SOME ACRES LOST TO HAIL

Rains Here No Threat To Crops Yet

Weather has heavily drenched and other crops in the South Plains, notably cotton, are in good shape in respect to grain sorghum, Doyle county extension agent said Thursday.

Asked about hail damage in the county from Saturday night's hail, he noted that some three to four thousand acres of grain sorghum and corn was damaged, and about 5,000 acres of cotton, much of which will have to be replanted.

The Pioneer Natural Gas rain gauge recorded four-tenths of an inch from Thursday night's sudden thunderstorm, and one-half inch Wednesday night, for a total of nine-tenths or nearly an inch of moisture during the week.

Reports from Lockney and surrounding area showed about half an inch Wednesday night and early Thursday morning, and up to 1.1 inches Thursday night and Friday morning.

In Lockney, J.D. Copeland reported .5" Wednesday night and .8" Thursday night. G.C. Applewhite in the Lone Star community reported .8" Wednesday and .9" Thursday. ACCO Seed farm at Aiken had .6" and .52". R.C. Mitchell in the Pleasant Valley community reported .6" Wednesday and about an inch Thursday night. Muncy Elevator measured .5" and 1.1". And at the Paul Hrbacek place at Sterley, .7" fell Wednesday night and another .4" Thursday night/Friday morning. Light rain fell intermittently Friday, and it was still raining at press time that afternoon.

Leslie Ferguson Remains Involved In Civic And Church Work

By Felicia Applewhite

Leslie Ferguson can tell you how it is to be a "kid in school", or he can tell you how it is to be a member of a school board of trustees. He can tell you how it is to function as any one of the officers in the local Rotary Club. He can tell you how it is to hold any position in church from teacher to church treasurer. He can tell you how it is to farm as a renter on another man's land or how he farms his own land. He can tell you how it is to be a member of just about any committee in the county. At least, he can tell you how he did these things because he has done them all and much more and has prospered.

As a "first grader" he was in school in Lockney where he made two grades in one school term. He remembers that his teacher that year was Mildred Collier.

This was not only his first school, it was also his initiation to Texas ways because as a six-year-old, he had just come to Texas from Arkansas.

That was in 1921 that the Fergusons had left "the peach Capitol" of the country near Nashville, Arkansas to live in Texas.

They had come to the "old Bellar place" which Grandpa Ferguson had bought just three miles south of Lockney. They had come in two wagons, a hack and a buggy. They brought "mostly mules" to begin farming here.

"Dad rented the T.M. Johnson place a mile southwest of Grandad."

"The first year I was in school here, I had pneumonia. Our neighbor, Dr. Shaw, came over and pulled me through. I don't remember much of the medication he used in the treatment, but I do remember turpentine, coal oil and the Sally-Ann rag," he says.

During his first school year, a part of the playground equipment was a slide or "scoot-to-scoot" as it was often called. Many schools had the slide placed on the school playground through the efforts of the local P.T.A.'s.

This playground equipment was a marvel to children in the lower grades. They stood in line for a ride down its shiny surface.

This slide was firmly anchored to the ground in a cement base. It had steps up the back to the top.

A climb to the top on these steps led to a long roller-coaster type ride down to the ground—a breath-taking payment for the climb to the top. Up the steps and down the slide was repeated time after time.

Once on an extremely cold day when Leslie was at the top of the slide ready to take a slide to the bottom, a boy called to him "Stick your tongue to the iron pipe there." He did and his tongue froze to the pipe. The same boy then called, "Now pull it loose." He did, leaving an outer layer of his tongue frozen to the pipe.

Another of Leslie's school experiences was on April Fool's Day.

"It was in 1925 when I was in school in Pleasant Valley just south of Lockney. I had an experience I didn't forget. R.C. Chester Mitchell was two of the others. We decided to "disappear" on April Fool's Day.

"When the teacher was out, we pulled the steps from the stage, crawled under and then pulled the steps back in place. When the teacher came back, he pretended not to notice that we were missing. He worked as usual around the desk. He even stayed after school and graded papers.

"It was almost dark before we decided we couldn't stand it any longer and came out," he remembers.

This experience helps Leslie to remember the types of punishment administered by his parents. His father's favorite way did not follow the trend of the times in using the razor strap.

"My dad used the plow line. That hurt a lot worse than a razor strap. My mother had another method. She used a willow switch from the trees that grew around our mud tank. That didn't hurt so much," he says.

Pleasant Valley students had an exciting experience one day when a man landed in the pasture nearby in an airplane and came in to take group pictures. That was 1923 when children were not seeing many airplanes.

His school years lasted three terms in Pleasant Valley when the family moved northwest of Lockney five miles.

"I had a collie dog that moved with us from Pleasant Valley to our new home that couldn't forget where we had lived. He went back from our house to my grandfather's often. We could tell when he was getting nervous to go back. He would stay just one night at Grandfather's then come back home."

"We sent notes back and forth tied to his neck. In those days, that was real telegraph fur us," he recalls. However, there was a sad ending to the collie story.

"One day, I shot him. He was pretty close to a rabbit—much closer than I thought. I shot at the rabbit, but hit the collie instead. He turned and came almost back to me and died. I cried and cried. I must have been about twelve years old," he says.

After the move to northwest of town, Leslie went to school in the Prairie Chapel Community.

"The first year, I rode in a Model-T Ford with the teacher, Miss Maudie Midith taught at Prairie Chapel and Miss Vera, her sister, taught at Aiken."

After that Leslie went to school in a buggy. At school, the horse was tied to the back of the buggy where he could eat feed that had been put there before the buggy left home. The horse had no water until after school at home.

One day in 1928, the Prairie Chapel School was dismissed for an "awesome sight" for a kid who had not seen anything. It was the laying of the Ft. Worth and Denver railroad track. The engineer of the big locomotive allowed school children to climb on the huge engine that was doing its part in putting down cross ties and rails.

If you think that school life filled Leslie's days just remember, he lived on a farm.

"I did just about everything that any kid did on the farm then. I remember that my mother raised turkeys. She had her own method of feeding them, but I did the feeding. Since we milked cows, she allowed the milk to sour, then she would heat it and make cottage cheese of it for the turkeys. I ate my part of it."

Just before the market time for the turkeys, people began stealing them.

"Dad sat up to guard the turkeys. One night, he thought he saw some lights where the turkeys were. He took the gun, and said as he left the house, 'Don't be surprised if you hear shooting,' but nothing came of the incident.

Also, farm life was moving along in other respects. The Fergusons bought one of the first general-purpose John Deere tractors. It had steel wheels with lugs. Those lugs added their weight to the tractor load, so when tractor tires were available, the wheels were cut down for tires. Those "tires made all the difference in the world."

Leslie was about eighteen when they put down the first irrigation well.

"I ran it at night and Dad ran it in the day time. I would go to the end of the rows and sleep until the water got there. It never did reach me because the bubbling as it came near always woke me up."

"It was about this time that I remember the first dust storm that impressed me. That black stuff came from the north. We had to light a lamp in the day time, it was so dark. After it was over, we could track the chickens around the house in the fine deposit left by the storm. Believe me those were rough days," he remembers.

He remembers vaguely the route taken by Prairie Chapel students for a picnic at Linguish Falls.

"We went east to Curlew Store and post office and from there to the old Long Ranch. That is all I remember.

"Once Tom Golden came too close to the edge above the falls and fell off. The fall broke both of his arms above the wrists. We carried him out, but it was a long way. We were given out.

"One other time, we came out of Linguish through the narrow! I wonder why some of us were not bitten by a snake coming up through that narrow stretch."

He maintains that his family was "as poor as Job's turkey." A statement easily made by all families during this time. Regardless of financial status, families still had the weather to combat. The weather just didn't cooperate.

"I remember a hail storm the fourth of July in 1936. It just hailed stuff into the ground—everything we had. Dad replanted in hegari. In the fall, we bundled it, de-headed it and threshed it. We had to haul the butts out of the field."

"During this time and before, Mother churned an awful lot of butter. She had regular customers. Dr. Greer was one. We paid our doctor bills with butter. We also sold butter to the Huff Grocery Store. Mother had a Daisy churn. She had to get up early to get the butter to town before the sun got so hot."

During these times, he also learned how to butcher, home style. He says there is an art of scaling hogs to be scraped. "If the water is too hot," you almost have to cut the hair off with a butcher knife." It is better to have two chains under the hog to roll him back and forth to insure no over-scaling.

Beef as well as hogs were slaughtered. The tail of the windmill was used for hanging beef. A long rope tied to the beef and over the windmill tail made it possible to raise and lower for cutting. "My, that was the finest beef."

A lot of things used then "wouldn't work now."

"The year that Faye and I married, 1938, a norther came that lasted three days and nights. Wheat was jointing out and was frozen. We could smell that wheat that froze just like you can smell cotton in the fall when the frost hits it. Grandmother and Granddaddy were there for Dad's birthday which is April 8. We had been watering wheat and alfalfa, but had to shut down the wells. The next morning there was drifted snow and ice everywhere.

"I was farming a mile south of Daddy's place, but I decided to quit farming and go to work for the railroad."

"I had an appointment with the railroad official in Amarillo. He sent me to have my eyes tested. The report of the test was 'you can't see'."

"At the time it didn't look good. I was turned down and sent back home to farm. Dad bought the Talley place and we put down irrigation wells in 1943."

"Faye and I bought two government granaries and built a shed room on the side. Finally, I bought this quarter section that had a well on it. I drove back and forth and worked it for five years, then built this house in 1949."

"We started the house in August and had it finished before Christmas but waited until after the holidays to move in. Our girls grew up here. Later when we did some refinishing, we left some of the tricycle marks where they drove through the house."

Leslie says, "I suppose I have served on just about every committee in the county. I served Jake Griffith's unexpired term as school trustee then was elected for two additional terms. Everyone ought to have to do a little of that. There would be more respect for trustees, administrators and teachers."

He had this to say of his church, "I reckon, I have done about everything in the Baptist Church. I was on the building committee in 1949 when the roof fell in. It was sad that snow was the cause, but it was about 8 or 9 inches of sleet on top that did it. The roof fell in on Wednesday night when no one was there."

"Then I have been church treasurer for 22 years. That, too, has its ups and downs. To say the least, it is time-consuming to pay bills and make monthly reports on finances."

He has been a member of the Rotary Club for 35 years and has taken his turn as office holder for every office in the club.

For more than 10 years he was a member of the A.S.C. committee in Floydada. That really had it's 'ups and downs'. You just get a "Mad farmer and have him come in to the committee to register complaint! Sometimes they forgot that rules and regulations were made in Washington, and not made locally."

He says, "I have been able to retire early in life. The Lord has been so great to Faye and me. Without the Lord, I don't know what I'd do."

City Keep Lockney Police Busy

Police have investigated reports of criminal mischief, thefts and burglaries recently, and destroyed some growing inside the city.

On the night of May 23, police answered an alarm at Brown's Department Store, finding that no entry had been attempted and that the store's sound-sensitive burglar alarm had been set off by an intercom unit near the sensor.

Early in the morning of May 24, Jerry Ulmer lost 300 feet of high-pressure hydraulic hose from his residence on Southwest Fourth Street. The hose was recovered, found wrapped around four stop signs at the intersection of Fourth and Willow Streets. No arrests were made.

Also reported that morning was the theft of sparkplug wires and the oil dipstick from Lockney Independent School District's Ford tractor, which was parked at the elementary school. That night, there was a burglary at Marble Brothers Gin, Southeast Fourth and Shurbet. Someone took about $350 worth of tools and cut the plug wires and heater hoses on a pickup parked at the gin.

The same night, someone cut plug wires and heater hoses, broke the distributor cap and right turn signal, and set a fire in the floorboard of a truck at Carter Gin, on Southeast First Street.

The next night, May 25, someone broke into the High Plains Gin office on Shurbet Street and took some drinks from a vending machine. Nothing else was bothered, the police indicated.

On May 26, a Lockney resident was bitten by a dog. The dog is under observation for rabies. It was the second dog bite reported to police during May.

About 10 a.m. May 27, two females were seen carrying objects from the apartment behind the old Carter's Market building, West First and College. No arrests had been made Friday morning, but Ballew said the suspects are known to police.

The night of May 29, two makes in a late-model Monte Carlo with mag wheels left Allsup's without paying for $3.65 worth of gasoline.

May 30, Weldon Graves reported that a battery had been taken from his garden tractor, which was parked in the back yard of his home on North Milwee.

Someone apparently borrowed a bicycle from in front of the pool hall on Main Street Wednesday afternoon (May 31). The bike was reported stolen and found by police shortly afterward in front of the pool hall.

A traffic accident involving a utility-company truck and a parked pickup at Main and Bryant streets was investigated Wednesday afternoon.

The police department has issued 16 traffic citations since May 16, including one to the driver of the utility-company truck.

Newly-Weds At Home In Bastrop

Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Patterson are now at home in Bastrop, Tex., following their wedding May 20 in the Jerry Galloway home. Elder Joe Jackson, pastor of New Salem Primitive Baptist Church officiated. The bride is the former Karen West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian West. The groom is the son of Cynthia Crisswell of Hobbs, New Mex., and Charles Patterson of Bastrop. Patterson is employed by Rhode Pipe Co., in Bastrop and Mrs. Patterson was employed by Piggly Wiggly in Floydada prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Lynn Martin of Petersburg, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Virgil Martin of Floydada was best man. Mrs. Martin wore a long blue polyester knit gown fashioned empire style. She carried a long stem blue carnation.

The bride wore a floor length gown of taffeta overlaid with organza, styled with a scooped neckline trimmed with Venice lace, and a cape effect of illusion forming the sleeves. The empire waist was accented with an A-line skirt that swept into a chapel length train. Her circular veil, trimmed with Venice lace and flowerettes descended hip length. She carried silk flowers of blue and white daisies.

For something old the bride wore a gold locket belonging to her mother, and the blue garter was from her cousin, Mrs. Jerry Galloway. She wore a penny in each shoe bearing the birthdates of she and the groom.

Candlelighters were Cindy and Debbie Patterson, sisters of the groom. Guests were registered by Tammie Galloway, cousin of the bride.

A reception in the Galloway home followed the exchange of vows. The table was covered with an ecru Arbor, Michigan on September 15, 1976.

IF the battle of the Alamo had taken place five years later, in 1841 instead of 1836, Davy Crockett might have lived to become president, Jim Bowie could have opened up a fashionable sporting goods store in Natchez, Mississippi, and Colonel William Travers might have lent his name to the capital of Texas. Good old American ingenuity, combined with the invention of the collapsible metal tube in 1841, might have preceded by 137 years an idea that is sweeping Europe and the rest of the world—food in collapsible metal tubes.

Ted Klein, Executive Secretary for the Metal Tube Packaging Council of North America, feels that Texas may be the first place where food in tubes might catch on. "Texans have long been known for their independence and their rugged, pioneering spirit," Klein said. "They might be the first to see the unique qualities food in tubes has to offer the American consumer."

The Council will be filling jam in tubes at the 38th Annual Food Expo, sponsored by the Institute of Food Technologists and held this year in Dallas from June 4 to June 7. Klein estimates that about 8,000 tubes will be filled and distributed during the three-day show. "We picked jam because it's one of America's favorite foods. Each American consumes an average of about four pounds of jam, jellies or preserves per year. Everyone who is interested in a quick, easy-to-prepare snack would like jam and many other foods in tubes."

The lovely stenographer explained the new office machine in this fashion: "It will do the work of three men or one girl!"

FLOYD DATA Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Spence and Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Day Jr., all of Floydada, and members of the Texas Plains Unit of Airstream Club were on an outing with the unit this past weekend. The McNeills were accompanied by their granddaughter, Misty Adams of Lubbock, and the Spences by a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Self and Leslie of Sherman.

The group was on what the airstream unit calls a "wild goose chase," meeting in Plainview then finding their reservations were for Palo Duro Canyon. Upon arriving there they encountered the bad storm, so returned to Plainview for their outing.

MRS. TEDDY PATTERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Earl R.H. Crawford and Mrs. Earl Crawford attended the Crawford cousin's family reunion Sunday, May 28. Cousins were present from numerous points in Texas and also Louisiana and Oklahoma.

FLOYD DATA Allison McLain Campbell of Lubbock, daughter of Mrs. Doris McLain of Floydada, underwent surgery at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston on Thursday. Reports received back here shortly after the operation were very encouraging family members said. Allison is expected to be out of the hospital Saturday with a weekend stay at Fort Worth with relatives before returning home the first of next week.

Homemade Coolers Beat the Heat And Other Beverages... Cold!

If you feel you're competing with the local fountains for teenagers' time and attention, offer them your kitchen facilities, free! In addition to the budget appeal, they can enjoy concoctions those at the soda shop haven't even thought of.

For example, Mocha Fizz, Lemon-Chocolate Frost and Apricot Delight are all appealing besides being quick and easy to fix. Topped with ice cream, they're a nutritious and natural snack with protein, calcium and vitamin D deliciously present in a cool, thirst-quenching treat.

Another bonus of the home soda fountain can come in the form of homemade cookies. Prepare the dough, shape in rolls and wrap for refrigerator storage. The butter flavor won't change. When the doorbell rings, count heads, slice the cookies and pop in the oven. They'll be ready by the time the coolers are mixed and poured and you can disappear.

Provide ice cream scoops with ice cream and sherry so teenagers can make professional looking milk coolers at home. Sugar cookies are a bonus.

When you're a warm weather shopper, do pick up your dairy foods such as milk, cottage cheese, yogurt and ice cream last. That means they won't sit in the shopping cart getting warm while you do the other shopping. Most supermarkets are planned so dairy foods are in the last aisle before checking out so you can take advantage of the store's layout.

It's also smart to do your other errands first, shopping last so foods don't have any more time than necessary to get warm.

For really hot days, why not carry insulated bags or foam chests so dairy foods and other perishables can go home in cool style?

Picnic time? Milk is a great beverage with picnic foods but only if it's ice cold. You can accomplish this best by freezing some milk into cubes, then combining with fluid milk for the trip to the picnic grounds. It takes one pint of milk to fill the average ice cube tray.

If you're taking ice cream or cheese to the picnic, place in a foam chest that holds a cake of ice, ice cubes, or dry ice. It should keep the ice cream cold and the cheese will not oil off.

Having milk for dinner? Pour it into glasses rather than serving in a pitcher that holds more than is needed. It's colder that way, and you won't be tempted to pour milk from a pitcher back into a carton or bottle.

Middle-Age Search For Identity

COLLEGE STATION -- Search for identity reaches its peak during the middle years of life, says a family life education specialist.

Preparation for this period of growth will determine the grace and fulfillment enjoyed or the disorientation and misery suffered in later years, Dorothy Taylor adds.

Miss Taylor is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For some, the 35 to 55 age group is the prime of life--for others, it's over the hill, she continues.

Satisfactions that middle aged adults enjoy are:

- children are maturing and preparing for their own adulthood and careers.
- business and personal careers peak.
- more expendable money is available to the family.
- and, parenting responsibilities lessen, though children still need parental support.

Dissatisfactions with middle age seem to be:

- decline in physical appearance or beauty.
- loss of physical zest.
- less urgent social drive.
- appearance of chronic illness.
- more time and no selected leisure activities or interests, --or, deciding a lifelong career is not satisfying and starting a new, different career.

For couples, the empty-nest may provide an opportunity for a renewed relationship, the specialist suggests.

Couples in middle age might try the following guideposts to renew their secure, old marriage rather than going middle-age crazy trying to recoup their lost youth:

(1) Achieve a new intimacy. Openly declare and share love and devotion for your spouse.

(2) Learn to enjoy the other person's interests. Sharing roles or responsibilities of a spouse provides more time for togetherness.

(3) Seek deeper relationships with friends and family outside the normal "favorites." New friends teach new interests, as well as extending the acquaintance of their close friends.

(4) Help others. Develop or broaden avenues of others to fulfill the emptiness of too much leisure.

Save energy by thawing foods before cooking--when practical.

Consumers applying for credit are judged by the "three C's of credit"-- character, capacity and capital, says a family resource management specialist.

Character represents the borrower's willingness to repay. Capacity is the financial ability to repay, Dr. Carolyn McKinney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, expands.

Capital reflects the overall financial strength to repay as represented by the resources or collateral available to secure the loan, she adds.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, the basic education provided in the Job Corps covers reading, mathematics, social studies, and preparation for the General Education Development (GED) high school equivalency examination.

"I JOINED THE LOSING TEAM AND I LOVE EVERY MINUTE OF IT."

That's what Judy Schultz of Lubbock says about the Weight Watchers Program.

Judy is 35 pounds lighter than she was six years ago. That's when she attended her first Weight Watchers meeting. Now she says, "I'm a lifetime member of Weight Watchers, and I'm confident that I can keep my weight this low with the Weight Watchers Maintenance Plan."

Isn't it time for you to check in and join the losing team? There is one near you.

CERTAIN NATIONS, which in the past and present proved our strongest allies, is either being criticized or ignored at the same time we are giving away the Panama Canal. Although the effort to "normalize" our relations with Cuba has been the mode in the last year, that idea is somewhat cooling off because of Castro's venture in revolution in Africa.

BOTH CUBA AND PANAMA ARE IN THE MARXIST CAMP AND ANTAGONISTIC to the United States, but our policy has been to favor them. Chile, Argentina, Brazil, and Nicaragua are anti-communist and pro-American in their posture. They have been targets of heavy criticism from our country.

NICARAGUA COMES AS THE MOST RECENT AND CLEAR EXAMPLE. Trujillo of Panama and Castro of Cuba are not elected by Nicaragua is held up as a violator of human rights under a President who was elected by the people. In the case of Rhodesia, we and the British agreed to support the proposition of majority rule worked out between Prime Minister Ian Smith and two prominent black leaders to hold open elections on a one-man-one-vote procedure.

THIS IS THE SAME DEMAND MADE BY THE GUERRILLA TRIBAL leaders in Angola and Mozambique, but who turned down the offer, and continue to head the band of marauders across the Rhodesian border. Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe were invited back to Rhodesia to cooperate under the new agreement but have refused to do so. Now it seems that they are highly regarded by the State Department and our United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young. THESE GUERRILLA FIGHTERS AGAINST RHODESIA AND THEIR FOLLOWERS have been invited to return to Rhodesia and take part in the elections. They have been promised total amnesty with no reprisals but, the offer has been turned down. The transition government with Prime Minister Smith as Chairman, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, Jeremiah Chirau and Reverend Sithole, joined in the invitation to the dissidents to return. The invitation was refused. All the things they have been saying they wanted and have been fighting for have now been settled, yet, they want no part in forming a new government.

THE MAJORITY RULE IS ASSURED, OF COURSE, SINCE THESE THREE in Rhodesia's transition government represent at least 85 percent of the black voters of the country.

THIS, HOWEVER, IS NOT WHAT THE GUERRILLAS in neighboring countries just outside Rhodesia will agree to. Since they are supported by Russia, it is obvious that what they want is a government of their own making which means to establish a Marxist dictatorship under their command.

IT IS INCONCEIVABLE THAT WE SHOULD TAKE THE SIDE OF these revolutionaries instead of being consistent in carrying out what was originally recommended and to which we gave our support along with the British.

AS WEAK AS WE ARE IN OUR INFLUENCE IN AFRICA AND THE MIDDLE East, it seems we choose to shop around in poor speculation for highly doubtful friends while criticizing those who have proved to be our friends.

Stockman To Aid Screwworm Program

Kingsville, Tex., The president of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association today called on Texas livestock owners to do all in their power to aid the Screwworm Eradication Program.

"If we don't," warns John Armstrong, "there are indications Texas ranchers will be battling a severe screwworm population in the Lone Star State within a few weeks."

"Screwworms have been detected in widely separated parts of the state, outside the sterile fly release area," says Armstrong. Indirect evidence shows that many unknown cases exist in the areas in between. "The nine known are probably only the tip of the iceberg," warns the head of Texas' oldest and best known livestock producer's association.

In late April, screwworms were found in a wound in a horse in Hudspeth county, about 50 miles east of El

Feedlot Cattle Down In Floyd Last Year

According to Sam Tommas, manager of agriculture development for Southwestern Public Service Company, 4,373,850 fat cattle were produced in the SPS service area for 1977. This production, revealed in a recent survey conducted by SPS, is the third highest in the history of the industry.

The survey which has been conducted since 1963 is quoted throughout the United States as the most authoritative source as to production of fat cattle in the southern great plains area.

"During the 1977 period, the feedlot capacity came to 2,734,740 head and is barely 10,000 head under the peak year of 1974 when 2,742,250 capacity was in use. This dropped to a low of 2.6 million in 1976 and present indications are that the 1978 year will see a new peak in feedlot capacity use," stated Thomas.

The survey also revealed that the 1978 feedyards doing custom feeding was one less than the preceding year but that this represented the consolidation of reporting yards. The total number of yards surveyed continued to fall with a reduction of six from last year. This too, reflects a consolidation but is the eleventh year it has occurred. There were 274 yards counted in 1967 as compared to 153 in 1978.

The total impact of the feedyard industry on the business community reached 8 billion dollars in 1977," Thomas stated, "and the farm sale value exceeded 2 billion dollars.

The survey also showed that the packing plant annual slaughter capacity jumped from 4,990,680 to 5.4 million head and the number of plants increased from 17 to 20.

Thomas also stated that 589,000 of this capacity is not in use but that this industry has made another estimated 8 billion dollar contribution to area business.

"The future of the feedlot industry appears to be the brightest of any period in its history, and this may not be good. Too many people believe this and with great majority acting together adverse reactions can occur. The price being paid for feeder cattle is a case in point," emphasized Thomas.

Eventually the customer must be considered as to what he will do and we could have poor profits along with good prices if the customer refuses to go along with all this enthusiasm, Thomas said.

This survey has made a major contribution to the development and growth of the industry and has been especially valuable in the vertical integration that has occurred in the SPS service area, concluded Thomas.

non-treatment of existing wounds, non-reporting of cases—we're in for a bad time," says the Kleberg county rancher.

"Sterile flies cannot win the battle alone, especially if they aren't put on the battleground," known screwworm cases in their livestock are continuing to castrate with reckless disregard, without taking precautions against screwworm infestation.

"If apathy on the part of livestock owners continues—man-made wounds,

The Floyd Philosopher Tries To Demonstrate That The County Needs More "Village Mentality"

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets riled up a little this week about big city attitudes toward small towns.

Dear editor: According to an article I read the other day, Washington politicians, when they get up in the morning, first glance at the headlines on the front page of their paper — I guess to see if any new war has broken out or if any of their friends have been caught red-handed — and then turn to a gossip column on an inside page.

An official said this marks a return to "the village mentality." I don't believe it. I got to thinking about what "village mentality" means, not what big city people intend it to mean. I used to think I'd discovered a point when I claimed it takes just as much ability to run a bank or any other business in a small town as it does to run their counterparts in a big city, but I had it backwards.

I should have said it takes as much ability to run a big city outfit as it does a small town business. This occurred to me when I read about the head of a big helicopter company claiming he didn't know his company was spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to bribe foreign governments to buy his machines. If he'd had average village mentality he's have caught on that something was funny.

And here's another example of the lack of village mentality. According to another news story, two professors at Yale University have designed a course to teach teachers how to teach children how to watch television. They want to make sure the kids can distinguish between fantasy and commercials and between programs and commercials and they won't try to walk straight up the side of a building like Spider Man.

Try as hard as I can, I can't think of a comment to make about this. I don't believe there's a single kid in Floydada who'd have to go to Yale to learn how to watch television. We've got too much village mentality around here for that.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

... the words instantly evoke a picture of crisp whiteness, of sunny yellow—a kind of jaunty joy. There's nothing depressing about daisies—pick a bunch and you automatically get a lift.

You start remembering old sayings like "Daisies don't tell." I wonder who invented that one. And that old game, "She loves me, she loves me not." Daisies have been flower fortune-tellers for longer than any of us can remember.

Yet daisies, too, have their season. Like everything else in nature, including man, they have a life span. And in their crisp, lifting way they make the most of it.

Do we? Someone once suggested that we should live each day as if it were our last. It seems a sobering thought at first. Yet, what a world it would be if we followed this advice!

Somewhere in the course of that tremendously important day, our steps would surely lead us to church.

Why wait?

Some 70,000 widows, wives of totally and permanently disabled veterans and their children are enrolled in college or other training with Veterans Administration financial help, according to Max Cleland, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

The VA provides up to 45 months schooling to eligible spouses and to children between the ages of 18 and 26, Cleland said.

But the VA chief warned that some spouses will lose their eligibility for these valuable benefits if they don't act within eight months.

The eligibility of a spouse ends on November 30, 1978, or ten years from the date the veteran was found to have a total and permanent service-connected disability or ten years from the date of his or her death, whichever is later.

A child's VA educational eligibility ends on his 26th birthday plus any time period after his eighteenth birthday required to process the application, unless extended under certain conditions.

Nearly 375,000 spouses and children have trained under this program. Full information on VA dependents' education program can be obtained at the nearest VA office, veterans county service office, or national service organization.

Summer Library Activities Planned

This summer promises to be an exciting one at the Lockney Branch of the Floyd County Library.

Beginning on Wednesday, June 7, and every Wednesday thereafter, the Athena Junior Study Club and the Penserose Junior Study Club will have a "story hour" at the library. The story hour will have a story from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the 6-8 year olds will be from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Parents pick up your child at 11 a.m. because the workers will leave at that time.

August 16 will be the last Wednesday of the story hour will be held.

Also, this summer, the summer reading program will be June 5-August 18.

Registration begins Monday, June 5, at the library.

Certificates will be given to the first through sixth graders who read 12 or more books.

Something new has been added to the seventh and eighth graders. During the summer reading program, a book will be given to the library in your honor for reading the most books.

On Friday, August 18, a party will be given in honor of all the boys and girls who participated in the program. Winners will be announced and certificates will be given at this time.

Please plan to help us make this an exciting summer for you. See you at the library!
