Cooperation, Friendliness Impress New Doctor At Lockney General

Dr. Roland Sanchez is impressed with the way people work together at Lockney General Hospital. The young doctor has been on the medical staff at the hospital since November 17 and will be here through February 5. He is completing his residency in family practice at John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth and chose Lockney to spend the required two and a half months service in a small hospital.

"I was impressed with Lockney when I first came here a year ago and talked to Dr. Mangold," Sanchez said. "I knew Gary (Dr. Mangold's son) at Peter Smith, and he described an interesting and friendly situation at Lockney and in the clinic," he continued - so Sanchez chose Lockney.

Another thing that has impressed Sanchez about the Lockney hospital is "...the way they're able to provide the quality of medical care that they do at such low prices..." And when he visited at Rotary Club here two weeks before joining the hospital staff, "...we felt really welcome the way the townspeople greeted us. We felt a real sense of West Texas hospitality, and we intend to return that with service for the next two and a half months."

Sanchez, his wife Elia and seven-month-old daughter Jessica are living at 510 SW 5th Street in a house rented by the hospital.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Sanchez are from Belen, New Mexico, and both were raised in a rural setting. The young doctor was raised on a farm near Belen (population 8,000) where alfalfa was grown, and he did some custom baling for other farmers while he was in high school. A National Honor Society member and the student body president at Belen High School, he participated in 4-H and showed a second-place lamb at the county fair. He'd like to someday have a small farm and raise Santa Gertrudis cattle, he says.

One thing Dr. Sanchez has learned since being in Lockney - "I've found out they need more than one doctor here!" He learned that one day last week when Dr. Mangold took off a day to see Gary and Sanchez saw 70 patients in one day. And some days more than 100 patients are seen at the clinic.

Sanchez has a degree in civil engineering from New Mexico State University and an M.D. from the University of New Mexico.

Traffic Ticket Appeals Won't Be Thrown Out

By Wendell Tooley
Recently Lubbock county officials threw out some 400 appeals on traffic tickets because of the cost of bringing them to court. Most of them were given by city policemen with the city not paying court costs.

County Attorney Kenneth Bain says some 30 traffic ticket appeals in Floyd county will not be thrown out. He reports that he keeps the traffic court appeals fairly current, although none have been held this year.

The new "Speedy Trial Law" requires that traffic appeals must be heard within 30 days and felonies within 120 days. This means that all appeals to be handled by the County Attorney must be cleared by July 1, 1978 when the law takes effect.

Most of the traffic violation tickets are paid as the violator appears before Justice of the Peace H.E. Porter in Floydada or J.P. Razz Ford in Lockney.

To date Porter has collected over $20,000 in traffic ticket fines and almost $30,000 for all types of fines. Most of the traffic fines are written by the Department of Public Safety.

Although Ford would not give an estimate of how much he has collected this year, he said, "it won't be nearly as much as Porter has collected."

Some people think the more fine money a J.P. collects, the more salary he gets. This is simply not correct. Porter said, "I get $328 a month whether I collect 100 fines or none..." Porter puts in a 40 hour week in the office and has to make a lot of night calls. He receives $125 a month travel expense. He has asked the Commissioner's Court for a larger salary, maintaining that he does most of the JP work in the county, but his request was turned down by the Commissioners Court.

Porter said the state gets $3.50 of every traffic ticket, the rest goes to the county.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WORK
District Attorney Randy Hollums says most of his docket work is pretty well up to date, although he had to take out a month or two prosecuting the murder of the Motley County sheriff this year.

"The Speedy Trial Law" may mean that we will need a grand jury once a month, and more juries as many of these cases come to court in a hurry and are not carried on the docket for a year at a time," the D.A. said.

"Many cases are simply thrown out because they are so old when they come to court, it is impossible to find the arresting officer, or by then many officers, if they are around can't remember the people involved in the situation," Hollums said.

COUNTY ATTORNEY SALARY

The county attorney receives a salary of $822 a month, so must depend on private practice for much of his income. The County Attorney of Hale County recently resigned because he couldn't handle all the cases on what he considered a part time salary of around $16,000 per year. He was behind some four or five hundred cases.

500-Word Limit On Histories

The Floyd County Historical Museum wants every family's history to be included in the Floyd County History Book.

There is no fee for having a family story in the book if it does not exceed the 500 word limit. If the vast majority of families in the county newcomers and pioneers participate, the space required in the free section of the book will be considerable. Therefore, a limit of 500 words has been placed on the story to be included in the free space.

If a family finds it difficult to tell their story in 500 words, they may purchase additional space at the rate of $15.00 for a quarter page, $80.00 for a half page, and $150.00 for a full page. Tribute pages for living members and memorial pages for deceased members of a family are also available for a fee.

The Floyd County Historical Museum wants to encourage each family unit to write their own story. A family unit is a man and his wife and their children at home. If there are four brothers or sisters who live or who have once lived in the county, each brother or sister should write their own family's story. If a family wants to write about their parents in their 500 words of free space; they can purchase a special page(s); or they can purchase a memorial page(s).

For additional information or questions, please contact the Floyd County Historical Museum 983-2415. Deadline for submitting stories has been extended to January 15.

Race To Move To Swisher County

James Race, Texas Farm Bureau Insurance career agent for Floyd County since 1974, has been promoted to manager of the Swisher County Farm Bureau, effective January 1, 1978. He will continue to be employed by the Floyd County Farm Bureau until that date.

board of directors, president of the Lockney Lions Club, president of the Lockney High School Ex-Student Association, member of the Floyd County Fair Association board of directors, member of the Lockney Town Meeting Committee, and a member of the Lockney Tennis Association and board of directors.

Race has been nominated one of the Outstanding Young Men of America (1977) and was nominated to the American Biographical Institute (1978).

His Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Awards include: member of $500,000 Club, 1976; All Star Club, 1974-75-76-77; Round Table Club, 1975-76-77; Family Security Club, 1975-76-77; state-wide agents' meeting, 1974-75-76-77; Trophy of Fame, 1976.

"Without the help of the people of Lockney and Floyd County it would not have been possible for me to receive the advancement that I have received," Race said.

"So with grateful hearts and deep gratitude, I, my wife and children thank you, our customers and friends, who have shown confidence in me and let me be their agent. We wish to thank all of you." Race and his wife Sherry have two children, Jeffrey, age 14, and Nicki, 10.

Fike Godfrey

Godfrey Seeks Congress Office

Fike Godfrey, who resigned last month as executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, officially launched his campaign for Congress this week by pledging the use of "West Texas common sense" in trying to help solve the problems facing Washington.

Godfrey, a Kent County rancher and former automobile dealer in Spur, served the West Texas Chamber, which represents 132 counties, for seven years. In making his formal announcement for the congressional seat being vacated by U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson, Godfrey noted that he had worked with all members of the Texas congressional delegation and would need "on-the-job training" to start representing the 17th District.

"Frankly, I am excited over the prospect of carrying on my efforts to bring industrial development to this district - with the resources of a congressional office to back me up," Godfrey told a gathering of supporters and news media representatives in Abilene.

"I look forward to representing the views of the people of this district trying to bring some of their common sense to Washington decisions - in trying to help solve the many critical problems which are facing us," he declared.

"We must solve the energy problem, in such a way that people will not be bankrupted simply by using their cars and keeping their homes comfortable," said Godfrey. "We must solve the inflation problem, which is caused by unnecessary, wasteful government spending."

"We must create more jobs, so that our young people can earn a living when they are ready to go to work. We must put the Social Security system back on a sound basis, so that the people, who have paid into it throughout their working lives, will be able to collect their benefits when they retire."

"We must eliminate unnecessary and abusive government interference in the affairs of small business, because it is stopping the creation of new jobs in the private sector," said Godfrey. "We must make it possible for farmers and ranchers to make a reasonable profit on their labor and investment. We must get tough on crime and the increasing use of narcotics, which is growing steadily worse."

"And, above all, we must maintain a strong defense for our nation - strong enough to deter aggression - or else we will find that solutions to all our other problems are meaningless," he declared.

Godfrey said that, with the help of such people as Congressman Burleson, he has learned to work with congressional and federal procedures while representing West Texas on many trips to Washington during the last seven years. He said he knows his way around the Halls of Congress and has the necessary experience, background, and knowledge of previous Congressional actions to enable him to begin immediately making decisions that are right for the people of the district on many critical issues that the new Congress will face immediately when they convene.

Godfrey said he would be "ready, willing and able to begin providing effective representation for the district the moment I take the oath of office."

Godfrey also noted that he and his wife had spent their vacations for many years traveling to foreign countries. He said the visits they have made to 24 foreign countries would give him a helpful perspective in dealing with foreign affairs matters.

"While this foreign travel is certain to be helpful," he said, "I take the greatest pride in the knowledge I have gained of the people and their problems in the 33 countries in the 17th Congressional District. The people of this area are the greatest on earth. I admire their independence, their self-reliance, their moral values, their common sense and their patriotism. These qualities helped us to maintain the healthiest economic climate in the nation during the last recession."

Agriculture, and he will be among the speakers for the fifth annual Bankers' Agricultural Credit Conference at Texas Tech University Friday and Saturday, December 2 and 3.

This Worcestershire Cheese Christmas Tree is a delicious spread for the holiday snack table. It couldn't be easier; just mix the two cheeses and chopped nuts with a measure of Lea & Perrins sauce. Might as well make a triple batch and refrigerate it, ready for guests.

Shape it as a Christmas tree and decorate with sliced pimiento stuffed olives or strips of red pepper as shown above. Any leftover cheese mixture can be "recycled" and shaped into a yule log or another Christmas tree. If you're not in the mood for art work, serve it nicely piled in a pretty bowl.

WORCESTERSHIRE CHEESE CHRISTMAS TREE

- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 4 ounces (1 cup) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 tablespoon onion powder
- 2 teaspoons original Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 roasted red pepper, cut into 1/4" wide strips

In a medium bowl mix together cream cheese, Cheddar cheese, onion powder and Worcestershire sauce until well blended. Stir in nuts. With hands and a small spatula, shape into a cone shape. Make a spiraling ridge from top to bottom. Into ridge, press red pepper strips. Recipe may be doubled or tripled if desired. Serve with crackers. Yield: about 1 1/2 cups.

Lighthouse Selling New Cookbook

Lighthouse Electric Cooperative has printed a new cookbook. They have printed 3 books in the past, but it has been 17 years since the last one was first printed. Because of popular demand it was decided to print a new book this year. A request for recipes was sent out to the people in the Lighthouse service area and the response was overwhelming. The 336 page book is a collection of recipes that are family favorites, including recipes sent in by Rosalyn Carter, Joan Mondale, Mrs. Lyndon

B. Johnson, Janey Briscoe and others.

The artwork in the book is interesting and a little unusual for a cookbook. Over 20 local artists submitted artwork to be used throughout the book.

The books may be purchased at the office in Floydada for only $5.00 each or by sending $5.50 for each book to

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Dartha Westbrook

We had a very busy Thanksgiving week at the Nursing Home. Besides our regular activities of Exercise and Devotions each day, we played dominoes on Monday afternoon, and had Arts and Crafts (basket-making) on Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday afternoon, we played bingo. The winners were Pearl Carriek and Agnes Anderson with 4 games, Hope Hammonds and Clara Williamson with 3 games, Willie Stambaugh and Hallie Ierland with 2 games each. Of course Thursday was Thanksgiving, and I think 13 of our Residents were out with families for dinner. We had a good Thanksgiving dinner for those who were unable to go out. We felt this was a week for being very thankful for God's blessings at the Nursing Home. We have planned our December calendar, and our Noon Buffet will be Tuesday December 6. We hope you will make plans to attend. Our Resident's Christmas Party will be Tuesday, December 20 at 6:00 P.M. Please keep these dates in mind as we go into this busiest month of the year.

Thanks to everyone who took part in the devotions of last week. Thanks to the Mens Class, Department 4, of the First Baptist Church for the fruit and cookies they brought to the Home. Your thoughtfulness is so much appreciated. Thanks to the visitors who came to our Home. They were: Mr and Mrs. Hubert E. "Fast Foods" And Nutrition COLLEGE STATION—Home-cooked or "fast food" meals—they're about the same in nutrition, but not in calories or in cost, says Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. More and more women in the labor force and a busy lifestyle are sending Americans out to eat, especially "fast foods," the specialists says.

Specifically, how do fast foods compare, in cost and nutrition, with home-cooked meals? One USDA comparison shows that fast food chain meals are as nutritious as their homemade counterparts but cost about twice as much.

For example, in the Washington, D.C. area in July 1976, a meal of hamburger (or cheeseburger) + french fries + soft drink cost about 1.8 times as much as it would have at home, and dessert (apple pie) cost 3.5 times as much.

Seven meal-type combinations of food from the same chain and corresponding meals prepared at home were similar in nutritive value. Five of the seven restaurant meals provided one-fifth or more of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for protein, riboflavin, thiamin and vitamin C.

None of the meals furnished much vitamin A, since vegetables in the usual "hamburger place" are almost limited to french fries. The meal with milkshake exceeded one-fifth of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance for calcium. This indicates that more of some nutrients and less of others were provided.

FIVE GENERATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bishop are great, great grandparents the fourth time. The picture of the first fifth generation was made at Pasadena, Texas Christmas 1947. In this picture is; Mrs. Matilda Ann Bishop, Earl Bishop, Mrs. Riley Teague, Mrs. Sue Tilson and Joe Mack Tilson.

The second fifth generation picture; Earl Bishop, Mrs. Riley Teague, Sue Tilson, Joe Mack Tilson and Jason Mack Tilson, made Thanksgiving 1977.

The oldest great great, is Patience Boyce daughter of Danny and Jennifer Boyce, Chelsea, daughter of Brad and Lou Teague, Blue Boyce son of Danny and Jennifer Boyce. The Boyce and Teague children are the grand children of Roy and Shirley Teague of Hurst, also the great grand of Riley and Lula Teague.

Mr. Bishop is 91, Mrs. Bishop is 89 years young.

In "fast food" hamburgers, thiamin values were consistently lower, though riboflavin values were higher. Protein levels in home-made hamburgers were higher, probably due to the amount (2 ounces) of ground beef used for the higher protein content of the beef. Fat levels in the restaurant-type meals were not excessive. The percentage of food energy provided by fat was lower than 35 per cent. In all but one of the fast food chains' hamburger meals, fat provided less than 42 per cent of the calories, the average in most U.S. diets. The "fast" fillet of fish sandwich used over one tablespoon of mayonnaise-type spread and the apple pie—more crust than fruit—contained more fat than the home-prepared versions. The non-fat dry milk base of the fast food restaurant shakes provided considerably more calcium than the shakes made at home from whole milk and ice cream. The french fries prepared at home supplied more vitamin C than the restaurant product, depending, of course, upon the variety of potato, storage conditions and the method of preparation.

Of course, the fast food meal provided over the recommended allowance for calories than for some nutrients—assuming an allowance of around 2,600 calories. Women and children who have lower energy allowances would need to be aware of the higher caloric percentage of these meals.

When families elect to eat at a fast food restaurant, it is wise to remember that the remainder of the day's food should provide the recommended amount of nutrients without an excess of calories.

Across the nation, the popular fast food restaurants are a convenience that save the busy homemaker's time.

As soon as a toothbrush shows wear, replace it, advises Carla Shearer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

About five percent, or approximately one million older people, live in institutions of all kinds, reports Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education specialist-aging, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

CHRISTMAS DECORATION SAFETY

Common-sense rules for decorating make holidays safer. A few tips for you on tree, light, ornament and plant safety are given below.

TREE SAFETY—In buying a natural tree, check for freshness.

Fresh needles will bend between your fingers. Signs of dryness include brittle branches and shedding needles. Tap the tree lightly on the ground to see if many needles fall off.

Don't depend on a healthy green color. Trees may be sprayed green to improve their appearance. To set the tree up, place it in a sturdy holder with a wide base. Fill the holder with water and refill as necessary all the time the tree is in use. Set the tree a good distance from any heat source. Get rid of the tree when the needles begin to fall off in large quantities. This is a sign that the tree is becoming dangerously dry.

LIGHT SAFETY—Be sure the lights are safe. First look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratory) label to insure pre-purchase safety checks. Then check the tree lights and outdoor lights for frayed wires, loose connections, broken or cracked sockets and spots where bare wire is exposed. Repair or throw out any damaged light set.

INDOOR TREE LIGHTS—In decorating with lights, fasten them securely to the tree, and make sure no lightbulbs are in direct contact with the needles or branches. Keep curtains and flammable materials away from the bulbs. Don't overload extension cords. More than three sets of lights on any extension cord invites danger. Finally, keep the connection joint away from the water supply of a live tree.

OUTDOOR LIGHTS—Don't try to use indoor lights for outdoor lighting. Make sure outdoor lights are weatherproof and the label clearly says they are for outdoor use. Before leaving the house or going to bed, be sure all lights are turned off. Remove outdoor lighting as soon as the holiday season is over. Even these lights are not designed to withstand prolonged periods of time in the elements.

ORNAMENT AND PLANT SAFETY—Avoid placing breakable ornaments or those with small detachable parts on lower tree branches where small children or pets can reach them and knock them off. Also, keep other decorations and holiday plants out of children's reach. Some traditional holiday decorations, such as mistletoe and hollyberries, may be harmful if eaten.

Wear several shawls at once. It's a cool weather layering trick, says Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She suggests a small one tied at the neck, a long oblong under the collar hanging loose, and a large square or triangle draped around the shoulder.

Buying fresh vegetables affected by decay is "penny foolish," says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Poultry must sometimes be repackaged for home refrigeration, says Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Chilled, raw poultry wrapped only in market paper should be unwrapped, placed on a platter or tray, covered with wax paper and refrigerated.

Increase In Texas Speeders Alarming

AUSTIN (AP) — A Highway Department study shows more Texans than ever before are lead-footing it down the road and thumbing their noses at the small white signs with "55" on them.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said the quarterly report that ended Sept. 30 indicates 74 percent of Texas motorists are zipping along faster than the law allows. Of that number, 39 percent average more than 60 mph and 16 percent more than 65.

"That 74 percent is the highest percentage we've seen," said Jim Robinson. "In fact, out on the interstate and rural highways, we have 86 per cent over 55. The average speed for the quarter overall was 59.2, but on the interstates, it was 61.8."

Robinson said the DPS is very concerned about the increase in speeders because statistics show the number of traffic deaths also has taken an upward turn.

"As of noon Friday, Nov. 19, our deaths were up 11 percent over the same period last year," he said. "And on the interstates, we have a 48 percent increase in deaths over last year."

Texas has 1,331 state troopers manning about 70,000 miles of highway. Robinson said part of the enforcement difficulty stems from day-to-day happenings such as court appearances and illness.

"Taking all that and averaging it out, it works out that we have one highway patrol unit every 120 miles across the state," he said. "It's a fact that we have to concentrate in urban areas, so they would be spread thinner in the rural areas."

Robinson said troopers are writing a million tickets a year. He said about 800,000 are for speeding.

The 55 mph speed limit went into effect in 1974. Robinson pointed to DPS statistics that indicate Texas highways aren't as safe as they were right after the gas-saving law became effective.

As of Nov. 23, 1973, just before the 70 mph signs were mothballed, 3,208 Texans had died in traffic crashes. The same period the next year showed a dramatic change: 2,601 dead. But things began to go from bad to worse with a mild exception in 1976.

"The latest figures show 3,063," said Robinson. "If we keep going like we are, we're going to catch back up."

Boone Leads Charts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Once upon a time, the daughter of a man who wore white shoes, drank milk and voted Republican decided to become a singing star. Daddy, having been there himself, warned his little girl of the perils of evil Hollywood, but she wouldn't be shaken.

She recorded a sweet little love song — the theme of a sweet little movie — gave it to a nice record-producer friend of her father's, and waited for it to become a big hit.

And lo, it did. Debbi Boone has one of the fastest-rising, strongest hits of the year with her "You Light Up My Life," the theme song of the movie of the same name. It's atop all three trade magazines' pop charts and, judging by the number of people humming the tune in elevators, it might be there awhile.

Even papa Pat Boone, the man of the straight and narrow in a world of heathens and infidels, approves.

"He's very excited right now," says Debbi, who at 21 still lives with her folks. "He's very supportive of what I'm doing."

There was a time, Debbi says, when "he discouraged me from getting too involved in this business, having been there himself and knowing how difficult it can be, especially for a girl."

"He just knows that it was real rough on him, being alone on the road, all the different people, people taking advantage of you. He said you become a kind of merchandise instead of a person."

But Pat Boone made a mistake one day about eight years ago. While touring in the Orient, he let his girls join him on stage for one song.

"Once I got a taste of it," Debbi says, "that was it. My enthusiasm for school went right out the window."

She says she listened to her father's warnings — "I took it all in and thought about it very carefully, because I respect my father very much" — and trod slowly when she decided to give it a go.

"I know you can't just go into something like this and expect that everything will be fine. It can change you and it can hurt you unless you keep your head together."

As for keeping from those evils in the land of golden spoons, Debbi Boone says she has just the answer.

"I don't feel threatened by the corrupt side of show business," she says, "but I don't need to hide from it, either. I think if you're secure enough in your own morals and your own standards, you don't have to be afraid of the things around you."

"I don't really feel that I can be swayed or affected by any of it. I maalt standif. I'm an old-fashioned person. I have really high moral standards 'm an old-fashioned pie to use the word reli-

'Horns Handle Antelopes, 63-45

"What a team effort!" That's how Coach Mike Bellar described his Longhorns' basketball victory over Post Tuesday night. The LHS boys defeated Post 63-45. "The kids played their hearts out—they wanted to beat Post, and they wanted to beat them at home," Bellar said.

The Longhorns were ahead 15-13 at the end of the first quarter, increased the edge to 12 points (33-21) at halftime, led 44-31 after three quarters of play, and outscored the Antelopes 19-14 in the final stanza.

Here's the way the Lockney scoring went in a balanced attack: Ray McMahan 14 points, Danny Clark 12, Danny Riddley 11, Joe Rodriguez 10, Howard Moore six, Jim Burt four, Aaron Wilson two, Billy Sessom one. Brad Shepard led Post with 17.

The Lockney team effort was reflected in the fact that four men were in double figures, and Bellar mentioned outstanding defensive efforts by Sessom, Riddley, McMahan, Dale Kidd and Breck Record. Kidd, Sessom, Burt, Moore, Clark and McMahan all did a good job of rebounding, according to the coach.

"We're getting the touch and shooting better now," Bellar said. "Our good, hard workouts are beginning to pay off in our games," he noted. The 'Horns posted a pretty good 48 per cent average on field-goal tries Tuesday night.

Next action for Lockney High School basketball teams is Tuesday, when junior varsity and varsity boys and varsity girls play at Littlefield.

SEVENTH GRADE

Kyle Brock scored five points, Russell Warren four, Mario Arellano three, Joey Davis, Stephen Johnson and Tony Rodriguez two apiece, and Ricky Lopez one for the Lockney seventh. Lockney won the "fifth quarter" 4-2, with Robert Hernandez and Sammy Alvarez scoring two points each.

EIGHTH GRADE

A two point fourth quarter told the story in Lockney's loss to the Idalou eighth graders, Coach Steve Culwell said. The Shorthorns led 22-20 at the end of the third, but Idalou wound up winning the game 26-24. It was 16-14 Lockney at halftime.

The Lady Horns basketball team swamped Petersburg 61-30 in a game played there Monday night. The Buffalo gals stayed close for one quarter (it was 8-8 at the end of the first), but the Lady Horns opened up a nine point (25-14) lead at halftime, increased it to 20 points (42-22) at the end of the third period, and outscored 'em 19-8 in the final stanza. Petersburg won the junior varsity contest 14-13. Rhonda Hayes scored four points for Lockney, Donna Moats had three, and Gay Frizzell, Kay Sherman and Jody Nance scored two points apiece. ## BOONE FROM PAGE 1 giomoral standards and I am ... I hate to use the word religious, but that's what people call it.

"My life is centered around God. And that is not something that is predominant in the music business."

Indeed.

In a day of steamy sexuality (disco) and musical anarchy and debauchery (punk), what chance does a sweet-singing Christian who lives at home have?

"Well," she says, "I guess people want to hear that kind of thing (simple, sweet ballads). It's refreshing, I guess. Middle America, the bulk of the nation that isn't into one extreme or the other, enjoys this kind of thing. I think the song itself is a change, different from what we've been hearing lately."

Besides, she says, there's more to Debby Boone than sweetness and light.

"This is just the beginning of being able to show a little versatility," she says. "Maybe people won't bag me as being kind of middle of the road, straight, square. I'd like to do something country, do something Ronstadtish — California rock, I can do that, too."

"That's the bad part (of being Pat Boone's daughter) — people associate me with my father and they associate him, with his straightness and his wholesomeness, with being square and bland."

"And that is certainly not true of me."

Debby says she is already starting to feel some of the pains Papa told her about.

"When you have overnight success, like happened to me, the pressure's on," she says. "People start asking, 'What are you going to do next?' It's more pressure than never having had success at all."

"But I'm trying not to let that get to me, and I think I'm successful at it. ... I don't require fame and fortune to make me happy. I'm glad it's that way. It takes a lot of pressure off."

OBITUARIES

E. C. Cox

Services for E.C. (Caleb) Cox, 93, of Lockney were held Sunday in First Methodist Church of Lockney with the Rev. Hugh Daniel, pastor, officiating, and the Rev. John Jenkins, pastor of First Baptist Church, assisting. Burial was in Lockney Cemetery under direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home here.

The Mississippi native married Donna Casey June 10, 1901 in Oglesby. She died May 20, 1938. He then married Georgia Thomas February 22, 1942 in Plainview. She died March 21, 1977. He moved to Floyd County in 1905, from Coleman, and lived in California 34 years before returning to Floyd County February 23, 1977. He was a retired farmer and a Methodist. ## A Cracker Dictionary to hep you

BY REMER TYSON AND BILLY BOWLES Knight News Service

Billy Bowles born in Chattahoochee, Ga., and Remer Tyson, born in Bulloch County ("there wun't no town"), Ga., offer this guide to that rich and exotic speech known as Cracker.

When Jimmy Earl gets to the White House the bluebellies north of the Mason-Dixon Line are going to need a Cracker Dictionary to understand him.

The dictionary also will be important to leaders around the world. English may be the international language, but for the next four years diplomats had better know how to speak Cracker.

For example, when the Carter folks talk about hog-killing weather, they mean it's cold enough to butcher a shoat without worrying about the meat spoiling.

If Jody Powell orders an Ar-Cee Cola and a moon pie, he will be sending for a soda pop bottled by Royal Crown Cola Bottling Co. headquartered in Columbus, Ga., and a chocolate-covered wafer and marshmallow sandwich.

Washington grocers will be getting orders for "ash potatoes" — the Deep South name for Irish potatoes.

In no particular order, here are selections from a Cracker Dictionary:

Cracker — Your new president. The term derives from the cracking of long whips by mule-driving teamsters hauling turpentine resin outside of Valdosta, Ga.

Tawk — To speak Cracker.

Mash — To press, as in "Mash down the brakes, P. W.," or as a Southern gentleman was overheard to say on an Atlanta elevator, "Lady, can I mash your button?"

Bidness — A company or corporate body, such as General Motors in Detroit City; also, concern, as in, "It ain't none of yore bidness."

Pony-ack — A car put out by the same bidness that makes the Shivuh-lay.

Co-Coler — The world's best-selling pop bottled by a big bidness started by Asa Candler in Atlanta.

Dope — A Co-Coler, also called a bottle dope.

Place — A farm: "He was raised on the Doc Hagan place."

Pender — The nut that Jimmy Earl grows on his place at Plains, also known as goober or peanut; a South Georgia farmer wishing to inspect his peanut patch is likely to say, "Let's go look at the penders."

Hep — To assist, as in "Hep me through the night"; also hired hands, as in "How much do you pay your hep."

Chunk — To throw: "Chunk it to me, Joe Willie."

Litter-tour — Stuff written by Billy Shakespeare.

Lie-berry — Where you find stuff written by Billy Shakespeare.

Tarred — What you are after plowing all day.

Far — What burns in a farplace.

Fixin' — Preparing, as in, "Gimme time, I'm fixin' to do it."

Cheer — Something you sit on, as in "Pull up a cheer and set down."

Hunker — To squat on your haunches, as Lyndon Johnson said, "Sometimes you have to hunker down and take it like a jackass in a hail storm."

Bait — An excessive quantity, as in, "Mama cooked a mess of collards and fed the younguns a bait of it," or "Quit messing with me, now, Billy Bob, I've had a bait of it."

Illi-noise — Where Chicago is.

Carry — To tote something or escort on foot or in a car ("Kin I carry you to the pitcher show?")

Grits — A tasteless, odorless dish made from ground corn that tastes like whatever you are eating it with.

Coat — What a judge presides over upstairs in the coathouse.

Tol'able — State of personal being that you're doing so-so: "How you feeling?" "Jes' tol-able."

Chillun — Offspring, same as young'uns.

Y'all — Contraction of you all, can be singular or plural: "Y'all come."

Hillbilly — A term that "Crackers" use literally; someone who looks like Snuffy Smith and lives in the foothills of the Blue Ridges, north of Atlanta and south of Chattanooga, an insult to a south Georgia flatlander like Jimmy Carter.

Unduh — Beneath, as in "Unduh the spreading chestnut tree ..."

Sody — Fertilizer made of nitrate of soda; also used as in "sody cracker," like a Saltine.

Hit — The pronoun "it"; used in starting a sentence, as in, "Hit's shore good to see you."

Arn — What miners dig out of the ground; also used in, "you jack up the car, Junior, and I'll get the tar-arn"; also to press clothes, as in "I'd rather take a whippin' than to arn."

Idden — Same as "isn't" and rhymes with bidden, which is the same as "didn't."

Get Into Action With 4-H

How would you like to join 4-H? You can, you know, if you really want to and we'd be glad to have you, says Birch Lobban, Assistant county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

4-H is a national youth program for all youth between the ages of 9 and 19 regardless of race, color, ethnic background, economic status or cultural differences. The program is administered by the Cooperative Extension Service in each state.

The purpose of 4-H is to develop leadership and character in young people. 4-H'ers learn by doing through actively working on projects and participating in club meetings and 4-H activities.

4-H clubs are organized in such places as rural, suburban and urban neighborhoods. Groups may be organized among neighborhood families in one or two city blocks, housing complexes or anywhere they are needed.

Youth can participate in a variety of projects in 4-H, such as foods, clothing, animal projects, electricity, pigeons, arts and crafts, and many, many others. In fact, almost anything you want can be a project.

Most important and most of all, 4-H is a lot of fun! Where else can you get together with other people your age and have fun while you learn? Boys and girls in 4-H are always on the move doing something and participating in various activities. For instance, the 4-H rifle project attracts numerous youngsters each year who are interested in learning to shoot and observe gun safety. Livestock projects give youngsters a chance to be responsible for an animal and enter stock shows where they learn competitiveness and sportsmanship. 4-H'ers can even learn to make their own clothes through clothing and projects.

Besides projects, other activities such as the Share-the-Fun Contest give youngsters the chance to participate in organized recreation. County 4-H Fun Day is the time for playing games and making new friends. Members in 4-H can go on trips, take tours of interesting educational places, and can help finance their college education with scholarships awarded through 4-H.

If you know of a young person aged 9-19 call the county Extension office 983-2806 and we'll contact the individual about joining the 4-H program.

In an effort to meet the ever-changing needs of youth as we enter the third century of American history, a set of recommendations designed to guide 4-H programming, "4-H in Century III," has been developed. The recommendations include doubling the number of voluntary leaders serving 4-H during the next decade, which should result in doubling the number of 4-H clubs, special interest groups and 4-H participants.

"4-H in Century III" views the 4-H program in eight major areas of emphasis:

- economics, jobs and careers
- animal, plant and soil sciences
- environment and natural resources
- home and family resources
- health and safety
- leadership, citizenship education and community development
- creative and performing arts, leisure education and communication
- mechanical sciences and energy

These areas of emphasis provide the program thrust of the National 4-H council as it assists the 4-H program its leaders and members under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Services in the various states.

Boosting the 4-H program is the private sector which provided great resources of money, personnel and materials for the advancement of 4-H.

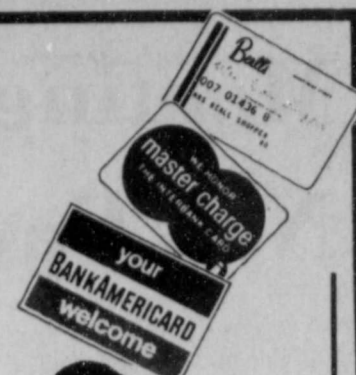

The many business and industrial leaders who have supported and continue to support 4-H give significant testimony that 4-H is a valuable educational program for America's youth.

Remember, you are what you want to be in 4-H. It is educational, interesting, challenging and lots of fun, emphasizes, Lobban.

4-H is open to all youth 9-19 years old without regard to race, creed, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Pheasant Season Opens Dec 10

LUBBOCK—the ring-necked pheasant population has shown another increase in the Texas Panhandle according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department survey figures compiled during early fall census counts.

"Survey lines are run every year along designated roads throughout the Panhandle and South Plains and a 6.4 percent increase was tabulated upon completion which is about normal," said David Dvorak, project wildlife biologist.

"Last year, a 58 percent increase set the record for hatches and numbers of pheasant counted on our survey lines but, this will not happen every year," Dvorak continued.

Another indication of a stable producing pheasant population is the ratio of one male pheasant to every female pheasant. This ratio will drop during the season as pheasant cocks are harvested by hunters leaving the desired ratio of one male bird to three-four female birds during the nesting season next spring.

The Panhandle pheasant season opens December 10 and continues through December 25 with a daily bag limit of two cock birds and a possession limit of four cock birds.

The Panhandle regulatory counties hosting the hunt include: Armstrong, Bailey, Iriseco, Carson, Castro, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Floyd, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lamb, Lipscomb, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Fisher and Wheeler.

One county of the Permian Basin regulatory district (South Plains) will have a nine-day season from December 10 through December 18. Terry county was opened to this limited hunt with the same daily and possession limit as the Panhandle although, the pheasant population is very small compared to some northern counties.

Indications of the pheasant reproduction in Terry County show a carrying capacity that will not increase unless landowners furnish more habitat suitable to pheasant. The short season should interest landowners in planting more grain and cover even though most landowners will not allow any hunting this first season.

Sportsmen are reminded to leave the head and feet attached to the pheasant carcass until the bird is delivered to its final destination. This rule will allow law enforcement officers to inspect the birds and insure that they have been legally bagged.

Most successful hunters use dogs to find the birds or to retrieve the wounded pheasant. Hunters familiar with ring necks know that the bird can run all day as he eludes the sportsman.

Increasing complaints from landowners indicate a large number of local hunters are not getting permission to hunt before they take to the field. Texas game wardens work with landowners and hunters to insure a successful hunt and all game laws should be followed including getting permission to hunt.

Check with your local game warden or P&WD representative for more information on hunting areas and regulations as the pheasant season nears.

Meetings Set On New Farm Bill

LUBBOCK-The new farm bill will be the subject of a series of educational programs across the South Plains this month. Understanding this legislation is one of the most important functions of the farm manager in 1978.

According to Billy C. Gunter, District Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, these programs will be held at 1:15 p.m. at the Community Building in Lamesa on Wednesday, December 14; at the Agricultural Center in Plainview on Thursday, December 15; and at the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill in Lubbock on Friday, December 16. All farmers and other interested persons are invited to attend.

All topics of these programs will be related to the Food and Agricultural Act of 1977 with emphasis on explaining the opportunities, alternatives, and regulations applying to the 1978 crop year. Gunter notes that the speakers are local individuals who have been close to the formulation of the legislation and who can interpret it for the South Plains growers.

Elbert Harp, executive director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Oscar "Cotton" Fanning, executive assistant of the Plains Cotton Growers, will present the discussion relevant to cotton production. Marvin Sartin, area economist management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss the economics of alternative farm organizations under this law. A discussion period is scheduled to allow an opportunity for you to ask questions.

The Community Center in Lamesa is located at South Houston and 9th Street across from Forest Park. The Agricultural Center in Plainview is south of town on Old Highway 87. The Plains Cooperative Oil Mill is at 2901 Avenue A in Lubbock.

These programs are sponsored by the South Plains Development (SPD) Program as a part of their Cotton PROFIT thrust through the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Grain Sorghum Producers Association and the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. are cooperating in providing this information to South Plains residents.

Farmers Subsidy

In November, the government is handing out deficiency payments to wheat farmers under the target price program amounting to something more than $1 billion.

This is the taxpayers' subsidy of consumers to provide cheap food.

A lot of comment has been raised about this dispensing of tax funds and the farmer has been the target of many attacks upon him as a parasite existing on the taxpayer.

What the American people need to realize is that while the taxpayer may indeed be subsidizing the farmer through this government program, the fact of the matter is that the farmer has been subsidizing the consumer a great deal more and because he is subsidizing the consumer we have food that is cheap by world standards.

Parity price for wheat, the largest crop grown in our area, is around $5 a bushel. Farmers say that production costs on wheat averages around $3.50 a bushel. Current cash market is around $2.50 a bushel.

The target price on wheat, the amount Congress has decided should be the least farmers should have to sell wheat for, is set at $2.90 a bushel.

A present price, it takes about three cents worth of wheat to make a loaf of bread. If the price of wheat were doubled, still below parity, it would take perhaps six cents worth of wheat per loaf of bread.

Thus the price of bread might be justified in going up about three cents a loaf. But experience has been different. In 1972 and 1973 when wheat went up to $5 a bushel, bakers cried that bread might go to $1 a loaf because of the high price. They used this as reason for raising prices of bread as fast and as far as they thought the public would stand.

The real scare story is that when the price of wheat dropped from $5 a bushel to $2 a bushel, the price of bread came down only a few cents, if at all.

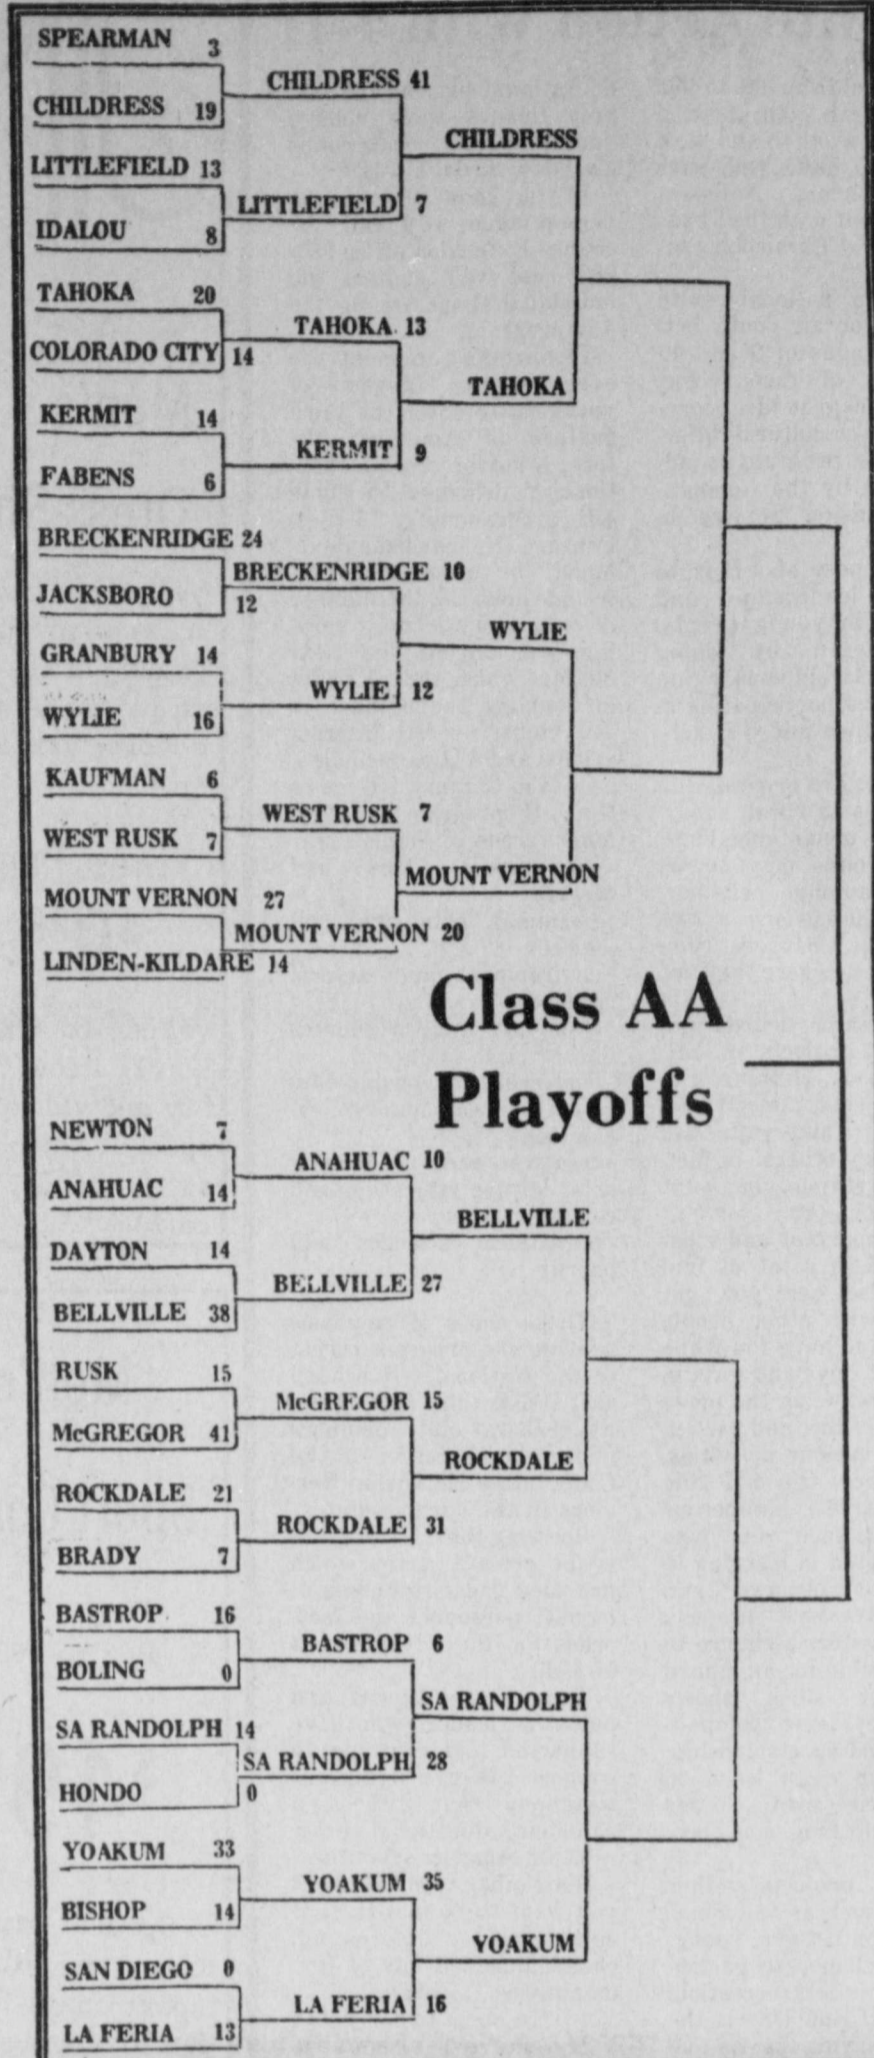

Farmers feel that their products deserve a fair price and they are not getting it.

Consumers may not feel that they have benefitted from the farmer subsidy because food prices are up, but the government policy of keeping food prices down means lower prices for growers.

Farmers have produced food at less than the cost of production. They have done this by mortgaging land, absorbing capital accumulated in prior years or obtained from other sources and by donating their families' labor to grow them.

They feel that it is time for them to receive a fair return on their investment of labor and capital in producing food.

They have a logical and compelling case. It's time the nation recognized it. (Perryton Herald)

Senator Farabee Protests Hospital Guidelines

Austin...State Senator Ray Farabee has contacted the federal Health Resources Administration in protest of proposed HEW guidelines.

In submitting his statement, Farabee said, "it is important that those responsible for proposing standards understand the needs of smaller cities and rural communities."

"It is not always possible for a patient to be transported to a larger city for treatment. You don't always know when you will need hospital treatment as a result of a heart attack or an accident. Hospitals and other health care facilities should not be eliminated in the same areas which are producing the food, fiber and energy that are so vital to the remainder of the country", Farabee continued.

In urging HEW to consider these factors before adopting any proposed guidelines, Farabee said, "persons in these less populous areas deserve the same quality of health care as their counterparts in larger cities. Facilities in many of these communities have been built by the people through great personal effort and expense in an attempt to meet critical needs."

Farabee said that he hopes the response from areas such as the 30th District will help preserve the existing medical facilities in smaller towns and cities.

VA NEWS

Recent legislation granting a 6.6 per cent increase in Veterans Administration compensation benefits to disabled veterans also included a boost in the VA clothing allowance for the nearly 58,000 disabled veterans whose prosthetic or orthopedic devices cause undue wear and tear on clothing, Jack Coker, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office, said today.

The increase, however, applies to the 1978 allowance.

The 1977 payments had already been made before the increase went into effect last month, Coker explained. Clothing allowance checks are normally mailed by September 1, each year.

The payments go to veterans whose service-connected disabilities require the use of special prosthetic or orthopedic devices, including artificial limbs, braces and wheelchairs which VA determines cause damage to their clothing.

Veterans on VA compensation rolls receive the allowance automatically after initial application.

Military retirees not receiving VA compensation must apply for the allowance each year. They are not required to waive any portion of their retirement pay to receive the allowance, however.

President Jimmy Carter
The White House

Dear Mr. President:

On behalf of the State of Texas I take strong exception to the "National Guidelines for Health Planning" published by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in the Federal Register.

The imposition of arbitrary, rigid formulas for determining the appropriate availability of health services and facilities for the citizens of Texas is highly offensive and will in the long run result in rationed health care. When fully implemented, these guidelines will further aggravate the problems that the citizens of rural Texas face in providing adequate health care facilities and in attracting and retaining physicians and other health care professionals.

In Texas we have 12 health system agencies, a series of state health agencies, a large number of interested consumer and professional groups, and hundreds of highly capable local and state elected and appointed officials who are quite capable of determining the health care needs of the citizens of this state without unnecessary federal medding and interference. We have made a substantial investment in the health planning mechanism that has just been created. We all share the same concerns about cost containment and developing a health care delivery system that meets the local health care needs of our people. These guidelines, however, go too far in failing to articulate exceptions and in placing too much importance on the Washington Bureaucrats' as opposed to the citizens' planning efforts. It was my impression and hope that with the passage of P.L. 93-641 a system would be established whereby the health needs of the citizens of our state could be identified by region with the local citizens of our state could be identified by region with the local citizens themselves having a direct role in the process. These needs could then be communicated to the federal government so that they could be fully considered by the Congress and federal agencies. However, the actions by DHEW indicate that the bureaucracy has something else in mind. "National Guidelines" are the antithesis of local needs. Arbitrary formulas that in essence maintain that the health care needs of the citizens of Wichita, Kans., San Francisco, Calif., Harlingen, Tex., New York, N.Y., and Anchorage, Ak. are the same, are foolish and unfounded in fact or logic. Further, these guidelines perpetuate the failure of the federal government to recognize that the federal government itself has been responsible to a large degree for the tremendous increase in the cost of health care. This is evidenced by the fact that federal facilities are not covered by these "National Guidelines." The bureaucracy in one fell swoop has undercut the hopes of many that the people themselves would have a voice in defining and articulating their health care needs. It is my hope that these "National Guidelines" will be modified to reflect suggestions by the federal government to complement local planning efforts instead of dictating arbitrary and conceived formulas specifying local health care needs.

Sincerely,
Dolph Briscoe
Governor of Texas

VA News

Uncle Sam's turned tutor. That was the reminder today from Jack Coker, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office, to veterans enrolled in college under the GI Bill.

Tutoring help is available to make sure veterans get the most from their college training, Coker said, and the free service isn't charged against the veteran's basic educational entitlement.

The government did not pay for tutoring assistance for World War II and Korean conflict veterans, but under present law VA will pay as much as $65 a month for such help up to a maximum of $780.

In addition to veterans and active duty servicemen, tutorial benefits are available to widows, widowers, spouses and children studying under the VA's Dependents' Educational Assistance Program.

Veterans and servicemen attending school at the post-secondary level on at least a half-time basis are eligible if they have a deficiency in a subject required in an approved program of education, Coker said.

Applications should be made on VA Form 22-1990t within a year of the tutoring and should be submitted to the VA regional office which maintains the veteran's claim folder. Applications should be certified by the school, Coker said.

REDUCING CONSUMER PRODUCT HAZARDS- Spurred by the Consumer Product Safety Act, manufacturers now must not only make sure that products are free of hazards encountered during their normal intended use, but must also be free of hazards encountered during reasonable foreseeable misuse. Although manufacturers are trying to produce hazard-free products, consumers also have a responsibility to buy the right product for the intended use, says a safety engineer with the Texas Extension Service.

FARM POLICY REMOVES "BOOM," "BUST" - Policies designed to take the boom and bust out of agriculture have only removed the boom, leaving farmers to contend with the bust, says an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The 1977 Food and Agriculture Act could lead U.S. producers back into the same policy dilemma of the 1960's due mainly to the 30 to 35 million ton grain reserve which will tend to hold prices near loan levels. With target prices in the four-year Act based on the national average cost of production, many small size family farmers may go out of business.
