citizens and government regulations. Speaking on these issues, Stenholm stated, "We must eliminate waste and balance the budget. We must deregulate oil and gas and increase domestic production. Farmers must have more stable markets and a fair return on their investments, or every citizen suffers. We must make the social security system secure and keep down hospital costs. We must eliminate government intervention in our daily lives."

Stenholm graduated from Tarleton State Junior College and received a M.S. in agricultural education from Texas Tech University. He has worked as a farmer, a teacher and a businessman. Active in church, civic and political affairs, much of his involvement has included local, state and national issues.

Lockney And Floydada Receive Sales Tax Money

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock said his office Wednesday mailed checks totaling $69.2 million to 915 Texas cities as their March share of the one percent city sales tax.

The March rebates are 17.4 percent larger than those for the same month last year and raise the year-to-date total to $101.5 million, up from $89.4 million for the first three months of 1977.

"This increase, which represents increased retail sales, is just another indicator of the bullishness of the Texas economy," Bullock said.

The City of Houston received the fastest check--$13.5 million, raising its total for 1978 to $20.5 million, up 15 percent from the same period the previous year.

Dallas will get $7.9 million, San Antonio, $4.1 million, Fort Worth, $3 million, Austin, $2.4 million and El Paso, $1.9 million.

The one percent city sales tax is collected by retail merchants along with the state sales tax and is rebated to the cities monthly by the Comptroller's Office.

Lockney received $5,487.70, Floydada $12,695.10. Both cities are up three percent over this time last year.

Property Insurance

COLLEGE STATION—Property insurance needs an update to keep pace with inflation, says one family resource management specialist.

Most people have some form of insurance on their property, but few understand what their policies do and do not cover, Linda McCormack with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, explains.

Since a family's largest and most important investment is usually the home, they need to insure it against the most common risks.

The amount of property insurance depends on the value of the home and household goods. Some policies require that the dwelling be insured for at least 80 percent of the home's replacement value.

To determine the home's replacement cost, contact an insurance company and ask for a dwelling evaluation worksheet. In most instances, the homeowner can ## make the analysis and have a satisfactory estimate, she suggests.

However, if the home was constructed before 1930, a professional appraisal may be needed.

If the insurance does not cover the replacement cost, the policy limits may need to be raised, or else, the homeowner must pay some of the replacement cost in event of a partial loss.

To keep pace with inflation, ask about the Inflation Guard Endorsement, which increases policy limits by a fixed percent—usually one or two percent quarterly—to assist in keeping coverage with construction costs, the specialist continues.

Also, personal possessions in the home may not be adequately covered. As a general rule, most household possessions are automatically insured for 40 to 50 percent of the coverage on the home.

As an extra safeguard, insure valuable possessions separately. These might include furs, special collections, paintings, silver, fine jewelry and certain musical instruments, she adds.

I ONCE KNEW A 67 YEAR OLD FARMER WHO OWNED A BIG HOUSE...

During the recent months of unrest by farmers and ranchers, a common observation by city dwellers has been "those farmers are not broke...look at those big houses they live in." Sure, some farmers do have nice homes...and many farmers' wives work as clerks, secretaries and school teachers to help pay for those houses.

Have you ever looked at the new homes in town? Do those who live in town have a God-given right to a nice home while farmers are supposed to live in one with four rooms and a path?

And check the age of occupants. Scores of new homes in town are owned by couples married 5 years or less. While many farmers have worked a lifetime to purchase a similar home.

One thing about a farmer...when he makes money he spends it...sometimes on a house, drapes, carpet or furniture...or other goods and services. And that helps all of us.

Agriculture is basic in Texas. America needs a strong Agriculture.

money-saving IDEAS Tips To Help You

A sunny idea that will save you money is a specially woven, vinyl-coated fiber glass solar screening that helps keep heat in during winter and out in summer. When installed properly, it absorbs then quickly dissipates up to 75 percent of the sun's heat before it reaches the glass.

Versatility can be a many-splendored thing, especially in screening that can be cut to fit any size or type of window, point out the Screen Manufacturers Association. Installing solar screening is a do-it-yourself job that also will save you money on outside handymen.

Happily, woven fiber glass screening is good for the environment because it lets air and light filter through. For more information write the Screen Manufacturers Association, 410 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611.

WACO* Tx. - The Texas Farmers Union is terming Administration proposals for farm relief "inadequate to meet the dramatic needs of agriculture" and calling upon Texas House members and Senators to push forward with emergency legislation, mustering support to override a Presidential veto if necessary.

TFU President Jay Namon states that the provisions of the combined Talmadge

McGovern-Dole now before a Senate-House conference committee offer some much needed relief for farmers caught in the continuing cycle of depression. The state farm leader, however says the Administration's plan avoids meaningful aid and its strategy offers "minimal net effect which is itself months down the road."

"Farmers would never have taken to the streets if they had not needed immediate, substantial improvements which would affect the current crop year," said Naman. "For many thousands of families 1978 will be their final chance to make it or bust. Certain Senators and Congressmen have realized this, but President Carter continues to promote a 'hang in there' approach which covers his entrenched policy to protect the budget regardless of the fate of the family farm. His programs are unacceptable. Farmers Union has supported the Senate legislation as it contains possibilities for immediate improvement in 1978 farm income and has particularly heralded the adjustment in loan rates for major crops as "a step in the right direction of the very minimum in necessary protections."

The Administration announcement on March 29 for small payments to retire very limited crop acres is expected to dull efforts of legislation which directs greater expense on larger acreage and also includes improvement in price supports. The threat of a Presidential veto over any action greater than the Administration plan will have a definite effect on the work of the conference committee as well as the final floor votes, especially in the House of Representatives.

"There is no question that the House-Senate conferees can work out an acceptable and meaningful compromise," Naman said. "The crucial thing is to retain the highest of the target and loan rates now provided in the Senate bill."

"While I do not wish to belittle the soybean loan increases to $4.50 a bushel or the recent milk support increase, there is nothing in

Athena To Sponsor CF Bike-A-Thon

Athena Junior Study Club has accepted the sponsorship of the Annual Spring Special Event on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. They will be recruiting volunteers within the Community to take place this Spring. The purpose of this Special Event will be to provide the Community with information about Cystic Fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for children affected by cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases like severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children. Approximately one in every twenty Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. Cystic Fibrosis is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene. At the present time, no cure for cystic fibrosis is known.

PROTECTING AMERICAN JOBS

First Year Of 200-Mile Limit A Success

The chances have increased this year that the next fish you and your family eat will have been caught by an American fishing vessel.

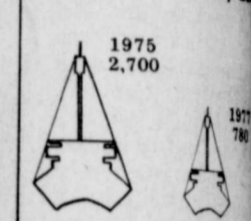

Much of the reason for this is because the first year of America's 200-mile fishing zone which went into effect March 1, 1977, is now considered a success.

Overall, the domestic catch equaled the 1976 level, while foreign fishing declined dramatically giving depleted stocks of fish an opportunity to begin rebuilding. In addition, an increase in the U.S. catch, consistent with conservation and management requirements, is expected during 1978.

"The Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976 is beginning to work," points out Richard A. Frank, head of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). It effectively reserves the allowable catch off our coasts to U.S. fishermen, permitting foreign vessels to catch only amounts in excess of the U.S. catch. This assures that vital resources are conserved and that depleted stocks can be rebuilt to be available in the future.

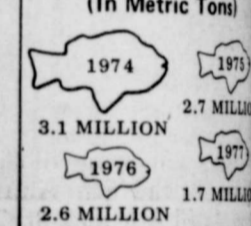

Interestingly, the Act, which established the 200-mile fishing zone, also established regional Fishery Management Councils. These Councils develop fishery management plans for the stocks of fish off our coast, subject to the approval of the Department of Commerce. The plans establish quotas for foreign and U.S. fishing. "The Councils are a new and interesting experiment in government, Frank said. "They proposed Fishery Management Plans to cover specific fisheries and the federal government provides the clout to force these plans." Since their formation, the Councils have moved vigorously to prepare these plans that NOAA can regulate U.S. and foreign fishing in the conservation zone. With this help, American fish lovers will not only be assured of fish on their tables now, but they'll also be assured that an adequate fish supply will be available in the future.

Hints For Homeowners

NEED MORE SPACE?

Ask any group of homeowners what's the biggest problem in living today—after saving energy—and chances are they'll say "not enough space."

One way to beat the problem is by making better use of existing space. Hardware and home improvement centers are full of products today specifically designed to answer the widespread cry for "more space!"

Look at shelving—compact, simple-to-install decorative and utility shelves and brackets that are size-adjustable for family rooms, basement or garage walls, under stairs, in closets. By planning ahead, storage can be arranged according to use frequency, with the active items nearest at hand, next the "sometimes" or seasonally needed, and finally "dead storage"—a category to be periodically checked for possible discards.

The tools required for the job are no more than a screwdriver and a good measuring tape, like a Lufkin with a blade that locks firmly in position when extended and has an end hook—two essentials for accurate one-hand measuring. At the same dealer's you'll find a variety of Crescent screwdrivers that have the advantage of larger contoured handles needing no turning muscle.

Other space savers include sliding or bi-fold doors sized to fit into existing closet openings. When doors don't have to swing open into a room, more space comes available for storage furniture.

INNER SPACE—One solution to not having enough room in your home is to make better use of existing space.

Is your garage bulging with ladders, bicycles, lawnmower and barbecue? Consider a yard storage building you and a family helper can assemble from a kit in a weekend. The kit like "painting by numbers" and assembly is just as easy. Made of durable wood, it can be finished to match and live in style with your house for its lifetime.

There's lots of unused space around, so why not put it to work!

Some say that whatever one is doing at first sight of the new moon, he will continue to do all month.

The Floyd Philosopher

Thinks A Solution Is In Sight For

An End To Nation's Farm Problem

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm claims a solution to the farm problem is near at hand, he thinks.

Dear editor:

If you look close enough you may be able to see the end to the farm problem.

Scientists for some time now have been working on converting plants into alcohol and trying to perfect an engine that'll run on it as well as it does on gasoline. They now have two experimental cars that are doing it.

As I understand it, the stuff is made from all sorts of farm products, like the stalks from corn, wheat, oats, milo, etc, including the heads if you want to throw them in too, since the price is below cost anyway.

Now here's the thing; if they get that farm-grown fuel's cost down to where it's competitive with gasoline, farmers will be in a business as delightful as the OPEC people's over there in the desert country, leaving them with all that oil and no place to go with it. They'll be swapping Cadillacs for camels. But U.S. farmers don't want to miss the boat. We ought to plan now on forming an organization similar to OPEC. We could call it AG-PEC. It's purpose is to set the price of alcohol for cars, tractors and perhaps home heating.

If people won't pay us enough for an ear of corn, for example, we'll charge them properly for the stalk.

I can see government economists saying "We won't know what direction the economic index is going this year until we find out what the AG-PEC people are going to charge for their corn and wheat stalks. The President is negotiating with them now."

To get us to hold the line, it will not be necessary for the President to send us any tanks for fighter planes. Air-conditioned tractors will do just as well.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

After deciding to rent, secure in writing an address and telephone number where the owner or landlord can be contacted, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

During harvesting it stood up better than some of the other varieties around and the corn didn't seem to get as bad. It shelled off the cob real easy and yielded real good. For 196 acres approx. 9400 lbs. dry weight per acre. This year I consider that a good yield."

Getting In Shape For Sports

Americans by the millions have once again discovered the joys of active sports, but too many people are finding out the hard way that they're not in shape for it.

If you've been the victim of sore leg and back muscles, you should seek practical advice from physical fitness expert Sheila Cluff.

Sheila, who owns and directs activities at The Oaks at Ojal health resort, recommends the exercise shown for both men and women.

You start by lying down on your right side with legs stretched straight out. Raise your left leg perpendicular to your body (as shown). Flex your foot, and lower the leg with foot flexed. Point toes forward, and repeat. The leg should be raised and lowered Physical fitness expert Sheila Cluff demonstrates multi-purpose exercise that tones the back of the thighs, tightens abdominals, and increases flexibility of hamstring muscles to help prevent injury in sports.

Moth Populations by Planting Date

Sunflower moths were a problem in many sunflowers in 1977. Research in the last three years has provided information for who plant during the first three weeks of May and blooming during mid-July experienced very low levels of infestation. Sunflowers planted during June and July had moderate levels of infestation during bloom in August and September.

Regardless of planting date, fields should be inspected during bloom to see whether or not moths are present on the sunflower head. If moths are found, an insecticide should be applied when the field is at 20 percent bloom. A common mistake made by growers is waiting too long to make the first insecticide application. Several effective insecticides are registered for sunflower moth control.

Toll Free Number For Parks And Wildlife Department

LUBBOCK--Have you always wanted to know where Dinosaur Valley State Park is located, or is there overnight camping at Caprock Canyons State Park near Quitaque? Well, a new WATS toll-free telephone line has been initiated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and it is 1-800-252-9327. Most of the information about P&WD activities are answered by local game wardens, state offices, or other department personnel. However, there are times when the local P&WD representative is out of town or busy and you need the information as quickly as possible. The above toll-free number is recommended for questions concerning department activities such as fishing, hunting, parks, water safety and hunter safety. Since the P&WD representative answering the toll-free number cannot answer every question, he will refer you to the various P&WD specialists in each division. If there is a local P&WD representative in your area, his or her name and phone number can be obtained by calling the Austin toll-free number 1-800-252-9327.

You can start this year's pest control with a delayed dormant spray before the leaves unfold on deciduous trees. Using an oil insecticide spray on ornamental and fruit trees will control many troublesome pests, such as scales, spider mites and some aphids.

You can apply a delayed dormant spray from the time leaf buds swell until some green tips start showing.

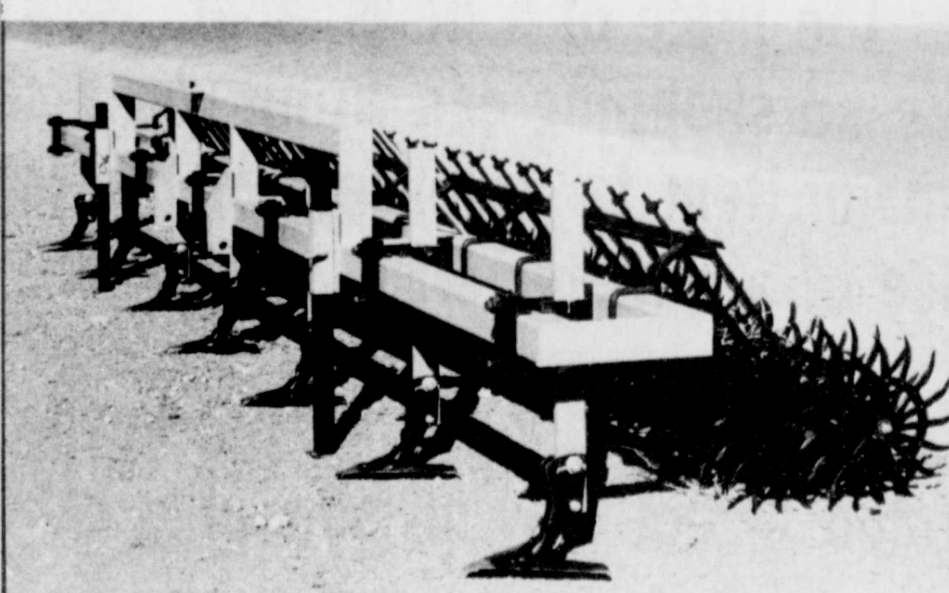

Before buying a dormant spray material read the label completely. Come by and we will help you with your spraying needs. See you at your Complete Farm Store.

8 seek Burleson's seat in Congress

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Eight West Texans want to fill the shoes of veteran Congressman Omar Burleson, D-Texas, a hard line conservative who has been elected 16 times from the 33 counties that make up the 17th Congressional District.

Four of them, three Democrats and one Republican, seem to be a step ahead of the others mainly because of successful fund raising but it's still an open race.

In addition to the hot May 6 race there apparently will be a June 3 runoff among the Democrats before a good contest in November.

A.L. "Dusty" Rhodes, 45, an Abilene attorney and millionaire, is among the Democratic front runners with his pledge to spend "whatever it takes" to win the seat. He was the first to announce his candidacy and claims his main concern is the ever-mounting problem of government interference. He blames inflation on wasteful government spending and calls for a cutback in the federal "giveaway program."

Fike Godfrey, 54, Abilene rancher, was executive vice president and manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and reported has the support of most oil men in the district, plus support from the Abilene business establishment. Godfrey, a Democrat, calls for stronger national defense and says farmers should be allowed to store their surplus crops under bond as an insurance against a crop failure in the future.

Charles W. Stenholm, 39, Stamford farmer and a former Democratic state committeeman, wants 100 percent parity for farmers in the marketplace. "Our problem is overproduction," he says, "We need a minimum of 25 percent set-aside of all major crops to bring production in line with demand." Stenholm, a Democrat, has made wide use of billboards and other media aids.

Republican Bill Fisher, 34-year-old Abilene attorney, grew up in Gladewater but moved to Abilene in 1976, after earlier spending four years in college there. He became involved in President Ford's campaign and in 1977 became county GOP chairman. He favors deregulation of the oil and gas industry saying government regulation provides no incentive to seek alternative energy sources.

Democrat Jim Baum, 41, manager of a Big Spring radio station (KBYG), has a well-organized campaign and has been busy with door-to-door campaigning throughout the district. His answer to the economy problem is to cut out deficit spending. He agrees with most of his opponents on the energy problem — "The government has taken the incentive out-of exploration. If our people don't look after the oil and gas industry, nobody else is," he said.

James Snowden, 56, Democrat, a product of Tye, just west of Abilene, has run mostly a one-man campaign. A retired federal civil service employee, he is now a city councilman and former Tye mayor.

He said his reason for going to Congress is to see some trends I see as wrong there." He is still for B-1 bomber and thinks defense comes first. He's for oil and gas deregulation.

William Crews McCulloch is a real estate broker in Westford. McCulloch, a Democrat, a former Green Beret, said he decided to run for Congress while he was in Vietnam. "Our Congress sat back didn't play the role it should have," he said. He believes four years in Vietnam was an asset, "one sorely needed Congress."

James Sharp, 26, Big Spring the youngest in the race, is a former assistant doorman at the U.S. House, by appointment of Congressman Burleson.

the program may be held at any VA office, Veterans County Service Office or from Veterans Service Organization Officers.

OBITUARY

Romana Luna

Services for Romana Martinez Luna, 64, of Lockney will be at 3 p.m. Friday in Primera Iglesia Bautista, Lockney, with the Rev. Glenn Smith, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Pablo Mevdoza of Lubbock. Burial will be in Lockney Cemetery under direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home of Lockney.

Mrs. Luna will be in state at the church.

Mrs. Luna was born September 9, 1913 at New Braunfels. She died early Wednesday morning in Plainview, after a lengthy illness. She was married in Hondo, Texas, to Jose Luna, who died in 1958. She had moved to Floyd County in 1955.

Survivors include three sons, Julian Castaneda and Carmen Castaneda, both of Plainview, and Willia Luna of Lockney; two daughters, Simona Blanco, Lockney, and Apolonia Gomez, Plainview; two brothers, Ignacio Rubio and Jose Rubio, both of Lockney; four sisters, Paulina Saldivar and Maria Esquivel, both of San Antonio, Apolonia Herrera, Cibolo, and Juana Garcia, New Braunfels; 23 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

"The consuming public needs to know that it is a single-digit increase that we're looking at, probably 6% at the most. The nation as a whole should recognize Congressional attempts to legislate relief are worthy in the name of food supply at stabilized prices and that family farmers are worth keeping around, even if the Administration is less than concerned about their plight."

the Administration's plans which would assure immediate price improvement for wheat, feed grains and cotton. We feel that it would be months before any of the diversion or wheat reserve actions could have an effect on farm income."

Naman further called talk of food inflation "scare tactics." He pointed to consumer price index increases in housing, medical costs and energy and noted that "it's always a food increase that becomes the spotlighted cul-

If certain health problems prevented your beginning or completing your education under the GI Bill, a new law may make it possible for you to turn back the clock and enroll again, VA Regional Director, Jack Coker, has announced.

The new program is available to veterans, spouses or surviving spouses whose eligibility for GI Bill education benefits expired on June 1, 1976, or later, but who had not used all their schooling entitlement when mental or physical disability interfered with their training.

The disability must not have resulted from the individual's willful misconduct, Coker emphasized. He cautioned potential applicants they must provide medical evidence that mental illness or physical disability was responsible for their being unable to begin or complete schooling before the expiration of their GI Bill eligibility.

Under the law, veterans have ten years from the date of their discharge from active duty to complete GI Bill training. Spouses or surviving spouses have ten years from the date of their initial eligibility to complete training under the bill.

Until passage of the new law, those who had not used all their GI Bill education benefits by the end of that ten-year period lost it forever.

"This law," Coker said, "gives us a welcome opportunity to help veterans who had their education delayed or interrupted because of circumstances beyond their control."

Any extension approved will be for the length of time VA determines that the veteran or spouse was prevented from beginning or completing the education program.

Coker said VA doesn't know the number of potential eligibles, but he urged individuals who believe they qualify for the new program to avoid possible disappointment by making certain they have the necessary medical evidence in connection with their application.

I appreciate each vote I received in the School Board Election Saturday. I am also grateful for the friends and neighbors who supported my campaign. I am determined to be worthy of the trust which has been placed in me.

It is my intention to promote responsible tax management; being constantly aware that it is taxpayer's money and it should be spent in a business like manner. It is also my desire to work with teachers, students and parents for a quality education with just consideration for each individual.

Thank you very much. June Ware 4-6p
