Sheriff's Department Enforcing Law On Harrassing Phone Callers

Have you ever had your phone ring, pick up the receiver, and hear some obscene language.....or perhaps hear nothing. It may be that it will ring several times, and each time you say "hello" there is no response.....or perhaps only the sound of heavy breathing.

The penalty for this type of telephone call harrasment is 180 days in jail and/or $1,000 fine.

This year the Floyd County Sheriff's office has investigated three telephone call complaints.

With Bell Telephone's new "tap system" it is not hard to trace the call immediately to the caller and the arrest can be made.

Plainview Bell Telephone executive Jim West says this type call has led to many arrests in Hereford and Plainview.

In next week's paper, more details from West's office will explain how the obscene caller's number is traced.

Some Cotton Hailed Out

By Wendell Tooley

In Thursday's paper it was reported that Floyd farmers signed up at the ASCS office to plant 205,000 acres of cotton.

Right now, it's anyone's guess about how many of the 205,000 acres of cotton are still up and growing.

County Agent Doyle Warren says some 5,000 acres of row crops were hailed out in the Providence, Lone Star and Rock Creek areas in the north part of the county Saturday night a week ago.

This past Tuesday evening a thunderstorm blasted in from the west, went right across Floydada and began to drop hail along with rain east of Floydada. The hail took a pattern of following the Matador highway, beginning with Cecil Baxter's farm just east of Floydada. Most of the hail was north of the Matador highway, but at times the hail cloud veered south of the highway.

County Agent Warren said the cold damp weather was creating some blight and seedling disease and the cotton crop needs a lot of hot dry weather at this time.

Farmers with good irrigation will probably plant over soybeans or grain sorghum. Dryland farmers may still try planting some more cotton.

On the trip to Oklahoma they had bacon with bread to eat. The bread was made with water and flour and cooked in a big cast-iron oven which was set on the fire with coals of fire on top of the lid over it. Fuel was from the woods.

City Council In Routine Meeting

The regular monthly Lockney city council meeting Thursday morning was short and routine. The council voted to suspend for the present an application by Southwestern Public Service for an electric rate increase in Lockney; establish a board of tax equalization; increase insurance on the city barn; and advertise for bids on a pickup truck.

The City of Lockney followed the example of many other Texas cities in "suspending" the electric company's application for the rate increase.

The board of tax equalization, which will meet from 2 to 3 p.m., July 18, at city hall.

Insurance on the city barn was increased from $20,000 to $25,000 on the recommendation of Barker Insurance.

The council voted to advertise for bids on a low-mileage used pickup.

Also approved Thursday was the use of about $2,000 in city revenue sharing money for improvements at the city park. Original plans were to pay for all the park improvements out of the city swimming pool fund, but the cost exceeded original estimates.

Alderman J.D. Copeland reported that about 35 trees were "pulled" and moved during the city cleanup days last month.

NEW METHODIST PASTOR....Rev. Dewitt Seago and his wife Roberta. Rev. Seago has succeeded Hugh Daniel at the Lockney First United Methodist Church. He came here from Hereford, where he was chaplain at a retirement center for five years. He's also been pastor of churches at Floydada, Lubbock, Big Spring and Friona. The Seagos are parents of one son and three daughters, and they have eight grandchildren. And, they are ".....happy to be in Lockney." (Staff Photo)

Something Useful, Something Practical Like A Split Bonnet

By Felicia Applewhite

Speaking of her split bonnet as "a good old standby," 88-year-old Lavada Cunningham of Lockney reveals a practical nature.

Orphaned at the age of five by the death of her mother and at the age of nine by the death of her father, she and her younger sister "lived anywhere they will live with relatives. We were not especially wanted by any of them. Families were large and the adding of two orphan children made a difference.

There was a time following the death of her mother when a step-mother and her two children ruled the household.

"Every morning our step-mother had quinine on the table. She never missed-she had it there all the time. She would make up a cup of coffee, put quinine in it and pass it around to all of us. She gave us quinine until we were as dead as a post. We lived in the swamps where chills and fever hounded us. Quinine was the answer, or so it was thought."

Lavada was born February 7, 1890 in Yell County, Arkansas where "We had a hard life. All of us had a hard time. We worked like dogs."

In Lockney, she lives south across the street from Lockney Elementary School on a five-acre-plot where she has lived since 1946. For several years, the FFA boys, under the supervision of Elvin Lyon, farmed her acreage. When they gave it up a year ago, Jerry Ulmer began farming it.

Her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Hill, says her mother "piddles in the yard all day pulling weeds and the like." Mrs. Hill hurriedly corrects herself by stating that "Mother had made 40 quilt tops for the kids and grand kids." She says that 18 of these quilt tops have been made in the last two years. She adds, "You can't get through Mother's household of quilts."

A casual glance at the Cunningham house and yard leaves a person with the impression of the neatness of the place. It "sort of" stands out as a compliment to an industrious owner.

However, the Arkansas years are very clear in Mrs. Cunningham's mind. She remembers that the farming that was done there was done with a Georgia stock and a double shovel having one horse hitched to it. Seeds were planted by hand-both corn and cotton seed. The one who was doing the planting had a bag full of seed swung from his shoulder. She laughs when she says, "I used to drop cotton seed so thick that I had to thin it out when it was up."

"Have you never been to a log rolling?" she asks abruptly, her eyes twinkling. Unbelief registers on her face when she gets a negative answer.

"We had log rollings often. The men went in and cut down dead trees and trimmed the branches off. Us kids had to pick up the brush to throw on the brush pile. People were good to help each other. They would roll the logs in one field then go to another. While the men were rolling the logs, the women would meet to cook.

"The purpose of log rolling was to clear the land. Each man made himself a hand spike by using a froe and wedge to cut a strip from a tree and then whittling it a sharp point. He used it to help roll the logs to a place to be burned. When night came, you could see fires all over the field.

"All logs were split by using the froe and wedge. Chain saws were unheard of."

Sometimes tree stumps were left. These stumps furnished a problem when the land around them was planted. "Those old tree stumps had to be hoed around."

The stumps were no harder to hoe around than the rail fences.

"You have never seen a rail fence?" she asks showing incredulity that it could be possible that here is a person who has never seen a rail fence.

"You had to split the logs yourself," she begins her explanation of how it is done.

"First you set up a stake and rider. They are set just like an X. The rails are stacked on the stake and rider just like building a log house. The stake and rider makes a fence stout. Of course, the fence is zig-zagged for strength, too."

"Well, we had to hoe around those rail fences as well as around the tree stumps."

There was not much time left to go to school. She "never did go to school" after her father died when she was nine.

"I remember seeing my uncle talking a long time to my step-mother at my father's funeral. I don't know what was said, but my sister and I never were taken back to our home again. I never saw it again. We went to live with a family of relatives for a while. They would go away leaving us to take care of their stock."

"When we were older, we worked for other people-we did it all, wash on a rubberboard, iron. We earned three dollars a week.

"One time when we were staying at our uncles, we went to visit an aunt who had a girl of my age. My aunt found that she had no meal and told my cousin and me to go to a neighbors to get some on a horse.

"When we got to the creek, it was up because of a rise above. A man said for us to use the bridle rein to make the horse cross. We hit the horse and to our surprise, he jumped in the creek and swam across. We stayed two hours with the neighbors and when he came back to the creek, it was down."

There was a short time when "this old doctor that had brought me into the world bought a hotel and took me to live with his family." While she was living with the doctor's family, the people her sister was living with, left, taking the sister with them. They passed "right by" the doctor's house when they were leaving and didn't stop. The sisters didn't see each other for three years after that.

At one time in the sister's stay away, money was sent for her to come back, but the children she was caring for began crying because of her leaving, so she did not come back. Again, later, money was sent. This time she came back. At that time, they were with an uncle, who had at one time lived in Oklahoma. He wanted to go back, so they did.

It took 21 days in three covered wagons for our family and two others to make the trip to Oklahoma. Everybody got sick except me and my uncle and his brother-in-law. It was some kind of fever. My sister was sickest of all-she was real bad.

"We just stopped on the road and got medicine, which meant that we had to lay over a day or two. We just didn't

MR. AND MRS. WILLIE D. ROSE

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

OKRA—a popular crop—makes a delightful gourmet item—pickled okra. The first recipe is the longer fermented method and is the favorite of Ernestine Edmondson, Ellis County Extension Agent.

The second recipe, a quick method, is the standby of Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson.

PICKLED OKRA

Wash okra, leaving small amounts of stem on the pods, and drain. Make brine:

- 1/2 cup plain salt
- 2 quarts water
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon sugar

This amount covers one gallon of okra.

Place—in bottom of appropriate size jar—a layer of dill and two tablespoons mixed pickling spices.

Add okra, then another layer of dill and a like amount of spices.

If desired, add a few cloves of garlic.

Pour brine to top of jar. Keep okra under brine at all times. A stem of dill or some grape leaves added for color will keep okra from floating.

Fermentation will begin within three days. Remove the scum that forms on top daily.

If possible, keep the pickles at even room temperature (70 to 86 degrees F. is best for brining). Fermentation is faster in hot weather (10 days to two weeks).

When fermentation stops, pickles are ready to eat. Seal airtight in brining liquid for storing, or rinse pickles and pack into sterilized jars and cover with fresh brine if desired.

Commercial dill seeds do not give the flavor that fresh dill or dried dill heads with stems give.

Note: Carrot strips, green beans, onions, green tomatoes, blackeyed peas and other vegetables may be pickled by same method.

PICKLED OKRA

Fresh okra

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dill seeds for each pint jar
- 1 hot red pepper
- 1 hot green pepper
- 2 cloves garlic

Place one-half teaspoon dill seeds in bottom of each sterilized jar.

Wash okra and pack as tightly as possible in jars being careful not to bruise.

Add one-half teaspoon dill seed, red and green peppers and garlic.

Bring vinegar, water and salt to a boil and pour this hot mixture over the okra.

Seal the jars and allow to stand two weeks.

Serve icy cold. Makes approximately four pints.

PROCESSING

Process sealed jars of okra from either recipe for five minutes in boiling water bath while hot—immediately after putting it in the jar.

THE AGENT SAYS. Processing destroys any bacteria, yeasts or molds which occur in the air and cause spoilage. SHE ADDS.

Bergland optimistic on wheat agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he is optimistic that a new International Wheat Agreement can be shaped up in the next few weeks.

Bergland also predicted Tuesday that the Soviet Union will sign the new agreement after it is negotiated among wheat exporting and importing countries.

"I believe we are on our way in getting an agreement, at least in principle, agreed to informally by all parties by the first of July or thereabouts," he told reporters.

The agreement would provide that participating countries share in world wheat supplies when grain is scarce and "accept certain disciplines" for managing reserve stockpiles when large surpluses exist.

"The Soviets are going to be a party to that agreement, I am convinced of that," he said. Bergland returned last weekend from a 3-week trip abroad

County's Sales Tax Rebate Is Analyzed

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock reported Friday that gross sales in Texas last year totaled $170.3 billion, up a healthy 19.6 per cent from calendar 1976.

Sales for the last three months of 1977 totaled $51.7 billion compared to $43.3 billion for the last quarter of 1976.

Computer analyses released by the Comptroller break down reported sales by county and by Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA).

Totals for the state's 25 SMSA's are further divided into 21 classes of sales, such as agricultural, mining, manufacturing and retail.

Harris County, the state's most populous, recorded sales totaling $43.5 billion for the year, up 21.8 per cent over 1976. Sales in Dallas County were up 20 per cent for a total of $26.4 billion last year.

Swisher's 305 reporting outlets reported gross sales of $22,343,658 for the fourth quarter of 1977; gross taxable sales, $6,596,025; deductions of $1.4 billion.

Castro's 248 outlets reported $43,652,886 in sales, $17,312,000 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $26,340,886.

Briscoe's 108 outlets reported $11,125,776 in sales, $859,038 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $10,266,738.

Floyd's 128 outlets reported $5,963,096 in sales, $1,337,071 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $4,626,025.

Bailey's 128 outlets reported $8,297,703 in sales, $4,307,942 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $3,989,761.

Hall's 208 outlets reported $3,821,097 in sales, $2,488,200 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $1,332,897.

Deaf Smith's 624 outlets reported $55,783,919 in sales, $24,622,000 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $31,161,919.

Hale's 94 outlets reported $41,565,524 in sales, $17,722,000 in purchases, and amount subject to tax, $23,843,524.

which included the Soviet Union and several other Eastern European countries.

The Soviet Union, as with the other Eastern European countries he visited, including Poland, Hungary and Rumania, appears firmly committed to increasing production of livestock to put more meat, poultry and dairy products on consumer tables, Bergland said.

But he said the Soviet Union is limited by its northern climate and short growing season in producing enough corn and other feed grains for livestock.

"They are never going to be able to feed these animals with homegrown feed stuffs in the quantities which I think they are building up to," Bergland said.

Thus, he said, Russia will continue to be an important grain market for American farmers.

Bergland said that an important objective of the trip was to impress the Soviet Union and the other countries of the necessity of providing information on long-range grain requirements so that the United States can shape its agricultural policy and production to help meet foreign needs.

Bergland said that agricultural officials in each of the countries "promised to do their best, without getting specific" on food statistics.

BUILT-IN ACCIDENT POTENTIAL—Faulty design or installation of loads and equipment can lead to many accidents, contends a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. When a designer builds or installs equipment without taking into account a host of common human characteristics such as size and strength as well as such things as his perception capabilities, habits and customs, he is setting a trap for the equipment user's eventual and inevitable accident.

 three. Everything was flattened in those trails.
 "There was one 10 or 12 miles from that took everything in the community. It rolled one barbed-wire fence, post and all down the section line.
 "Once after I was married and had children and while we were still living in Oklahoma, my husband had gone to the oil fields to work. Our little ones and I were in the cellar. The storm hit our house but didn't tear it apart, however, it blew the front door into the kitchen and blew a window out. We slept on dry beds in the cellar for three weeks."
 Another time she was attending church in a revival-meeting tent. The wind blew the tent down. People were all under the tent trying to get out.
 "I liked to never have reached my aunt with her twins. I took one twin and a man took the other. He put a woman's bonnet over the baby's face because it was raining so hard.
 "We went to the school house in the pouring-down rain, but the school house leaked, so we had to use umbrellas for protection. The twister came from the west and was there before we knew it. Both big poles came down on the benches. It was during the 11 o'clock services," she remembers.
 In Oklahoma, the wolves went in packs. They howled and "scared us." If young calves were caught out, the wolves killed them. Also it was necessary to keep the chickens up.
 Some families were fortunate enough to have saddle horses. Almost everyone walked unless the family was along, then they went in wagons. Few farmers had buggies; there just were not many buggies that had fringe around the top."

"My aunt's brother-in-law had raised a colt that he was going to break for me to ride, so my uncle went to town and bought me a side saddle.
 I never used it. The horse went round and round, and they kept telling me to get on but I wasn't about to get on that horse. Not too many women rode horses, anyway.
 Following marriage and the birth of four children, the Cunningham family came from Oklahoma to Lockney in a covered wagon in 1924.
 "Everything we had we brought in a wagon which had over-jets. The over-jets gave us a foot more room on each side of the wagon. We stretched the wagon bows to cover the over jets and pulled the wagon sheets over the bows. We slept in the wagon.
 "We came here because my husband had asthma so bad he couldn't breathe. The two of us together weighed exactly 200 pounds when we came. I weighed 92 and he weighed 108.
 "At first, he was so homesick. There was not a day that he didn't say, 'We ought to go back.'
 One morning at breakfast, the oldest boy said, "Papa, when you get ready to go back to Oklahoma, Mama and us kids will stay here." He never mentioned going back after that.
 Mrs. Cunningham has been a member of the Methodist Church all of her life. Mr. Cunningham died in 1960. Her daughter tells two incidents in connection with her mother's church going.

 The first incident was as amusing to Mrs. Cunningham as it was to others. Her family had rushed her off to church because they were late. She didn't realize it until she was seated in the Sunday School class, but she had brought the telephone directory instead of the Sunday School quarterly.
 "She does not mind telling funny things on herself," says her daughter. "Once she accidentally fell toward a man as she was coming into the pew at church. When she was seated with her friends, she said, 'It's the last time I'm coming to church. When you fall into a strange man's arms, it's time to stay at home.'" She laughed as much as others when she said it.
 Some of the first things seen on entering her house are the two split bonnets where she "keeps 'em handy" on the back of a chair. In the winter, a split bonnet "keeps the wind of the face" and in the summer it "keeps the sun out of the eyes." She will laugh and tells you that she "wouldn't have a starched bonnet for fear of sitting on it and crushing it."
 Lavada Cunningham stays busy, if not in weed pulling or quilt-top making, it is in cutting pieces out of a shoe box or other cardboard for her split bonnet.

How To Handle Emergency Aboard Your Boat

BOATS

LUBBOCK - How well you handle an emergency aboard a boat may mean the difference in whether or not you survive a boating accident.

Anyone can have an accident and the most common are: man overboard, capsizing, taking on water during squalls, collisions and fires. When a person falls overboard, swing the stern quickly away from the person in the water if the boat is underway. If he is close to the boat, stop the motor so he won't get cut by the prop. Even though he can swim, throw him a life preserver, extend him a paddle or throw him a line. Act quickly and do what the situation demands.

If your boat capsizes, stay with the boat, don't try to swim to shore unless there is a good reason to do so. Modern boats will hold up passengers even when full of water. Remember, it is easier to spot a large boat than a swimmer's head in the water.

Put on a life preserver if not already wearing them. Coolers, gas can and water containers can be used to help keep you afloat. Towels and extra clothing can be used to protect you from sun and wind. Paddles can be used to wave for rescue, to rig shelters, or to reach people in distress.

Sudden storm and squalls are common in Texas and everyone should put on a life preserver and fasten it before the storm hits. Get to the bottom of the boat and stay low. Secure all movable objects and bail out water as fast as it comes in. Head for shore or the lee side of an island if it is not too far away or the water is not too rough. Use motor to head boat into the wind while moving ahead.

Collisions on a lake are more common than most boaters realize. When the hull is rammed, stop or reduce speed immediately. Stuff anything available into the opening to stop the water from coming in such as blankets, bedding or cushions. Do something and do it quickly to stop the flow of water.

Another critical situation is a fire onboard your boat. Stop the boat at once to keep from fanning the flames. When the burning object is portable, try to get it over the side without burning your hands or igniting your clothing.

When the fire is in a confined space, close all hatches, vents, or ports to keep oxygen from feeding the fire. Fire must have fuel, oxygen and heat to burn, take away any one of these and the fire will go out.

Panic also should be included in any list of accident causes as it can be the biggest killer of all. Panicked people cannot think, act instinctively, and many times, endanger the lives of everyone around including the rescuers.

An emergency aboard a boat can quickly become a life-or-death situation, so be prepared to handle it.

FISHING LICENSE

LUBBOCK - While you are packing the picnic lunch and arranging the fishing gear in the camper, be sure to check the expiration date on your fishing license.

If you bought your license on June 1, 1977, or before, you may need a new license. If you bought it after that date, your license will be good until Aug. 31.

The reason for such double-checking is that 1977-78 was the first year of a changeover to a system based on Aug. 31 expiration.

Preciously, the licenses expired one year from the date of purchase.

A resident fishing license is $4.50 and is required for all persons who fish in the waters of Texas with the exception of those: under 17 years of age; over 65 years of age; fishing in private waters; fishing in county of residence with trotline, throwline or ordinary pole and line having no reel or winding device attached; holding a valid Texas commercial fishing license or holder of an exempt fishing license ($1.25) available to disabled veterans or the blind.

An annual non-resident fishing license is $10.50 and a non-resident five-day fishing license is $4.50.

injured, making the decision more difficult. Early maturing cottons are Cascot B-2, Early Cot 31, Paymaster Dwarf, Paymaster 792 and Dawson E-10.

COLLEGE STATION -- Despite prospects for a much smaller cotton crop than last year, little improvement is seen in the current market price for the 1978 crop.

That's the assessment offered by Dr. Carl Anderson, economist in marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"World supplies of cotton will need to drop substantially below current levels before a bullish market will develop," contends Anderson. "Global stock on August 1 are expected to be some 20 percent larger than a year earlier."

U.S. cotton in public storage on April 1 was the largest since 1969. Carry-over of the 1977-78 crop this August 1 is expected to be near 5.5 million bales, almost double the amount on hand last August 1, notes the economist.

"Although cotton acreage will be down this year, near average yields should boost 1978 production to about 12 million bales. This would be near the expected disappearance of cotton for 1978," says Anderson.

While exports are strong, domestic mill use remains weak. In the first eight months of this season, exports have risen 210,900 bales over the same period a year earlier to a total of 3,085,000. At the same time, domestic mill use has fallen 163,600 bales to a total of 4,289,100. Yet consumption of manmade fibers for this period rose an equivalent of about 250 million bales, or 9 percent.

"Competition between manmade fibers and cotton remains intense," adds the economist. "Cotton's share of the growing U.S. fiber market slipped to a record low of 26 percent in 1977, down from 33 percent only five years ago. And in 1960, cotton accounted for 65 percent of the fiber market.

"The U.S. fiber market is equivalent to about 25 million bales. Clearly, the cotton industry's greatest opportunity for growth and stability in the demand for cotton lies in the steady expansion of the domestic fiber market," contends Anderson. "This means that industry leaders must give special impetus to market development and promotion."

What's up in foreign visitors

Americans are playing host to more and more foreign visitors each year. More than 17.5 million foreigners — including tourists, business people and students — arrived in the U.S. for temporary stays in 1976. Preliminary figures show an increase in 1977.

Gallivanting Margaret Trudeau: One of nearly 11 million.

Most of these visitors didn't have to travel far; they came across the border from Canada and Mexico. But 4.5 million crossed the seas to pay us a visit.

According to The World Almanac, the top 10 countries-of-origin of visitors in the first 10 months of 1977 were:

Country	Arrivals
1. Canada	10,974,217
2. Mexico	1,707,097
3. Japan	637,481
4. Britain	457,795
5. Germany	319,990
6. France	186,211
7. Venezuela	167,886
8. Australia	135,983
9. Italy	99,487
10. Netherlands	90,351
11. Bahamas	79,618

Farm income is improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising prices of some commodities, including livestock and grain, have helped improve prospects for farm income this year, according to the Agriculture Department.

In a new outlook report Tuesday, the department said that 1978 net farm income could range between $25 billion and $26 billion, up from $20.4 billion in 1977.

The farm income projection was included in a report which showed that retail food prices are expected to increase an average of 8 percent to 10 percent this year, compared with an estimate of 6 percent to 8 percent the USDA announced in late March and a forecast of 4 percent to 6 percent it initially made last fall.

Officials said that the supply of red meat, mainly beef and pork, is smaller than had been anticipated and that bad weather has reduced production of some fresh vegetables.

Other food price factors include a thriving export market for U.S. farm commodities and brisk demand among American consumers, officials said.

REPLACEMENT HEIFERS FOR EARLY CALVING — Select replacement heifers that will calve early their first year and reproduce regularly, advises a livestock specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Heifers that calve early normally have fewer rebreeding problems, produce more calves during their lifetimes, and wean more pounds of calf per year than late-calving cows. To calve near two years of age, a heifer will have to reach puberty by 13 to 16 months. Heifers of most breeds will reach puberty by this age provided they have sufficient weight.

It Takes 42 Minutes To Catalog Library Book

"It takes 42 minutes to catalog one book for the County Library" Anne Willson told Floydada Rotarians at their noon luncheon Wednesday. Anne was speaking on behalf of the Friends Of The Library Association and was accompanied by the luncheon by librarian Jackie Walls.

"We need a library on the ground level in Floydada... and when the library was started 26 years ago on the second floor of the courthouse, it was considered a temporary location," Anne said.

Anne said there are 26,000 books in the library, 17,000 circulated in 1977. She expressed thanks to County Judge J.K. Holmes for his dedication to the library's needs. Books for the library are selected by the librarian.

In a question and answer period, she said the library was not open on Saturdays and nights because the Courthouse is not open at those times. She added this is one reason the library needs to be in another building in Floydada.

She was introduced by Rotarian Doyle Walls.

NEWSLETTER FROM FRIENDS OF FLOYD COUNTY LIBRARY

A group of interested persons of Floyd County recently formed the "Friends of the Floyd County Library." This organization is interested in the promotion, growth, and further development of our County Library and the branch library in Lockney, Texas. We are interested in the expansion and relocation of the present library here in Floydada to make it more accessible and useable to the public in general.

The Floyd County Library is a great resource to the people of this area. Through the years it has expanded greatly and has outgrown its present location. Many fine additions are added each year. Last year some 23,000 volumes were checked out and used by the county readers. The library is a source of reading for pleasure and a depository for books used to further education, enrich knowledge and improve local school programs.

Examination of the physical facilities of the main library shows that is overcrowded and needs to be expanded and moved to street level to encourage its use by everyone, especially our older citizens and those with handicaps.

Our library has affiliation with District 9 Resource Center in Lubbock. Through this source, non-fiction publications can be secured for use by our local library without cost to us — again space is a factor. The film library is also well received.

MUMS FOR FALL COLOR — If you want colorful mums to adorn your fall landscape, there is still time to set out rooted cuttings, notes a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Plant mums in a well-drained, fertile soil in a sunny location. Sidedress plants with fertilizer in about six weeks and again in mid-August. Water throughout the growing season. A mulch will help conserve moisture and reduce weeds. Pinching out the ends of new shoots produces a compact plant with many flowers. Complete pinching by late July.
