Homeowners, as well as our farmers, face many problems with the "planting-growing season." Keeping a landscape around the home is no easy chore. Water, fertilizer, herbicides, insecticides, and fungicides, even though good tools to be used, create problems for home "green thumbs." Care should be taken to follow the directions on the labels of pesticides that are used around the home. Most are extremely poisonous, so consider this in using and storing them.

Lawns need at least one application of phosphate per year. Established lawns seem to do better with a complete lawn fertilizer including trace elements. Important: Follow the directions on the label for fertilizers containing weed killers. Do not over apply. "Myth Killer": Fertilizing a lawn means that you actually use less applied water. The well fertilized lawn utilizes the moisture better by deep rooting and a healthy condition.

The recent rains were great, but not anywhere near sufficient for our drought-stressed plants. Heavy applications of water on a ten to fourteen day schedule is still needed to maintain lawn and shrubs during the growing season. The rain was a start, but stay with a good schedule.

Fertilizer applications need to be made about every six weeks. Apply fertilizers to lawns at the rate of two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 square feet. That

Now is the time to control bagworms. Close inspection of infected trees and shrubs will reveal very minute worms inside a protective cover. These small bag-worms hatch from the old bags left on the tree during winter. Young worms spin silken sacs and attach small bits of leaves, twigs, and needles to the outside. The bagworm carries this sac wherever it goes. In a few weeks the worm will be almost impossible to kill. The insecticides left on the market recommended for use are usually very effective against these very tiny worms. They are less effective as the worms grow larger. Malathion, sevin, diazinon, and dipel are available locally. Follow label instructions for mixing and application.

White grubs are damaging many lawns. The grub cuts the grass just under the soil line, leaving the exposed portion to die. Chlordane and diazinon are recommended for control. Follow label directions.

Social Security Answer Column

Question: Is it true that some young people get social security benefits just for being in school and have never worked under social security?

Answer: Yes and no. Such benefits go to dependents of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who remain in school up to age 22. The benefits are based on the work records of the parents, and recognizes that so long as a child remains in school and is unmarried there is still some dependency involved. Of course, like all social security benefits, they would be affected by any earnings the student has over the annual earnings limit, a test the law provides to measure whether dependency actually exists.

For further information regarding Social Security benefits please contact the Social Security office, 1401 B West 5th Street, Plainview, Texas. You may call free of charge by dialing operator and asking for Enterprise 8-4132. A telephone call to the Plainview office may save you time and a trip.

"We transferred to the little one-room school of Bobbitt just north of Lockney but near our home. "When I was ready for the 10th grade, the teacher was told that the state law prohibited rural 10th grades. That was the last of my schooling."

The morale and discipline expressed in the life history of Betha Cunyus might be said to be typical of pioneer people. However, it is going to be necessary to add wit and a particular spark of individuality to paint the whole picture of Betha Cunyus.

Former Lockneyite Works At 'Phantom Caller' Office

An item that made national newspapers across the country recently happened in the office where Mrs. Tommy Ball (the former Jann Wofford) is a legal secretary. It has also been mentioned on the "Today" show, Paul Harvey, and by Johnny Carson on the "Tonight" show. Jann works for the law firm of Allen, Thompson, Hughes and Behle in St. George, Utah. She sent the following item from the paper to her parents, the Kenneth Woffords of Lockney.

'PHANTOM CALLER' USES HEAD

The "Phantom Phone Caller" has been found to be a commodious fellow who really uses his head. For several weeks, the phones in the office of a group of St. George attorneys would ring but nobody would be on the other end.

Finally, one of the office staff noticed that everytime somebody went to the restroom, the "Phantom" would call. Closer inspection revealed that when someone sat on the toilet, the phone would ring. Mountain Bell technicians were called in and found that the telephone system in the office was grounded to a water pipe on the floor below. When someone sat on the commode, the circuit would be broken and the phone would ring.

From top: Sammy Silva and Jeffrey McCormick use a trundle wheel to measure the school hall; Connie Ballejo, Stephen Villalon, Tonjua Whitlock, Alfredo Segovia, Melody Burchfield and Jeff Reecer use metric scales; Kenneth Rogers, Lynn Gaskins, Esmeralda Vasquez, Eva Reyes, Maria Peralez and Mark Mangum check the metric measurement of the outlines of their hands on the classroom wall; and Joe Ballejo uses a yardstick-meter stick-to check Larry Davis's height.
