out of seven people in the U.S. is a credit union member. Of 40,000 cooperatives in this country, 23,000 are credit unions, holding 16 percent of all consumer credit outstanding after excluding real estate loans, and are owned by 32 million members.

One of the largest lending institutions in the United States is the Farm Credit System, a group of banks and cooperatives which last year provided $34.6-billion in credit for farmers and their cooperatives.

Rural electric and telephone cooperatives provide utility services to more than 26 million people located in 46 states. Today, 98.6 percent of the farms have electric service and over 90 percent boast modern telephones.

A new form of cooperative is in the legal services area. Some 3,000 organizations offer specified services of lawyers to people who pay membership fees.

Cooperatives can be formed for any worthwhile purpose. In Madison, Wis., for example, the Yellow Jersey Bicycle Cooperative offers purchase and repair services at a saving.

"Cooperatives are Good for America" because they provide quality goods and services at cost to owner members. They add jobs and income to communities. Perhaps more importantly, they enable 50 million user-owners to build self-reliance in business actions, and help develop a business leadership that carries over to many other important fields.

SELL COTTONSEED FOR CATTLE FEED—Cotton producers may be able to get a little more money for their cottonseed by selling it to cattlemen for feed rather than to the gin. says a livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This is due to the current low price of cottonseed. Cottonseed is a good feed source for cattle as it contains about 20 percent natural protein and provides 20 to 25 percent more feed-energy than most commercial grain cubes with 20 percent protein. Whole cottonseed is also a good source of phosphorus for beef cows.

4-H WEEK INVOLVES TEXAS YOUTH—More than 100,000 Texas 4-H boys and girls will be involved in special activities during National 4-H Week, Oct. 2-8, notes the state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas also has some 37,000 youngsters involved in special 4-H television program groups. There are some 2,050 organized 4-H clubs in the state, more than 15,000 volunteer adult leaders, and some 6,500 teen leaders who help younger members in project groups and special activities.

Here's another first from Lindsay... the Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease. Instead of a fixed lease payment, you pay for your Zimmatic based on the price of corn. If corn prices plunge, so does your lease payment.

By offering this new lease, Lindsay is sharing some of the same risks that you face every year. Corn prices fluctuate, which affects your profit picture. That's why Lindsay developed the exclusive Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease... a revolutionary program that tailors your lease payments to the changing price of corn, from one year to the next.

The Zimmatic Corn Crop Lease is designed so you can lease a Zimmatic without using your normal operating credit sources... your Zimmatic pays its own way by turning on your production.

The number of Zimmatics available under this program and the time period of this offer are limited so come in soon and get all the details on the Corn Crop Lease and other exclusive leasing programs available only through Lindsay Credit Corp.

Area farmers air views on irrigation gas prices

By DOUG McDONOUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Irrigation farmers face a prospect of going to dryland or semi-dryland farming even though they have underground water available if energy costs continue to climb, Don Marble, a Floyd County farmer, told a state legislative committee here Tuesday.

"This area operates on energy more than any other farming area in the nation. Our biggest worries concerning energy is having the cost continually going up and not having it available at all. If either comes true, we will be completely stymied and out of business," Marble explained.

A partner in a 25,000-acre farming operation and president of the High Plains Research Foundation, Marble said the greatest impact of reverting to dryland farming would be for the area's economy, not the individual farmer. "It would be a complete desiccation to the economy. Some of the farmers would survive the change, but related industries such as seed companies, fertilizer companies and others, could not survive."

Marble testified at a hearing of a state energy resources committee headed by Rep. Joe Hanna of Breckenridge. The panel is gathering testimony for a report on the state energy picture to be released in 1978 and the public hearing Tuesday is the only one to be held on energy for irrigation use.

BILL LAMPY of Pioneer Natural Gas painted a picture of increasing prices for irrigation farmers using natural gas. "Under present conditions, the price of gas will continue to go up about two cents a month. But, if intrastate companies have to compete with interstate companies for the same gas supplies under some of the energy proposals before the Congress, we will be in a real pricing problem," Lampy said.

He said there are currently 6.3 million acres of farmland under irrigation served by Pioneer Natural Gas and all irrigation farmers are suffering from the same energy-cost squeeze although Pioneer has been able to furnish natural gas to their customers cheaper than other intrastate gas companies in Texas.

A variety of farmers testified that the cost of natural gas has risen from 38 cents per mcf (thousand cubic feet) to between $1.38 and $1.45 currently and that long-range research into alternative energy sources may not come soon enough to aid most.

MARBLE, EXPLAINING the research problem farmers face, told the seven-member panel, "Long-range research is fine, but a lot of banks won't wait that long."

David Clements of the Texas Tech Energy Research Institute reported that solar and wind powered energy research is being conducted by Tech and other schools, but the cost of such alternatives put them out of the price range for farmers. "All we have now in the country is a lot of prototypes. They may end up being fairly expensive items."

An alternate energy source that shows promise of being the cheapest is the use of farm residue, such as corn cobs and manure, for transfer into a synthetic gas for irrigation use, Clements said. But implementation of the method is still several years away, he explained.

HE SAID AREA farmers, in addition to energy problems, face a future of little or no fresh underground water to irrigate with. "There is a fairly good supply of water from the Santa Rosa formation below the Ogallala aquifer, but that water is salty. We will cause damage to the soil if we use it over the long term."

Ed Webber of Southwestern Public Service Co. gave farmers some hope of making more natural gas available. He explained that with the construction of coal-fired generating plants, by 1985, 62 percent of the base load and about 50 percent of the entire electrical generating load of the company will be handled by coal instead of natural gas, freeing 350 million mcf of gas per day. By 1990, approximately 85 percent of the companies needs will be converted to coal.

The move to coal also will help stabilize the cost of electricity to farmers using that energy for irrigation use, he explained.

BRUCE RIGLER, a Plainview farmer and spokesman for the Plains Irrigation and Gas Users Association, explained the current plight of irrigation farmers during the hearing. "In the last five or six years, my energy costs have gone up some 360 percent yet my crops are only worth 50 percent of what they were at their peak. Farmers are in a tighter squeeze than they've been in 20 years."

Hanna said the information compiled at the hearing, in addition to going into the report due next summer, will be vital to the committee which checks all energy legislation introduced in the Texas House of Representatives.

Other representatives present at the hearing were James Nowlin, San Antonio; Tom Martin, George West; Bob Bush, Sherman; Ed Mayes, Granbury; Mike Millsap, Fort Worth and Jimmy Mankins, Kilgore.

Also serving on the committee but not present for the hearing are Tom Schieffer, Fort Worth; Tom Craddock, Midland; Ron Wilson, Houston; and Dan Kubiak, Rockdale.

SHOOTING A SIGHT — Obie Kelly, soil conservationist, assists youngsters in looking through a surveyor's level as part of activities held for students of Ash School last week.

LESSON IN GUN SAFETY — Lance Dickerson, a student of Ash School, gets a tip on proper handling of firearms from Highway Patrolman Bill Dawson during the all-school field trip near Floydada.

The outdoors is learning experience

It was quite a field trip. In fact all of the Ash sixth graders spent last Friday in "outdoor classrooms" in the canyon at the South Plains Baptist Assembly just outside of Floydada. It took nine buses to get them there.

The 450 youngsters had for their teachers members of the Soil Conservation Service, The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, the Department of Public Safety, some Boy Scouts plus various parent volunteers and the Ash staff. This was the second year that the Ash kids took to the wilds and according to principal Dell Brown it was a bigger success than last year because "we've learned from doing."

This year there were four Learning Stations that included gun safety, hiking, nature and soil conservation. There were several teams at each station so that groups of thirty students could spend about 40 minutes at each station. Or, as longtime instructor Perry Willingham explained, it was an 'on hands type' field trip. Every student got to try out whatever was being demonstrated. The students used binoculars and looked for birds and pulled weeds and identified them.

THE SOIL Conservation

representative explained various soil testing equipment and the students got to use a surveyors' level.

The hike to the rim of the canyon was conducted by the Boy Scouts. From that vantage point they could look down at other groups trying out their skills with a 410 shotgun. Gun safety was the object and both Highway patrolman Bill Dawson and Game Warden Ronnie Ainsworth expressed surprise at how few youngsters had ever fired a rifle. But with a little instruction a surprising 60 percent hit the target, they estimated.

The "bird lady", as the students called Laveta Ream from Crosbyton, called not only the kids to her station but also the birds. Most of the students said they had never paid any attention to birds before. An obliging woodpecker put on quite a show for the students and they also learned how to prepare simple bird feeders for the winter months.

IT WAS AN EDUCATIONAL

day and a fun one also, but a lot of work was involved. Cafeteria workers prepared all of the sack lunches that involved some 1,500 sandwiches. The kids had a choice of a peanut butter sandwich along with a bologna sandwich or a single ham sandwich. All the sacks had a bag of potato chips, an apple, a wrapped cookie and fresh celery sticks. The lunches and milk were distributed at the four stations and almost an hour was allowed for lunch.

Despite the obvious rough terrain there was only one sprained ankle and two bee stings that required attention from the school nurse Mrs. Pat Simmons at the First Aid station.

Those manning the stations included Tammy Orr, John Ream, and Greg Cronholm. Scouts included Greg Reed, Lonnie White, Brad Job, Randy Sutton, Gregg Miller, Mark Bailey, Jeff Younger, and Evan Kramer.

Personal assisting from the Plainview Soil Conservation Service staff were Jimmy Lewis, Carl Hutcherson, and Wayne Fowler. From the SCS staff in Floydada were Jon La Baume, Joe Platt, Linda Bush, and Jake Colston. Also working at the gun stations were Keith Gross, Jack Geyer and Brown.

and people of the varied regions of Mexico. U.S. and Canada Audubon Societies provided cooperation with photographer Chess Lyons in making the film.

Future Of QA&P Receives Boost

The future of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railway got a tremendous boost this week with the announcement that Burlington Northern Inc., moving to extend its railroad into the Southwest has signed an agreement in principal to acquire the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway.

The Frisco, parent company of the historic QA&P, currently operates the 104-mile "Q" from Quanah through Paducah, and Roaring Springs to Floydada.

Announcement of the proposed merger - which has been under discussion for the past year - was received by local employees from Louis W. Menk, chairman and chief executive officer of the Burlington, and Richard C. Grayson, chairman and president of the Frisco.

The two said the consummation of the transaction would require the negotiation of a definite merger agreement and approval by stockholders of both companies and the Interstate Commerce Commission. An application is expected to be filed with the Commission by the end of the year - perhaps sooner.

Speculation is rife concerning the meaning of the merger to Quanah and the QA&P.

Amarillo television reports indicated that Quanah could well become the area terminal for the Fort Worth and Denver lines, a subsidiary of the Burlington which extends from Fort Worth to Denver with branch lines along the way.

At the present time, Wichita Falls, Childress and Amarillo are terminal points where train crews do their switching. With the coming merger the future of the QA&P seems more stable than in the past 20 years.

Speculation is that not only will the Burlington drop recent efforts by the Frisco to abandon the QA&P line but that increased traffic can be expected.

Since the Burlington will have only a 12-mile stretch from Floydada to Lockney to connect with their lines in Lubbock, it is entirely possible that the company may elect to build the line to give them a better connection into Lubbock from the middle west.

Several years ago the Fort Worth and Denver was seeking to purchase the QA&P but negotiations bogged down when they were unable to arrange a suitable lease of the Santa Fe track to their Lockney lines.

According to an article in the Wall Street Journal, under the agreement, each share of Frisco, would be exchanged for 0.95 shares of Burlington Northern common and $12.50 of a newly created 8.5 per cent non-voting preference stock with a sinking fund beginning in the sixth year and designed to retire the issue in equal annual amounts by the end of the 20th year.
