hood, being pulled behind a pickup. The pickup passed over the lad's left leg.

He was taken to Caprock Hospital and then transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. His mother, Mrs. Richard Lyons, said her son was dismissed from the hospital Friday and has returned to school.

Because of the bad weather, Lockney schools have run on abbreviated schedules four of the seven days since classes took up following the Christmas-New Year holidays.

School started an hour late, at 10 a.m., on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week and dismissed an hour early, at 3 p.m., last Friday. Students got to sleep an extra hour again Monday morning, when first classes were again postponed until 10 a.m.

Superintendent W.H. Hallmark reported that absenteeism in the school system has been "not too bad" except for the first day back in class, Tuesday, January 2, when several students' families were unable to get back from the extended holiday because of bad road conditions.

(By the way — if in doubt about school times in Lockney, listen to the Plainview and Floydada radio stations. School officials try to notify the radio stations if classes are not going to be held or if they're going to start at a later hour. If school is planned as usual, the radio stations are not contacted, so if Lockney is not mentioned, it'll be school at the regular times, in Lockney.)

FLOYD DATA
Visiting with Wannie Hill on Thursday morning was Jack Wolfe of Bridgeport.

Only three days this year has the temperature ventured above the normal mark. Last Thursday (Jan. 4) the mercury rose to 35, a virtual heat wave existed Friday as a yearly high of 40 was reached, and Tuesday's high was 30.

NEW STORM WEDNESDAY
Snow began falling again before noon Wednesday as a new norther entered the area. Snowfall was continuing at great time.

Low temperature of the year was a minus four degrees Tuesday, Jan. 2. The Sunday night temperature sank to eight degrees.

Floyd County started the New Year with two inches of snow on the ground. Traces of moisture fell both Friday and Saturday and another .03 was recorded Sunday.

Frigid temperatures do not seem to be bothering Floyd residents as much as hazardous traveling, created by icy highways and streets.

One mishap resulted in a 16-year-old youth Plains lad suffering a broken leg. At the other accidents have been regarded as "fender benders," with no injuries.

Monty Lyons suffered a broken left leg in a New Year Day mishap. He and two friends were riding on an old auto

Basketballers Open District Play Friday

Play Floydada Here

The Lockney Longhorns and Lady Longhorns begin the district 4-AA basketball season Friday night, hosting the Whirlwinds and Whirlettes of Floydada High School in three games beginning at 5 p.m., when the junior varsity boys' teams are scheduled. Varsity girls' and boys' games will follow.

Coach Ed Koester's varsity Longhorns will be trying to get back on the winning track after a five-game losing streak.

Marsha Sharp's Lady Horn varsity team comes into the contest with recent victories over Muleshoe, Lubbock Christian, and Olton.

While the JV and girls' games are being played, the Lockney Lions Club will be serving pancakes and all the trimmings at the annual Lions' Pancake Supper, across the hall in the school cafeteria.

Federal School Programs Explained At Parental Involvement Committee Meeting

About 30 Lockney parents, teachers and administrators attended a meeting of the Lockney schools' Parental Involvement Committee Tuesday afternoon in the elementary school cafeteria.

English frequently start their Title I reading program with simple English conversation, then are taught the English alphabet. Mrs. Byrd said all students in the Title I program, even those who didn't speak English at the first of the school year, are reading some now.

Parents of students involved in federal school programs heard teachers in the migrant, bilingual and Title I Reading programs explain each program and introduce the other teachers and aides involved in the program.

MIGRANT

Elida Leal talked about the migrant education program at elementary school. She said the program had been changed since last year and now allowed students in their regular classrooms instead of taking instruction in a special "migrant classroom."

JUNIOR HIGH READING, MATH

Sally Carthel and Karen Koonsman told about the Lockney Junior High programs.

Mrs. Carthel said sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students are tested at first of the school year. Those felt to have a need for language development help are taught in the junior high Title I Reading program. But the students stay in the regular classroom as much as possible.

BILINGUAL

Carolina Castro, bilingual resource teacher for kindergarten through fifth grade, discussed the bilingual program, a program for students with limited English speaking ability. Children are tested for English speaking ability their first year in school and those identified as having limited English abilities are placed in the bilingual program only with permission of their parents. At the end of each year, children in the bilingual program are given an achievement test, if they score a certain percentile on the English portion, they are "exited" from the program, again only with the parents' permission.

Mrs. Koonsman said the state compensatory math program is in its second year at Lockney Junior High. Students are placed in the math program in much the same way as the other programs, using test results and teacher observation to decide which students need the compensatory math instruction.

There is no migrant program at junior high.

TITLE I READING

Virginia Byrd told about the Title I Reading Program at Lockney Elementary. Children read their basal readers for the first week of school, and those not reading as they should are sent to the Title I program. The children are tested to determine their reading grade level and assigned accordingly. A teacher's aide helps children with special needs. Children who don't speak

Hallmark said the reason the junior-high migrant program had been discontinued was because the junior-high-age students didn't like having their regular classrooms to go to the migrant classroom.

The parental involvement committee will meet again at the end of school to evaluate the programs.

WHILE YOU'RE AT THE GAMES...

Come To The Lions' Pancake Supper

The Lockney Lions Club will hold its annual Lions' Pancake Supper Friday evening in the Lockney Junior High school cafeteria.

Pancakes, bacon, sausage, butter, syrup, coffee and milk will be served from 5 to 8 p.m., and everyone is invited to join the Lions in some good eating.

Especially invited are basketball fans from Floydada, many of whom are expected to be at the school gymnasium across the hall from the cafeteria for the games between the Longhorns and the Whirlwinds.

The basketball action starts at 5 p.m., too, when the boys' junior varsity teams are scheduled to play. The varsity girls' and boys' games will follow at about 6:30 and 8 p.m. respectively.

Tickets to the Lions' Pancake Supper cost $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Lady Horns Avenge Losses To Muleshoe

After losing two earlier basketball contests with Muleshoe, Lockney High School girls beat them 36-29 here Tuesday night. It was the best game of the year for Lady Horn Rebecca Evans, according to Coach Marsha Sharp. Evans not only led the Lockney scoring with 14 points but had 14 rebounds and four steals to go along with it.

Sharp said Rise Taylor played an excellent defensive game, and Karla McCarter and Stephanie Turner did a good job of running the ball up and down the court.

McCarter scored seven points and Turner four. Also in the Lockney scoring column were Penny Sterling, who had five; Julie Frizzell, who put in four, and Jody Nance, who scored two.

Shelly Dunham of Muleshoe scored 14.

The Lockney girls' first district game is tomorrow (Friday). They play Floydada in the Lockney gym.

MULESHOE JV WINS
Muleshoe won the junior varsity girls' game 35-16. Lockney scorers included Sheris and Patricia Torres, six points each, and Sharon Spencer, two.

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT...at Lockney Elementary school. The snow-covered ground doesn't deter the grade-school kids when they're allowed to play outside at noon, however. The Lockney Young Farmers recently installed the swings, see-saws, and other playground equipment at the elementary school. (Staff Photo)

Wilma Adams To Be Honored At Reception

The Lockney High School Future Homemakers of America will hold a reception to honor Mrs. Wilma Adams from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday (January 14) in the Lockney High School home economics room.

All her friends in the community are invited to attend.

Longhorns Lose To Mules

Muleshoe defeated Lockney 52-39 Tuesday in a basketball game here. Coach Ed Koester said the Longhorns played hard and played much better defense than they had been playing. Even though they lost, Koester said he was "pleased with everybody's effort."

Joe Rodriguez was top scorer for Lockney, netting 11 points. Danny Ridgely had nine for the 'Horns. Muleshoe won 41-38 in the junior varsity boys' contest. The Longhorns were down by as much as 13 points. They came back and had a chance to win, but a missed shot near the end of the game gave the victory to the Mules. Steve Auful and Craig Ellison were the Lockney scoring leaders, and Coach Griffin said Oseas Almir played a game and Alex Vasquez came in on the bench and did a good job.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

Tuesday, January 2, 1979 — We didn't have a white Christmas, but we had a white New Year's — And it had been a long time since we had zero nights and frozen water pipes. The sun is shining today, but the wind, how it blows!

The Clarence Ashtons had their children home for Christmas. Francis came from Connecticut and Bobby and family from League City. Francis left Thursday for the northeast.

Bro. and Mrs. Clay Muncy spent Christmas day with Miss Vera Meredith, and Floyd and Florence Montgomery of Plainview came in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ross spent Christmas day with Buck and Maxine Ragsdale, the daughter and husband near Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Carpenter of the Lockney Nursing Home spent Christmas day with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carpenter. Others present were their daughter, Mrs. Norma Wilcox and her two sons, Jamie and Barry of Dallas; also Joe and Claudine Conway and daughter of Irving.

Wednesday the Wichita Carpenters went to the Wichita Falls where they visited the Fred Cones, Foy's sisters, Mrs. Malissa Pitts and Mr. and Mrs. H.H. Garrett. They reached home Sunday in time to make a quick trip to Lockney to visit the parents, the Claud Carpenters.

The James E. Greens had their holiday get-together Thursday and Thursday evening. The Ryans stayed till Saturday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Green and Steve of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Don Clark Green of Big Spring; and Mrs. Margaret Ryman and five of her children, two of whom arrived Friday. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Latta and their sons David and Sam and their families.

Ma Green sustained a sprained back one day last week.

Floyd Fuqua, Mrs. Clarence Ashton's brother, is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Denison and their son Gilmer and wife of Lubbock visited a while Christmas eve with Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Parrack of Anson. They were on their way to Georgetown to visit with their son and brother, the C.W. Denison Jr.

The Gordon Mayfields reached home Sunday, New Year's eve, after spending Christmas week in Little Rock, Ark. with their son, Gene and family.

Mrs. Mayfield received a long distance call from California from Margaret Tubbs Fisher stating that a sister-in-law, wife of her brother, Mutt Tubbs, had passed away. We all remember that talented and loved Arthur Tubbs family of Center who moved to California 25 or 30 years ago.

The Floyd Philosopher

TV Network News To Report On People's Political Investments

Editor's Note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass wants the stock market report enlarged, or something.

Dear editor: Just before a break for a commercial, the TV network news every evening gives a brief report on the stock market...stocks on the New York Exchange rose 1 point or fell 8, the Dow

Jones reported such and such, gold prices rose or fell, etc. People with investments in such things naturally are interested, just as I'm interested in the weather report. Farmers sometimes have more invested in the weather than others in stocks and bonds.

But what puzzles me is why the networks never report fluctuations in one of the biggest financial investments around — political investments. Here's the thing: a lot of people have got a lot of money tied up in politicians. It's nothing for a U.S. Senator to spend two, three, four or even five or six million dollars getting re-elected. Even a Congressman sometimes spends as much as $500,000 to $1,000,000 on a race. Big city mayors spend a couple of hundred thousand dollars frequently. And a Presidential race? Chalk up 20 million anyway. Maybe 40 million.

Over all, it's estimated that at least 200 million dollars were spent by candidates throughout the country in the elections last November.

Now as everybody knows, that money, except in a few isolated cases, didn't come out of the candidates' pocket. They don't have that kind of money. One candidate, for example, with a net worth of only $50,000, spent over $4,000,000.

The money for all these came from individual and professional investors in politics. What I want to know is: networks don't report on investments? Can't they report the rise or fall of investments? Like Congress today, mayors down 14 points, state legislators are steady, state legislators are enterprise are bound to watch their investments are turning

MRS. JEFFREY DALTON THOMPSON

Joanne Cagle Speaks To PTA

The Duncan PTA met Monday January 9 with approximately 25 persons attending.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Joanne Cagle, counselor of the Floydada schools, who gave an informative talk on child development and other associated subjects.

The executive board of the Duncan PTA will meet the 3rd Monday of this month, January 15, at the cafeteria.

Blue satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

In an impressive afternoon ceremony, read in the sanctuary of West College Church of Christ January 6, Melinda Jane Wilson and Jeffrey Dalton Thompson were united in marriage. Boyce Mosley officiated at the double ring, candlelight service which began at 2:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Wilson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Thompson, Plainview.

A brass candle-arch flanked by spiral candelabra holding yellow tapers, tropical foliage, gypsophila and tied with blue satin bows formed the background for the nuptial area. Formal baskets of white gladiolas and yellow daisies completed the setting. A brass kneeling bench holding a memory candle, made by the bride's mother and Mrs. Dee Copeland, centered the nuptial area.

Her chapel length train of illusion was edged in wide Venice lace and attached to a lace-covered caplet. She wore a single strand of pearls belonging to her mother, and a six pence and penny dated her birth year in her shoe, and she traditional blue garter. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white daisies, ming fern, and gypsophila on her white bible.

Pam Bradley, was maid of honor. Lesa Aaron was Matron of Honor, and Ruth Elaine Wilson, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length dresses in shades of blue with wide sashes accenting the full skirts. They carried arrangements of yellow and white daisies softened with gypsophila and blue and yellow satin bows.

Jimmy Dale Kamp, Plainview, served as best man. Jerry Don Hazel and Michael Stack, Plainview, were groomsmen, and Barry Glover and John Setser, also of Plainview, were ushers.

Special organ preludes were heard before and during the service. Virginia Mangum, Lockney, registered guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was given in honor of the couple. The bride's table was laid with a white lace and hand-embroidered linen cloth brought from Germany by the bride's mother, over white organza and blue satin. The centerpiece was an arrangement of the bride's bouquet and attendant's nosegays in a crystal decanter between two single white tapers in silver candleholders. The three tiered cake was decorated with sprigs of fresh flowers. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting. A silver coffee service and the memory candle, bearing the couple's names and wedding date, were on the serving bar. Rice bags were given out by Ruth Elaine Wilson.

Veigel-Carnahan Vows Read In Abilene

Local residents were in Abilene recently for the marriage of Miss Jo Ann Veigel and David P. Carnahan in the Nelson Parlor of Abilene Christian University. Conducting the wedding service was Richard Chastain, minister of the Central Church of Christ at Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Northcutt of Richmond Heights, Missouri. She has visited here often in the home of her grandparents, the late Mr. Clarke Cates and Mrs. Clarke Cates. Her great aunt and uncle are Mr. and Mrs. Heston Bennett of Lockney.

The bridegroom is a former Hereford resident and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Carnahan, 117 Mimosa Street, Hereford. He was graduated from Hereford High School in 1976.

Christmas poinsettias flanked an improvised altar in the Nelson Parlor for the couples nuptial ceremony. Attending the bride and groom were Miss Denise Weeks of Bellingham, Washington, as maid of honor. The bridegroom's father served as best man.

The bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Phillip Carnahan of Hereford, vocalized "Wedding Song" and "Follow Me" preceding the ceremony. Piano accompanist was Mr. Steven Vertz of Abilene.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a dress of Jolie de Selest knit and cotton Venice lace. The high neck of her gown was accented by inserts of lace on the yoke. Her bishop sleeves had matching lace inserts to complement the gown. The floor-length semi-circular skirt flowed from a princess waistline, forming fullness at the back for the chapel train. The elbow length veil was attached to a Juliet headpiece and matching lace trim.

Completing her bridal costume was a diamond shaped locket, a gift from the groom.

Miss Carolyn Ash of Tahoka and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Amy Carnahan of Hereford, served refreshments during the reception immediately follow the ceremony. Mrs. Dennis Lomas of Red River, New Mexico, another sister of the groom presided at the registry.

The brunch-style buffet included a two-tiered wedding cake resting atop a blue cloth edged with a floor-length white lace flounce.

The bride's traveling outfit was a wool ensemble in the colors of coral, sand and rust. Her outfit consisted of a circular skirt, tailored blouse and matching shawl.

The couple will be at home after Jan. 15 at 1901 South

Pierce Street, San Angelo, where he is currently a sophomore student at Angelo State University. The bride has been a sophomore student at Abilene Christian University.

Out of town visitors and Abilene friends were special guests of the bridegroom's parents at a dinner following the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding.

The bride's great-grandparents, the Charles Veigels, were early day residents of the Providence Community, and her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Veigel, lived there for several years. Her father, Don Ray, was born in that community but moved to Hereford with his parents in 1935.

About 50 guests attended the ceremony, including Mrs. Clarke Cates and Mr. and Mrs. Heston Bennett of Lockney.

Chicken And Citrus Fruits Best Buys

Except for late-breaking changes due to weather, the best buys at Texas grocery markets this week are citrus fruits, chicken, dry peas and several vegetables, Mrs. Gwendolyn Cjaty reports.

Of course, widespread crop damage by the New Year freeze may drastically change some supplies and prices as farmers begin to assess their losses, she adds.

FRESH FRUITS—So far grapefruit is now at top quality and lowest prices. For greatest nutrition, eat the pulp, too.

Other economical fruit choices are oranges, apples, bananas, tangerines, tangelos, pears and pineapple.

POULTRY—Whole fryer chickens are a best buy at meat counters. Egg prices may drop a few cents, but eggs are still an economical buy at current prices.

FRESH VEGETABLES—Best values include turnips, hard-shell squash, cabbage, carrots, broccoli, rutabagas and potatoes.

GROCERY MARKET AIDS—Dry split peas offer nutrition at budget prices.

DAIRY—Features include several cheeses, low-fat milk, half-and-half, sour cream and whipping cream.

BEEF—Best buys are ground beef and beef liver—figured on a cost-per-serving basis.

Most advertised features are chuck roasts, round steaks and liver.

PORK—Prices remain on the high side. Usually the best values are Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks and quarter loins cut into chops.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Watch weather and crop reports for rapidly changing supply-and-price trends until the weather stabilizes.

Maj. Eiland Is Battalion Advisor

Former Lockney resident Major Lewis Eiland has been assigned as advisor for the 80th Infantry Battalion, headquartered in Durant, Oklahoma. Units of the battalion are at Hugo, Idabel, Vetsau, Hartshorne, Holden, Allen and Atoka.

He is the son of Mrs. Estal Eiland and the late Mr. Eiland. Mrs. Eiland now resides in Arkansas.

Maj. Eiland was graduated from Lockney High School in 1960, and from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1965. He has recently completed 13 years of army service.

His commission was earned at Fort Benning in late 1966, and by April, 1967, he was in Vietnam. While a platoon and rifle platoon leader he earned several awards including the Bronze Star, Air Medal, Combat Infantry Badge, Vietnamese Campaign ribbon and the Vietnam Service medal.

The South Vietnamese government awarded him two medals, the Vietnamese Honor medal and the Cross of Gallantry. The honor medal was given Eiland for his part in the rescue of a South Vietnamese soldier.

After serving a year in Vietnam, Maj. Eiland was a company commander at Yuma, Ariz. ## AN EDITORIAL You Call It P-R-I-D-E

When should anyone be interested in a town's growth? After all, we have nice towns the way it is, and growth might bring in "the wrong kind of people."

In our lifetime on the Panhandle — South Plains, we have observed that there is no middle ground. A town which is content with the status quo attitude soon begins to slide backward...to lose population...to have an abundance of empty buildings...to face a decline in school enrollment and an abundance of vacant church seats. These are the consequences of a ho-hum attitude.

On the other hand, we believe, a town which is eager to improve and grow will see its school enrollment and church attendance moving forward...modernization of stores...fewer vacant buildings in the downtown area...more money being of much of the population...an increase in population!

It boils down basically to one five-letter word: P-R-I-D-E.

Do we have enough pride to stick out our chest and proclaim proudly: "I am from Floyd County and Lockney, whichever the case may be? Are we interested in securing new payrolls and seeing new houses constructed? Are we concerned enough to keep our windows washed and trash out of our yards? Attitude will determine whether we move forward...or slide down hill. The decision is ours:

A new column, "Opinion, Please," will begin appearing in next Thursday's issue. Readers are asked for a written response to a particular question presented each week. The first will be: "Will the Cowboys win the Super Bowl?" Subjects are to cover a variety of subjects. Responses chosen for printing will be based on time of arrival. The only guidelines are that items are not to exceed 250 words and not be libelous. As many readers' thoughts will be published as time permits.

CRIME DOESN'T PAY

Crime doesn't pay, and if you don't believe that statement, read on.

It seems that a couple of Stanton women went to Lubbock shopping back during the summer, and after coming out of a store and getting in their auto, backed over and killed a cat.

Not wanting to leave the dead cat just lying in the parking lot, they put it in a shopping bag until they could dispose of it.

With more shopping to do the women parked downtown, leaving the windows of their vehicle open so that a certain aroma would not surface in the hot car.

They weren't very far down the street when they saw a lady go to their auto, reach in and take out the shopping sack, apparently thinking she had stolen a valuable item.

Unable to bear the suspense the women followed the thief into a Lubbock department store and watched as she sat down in the shoe department.

After several moments the unsuspecting thief could contain herself no longer and opened the bag. Upon seeing the cat she fainted and fell to the floor, reportedly bringing down a strangled burst of laughter from the Stanton shoppers.

The store manager called an ambulance for the lady, and the ambulance drivers arrived in moments, loaded her on a stretcher and put her purse and shopping bag on top of her.

That was the end of the incident, as far as the Stanton women knew, but can't you imagine the lady's shock when she awoke in the ambulance to see the shopping bag staring her in the face. It may have been enough to end her life of crime permanently.

$$$ Support Asked For Tractorcade Participant

A young Floyd County Arnold Schwertner, is preparing to join other South Plains farmers Monday, Jan. 15, in Amarillo for the American Agriculture Movement's "Tractorcade" to Washington, D.C.

Derrel Fortenberry told this newspaper that "we need to back up Arnold. You can't believe how hard he has worked and how much he has studied" about the farm situation.

Fortenberry notes that Washington trip will require "about $2,000." Schwertner had received $175 as of Wednesday.

Individuals or firms desiring to assist Schwertner with expenses may leave funds at either Floyd County bank, Fortenberry says.

The Tractorcade was scheduled to have gotten underway Jan. 22, but was moved forward a week because of Congress' decision to adjourn Feb. 9-19. "Congress had wanted the farmers to wait [in Washington] and get discouraged," Fortenberry believes.

Schwertner will report by phone each day during the Tractorcade trek to Washington and

The Floyd Philosopher

onders The Minor Problem Of People Who Spend 50 Dollars For A Neck Tie

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his grass farm takes an irreverent view of a new form of skullduggery this week.

Regardless of the enterprise, whether it's medicine, banking, plumbing, construction, religion or whatever, somebody in it says figures out a way to skin somebody.

It's possible it has happened ever in the newspaper business, although most likely this rumor started by a disgruntled subscriber one name was misspelled if he did nothing praiseworthy or spelled right if he did something he didn't want known.

Generally there's nothing funny in this, but I had an article in the paper about one form of illduggery that it's hard to keep a straight edge about.

Somebody in Hong Kong is making and selling counterfeit Gucci shoes and Dior handbags and other fashionable things. In the you didn't know, as I didn't, Gucci and Dior are famous designers whose names on something allows it to be sold at an outlandish price and bought with whatever satisfaction a person gets from wearing something his neighbors don't have.

Can you imagine the total embarrassment that must come from wearing a $50 neck tie for six months with a famous, exclusive designer's name on it, only to find out it was counterfeited in Hong Kong and cost $1.98? How could you possibly show up in public again?

There are some things I find hard to believe. I can believe there are some Congressmen worth $57,000 a year plus $943,000 in office expense and general upkeep, among those who must have been counterfeited in Hong Kong, but I don't believe there is such a thing as a $50 tie. You can pay that much for one, but unless you work it into the conversation somebody sitting across the table from you in a restaurant won't be able to tell it from a $5 one, and I doubt it'll hide soup stains any better.

Yours faithfully
 J.A.

So They Say . . .
Views of Other Editors

Roddy Stinson of the San Antonio Express socks it to Bill Clements, governor-elect of Texas, in the following column. Stinson strongly disagrees with Clements' stance on education. Here's the article.
From: An admirer.
Dear Bill:
Frankly, I had some doubts about how good a governor you'd be till I picked up a newspaper over the weekend and read how you plan to dump on school teachers.
Now I know you're the man to lead Texas, and I, for one, will be pleased to see you enter the governor's mansion. This state needs a strong man at the helm, and you're obviously such a man because it takes a lot of raw courage to slap school teachers around.
You could have chosen oil barons or gas magnates or railroad tycoons as whipping boys. You could have cried that the astronomical costs of oil and gas and skyrocketing utility bills have caused inflation.
But you didn't do that. No sir. That would have been too easy. You went to the heart of the state's economic problems. Fat-cat school teachers.
Of course, a lot of people are going to say you'd never attack anybody in the oil or gas business because that's the industry that made you a millionaire.
Well, don't listen to that kind of tacky talk, Bill. Just do what you think is best for the state and charge on. Everybody knows school teachers are the real cause of inflation. I particularly like your idea of economizing by eliminating across-the-board pay raises for teachers. That'll show 'em. Lord knows they make too much money.
Why, a lady who is like a second mother to me has been a school teacher in East Texas for 25 years, and believe it or not, she is making almost as much as a roughneck on one of your oil rigs.
That's how bad things are, Bill. If you don't do something quick, school teachers will be making as much money as oil-field workers. Then this state will really be in trouble.

It's obvious to me you're the man to help keep Texans' priorities straight. I was particularly pleased to read your comments about the state's "fat and satisfied educational bureaucracy."
So true, so true. At least the fat part. Sometimes teachers seem awfully ungrateful though. I get calls all the time from teachers who aren't a bit satisfied.
Just the other day a lady teacher phoned and talked to me 10-15 minutes about how hard it is to support herself and two kids on "less than $700 a month take-home pay."
Well, I'm like you, Bill. I can't see where she has any complaint coming. Ditch-diggers do it. Why can't school teachers? Another thing I like about your educational plan is requiring teachers to pass a test every five years in order to keep their teaching certificates.
But watch out for sorehead critics. They'll say a teacher who really loves children and works hard to help them learn is more important than a teacher who scores high on an IQ test.
And they'll yell about how you can't test for love and kindness and junk like that.
Don't listen to them, Bill. And don't pay any attention to their other argument—that if teachers have to take tests, doctors and lawyers should also be tested every five years to prove they are competent.
That kind of thinking is fuzzy and ridiculous, and you and I know it. Doctors and lawyers must be competent or else they wouldn't be rich.
Besides, anybody can pick on doctors and lawyers. But it takes a person of uncommon moral character to kick school teachers around.
So don't let the critics get you down, William. You know more about education than they do. After all, you're a self-made millionaire, and that makes you a whole lot smarter than any dirt-poor schoolteacher.

What Are Fathers Made Of?

A father is a thing that is forced to endure childbirth without an anesthetic.
A father is a thing that growls when it feels good and laughs very loud when it's scared half to death. A father is sometimes accused of giving too much time to his business when the little ones are growing up. That's partly fear, too. Fathers are much more easily frightened than mothers.

A father never feels entirely worthy of the worship in a child's eyes. He's never quite the hero his daughter thinks, never quite the man his son believes him to be, and this worries him, sometimes. So he works too hard to try and smooth the rough places in the road for those of his own who will follow him.

A father is a thing that gets very angry when the first school grades aren't as good as he thinks they should be. He scolds his son, though he knows it's the teacher's fault.

A father is a thing that goes away to war, sometimes . . . and learns to swear and shoot and spit through his teeth and would run the other way except that this war is part of his only important job in life, which is making the world better for his child than it has been for him.

Fathers grow old faster than people—because they, in other wars, have to stand at the train station and wave goodbye to the uniform that climbs aboard. And while mothers can cry where it shows, Fathers have to stand there and beam outside, and die inside. Fathers have very stout hearts, so they have to be broken sometimes or no one would know what's inside.

Fathers are what give daughters away to other men who aren't nearly good enough, so they can have grandchildren that are smarter than anybody's.

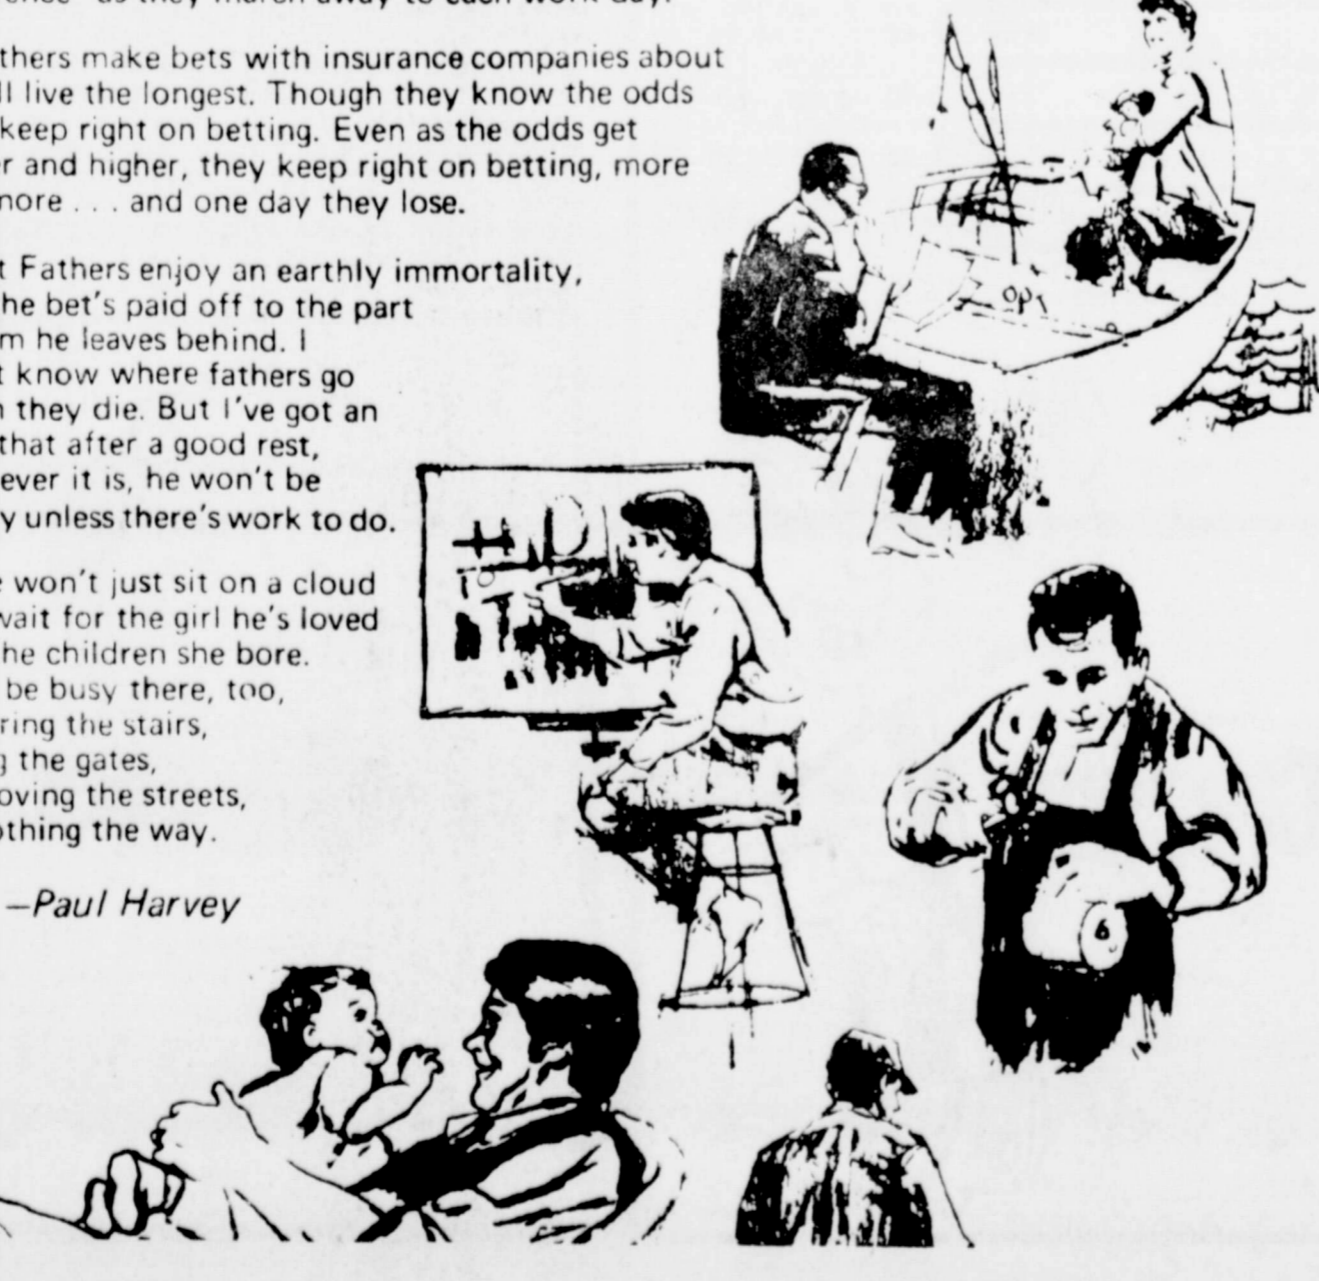

Fathers fight dragons almost daily. They hurry away from the breakfast table, off to the arena which is sometimes called an office or a workshop. There, with calloused, practiced hands they tackle the dragon with three heads—Weariness, Work and Monotony. And they never quite win the fight, but they never give up. Knights in shining armor—Fathers in shiny trousers—there's little difference—as they march away to each work day.

Fathers make bets with insurance companies about who'll live the longest. Though they know the odds they keep right on betting. Even as the odds get higher and higher, they keep right on betting, more and more . . . and one day they lose.

But Fathers enjoy an earthly immortality, and the bet's paid off to the part of him he leaves behind. I don't know where fathers go when they die. But I've got an idea that after a good rest, wherever it is, he won't be happy unless there's work to do.

He won't just sit on a cloud and wait for the girl he's loved and the children she bore. He'll be busy there, too, repairing the stairs, closing the gates, improving the streets, smoothing the way.

Chilling Scenes

ARBOR DAY

Texas Arbor Day, the day traditionally set aside to plant trees, will be observed this year on Jan. 19.
"What better way to aid in preserving our environment than by planting a tree adapted to our area of this great state," emphasizes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
Arbor Day was once a special event in the lives of many Texas citizens. In many communities, the trees that are so admired today are the direct result of the labor and attention given so readily by children and interested adults of by-gone generations, notes Janne.
"In recent years, much has been written about the value of trees for purposes other than to provide lumber and shade. Research reports indicate that tree barriers can reduce levels as much as 50 percent. They also serve as giant air cleaners filtering out the dust as well as using the carbon dioxide in the air to produce the lumber and shade we need," says Janne.
"Too often we take the majestic beauty of our trees for granted; we forget the benefits they give us. As a gift to future generations, we should initiate programs in our community to plant trees in our home yards, parks, public grounds and many of the so-called waste lands.

Employers Must Use 1978 W-2

Forms For Social Security Report

Beginning with 1978 wages, employers are to use Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) to report their workers' earnings, Purcell said. Form W-2 has been revised for 1978 so it can be read by the scanner.
The form W-2's are printed three to a page, and Copy A of the form is to be submitted to social security in just that way—three to a page.
Some employers are going to the trouble of cutting the forms apart, which means they cannot be processed by the optical scanner, Purcell said.
Other employers are sending in the form 941's that were used previously for earnings reports. And some are using older Form W-2's. These forms cannot be processed by machine either.
Employers should use only the 1978 Form W-2, he emphasized. And the entire page must be sent in even if one or two of the forms are blank, he said.
The changeover is part of the switch to annual reporting of employees' earnings Purcell explained. Reports submitted quarterly in previous years. All Forms W-2 should be submitted with Form W-3 (Transmittal of Income and Tax Statements).
The forms are available from local Internal Revenue Service offices or from private printers.
The deadline for submitting the forms is February 28, 1979.

Blair Cates Davis Involve Study At Austin College

An Austin College student from Floydada will study the aesthetic and technological aspects of wine production during the Austin College's January term course, "Wine Country Safari."

He is Blair Cates Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon M. Davis Jr. of 308 South Tree.

The course, an introduction to enology and viticulture, will study major advancements in the science and technology of growing grapes and producing wine. The course will make and test wine types, medicinal value of wine, the wine industry and the aesthetic aspects of making wine.

During the last week of the course, the members of the class will travel to northern California to tour the wine country. Dr. Michael Imhoff, associate professor of chemistry at Austin College is coordinator of the course.

The four-week term provides a pace in the study and furnishes which emphasizes trial learning. Special focus on unique depth of there are ties offered for study and off-campus courses offered. The course is designed and significantly each.

During the January term, most students are a small group on a particular topic. Each student will study a particular aspect of the wine industry. A student may be on an individual project and work independently with the assistance of a visitor who will project.

Stalk Destruction Imp... Corn Borer Management

Problems with southwestern corn borers this season could mean more trouble next year unless certain cultural practices are followed, says county Extension agent Birch L. Lobban.

Cultural practices such as winter stalk destruction by double disking or chiseling are the most reliable management tools to minimize losses next year due to this pest, he said. Lobban explained that mature borer larvae overwinter at or near the base of the plant crown. "If left undisturbed, they have an excellent chance of surviving the winter," Lobban said. "However, any tillage practice that exposes the tap root to freezing weather will decrease corn borer survival. Tillage done as late as February on the High Plains will still greatly reduce overwintering populations."

Producers planning to graze out their corn stubble in Floydada. Needs still consider soil cultivation which will reduce stubble roots. This will not reduce the number of corn borers that emerge in the spring. The number of corn borers still encountered in the spring is still high.

If corn stubble is left in time to expose to freezing weather, it will break up and control. Deep burial buries the borer. Deep burial will emerge in the spring. Lobban encourages 1-14 or community-wide destruction to help minimize impact of this pest this season. Without tillage, moths from unplowed fields will find other corn in the area, negating management efforts.

Farm Income Improved By Soil Fertility

The soil is a good starting point for improving farm income in 1979. A complete soil inventory with a soil test is suggested by County Extension Agent, Birch L. Lobban, and it provides a producer with the opportunity to reflect on the production problems on farmed, pasture and wheatland acreages.

"The soil testing program is a logical step since fertilizer recommendations are keyed to the economical use of plant food," Lobban states.

Presently, many producers in Floyd County are uncertain about what crop will be planted. This uncertainty, plus the late harvest season, has prevented soil testing and fertilizer application. "If the producer is undecided as to what crop will be planted," Lobban says, "then it is recommended that the alternative crop to be planted also be listed on the information sheet. This approach will allow the producer to evaluate the fertilizer requirements and cost of the crop before a decision is made."

The county agent sized the importance of soil sampling and representative field or pasture of the laboratory he explained, accurate and representative as the soil sample is for testing."

Producers planning to graze out their stalks still consider some tillage cultivation which will stubble roots. Grazing will not reduce the number of corn borers that overwinter in the spring. "The more tillage is done, the greater the risk of encountering the larva," Lobban said.

If corn stubble is in time to expose freezing weather, breaking will affect control. Deep breaking buries the borer. Jeep for the adult borer to emerge in the spring. Lobban encourages early, deep or community-wide tillage to help minimize the impact of this pest. Without tillage, moths from unworked fields, as well as other corn in the area, negating management efforts.

Floyd County Agriculture Totals

Floyd County farmers and ranchers received $89,707,000 in marketings and government payments during 1977, the Texas Department of Agriculture has announced. The total included $74,101,000 in cash receipts from all crops and $11,529,000 from livestock and livestock products. Government payments made up $4,077,000 of the total. Across the state, agriculture added $7.1 billion to the economy last year, Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service surveys showed, with receipts from all crops almost balancing those from livestock and livestock products. Livestock receipts totaled $3.5 billion, followed by $3.3 billion for crop receipts. Government payments made up $206 million of the total, including over $120 million through drought and flood assistance programs. "With improved livestock prices this year, particularly cattle, we are optimistic that 1978 cash receipts will be higher," commented Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "These figures only tell half of the story, however. In any discussion including agricultural statistics, the true picture is only presented when you can balance the cash receipts against the actual production costs. During last year, unfortunately, those production costs outstripped most of the profit margin for many farmers and ranchers. Texas maintained its third place national ranking in cash receipts, despite problems throughout the year.

Just A Few An From Early W

by Felicia Applewhite

This morning Goree saw a coyote coming from inside Benny Cox's place northward to A.O. Foster's. He was 200 yards from our house. The coyote stopped at times to howl, u-u-wow, but it wasn't the usual te howl. It was sharp-cut short. Goree immediately thought of the coyotes he had heard of going and making that type of howl. He thought it was not the right time of year for coyotes, but he hurriedly got his shot at the coyote and missed. In the way the coyote turned, Goree thought he hit him the second shot. The coyote trotted on across our field into the unshredded stalks. Goree was on coyotes. One of the first things to come to mind was one he heard Bob Knox tell years ago. Bob was out harnessing his team when a coyote came by stopping to howl going on a little farther to howl. Bob's frightened team ran away. Bob didn't come out as he usually when anything unusual came on the scene. Bob thought it might have been the dog sensed that the coyote was mad. Goree telling that made me remember I had read or heard about coyotes. I have read somewhere that coyotes have a strange knowledge of guns. I doubt that," was the reply. "but old-time declares that most coyotes when a gun is around. He said it possible to ride a horse across a range without a rifle and come close to a coyote and the coyote would trot off and sit on his haunches. Goree also said that that wouldn't be when he rode with a gun. He got the strong powder scent of a served as a warning. The coyote detected the scent and take to his ... what the subject was going to, more coyote talk followed. Charlie Wells, who lived north of us, poisoned the carcass of a cow of his and died. That night 18 coyotes ate the poisoned cow and died. That was '36, when there was in 18-inch snow on the ground.

TYPICAL AFTERNOON The tall, affable Ehler changed Bermuda shorts and went into the of his north-east Lubbock home to continue his project of refurbishing a shotgun. Clouds forming, not unusual for Texas in May. A thunderstorm developing. Ehler went inside. A er watch was posted. But, so what happens virtually every other thought. "So many warnings are posted just don't pay much attention," rbers the personable Ehler. Rain started coming down "E in sheets." Hail stones were falling large stones. Ehler stuck rags to kitchen door in the northeast side the house and held the door shut spouse and daughters rushed southwest bedroom closet. 'DIFFERENT KIND OF STORM' "Something told me this different kind of storm. Someth maybe it was a hail stone
